CONGRESSMAN MIXED UP IN BAD BRIBERY DEAL ON PENNSYLVANIA CAPITOL

H. Burd Cassell Accused of Paying Rival Contractor $10,000.

Steel Office Furniture Presented to Former State Treasurer.

Fixtures Are Found of Bronzed Iron and All Light Weight.

Harrisburg, Pa., May 1.—Congressman H. Burd Cassell of Lancaster is charged openly with having given S. Marshall Williams of Pittsburg, an unsuccessful bidder for one $2,000,000 worth of electrical fixtures in the state capitol, $10,000 on an unendorsed note last August and the the capitol investigating commission proposes to fix the matter on him if it be possible. Several Pittsburg men have been subpoenaed and will, it is said, testify that Williams boasted of how and where he got this money and also furnish them other information pertaining to this contract.

When on the stand Williams refused to deny that Congressman Cassell had loaned him the $10,000 about the time he ceased to "get square politically" with Senator Penrose for not forcing Joseph M. Huston, architect of the capitol, and John H. Sanderson, general contractor for the furnishings, to give him a portion of the electrical fixtures contract.

Former Minneapolis Professor Stricken Suddenly in Washington.

Old Wisconsin Scientist and Pioneer Captain Also at Rest.

Washington, May 1.—Charles H. Hinton, formerly a professor of mathematics in one of the collegiate institutions of Minneapolis, and for the past two years chief examiner of the patent office, fell dead late last night, from cerebral hemorrhage in the lobby of the Young Men's Christian Association building as he was leaving the banquet hall, where the Society of Philanthropic Inquiry had held its annual dinner, at which he had responded to the toast, "Female Philosophers."

Mr. Hinton was born in London 63 years ago, and was a graduate of Oxford and several other noted European universities. Besides his wife, he leaves four children—William Hin-

RESCUED MEN IN HOSPITAL

Johnstown, Pa., May 1.—The seven miners rescued from the coal mine at Foustwell where they had been imprisoned for over 100 hours by a sudden flood were brought from the pit early this morning and taken to the Windber hospital. All wanted to go to their homes and objected to the hospital arrangement. No food was given them at first, but a stimulant of brandy and water was administered.

Soon after arriving at the hospital, the men fell into a sound sleep and no communication is allowed with them except at regular intervals when the nurses administer hot broths and nourishment. They will be about in a few days.

"We knew the men on the outside were at work pumping out the water in an endeavor to release us," said Foreman Balyace. "We kept a careful watch and could not the water going down inch by inch. There was nothing we could do to help and we all chafted under this. We could hear the tapping on the pipe and knew it meant for us to keep up our courage. We always signalled back whenever we heard the tapping. All the men had full dinner buckets when they came into the mine Friday morning but the food in these was soon exhausted and we felt the pangs of hunger keenly. I don't think the men after the third day ever expected to see their families again, but the way they kept up their spirits was admirable."

Center, Tex., May 1.—Carroll B. Short, a prominent attorney of this town, was shot and instantly killed, last night, by Dr. Buck Paul, as the result of a feud of several months' standing.

Last December a brother of Dr. Paul was shot and killed by a negro in the employ of Short, and his brother, while leading a posse which was attempting to arrest the negro. It was alleged at the time that the killing was instigated by the Shorts, as an outgrowth of political matters. Public feeling ran high, and it was necessary to call out two companies of militia to prevent mob violence. The negro was tried, convicted and hanged within a space of a few hours.

YOUNG GOULD TENNIS KING

Son of George J. Wins International Championship Easily.

London, May 1.—In the finals in the international court tennis championship games today, Jay Gould, son of George J. Gould of New York, won from Pennell, the champion of 1904, in three straight sets, 6-1, 6-1, 6-1.

BRYAN TO MAKE SPEECH AT MIDNIGHT AT NEWARK.

New York, May 1.—William J. Bryan will be the guest of honor at a dollar dinner given by the People's Lobby of Newark, N. J., tonight. He has sent word that he cannot reach the banquet hall until midnight, but that he will positively make the speech on policital questions assigned him. The dinner will be given at 7 o'clock and, while awaiting Mr. Bryan's arrival, speeches will be made by Senator Everett Colby, Mayor Mark Fagin, George L. Record and others.

URGE EARLY COAL BUYING

Officials Making Personal Appeals to the Western Dealers.

Chicago, May 1.—The traffic and operation departments of the Harriman and the Hill lines have united in a strenuous effort to prevent a recurrence of a coal famine next winter in the West and the Northwest.

Orders have been issued by the highest officials of the various roads, and have the sanction of E. H. Harriman and James J. Hill, requiring all officials to make every effort to induce the coal dealers to lay in their winter's supply in the summer months. The officials of the railroads dread another such coal famine as occurred last winter, when they were blamed for the suffering and destitution which reigned in the West and Northwest many weeks.

Personal canvasses are being made in all the cities and coal dealers are being urged personally to cooperate with the railroads in placing the Western country beyond the possibility of another coal famine. It is the purpose of the railroads to either get the West and Northwest adequately coaled during the warm months or to place the blame for any future famine where they say it rightfully belongs—with the dealers who wait until the last month to get their winter's supply.

MAY DAY TROUBLES FEW AND ONLY SMALL NUMBER OF WORKMEN CONCERNED

Chicago Has Only One Sympathy Strike of 600 Men.

Fifteen Hundred Out at Boston and Thousand at New York.

Chicago, May 1.—The first strike ushering May day in Chicago was called yesterday on the new plant of the Western Electric company at Hawthorne. It was sympathetic in nature. Because of a grievance of the Electricians' union against the company, 600 building mechanics laid down their tools and walked out under orders from the Associated Building trades. It was declared by officials of the Electricians' union that work on the plant, which is one of the most extensive in the country, had been practically stopped at night.

San Francisco, May 1.—About 1,800 members of the Carmen's union met at the Central theater at 1:35 o'clock this morning to vote on the question whether there should be industrial peace or industrial strife in this city. The refusal of the management of the United railways in this city to concede the demands of the men for $3 a day of eight hours, was discussed at length as was also a proposition to substitute the scale of wages adopted by the Oakland lines which it was thought by some might be favored by the men. It was finally decided by vote to leave the settlement of the question to the executive committee, and Father P. C. Yorke, who represented the men on the recent arbitration committee. This committee is to report to the men at a mass meeting Saurday night. This leaves the question of a strike open until that date.

San Francisco will have a big telephone strike unless the Pacific States' Telephone & Telegraph company accedes today to demands adopted at a meeting of the operators' union last night. These demands include a flat rate for all operators after they have served an apprenticeship. The vote by which the demands were adopted was unanimous and a committee was selected to present them to the company today. The operators will meet again tomorrow night to vote on a strike, should the company refuse to accede to their demands.

Boston, May 1.—An unusually quiet May day throughout New England with the exception of this city was experienced in labor circles today. Minor troubles in the building trades in some of the cities and towns were the most discordant notes outside the greater Boston district, where 1,500 men went out for higher wages today while the teamsters' strike, which started a month ago, was still in force, with almost daily scenes of disorder. The majority of the new strikers were 1,200 boilermakers, who, ask for a 10 per cent increase in pay. Cement and asphalt workers numbering 210 also quit work, pending the result of deliberations by their employers regarding a new wage adjustment. In the building trades and other industries, an amicable adjustment of existing differences was expected.

New Haven, Conn., May 1.—The first of May finds industrial peace at hand all over Connecticut, except for a small freight handlers' strike at Waterbury. Wage adjustments took place mostly during the latter part of March and in April, although a fortnight ago, there appeared to be a likelihood of disputes in the building trades at several points. In all the manufacturing centers there appears to be little friction and the possibilties of strikes are not many.

Columbus, Ohio, May 1.—One hundred drivers and helpers of ice wagons struck today for shorter hours and more

KELSEY CASE NEARS CRISIS

Albany, N. Y., May 1.—The senate judiciary committee reported to the senate today on the matter of removal of Superintendent of Insurance Kelsey without recommendation in accordance with the vote of the committee last night, it having stood 17 to 6. The senate adopted three of the four recommendations as to proceedure, providing that removal shall require the assent of a majority of all senators elected; that the question submitted shall be simply "shall the superintendent of insurance be removed?"; and that each senator shall vote on this proposition "yes" or "no."

A sharp debate occurred on the recommendation that counsel for Mr. Kelsey be heard by the senate tomorrow for not exceeding two hours. The vote by which this proposition was adopted was 35 to 16.

OBJECTS TO NEGRO HONORS.

New Orleans Business Man Protests Rhodes Scholarship Award.

New Orleans, May 1.—Gustaf R. Westfeldt, a prominent business man of New Orleans and a member of the board of administrators of Tulane university, has written to the British ambassador at Washington, advising against the appointment of negroes to Cecil Rhodes scholarships at Oxford university. This follows the announcement of the recent appointment of a Pennsylvania negro to one of these scholarships. He believes that the appointment of negroes will make the Rhodes scholarship unpopular in the South.

FAVORITE WINS BIG RACE.

Slieve Gallien Captures 2,000 Guinea Stake Without Troubles.

London, May 1.—At Newmarket today, the 2,000 guinea stakes, for entire colts and fillies foaled in 1904, distance one mile, were won by Slieve Gallien; Bezenian second; Linacre was third. Ten horses ran. Slieve Gallien, which was a warm favorite, made all the running and won by three lengths. The betting was eleven to four on Slieve Gallien; 100 to 9 against Bezonian, and 100 to 7 against Linacre. "Danny" Mahre, the American jockey, rode Bezonian.

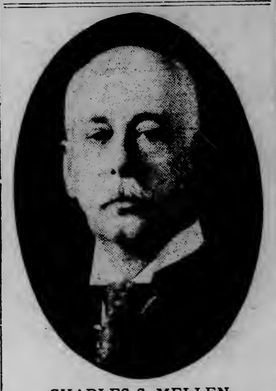
Havana Not Inclined to See Politics in the Matter.



CHARLES S. MELLEN,

New York, May 1.—A dispatch from Havana to the Herald reports that a number of sailors from the United States cruiser Tacoma were wounded in an affray with the police of Santiago yesterday. Commander Tappan, in reporting the affair, wired as follows:

"About 2 o'clock this morning a small party of liberty men from the Tacoma were attacked by the police of Santiago while on their way down to the wharf. Ensign Brisbin, who was present in civilian clothes, was also attacked by the police. There were injured: Henry Leo Lee, fireman, shot in lung; Claude Joseph Pember, electrician, cut on left arm; Leslie Baldwin Dustin, seaman, arms fractured; all serious. Also cut and bruised, Ensign A. T. Brisbin, Machinist Mate C. B. Thackellon, Apprentice E. F. Sanders, Seaman Glen Cavender and Louis Kline and Electrician Frank Leghorn and N. G. Sturdevant. All is quiet now. Am making a thorough investigation."

Governor Magoon has telephoned the governor of Santiago province to investigate the trouble and report to him. No political significance, the dispatch states, is attached to the encounter.

Havana, May 1.—No further particulars have been received of the attack yesterday by the police of Santiago on the party of sailors of the United States cruiser Tacoma. The dispatch received by Commander Wood of the Dixie, from

HIGH COURT GIVEN RAPS

Attorney Wilson of Chicago Files Remarkable Petition.

Supreme Tribunal and Highest Officials Are Impugned.

Washington, May 1.—Attorney Warren B. Wilson of Chicago, whose suit against Secretary Shaw to have declared illegal the payment of $50,000,000 for the purchase of the Panama canal from the French company, was recently decided against him by the supreme court of the United States, has filed a rather remarkable petition for rehearing.

Referring to the court's statement that "the amount of complainant's interest is not disclosed" Wilson asserts that no bill of this kind "ever alleged anything as to the amount of property complainant owned," and proceeds: "The only 'startling' thing about the matter is that the supreme court of the United States should be 'startled' at the idea that a citizen, disclosing as the basis of his right only his citizenship and legal liability to be called on to contribute by taxation to the public treasury, should presume to think himself entitled to demand from this court that the constitution should be obeyed by men in high places as well as by the lowly."

Another assertion by Mr. Wilson is: "Whenever, in the judgment of the president or congress, it seems necessary or desirable that new power should be granted, the proper process to secure is not 'to apply for it to those for whose benefit it is to be exercised,' but the powers should be simply seized and this should be made permanent by the court.' The part in this increasing process assigned the court is that from time to time the judges should, in direct violation of their oaths of office, falsely declare from the bench that the constitution means what they know it does not mean."

EX-MRS. YERKES SEEKS DIVORCE

Secret Suit in New York Against Young Second Husband.

New York, May 1.—A suit believed to be for divorce has been begun by Mrs. Mary Adelaide Mizner, formerly Mrs. Charles T. Yerkes, against Wilson Mizner, and Louis B. Hasbrouck, was today appointed referee to take testimony. Mrs. Mizner's attorneys declined to say that the action was for divorce, nor would they give any other information.

Mrs. Mizner was the widow of Charles T. Yerkes, the traction and subway promoter, when she was married to Mizner, a Californian much younger than she. The couple lived together only a short time.

KING LEOPOLD FAILS TO ENLIST AID FROM FRANCE.

Brussels, May 1.—Additional information seems to confirm the reports that King Leopold's efforts to secure the support of France against the policy of Great Britain toward the Congo have failed.

Count Limburg-Stirum, who opposes the king's Congo policy, declined the foreign office portfolia in the cabinet, which Interior Minister De Trees is trying to form when certain documents referring to the Congo were communicated to him.

RACE RIOTING IN INDIANA TOWN

Negro Saloons Demolished and Many Blacks Given Warnings.

Greensburg, Ind., May 1.—The bitter feeling against negroes, as the result of an assault on Mrs. Sefton, an aged white woman, last Saturday night, caused a race riot here last night, in which six negroes were badly beaten, one of whom may die.

The mob was formed by three white men, and rapidly increased to 500. All saloons and other places frequented by negroes were visited, and the furniture and fixtures demolished. Negroes found in the places were beaten, and warned to leave town.

The authorities finally induced the crowd to disperse, after promising that all negroes of bad character would be compelled to leave. Many negroes have already departed, and others will be notified by the police. No arrests were made.

WILL FIGHT NEW RATES

Minnesota Passenger and Freight Reductions to Go to Court.

Chief Contest Likely to be Over Cut in Commodity Tariffs.

New York, May 1.—The Times today says that the legality of the freight reduction law of Minnesota, which is to go into effect on June 1, as well as that of the two-cent passenger law, which takes effect today, is to be tested in the courts.

A representative of large stockholding interests, in the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul said yesterday that it was practically certain that the constitutionality of the law would be tested, but that he could not say just in what way this would be done. It had not been decided, he said, whether it would be done directly by the railroads or through some stockholders.

The freight rate law, which is to take effect a month hence, is regarded by the managements of the railroads in Minnesota as of much more importance than the passenger fare law, and it is thought that the chief contest will be over the legality of the former.

Supreme Tribunal and Highest Officials Are Impugned.

Washington, May 1.—Attorney Warren B. Wilson of Chicago, whose suit against Secretary Shaw to have declared illegal the payment of $50,000,000 for the purchase of the Panama canal from the French company, was recently decided against him by the supreme court of the United States, has filed a rather remarkable petition for rehearing.

Referring to the court's statement that "the amount of complainant's interest is not disclosed" Wilson asserts that no bill of this kind "ever alleged anything as to the amount of property complainant owned," and proceeds: "The only 'startling' thing about the matter is that the supreme court of the United States should be 'startled' at the idea that a citizen, disclosing as the basis of his right only his citzenship and legal liability to be called on to contribute by taxation to the public treasury, should presume to think himself entitled to demand from this court that the constitution should be obeyed by men in high places as well as by the lowly."

Another assertion by Mr. Wilson is: "Whenever, in the judgment of the president or congress, it seems necessary or desirable that new power should be granted, the proper process to secure is not 'to apply for it to those for whose benefit it is to be exercised,' but the powers should be simply seized and this should be made permanent by the court. The part in this increasing process assigned the court is that from time to time the judges should, in direct violation of their oaths of office, falsely declare from the bench that the constitution means what they know it does not mean."

Secret Suit in New York Against Young Second Husband.

New York, May 1.—A suit believed to be for divorce has been begun by Mrs. Mary Adelaide Mizner, formerly Mrs. Charles T. Yerkes, against Wilson Mizner, and Louis B. Hasbrouck, was today appointed referee to take testimony. Mrs. Mizner's attorneys declined to say that the action was for divorce, nor would they give any other information.

Mrs. Mizner was the widow of Charles T. Yerkes, the traction and subway promoter, when she was married to Mizner, a Californian much younger than she. The couple lived together only a short time.

KING LEOPOLD FAILS TO ENLIST AID FROM FRANCE.

Brussels, May 1.—Additional information seems to confirm the reports that King Leopold's efforts to secure the support of France against the policy of Great Britain toward the Congo have failed.

Count Limburg-Stirum, who opposes the king's Congo policy, declined the foreign office portfolio in the cabinet, which Interior Minister De Trees is trying to form when certain documents referring to the Congo were communicated to him.

RACE RIOTING IN INDIANA TOWN

Greensburg, Ind., May 1.—The bitter feeling against negroes, as the result of an assault on Mrs. Sefton, an aged white woman, last Saturday night, caused a race riot here last night, in which six negroes were badly beaten, one of whom may die.

The mob was formed by three white men, and rapidly increased to 500. All saloons and other places frequented by negroes were visited, and the furniture and fixtures demolished. Negroes found in the places were beaten, and warned to leave town.

The authorities finally induced the crowd to disperse, after promising that all negroes of bad character would be compelled to leave. Many negroes have already departed, and others will be notified by the police. No arrests were made.

WILL FIGHT NEW RATES

Minnesota Passenger and Freight Reductions to Go to Court.

Chief Contest Likely to be Over Cut in Commodity Tariffs.

New York, May 1.—The Times today says that the legality of the freight reduction law of Minnesota, which is to go into effect on June 1, as well as that of the two-cent passenger law, which takes effect today, is to be tested in the courts.

A representative of large stockholding interests, in the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul said yesterday that it was practically certain that the constitutionality of the law would be tested, but that he could not say just in what way this would be done. It had not been decided, he said, whether it would be done directly by the railroads or through some stockholders.

The freight rate law, which is to take effect a month hence, is regarded by the managements of the railroads in Minnesota as of much more importance than the passenger fare law, and it is thought that the chief contest will be over the legality of the former.

BADGER OR WOLVERINE?

Is Alexander Colombe a citizen of Minnesota or of Michigan?

This is the question which it will be up to Governor Johnson to decide when Sheriff Beck of Houghton county, Mich., presents papers from Governor Warner of Michigan to him for the said Alex Colombe, who is wanted on a non-support charge in Houghton county. A. T. Park, Colombe's attorney, will make an effort to show that Colombe was a continuous resident in Duluth and that he never became a citizen of the Wolverine state, while the Houghton county authorities are confident that they can show that they have a claim on this man.

Colombe was arraigned before Judge Windom this morning and his bail fixed by the court at $500 to be forfeited if he fails to appear next May 18 at 10 a. m. Prosecuting Attorney A. W. Kerr of Houghton county was present at the hearing this morning and argued for a $1,000 bail bond. Mr. Park wanted the bail set at $100 and the court compromised at the $500 mark.

"This is one of the most pitiful cases of desertion that has come before my eyes during my ten years of criminal experience," said Mr. Kerr this morning. "His wife is harmlessly insane and totally irresponsible, and he has left her without making the slightest provision for her care. I have little use for a man who would leave his wife under these conditions."

Colombe was committed to the county jail this afternoon.

PENNYPACKER LIBEL LAW KILLED BY GOV. STUART.

Harrisburg, Pa., May 1.—Governor Stuart today signed the bill repealing the Pennypacker libel law which was bitterly fought by the newspapers of the state in 1903 but which was put through the legislature at the instance of the Republican organization. Many of the men who championed the act of the legislature of 1903 voted for its repeal at the present session.

SCOTS' GAME IS HONORED

The West Duluth Curlers Feast, Talk and Dance.

Game of Stone and Broom is Lauded to Skies.

The guid auld Scotch game of the stane and the broom was fittingly honored at the annual banquet of the Western Curling club, which was held in Wades' hall, last evening. Over 150 curlers and friends of curlers gathered for the spread, which had been prepared by the ladies of Holy Apostles' Episcopal church, and listened to the long and excellent program of toasts and speeches. After the banquet their numbers were augmented by many newcomers, and dancing was enjoyed until nearly 1 o'clock.

Martin Meldahl, president of the club, gave the addresss of welcome, and introduced J. Allyn Scott, who officiated as toastmaster in a most able style during the evening, and assumed the responsibility of the presentation speech in awarding the Commercial club trophy.

"Jimmie" Myron of the Duluth club was introduced by the toastmaster as a "loyal Scot and hale fellow," and he rendered a baritone solo, an old Scotch ballad, which was much appreciated, and responded to an enthusiastic encore with "Scots Wha Hae Wi' Wallace Bled."

Rev. Arthur J. Hoag was called upon to respond to the toast, "The Western Curling club." Mr. Hoag spoke of the club's growth during the past year, and upon the fact that it had met all current expenses and spent over $800 in improvements, without increasing the amount of the debt. He pointed out that one of the most valuable lessons to be learned from curling was how to lose gracefully.

After Mr. Hoag had finished, Toastmaster Scott introduced A. H. Smith, "the man who defeated Dunbar," in a toast, "The Northwestern Curling Association." Mr. Smith spoke of the winning of the A. H. Smith trophy. He said he was glad it went to West Duluth, since the Superior club had taken the international event at the association bonspiel last winter. "Angus Macauley outcurled his competitors and won that trophy by good, skillful curling. There was no fluke about it. Ron Macleod was clearly outcurled," said Mr. Smith. He promised that there would be another trophy put up for competition next year, if he was still alive and copper stocks went up.

Mr. Smith predicted that in the not far distant future the Northwestern Curling association would be as live an organization as the Manitoba branch of the Royal Caledonian. He outlined briefly several plans for the betterment of the management of the future bonspiels of the association.

Early Days of the Sport.

Harry Hurdon, president of the Duluth club, responded to a toast to his own club. He outlined the history of the organization from the time that eight Scots got together, back of the Eleventh avenue power house, to the present day. Their stay at Woodland, their establishment in their present quarters, and their development to the point reached today, were all dwelt with briefly, but entertainingly, and the president predicted a bright future for the club.

P. H. Martin gave a toast to the "New Members," which was much appreciated, and Charles O. Applehagen was enthusiastically applauded at the conclusion of his solo and encore.

To Alex Macrae was intrusted the toast, "The Game of Curling," and the veteran skip, talking on a subject which was evidently very real to him, lauded the game to the skies, and was warmly applauded as he sat down.

Ray W. Abbott sang a clever parody on an old Scotch ballad, setting forth the conquest of Angus Macauley and his rink over the Duluth rinks in the A. H. Smith trophy contest.

Mr. Macauley himself then responded to a toast, "Our Inter-club Contest." He very generously gave all the credit for his victory to his three team mates, and he spoke of the inter-club contests as the most efficient means for promoting good fellowship and boosting the game.

Toastmaster Scott then presented the West Duluth Commercial club trophy to Ike Deatheridge, skip of the kid rink, which won it, with many words of congratulation and pleasure. Mr. Deatheridge made a graceful speech of acceptance, and promised to have the cup ready for competition again next season.

Alderman M. J. Filiatrault then gave a solo, and the program was concluded by the singing of "Auld Lang Syne" by all present, "Jimmie" Myron leading the singing enthusiastically from the platform.

Pure Blood

Is certain if you take Hood's Sarsaparilla.

This great medicine cures those eruptions, pimples and boils that appear at all seasons; cures scrofula sores, salt rheum or eczema; adapts itself equally well to, and also cures, dyspepsia and all stomach troubles; cures rheumatism and catarrh; cures nervous troubles, debility and that tired feeling.

Mrs. C. K. Tyler, Burlington, Vt., says: "The cares of a large farm, so much to do and so little health to do it with, caused almost a complete break down; blood poor and thin; no strength, little sleep. Hood's Sarsaparilla gave appetite, natural sleep, perfect health, strength to do all my work."

Sarsatabs—For those who prefer medicine in tablet form, Hood's Sarsaparilla is now put up in chocolated tablets called Sarsatabs, as well as in the usual liquid form. Sarsatabs have identically the same curative properties as the liquid form, besides accuracy of dose, convenience, economy,—no loss by evaporation, breakage, or leakage. Druggists or promptly by mail. C. I. Hood Co., Lowell, Mass.

CHICKENS SMOTHERED.

An early morning alarm brought out the West Duluth fire department at about 5:30 this morning. The call came from the home of Thomas Miller, one of the firemen, who resides at 111 South Sixteenth avenue west, where a chicken house was on fire.

The blaze originated, it is said, from an overheated incubator and brooder, and before the firemen arrived the little room was full of smoke which smothered over 100 chickens owned by Mr. Miller. The fire was soon extinguished after the arrival of the department and there is practically no loss to the buildings.

The loss is a considerable one to Mr. Miller, but he will probably restock his chickenhouse within a few days.

SUPERIOR NEWS

NO CITY DOCK.

Superior Council Decides Not to Order One Built.

Superior will not have a city dock this year.

Earlier in the year it was voted by the council to award the contract for the construction of a dock, but City Comptroller Wentzel refused to sign the contract, and at the council meeting last night the aldermen sustained him in his position. The money that was to have been thus expended will be used for other purposes. Superior has been trying to get a city dock for the past eight or ten years, but in vain.

The council last night also voted $100 for the expenses of Chief of Police McKinnon in attending the national convention of police chiefs to be held at the Jamestown exposition on June 18. Aldermen Morrissette, Kane and Thorn were appointed by the mayor as a committee to draft a new set of rules for the council. The mayor's appointment of B. D. Merrill as a member of the park board to succeed himself for a term of three years was confirmed.

NEW FACTORY.

F. A. Patrick & Co. Will Make Shirts in Superior.

F. A. Patrick & Co. are planning to establish a factory for the manufacture of shirts and overalls in Superior.

A lease on one of the floors of the Odd Fellows' block has been secured, and the factory will be started in a small way. It is planned to increase it in size until from 150 to 200 machines are in use.

TO SAVE PENNIES.

Banks for Children May be Etablished in Schools.

Superior children will be encouraged to save their pennies if the plans of the W. C. T. U. women are carried out.

The members of the W. C. T. U. appeared last evening at the meeting of the school board and urged the adoption of savings banks in the schools. The board was inclined to favor the plan, but no definite action was taken.

Much New Sidewalk.

Superior is engaged in a campaign of improvement this spring. The council last night authorized the construction of nearly three miles of sidewalk, most of which will be cement, besides the turnpiking of several streets. Steps will also be taken toward paving John avenue from Belknap to Twenty-first street with creosote blocks.

STRIKE FOR BETTER PAY

Electrical Workers Ask for Scale of $3.75 Per Day.

Trouble May Also Arise With the Builders' Laborers.

Besides the sheet metal workers who walked out this morning when their employers refused to sign the new scale of wages, about forty inside electricians are also on strike today, and there is imminent danger that the builders' laborers will refuse to work unless the contractors agree to their demands.

The members of the Electricians' union have been asking for a 75 cent raise and had set May 1 as the day when the new scale should go into effect, but the employers refused to sign the scale this morning and the result was a walkout of the inside men for whom the new scale had been drawn up. The men then decided to compromise and offered a reduction in their demands from $4.00 a day to $3.75.

Some of the electrical firms, including the Zenith Telephone company and the Duluth-Edison company, have now signed the new scale, but others are still holding out this afternoon. S. B. Nunan, grand vice president of the Electrical Workers' union, has been in the city for the past week and is making an attempt to bring about a settlement.

A meeting of the board of governors of the Duluth Building Trades Structural alliance was being held this afternoon to decide whether or not the Builders' laborers would be called out. The Builders' laborers are demanding 35 cents an hour and the eight hour day. The contractors have refused to sign the new scale and at noon it looked as though a strike was most probable.

Others of the building trades also set May 1 as the date when their new wage scale was to go into effect and as a consequence there was such an uncertainty in all lines of work today that little has been accomplished. Up to 3 o'clock this afternoon the board of governors of the building trades had reached no decision in the matter of the Builders' laborers and it was still under consideration as well as the trouble of the electricians and sheet metal workers.

Unless an agreement is reached between the contractors and the various building trades, it will mean that there will be a serious delay in the building industry this spring.

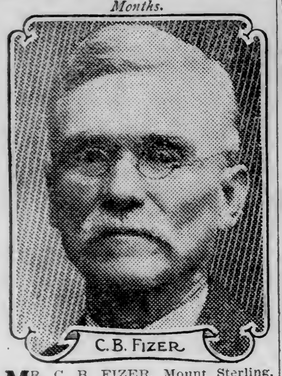
KIDNEY TROUBLE

Suffered Two Years—Relieved In Three Months.



MR. C. B. FIZER, Mount Sterling, Ky., writes:

"Last March I commenced using Peruna and continued for three months. I have not used it since, nor have I felt a pain.

"I believe that I am well and I therefore give my highest commendation to the curative qualities of Peruna."

Pe-ru-na For Kidney Trouble.

Mrs. George H. Simser, Grant, Ontario, Can., writes:

"I had not been well for about four years. I had kidney trouble, and, in fact, felt badly nearly all the time.

"This summer I got so very bad I thought I would try Peruna, so I wrote to you and began at once to take Peruna and Manalin.

"I took only two bottles of Peruna and one of Manalin, and now I feel better than I have for some time.

"I feel that Peruna and Manalin cured me and made a different woman of me altogether. I bless the day I picked up the little book and read of your Peruna."

It is the business of the kidneys to remove from the blood all poisonous materials. They must be active all the time, else the system suffers. There are times when they need a little assistance.

Peruna is exactly this sort of a remedy. It has saved many people from disaster by rendering the kidneys service at a time when they were not able to bear their own burdens.

GOOD RACE PROGRAMS

Three Meets on the International Racing Circuit.

The program of the International Fair and Racing circuit for 1907 has just been announced. The circuit will give three meetings, with an aggregate of $32,000 in stakes and purses. Minot, N. D., will open the circuit with a five-day meet, July 2 to 6, the purses aggregating $9,700. Winnipeg follows with a seven-day meet, July 13 to 20, and purses totaling $11,000. Winnipeg is followed by Grand Forks with a five-day meet, July 22 to 27, a total of $11,-250 being offered in purses there.

The International Fair and Racing circuit is a new organization, this being its first year. A. W. Bell of Winnipeg is circuit president and L. S. Champine of Minot, N. D., circuit secretary. The programs have been arranged with marked liberality, in regard to number of classes, and every owner of a horse can find some class to suit him. Liberal conditions have also been made for the running races.

H. E. Woods of Norborne, Mo., an old follower of the horses, has been engaged to start around the circuit and the circuit officers guarantee that the judging will be first class. The track record at Minot is 2:11¾, at Grand Forks 2:12¾ and at Winnipeg 2:07, so good tracks are assured. The entries must be made to the local secretaries, who are L. S. Champine at Minot, A. W. Bell at Winnipeg and H. E. Miller at Grand Forks. At Minot, the meet will be given under the auspices of the Ward County Fair and Racing association; at Winnipeg, the Winnipeg Industrial Exhibition association; and at Grand Forks under the auspices of the North Dakota State Fair association.

DELAWARE CARPENTERS OUT.

Wilmington, Del., May 1.—Carpenters to the number of 209 struck here today in an attempt to enforce a demand for an increase of wages from 40 cents an hour to 45 cents. DRUNKENNESS CURED.

It will be gratifying to all lovers of temperance and a happy home to know that a simple and a scientific cure for the whiskey and beer habit has been discovered. Orrine never fails to cure drunkenness if it is used in accordance with the simple directions in the package, and the discoverer has so much confidence in the treatment that we are authorized to sell it with an absolute guarantee, to effect a cure or the money will be refunded.

It is in two forms: No. 1 to be given secretly, and No. 2 for those who wish to be cured, 1 each. Mothers and sisters have told us of husbands and brothers who since they were given Orrine, in many cases without their knowledge, have lost all desire for drink, and we are glad to recommend the remedy. Mail orders filled. The Orrine Co., Washington, D. C., or F. W. Kugler & Co., 108 West Superior street, Duluth.

MARINE NEWS

DOCK WILL BE REBUILT

Owners of Burned Singer Property Will Make Improvements.

Duluth & Chicago Company Will Use City Dock.

Although nothing has yet been decided by the owners, it is almost certain that the old Singer dock and freighthouse, which were burned last Saturday, will be rebuilt and greatly improved during the present season. The owners of the property, the Connecticut Mutual Life Insurance company, have been communicated with and the matter of rebuilding the dock is being talked over.

The freighthouse at the dock was almost completely destroyed and the dock itself was badly damaged, the flames eating down almost to the water's edge so that there is little left but the piling. The loss to the dock itself is probably about 75 per cent. That part of the dock and freighthouse opposite the Booth company's property is the only part which was not badly damaged.

F. I. Salter, the local agent of the owners of the property, says that nothing definite has been decided yet, but that negotiations are already under way which will probably result in the improvement and betterment of the dock.

The new Duluth & Chicago Transportation company had rented the Singer dock for use from May 1. The company has now engaged the city dock at Eighth avenue and will deliver all freight consigned to independent parties there. Freight for wholesale houses and railroads will be delivered at the private docks owned by those companys.

The Singer dock has been a very popular one for package freight lines in the past and it will be missed considerably during the present season.

GOES TO HOUGHTON.

Steamer Easton Starts on First Trip Along South Shore.

The first boat to leave on a trip along the south shore was the steamer Easton of the Booth line which cleared the Duluth harbor last evening for Houghton. She will touch at Ashland, Hancock and other points along the south shore and will return to Duluth probably next Friday evening.

The steamer America of the same line returned yesterday afternoon after making her regular trip to Isle Royale. She stopped at all the north shore points and at Washington Harbor, Isle Royale, but has not yet made an attempt to get into Port Arthur. She left again this morning for Isle Royale. Her passenger list yesterday amounted to over 100.

MAY BE BUILT HERE.

On Account of Strike South Chicago May Not Construct 600 Footer.

South Chicago, May 1.—It was reported yesterday that on account of the strike at the local ship yard of the American Shipbuilding company, orders have been issued for the transferring of 100 carloads of material, lately delivered at the yard for the construction of a 600 foot freighter, to some other yard of the company, where work has not been interrupted by labor troubles. It is also said that the steamer Thomas B. Lynch, the last ship launched here, will be towed to another yard to receive the finishing touches so that it can be placed in service without delay.

A meeting of the strikers, which was held Monday night, it was said, to discuss going back to work, was broken up by a crowd of striking riveters, who invaded the hall. About 300 men are now at work at the ship yard. he strikers number 800 and there are 400 other workmen who have been deprived of work on account of the strike.

CHANGES IN BUOYS.

Lights in Lake Michigan and Lake St. Clair Are Altered.

According to the notice to mariners received at the local United States hydrographic office, the color of Dunlap Reef range lights, located on Dunlap reef, Sturgeon bay, has been changed from fixed white to fixed red until further notice. The station has been reopened for business.

The Hills Point buoy in Sturgeon bay, marked Hills Point No. 3, has been replaced by a gas buoy, which exhibits an intermittent white light every 20 seconds. It marks the western edge of the shoal ground that extends across Sturgeon bay, near Hills point, Wisconsin.

At the Frankfort harbor entrance in Lake Michiga it has been reported to the hydrographic office that the south pierhead has been damaged and about fifty feet washed away. Vessels should not approach within fifty feet of the pier head.

The West channel gas buoy No. 9, painted black, marked West Channel No. 9, and showing an intermittent white light every twenty seconds, has been moored in twenty feet of water about 250 feet from the St. Clair Flats Canal upper light house to replace the old West Channel lightbuoy No. 9.

STEAMER ALVA OVERDUE.

The steamer Alva, one of the two boats of the new transportation company known as the Duluth & Chicago company, was due in Duluth this morning but has not yet arrived in the harbor. She left the Sault a couple of days ago on her way up from Chicago and should be in Duluth. It is likely that the vessel has been delayed by the ice in Whitefish bay.

The Alva is a 4,500 ton vessel and when she arrives here she will discharge her cargo at the city dock at the foot of Eighth avenue west. This line makes connections with the railroads for all points in the Northwest and Pacific coast at Duluth.

The passenger and freight steamer Huronic, owned by the Northern Navigation company left Sarnia yesterday for Duluth and is expected to reach this port this evening or tomorrow. She will come by way of Port Arthur.

Grounded at Lime Kilns.

Amherstburg, May 1.—The schooner Bacon up-bound with coal in tow of the steamer Pridgeon, became disabled through the breaking of her steering gear shortly after noon and went on the east bank of Lime Kilns Crossing. She was released this evening by the tug General.

SOLID ICE IN BAY MAY CLOSE UP FORT WILLIAM.

Fort William, May 1.—(Special to The Herald)—While boats have succeeded in entering and sailing from this port and Port Arthur, the ice in the bay remains solid, and vesselmen say that the channel cut through it with dynamite is likely to close up at any time. All the vessels which wintered here got into clear water on Lake Superior. If the ice closes up, both ports will stay closed until ice leaves the bay.

LAKE TUG GOES DOWN BUT CREW IS SAVED ON RAFT.

Painesville, Ohio, May 1.—The crew of the lake tug L. B. Johnson, consisting of four men, reached shore on a life raft near Fairport early this morning. The tug sprang a leak about five miles off shore last evening and began to settle rapidly, despite hard work with the pumps. Torches were burned to attract the attention of the life-savers at Fairport, but proved unsuccessful. As the tug was about to founder the life raft was floated, and the crew took to it. The men were nearly exhausted when they reached shore.

Vessels Not Ashore.

The report which was circulated this morning that the steamer Simon Langell and her schooners, the Moore and Arance, were ashore at Point aux Pines at the lower end of Lake Superior, has been denied by Alexander R. Sinclair, the local agent for the vessels. He says that the report is entirely false and that he expects the three boats will arrive in the Duluth harbor this afternoon or evening.

First of the Lumber Fleet.

The first barges which have been towed up the lakes this season arrived in the Duluth harbor this morning, all but one being boats of the lumber fleet. Four steamers of this early lumber fleet have arrived with their tows, the Sawyer with the Tuxbury, the Edward Hines, the Myron with the Peshtigo, Page and the Bradley with the Delaware and Brightie. The only other barge which has come up the lakes is the Polynesia with coal.

Will Take Big Cargo.

The steamer D. R. Hanna, which is loading flax at the Great Northern elevator, is expected to take out a record cargo when she leaves the harbor tomorrow. The largest flax load taken out last year was between 350,000 and 400,000 bushels and the Hanna is expected to go over these figures by several thousands.

Increase in Coal Shipment.

Buffalo, May 1.—Shipments of hard coal from Buffalo during April totaled 421,192 tons, an increase over the same period last year of 100,600 tons. Chicago received 105,438 tons, Milwaukee 39,673 and Duluth 36,700 tons, the rest being distributed among the smaller ports.

Barge Thompson Released.

Sault Ste. Marie, May 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—After lightering 300 tons of coal, the barge Thompson was released last night apparently uninjured.

LAW DOES NOT EXEMPT BANKS

Must Pay Mortgage Registry Tax Just Like Individuals.

Attorney General E. T. Young of Minnesota, in an opinion recently rendered, holds that banks and trust companies must pay the registry tax on mrtgages which they hold. This applies to all instruments filed after today, when the law becomes effective.

Until today the banks have been paying, it is supposed, taxes on their capital stock and surplus, but no taxes on mortgages, but under the new law the banks will have to pay on both.

Mr. Young says that none of the banking institutions of the state are taxed on what is known in law as a commuted basis. Gross earnings taxes are the only commutation taxes under the Minnesota law.

As has been stated before, holders of old mortgages, unless they care to come under the new law, may pay taxes on them as before. Mr. Young holds that the tax only applies to liens on real estate and not on mechanics' or other liens arising by operation of law.

CONTINUE CAMPAIGN

Remainder of Y. W. C. A. Building Fund Will be Raised.

Close of Regular Canvass Found It $18,000 Short.

"We will continue the campaign until the $130,000 is assured." The foregoing sentence is the bland quotation that all interested in the raising of the funds for the building of a home for the local Young Women's Christian association are today expressing to all questioners. The first of May is here, and the $130,000 is not, but that is no reason why the campaign should not continue, and it will.

"We hope to complete the sum within a few days," said W. A. McGonagle, who is chairman of the business men's committees in charge of the campaign. "We are greatly pleased with the reception that the project has met, for the $112,000 which we have succeeded in raising is representative of a great many people. More of those in moderate circumstances have contributed to this work than is usual, as it has a wide appeal to people who often are not interested in contributing to work of this kind. The work for young women, and the pressing necessity for Duluth, especially now, to be well equipped to carry on this work, is realized by a large number of people, and the contributions from these people have been gladly received, for it is gratifying to know that people in moderate circumstances approve of the work and its necessity. We expect to have the full amount within a few days.

The contest among the committees of young business women is closed, and the blues, with Miss Carrie Russell as the captain, brought in the largest number of pledges, the amount secured by this team being $6,336.22.

The Yellows had $5,947.67; Greens, $3,232.66; Reds, $3,095.84; Pinks, $2,218.86; Lavenders, $2,294.41.

The total subscription secured by this morning was $112,130.01, lacking about $18,000 of the mark which the association members had hoped would be subscribed by May 1. The committees to solicit the subscriptions were well organized, and the women of the association have worked valiently, assisted by a large committee of business men. There were no conditions set, however, upon the date, and the campaign, although probably not so actively waged as during the last four weeks, will be continued until the amount necessary for the lot and a four-story home is assured.

MISS GILMAN HOME TO MARRY

New York, May 1.—Miss Mabelle Gilman, the former actress, who is engaged to be married to W. E. Corey, president of the United States Steel corporation, was reported to have arrived here today on the steamer Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse. Her name was not on the vessel's passenger list, but other passengers said she was on board, accompanied by her mother. It has been reported recently that the marriage of Miss Gillman to Mr. Corey is to take place May 7.

COLUMBIA CLOTHING CO.

Walk in Hanan shoes.

Modern ideas and modern machinery have put the shoe business on an entirely different footing from what our grandfathers knew.

Now the foot is studied and favored. None of the many successful wholesale shoemakers has studied the foot with more practical results than the famous Hanan, whose shoes for men and women we alone sell in Duluth and Superior. Their lasts are known as the most skillfully constructed of all. Mostly $5.

But every foot can find a cosy rest here for $3.50. Our own Columbia $3.50 shoe satisfies every inch of the foot and has more real value than most $4 shoes.

TINNERS ARE ON STRIKE

Members of Sheet Metal Workers' Union Walk Out.

Demand 50 Cents an Hour and Key to the Shop.

On account of the refusal of the employers to accede to their demands, the members of the Sheet Metal Workers' union of Duluth, about fifty strong, walked out this morning.

They demand 50 cents an hour for an eight hour day and a key to the shop, this latter being a set of rules giving the employes a say in the manner in which the business shall be conducted. The members of the union have been receiving 45 cents an hour for the eight hours' work and the employers have offered to sign up on the former scale. A representative of the union has been calling on the employers for about a week past and from each he received the same terms, the old scale. Their demends being refused, the men went on a strike this morning. They have already turned down the employers' terms, but will hold another meeting today or tonight, at which the matter will again be considered.

Neither employers nor men have as yet shown an inclination to yield. The employers have banded together in the matter and they will stand by each other, they say. On the other hand, the union is firm in its demands and the men say they will not give in.

"If the men do not come to terms in a reasonable time, we will declare 'open shop' in tinning and cornice working in Duluth," said one of the employers this morning. "We are now paying 45 cents an hour for an eight hour day, and we are perfectly willing to sign at the old scale. If the men see fit to take it, they can come back to work, but if they hold out, they will find their places filled."

SHIPMENTS ARE SMALL

Circumstances Were Unfavorable and Totals Are Not Large.

The lateness of the present season of navigation is brought home forcibly by a comparison of the ore shipments from the docks of the three ore-carrying roads in Minnesota, for the month of April this year and for the same time in 1906.

This year the thick ice at the Sault and the cold weather generally greatly retarded shipping and the ore figures plainly show it. The aggregate shipments for April, 1907, by the Duluth, Missabe & Northern, Duluth & Iron Range and Great Northern roads are only 313,836 tons, as compared with 1,046,666 tons for April a year ago.

The first day of May sees the total shipments thus far for the season of 1907 about 732,830 tons behind last season.

Last year, however, the shipments began about the 13th or 14th of April and there was practically no interruption, for the boats were unable to get under way at once. This year, the first boats were not loaded until April 18 and regular shipping by no means began then.

All three roads have just begun loading boats with any regularity. The first boat was loaded this year at the Missabe docks on April 20, whereas the first boat last season was loaded on April 14. The Duluth & Iron Range loaded the first boat this year on April 18 and last year on April 13. The Great Northern loaded the first boat April 23, while last season was started April 15.

The Great Northern led all of the roads during the past month, however, in the amount of ore shipped, as will be seen with a glance at the table which is given herewith. Last year, the Duluth & Iron Range had the honor.

However small the shipments for April, 1907, were—and the weather bureau's reports show that it was the coldest in years—the total shipments for May will tell a different story, because the lakes are now open to navigation and the congestion at the docks caused by the arrival of so many boats at one time, will soon be over and things running smoothly.

The complete table of shipments for April as compared with those for the same month in 1906, follows:

Roads—	1907.	1906.
D., M. & N.	101,900	383,943
Duluth & Iron Range	105,249	390,708
Great Northern	106 678	272,316
Totals	313,836	1,046,966

DECLARES ACTS ARE ALL LEGAL

Insurance Manager Scrugham Explains Basis for Arrests.

New York, May 1.—When George B. Scrugham, manager of the International Policyholders' committee, and Charles F. Carrington and Charles Stirrup, assistant managers of the same organization, arrested last night on charges of forgery in connection with the recent election of directors of the New York Life Insurance company, were arraigned before the police magistrate today, their cases were continued until Monday, Scrugham and Stirrup being released on $2,500 bail each, and Carrington on $3,000 bail.

Before he was arraigned, Scrugham issued a statement, in which he declared that accounts of an entirely legal nature had been misconstrued, so as to make it appear that an attempt was made to circumvent the laws governing the insurance election, and to procure the counting by fraud of ballots not properly executed. "As a matter of fact," said he, "these charges do not have to do with the alleged tampering with ballots at all, but refer to the filling in of names and addresses on envelopes in which ballots were sent to the inspectors at the New York Life Insurance company's office. There has never been any attempt at concealment in the matter."

CHRISTIAN PATRIOTS IN POLITICAL CONVENTION.

Rock Island, May 1.—A dozen states were represented by fifty delegates at the annual national convention of the United Christian Patriots, here, today. The call was for "all Christians and patriots, who can endorse God's perfect moral law and Jesus' golden rule as the basis of a platform on which to unite, and by which to measure all just laws and righteous government, regardless of sex, creed, nationality, color or previous politics." Prayers and songs figure largely in the program.

KILLED IN RUNAWAY.

Durango, Iowa, May 1.—Mrs. John Kringle, living here, was instantly killed by being thrown from a buggy in which she was driving to Dubuque. The horse became frightened at a traction engine and ran away. Mrs. Kringle struck upon the point of her chin, breaking her neck and dying instantly.

PRINCE SICK WITH MEASLES.

Madrid, May 1.—Prince Ferdinand of Bavaria, King Alfonso's brother-in-law, is ill with the measles.

Torturing eczema spreads its burning area every day. Doan's Ointment quickly stops its spreading, instantly relieves the itching, cures it permanently. At any drug store.

New "Kyoto" Silks Are Here

This is the newest thing in silks—and quite probably the most beautiful, you'll think. Beautiful new tan and champagne shades, in a rough pongee weave of silk, with a big range of swell brown, black and blue plaided effects and brown rings.

It's 27 inches wide and will wash perfectly—have no fear. The best silk value of the season at only 55c a yard.

Footwear With "Snap" and Style

Can't be found in every store in town. YOU know and so do WE. But we know that the new spring footwear you find here HAS "snap" and style, and that it's the best our money and experience can buy. We know, too, that our prices are the lowest—for good quality—to be found in Duluth—and that these things are bringing to this store a tremendous business in

Spring Shoes and Oxfords

We have all the season's very smartest styles for men, women and children—all lasts and all leathers. We are exclusive agents for women's "Queen Quality" and "D. Armstrong" footwear and the "Nettleton" shoe for men.

Begin today to learn the advantages of a really big and good shoe store, that guarantees its footwear and that shows the swellest styles the season affords. It's here—for you.

Our Millinery Department

Has created quite a sensation since the announcement of the opening a week ago. The new pattern rooms are not only magnificent, but their arrangement is unique and commodious. The tremendous volume of business we've been doing since the opening has more than taxed every resource at our command, and additional experienced trimmers and makers have been put to work in order that the demands of our patrons may be properly and quickly met. Every day you can see something new here. We have a standing order in our New York office to forward us samples of all the new creations from the French style creators, as well as New York's best milliners, just as soon as they are presented. This is the only store in the Northwest having such an arrangement—because this is the only store in the Northwest which can use the assortments and quantities. But don't for a moment suppose that, because we turn out hundreds of hats a week, any two are alike. Every hat has its own "difference"—its own element of distinctiveness, and originality—its own character. Lovely hats seen on the street are easily recognized by their dainty style and attractiveness, as having come from the Panton & White Co.

A thousand hats for street and dress wear are ready for your selection—at prices from $1.95 to $45 each. Your inspection solicited—whether you buy or not.

SHOULD BE BUT TWO CAUSES OF DEATH

Leading Doctors Agree That There Should Be But Two Causes of Death, viz.: Old Age and Accident.

What has lately been discovered and is now advocated by leading doctors has been known to the makers of Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey for fifty years.

Disease may be eliminated from the system and man's allotted three-score years and ten may be reached, in youthful vigor, by every man and woman.

Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey makes disease a harmless indisposition easily cured, hence death by accident is the only excuse for any man or woman not reaching 80 years of age or more, hale and hearty and possessed of all his or her faculties.

It has taken doctors, as well as laymen, a long time to realize, as they now do, what Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey does for the human system, when taken as directed.

Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey is distilled wholly from malted grain by a most expensive method which has never been made public. This private process insures quality and flavor. Its age, softness, palatability and freedom from those injurious substances found in other whiskies make it acceptable to the most sensitive stomach. It acts as an antitoxin on the system, destroy and drives out all disease germs, quickens the circulation, aids digestion, and strengthens the heart action. It invigorates the brain, builds new tissue and keeps the entire system elastic and youthful; thus life is prolonged.

Thousands of men and women throughout the country who are nearing or have passed the century mark, have testified that they owe their long life, health and strength to the constant use of Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey, taken as prescribed. A teaspoonful in a small quantity of water or milk, sweetened to taste, before each meal and before retiring.

Ministers of the gospel and temperance advocates who have seen the remarkable vigor and health of old people who have faithfully used this great family medicine and renewer of youth cannot say too much in praise of it.

If you have not tried Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey write Medical Department, Duffy Malt Whiskey Co., Rochester, New York, and ask for illustrated medical booklet, describing diseases and their treatment.

Caution—When you ask your druggist, grocer or dealer for Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey be sure you get the genuine. It's the only absolutely pure medicinal malt whiskey and is sold in sealed bottles only; never in bulk. Price $1.00. Look for the trade-mark, the "Old Chemist," on the label, and make sure the seal over the cork is unbroken.

THEATER TRUST TALES DENIED

Independents Explain Deal With New Vaudeville Combine.

New York, May 1.—The board of directors of the Society of Independent Managers, David Belasco, Lee Shubert, Harrison Grey Fiske, Henry Miller and Walter N. Lawrence, after a meeting yesterday gave out the following statement relative to the newly formed United States Amusement company:

"We desire to correct the general misapprehension that appears to exist and that has found expression throughout the press that there has been a 'merger' of the interests of the independent managers with what is known as the theatrical syndicate. This misapprehension has grown out of the recent acquisition for vaudeville by the newly formed United States Amusement company of several theaters which hitherto have been operated as independent dramatic theaters under the management of the Shubert Theatrical company, a corporation, the majority of whose stock is owned by Western capitalists.

"The theaters in question comprise several that were acquired by the Shubert Theatrical company to supplement the original circuit of independent theaters and their withdrawal does not in any respect alter the general situation. For the most part, those theaters are situated in the cities of lesser importance. It is our purpose to conduct our various enterprises on strictly independent lines.

"Our independent interests will remain independent. All contracts and booking obligations previously entered into for the independent theaters acquired by that corporation will be fulfilled but we desire it to be distinctly understood that the fulfillment of such obligations does not in any sense imply and should not be construed either by the press or the public as implying any agreement on our part that is contrary to the principles of theatrical independence."

Occasionally one has the fortune to meet women who are ideal in looks and figure. Ninety-nine times out of a hundred you will find she takes Hollister's Rocky Mountain Tea. Tea or Tablets, 35 cents. Ask your druggist.

SEVEN ARE FAITHLESS

Gratyzk Zarrano Complains Bitterly of the Cruelty of Fate.

Demented Laborer Thinks Stage Stars Were Once His.

Just now, with the logging season over and the shipping season in its infancy, Duluth's picturesque quarter, the Bowery, is harboring some quaint characters.

Many tongues are heard on the sidewalks, in the dingy saloons and eating and rooms houses. It is a far cry from the vocal calisthenics indulged in by former residents of Finland to the resonant lingo of the transplanted Southern negro, but they are both to be heard along the Bowery, just the same.

Most of the men have money now, or if they have not, good jobs are theirs for the seeking, and most of them are happy. But here and there throughout the length of the district there are hearts which are not glad. The heart of Gratyzk Zarrano, toiler, is not glad, because the latest and most beautiful of all his brides has left him.

He will show you her picture if you take the trouble to call upon him in his tiny room at the Moon lodging house, and if you follow up the request for a look at the picture with one for more information regarding Gratyzk's affairs of the heart, he will gladly tell you.

Perhaps Dr. Evans of Thaw fame, and less famous medical men, would tell you that Gratyzk's heart is sad because his mind has broken down and refuses to lift the curtain of despondency and melancholy. But Gratyzk himself knows better. He knows his heart is sad because she has left him.

To hear him tell it, Zarrano has had singularly bad luck with his domestic affairs. The defection of his latest bride hits him hardest, and he sits all day in his cramped quarters at the Moon, surrounded by the pictures of his seven wives, all of whom left him heartbroken.

He does not explain whether he took the trouble to be divorced after each desertion, and of course the visitor is too polite to ask any delicate questions to answer which might make Gratyzk uncomfortable.

But he will tell you almost everything else. And as he picks up each one of the seven pictures, which are stretched out in front of him on the bed, his heart becomes tenderly sad and he weeps. But it is because the last one, the one he loved most of all, has decamped, that Gratyzk is so very, very sad, he says.

He will hand you her picture. You look at it. It is a cheap imitation photograph of Maxine Elliot, the noted actress, mounted in a little imitation gold frame and supposed to be worn on the lapel of the coat or over the heart, hidden from the gaze of vulgar strangers by the outside coat. Pictures like it are to be had in any quantity desired from dealers in cheap jewelries and novelties who infest the Bowery and ply their trade on the range as well.

Yes, it is very sad. He loved her so very, very much—and she went away only last week. Then maybe he will pick up the little button whereon blooms the likeness of wife number six. It is a picture of Lillian Russell. Number one is either Edna Wallace Hopper or Della Fox; number five is Bonnie Magin, and nunbers two, three and four are Lulu Glaser, Cissie Loftus and an unidentified poster girl, respectively.

JUROR'S BREAK HELD NOT VITAL

New York, May 1.—The unauthorized visit of George W. Guernsey, one of the jurors in the trial of Anisia Louise De Massey, on the charge of killing Gustav Simon, to the building where the shooting occurred, delayed the trial for a short time yesterday. Justice Blanchard called Guernsey into his chamber and after a brief talk with him directed that the entire jury be allowed to inspect the stairway. Attorneys for both the defense and the prosecution accompanied the jurors, but the defendant waived her right to be present.

Soon after court reconvened the prosecution rested and the defense opened its case. Attorney Le Barbier charged that much of the testimony produced by the state was perjured and that he would show that Mrs. De Massey had no quarrel with Mr. Simon, and that she was not seen on the stairs after the shooting. She was on the street corner when she heard of the shooting. He also said that he would be able to show that there never was any identification of Mrs. De Massey by Mr. Simon after the shooting. During the address Mrs. De Massey broke down and wept.

ALL READY FOR HAYWOOD TRIAL

First of Noted Idaho Cases to Come Up Next Week.

Boise, Idaho, May 1.—Clarence S. Darrow of Chicago, and E. E. Richardson of Denver, attorneys for Charles H. Moyer, William D. Haywood and George A. Pettibone, accused of the murder of Former Governor Frank Steunenberg, announced yesterday that they were ready for the Haywood trial May 9. They state that no motion for another change of venue would be entered.

Mrs. Haywood has arrived with her two daughters, aged 17 and 11. She is an invalid and moves about in a chair. There was an interesting reunion of the family yesterday in the court house grounds, the wife and daughters passing most of the morning with Haywood. The men accused with Haywood were also on the grounds. Their wives also are here, but Mrs. Moyer is ill at the hospital. Moyer visits her regularly each day and Mrs. Pettibone promenades in the grounds with her husband.

MINERS ALL FOUND SAFE

Seven Men Imprisoned in Pennsylvania Pit Escape Death.

Johnstown, Pa., May 1.—After being entombed since Friday noon in the Berwind-White company's mine, No. 38, at Foustwell, by a sudden flooding of the shaft, seven miners were rescued at 10 o'clock last night. All were greatly exhausted, and owing to their weakened condition, it was decided not to bring them out until after the mine had been drained. Hundred of persons who had been watching the work of rescue cheered, laughed and cried.

The men were reached by Stiney Rodon and Charles Ream, who made a dash through fifty feet of the water filled heading. Early in the day John Bolya, a brother of one of the imprisoned men, and three comrades, made a futile attempt to reach the imprisoned men. They came back half drowned, and reported that portions of the heading were still filled, and that more pumping would have to be done.

At 10 o'clock the water had so far gone down that it was resolved to make another attempt to break through to the overcast, where the men were imprisoned. Rodon and Ream volunteered, and plunged into the water and darkness. An hour elapsed before Ream came swimming back, bringing the news that the seven men were alive and in good shape, but that uutil more pumping was done the passage to the place where they had taken refuge was impossible to those who could not swim.

Ream and his comrade carried simply a flask of whisky and a little water. He reported that Mike Bolya had, since the breaking of the walls, been directing his comrades. Bolya, who was a mine contractor, was acquainted with every turn of the mine in which he was imprisoned. When the flood broke out, according to the story he told Ream, he led his comrades to the highest point in the heading. Each man carried his lunch basket. All lamps but one were extinguished, and one by one the lamps were each burned out. When they were reached by Rodon and Ream there was but one light remaining, and that in danger of running low at any time.

Boyla stated thatt he lamps were burned because the darkness and noises of the water rushing in the headings, as it was driven back and forth by the expansion of air cushions, caused by the flood, was so terrifying that the men feared that their reason would leave them if left in darkness. Of all the dangers they faced the darkness was the most terrible.

When stock was taken of the provisions it was found that three baskets were but half emptied. This scanty store of rations was husbanded until Monday morning since when the men had had nothing to eat. During the whole time they were imprisoned they had gone without water fearing to drink the water from the abandoned workings.

Ream stated that at the place where the men had sought refuge some ties had been left for tracklaying. With these Bolya and his comrades built a platform upon which they were not only high but dry.

Shortly after 12 o'clock Supt. Delaney made a trip to the place where Bolya and his comrades sought refuge and returned with more details concerning the men's experiences. According to Delaney, Bolya was informed by one of his men Saturday afternoon that water was coming into the heading. Being acquainted with the mine, Bolya at once started for the highest point. Before this place was reached, the men had to wade through water, waist deep. Once in a place of safety, Bolya started to plan escape. He and his companions rigged up a pump which they found and began pumping the water that lay between them and the pit mouth into a dip on the other side of them. They pumped continuously Saturday night and Sunday. Sunday night some of the men slept. Monday they began pumping again. To overcome the intense cold when not pumping they dug coal. At Bolya's suggestion one man was kept tapping on the compressed air pipe. The signals were always four taps and then three to indicate that they were in the fourth right heading and that seven of them were alive. At various times Bolya had difficulty in preventing his companions from attempting to swim to safety. It was not until Monday that they began to be discouraged. The seven men placed stones to mark the fall of the water. Monday the water seemed stationary.

My Best Friend.

Alexander Benton, who lives on Rural Route 1, Fort Edward, N. Y., says: "Dr. King's New Discovery is my best earthly friend. It cured me of asthma six years ago. It has also performed a wonderful cure of incipient consumption for my son's wife. Dr. King's New Discovery's power over coughs and colds is simply marvelous." No other remedy has ever equaled it. Fully guaranteed by all druggists. 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

ADVICE TO RHEUMATICS

Noted Physician Tells How to Prevent and Cure Rheumatism, Kidney and Bladder Troubles.

(By George Edmund Flood, M. D.)

If you would avoid Rheumatism and Kidney and Bladder Troubles be moderate in the consumption of heavy, rich foods, substitute as far as possible soups, broths, fresh milk, and drink water—lots of water. Take plenty of time to eat, and don't eat after you have had enough, even if it does taste good. If your work is confining take a moderate amount of exercise each day in the open air.

Of course, neither diet, water, rest, nor exercise will cure these afflictions. I advise them as preventives only. For the benefit of the readers of this article who are now afflicted with Rheumatism, Kidney, Bladder or Urinary trouble, and desire to be cured quickly, I give below, complete in every detail, the famous prescription which has made me so successful in the treatment of these diseases. It is the most certain cure for these diseases that I have ever used. It is pleasant to take, it is not expensive, it can be filled by any druggist, and I believe it is the greatest prescription for Rheumatism, Kidney and Bladder Trouble ever written. It is also a valuable spring tonic and blood purifier. If you are a sufferer, save this, take it to your druggist and have it filled, or get the ingredients and mix them at home. Fluid Extract Cascara Aromatic, ½ ounce; Concentrated Barkola Compound, 1 ounce; Fluid Extract Prickly Ash Bark, ½ drachm; Aromatic Elixir, 4 ounces.

Adult dose, take one teaspoonful after meals and at bedtime; children, one-fourth to one-half teaspoonful after meals.

After you are cured follow the advice I have given you in regard to diet, exercise and water, and you will not need the services of a physician again for these ailments.

RUN OVER BY STREET CAR

Small Boy Has a Miraculous Escape From Death.

Falls in Sand Between Rails and is Uninjured.

Run over by one of the double truck cars on the Park Point system, the small 6-year-old son of Mrs. Elizabeth Cosgrove, who resides at Twenty-second street, Park Point, is uninjured beyond a severe shaking up and some minor bruises.

The boy had about as narrow an escape from death or severe injuries as a person could have, and his fortunate escape is claimed to be due to the fact that the Park Point line has a roadbed of sand, instead of being laid in a paved street.

The accident happened shortly before 6 o'clock last evening, while the car was southbound with a large number of passengers, who reside on Minnesota Point.

The little Cosgrove boy was playing on the sidewalk at Twenty-third street and, as the car, running at full speed, was almost opposite him, he started to run across the track in front of it. The car caught him in the middle of the track and knocked him down between the rails. Motorman John Erickson threw on the air brake and the car came to a stop within its own length, in fact, the Cosgrove boy was taken from under the hind trucks by the car crew and the passengers.

Portions of the car struck the boy, and he was rolled slightly as the car went over him, but the fact that the roadbed was sandy, and the trucks high, prevented any serious injury. He was stunned when taken from underneath the car, but came to very quickly and began to cry.

Motorman Erickson ran to the car barn, and a physician was summoned. An examination of the boy by the latter disclosed no broken bones, and it was claimed that the bumps and bruises would remain as painful reminders for a few days.

This is the first accident of the kind that has occurred on the Park Point line.

About two years ago a car jumped the track and ran over a bicycle rider on the sidewalk, but fortunately in that case the man fell on the ground at the edge of the sidewalk, which kept the weight of the car from his body, although he was pinned down until the car could be raised a few inches.

The accident last night caused great excitement on the car, especially among the women passengers, when they learned a child had been run over.

The Park Point company has signs in every block, warning parents to keep their children off the tracks.

AMERICAN NEWS NOTES.

At the White House last evening, President and Mrs. Roosevelt entertained at dinner all the principal officers of the United States foreign navies who participated in the opening of the Jamestown exposition.

That a payment of $840,000 was the basis on which the $2,000,000 suit of the Copper Range Mining company against Albert C. Burrage was settled after it had come to trial in Boston last week, became known yesterday by the publication of the annual report of President Paine.

DIVORCE BY REFEREE.

Ben Guggenheim Named as Co-Respondent in Tuska Divorce Case.

New York, May 1.—Upon the strength of a bill of complaint, in which Benjamin Guggenheim, a brother of United States Senator Simon Guggenheim, of Colorado, and a member of the firm of Guggenheim's Sons was named as the co-respondent, Samuel A. Tuska, secretary-treasurer and director of the American Process company, the Atlantic Construction company and the Atlantic Fisheries company, has obtained a decree of absolute divorce from Mrs. Amy Goldsmith Tuska. The decree was granted on last Saturday by Justice Seabury upon the recommendation of Snowden Marshall, the referee.

Tuska, obtained the custody of his son Robert, 6 years old, but the court decreed that Mrs. Tuska should have the right to apply at a future time for the privilege of seeing the lad at intervals to be regulated by the court.

NOT AT ALL PEEVISH.

Kansas City Journal: A farmer woman sat for two solid hours in front of one of the business houses in Erie last Saturday waiting for her husband to buy his pound of tobacco and a little bunch of fence wire, according to the Record. When he returned with his purchases she smiled at him sweetly and said she hoped he'd found the kind of tobacco he liked. And after they returned home she probably milked the cows, fed the pigs and then went to the house, got supper, washed up the dishes and put the children to bed while the man tried his tobacco. She looked like that very sort of woman.

TUMORS CONQUERED

Overwhelming Proof that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Succeeds.

The growth of a tumor is so insidious that frequently its presence is wholly unsuspected until it is well advanced.

So called "wandering pains" may come from its early stages or the presence of danger may be made manifest by excessive monthly periods accompanied by unusual pain, from the abdomen through the groin and thigh.

If you have mysterious pains, if there are indications of inflammation or displacements, secure a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs, right away and begin its use.

The following letters should convince every suffering woman of its virtue, and that it actually does conquer tumors.

Mrs. May Fry, of 836 W. Colfax Ave., South Bend, Ind., writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"I take great pleasure in writing to thank you for what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. I also took the Blood Purifier in alternate doses with the Compound. Your medicine removed a cyst tumor of four years' growth, which three of the best physicians declared I had. They had said that only an operation could help me. I am very thankful that I followed a friend's advice and took your medicine. It has made me a strong and well woman and I shall recommend it as long as I live."

Mrs. E. F. Hayes, of 26 Ruggles St., Boston, Mass., writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"I have been under different doctors' treatment for a long time without relief. They told me I had a fibroid tumor, my abdomen was swollen and I suffered with great pain. I wrote to you for advice, you replied and I followed your directions carefully and today I am a well women. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound expelled the tumor and strengthened my whole system."

Mrs. Perry Byers, of Mt. Pleasant, Iowa, writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"I was told by my physician that I had a fibroid tumor and that I would have to be operated upon, I wrote to you for advice, which I followed carefully and took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I am not only cured of the tumor but other female troubles and can do all my own work after eigh years of suffering."

Mrs. S. J. Barber, of Scott, N. Y. writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"Sometime ago I wrote you for advice about a tumor which the doctors thought would have to be removed. Instead I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and to-day am a well woman."

Mrs. M. M. Funk, Vandergrift, Pa., writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"I had a tumor and Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound removed it for me after two doctors had given me up. I was sick four years before I began to take the Compound. I now recommend Lydia E Pinkham's Vegetable Compound far and near."

Such testimony as above is convincing evidence that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound stands without a peer as a remedy for Tumor Growths as well as other distressing ills of women, and such symptoms as Bearing-down Sensations, Displacements, Irregularities and Backache etc. Women should remember that it is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound that is curing so many women Don't forget to insist upon it when some druggist asks you to accept something else which he calls "just as good."

Mrs. Pinkham's Invitation to Women.

Women suffering from any form of female weakness are invited to write Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., for advice. She is the Mrs. Pinkham who has been advising sick women free of charge for more than twenty years, and before that she assisted her mother-in-law, Lydia E. Pinkham in advising. Thus she is especially well qualified to guide sick women back to health.

CONCERNING WOMEN.

Habits of thought are among the most annoying things that one encounters in a day of worry. All habits of thought that are not one's own are annoying, of course, but Ben Franklin or Shakespeare, whoever it was, that said that "early to bed and early to rise" was the method of life which would commend itself to people of sane and well balanced minds, has a lot to answer for in the moments of discomfort which lots of thoroughly fine principled people endure because of the attitude of mankind to that perfectly senseless observation.

George Ade understands the right relation to this subject. He says, "Early to bed and early to rise, and you'll never meet prominent people." The vast majority of mankind laughs at George, and thinks it is doing something commendable by rising at an unholy hour. Get up when you like, but let any modicum of admiration go to the person who remains in bed until the last possible minute. Let people readjust this idea of things, so that there will be not so much admiration doled out to the persons who rise at 6:30, when they might have remained to sleep until 7:30. If people can by chance breakfast in bed at 10:30, why let honor be extended to them. But the person who is fighting against public opinion in this matter has a mighty hard time of it.

The independent thinker meets a friend.

"Do you know," says the friend with a grasp of admiration at her own powers, "I got up at 6 o'clock this morning," and she stands off mentally to hear the praise which will be showered upon her. She has always thought it was praiseworthy to arise early, and she always wants the credit due her.

The independent thinker in a moment of weakness may say "you did" with prolonged emphasis upon the verb, which is what is expected of her, but if she is true to herself and her ideas of life she snaps: "Well, what if you did? If I ever did anything so foolish I'd have a consultation of physicians over me. Anybody who gets up at 6 o'clock for no earthly reason on earth but just to be smart is suffering from acute inflammation of something or other. What did you do when up? Nothing but sit around, I'll bet, and with a Pharisee-like attitude thank yourself that you were not like other people who stayed in bed. You probably didn't do a single solitary thing because you had a lot of time that you simply fooled it away. People who get up any earlier than five minutes later than the last possible minute are too self righteous for ordinary people to live with. Stay in bed until you have to get up, but if by chance you do anything so foolish again, for goodness sake, don't come and tell us about it and expect to be praised. Be ashamed of it."

There is one worse thing than the early riser who insists upon letting you know about it, and that is the person who takes cold plunge baths in the morning.

After having strength of mind enough not to do it oneself, to hear one of these persons brag about it is almost intolerable. "It feels so fine," they lie cheerfully. For anybody with sense knows that anybody who makes any such statement is a probable candidate for Mr. Roosevelt's newest and least popular club. Feels fine, indeed! What do they think people are? Oh! for a person who really took cold baths and guarded the fact as a secret crime. But there is no such person, for he who will continue this early savage method of torture insists upon telling it and getting the credit which he thinks his due.

If the habits of thought which consider these two practices, as matters of virtue could be eliminated, this world would be a more comfortable and pleasanter place for the people with the strength of mind enough to refrain from both.

SPRING MUSICALE

The vocal and piano pupils of Mrs. Stella Prince Stocker were heard in a formal spring musicale last evening at the First Unitarian church, and a large audience listened with interest to the well arranged and delightful program which was presented. The piano numbers were given by Misses Dorothea Engle, Dorothea Bidwell, Ruth Johnson, Claryce Stelmke, Irma Gujer, Clara Stocker, Mary Emily Merritt, Mabel Rhodes and Isabel Pearson. The vocal numbers were sung by Miss Evelyn Greenfield and Mrs. T. G. Bartholomew, sopranos, Mrs. W. O. Kinsman, contralto and Porter J. Neff, tenor. Mr. Neff's number was "O Ye Tears," by Abt and in response to an enthusiastic encore, he sang "Killarney," by Balfe. Master Thomas Colbentson played a violin obligato to Mrs. Kinsman's number, "Love is Lord of You and Me," by Weil.

The program closed with the singing of Ethelbert Nevin's song cycle, "Captive Memories," which was new to many of the audience and it was well received. The interpreters were Mrs. Bartholomew, Mrs. Kinsman, Mr. Neff and assisting was George Suffel, baritone.

The advance pupils of Mrs. Stocker are all doing church musical work throughout the city. Miss Isabel Pearson is organist of the Lakeside Presbyterian church and Miss Evelyn Greenfield is soprano soloist for the same congregation. Mrs. T. G. Bartholomew is soprano soloist of the Christian Science church and at the Unitarian church the soloists are Mrs. Kinsman and Porter J. Neff.

ELECT OFFICERS.

Last Meeting of Year of Bishop's Club Is Held.

The last meeting of the year of the Bishop's club was held last evening in the club room and the members entertained their friends at an informal social evening with a musical program and a short talk by Bishop McGolrick, in which he reviewed the work of the club for the year, which has been a study of the history, literature and art of Spain.

At the short business session which was held, the election of officers took place and the following women will serve the club during the coming year: President, Mrs. Donald P. McDonald; first vice president, Mrs. M. H. Kelley; second vice president, Mrs. C. L. Twohy; secretary, Miss Knauff; treasurer, Miss Jennie Crowley; historian, Mrs. P. Cadogan of Superior and librarian, Miss Eunice Brotherton.

The musical program was presented by Miss Jane Everington and Walter Smith, who were heard with much pleasure, and Miss Adele McClaren was heard in two readings that were much enjoyed. The accompanist was Miss Theresa Lynn.

A large number of guests were present. Assisting about the room were Mrs. E. W. Fahey, Mrs. J. H. Sullivan, Mrs. L. H. Corcoran, Miss Margaret Horgan, Mrs. T. Welles, Miss May Gowan and Miss Kilchli.

Cecilian Society.

The last meeting of the year of the Cecilian society will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock at the home of Miss Teresa Lynn of 114 West Third street. Following the regular program the annual election of officers will be held.

Meeting Postponed.

The meeting of the Teachers Art History class, of which Mrs. Robert Morris Seymour is leader, will be postponed until Wednesday evening of next week, because of the Schumann Heink concert this evening.

W. C. T. U. Meeting.

The regular meeting of the Women's Christian Temperance Union will be held tomorrow afternoon with Mrs. Ida Merrit of 4018 West Eighth street. The subject for the afternoon's study will be "Laws of Minnesota Concerning the Rights of Women," with Mrs T. J. McKeon as leader. "Mistakes Women Have Made" will be related in response to roll call.

Personal Mention.

Mrs. Bentley P. Neff of 5 Munger terrace left this afternoon for a month's visit at Toronto, Can.

• • •

Dr. Mary McCoy and the Misses Knauff have as their guest their brother, Arthur Knauff, of Williston, N. D.

• • •

Mrs. John Donnelly and daughter, Esther, of Wausau, Wis., who have been the guests of Mrs. Donnelly's parents, Mr. and Mrs. P. W. Gallagher, of 2413 West Fifth street, have returned to their home.

What Retail Markets Offer.

New beets, 10 cents a bunch.
Parsnips, 30 cents a peck.
Spinach, 40 cents a peck.
Rice, 10 cents a lb.
Shad.
Fresh fish.
Beef tongues.
Veal loaf.

The sameness of the market is quite appalling. When the taste and appetites of spring call for something entirely different from the viands of winter, it is too annoying to confront the display of the same delicacies each day at quotation prices, which make buying an indiscretion. When one is pining for artichokes, it is hard to be content with parsnips, and when one wants head lettuce, that by the leaf tastes about as good. To be content with macaroni and cheese when one wants fresh tomatoes, may be good soul discipline, but it is mighty poor eating, and when strawberry shortcake seems to be the height of desire, prune whip is a poor substitute.

Rice isn't very expensnve, and if you use plenty of cheese and some sweet, delicate butter, and the proper seasoning, and a lightly beaten egg or two, rice can be made into a real delicacy.

AN OBJECT LESSON

By Margaret Johnson.

(Copyright, 1907, by Joseph B. Bowles).

To begin with, it was hot—hot even here on the very edge of the ocean. The air was breathless when we came down to breakfast, and the sea just a faint blue shimmer out beyond the breakers. The waves rolled languidly and the sound of their foam and dash on the sand was deceptively cool in the stillness. The windows in the hotel dining room were all wide open, of course, and our table was next to a window, so that if there had been any breeze, we should have felt it. But there was none anywhere, except that made by Judge Dunmine's big palmleaf fan, which he waved at intervals. The judge was placid and gentle, as usual.

Mrs Deane, who sat next to him, gave her order to Georgiana, who waited on the table, with more than her customary deliberation.

She always had to read the entire list, little as it varied from day to day, and we were accustomed to wait until this was done before giving our own orders.

We were not very hungry that morning. It was to hot for an appetite. And conversation flagged. And when the princess came down, rather late, with a frown on her lovely face, we felt that things were wrong indeed, and there must be something most unusual about the weather. We called her the princess, because of her daintiness, and a certain graceful hateur and reserve that were as natural to her as was his dignity to her grandfather, the judge. She had on the freshest of white gowns, all lace and ruffles and cool voilet ribbons, and it was refreshing only to look at her; but her smile was as faint and fleeting as the sea breeze from the window as she slipped into her seat beside her grandfather.

She played a little with her breakfast, and then turned to Miss Tucker, rather abruptly.

"Do you happen to know anything about dressmaking?" she asked.

"No," said the stolid Fanny, consuming pancakes and iced coffee. "Do you?"

"I wish I did," said the princess. A great sigh relieved her burdened heart and, having no one else to whom she might go with her trouble, she confided it with a sudden desperate impulse to Miss Tucker.

"You see," she said in a low voice, "I wanted to wear my pink gown to the hop tonight, and the waist needed fixing over, and now mamma has had to go away, and there's no one to help me, and I don't see what I'm to do. The trouble is, I ripped the waist before I knew, and now can't get it together again. And mamma is not coming back till the last minute, and I must go to the hop, and—here I am!"

She made a little dramatic gesture of despair; but Fanny was ordering more pancakes from Georgiana, who stood at her elbow with one eye on her and one on Mrs. Deane. This is figurative, of course, for Georgiana was not cross-eyed.

"Pancakes, Georgiana,' said Fanny. "Hot, please."

"Eggs, Georgiana," said the little bald-headed man in the corner. "Boiled, and not quite so soft as last time."

"Georgiana,' said Mrs. Deane, waiting with admirable self-command until the others were done speaking: "Did you know that I had not had my toast yet?" Her tone was most affecting in its suggestion of wronged innocence.

"And Georgiana," said the princess, as petishly as it was possible for her to speak, "I wish you would give me some water. My glass has been empty ever so long."

For the first time Georgiana flushed. She had been pale before, being one of those people who turn white when they are hot instead of red. But she filled the glass, and brought the eggs and the pancakes and the toast—she was an admirable waitress—and when we had finished, we all went out on the veranda to wait for the little breeze which always sprang off the water these still mornings and cooled us off for an hour or so. It was too hot to walk, or to go down on the sun-baked rocks, and so we lounged in shady corners, and read and rocked and wished the weather would change.

And Georgiana washed the dishes with the other girls in the pantry. It was stifling out there. Georgiana wondered if it could be any hotter in the little back sewing room at Abram Morrell's, where she had stitched and suffered all through July, so that she might have this month at the seashore. She wondered if the experiment had been worth while, anyway.

When finally a leisure moment arrived she went upstairs to her room. On the way she passed Miss Dumaine's door. It was open and Miss Dumaine was within. She sat by the window in an attitude of such despersion, not to say despair, that Georgiana stopped involuntarily. She saw the pink and white things, silk and lace and what not, that were scattered on the bed and chairs, and remembered something that she had overheard at breakfast, confused at the moment with Miss Tucker's order for pancakes. With a sudden impulse she tapped, and then walked boldly into the room.

"Why, Georgiana!" said Miss Dumaine, startled. There were actually tears in her pretty eyes as she looked up.

"Is this the waist," asked Georgiana, quietly, looking at a shapeless pink something in the other's lap.

"Yes," said the princess.

"And what did you want to do with it?" pursued Georgiana, taking it into hands that were evidently accustomed to the touch of such dainty fabrics, and too intent to notice the delicate suggestion of frost in the princess' tone.

"I—why, Georgiana!"

"Oh, I forgot," said Georgiana. "You didn't know. I'm dressmaker—at least, I'm in a dressmaking establishment in the city, and I thought—I didn't know but I might help you with this. I heard you talking about it this morning at breakfast."

"Really!" said the princess, wide-eyed. "A dressmaker!"

"Yes," said Georgiana. "This is my vacation."

"Your—vacation!" repeated the princess.

Georgiana smiled a little at her frank wonder.

"Yes," she said simply. "A good many of us do it this way. It's the only way we can afford. And won't you show me how you think you'd like to have the waist?"

"Why, this chiffon ought to be fulled up some way into the neck," said Miss Dumaine, rather absently, pulling at it with helpless fingers. The frost had quite melted out of her voice.

Your—vacation!" she said again under her breath, looking up at the other's serious, pale face, absorbed in the interesting possibilities of the pink waist.

"I can do it," said Georgiana, "this way—and this," with deft fingers illustrating her words. "And I should love to—it is so pretty. The only trouble is, it will take a good while, and"—she looked at the little clock on the mantel—"there's dinner."

"Oh, never mind dinner!" cried the princess, forgetting. "If you can do it, I'll have dinner sent up to you here."

Georgiana gave a queer little laugh.

"Will you?" she said. "Thank you, Miss Dumaine. But how are you to get your own dinner—you and the rest, without me to wait on you?"

"Georgiana! There's only one thing to do. If you will stay here and finish the waist for me, I will go down and wait on the table for you!"

"Oh—no!" said Georgiana.

"Oh—yes!" said the princess, superbly.

"Why not? It will not hurt me!"

Georgiana lifted her demure eyebrows with another little laugh. "I wasn't thinking of that," she said. I was wondering—did you ever wait on table before, Miss Dumaine?"

"Is it harder than dancing the german?" asked the princess, with scorn. "Or riding the bicycle, or Greek verbs, or Delsarte exercises, or—golf?"

"I think it is, if you are not used to it," said Georgiana, unmoved. "You have to remember everybody's order, you know, and not get them mixed up, and not keep anybody waiting, and then they'll want toast—"

"It's dinner," said the princess. "They can't want toast."

"They will," said Georgiana, patiently. "Somebody always wants toast. If it was midnight supper, they'd want it just the same. And then you have to wait your turn at the fire, because all the other girls want to make toast, too, and the cook is very unpleasant about it, and Katy Billings is pretty sure to spill something—you have to look out for her; and then the people—you must bring Mrs. Tomkins' fish with her meat, and you must be sure and have seconddy bread for Mrs. Deane—"

"And to fill Miss Dumaine's glass before she asks for it," said the princess, very proud and rosy. "Thank you, Georgiana! The more you say, the more you make me want to do it. I'm going to wait on that table today!"

It was a remarkable experience for everyone. She stood beside the table when we came down, in her plainest gown, a little spotted lawn, and one of Georgiana's big aprons. Her eyes were cast down modestly, and there was not a sign of a smile on her quiet face. The little unapproachable air which made some people afraid of her kept us from asking questions which she evidently did not mean to have asked.

Mrs. Deane was so overwhelmed with wondering awe when the stately young creature at her elbow read over the menu to her, with the funniest imitation of Georgiana's manner, that she said: "Anything, my dear—anything!" in a fluttered voice, which embarrassed the princess not a little for a moment.

To do the princess justice, she did splendidly. The meal was an unclouded triumph for her. What her adventures were in the kitchen we never knew.

There were those of us who thought the girl in her plain gown, stepping lightly back and forth with her tray, and her absorbed face, intent on doing this bit of unusual work as well as it could be done, no whit less bewitching than when she was dressed for the evening, radiant in the pink gown and pearls and roses. Georgiana thought her perfectly lovely, and told her so frankly when she helped to put on the waist, which by the way, was as great a success as the dinner.

"It was Greek verbs, Delsarte exercise and the bicycle and the german and golf, all in one," said the princess. "Balancing and remembering and keeping up to time—oh, and nobody dared to ask for toast except grandpapa, and I made him, because I wouldn't have anything left out!"

And she washed the dishes afterward in the pantry with the other girls.

That's all—at least so far as we were concerned. It was a small thing, but by no means the least interesting of the summer. The prettiest part of it all was the conduct of the two girls toward each other afterward. There was, obviously, a sense of understanding and sympathy between them, a golden link of gratitude and respect on both sides. And those of us who knew the princess and the princess' mamma knew also that for her and for Georgiana this was not "all," but that the future of both girls would be happier and richer for this glimpse into each other's lives, this beginning of mutual understanding and service.

Meanwhile, the atmosphere of our table seemed pleasanter, for some reason. Perhaps it was because the weather was cooler. Perhaps it was—something else. At any rate, we all observed it—even Mrs. Deane.

Scientific Way to Wash Hands Explained by Expert.

If the proper way of washing one's hands were more generally understood there would be fewer women with fingers coarse grained and red. The idea that when the hands are dirty soap and water should immediately be applied is many times an error. Instead of removing the grime they may only drive it in, and the frequent misunderstanding of this fact is the cause of many ugly hands.

I am not to be understood as saying that soap and water are not cleansing, for of course they are, but to fully understand why they may work harm one must know something of the texture of the skin and the effect upon it of dirt. Dust in quantities or any dry dirt roughens by getting into the pores. This roughness itself helps to hold the dirt, and to fully remove it something lubricating must be used to get below the surface. Soap goes below, or into the pores, but it is not lubricating. It can be washed out, leaving the dirt behind. Added to that in many cases soap itself is drying, and becomes merely an aggravation instead of a cure. Only grease will bring out dirt that is well in the skin, or which the pores have taken up. Fat of any kind is softening and penetrating, and instead of further roughening and drying will smooth and nourish. Soap will remove the grease, and the latter clings to the dust. Therefore soap in the end is the cleansing agent, but in extreme cases only when used in combination with a penetrating cream or other oily substance.

Any woman who does housework should always have a jar of vaseline or cold cream of some kind on her washstand. When her morning's work is over, with its dusting and sweeping, she should give her hands a grease wash. The more dirt she has accumulated the more important is this bath.

Let her put into the palm of one hand a lump of whatever fatty substance she chooses. Vaseline is cheaper than almost any cream and is as good as anything for this. The vaseline, we will say, should be worked well into both hands by rubbing them together as though washing, although not yet using water. It will take not more than half a minute for all the dirt to become loosened, and the hands will look blacker than before.

At this stage wash with water. Hot water is not good, as it again is apt to be drying. The temperature should be just warm enough to cut the grease, but it must be remembered that soap aids in this, so an intense heat is not required. If the water is at all hard it is well to soften with oatmeal.

This is easily done by just scalding some oatmeal in water enough to wet it. Let cool and then tie a handful into a piece of thin muslin. Keep several of these on the washstand, and when washing throw one into the basin. In a moment the water will be softened or thickened a trifle by the property of the cereal. One bag may be used several times.

If after washing the hands appear at all grimy rub on more grease and repeat the whole operation. Never try to remove grime with soap alone.

Cheap soaps are extravagant, for they damage the skin, but there is no rule that can be laid down for the whole community, as the quality of skin differs so much. Castile, excellent for many persons, is quite too drying for others. Palm oil soap may agree with those who cannot use castile.

Making soap requires more work than one ordinarily is willing to do, and for that reason it is well to experiment with different kinds, made by reliable manufacturers, and stick to the best when one finds it. For those women, however, who would like to know precisely what they are using here is a formula which shows itself to be good: Four ounces of powdered bitter almonds, six ounces of oil of bitter almonds, four ounces of green soap, two ounces of spermaceti, two ounces of soap powder, one dram of cinnabar and one dram of violet essence. Put the spermaceti, soap and oil into a basin and set into boiling water. When melted beat in the powders and other ingredients. Remove from the heat and beat smooth. Mould into cakes and put to dry.

THRILLING CAPTURE

Of Escaped Prisoner Made by a Pennsylvania Police Chief.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., May 1.—Leaning far out of the cab of a locomotive on the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western, Chief of Police Mince Moyer of Danville, seized Charles Sutton, who escaped from the Montour county jail, by the coat collar and jerked him into the cab, the locomotive never stopping until after the thrilling capture was effected. Sutton, who is charged with eloping with his wife's young sister, picked the lock of his cell door, and, cutting a hole through the brick wall of the jail, early last Sunday night, got away.

Believing he would try escape along the railroad, the chief of police and Sheriff Williams got the crew of a pusher together and started in pursuit. Sutton was overhauled a mile from Milton. He had no suspicion he was being pursued, and backed against a freight car to let the locomotive pass, whereupon Mince Moyer effected the thrilling capture.

Whether buyers come to your store by ones and twos or by tens and dozens depends upon how convincing your store advertising is in The Herald.

BETTER TEAM WORK NEEDED.

One thing Northern Minnesota must learn before it can hope to get any very large results from the legislature is that it must show better team work among its representatives.

It is not to be expected, for instance, that the minority of population that now controls the legislature through the inadequacy of the present system of representation is going to voluntarily abdicate and permit a reapportionment unless Northern Minnesota goes after it in real earnest and with grim determination.

This end of the state cannot make such an effort unless its members are united, and unless they bend every effort toward the common end of securing justice. It may look like preaching sectionalism—and sectionalism is bad—to advocate a compact organization of the members of both houses from Northern Minnesota, but something like that will have to be done before any greater progress is made than the recent session showed.

Enough talking about reapportionment was done in Northern Minnesota to bring it about, if talking could do it. But it did not do it, and it can't. The only thing that will bring it about is a united effort, with Northern Minnesota solidly joined together to work for the common good.

In the session just closed the Northern Minnesota representatives were anything but united. Two factions were divided over the location of a normal school, which they might have brought about if they had gone in together to fight for it instead of dividing up to fight over it before they got it. The result was that there was no normal school, and another result of this and other divisions was that there was no reapportionment.

One or two members, from sections that are closely allied with Duluth by ties of business and friendship, fought bitterly everything Duluth was for, and exhibited a prejudice that it is hard to account for. Certainly they did not represent their districts in assuming that attitude, as Duluth people were repeatedly assured by those who had helped elect them.

Not only are "strong men needed," as The Herald and other Northern Minnesota newspapers argued a year ago, but a strong organization is even more needed. Northern Minnesota must pick its best men for the legislature, and then those that are selected must get together to make an unceasing fight for the common interests. In that way only can the disadvantage of being in the minority be overcome, but it can be overcome that way any time an organization is perfected.

LAST CENTURY'S WEALTH.

Somebody on the Lawrence, Mass., Telegram, with an aptitude for figures and a tendency to controversy, has taken up the repeated statement that wealth is steadily concentrating itself into the hands of a few at the expense of the many, and has undertaken to prove that it isn't so.

The result is interesting, but it is chiefly valuable as showing how much that isn't true you can prove by statistics, which are notoriously as adaptable to both sides of a controversy as a venal politician or an expert witness.

This diverting statistician makes the startling statement, after an examination of the records, that wealth was more concentrated in the early days of the last century than it is today. He shows that the wealth of Washington, for instance, was so great that it would have purchased the possession of more Virginians of his day than would the combined wealth of the state's three richest citizens in the year of 1907.

Then he shows that John Jacob Astor's fortune, the greatest in the country at that time, was $25,000,000 in 1848, and that this was a much greater proportion of the total wealth of the nation than is the gigantic fortune of Rockefeller today. He shows further that in 1840 twenty-five estates owned 18 per cent of the assessed value of the real estate of New York city, and fifty years later it took the combined wealth of 183 estates to amount to 18 per cent.

Possibly wealth is not concentrating so rapidly in actual fact as it is in campaign talk, and it is certainly true that in all ages there have been a few that had much and many that had little. But the popular idea that wealth is concentrating every day is so widespread and so deep-seated that it will take more than a few juggled figures to convince the country that the tendency is the other way.

THE PEOPLE AT FAULT.

There is a curious disposition to criticise the work of the state legislature because of its failure to complete the miraculous program it started out to carry through.

While the legislature is no doubt deserving of criticism, it should not be dealt with too harshly for not accomplishing everything that it was asked to do. While it might have done much more than it did, it could hardly have settled everything without there being grave danger that some of its tasks would be improperly performed, so it is perhaps just as well that something was left over for future legislatures to handle.

One is reminded, in this connection, of a sign said to have been displayed in a western dance hall in the old rough days: "Don't shoot the musician; he's doing the best he can."

If anybody is to be blamed for the shortcomings of this or of any other legislature, it should be the people that made it. Considering the vast importance to every individual of many of the matters brought before the average session of the legislature, the carelessness with which representatives are selected in some districts is little short of criminal. The people are at fault for the "gray wolves" of the legislature that are there to fatten upon the corruption funds of the interests; the people are at fault for the mental incompetents who suffer such things to be and whose presence in the legislature is about as valuable as would be the attendance of so many Indian cigar signs.

The people elect the members, and if they elect stupid, incompetent or criminal lawmakers, the people should be blamed.

There are districts in Minnesota that continue to send to St. Paul men that are conspicuously and notoriously unfit for the responsibilities that are conferred upon them. The people may be fooled for one term by electing a member who promises well but turns out badly, and they may be forgiven. But when they re-elect such members, and bring disgrace and discredit upon their districts and upon the state by sending them back to the state capital session after session, criticism of the public acts of these bad servants comes with ill grace from those who are responsible for their holding such positions.

It is too much to expect that they shall all be enlightened and public-spirited statesmen; but really the people of Minnesota could do much better than they do if they tried hard enough, and the state would be much better off if they would make one determined effort, in all parts of the state, to select their very best men for the little-regarded but highly important and responsible position of lawmaker.

A FIRE TUG NEEDED.

Duluth needs a fire tug, and if its attention is called to it often enough by such concrete evidences of the need as the disastrous dock fire of last Saturday, perhaps some time it will get one.

The value and importance of the dock property in the Duluth harbor are vast, and such property should not be left so nearly unprotected as it is now. The fire department, working from the land, does the best it can, but it cannot take the place of a well-equipped fire tug, throwing powerful streams of water direct from the water front.

Every time there is a bad fire on the docks everybody says that a fire tug would be a splendid thing, and that Duluth certainly ought to have it. Then, when the fire is over, the matter is dropped until another bad one brings it up again. It is too much like the Arkansas man who, asked why he did not mend his roof, said that when it was raining he couldn't, and when it wasn't raining it didn't need mending.

Each fire on the water front is a valuable object lesson, but it costs too much to educate the city up to the need of a fire tug in that way.

SEEKING THE POLE.

Dispatches from New York bring us the pathetic plaint of Commander Robert E. Peary that he is $60,000 short of having enough to make his new dash to the north pole.

Kind friends and admirers, and persons possessing an interest in the discovery of the pole, have put up $40,000, but most of that has been needed to repair the good ship Roosevelt, in which he makes his expeditions, and the $60,000 additional will be required for general expenses.

Very likely he will get the money. He said himself that he "felt that it would come," though he did not know what source would produce it. His full $100,000 complete, he will fare forth upon another polar voyage, and this time, mayhap, he will bring back the pole with him and have it listed as one of the exhibits in the Smithsonian institution at Washington.

But what will the world profit if he does? What will be the dividend that humanity will reap upon that investment of $100,000? Will the lot in life of any man be easier, sweeter or more enjoyable? Will a single human pang be soothed? Will a single human heart cease aching? Will any pain-wracked bones be put at ease, or any weary soul find rest and perfect peace?

Really, it is impossible to refrain from speculating whether that money, amounting to a small fortune, could not be put to much better uses. There is so much to be done in the world, and so much that money can do, that it almost seems a waste of it to throw it away on the icy deserts of the frigid zone, in a search for something that holds out no promise of benefit to anybody.

Commander Peary's ambition is doubtless most worthy. Each man has his own tastes, his own aims, and his own ideas of what is worth while in life. Peary might spend his own time and other people's money in ways much more mischevious than this.

But he might find better uses, too. The same energy put into uplifting humanity in any one of a score of ways would accomplish results that the future could not erase. The same amount of money, in the hands of a man who is laboring unselfishly for the betterment of his fellows, would prove a permanent investment yielding large returns in human happiness and comfort.

But Commander Peary will probably get his $60,000, and if he does he will surely use it in pole-chasing. It is sincerely to be hoped that it will prove enough, that he will capture the reluctant pole and fetch it triumphantly home again, or at least a picture of the place where it ought to be if it really existed, and that thereafter he will rest more easily and let the money of philanthropy go to nobler and more resultful uses.

TALKING ABOUT THE HERALD.

Excelled By None.

Princeton Union: It is generally conceded by newspaper men that The Herald of Duluth is not excelled by any newspaper in the Northwest, and yet there is talk of another evening paper in that city.

Large and Elaborate.

Duluth Tribunal: On Thursday evening, The Evening Herald got out an "Industrial edition" of that very excellent paper that is one of the largest and most elaborate papers ever gotten out in the state and its excellence as a mirror of Duluth is in proportion to its size. This issue consists of 92 pages, and every industry in Duluth seems to have received honorable mention and due attention. Thousands of copies of this edition should, and doubtless will, be sent broadcast all over the country and surely it will be one of the best advertisements of Duluth that was ever gotten out. Any non-resident who sees a copy of this edition will not need any further proof that Duluth is one of the busiest, most progressive and most rapidly developing cities on the continent. The Herald deserves the thanks of all Duluth for this splendid issue, and we hope that the advertising copy of this edition will net many thousand dollars over and above the enormous cost of its production.

Creditable Edition.

Moorhead News: The Duluth Evening Herald put out an industrial edition on Thursday, consisting of 92 pages. It is an extremely interesting effort, covering a wide range of topics, and is a credit to The Herald and to the remarkable city it exploits.

Right Up-to-Date.

Stillwater Gazette: Speaking of newspapers. The Duluth Herald's industrial edition of 92 pages, has just been issued, and is, as usual with that paper, right up to date in every respect. Editorially and mechanically The Herald is equalled by few and excelled by none in the Northwest. The paper tells the story of Duluth, with its advantages and opportunities, its marvelous growth, its many and varied interests, its great jobbing trade, its summer resorts and many other advantages afforded the residents of that great and growing city, destined to be the largest and most important on the great lakes. Duluth is in the public eye much of the time, for which great credit should be given her two wide awake, up to date, newsy newspapers, The Herald and News Tribune.

It Was a Corker.

Verndale Sun: Gee whiz, but that was a corker of a paper The Duluth Herald issued yesterday. It contained 92 pages filled to the brim with good things about the Zenith City and St. Louis county. The Herald is a great newspaper and is no small factor in the booming Duluth is receiving.

HOTEL GOSSIP.

"A very erroneous opinion has gone abroad to the effect that strangers cannot find suitable hotel accommodations in San Francisco since the earthquake and fire," said T. H. Ranger of San Francisco, Cal., at the Lenox. "Anyone going to San Francisco will meet with no more difficulties in securing accommodations than he is apt to meet with in any other busy city at the busy season. The prices are as reasonable as they are anywhere, and the accommodations as good as the best.

"Remarkable progress has been made in rebuilding the city. The change that has taken place is hardly to be realized. The work of clearing away the debris and carrying on new construction work has been conducted very rapidly all along the line. The railways laid temporary tracks on the streets for use in hauling away the debris, and the street car service was restored with wonderful speed. After the great disaster the business men of the city housed themselves temporarily in the residence and undestroyed manufacturing sections. Property owners looked upon the destruction calmly, each having the utmost confidence in the belief that the future of the city was not imperilled, and that it presented the same problem to him as if his building alone had been destroyed and the rest of the city had been left intact.

"Today nearly all the area in the burned business district and a great deal of that in the residence district has been cleared, and the tangled structural material has been almost entirely taken away. Millions and millions of brick have been cleaned and piled in orderly array to be used in reconstruction, and quantities beyond measure, unfitted for further service, have been hauled from the city. All have been hauled from the city. All of the streets are clean and are open for traffic. Nearly all of the street car lines have been re-established.

"Aside from the building operations already under way, the plans adopted for other buildings indicate that the next twelve months will see expended in San Francisco a greater amount of money for buildings than has ever before been expended in any other city of the world in an equal length of time. Land values have not depreciated and the owners of new or restored buildings in the burned district are receiving as great or greater rentals than they did before the fire."

"There is a surprising amount of snow up through Northern Minnesota, particularly in some parts of the range," said H. A. Peavey of St. Paul at the McKay. "The last storm resulted in an additional blanket of six or eight inches, and this, placed on top of what was already on the ground in the timbered sections, makes the region take on the appearance of midwinter.

"Business is good in all the range towns this spring, and the outlook for a busy summer and fall is very good. In fact, the indications are that this will be the best season in the history of the range towns, without exception. It is too bad that the country directly tributary to them is not better adapted for farming, for then their future, even after the mines are worked out, would be assured. I understand there is enough ore in sight, however, to keep things booming in good shape for several years to come.

"The year 1906 was a prosperous one for the whole country, and particularly for Minnesota and the Northwest, and I see no reason to believe that the present year will not be equally prosperous. The traveling salesmen last season all did a rushing business, and such of them as I have met this spring say they are enjoying just as good a trade now as they were then. The only trouble is in getting the houses to fill the orders when they are received. In some lines this is not so easy as it would seem, because of the tremendous business."

THE WEATHER.

Another fine spring day, with just enough of the tang of winter about it to make it stimulating. The sky was soft and mellow, and though a few clouds drifted by, the sun had plenty of chance to do its part in making the day delightful. Cloudy, colder, rainy weather is promised by the weather man for tonight and tomorrow. Last night's lowest was 36 degs, and yesterday's highest was 46 degs.

A year ago today a severe northeaster was in progress, with all that the term implies, now is Northern Minnesota farming lands. Farms can be bought at a price that will double in value in a few years.

Barnum Star-Gazette: We are heartily in favor of the Aitkin Age's suggestion that an Eastern district immigration association be formed and that attention be called to the extreme Southwest and off the North Atlantic coast. Light to killing frost occurred this morning in the Missouri and Upper Mississippi valleys, Oklahoma and Northern Texas. High pressures overlie Western Canada and the lake region, the latter causing colder weather over New England, the Ohio and Lower Mississippi valleys. Threatening weather is indicated for this section tonight and Thursday."

Department of Agriculture, Weather Bureau, Duluth, May 1.—Local forecast for twenty-four hours ending at 7 p. m. Thursday: Duluth, Superior and vicinity, including the Mesaba and Iron ranges—Partly cloudy and colder tonight and Thursday with possibly light frost in or near Duluth; temperatures tonight; fresh and brisk westerly to northerly winds.

H. W. RICHARDSON, Local Forecaster.

Chicago, May 1.—Forecasts until 7 p. m. Thursday: Wisconsin—Fair tonight and probably Thursday; warmer tonight and in south portion Thursday.

Minnesota—Partly cloudy with probably snow flurries in north portion tonight or Thursday; colder Thursday and in northwest portion tonight.

Upper lakes—Light variable winds tonight and Thursday probably shifting to northerly on Superior by Thursday night; generally fair weather.

Reflections of a Bachelor.

New York Press: A girl is so naturally innocent that if a fellow kisses her she thinks he is reciting the Ten Commandments.

A nice thing about going to a wedding is how you can pretend you are sure they are always going to be happy.

There is nothing like the conceit of the man who spends fifteen minutes telling his barber how to trim his beard.

It is hard to make anybody believe he is having a good time unless he is spending more money to get it than he ought.

The kind of a man that keeps telling a girl before he marries her that he wants to throw himself under her feet is more likely afterward to expect her to put on his shoes for him.

Cautious.

London Tid-Bits: "Now, be careful how you drive, cabby, and go slowly over the stones, for I hate to be shaken. And mind you pull up at the right house, and look out for those dreadful railway vans."

"Never fear, sir; I'll do my best. And which 'orspital would you wish to be taken to, sir, in case of an accident?"

Refuses to Be Suppressed.

London Standard: Since its reappearance in Belgrade ten days ago the Journal Otatsbina has been confiscated four times. Its editor, Capt. Nevokavitch, has been sentenced to a month's imprisonment; the printers have been locked up on various charges, and the office boy expelled to Zemlin. In spite of these little difficulties the paper continues to appear daily.

DULUTH AND DULUTHIANS.

Redwood Reveille: The Duluth people are rightly jubilant. The Duluth people steel trust will locate a $5,000,000 steel plant in that city. Some of us may yet live to see the Zenith city the largest and most important in the Northwest.

Grand Marais News: We extend to our neighbor, the city of Duluth, congratulations on the plum which it has secured from the immense steel corporation. Duluth, the north shore and all of Northern Minnesota is on the eve of a development so vast that its extent is untold and unconceived.

Gary Graphic: Northern Minnesota has a good eye towards Duluth and its Industrial wave of prosperity.

Floodwood Broadaxe: If St. Louis county wants fair treatment from the rest of the state, we must send more such men as Mr. Miller to represent us.

International Falls Press: The best investment now is Northern Minnesota farming lands. Farms can be bought at a price that will double in value in a few years.

Barnum Star-Gazette: We are heartily in favor of the Aitkin Age's suggestion that an Eastern district immigration association be formed and that attention be called to the extreme Southwest and off the North Atlantic coast. The Duluth Commercial club take the initiative and bring about the organization of that body.

Bear River Journal: Duluth now wants to secure all, or nearly all, of the county road money, presumably to build roads around that new steel plant. Better go a little slow, Mr. Duluth. The St. Louis county farmers were here before the steel plant and must have roads. The one great gaping void of St. Louis county is its lack of farmers and yet how quick the city commissioners are to turn down the few struggling farmers that we have got.

Warren Register: Duluth continues to act as tickled over the prospect for the establishment of a steel plant there as a baby does when given his first rattle.

Aitkin Republican: All Northern Minnesota, with Duluth, are gratified at the prospects of an early beginning of steel making at the Head of the Lakes.

Motley Mercury: Whatever benefits Duluth will benefit this section of the country. We are only a short distance from there and the bigger Duluth gets the better our markets will be.

Pine City Poker: The rapid expansion of Duluth's population by the building of the steel plant and other manufacturing industries that will certainly follow, assures an ample market for all the farm products of Northeastern Minnesota. We are now more than ever able to offer definite and plausible reasons why land seekers should locate in the country tributary to Duluth.

THE LATE LEGISLATURE.

Cloquet Pine Knot: The legislature's appropriations, aggregating $11,500,000, were the largest ever made, yet the rate of taxation will not be raised on this account, and the state revenues will be increased by the measures passed this winter. There has been no graft, no boodling, and the lobbyist has had hard sledding. Many measures of great importance were passed, benefiting all classes.

Hinckley Enterprise: The legislature has adjourned sine die and we now have two years to find out how much mischief has been done during its session.

Buffalo Journal: Praise be to the legislature for some of the things that might have happened and didn't. The Twin City merchants wanted a big show at a cost to the state of a million and a half, and St. Paul real estate owners wanted to create a boom by spending a million of the farmers' tax money for parks and approaches to the capitol. The good deeds of omission outweigh some of the bad deeds of commission.

St. Hilaire Spectator: The legislature compromised the matter and will hold onto their passes until the end of the present year. If the railroads want to do a popular act, they will call in every pass they have issued at once.

Eveleth Star: The agitation of the house through the old man Jefferson resulted in some good. It unquestionably hastened the location of the steel plant at Duluth. This in itself was of material benefit. If Mr. Cole and Mr. Olcott, as was said, had tried hard to have their people in the East see the wisdom of locating such a plant at Duluth and were not successful, then the action of the legislature simply aided Mr. Cole and Mr. Olcott. Taking all in all, the legislature just passed out of existence was of much benefit to the state.

Hibbing Tribune: Nothing in the life of the legislature of 1907 became it like the leaving of it.

Biwabik Times: Of course the legislature did not redistrict the state. To have done so would have been doing justice to the northern section of the state. Nothing was further from the minds of the legislators.

Kelliher Journal: Taken altogether, no previous legislature has accomplished more for the good of the state and its prosperity. To find fault would be simply to knock. The legislature has done well.

Walker Pilot: Talk about the legislators being all tired out; just imagine how weary the lobbyist must feel.

A Real Good Time.

Detroit Free Press: Mother—Did you children have a good time while I was shopping?

Little Nellie—Yessem.

Mother—What did you do, dear?

Little Nellie—Oh, we quarreled all the time and there wasn't anybody here to stop us.

WHITTLED TO A POINT.

Cleveland Leader: "There's nothing slow about him, is there?"

"Oh, I don't know. Did he ever owe you any money?"

Philadelphia Ledger: "Going to remove mirrors from the stores!" exclaimed the girl, indignantly. "Why that's just horrid. What would be the use of going into the stores?"

"You might want to buy something," suggested a friend, but, being a male, his comment was received with scorn.

Washington Star: "A young man," said the man of ready-made maxims, "should learn to say 'no.'"

"That's right," answered Senator Sorghun, "a man who has the habit of saying 'no' saves himself a lot of wear and tear when people get to asking him to resign."

Cleveland Plain Dealer: "Going to the game this afternoon?"

"Yep. I'm awfully busy, too."

"Why don't you wait and read about it in the morning paper?"

"That wouldn't do me any good. I'd have to see the game to understand the article."

Chicago Tribune: The milkman scowled.

"You people make more fuss about your milk than any customers I've got," he said.

"All we ask," said Mrs. Ferguson, "is that the bottles shall look clean, and that there shan't be any filth on the stopper."

"That's exactly what I'm talkin' about. Nobody else kicks about little things like that."

Washington Herald: "Policeman Jinks was fired for pernicious activity."

"Pernicious activity?"

"The same. He insisted on patrolling his beat."

Philadelphia Ledger: A chesty delegation reached the White House with intent to correct the presidential views.

"We'll show him," they said to one another, with confidence.

An instant later there was a swish and a thud as of a lusty farmer flailing grain.

"And now, gentlemen," said the president, when there came an interval of quiet, "what else can I, as a servant of the people whose aim is to please, do for you?"

"Would it be too much to ask you," said the chairman, feebly, "to instruct your esteemed Loeb to ring for the ambulance?"

INDIANA FOR FAIRBANKS

Hoosier State Will be Strong for Her Favorite Son.

Washington, May 1.—Former Governor Durbin of Indiana has not changed his mind about the Indiana situation since his last visit here some time ago, when he gave it as his opinion that Indiana was all one way, and that was for Fairbanks.

"The state will give the vice president its delegation and enthusiastic support," said the governor.

"All the talk of the opposition to Mr. Fairbanks taking the state from him is unwarranted. It cannot be done unless there is a decided change of sentiment from that now existing in Indiana."

While Governor Durbin is not in the political field as he once was, being, as he says, "engaged in chasing the eagle on the American dollar," he has kept close watch on what is going on, and especially in his own state.

His remarks about the Indiana situation, made some time ago, were construed at the time to be hostile to Mr. Fairbanks, and his announcement now, made just after he came from the White House, was taken as significant. He went to the White House to ask the president if he would stop for five minutes at Anderson, Ind., on his way from Indianapolis to Michigan, after delivering an address at the unveiling of the Lawton statue. The president promised to do so, and will make a short rear platform address to the citizens of Anderson.

A MODERN MOSES.

Centerville, Mo., May 1.—That a baby should float down a river alive is unusual, and when it was rescued the infant was in the bushes, like Moses. The baby, a boy apparently but a few weeks old, was fished from the creek north of Ellington a few nights ago by the children of John Ashbury, a farmer. The boy was wrapped in a quilt and strapped to an improvised raft. The raft had floated down the stream several miles and lodged in the bushes near where the children were fishing.

The youngsters threw out hooks and pulled it ashore, supposing it to be a bundle of rags. The baby was alive and well, and immediately set up a howl. It was carried home by the children and is now in the possession of the farmer's wife. The family into whose hands the infant fell are religious, and the story of Moses is vividly recalled.

The child is happy in its new home and already has given signs of becoming a prodigy.

RUNAWAY IN DULUTH.

Duluth Woman Saw Peter Lee Last Wednesday.

Peter Lee, the boy who ran away from his uncle's farm near Midway was in Duluth last week with a companion, according to a Duluth woman, who thinks she saw the lad on Second avenue west a week ago today. She says that she saw a boy who answered young Lee's description, as to the gray clothes, the long rubber boots, and the sunburned complexion, on Second avenue west, between Second and Third streets, going down toward Superior street. There was another boy with him at the time.

Young Lee's description was published in The Herald Monday, at the request of his sister Miss Mary Lee of 115 Park avenue, who is very much worried about him. The boy is an orphan and had been living with his uncle, Gus Wickman of Midway.

JOHN L. SULLIVAN,

Having Been on Water Wagon Two Years, is to Marry.

New York, May 1.—John L. Sullivan, pugilist, actor, lecturer and monologist, is about to claim a matrimonial prize as a reward for his successful engagement of 116 weeks on the water wagon. Just as soon as he gets a divorce from Annie Bates, a handsome woman whom he married in Providence in 1883, John will sign articles of agreement with a wealthy New York woman, who has sufficient confidence in the big fellow to share her fortune with him.

Sullivan denies that he is contemplating a return engagement with the parson. Former Deputy Police Commissioner James F. Mack, attorney for John L., in the divorce proceedings, and Frank Hall, manager of the former champion fighter, yesterday admitted that John was about to be married, but refused to give the name of his prospective bride.

ARMY OF POTOMAC GATHERS

Annual Reunion to Have Climax in Dedication of Statue.

Washington, May 1.—Many members of the Society of the Army of the Potomac and their invited guests, the members of the societies of the Tennessee, Cumberland and Ohio, arrived today for the thirty-seventh reunion, which begins with a reception to be tendered the veterans at the Corcoran Art gallery tonight. The reunion will extend through tomorrow and Friday, the principal event being the unveiling of the statue erected to their leader, Gen. George B. McClellan, tomorrow afternoon.

DULUTH NOW WELL PAVED

Last of Down Town Avenues Ordered Improved.

Business Part of City Will Have Metropolitan Appearance.

The streets in the central part of Duluth bid fair to exhibit a decidedly metropolitan appearance by the time the board of public works has completed the work which it has in store for it during the present season, and by next fall Duluth streets and avenues, at least in the business section, will be in condition to be proud of so far paving goes.

The council Monday evening ordered two of Duluth's avenues paved which have been sadly in need of such treatment for some time past. Lake avenue, from the northerly end of the Lake avenue viaduct to Second street will be paved with sandstone blocks according to the order made by the council Monday, and Fourth avenue west from Michigan to Second streets will receive a similar treatment. These are the only two avenues in the downtown section of the city which are badly in need of paving.

First avenue west is paved with sandstone blocks to First street, and above First street with tar macadam. Second avenue west has the sandstone to Second street and Third avenue west is similarly paved. On Fifth avenue a new pavement of Cedar blocks was laid last year.

When Fourth and Lake avenues are finished, all the avenues from Lake to Fifth avenues inclusive will be in good shape and will need practically no repairs for some years to come.

The progress which has been made in repairing these avenues during the last three years is a credit to the city. Before the work started, the old cedar blocks had done service for considerably over a decade, and on many of the avenues the old macadam pavement was raveled and washed out by the water until it was well nigh impassible in wet weather. This year's work will see all this done away with and Duluth's business section will rival any in the country as far as pavements are concerned.

Aside from the benefit to traffic on the various avenues the effect of the improvement in keeping Superior street clean will be felt very materially when the pavements are all completed.

WIFE CHEERS HER "VALJEAN"

William January Told in Prison of President's Favor.

Leavenworth, Kas., May 1.—Yesterday afternoon in the office of the deputy warden of the federal prison, "Mrs. Charles W. Anderson," her 5-year-old daughter, and Robert January of Chillicothe, Mo., a brother of the prisoner, visited William January, alias Anderson, the escaped convict recently recaptured in Kansas City, and the wife carried the glad tidings of President Roosevelt's note favoring the pardon of the prisoner, in response to the appeals of 40,000 petitioners.

January had previously been apprised of the great activity in his behalf, but he was not prepared to hear such important results. Immediately his eyes brightened, he stood erect, and his whole manner changed. The prison officials considerately withdrew and a lengthy joyous family visit ensued.

COLDEST APRIL FOR 26 YEARS

National Weather Bureau Makes Report on Last Month.

Washington, May 1.—Last month was the coldest April in the last twenty-six years and within a degree of the coldest April ever experienced, according to the weather bureau in its report last night, saying: "The month was characterized by a succession of cold spells which swept southeastward over the Northeast Rocky mountain slope and gradually spread southward and eastward over the entire country east of the Rocky mountains. The cold was almost continuous and the month closes with remarkably low temperatures in the interior valleys and the Southwest."

BURGLAR DEPARTS

After Returning Watch When Victim Tells About Dead Baby.

Pittsburg, May 1.—With his baby dead in one room and his wife ill unto death in another room, W. W. Waitneight, a well-to-do citizen of Bellevue, the fashionable Pittsburg suburb, encountered a burglar in one of his upper halls.

"Be quiet, please," said Mr. Waitneight, as his hands flew up. "My baby is dead in the house and my wife is seriously ill. She is sleeping now. Any excitement would kill her, also."

"What's that? Baby dead?" came from behind the masked gloom of the hall. "You are not stringing me?"

"No," said Mr. Waitneight with a sob. "My wife may die if she is awakened now. Take everything you can find, only get it quickly and go before anyone sees you and gives the alarm."

"If that is so," said the burglar with a sob in his voice, "I am very sorry for you and you have my sympathy. Had I known I would have selected another house. Here is the watch I took from your pocket. I may restore the other articles as I go along. Well, good bye, as I must be about my business," he said, and left.

INSURANCE FIGHT UGLY

Manager of Policyholders Committee Accused of Conspiracy.

Big Companies Try to Strike Back at Their Prosecutors.

New York, May 1.—George B. Scrugham, manager of the International Policyholders' committee, was arrested in Albany last night, on charges of conspiracy growing out of the recent life insurance elections, and arrived in the city early today in the custody of Detective Fitzsimmons of the district attorney's office. Charles F. Carrington and Charles Stirrup, employes of the committee, who acted as watchers during the elections, were arrested on similar charges.

The arrests caused a sensation, especially because it was at the instance of Scrugham that the district attorney began an investigation of the life insurance elections.

The charge against the three is that "they unlawfully agreed and conspired together for the perversion and obstruction of the due administration laws of the state of New York, especially with regard to the election of officers of a certain insurance company, called the New York Life Insurance company." The warrants were issued on the complaint of Assistant District Attorney Walter B. Howe.

In the complaint, Howe declares that the alleged conspirators had in their possession Dec. 15, 1906, a large number of ballots for the policyholders' committee's ticket, which were not at that time in proper form to be counted; that the prisoners "did conspire together to tamper with the defective ballots and so altered and changed them without the consent of the policyholders who had signed them as to make them appear to be in due form of law and proper to be counted at said election; that many ballots were not enclosed in envelopes which had been signed by the policyholders, (as required by law, and the persons named in the complaint are accused of having caused these envelopes to be prepared and presented by persons other than the policyholders, that the inspectors of election might be deceived and count for the policyholders committees ticket a large number of ballots which were not valid."

Scruhgam is the manager of the International Policyholders' committee, organized to protect the interests of the policyholders after the insurance scandals and its membership includes representative men of the country, former members of the cabinet and governors of several states. Nicholas Longworth, son-in-law of President Roosevelt, is secretary, and Former Secretary of State Olney is chairman of the committee.

Scrugham, who has railroad interests in Cincinnati, organized a policyholders' committee in Ohio before he came here and took charge of the work. When S. Untermeyer, counsel for the committee, was in Europe he had charge of everything here, Scrugham says that he has received no pay from the committee, and that he has been working simply for the benefit of the policyholders.

Scrugham complained to the district attorney's office not long ago that forged ballots had been used in electing the administration tickets. While investigating this charge, the representatives of the district attorney's office say that they discovered irregularities in the ballots turned in by the policyholders' committee.

Scruham was arrested while in Albany in connection with legislation looking to the reform of insurance company elections.

He refused to talk of the matter.

Samuel Untermeyer, counsel of the policyholders' committee, gave out the following statement late last night: "My attention was only called to this complaint late tonight. During a considerable part of the campaign I was in Europe. I know nothing about the complaint, except what I have just heard, but it looks on its face very much like a cry of 'stop thief' on the part of the companies. They know that forgeries on the part of agents ran into the thousands, and they would like to obscure the issue. I have no doubt Mr. Scrugham has been able to fully meet this latest move on the part of the companies. Personally I know nothing about the matters referred to in the complaint."

Since the elections in both the New York and Mutual companies, on Dec. 18, the district attorney's office has been looking into the counter charges of crooked work. Representatives of both sides have been heard, and many ballots have been examined. Nothing definite was done, however, until after the official count was announced, showing the administration tickets to be the victors by large majorities in both companies. Then complaints were made by the policyholders' committee of wholesale forgeries by agents of the companies. The companies made counter charges against the employes of the policyholders' committee. Assistant District Attorneys Howe and Smyth have been in charge of the matter. The first result of their labors was the arrest, on evidence furnished by Manager Scrugham of the policyholders' committee of Agent Frank. This was quickly followed by the counter arrests.

J. S. LANE'S EDITORIAL.

If I were asked what is the most noticeable characteristic of mankind, I would answer "doubt."

I notice this because nearly every man who comes into my store and orders a suit, says he would have been in a month ago, had it not been that he "doubted" that I do as I advertise.

Of course, after the suit is made it's different. But they nearly all wonder why they didn't buy their clothes at my store long ago.

All I can say is that right along—day after day—I keep on saying the same thing with slight variations, "No Satisfaction—No Pay."

For $30, $35 or $40 I make suits to order, to fit, to keep their shape—that no other tailor in Duluth would make for less than $40, $45 or $50; and the like of which no hand-me-down "guess-fit" store could give you at any price.

Yours truly,

J. S. LANE.

OUTLIVED THE TABLES.

Connecticut Man Got Face of Policy Before He Died.

Winsted, Conn., May 1.—William C. Phelps, who died last week in his 100th year, outlived the morturary tables of a Connecticut life insurance company, in which he carried a $1,500 policy. In March, 1843, Mr. Phelps took out a policy payable to his heirs at death, anticipating his birthday in September, by using the age at which he would have attained.

At the anniversary last month of the issue of the policy the company informed Mr. Phelps that he had reached the age at which all the tables used in calculating premiums ended and it was ready to pay the face of the policy with the last year's dividend. The proper papers were executed and the company paid the money to him, remarking that it was the first experience of the kind in its sixty years of history.

NEW IDEA IN CARNIVALS.

Iowa Merchant Makes a Hit by Giving Prizes for Eggs.

Iowa Falls, Iowa, May 1.—A unique carnival was recently held by a well-known merchant at Alden, the sole attraction being eggs. Prizes were offered for the largest egg, the greatest number brought in by a single person, etc. As a result, 2,300 dozen were brought to the merchant's store in a single day. The largest single delivery was 155 dozen. The largest goose egg weighed ten ounces and the largest duck egg 4¾ ounces. A single dozen of the largest hens' eggs weighed 31¼ ounces.

RICH AUTO SCORCHER HIT BY SENTENCE TO PRISON.

Yonkers, N. Y., May 1.—W. E. Dodge of New York, son of the philanthropist, William Earl Dodge, and son-in-law of Henry T. Sloane, the millionaire carpet manufacturer, was sentenced yesterday to ten days in prison and fined $100 for automobile speeding.

The sentence was imposed by City Judge Beall. Dodge had been arrested twice before for the same offense. On the first occasion he was fined $25 and the next $50.

MINNESOTA

ALL IN ONE DISTRICT

Over 100 Schools in Cass County in Single Division.

Pillager, Minn., May 1.—Cass county schools, except several which are graded or semi-graded, closed April 20.

This county has a rather unique system of education, which has been in operation for more than a decade. The county's area exceeds that of Rhode Island, and yet, until a few years ago, its large territory was included in one school district. One or two independent districts have been organized, but "No. 1" includes all the rural and nearly all the village schools, more than 100 in number.

The salaries paid teachers are graded, the minimum wage being $20 a month. Second-grade teachers receive $35, and first grade $45 a month.

The terms are of uniform length in the rural schools, formerly nine months annually, but for economic reasons have been curtailed one month of late. In the larger villages a nine-months' term is yet allowed.

The annual school meeting, formerly held in July, has been an occasion of great importance to citizens of Cass county. Crowds of men and women attended, and enthusiasm was won't to run high. For a few years past candidates for school officers have been voted for at the annual town meetings.

Cass county school orders are in good demand in Brainerd, Staples and Motley, where they are purchased from the teachers at a trifling discount.

CROOKSTON GUN CLUB.

Is Preparing for an Active and Successful Season.

Crookston, Minn., May 1. — (Special to The Herald.)—Never in the history of the Crookston Gun club have members been as active at this season of the year as at the present time, and the season will, without doubt, be one of the most active and successful they have ever enjoyed. The membership will include over fifty this year, and none will be drones, either. The hunters are all jubilant over the fact that the law closing the chicken season two years was killed, and this fact served to arouse enthusiasm about the time the state legislature adjourned.

At the last meeting of the club, which included a social session, lasting till after midnight, during which all the plans for the coming year were discussed in detail, the following officers for the ensuing year were elected: President, J. H. Stair; vice president, W. A. Marin; secretary, Harry Chesterman; treasurer, E. O. Hagen; field captain, W. M. Ferguson.

CONDUCTOR ENDS LIFE.

John M. Garvin Shoots Himself in St. Paul Cigar Store.

St. Paul, May 1.—John M. Garvin, a conductor on the Omaha road, shot himself in the right ear, in a cigar store, at 829 Payne avenue, St. Paul, yesterday afternoon, and died within a few minutes later.

Garvin had been in the habit of spending his spare time in the cigar store, and yesterday afternoon when he went in, he said he had an abcess in his ear, and asked permission to lie down for a few minutes on a lounge in the back of the store. He had not been on the lounge more than five minutes before those in the front of the store heard a shot, and, on rushing back, they found Garvin on the lounge with a revolver in his hand, and blood flowing from a wound in his right ear.

Deputy Coroner Foster was summoned, but Garvin was dead before he arrived. Garvin was 27 years of age.

MINNESOTA IN BRIEF

Austin, Minn—Hazel E. Gerde, formerly of La Crosse, was granted a divorce from A. A. Gerde by Judge Nathan Kingsley of the Seventh judicial district. The charge was desertion and nonsupport. The defendant was a machinist and street car man at La Crosse and now resides in Northern Minnesota.

Crookston, Minn—Frank Rebear, who lived on the Purvis farm east of Crookston left his home Friday morning and has not been seen since notwithstanding the vikilant search that has been made by the police.

Minneapolis—An unidentified man was run over by a Milwaukee train at Fourteenth avenue south and Sixth street, Monday evening, and instantly killed. The remains were taken to the morgue but as yet they have not been identified.

St. Paul—The state of Minnesota has its coffers full of money. It has cash on hand in all funds aggregating $2,092,520.41.

Lake City—John Hogan, aged about 70 years, was struck and killed by a work train near Camp Lakeview early Tuesday. He was a cripple, but still able to work, and was employed by the railroad as a laborer. It is supposed he failed to hear the train until it was upon him.

Stillwater — Archie Grothe, aged 11 years, was seriously injured at the Kaiser mill Monday. The contents of a dump car struck him on the head, fracturing his skull near the base of the brain.

Madison—"Mellie" Campbell and H. C. Spanton are prisoners in the county jail here awaiting a hearing on charges of arson.

Echo—Eight thousand dollar bonds were voted here Monday night at a special school election for building a new high school.

Lamberton—Fred Briske, a well-to-do farmer living two miles north of here eloped with his 16-year-old sister-in-law last week. They drove to Sleepy Eye and took the train for Minneapolis. A brother of the young woman followed them and brought them back to Lamberton. Briske has a wife and several children.

KILLED BY PLAYMATE.

Eleven-Year-Old Boy Accidentally Shot in Garden Township.

Crookston, Minn., May 1.—Arnold Starby, aged 11 years, was instantly killed Monday in the town of Garden by Albert Singerd, aged 16 years. The boys were playing when a shotgun was accidentally discharged by Singerd, blowing the top of Starby's head off.

The boys were upstairs at the time the shot was fired. Singerd came down and cried "I have shot him." Then ran outdoors, and was not found until yesterday morning. He says the shooting was purely accidental.

ACCIDENTALLY KILLED.

Andrew Scheiber of Anoka Shoots Himself While in a Boat.

Anoka, Minn., May 1.—Andrew Scheiber shot himself while in a boat on Golden lake Saturday near the Elwell farm. A neighbor on shore saw him stop polling and reach over for his gun, which was lying against a seat, and grasping it by the barrels pulled it toward him. There was a puff of smoke and Scheiber fell dead in the boat. The charge entered his breast and blew his heart entirely out.

SWIMS IN WATER TANK.

Fireman In Dangerous Predicament Owing to Chain Breaking.

La Crosse, Wis., May 1.—Robert Herman, a fireman on the Southern Minnesota division of the Milwaukee road, had a narrow escape from drowning in a water tank at Dexter, Sunday night.

While taking water into the tank at Dexter the chain controlling the flow of water from the tank was broken near the top on the inside. Mr. Hermann climbed to the top of the structure and part way down on the inside, when one of the steps on the ladder, which had rotted in the water, broke.

Mr. Hermann dropped into the water, lost his lantern, but being a good swimmer, located it again, and then with the end of the chain, which controls the outlet, he pulled himself to the surface.

With the exception of a slight cold he received no injuries from the unusual experience.

HOME ROBBED.

Eau Claire, Wis, May 1.—The home of Edward Reifenauer, a section foreman, was entered by robbers Monday evening and over $100 worth of goods stolen. Among the things taken were two gold watches and a quantity of cash. The robbers are thought to be persons well acquainted with the premises and the police are working along that line.

WOMAN HAS A NARROW ESCAPE FROM DROWNING.

Eau Claire, Wis., May 1.—Mrs. Alex Smith had a miraculous escape from drowning Monday. While walking over a boom in Half Moon lake she fell into the water backwards. Her heavy clothing and the extreme cold soon made efforts at swimming futile. She made a desperate effort to reach a log that stuck out of the water and succeeded. While she clung to it with her fast failing strength her son ran half a mile to the nearest neighbor and gave the alarm. She was but half conscious when picked up and fainted away in the boat. Physicians were at once summoned and it is thought she will live.

WISCONSIN IN BRIEF

Marinette—The west approach of the railroad bridge across the Brule river, four miles west of Florence, was destroyed by fire on Sunday and railroad traffic was stopped for nearly twenty-four hours.

Janesville—Emmet Conroy, a wealthy resident of Clinton, was nearly killed in a row by a blacksmith named Batter. Batter beat Conroy over the head with a club, it is charged, and is held waiting the result of Conroy's injuries.

GERMAN PRESBYTERY

Decides to Merge Church Papers and Publish at Dubuque.

Dubuque, Iowa, May 1.—The convention of ministers and elders of the Northwest German presbytery has completed its work. Marion, S. D., was chosen as the place to hold the convention in 1908.

One of the most important actions taken by the convention was the decision to consolidate the two church papers, the Evangelist, published at Bloomfield, Mass., and the Presbyterianer, published in Dubuque. The new paper will be published here and will be called the Evangelist-Presbyterianer.

WISCONSIN

DEADLOCK AT MADISON

It May Continue for Several Weeks Yet.

Madison, Wis., May 1.—In the opinion of some of the best informed members of the legislature, the present deadlock may continue through next week, and possibly for several weeks, before the senatorial contest is determined. Despite all the noise and running about of the lieutenants and paid workers the members themselves admit that the situation has "set" and that there is little likelihood of a sufficient change to bring about an election. There are, of course, many deals attempted, and their execution makes work for the man who seem to apprehend that they, and not the legislature, are the ones to elect a senator.

A careful review of the situation falls to warrant any prediction that the deadlock has arrived at a state when a break can be predicted. If it comes next week it will come as a matter of accident and not as the result of a plan on the part of the candidate or their managers. Every possible effort will be made to show gains, and if this can not be done, for each candidate to hold his present strength. This program means hard work for the lieutenants, but so far as the members are concerned keeps the situation where it now is, without considering the convenience of the workers. Legislation will be advanced and the members will take up some of the important measures which up to this time have been neglected.

FISHED OUT A CORPSE.

Shawano, Wis., May 1.—Flora Viestentz, the 14-year-old daughter of August Viestentz, was fishing on the Wolf river and hooked what she thought to be a log. It proved to be a corpse. The hook had a firm hold on the shirt collar. The sight caused such a nervous shock that neither her nor any of her four young girl companions could do much and the real work of drawing out the body was done by the 11-year-old brother, Leonard Viestentz. The authorities were notified and the remains identified as John McGovern of St. Louis, Mo., who has been working with an extra gang on the Northwestern road near Pulaski. The finding of his hat and coat on the bank and the fact that he was a despondent epileptic point to suicide. The men had just been paid and he had been spending his time in saloons and a couple of nights in the village jail. McGovern was about 45 years of age and was regarded by his fellow workmen as not right mentally. A few dollars were found in the dead man's pocket. That he may have fallen into the river while intoxicated is also a possible theory.

KILLED AT NEENAH.

Johnathan Hanagan of West Menasha Run Down by Train.

Neenah, Wis., May 1.—Johnathan Hanagan, aged 45 years, and a resident of the town of West Menasha, was killed by a southbound Wisconsin Central train in the west yards in this city. It is not known what time he was killed or by what train, but it is thought that the accident occurred about midnight and it was a southbound train as the body was found several rods south of Mr. Hanagan's hat. He was probably returning to his home in West Menasha, walking along the track and did not hear or see the train which struck him.

SUES SHOWMAN.

University Man Wants $1,000 Damages for Ejection From Opera House.

Madison, Wis., May 1.—Fred H. Knoble of Montana, a student in the university law school, has brought suit for $1,000 against E. M. Fuller, proprietor of the Fuller opera house of this city.

About a month ago Knoble, it is said, was ejected from the opera house by Special Policeman D. E. Harrington, because of disorder in the gallery. Knoble declares that he is innocent of creating the trouble. Students are raising a fund to assist him and $50 has already been pledged.

SEVERAL DECISIONS

In Superior Cases Handed Down by the Supreme Court.

Madison, Wis., May 1.—Decisions were handed down in several superior cases in the supreme court yesterday. In the case of Eddie Ferguson vs. Peter Truax, a rehearing was granted on application of the defendant, against whom an $8,000 verdict was rendered when the case was tried in the superior court some months ago. The effect of the decision is to give the defense an opportunity to argue the case again.

The decision in the case of Homer Fowler vs. the Metzger Seed & Oil company, from the superior court, was affirmed. In the lower court the oil people were sued for a namount approximating $10,000 claimed by Fowler on flax he claimed to have furnished the company. The defendant company put in a counter claim for $4,000 and won out on both points.

In the case of Johnson vs. St. Paul & Western Coal company, the decision of the lower court was affirmed. Johnson was awarded $1,500 for the loss of the time and services of his son, who was injured at the dock, and awarded $3,000 in his own right.

UPPER MICHIGAN

DRANK PINT OF LINIMENT

Brought Medicine to Camp to Treat His Wounded Knee.

Marquette, Mich., May 1.—As the result of an insane desire for intoxicants Herman Radue, a blacksmith employed at Kewaunee camp on the Northland branch of the Escanaba & Lake Superior railroad, drank a quantity of linament and died within a few hours. It is claimed that Radue had just returned after a prolonged spree of three weeks. When he went to the woods he carried with him two bottles of liniment with which to treat an injured knee. Soon after reaching the camp the desire for stimulants returned and unable to obtain alcohol in another combination he drank nearly a pint of the liniment. Radue was found by the cookee of the camp tossing in agony in his bunk and an attempt to relieve his suffering was made. Medical aid was finally secured but nothing could be done to save the woodman's life.

WAS SICK IN BED.

Man Charged With Stealing Horse at Calumet Proves an Alibi.

Calumet, Mich., May 1.—The police are still at sea as to the identity of the party or parties who are to be held responsible for the death of the livery horse owned by Shea Bros. on Saturday evening. John Mucklla, who was suspected of this offense has proved an alibi and has successfully disproved the charge which was to have been brought against him. He has been sick in bed for over a week and as this covers the time in which the offense was committed he has not been arrested.

STRIKE THREATENED

By Teamsters at the Soo Unless Wages Are Increased.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., May 1.—Unless the demand of the teamsters for an increase to $5 a day of nine hours is allowed, a strike is threatened tomorrow. They are now getting $4, but say the increased cost of living makes the increase necessary. An effort is being made for a compromise, and an agreement may be reached.

LAURIUM YOUNG MAN FALLS FIFTY FEET.

Lake Linden, Mich., May 1.—Alfred Andrews, a Laurium young man, suffered an accident at the Douglass Houghton falls Sunday afternoon. The falls flow into a deep ravine, and about fifty feet down one side of this is a cave which offers attractions to the venturesome. Young Andrews started to climb down to the cave in the snow. He slipped and fell fifty feet down the bank into the water. He was rescued with a deep cut on his head and badly shaken up. His injuries are not serious.

Menominee—Milton Greenman, aged 10 years, was drowned last week in the bay near the old Island mill docks, North Menominee. The boy in company with others was fishing from the docks and in trying to cross on a boom stick stretched across a small pond, slipped and met his death before aid could reach him. His body was recovered two hours later.

Palmdale—The Methodist congregation has decided to build a new church. Plans for the edifice have not yet been secured, but a structure to cost $10,000 or $12,000 is proposed. The building will be erected this year.

Manistique—Peter Campbell, fire department driver, narrowly escaped serious injury while making a run to a fire the other day. He was thrown from the seat of the engine down in between the horses and rode at least 100 yards on the tongue of the heavy vehicle. The accident was caused by the engine dropping into an improperly filled sewer trench on North Cedar street.

Crystal Falls—Frank Schrisca, a Polish miner, was killed by a fall of ground at the Great Western mine last week. The unfortunate man was at work in one of the stopes, trimming down the back. He either neglected to sound his ground thoroughly or was unfamiliar with the necessary precautions.

There's nothing so good for a sore throat as Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil. Cures it in a few hours. Relieves any pain in any part.

MISS LOVING DENIES

Having Told Her Father That Estes Had Wronged Her.

Charlottesville, Va., May 1.—A letter that may have a most important bearing on the recent tragedy in Nelson county, in which young Theodore Estes lost his life at the hands of Judge William G. Loving, who alleged that the young man had drugged and assaulted his young daughter, Elizabeth, has been written by the young woman in question to one of her girl friends. In it, it is alleged, Miss Loving denies having told her father that Estes had wronged her, and says she cannot understand why he killed Estes.

TWO WOMEN ARE KILLED

While Riding on a Hand Car on the Burlington Road.

Were Struck by a Fast Freight Coming Unexpectedly.

Edgemont, S. D., May 1.—The killing of Mrs. Joseph Wilson and Mrs. F. M. Bittrick, the latter the wife of the section foreman of the Burlington railroad, is being investigated by a coroner's jury.

The women were killed by an engine drawing a freight train. A pathetic feature of the tragedy is the fact that Mrs. Wilson about two months ago was deserted by her husband, who left her penniless and with five small children to support, and the further fact that she was about to become a mother again.

Both of the women resided at Marietta. Desiring to make a trip to Edgemont they tcook one of the handcars which was used by the husband of Mrs. Bittrick and started for this place. When they had traveled about half the distance between the two towns they were overtaken by No. 46, an eastbound freight train, which collided with and demolished the handcar and killed both of its passengers.

Mrs. Wilson attempted to jump, but was struck by one of the handles of the handcar and her skull crushed. She fell from the handcar and rolled over into the ditch, being dead before she struck the ground.

Mrs. Bittrick was overcome with fright and unable to control herself, fell helplessly backward upon the track immediately in front of the train. The heavy engine and several cars passed over her, cutting off her legs. When picked up she was dead.

CASE POSTPONED.

Forger Parsons Believes He Can Raise the Money to Square Up.

Fargo, N. D., May 1.—A. L. Parsons, who defrauded the Merchants National bank of this city out of $50 by a draft, representing himself to be W. W. Brown, a wealthy farmer of Valley City, N. D., and who was given the money without proper identification, was up for a hearing before Judge McLean on Monday. Parsons had worked the same game on R. L. Butler of East Grand Forks to the tune of $160 and caught the East Grand Forks bank also with a small check, representing himself to be a wealthy farmer residing near Park River. Parsons was represented by Attorney Caldwell, who asked that the case be postponed for two weeks, as parsons had friends, who, it was believed, would furnish the money to settle the case, and the request was granted, and Parsons returned to the county jail.

MANAGER RESPONSIBLE

For Money Stolen in Recent Robbery of Western Union Office.

Grand Forks, N. D., May 1.—Manager Hansen of the local Western Union Telegraph office has been informed by high officials of the company that he would be held responsible for the money stolen by burglars Sunday night. Mr. Hansen says he will fight the case to a finish before paying the stolen money, which amounts to nearly $500. His integrity has never been questioned by the company, but they contend that he should not keep such a large sum on hand.

It is rumored that an agent of the company which bonded Hansen, is in the city looking after their interests in the case.

SUIT IS BROUGHT

By City of Fargo to Recover Shortage of a Former Treasurer.

Fargo, N. D., May 1.—After waiting a decade or more the city of Fargo has started suit against Former Treasurer A. T. Shotwell to recover $16,000. When he left the office it was found that a shortage existed and efforts were made to settled through the assignment of life insurance policies and certain property in the city. B. B. Shotwell, said to have profited by the shortage, is also made a defendant as he accepted certain orders of A. T. Shotwell in the city's favor.

DEATH KNELL OF THE BLIND PIGGER SOUNDED.

Minot, N. D., May 1.—The seizure of liquors, which has begun here, will not be confined to this city alone, but the county officials have commenced a campaign which will extend over the entire county.

Two deputy sheriffs have been sent to Bowbells and Kenmare, where warehouses as well as blind pigs will be raided and liquor confiscated and destroyed. Other towns and villages in the county also will be visited.

The seizure of liquor in warehouses, under the provisions of the new state law, probably will be the death knell of the blind pigger, for it is believed his source of supply will be entirely cut off.

KEPT WEDDING SECRET FOR YEAR AND A HALF.

Lead, S. D., May 1.—It has just come to light that William F. Dutton, a lawyer, mining man and broker of this city, and Miss Jennie Hines, an attractive young dentist, were married a year and a half ago at Omaha. The young couple have kept their secret remarkably well, and the truth even was not suspected until a day or two ago, when it was confided to some of the most intimate friends of the couple.

The reason for the silence was that Mrs. Dutton was successful in her profession and was not yet ready to give it up. It was only after Mr. Dutton had decided to move to Denver that they made the matter public.

CHARTER WHOLE TRAIN TO TAKE IN A DANCE.

Streeter, N. D., May 1.—High spirited young men of Streeter chartered a special train from the Northern Pacific railway in order to take in the firemen's ball at Cackle, N. D. The business people of the town held themselves aloof, deeming it impossible to make the trip because of existing conditions, but this obstacle was soon overcome when O. W. Pagel, backed by twenty young men of the village, called on the Northern Pacific agent here, and in two hours raised the money and chartered a train for the event.

DAKOTAS IN BRIEF

Towner, N. D.—A deal has been closed whereby L. B. Pendroy becomes owner of the Metropole hotel, formerly owned by F. M. Dompier. A large amount of town property was deeded to Mr. Dompier, and, including cash paid, the price of the hotel is $24,000.

Kenmare, N. D.—The fire in the Soo mine, four miles north of this city, has been successfully extinguished.

Grand Forks, N. D.—State's Attorney Wineman is of the opinion that the grand jury should sit in Grand Forks to take up several matters of importance. Among these he cites the existence of trusts in the grocery business, among milk, coal and ice dealers, and in fact, almost everything consumed by the public is controlled by monopolies.

Park River, N. D.—Jacob Sonderall, formerly superintendent of schools of Walsh county, has just been appointed county judge of the new Adams county, by Governor Burke.

Fargo, N. D.—G. J. Stout, deputy U. S. marshal, has returned from Bismarck, where he made the arrest of a woman named Mary Cole, who is under indictment for the alleged selling of intoxicating liquors to Indians from the Standing Rock Indian reservation. The woman will be tried at the term of the United States district court in May.

The growing demand for Hunt's Perfect Baking Powder is the indorsement the public gives to the high quality of this home-made-product.

LOSES WEALTH AND REASON.

Ottumwa, Iowa, May 1.—Leaving her 24-hour-old babe hidden under the bed, Mrs. Ira Ball, wife of a farmer living near Seymour, ran in her night clothes to summon aid for her husband, who had suddenly gone violently insane. Ball was a heavy loser in the Seymour Drovers' bank failure.

TAFT BACK AT HIS DESK.

Washington, May 1.—Secretary Taft returned to Washington today and was at his desk at the opening of business.

BOYS' CAMP WILL BEGIN AUGUST 12

The dates for the Y. M. C. A. boys' department camp have been fixed, and the boys will begin looking forward to Aug 12, the day set for the departure, as the beginning of twelve days of the gayest hilarity, and the healthiest, steadiest, heartiest fun of any two weeks in the entire year. The boys will leave Duluth, according to present plans, on Aug. 12, and will return Aug. 24.

The camp will be held at the regular camping ground, Camp Miller, on Serpent Lake, Deerwood, and will be run on much the same plans at last year. The older boys' conference will be held at Deerwood immediately following the camp, lasting four days, from Aug. 25 to 28, inclusive.

CLEANING DAY IS POSTPONED

Mayor Will Not Set Day Till After May 15.

In all probability Duluth's cleaning day will be postponed until after May 15 on account of weather conditions.

"I want it to be a very thorough affair, when we go about it," said Mayor Cullum, this morning; "and I do not believe that the frost is out of the ground and out of the refuse piles sufficiently to permit their removal yet. I do not think I shall name a cleaning day before May 15."

Dr. Murray concurs very heartily with the mayor in advising a postponement, as he says it is practically impossible to do anything under present conditions. Most of the rubbish removed now is 70 per cent ice, and is very hard to get at and cart away. The health department served a bunch of twenty-four-hour notices last week ordering clean ups, and the protests from the citizens upon whom they were served were many and varied. In all but one case the department decided that the kicks were justified, but one of the careless owners was prosecuted, brought into municipal court, and given ten days to clean up, with a $15 fine alternative. This was a case of gross neglect, however, where the conditions were a menace not only to the health of the person prosecuted, but to the whole neighborhood.

"We can't make them clean up yet," says Dr. Murray. "But they will have to do it in a hurry as soon as weather conditions permit. It is hard to realize it, but we have hardly had two days of good thawing weather yet this year. A soaking rain would put the city in condition for a clean up about as soon as anything."

It's too bad to see people who go from day to day suffering with physical weakness, when Rocky Mountain Tea would strengthen them. Tea or Tablets. 35 cents. Ask your druggist.

WOMAN TEACHERS ANGRY.

Resent Charge, They Used Their 'Charms' to Secure Legislation.

New York, May 1.—Never in all the long and bitter struggle of the woman school teachers to get their salary bill through the legislature at Albany has there been such a storm of indignation as yesterday.

The latest crisis was brought about by the charge that the women had gone beyond the limits of feminine propriety in their efforts to advance their cause. Mrs. Grace Strachan, manager of the women's campaign, threatened to sue for libel the persons responsible for the stories about the woman instructors.

"One of our committee comes from the West," Miss Strachan said; "and I wouldn't be surprised to see her get out a six-shooter. It is the most atrocious thing I have ever heard to say that we exerted our 'charms' to influence members of the legislature to support our bill.

I have never set myself down as a beauty, and some of the committee are no prettier than I. There are two or three of the teachers who have been in Albany who are rather pretty, but their behavior has been most circumspect."

SECRET IS BELITTLED

Philadelphia Chemists Advise Cobbler to Stick to His Last.

His Discovery That Makes Ashes Burn Pronounced Valueless.

Philadelphia, May 1.—Ashes are ashes.

This is not an incorrect quotation from the burial services. It is simply the cold truth, relative to using ashes as fuel, expressed by Dr. Henry Leffmann, the celebrated chemist. He says the discovery of the Altoona cobbler, John Ellmore, that two ounces of oxalic acid, a gallon of water and a pound of table salt would make one ton of coal do the work of many tons when mixed with double its weight of coal ashes is not new. It is simply a valueless experiment in chemistry.

According to Dr. Leffmann, the "discovery" has no more value than throwing a handful of salt on a coal fire. This action makes visible a brilliant yellow blaze, but there is no more heat than there was before. Sodium, or salt, simply renders the blaze visible. It is this principle of salt which is taken advantage of by chemists in making tests by heat with color.

But the Altoona cobbler's discovery created lots of excitement in Philadelphia. Probably 10,000 persons were trying the experiment, and there was a big run on the oxalic acid market. Every druggist in the city was busy doling out the stuff in two-ounce lots, with a warning to the purchaser not to mistake it for Epsom salts.

"If I saw ashes burning," said Dr. Lemann, "I would fire the fireman. It would be evidence to me that he had not properly fired his furnace in the first place, or there would not be enough combustible matter left in the ashes to burn.

"Schemes for saving fuel have been many. About fifteen years ago I investigated one. Some man had discovered that if he squirted steam in on the grate bars and iron work of a furnace it produced gas and increased the efficiency of the fuel. My examination showed that for every 2 per cent of heat he gained he burned out 56 per cent of the grate bars. Needless to say, the scheme did not revolutionize fuel consumption.

"The formula discovered by the Altoona cobbler is of no value commercially. It amounts to nothing more than throwing a handful of salt on a fire. The small amount of oxalic acid used virtually amounts to nothing. Even if it did produce acetylene gas, as asserted, two ounces of the acid would not produce enough acetylene gas to make a flame that would be visible more than five seconds."

Dr. Leffmann's opinion of the discovery was the same as that held by many other chemists of the city.

But there were some enthusiasts in Philadelphia yesterday. One man called at the North American information bureau and announced that he had prepared the mixture, set his ashes with it, and they were "burning like h——." This is evidently an error, due to enthusiasm. The mixture produces a yellow flame. The fires of the infernal regions are understood to be blue.

Altogether the Altoona cobbler is not looked upon as a wonder by Philadelphia chemists. They advise that this discovery be his last, and that he stick to the last.

DOWNFALL OF AN OXFORD MAN

Seattle Minister Gives Way to Drink After Wife's Death.

Seattle, Wash., May 1.—Robert Charlton Lee, an Oxford graduate, minister of the gospel for a score of years, and a man of much brilliance and eloquence, was arrested while on the verge of delirium tremens, and was locked up in the city jail. Picked up from the gutter by a former member of his church choir, and started on a straight path again, Lee has fallen so many times lately that his friends have ceased to forbear, and have caused his arrest. Incidentally he is also held for pawning a watch, which did not belong to him, to obtain liquor.

Three years ago, at the time of the death of his wife at Coast Bay, Ore., a life of great promise was blasted by strong drink. Last July he was rescued from one of the lowest dives of the city by L. K. Nichols, a former member of his church choir at Coos Bay, but has continually fallen back to his evil ways.

EMPEROR $120 AHEAD.

Vienna, May 1.—The Emperor Francis Joseph visited the new buildings of the postoffice savings bank the other day and his own bank book was shown to him. It bears the number 1. The first account was opened with it on the inauguration of the postoffice bank service twenty-three years ago.

The emperor cast a glance at the total figure to his credit, which was 1,200 crowns, or $240. The emperor expressed doubts as to the accuracy of the account, as he distinctly remembered that he had deposited only 600 crowns.

The comptroller pointed out that with compound interest his account had exactly doubled itself in twenty-three years, a fact which seemed to afford the emperor great satisfaction.

WIFE ASKED DIVORCE

Because Husband Repeated Confidence That Should Have Been Sacred.

Cleveland, May 1.—Mrs. Margaret Louise Schiller got a divorce from Dr. Charles Frederick Schiller because the doctor told things she had told him in confidence, tried to humiliate her by exaggerating these little confidences and failed to provide for her.

Dr. Schiller formerly lived in Akron, and eloped from that city with Margaret Louise McClintock in 1900.

Mrs. Schiller testified that their troubles began six months after the elopement. "Confidences, sacred between husband and wife, which I trustingly reposed in him before I knew his real nature, he told his friends," she said, "and did not fail to distort these little confidences, and did everything he could to humiliate me."

MARCHESA SETS FIRE

Milan, May 1.—The beautiful Marchesa Atala Ramblet Massaglia, a member of an industrious Italian family suddenly became insane and barricaded herself in the family palace. Then she clothed herself in her robes of state and set fire to some furniture.

When the firemen arrived she received them with shot from a revolver. There was a protracted siege which ended only when the Marchesa's ammunition was exhausted. The firemen on entering discovered a nephew of the Marchesa there. He was also insane. The two are now in an asylum.

SCORES SNOB MINISTERS.

Pittsburg Preacher Roasts Heads of Rich Men's Clubs.

Pittsburg, Pa., May 1.—Rev. Dr. John Royal Harris, pastor of the First Cumberland Presbyterian church of Pittsburg, created some excitement in the meeting of the Presbyterian ministers here by attacking wealthy congregations and the attire of the ministers of such churches. In part, the divine said:

"The churches of some of our millionaires and newly-rich are nothing more than smart set clubs. There is endless, too much snobbishness, and it is not confined to the congregations either. Some of the ministers claim that they need the large salaries to keep their families, and that they have to dress nicely. Perhaps God did not intend that all ministers should have families."

EX-MILLIONAIRE IS NOW DYING IN WANT.

Elgin, Ill., May 1.—Lucius B. Hubbard, once a prominent Chicago board of trade plunger, who "cleaned up" a million dollars on two separate occasions, is dying, penniless, in Elgin. He was removed to the German hospital suffering from a fall caused by paralysis, and is not expected to live.

Mr. Hubbard, who is 84 years old, lost his fortune several years ago, and during the last year he has been living with an unmarried daughter in two small rooms at 246 Lewis street, Elgin.

Formerly he was prominent in Chicago society and business affairs. When he was taken to the hospital it was found he and his daughter were reduced to want.

When you have a Bad Breath—Wake up!

WAKE Up! It's time to take a Cascaret.

—When the friend you speak to turns his face the other way.

—When your tongue is coated.

—When you have Heartburn, Belching, Acid Risings in throat,

—When Pimples begin to peep out,

—When your Stomach Gnaws or Burns,

—That's the time to check coming Constipation, Indigestion and Dyspepsia.

But, — they act like Exercise on the Muscles that shrink and expand the Intestines, thus pushing the Food on Naturally to its Finish.

When your Bowel-Muscles grow flabby they need Exercise to strengthen them—not "Physic" to pamper them.

ESCAPE OF COL. CODY

Was Almost Constantly in the Saddle for Forty Hours.

FROM THE HERALD WASHINGTON BUREAU.

Washington, May 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—There are residing in Washington today several hundred retired officers of the army who find the associations of the capitol city far more congenial than those offered by any other city of the country. Many of those were retired because of wounds or disease contracted during the Spanish war or the Philippine campaign. But more are veterans of the Civil war, and among these are many men who are "chock full" of reminiscences of the stirring days prior to and during the contest between the states of the North and South.

Among the oldest of the veterans still with us is one who is wearing the congressional medal for conspicuous gallantry and who saw service among the Indians on the frontier as far back as the early '50s—Maj. Gen. Eugene A. Carr. Wounded by an Indian arrow in 1854, he saw service with his command at Pine Ridge in 1891, and is still hale and hearty in spite of the eighty years which have passed since he first saw the light.

This discussion led up to a description of a skirmish which preceded the notably successful battle of "Summit Springs" which completely routed and cleared out of that section the "Dog Soldiers," an aggregation of discontented red outlaws, composed of renegade Sioux, Cheyennes, Arapahoes, etc., and which gained for Gen. Carr congratulations from President Grant, Gen. Sherman, Gen. Sheridan and others of his professional associates, and resolutions of thanks from the Colorado and Nebraska legislatures. The general, indeed, has a career of prominence in the Civil war, when he figured in all grades up to commander of a division in the campaigns of Grant, Sherman and Thomas in the West, to "the march to the sea" through Georgia. Of his favorite scout, "Buffalo Bill," he tells many interesting stories. He told of an Indian fight in which Lieut. Babcock and his troop found themselves in a tight place, ambushed, surrounded, a short distance from the main command, in July, 1869. He said:

"Bill had reported the proximity of a strong band of hostiles and being with me in consultation in regard to sending for much needed supplies (as I had destroyed some wagons, to facilitate rapid pursuit) we heard firing and I sent him forward with a squad to relieve the situation, while I hurried up the main command. Before reaching the scene we could see the Indians scattering in retreat. A figure with a red cap rose slowly up over the hill that puzzled me for an instant, as it wore the buckskin and had long hair, but on catching sight of the horse, Cody's Powder Face, I saw it was Buffalo Bill without his broad brimmed sombrero. On closer inspection I found his head swathed in a bloody handkerchief that acted not only as a temporary bandage but as chapeau, his hat having been shot off and lost, his scalp badly plowed to the bone for about five inches which was bleeding profusely, but the close call had been a lucky one. The advance guard had been relieved, I learned the Indians were severely punished with a loss on our side of but four or five killed and a few wounded, and Cody's narrow escape, as the remaining casualty. As the object of the campaign was near accomplishment, and the trail not, our greatest need was supplies.

"The country was infested with Indians and it was fifty miles to the nearest supply point, Fort Kearney, and Cody decided it would be necessary to undertake the job himself, a decision characteristic of him as he never shirked duty or faltered in emergencies.

"I gave him the best horse in the outfit, and we were securely camped and twilight had arrived, he decided, after patching up his head a little, to be off to bring relief and meet us at a point 'northwest about a day's march.' These were about the most definite directions that any plainsman got in the trackless plains of those days, but it showed the peculiar sixth sense or ocumen possessed by the practical scouts like Cody in the wide seas of the great plains that they rarely ever missed the desired connection. To our great joy Cody reached us safely and successfully, riding the fifty miles at night, arriving at Fort Kearney at daylight. He had chased and fought Indians all day, been wounded, superintended the loading of supplies and when he reached us through his rare frontier instinct, he had been almost constantly in the saddle, and without sleep, for forty hours. He proudly displayed a new sombrero and that is the kind of scout Bill was."

That evening at a dinner Mr. Nailor related the story to the family circle and the party attended the Columbia theater to see Kyrle Bellow in a heroic character, similar to that of Buffalo Bill in romance, dramatically represented. What was the surprise of the members of the party and the enhanced interest, to hear Brig. Girard relate, among many stories of his Spanish acomplishments that had made his name famous throughout the French army, an identical episode, after having received a similar wound; losing his hat, substituting a handkerchief in a sucessful charge; he received on the field of battle the thanks of the emperor; congratulatings from the great Murat and gained for himself the soubriquet of "Little Red Hat," proving once more that history repeates itself and that there are heroes today "sans puer et sans reproche," as there were in the days when knighthood was in flower.

LEAD PENCIL BREAKS RIB OF SCHOOL TEACHER.

Hopkinsville, Ky., May 1.—Prof. H. Clay Smith, principal of the girls' department of South Kentucky college, is suffering from a fractured rib, which was the result of an unusual accident. Prof. Smith, while sitting in an armchair, leaned over to pick up a letter, and the arm of the chair pressed a lead pencil in his pocket against one of his ribs with sufficient force to break the bone.

SEVEN MONTHS

New York, May 1.—Laying down a set of rules for the conduct of parents and love-smitten young persons, Father Angelo of the Passionist Fathers, has issued an edict that "seven months is long enough to 'keep company.'" He said this at a mission the fathers are conducting at St. Michael's Roman Catholic church in Flushing, which was attended by 2,000 women.

Among the rules he laid down for parents were: "Young lovers should not be permitted to 'keep company' until they are of a proper age; it is an insult for a young man to 'keep company' with a young woman two or three years; the proper hours for courting are from 8 to 10:30 o'clock, and the lights should always be kept lit; if the young man does not declare his intentions soon after the seven months period of probation the mother should step in and make inquiries."

Wonderful Eczema Cure.

"Our little boy had eczema for five years" writes N. A. Adams, Henrietta, Pa. "Two of our home doctors said the case was hopeless, his lungs being affected. We then employed other doctors, but no benefit resulted. By chance we read about Eclectric Bitters; bought a bottle and soon noticed improvement. We continued this medicine until several bottles were used, when our boy was completely cured." Best of all blood medicines and body building health tonics. Guaranteed at all drug stores. 50c.

MINISTER GOES TO JAIL.

Charlottesville, Va., May 1.—Rev. Harvey J. Seaman of this city, a well-known minister, was committed to the city jail by Justice Robert Watson, upon his failure to furnish bonds in the sum of $500 to keep the peace.

Rev. Mr. Seaman, who is pastor of several churches in adjoining counties, was arrested on the complaint of his wife that he assaulted her.

Mrs. Seaman swore out the warrant in the belief that her husband would take her life as, she said, he had frequently threatened. Her story culminated in the statement that her husband had spat in her face.

Rev. Mr. Seaman's account of the domestic trouble leading to his arrest contained the statement that he had used only such means of correction in his family as he deemed necessary.

Justice Watson, after hearing the evidence in the case, placed the husband under a $500 peace bond, which he was unable to give, and he consequently spent the night in a cell.

Mr. and Mrs. Seaman had lived in Charlottesville for a number of years. Mrs. Seaman was Miss Lucy Walters, daughter of the late William Walters, and niece of the late John L. Walters, one time treasurer of Charlottesville.

SPORTING NEWS OF THE DAY

LINEUP OF ARISTOCRATS

Calumet Team Will Report at Minneapolis This Week.

Mullane Has Twenty Men From Whom to Pick Team.

Houghton Mich., May 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Calumet baseball team will report at St. Paul, where Manager Mullane, catcher, is at the present time, with a number of good men. The team will play its first game with St. Thomas college and will play several other pre-season games at towns in Minnesota.

The following men will report:

Catchers—Frank Mullane and Frank Kurke.

Pitchers—Coopman, Roy Newcombe, Schukart, La Croix, Schroeder, Renni and Finn.

Bill Mutter, whom Houghton tried to get and who refuses to play at all if he cannot play with the Houghton team, is still on a string held by Calumet and the string won't be cut, it appears. Therefore Mutter will play with the Hurontown semi-professional team in the Houghton county league or in the Iron-Copper Country league. Bill Brand, the Giants' right fielder last year states that he will not play ball this summer. Two of Houghton's players, Patterson of Cleveland, second base, and Miler of Minneapolis, outfield, were in Houghton Saturday night and Sunday and left yesterday for Chicago, where they will join the team.

SPORTING BREVITIES

President Murphy of the Cubs is pleased with the work of Randall in right field, and when the latter cracked out a triple in the third inning, winning the game (with St. Louis) for the Cubs, Mr. Murphy became very enthusiastic in his praise for the recruit, says the Chicago Record-Herald.

* * *

It is now almost certain that Johnny Summers, the clever featherweight boxing champion of England, will meet Tommy Murphy, the Harlem featherweight, in a six-round fight before the National Athletic club of Philadelphia during the month of May. Murphy is willing to make the match and allow Summers to name the weight, the manager of the club has come forward with an offer of 65 per cent of the receipts, and it is believed Summers will accept. Summers is the boy who is after Battling Nelson, and if he can dispose of the Harlem boy, the Dane will undoubtedly sign with him.

* * *

It is certainly all off with the proposed Gans-Lewis battle. It didn't look good to the fight promoters in the first place, and the two couldn't draw a purse. Lewis is now after Jimmy Gardner, and agrees to fight him, May 17, at 142 pounds ringside. If Gardner falls, the Philadelphia lad will take on Young Erne.

PROGRAM OF BOAT RACES

Number of International Rowing Events This Week.

Norfolk, Va., May 1.—The feature of today's program of international boat races here in connection with the Jamestown exposition, is a ten-mile race between shipsailing boats for a cup offered by the army and navy interests. The other races will be a combination of pulling and sailing cutters over a six mile course, free for all and a combination of pulling and sailing launches, same distance.

Thursday there will be a free-for-all pulling shipsboats, three miles; five or six oared gigs, two miles; twelve car pulling service cutters, two miles; and on Friday a combination of pulling and sailing gigs or whale boats, six miles; sailing service cutters, ten miles; sailing service launches, ten miles.

The Battenberg cup, offered by the duke of Battenberg for American and English sailors only, twelve oared pulling cutters, three miles, will be rowed for Saturday.

WILL CROSS CONTINENT.

Seattle High School Ball Team to Play at Brooklyn.

New York, May 1.—The Seattle high school of Seattle, Wash., has challenged the Brooklyn high schools for an interscholastic baseball game or series of games to be played in Brooklyn early in July.

The challenge will be accepted. The game will probably be played on the grounds of the Brooklyn National League club.

GOTCH WINS FROM BELGIAN

Kansas City, Mo., May 1.—Frank Gotch of Iowa last night defeated Alfonso Steuers, the Belgian giant, at catch-as-catch-can wrestling, two straight falls. The first fall was won in 22 minutes and the second in 14 minutes. Steuers weighed almost fifty pounds more than Gotch.

Spring has indeed been backward in Duluth this year, viewed from the standpoint of sports. Baseball, golf, rowing and all other sports have been set far back by the snow, rain and chill winds, and a continued period of warm weather would be welcome by the athletically inclined.

At the Northland Country club, a few of the more venturesome golf devotees have been out on the links to shiver through a few holes, but the golfers have not been able to get out in number yet. The members of the Boat club have worked in the gymnasium long beyond the regular date for taking to the water, and until Monday work in the boats was out of the question. The corner lotters have been in despair for a whole month. Whereas they usually count on getting out about April 1, they have been able to play but very little, and last Sunday, when they counted on baseball galore, the snow came to spoil it all.

Next Sunday there are more independent games scheduled, and if the weather does not hold too strong a hand, baseball will get its start for the season of 1907 in Duluth.

The present mild weather is, therefore, doubly welcome, and if it will continue throughout May, April will be forgotten and forgiven.

HIGH SCHOOL AND ALUMNI

Game Will be Played This Afternoon at Hunters' Park.

This afternoon at 3:30 o'clock, the Duluth Central high school baseball team will meet a nine made up of former high school players. The game will be played at Hunters' Park and is in the nature of a practice game for the high school, preparatory to the opening of the series for the Northern Hardware company cup next Saturday, when the Nelson-Dewey high school team of Superior plays here.

Capt. McDevitt of the high school has a goodly number of candidates out and he has not yet settled on his team. He will put a nine in the field this afternoon, however, which he considers good and if the boys show the right form, the team will be used against Nelson-Dewey without substitution. Any weak spots discovered will be bolstered up if possible and the game will give the captain a good line on the team in action. Cummings will probably pitch and McDevitt catch.

Earl Arseneau is down to fling for the alumni team with Deetz, Furni, Fenton, Winters, McGraw and Withrow in the lineup. The alumni will present a strong lineup and give the high school boys a good practice.

MILTON ACCEPTS McGRAW'S DEFY

George Milton, the wrestler, called on the sporting editor of the Herald this morning, eager to make the match with "Kid" McGraw, who issued a challenge to Milton last evening. Milton is willing to wrestle at any time or place, for a side bet of any amount McGraw may name, with the condition that McGraw make 120 pounds.

"I don't know this McGraw, but I will take him on, if he wants to wrestle me," said Milton. "I will wrestle him any time or at any place, making a side-bet of any amount of money he may name. Of course, the time must be reasonably soon, as I have a match on with Frank Myers of Minneapolis and I want a rest before that takes place. One condition I will make McGraw must scale 120 pounds, or there will be no bout. I have taken on too many of these men over my weight, and even at 120 pounds I am giving away weight. I am at my best at 118 and a few pounds go a long way in a lightweight wrestling match."

Milton would like to have the match take place Friday night of this week at the Metropolitan opera house, where the men can get a percentage of the receipts and wrestle for a side bet at the same time.

No match has been arranged for the "Met" yet and Manager Longstreet would probably put the lightweights on, if they should come to terms in time. McGraw or his manager will be able to make the match by reaching Milton direct, or calling the sporting editor of The Herald.

W. H. Beaulieu, the man who threw Dick Johnson twice in about three minutes at the "Met" recently, would like to take up the challenge issued to Johnson by Charlie Jones. Beaulieu showed his superiority over Johnson and he says if Jones is such an artist on the mat, he would make a better match for the ex-fireman than would Johnson. The heavies will probably get together as well as the lightweights and some wrestling is promised for the next few weeks.

CHANGE IN THE SCHEDULE.

Milwaukee, May 1.—President O'Brien of the American association baseball league announced last night that owing to a misunderstanding between the owners of the St. Paul Sunday park and the management of the American association baseball club of that city over a renewal of the lease, the games scheduled in St. Paul on May 4, 5 and 6 with Columbus have been transferred to Columbus on May 3, 4 and 5.

APPROPRIATION FOR LABORATORY

A dispatch from St. Paul says: "It seems to be up to the people of Duluth to decide whether or not the branch labratory of the state board of health in the Zenith City will be continued. In other words, the state board of health, at a meeting today, found that the recent legislature had failed to appropriate any funds for the Duluth labratory, and that it would have to be continued, if at all, out of money taken from the board's general fund. Only $1,200 a year can be allowed from the general fund for this purpose, and it will take as much more to run the labratory.

"Therefore, if it is continued, it is up to Duluth to raise $1,200 a year as a contribution. The board left the matter in the hands of Dr. Westbrook, the president, and Dr. Bracken, the secretary. These two gentlemen will go to Duluth next Thursday afternoon. There they will consult on the matter with representatives of St. Mary's hospital, Dr. Murray, the health commissioner, and Chairman Patterson of the St. Louis county board of commissioners."

The rather imperative need for such a labratory here will probably result in an appropriation as large as necessary by the council for the purpose. All diphtheria and typhoid patients would have to remain in quarantine two or three days longer while cultures were being sent to St. Paul or to the university for examination, and milk tests and water tests, which are now made here, would have to go to the university chemists.

WILL PLAY FOND DU LAC

White Sox Will Meet New Wisconsin State Leaguers.

Eight Games to be Played Before Team Returns.

Once again, today, the White Sox will make an effort to show Duluth fans that they can win a game, even if it is only on the training trip. They will meet Fond du Lac, the new team in the Wisconsin State league and, as the infants will want to show the home fans that they can play ball, they may be expected to sail into the Sox with all their strength. But the Sox have been losing their pre-season games too regularly to be willing to passively submit to a beating, so the fans of Fond du Lac should see some baseball, providing the weather is suitable for a game.

The White Sox still have eight games to play before they come to Duluth a week from tomorrow. They play two each in Fond du Lac, Oshkosh, Green Bay and Eau Claire, and the fans will expect them to win a few of those in order that they may welcome Smith and his boys home. The Wisconsin State league is no weakling organization and, if the Sox can get an even break on the series, the Duluth fans will be satisfied that they can play some ball.

The Sox have certainly steered into a bunch of hard luck since they reported in Madison April 15. The weather in Wisconsin has been worse than right here in Duluth, and, had they had the opponents, the team would have been able to play more practice games on their own lot than they have thus far in Wisconsin. A break is looked for, however, and the boys are expected to arrive home in first class shape. Manager Kuehnow was in Madison last Saturday to see the game there and he says they look good to him. When McCormick reports, the outfield will be in good shape and Tracey, Leighty, Summers and Odwell make an infield which promises good things for the fans during the coming season.

Another pitcher has been added to the staff in Leonard Berger, a promising university pitcher, gathered in at Madison. Berger shows good form and Smith thinks he can make something of him before many weeks have passed. Al Cummings is in fine form and Krick is also rounding out well. Backus appears to be there and Haney looks good. Smith should certainly be able to pick a staff from the six pitchers he has gathered, and a good pitching staff counts for a good deal in winning games.

THREE KILLED

In Wreck of Canadian Pacific Freight Train Near Port Arthur.

Port Arthur, Ont., May 1.—A Canadian Pacific freight train, eastbound, ran through a small bridge just east of here, Tuesday night, carrying to their death Engineer William Fixter, Fireman Venudrey and Brakeman Villineauve.

The locomotive and seven cars of flour, which crashed into the ravine, burying the three members of the crew, immediately caught fire, and the torture of the men pinned under the wreckage, which ended in their death, was frightful.

Conductor Cross, who escaped injury, was one of the first to view the wreckage, which was partly hidden by volumes of steam. The cries of Fixter to be rescued were pitiful, but all efforts of the conductor to relieve him were unavailing, and he was scalded and roasted to death.

PASTOR LICKS POLITICIAN.

Latter Had Criticised Sermon and Called Names.

Sterling, Ill., May 1.—Dr. E. F. Eskey of Prophetstown, for many years a leading Republican of Whiteside county, and now chairman of the county central committee of Whiteside county, was knocked down and badly pounded by Rev. William Fundston, pastor of the Methodist church of Prophetstown.

The cause of the trouble, so it is alleged, is a sermon that was preached by Rev. Fundston. Dr. Eskey questioned the right of the pastor to deliver a Republican sermon, and this was followed by calling the reverend gentleman a foul name.

Eskey refused to retract the statement or name, whereupon the preacher pounded him unmercifully, knocking him to the sidewalk.

Dr. Eskey is a member of Rev. Fundston's church.

INSPECTS THE ROAD

County Board Makes Trip Over Miller Trunk Road.

Portions of Highway Very Much in Need of Repairs.

(By a Staff Correspondent.)

It required eighteen hours for the board of county commissioners to make their annual inspection trip over the 60-mile Miller Trunk road from Eveleth to Duluth, yesterday. The commissioners started from Eveleth at 6:30 o'clock yesterday morning and reached Duluth at 12:30 o'clock last evening.

Owing to the fact that the frost is coming out of the ground, the road is pretty heavy and, in some places the highway is in very bad condition.

Teams from Eveleth conveyed the board to within a few miles of the Whiteface river, where the commissioners were met by rigs from Duluth. The board reached the Whiteface river about noon yesterday, where they disposed of a lunch carried from Eveleth. The remaining thirty-eight miles of the ride was the hardest part of the trip, and progress by teams was not much faster than a person could walk.

Although the road will be much better after the ground settles, it was the opinion of the commissioners that the Miller Trunk road is very much in need of repair. About the worst continuous part of bad road was a five-mile stretch, immediately south of Whiteface river through the swamps, in Commissioner Charles Kauppi's district. In that locality practically no repair work has been done on the road since it was built several years ago. When the road was constructed the stumps of the trees were cut close to the ground and covered with dirt on the dry ground. The swamps were corduroyed and the corduroy was covered with dirt. The settling of the ground, washing away of the dirt on top and the upheaval of the stumps underneath by reason of the frost, has caused the stumps to come up through the road surface in many spots and travel is attended with danger to rigs. In the swamps where the water running over the roads has either uncovered the corduroy, or it has rotted out.

There were other spots on the road that were in much the same condition as described, no repair work having been done. Some of the worst places in the road at this time of the year are quite passable in the summer when the ground is dried out. Where repair work was done last year in the swamps north of Whiteface river, in Commissioner Ryan's district the highway is in good condition for this time of the year. The filling, grading, and ditching has prevented the water running across and washing out the roads. When the road dries out it will be in a very passable condition.

The county board has appropriated $5,000 for the Miller Trunk road maintenance this year and the repairs if properly made where they are needed would cost probably double that amount. The commissioners expect to spend the money this year where they think it is the most needed.

The work will, in general, consist of filling, grading, ditching, graveling and stumping the road. Wherever the Miller Trunk road has been graveled it is in the best possible condition for a country highway and an effort will be made to carry on the graveling process as far as practicable, considering the distance that the material must be hauled.

Last year Commissioner Ryan spent about $2,100 on the portion of the Miller Trunk road in his district and the result will show in a much improved highway for travel this year.

Commissioner Kauppi, last year, had to build three bridges over Nelson's creek which the Miller Trunk road crosses six times in the town of Independence, within the distance of a few miles. The bridges are very creditable and substantial structures and cost in the aggregate, $3,300. The bridge construction used up the appropriation available on the road in Commissioner Kauppi's district last season.

This season there will be one bridge to rebuild over Nelson's creek at the crossing fartherest north.

That work will, in fact, have to be done at once, as the present bridge, a corduoy-covered structure, 400 feet long, is in a very dangerous condition for travel, and teams are liable to break through at any time.

The commissioners examined the location yesterday and discussed the best plan of fixing up the bridge at the least expense. At the present time the structure crosses Nelson's creek three times within the 400 feet, due to the peculiar windings of that stream. The board proposes to cut a channel across from one neck to another, a distance of only seventy feet, changing the course of the stream so that two of the crossings will be obviated. The board is figuring on filling in a considerable part of the present bridge, except where it will actually cross the stream, and that will be recovered with the timber taken from the portion to be removed for the filling. It is believed that the whole improvement, including the changing of the course of the creek, will not exceed $500 or $600.

The board will have a meeting next Tuesday, when steps will be taken for the repair work at the bridge in question.

RAISE TRUCK FOR CHURCH.

Children Grow Vegetables on Lot to Help Building Fund.

Spring City, Pa., May 1.—Profits derived by the cultivation of two acres of unused ground on the outskirts of Spring City by fifty children, members of the Junior Epworth league connected with the Methodist Episcopal church, under the direction of Mrs. C. A. Spencer, wife of Dr. Spencer, are to be used in assisting in the erection of a $30,000 church.

This idea was advanced by Mrs. Spencer, and the children entered into the spirit of the project with great zeal. The ground has been rented, the fertilizer has been donated and work will be commenced at once. As the vegetables are raised, the boys and girls will sell them from door to door, and every dollar raised will be added to the building fund.

VAST SUM FOR NATION'S NEED

Washington, May 1.—According to the volume of appropriations, new offices, etc., during the last session of congress, just completed by Thomas P. Cleaves and James C. courts, clerks of the senate and house committee on appropriations, the total appropriations for the session were $920,798,143, or about $1,000,000 more than the estimates of Senator Allison and Representative Tawney, chairmen of the two committees. In addition, contracts were authorized for public works requiring future appropriations aggregating $67,934,349, of which $49,000,000 is for river and harbor improvements and almost $16,000,000 for battleships, torpedo boats, etc.

The largest single appropriation was $212,091,193, by the postoffice bill. The naval bill carried $98,958,507, the army bill $78,634,583 and the pension bill $146,143,000.

The new employes number 18,993, at an annual compensation of $12,716,184. Those abolished or omitted are 5,674, at an annual compensation of $3,864,425, an increase of 13,319 in number and $8,851,759 in amount. Of this net increase 4,770 were for the postal service, including 3,385 clerks in postoffices and 1,239 railway postal clerks.

The net number of salaries increased is 16,434, at an annual cost of $2,949,353. This number includes increases in the salaries of the vice president, speaker of the house, nine cabinet officers, ninety senators and 396 representatives, and 14,272 employes of the railway mail service.

GIRLS MUST NOT PRIMP IF THEY WORK FOR UNCLE.

Washington, May 1.—Primping among the women employes of the government printing office must cease. An official order has been issued removing all mirrors from the big building.

In times past many of the floors had forty to fifty mirrors upon the walls in convenient reach of women employes when ready to go to lunch or to leave for the day. Each mirror belonged to a particular beauty or to a congenial group, and the utmost harmony prevailed.

"Now," complain the girls, "there is but one large mirror left and that in the main dressing room. It is impossible for a hundred or more women to gather around one mirror at one time and get any satisfaction out of the proceeding. Consequently, we have to dash on our hats, guess at where our faces need washing most and saunter out on the street perfect frights."

"The women waste too much time in fixing their hair and arranging their hats," is said to be the reasoning of the department officials.

"We waste no time belonging to the government and should certainly have the right to look decent," is the way the women see it.

A Woman's Health

Is a heritage too sacred to be experimented with. For her peculiar and delicate ailments only medicines of known composition and which contain no alcohol, narcotics, or other harmful or habit-forming drugs should be employed. The one medicine which fulfills all these requirements is Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription—a remedy with a record of over forty years of cures to recommend it; a remedy, the makers of which print its formula on every bottle-wrapper and attest its completeness and correctness under oath; a remedy devised and adapted to woman's delicate constitution by an educated physician—an experienced specialist in woman's diseases; a remedy, every ingredient of which has received the written endorsement of the most eminent medical writers of all the several schools of practice for the cure of woman's peculiar diseases; a remedy which has more bona-fide cures to its credit than any other sold by druggists for woman's special requirements. It is not given away in the form of "trial bottles" to be experimented with, but is sold at a fair price by all dealers in medicines.

Delicate, weak, nervous women should especially shun the use of alcoholic medicines which, from their stimulating and exhilerating effects may seem, for a time, to do good, but which from the inevitable effects of the alcohol in shrinking up the red corpuscles of the blood are sure to do great and lasting harm in the long run. Besides they beget a craving for stimulants which is most deplorable.

Only invigorating and nerve strengthening effects can follow the use of this famous medicine for women. It can not possibly do harm in any state or condition of the system. It has been carefully adapted to woman's needs by an experienced physician—a specialist in their diseases. It makes weak women strong and sick women well.

If a woman has bearing down, or dragging pains, low down in the abdomen, or pelvis, backache, frequent headaches, dizzy or fainting spells, is nervous and easily startled, has gnawing feeling in stomach, sees imaginary floating specks, or spots before her eyes, has melancholia, or "blues," or a weakening disagreeable drain from pelvic organs, she can make no mistake by resorting to the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It will invigorate and tone up the whole system and especially the pelvic organs.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Perscription is a scientific medicine, carefully devised by an experienced and skillful physician, and adapted to woman's delicate system. It is made of native American medicinal roots and is perfectly harmless in its effects in any condition of the female system.

As a powerful invigorating tonic, "Favorite Prescription" imparts strength to the whole system and to the organs distinctly feminine in particular. For over-worked, "worn-out," run-down, debilitated teachers, milliners, dressmakers, seamstresses, "shop-girls," house-keepers, nursing mothers, and feeble women generally, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the greatest earthly boon, being unequaled as an appetizing cordial and restorative tonic.

As a soothing and strengthening nervine "Favorite Prescription" is unequaled and is invaluable in allaying and subduing nervous excitability, irritability, nervous exhaustion, nervous prostration, neuralgia, hysteria, spasms, St. Vitus's dance, and other distressing, nervous symptoms commonly attendant upon functional and organic disease of the uterus. It induces refreshing sleep and relieves mental anxiety and despondency.

No woman suffering from any of the above symptoms can afford to accept any secret nostrum or medicine of unknown composition, as a substitute for a medicine like Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, which is OF KNOWN COMPOSITION and has a record of over forty years of cures and sells more largely to-day than ever before. Its makers withhold no secrets from their patients, believing open publicity to be the very best guaranty of merit.

Dr. Pierce invites all suffering women to consult him by letter free of charge. All letters of consultation are held as strictly private and sacredly confidential and all answers are returned in plain, sealed envelopes. Address: Dr. R. V. Pierce, Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation. Constipation is the cause of many diseases. Cure the cause and you cure the disease. One "Pellet" is a gentle laxative, and two a mild cathartic. Druggists sell them, and nothing is "just as good." They are the original Little Liver Pills first put up by old Dr. Pierce over 40 years ago. Much imitated, but never equaled. They are tiny sugar-coated granules—easy to take as candy.

S.S.S. PURELY VEGETABLE

S. S. S. is recognized everywhere not only as the best of all blood purifiers and the greatest of all tonics, but the one medicine that can be taken with absolute safety by everyone. Young or old, those in robust health, or those whose systems are delicate and run-down, may use it with the same good results, and equally without fear of any unpleasant or injurious after effects. Next in importance to removing the cause of any disease is the condition in which the system is left after a course of medical treatment. Medicines containing mercury, potash or other strong mineral ingredients often do permanent injury by eating out the delicate lining and tissues of the stomach, producing chronic Dyspepsia, unfavorably affecting the bowels, and so deranging the system otherwise, that even if the original disease had been removed from the system it is left in such a weakened and deranged condition that the health is permanently impaired. S. S. S. enjoys the distinction of being the only blood medicine on the market that does not contain a mineral ingredient of some kind. It is made entirely of the healing, cleansing extracts and juices of roots, herbs and barks gathered directly from the forests and fields of nature, under our own supervision, and when they reach our laboratory contain all their original valuable tonic and blood purifying properties. We offer a reward of $1,000 for proof that S. S. S. contains a particle of mineral in any form. Being made entirely from these vegetable ingredients S. S. S. is absolutely harmless to the system, and while curing disease adds health and strength to every part of the body. S. S. S. cures Rheumatism, Catarrh, Scrofula, Sores and Ulcers, Skin Diseases, Contagious Blood Poison, and all other blood troubles by removing the cause and supplying the circulation with health-giving and strength-producing qualities.

ton, living in this city; Sebastian Hinton, a student at Princeton, and George and Eric Hinton, engaged in business in the West. He was the author of several books devoted to scientific research, the chief of which was the "Fourth Dimension."

Appleton, Wis., May 1.—Prof. Dexter Putnam Nicholson, for the last sixteen years professor of geology and geography at Lawrence university, died yesterday of pneumonia, complicated with heart trouble, at the age of 43 years. He was the oldest professor in point of service at Lawrence university, and his sudden demise was the occasion for the most profound grief at the college.

Marine City, Mich., May 1.—Capt. George H. Cottrell, one of the pioneer captains on the Great Lakes, died at his home here yesterday, aged 90 years, after an illness of one week. He began sailing the lakes in 1836, and was a captain on the formerly well-known Ward line many years. He was a brother-in-law of Capt. Eber Ward. His last sailing experience was in the government service as master of a lighthouse boat.

AMERICAN SAILORS HURT

Commander Tappan of the Tacoma, was forwarded to Governor Magoon by Commander Wood with the request that the authorities of Santiago be directed to assist Commander Tappen in every way in obtaining the facts.

The attack was made on the Tacoma's men while they were on their way to the wharf at 2 o'clock in the morning, to embark in a launch for transportation on the cruiser.

Washington, May 1.—While a full report of the affray at Santiago is not as yet at hand, it is learned at the navy department that Commander Tappan has cabled that ten of the personnel of the Tacoma were injured in the attack by the police of Santiago. These were Henry L. Lee, fireman, second class, fracture of skull and gunshot wound of lung, condition serious; Ensign A. T. Brisbin, Frank Leghorn and Harry Sturdevant, electricians; Elmer F. Anders, apprentice seaman; Charles B. Shackelton, machinist's mate, and Glen Cavender and Louis Cline, seamen, cuts and bruises but not serious; Leslie B. B. Dustin, seaman, compound fracture of left forearm, serious, and Claude J. Pember, electrician, third class, incised wound of left forearm, severe.

Commander Tappan's dispatch states that these men with the exception of the ensign, composed a liberty party of the Tacoma and were attacked by the police while returning to their ship at 1:30 o'clock yesterday morning. No cause is assigned for the atttack, but it is supposed that the men were perhaps singing, as sailors are apt to do when they have had a happy evening ashore. In almost all large ports, unless the men are absolutely disorderly or are destroying property or interfering with citizens the police let them go without molestation, beyond perhaps a friendly warning to refrain from disorder. So far as the naval officers here know this has been the custom at Santiago ever since the American ships have made that a station port.

The naval officers here can scarcely believe that the men were much to blame and are certain they would not be aggressors because Commander Tappan reports that they were "attacked" by the police and the character of the injuries sustained indicated that they were assaulted with clubs and swords or bayonets. No mention is made of any injury inflicted on the police, which is not surprising in view of the fact that the strictest watch is kept on the liberty men to make sure that they carry ashore no weapons. It is believed at the navy department that either Ensign Brisbin got into trouble through interfering in behalf of his men when they were assaulted or that the sailors became involved through attempting to succor their officer when he had fallen into the hands of the police.

Ordinance, Allowing This at Virginia, is Strongly Opposed.

Virginia, Minn., May 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—The pound ordinance, regulating the impounding of cattle and other animals, came up for its second reading before the council last evening. The ordinance as introduced provided that cattle might "run at large in the daytime." Because of this provision about fifty property owners and citizens assembled at the council chamber to enter protest against and some to support the idea of allowing cows the privilege of occupying the streets, sidewalks and lawns in the daytime.

Mayor Eaton and Aldermen Prijanovich and Mesberg are strongly in favor of the ordinance as introduced, while Aldermen Kimball, Byrne, Owens and Johnson are as strongly opposed.

Before the ordinance was read, on motion of Alderman Owens the sections providing that cows may run at large was strickent out. This led to a lengthy discussion participated in by the mayor, aldermen and several citizens, among the latter two cow owners, who said they would willingly pay to have their cows herded, if some provision could be made for responsible herders.

A suggestion was made by R. J. McGhee that the city employ competent men as herders during the grazing season, whose duty it would be to look after the cows. Mayor Eaton opposed this, saying the city has no authority to carry out such a plan. Although City Attorney Shea was somewhat of the opinion that such an arrangement might be legally effected.

Alderman Owens moved that the street commissioner be instructed to clean off the winter's accumulation of filth from the pavement on Chestnut street. The mayor opposed this on the ground that the sand between the paving blocks had not been packed in sufficiently, but the order was made.

On request of Alderman Kimball for an opinion from the city attorney as to whether or not the city could pay for certain lateral sewers out of the general fund and as to whether such action had been taken in the past, the attorney filed a written opinion that while previous councils had paid for lateral sewers out of the general fund the action was illegal.

JOHN BERG TO MEET JIM PARR

Heavyweight Wrestlers to Have a Go at Hibbing, Thursday.

Hibbing, Minn., May 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Hibbing Athletic club will give another entertainment at the Power theater Thursday evening, May 2. John Berg, champion light heavyweight of America and Jim Parr, champion of England, will wrestle two out of three falls, catch-as-catch-can style, for a purse of $1,000. Two boxing exhibitions by well known fighters will afford the preliminaries. John Berg has been in Hibbing for the past week preparing himself for the match and is doing some hard work. Berg says that he is up against a hard proposition, but feels confident that he will land him, although the betting seems to favor Parr. It is expected that a great many sports from the surrounding range towns will be here for the match.

Nicholas Farrell, chief clerk of the Pittsburg Iron Ore company, is entertaining Frank King of Superior.

Tom Knox returned yesterday from Washington and Idaho, where he has been running a steam shovel for Porter Bros.

John A. Redfern transacted business in Nashwauk yesterday.

F. C. Lister, district manager for the Mesaba Telephone company, has been in the city for the past week looking after the interests of the company.

Chief of Police Peter Wring has started his quarterly cleaning of the "vags," tinhorns and bums in the city. Nearly all of the mines have started shipping and there is no reason why anyone should be out of work. A small army of vags were brought up before Judge Brady this morning and given their choice of leaving the city at once or a visit with Sheriff Bates. Nearly all of them took the former. The "tinhorns," who have been waiting around for "things to open up," have been notified that there will be nothing doing and to skidoo at once.

Edward Congdon has returned to Hibbing from the vicinity of Joplin, Mo., where he has been for the past three months looking for drills for the Southern Iron & Lead company. Mr. Congdon will remain in Hibbing for the summer.

W. J. Power returned last evening from a short business trip to St. Louis, Chicago and points in Southern Wisconsin, where he is heavily interested in lead and zinc properties.

PEDRO PARTY

Mount Iron, Minn., May 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—The ladies of the Maccabees of Mount Iron gave a very successful progressive pedro party last Wednesday evening at the Brinnon hotel. A crowd of ladies, including Mrs. Mary L. Barton of Duluth, deputy supreme commander L. O. T. M., Miss Mary E. Dolan, Mrs. Daisy Loulan and Mrs. Warner, all of Ivy Leaf hive of Eveleth, also Mr. Warner of Eveleth surprised the ladies with their presence. The honors were won by Mrs. Mary L. Barton, first prize and Mrs. Arbuckle, second prize. The booby fell to Mrs. Gould. The gents' first prize was won by W. H. Forder and the second by Mr. McMahon. The booby was won by Emil Tramoy and the consolation fell to William Wagstrum. Phonographic selections were rendered by Mr. Arbuckle during the evening. A bountiful supper was served in the dining room to fifty guests, after which dancing formed the pleasure of the evening.

MINER KILLED.

Chisholm, Minn., May 1.—An unidentified miner was instantly killed yesterday at the Pillsbury mine near here. The victim of the accident was engaged in stripping operations with a number of other men, and was in the act of unloading a car of dirt when the car suddenly tipped, throwing the contents upon him. The mass of dirt was removed in a few minutes, but death apparently had been instantaneous.

RANGES IN BRIEF

Hibbing—Frank Millmar, guardian of Mary Prodnich, a little girl living in this city, has brought suit for $90 against Nick Magobrizk because a dog belonging to the latter bit the girl last February. The case will come to trial late this week in the municipal court.

Chisholm—The committee at work on securing funds for a baseball grounds are greatly encouraged and there is now no doubt but what a fine club will be organized.

furnished the $2,000,000 worth of metallic furniture for the capitol and it is not known whether he will be called. Williams is a former member of the state house of representatives and, as secretary of the Pennsylvania state board of trade and the "homeless 26," he was in charge of the campaign for the 2-cent fare bill which passed the present legislature and was signed by Governor Stuart.

The commission declines, in advance of its meeting, to disclose the names of witnesses. It is known, however, that John F. Short, editor of the Clearfield Republican, a Democratic newspaper, will be called today and will be asked about the stories that the home of Former Treasurer Frank G. Harris, now on his way to Europe, was furnished by Sanderson and that his law office was fitted up with metallic furniture. Harris was a member of the board of public grounds and buildings which gave the Pennsylvania Construction company the metal furniture contract. He was also a member of the board which drafted the schedule upon which Sanderson was given the furnishing contract.

Experts employed by the commission have found that chandeliers, standards and side brackets furnished the state by Sanderson's Pennsylvania Bronze company are under weight. Chandeliers paid for at the rate of $4.85 a pound and supposed to weigh 400 and 500 pounds, were found to be from fifty to a hundred pounds short of the scheduled weight. This held good with all the different sorts of fixtures. It was discovered that, despite the fact that cast iron rods had been substituted in the interior of the fixtures in place of solid bronze, as called for by the specifications, the cast iron did not begin to make up the standard weight for which the Pennsylvania Bronze company got from the state more than $2,500,000.

MAY DAY TROUBLES FEW

wages. The strike has tied up the ice business thoroughly. The ice contractors declare that the men struck because they objected to a clause in the contract providing that all drivers and helpers who get drunk or are dishonest while on duty shall be discharged from the union.

New York, May 1.—Only about 1,000 men in small lines of work struck today. Generally there was no May day break. At Cleveland, Ohio, 200 men in small shops quit work. At Pittsburg, Philadelphia and other labor centers there were no strikes, and no trouble.

Denver, May 1.—Union mill men and wood workers employed in the planing mills and lumber yards of this city went on strike today to enforce their demands for a closed shop. One thousand men are involved. Non-union men kept the shops open.

Paris, May 1.—Although the entire garrison of Paris was under arms and 600 mounted Republican guards and vast police reserves were on duty to prevent the gigantic May day manifestation planned by the Socialists, the city presented almost its normal aspect this morning. Troops were massed at the Prince Eugene barracks, the Bank of France, the Opera, the Grand Palais, the Bourse, the Rue Drot and other strategic points but they were discretly kept out of sight to avoid unduly exciting the people. The authorities, while not interfering with workmen's meetings, are resolved to break up the first attempt at street demonstrations which might lead to serious disorders.

It was apparent early in the morning that the mass of the people had not much sympathy with the agitators. The appeals of M. Jaures and other Socialist leaders for a complete suspension of work, not only in Paris, but throughout France, were generally unheeded. All the stores and restaurants were open and the omnibuses and horsecar lines and electric ice roads were running as usual. Nevertheless an immense number of idle workmen were in the streets wearing the red emblems in their buttonholes. Before 9 o'clock they began concentrating at the Labor exchange, near the Place de la Republique, where the most important meetings were scheduled to take place. The police, however, kept the crowds moving, arresting scores of loiterers. By noon 200 arrests had been made, among those being taken into custody being a soldier in citizens clothes, who was selling anarchistic papers. Upon many of the persons arrested the police found knives, brass knuckles and revolvers.

Rome, May 1.—Fearing that the meeting over which Maxim Gorky was scheduled to preside tonight near the Coliseum would be productive of trouble, the government refused to allow it to be held. The promoters, however, say the meeting will take place anyhow, but Gorky, owing to ill health, will not be present. In some quarters, it is believed the police have Gorky under surveillance and that this is really the reason he has declined to speak.

London, May 1.—Reports from various European cities, except Paris and Warsaw, are that May day is passing without labor demonstrations or strikes, and that it is quieter than for years. In Warsaw work was generally suspended, but no trouble has been reported, Cossacks being on patrol in strong force.

WILL MEET JONES.

West End Man Accepts Challenge of Ex-Fireman.

The challenge issued by Charlie Jones to the middleweight wrestlers of Duluth last evening, seems to have stirred up something. W. H. Beaulieu was the first to bid for a match with Jones, and now Dick Johnson, at whom the challenge was aimed, comes around and wants to take it up.

Johnson will meet Jones on the mat, irrespective of time, place or circumstances. He weighs in at about 150, so they would be pretty well matched in the matter of weight. Johnson admits Jones is a husky proposition, but he thinks he can down him and is willing to put up a side bet to prove that his thoughts are firmly grounded. He will wrestle as soon as Jones is willing at any place the latter may name. It's all up to Jones now. He has his pick of Beaulieu and Johnson and they both await the word for him, which will bind the match.

EXCELLENT HOME TREATMENT FOR CONSUMPTION AND THROAT TROUBLES

The camps for tuberculosis patients in the pine forests of Maine, established by the Philadelphia specialist have demonstrated a new and wonderfully successful phase in the treatment of pulmonary diseases. The method pursued has gained almost universal recognition among the medical profession.

In an interview recently by a New York newspaper representative some information that will prove of immense value to the public in general was given out.

The remarkable stimulating effect on the respiratory organs by the resinous atmosphere of the pine forest has been a matter of great interest to the medical world and that doctors in general would have long since availed themselves of the great curative merits of the pine sap had they been able to obtain its active principle freed from the many deleterious matters with which it is associated by nature. This has been one of the achievements of the work in the forest camps and he has produced what is known to the medical fraternity as Concentrated oil of pine. If this preparation is used in connection with plenty of outdoor exercise and the habit of taking deep, long breaths every few minutes, patients will have all the advantages of the pine forest camps right at their own homes and the most effective remedy obtainable for any case of lung trouble that is not too far advanced and a cure for any cough that is curable. The formula as originally prescribed is the following: "One-half ounce Concentrated oil of pine; two ounces of glycerine; eight ounces of good whiskey. It should be shaken thoroughly and taken tablespoon doses every four hours."

The ingredients can be procured from any well stocked prescription druggist. Care should be taken to secure only the "Concentrated" oil of pine which comes put up for medicinal use in half ounce vials and inclosed in small round air tight cases which protect it from heat and light. The ordinary bulk oil of pine is useless owing to the foreign matter that it contains; likewise the patent medicine imitations labeled "Oil of Pine." They only produce nausea and fail in specific results.

RAILROADS

NEW RATES EFFECTIVE

Day of Trouble for the City Ticket Agent.

Two-Cent Rate Does Not Apply to Interstate Trips.

This is a day of trouble for the local railroad ticket agents. At midnight the new 2-cent passenger rate went into effect, and reduced fares to all points within the state of Minnesota went into effect. The old 3-cent rate is no more. In addition to all the work of acquainting themselves with the new tariff sheets, the ticket agents are compelled by force of circumstances to impart this knowledge to the general public, mainly through the medium of the telephone.

The railroad telephones have been ringing all day, and in nine cases out of ten the person at the other end of the line had some inquiry to make concerning rates. The agents themselves haven't yet gotten the new figures at their command so they can rattle them off without referring to the tariff sheets, and a lot of trouble results all around. Several of the inquiries concern the rate between Duluth and Superior and the Twin Cities. Anxious persons desire to know whether it will be just as cheap to go from Superior to the Twin Cities as from Duluth. Although Superior is in Wisconsin and Duluth in Minnesota, the new fare from both points to St. Paul and Minneapolis is $3.04, a reduction of $1.26. The reason for this is that most of the trains pass through Wisconsin to reach Duluth, and the cheap rate to Superior, an intermediate point, prevails under the interstate law.

Some of the towns just across the western border of Minnesota are not so fortunate in this respect. Until the railroads readjust their interstate rates, the application of the new 2-cent fare law will create some remarkable traffic conditions. A forcible example may be cited of the different rates existing at points only distant from each other by being on opposite sides of the Red River of the North.

Three Minnesota cities are on the east bank of the Red river, Breckenridge, Moorhead and East Grand Forks. Across the river are Wahpeton, Fargo and Grand Forks, N. D., with railway stations a mile or less from those in Minnesota cities. A passenger from a Minnesota point who buys a ticket to Wahpeton will pay $1.44 more than the passenger who sits in the same seat with him, who bought a ticket only to Breckenridge, a station in sight of Wahpeton across Red river. A ticket to Fargo costs $2.38 more than a ticket to Moorhead, less than a mile east of Fargo. In the case of East Grand Forks passengers will save $3.06 by walking across the bridge to Grand Forks.

The difficulties into which the railroads have been plunged and the idiosyncrasies which have developed, result from the lack of time of the railroads to line up the interstate rates on the basis of the interstate rates. The North Dakota 2½ cent rate is not effective until July 1, and the Iowa 2-cent rate is not effective until July 4. The Illinois rate may be reduced by the commission to 2 cents any time. In the face of these legal inequalities and the fact that the Minnesota law was put into effect so soon after passage, the through rates will remain where they are for a time.

Railroad Dinner.

R. D. Rovig and L. K. McConnell of the Milwaukee road, and Fred Lyons of the Rock Island, were the out-of-town railroad men present at a railroad dinner served in one of the Superior street cafes last evening. Among the local followers of the rail who were present were Fred Hills, northern passenger agent for Great Northern; Fred Hall, passenger agent of the same road; Fred Ober, city ticket and passenger agent of the Northern Pacific; A. E. Hathaway, city passenger and ticket agent of the Great Northern; W. S. Chadwick, ticket agent at the Union depot and the city passenger and ticket agent of the Northern Pacific in Superior.

G. H. Daniels Retires.

New York, May 1.—New York Central officials announce that George Henry Daniels, general passenger agent, who has been with the company for twenty years retires today from active service. It is understood that he will occupy a consulting position.

Mr. Daniels was born in Hampshire, Ill., in 1842 and began his railroad career when fifteen years old, as rodman in the engineering corps of the Northern Missouri railroad. In 1885 he entered the service of the New York Central.

STREET NAMES IN MEXICO.

New Orleans Times-Democrat: The street nomenclature in the city of Mexico is even more puzzling than ours, in New Orleans. Each block has a different name. Following the same street you successively go through the streets of St. Augustine, of the Angel, of the Holy Ghost, of St. Joseph, etc. From the streets of the Rats you pass to the street of the Crosses; from the street of the Gate of Heaven to that of Love of God. Every shop also has a special name, as was the custom formerly in Europe. I regret that I did not jot down many curious ones. I only remember a "pulque" drinking shop called Los Perros, (the Dogs), thus plainly telling the frequenters what they are going to. Another "pulquería," directly opposite a church, calls itself boldly El Castillo del Diablo (the Castle of the Devil). Another is San Lunes (Saint Monday). The Mexican workman always celebrates Mondas as the day of rest and dissipation. He will work on Sunday, but not on Monday.

STOCKS IN AN ADVANCE

Listed Shares Are Firm and Close Above Tuesday.

Some of the Unlisted Shares Were Weak, However.

Listed copper stocks had a good advance in the market today and while prices fell off somewhat, the close was higher than yesterday's. Some of the favorite unlisted shares, notably Greene-Cananea and Globe Consolidated, were weak.

North Butte went as high as $83.-62½ during the day. It opened at $86.50 bid and $87.25 asked, sold at $87.12½ and closed at $87.25 bid and $87.75 asked. Amalgamated opened at $94.62½, advanced to $96.50 and closed at $95.12½ bid.

Anaconda opened at $62.50, advanced to $64 and closed at $63.12½ bid. Butte Coalition opened at $26.75 bid and $27 asked, advanced to $27.75 and closed at $27.37½ bid and $27.75 asked. Calumet & Arizona opened at $175, declined to $174, rallied to $175.25 and closed at $174 bid and $175 asked.

Greene-Cananea sold at $16.75, went off to $16.25 and closed at $16.25 bid and $16.37½ asked.

Superior & Pittsburg sold at $18.87½, went off to $18.75 and closed at $18.75 bid and $19 asked.

Globe Consolidated sold at $13, went off to $12.75 and closed at $12.50 bid and $12.75 asked. Denn-Arizona sold at $10.12½, advanced to $10.50 and closed at $10.25 bid and $10.50 asked.

Butte & Superior formally went on the local curb today. Trades in the stock have been made for several weeks, but no money changed hands, as the certificates were not out. Now these bits of paper have been circulated among the stockholders. Their issuance seemed to have a good effect on the stock for it advanced from $2.25 to $2.50 and closed at $2.25 bid and $2.75 asked.

Keweenaw sold at $10.12½, advanced to $10.25 and closed at $10 bid and $10.25 asked; Warren at $8.50 and $8.75 and closed at $8.50 bid and $8.75 asked. Warren has been growing stronger in tone all week. Copper Queen of Idaho sold at $1.50 and closed at $1.37½ bid and $1.50 asked.

Hancock was inactive and closed at $8.75 bid and $9 asked, Carman at $3 bid and $3.75 asked, Calumet & Sonora at $21 asked, Calumet & Montana at 90 cents bid and $1 asked, and Cliff $4 bid and $4.25 asked. Black Mountain sold at $6 and closed at $5.87½ bid and $6 asked.

A message from Bisbee, Ariz., to Paine, Webber & Co., says: "They are encountering shale formation on the 1,100 foot level of the Denn-Arizona as was found on the 1,000 foot level. It is believed the next few days will show up a good strike. The labor troubles practically over, the only thing now is to find men to take places of the strikers who have left the camp."

Girl Arrested.

Charged with the theft of certain personal effects from the guests of the Esmond hotel, Tillie Lindberg, a dishwasher employed in the hotel, was this afternoon placed under arrest. The girl denied her guilt, and entered a plea of not guilty to the charge, giving $25 bail for her appearance next Friday afternoon.

Mrs. Schadewald Dies.

Mrs. Anna E. Schadewald, wife of Frank J. Schadewald of 2412½ East Fourth street, died at St. Mary's hospital yesterday afternoon of pneumonia. Mrs. Schadewald was taken to the hospital only about two hours before her death. She was 36 years of age. Funeral arrangements have not yet been made, pending the arrival of relatives. The remains may be shipped to Wabasha, Wis., or may be buried here. Mr. Schadewald was foreman of the Endion division for the Duluth & Iron Range road.

G. F. PERKINS LOSES SUIT

In the United States circuit court of appeals at St. Paul, Monday, an order was handed down favoring the defendant in the case of George F. Perkins, former partner of J. Pierpont Morgan, and late vice president of the New York Life Insurance company, against Clara J. Gibbs, sister of Alonzo J. Whiteman. Judge Adams wrote the decision.

The case involved title to several thousand acres of land in St. Louis county, a portion of the estate of Reuben E. Whiteman, father of Alonzo J. Whiteman and Mrs. Gibbs. The elder Whiteman died in Dansville, N. Y., in 1888, leaving a will, deeding the lands to his children. In 1893, Whiteman deeded the lands to his sister for a consideration of $1.00. The plaintiff claimed that Whiteman was at that time financially embarrassed and the sale was made to prevent the seizure of the lands to pay his debts. The firm of Perkins, Goodwin & Co. were creditors of Whiteman to the extent of about $20,000. A judgment had been entered against Whiteman previous to the sale and an execution was ordered and the land sold to Perkins at a sheriff's sale in 1901, without Perkins knowing that the land had been transferred, the original complaint alleged. Suit on the claim that the sale to Mrs. Gibbs was void was brought in 1902, first in the district court. It was transferred to the United States circuit court and heard Feb. 27, 1906, before Judge Morris. The decision was filed in March, 1906, and disallowed all claims of Perkins. An appeal was then taken to the United States circuit court of appeals, the decision this week sustaining Judge Morris' findings.

Perkins will now appeal to the United States supreme court.

BIG BALLOON WELL ON WAY

St. Louis, Mo., May 1.—A dispatch from Cape Girardeau, Mo., reports that a large balloon, containing two men, was seen there, passing through the air in an easterly direction at 9 o'clock this morning. Cape Girardeau is 131 miles southeast of St. Louis. This was the balloon America, bearing Aeronaut J. C. McCoy and Capt. Charles D. Chandler, United States signal corps, which ascended from here last evening. Carrier pigeons were taken along.

The ascension was made last night with a sharp raw north wind blowing and the sky heavily clouded. The ascent was witnessed by a vast crowd, several members of the St. Louis Aero club being present.

The America is the second largest balloon in the United States, the largest, recently completed by Leo Stevens for the government, having 2,000 feet greater displacement. The America has a displacement of 78,000 cubic feet and a lifting power of 3,500 pounds.

FIRE PANIC; WOMEN HURT

Chicago, May 1.—About twenty women were injured in a fire in the building at 255 Wabash avenue, the first floor of which was occupied by the Storey & Clark Piano company, and the three upper floors by the Lotus Lunch club, patronized exclusively by women.

When the flames were discovered fully 200 women were in the lunch rooms and a panic ensued. A number of women leaped from the windows of the second and third stories to the street below. By far the greater number, however, rushed to the fire escape. This was filled in a few seconds with a struggling mass of women. A number lost their holds and fell to the street and others were pushed off.

The flames which started in the basement and roared up an elevator shaft, cut off egress for a number of women in the front part of the building and about two-thirds of these, despite the warnings of the spectators, leaped to the ground. The others, who remained, were taken out by the firemen without being injured.

It is not believed that any of the women will die from their injuries, although this cannot definitely be established for some time. Miss Rose Willey and Miss Kate O'Rourke were internally injured. Policeman Daniel Kerr put up a short ladder and was carrying Miss O'Rourke down when several other women jumped from the window squarely on the two. All of them fell to the ground, Miss O'Rourke under them all.

Mrs. Cecilia Malaney, one of the proprietors of the lunch room, who was rescued by a fireman from one of the rear windows, expressed her belief that Miss Mary Studemeyer, 25 years of age, and several patrons of the place, had lost their lives either by suffocation by smoke, or in the flames. The firemen could find no bodies in the building, and Miss Studemeyer was later found in the crowd outside the building, cut and bruised.

Following is a partial list of the injured: Marry Kennedy, jumped from second story window, jaw fractured, right arm and left leg broken; Hilda Johnson, sprained ankle and badly bruised; C. W. O'Hair, head and face burned and head cut; Annie Young, left leg broken; Mary Studemeyer, cut about head and badly bruised; Agnes Walsh, face cut and ankle broken; Miss Celina Malaney, face burned and badly bruised; Rose Willey, internal injuries; Kate O'Rourke, internal injuries; Policeman Daniel Kerr, knocked from ladder, bruised and head cut.

The losses aggregate $40,000.

THE WHEAT ADVANCES TWO CENTS IN AMERICA

Market Has a Very Strong Tone Throughout the Session.

Duluth Board of Trade, May 1.—Unfavorable weather for crops all over the United States caused a good demand in the American markets today and the price rose steadily, closing at about 2 cents over yesterday in most of the markets. Minneapolis was the strongest. For Kansas, which needs rain, as do some of the other winter wheat states, there are predictions of more dry weather. The late season in the spring wheat belt also had a bullish effect. The foreign markets reflected the advance here. Liverpool closed ½d higher, Berlin ¼c higher, Budapest 1½c lower and Antwerp unchanged.

The May option closed 1⅞c higher in Duluth, 1¾c in Chicago, 2⅜c in Minneapolis, 2¼c in New York, 1¾-1¾c in St. Louis, 2c in Kansas City and 1¾c in Winnipeg. The July option closed 2⅜c higher in Duluth, 2¼c higher in Chicago, 2¼c in Minneapolis, 2c in New York, 1¾c in St. Louis, 1¾c in Kansas City and 1¾c in Winnipeg.

May corn advanced 1c in Chicago and closed unchanged to ¾d lower in Liverpool. May oats closed 1⅜c higher in Chicago.

Car receipts at Duluth were 217 against 45 last year, and at Minneapolis 289 against 158 last year, making a total for the Northwest of 506 against 212 last year. Chicago received 29 against 1 last year.

Primary receipts of wheat were 992,000 bus, last year 246,000 bus. Shipments 794,000 bus, last year 194,000 bus. Clearances of wheat and flour aggregated 196,200 bus.

Primary receipts of corn were 390,000 bus, last year 354,000 bus. Shipments 374,000 bus, last year 375,000 bus. Clearances of corn were 308,000 bus.

Wheat was active throughout the session in Duluth. May wheat opened ½c higher at 84¾c advanced to 85¾d and declined at that price, a gain of 1¾c over yesterday. July wheat opened ⅝c higher at 85⅝c, advanced to 87¼c and closed at that price, a gain of 2¼c over yesterday. September wheat opened ½c higher at 85¾c, advanced to 86¾c, went off to 86o and rallied by the close to 87¾c, a gain of 2⅛c over yesterday.

Durum wheat closed ½c higher and cash spring wheat was selling on a basis of ½c over May for No. 1 northern.

Flax was rather quiet and closed unchanged. May flax opened unchanged at $1.18⅝, advanced to $1.19¼, declined to $1.18, rallied to $1.18½ and closed at that price, unchanged from yesterday. July flax opened unchanged at $1.20⅛, went up to $1.21⅛, off to $1.20¾ and closed at $1.21, a gain of ½c over yesterday. October flax opened ⅝c higher at $1.21⅛, went up to $1.22½ and closed at $1.22, a gain of 1c over yesterday.

Oats on track and April oats closed ½c higher and the other coarse grains were unchanged.

Following were the closing prices:

THE CHICAGO MARKET.

Wheat Advances on Firm Cables and Freezing Weather Over West.

Chicago, May 1.—Firm cables and freezing weather in the West and Southwest brought out an active demand for wheat in the local market today and caused a substantial advance in prices. Deliveries on May contracts were larger than expected but were taken in by influential houses and for that reason failed to have any depressing effect on the market. The total deliveries were estimated at about 4,000,000 bushels. July opened ¼c to ⅝c higher at 81⅞@82c and advanced to 83¾c. Minneapolis, Duluth and Chicago reported receipts of 585 cars against 595 cars last week and 213 cars a year ago.

The market continued to gain in strength on reports of damage by the green bug and by snow and cold weather. It was announced that the winter wheat crop will be about 10,000,000 bus less than that of last year. The high point for July was 83⅝c. The close was strong, with July up 2@2½c at 83¾c.

Commission houses and shorts were lively bidders for corn and, with only light offerings, the market was strong. Small receipts and the advance in wheat were the principal strengthening influences. Deliveries on May contracts were 10,000 bushels, July opened unchanged to ⅛@¼c higher at 49⅞@½c to 49⅝c and advanced to 49¾c. Local receipts were 104 cars with 30 of contract grade.

The influence of wheat held prices firm, and July sold up to 50¼@50⅝c. The close was strong with July 34@34⅜c higher at 50¼c.

Oats were strong on active demand by shorts and commission houses. Freezing weather in the Southwest was the main reason for the activity of buyers. Deliveries on May contracts were 750,000 bushels, the bulk of which was taken by a leading bull. July opened ¼@¼c to ⅜@⅝c higher at 42¼c to 42¾c and advanced to 42¾@43c. Local receipts were 126 cars.

There was little demand for provisions and the market was inclined to weakness. July pork was off 5c at $15.75. Lard was unchanged at $8.72½. Ribs were 5c higher at $8.72½.

Close: Wheat—May, 89½@89¾c; July, 83¾c. Corn—May, 50½c; July, 50¼c. Oats—May, 46⅝@47c; July, 43½c. Pork—May, $15.62½; July, $15.90. Lard—May, $8.62½; July, $8.75. Ribs—May, $8.62½; July, $8.72½. Grain Gossip.

Logan & Bryan, Chicago, to Paine, Webber & Co.: Traders had something else to think about today besides the scattered showers of previous days which caused the selling out of millions of bushels of long wheat in this market. Southwest news is even more bullish now than before the drought was broken, as the rains were followed by a hard freeze which has no doubt injured the wheat where it was jointed, but dispatches today indicate that sunshine is going to wilt the plant in many places. The feature today was replacing of lines of long wheat by the holders of last week. Many things were in favor of buyers from first to last. Market closed very strong, with the buying force at the close such that millions of bushels were taken around top prices. Adverse crop conditions Southwest and Northwest, may easily add force to this already big bull market.

Corn—Prices were helped by the strength in wheat. Local receipts were very small. There was an absence of selling pressure. Some of yesterday's sellers turned buyers. Much of the strength in this market must be credited to advancing prices in wheat and oats.

Oats—Delivery of May oats on contracts before opening were about 1,000,000 bushels, practically all the contract oats in Chicago houses. The grain went into the hands of the leading bull operator. The shorts became panicky early in the session. There is little doubt that the severe weather of the past two days injured oats sufficiently to cause blight when harvest is reached. So long as crop conditions are unfavorable, there is nothing to check the advance in this market.

Chicago Record Herald says: "E. W. Wright of Portland, Or., who has just returned from Europe, reports that on this and on a former trip last November he found the English and Irish millers working with scarcely any stocks of wheat on hand and generally wondering at the weakness of the American grain markets. Mr. Wright's mission in Europe was in the interest of the Harriman lines to secure uniform ocean grain freights from the three principal Pacific ports. He was in conference with the International Union of Owners of Sailing Vessels, which holds its next meeting at Paris in June, to fix minimum grain freights for this year."

Broomhall, Liverpool, on wheat: "Steady at opening with values unchanged. There was some disposition to support owing to reports of failures of prominent houses in Berlin, which caused extreme nervousness among holders. Later prices eased slightly on a lack of support and a small inquiry for cargoes, but again at midday, a steadier undertone developed."

REMARKS.

Freezing temperatures were the rule last night except in the Ohio valley and Missouri. Light rains occurred in the Ohio valley.

H. W. RICHARDSON,
Local Forecaster.

T indicates inappreciable rainfall. * For yesterday.  For twenty-four ending at 8 a. m., 75th meridian time.

NOTE—The average maximum and minimum temperatures and the average rainfall are made up at each center from the actual number of reports received. The state of weather is that prevailing at time of observation.

The Cotton Market.

New York, May 1.—The cotton market opened steady at an advance of two to three points with lower cables than expected. Small English spot sales and prospects for better weather. There was a good supply of overnight buying orders around the ring, making business very active and the sensational strength developed by the July option in the New Orleans market soon started shorts to cover. The whole list was worked up on the strength of the summer months and, by the middle of the morning, prices were 11 to 17 points net higher on aggressive bull support and the scare of shorts, which was increased by reports of a better demand for spot supplies out of the local stock.

Futures closed steady; closing bids: May, 10.15; June, 10.15; July, 10.21; August 10.27; September, 10.05; October, 10.27; November, 10.28; December, 10.32; January, 10.48; February, 10.54; March, 10.61. Cotton spot closed steady 10 points higher; middling uplands, 11.55; middling gulf, 11.80. Sales 63,150 bales.

Chicago Live Stock.

Chicago, May 1.—Cattle—Receipts about 19,000; market a shade higher. Beeves, $4.20@6.50; cows, $1.80@4.80; heifers, $2.60@5.30; calves, $5.50@6.75; good to prime steers, $5.35@6.50; poor to medium, $4.25@5.30; stockers and feeders, $2.90@5.15. Hogs—Receipts today, 27,000; market steady. Light, $6.40@6.62½; mixed, $6.35@6.50; heavy, $6.20@6.55; rough, $6.20@6.35; pigs, $6@6.50; good to choice heavy, $6.45@6.55; bulk of sales, $6.47½@6.65. Sheep—Receipts about 18,000; market weak and a shade lower. Natives, $4.40@6.80; yearlings, $6.80@7.65; lambs, $6.50@8.65; westerns, $6.50@8.65.

New York Money.

New York, May 1.—Money on call firm, 2@4 per cent; ruling rate, 2¾; closing bid, 2½; offered at 3. Time loans very dull and easy; sixty days, 3½ nominal; ninety days, 3½@4; six months, 4½@4¾ per cent; prime mercantile paper, 5½@6 per cent. Sterling exchange firmer, with actual business in bankers' bills at $4.86.25@4.86.30 for demand and at $4.83.20@4.83.35 for 60-day bills; posted rates, $4.84 and $4.87; commercial bills, $4.83. Bar silver, 65¾c; Mexican dollars, 50¾c. Government bonds steady; railroad bonds irregular.

St. Paul Live Stock.

St. Paul, May 1.—Cattle: Receipts, 700; steady and unchanged. Hogs: Receipts, 3,400; 5c lower; range, $6.20@6.32½c; bulk, $6.27½. Sheep: Receipts, 500; sheep, steady; lambs, lower. Quotations unchanged.

CAPITOL GROUNDS BOARD NAMED

St. Paul, May 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—R. T. O'Conner, J. W. Lusk and Frank O'Meara, all of St. Paul, have been appointed as members of the new capitol grounds commission, a board authorized by the late legislature. Governor Johnson is a member ex-officio.

This commission under the law creating it, will proceed with the acquirement, either by purchase or condemnation, of ground sufficient to give the big white marble building a proper setting and will also work in conjunction with the city officials who have been authorized to issue $1,000,000 bonds for a suitable capitol approach.

The new commission has $150,000 with which to work, $75,000 being available each year for the next two years.

DECLINES IN STOCKS

In Face of Crop Damage Reports, But Only Moderate.

Selling of Atchison Was Another Cause of the Weakness.

New York, May 1.—Prices of stocks sagged small fractions on very small opening dealings. The holiday in the London market contributed to the dullness. Union Pacific receded ⅝ and the first sale of United States Steel was of 3,500 shares at a decline of ¼. Steel preferred and Pennsylvania made small fractional gains.

Orders for stocks came in at the decline, and the market rallied to above yesterday's closing, except for United States Steel and the Harriman stocks which were sluggish. Selling of Union Pacific afterwards depressed it 1⅜. Sympathetic weakness developed in other stocks, notably Reading which sagged from 113¼ to 112 and St. Paul from 133¼ to 137¼. The rest of the list came back to the opening figures or below, and did not respond when Smelting was marked up 1½.

The level of prices rose slightly, but the movement was listless. Third Avenue rose 5¼, Consolidated Gas 3⅛ and Union Bag preferred 2. Wheeling & Lake Erie second preferred declined 2¾, St. Louis, Southwestern 2, and Republic Steel preferred 1⅜. Bonds were firm.

More progress upwards was made after 12 o'clock, the morning losses being about made up. Smelting and Amalgamated Copper were conspicuously firm later, rising 1⅜ to 96⅜. Mackay company rose 2⅜.

Anaconda followed the advance in Amalgamated Copper and American Smelting, but after it had been lifted 1⅝ the entire market weakened, with the western railroad stocks and Reading falling to the lowest of the day. Atchison was depressed a point below yesterday's closing by the announcement of the new convertible bond issue.

The market closed heavy and dull. The strong upturn in the wheat market and the selling of Atchison securities on account of the new convertible bond issue decided the downward course of the market. Atchison convertible bonds declined 2⅜, Union Pacific 2⅜, Delaware & Hudson 2, Atchison, St. Paul, Northern Pacific, Great Northern preferred, St. Louis & San Francisco second preferred and Reading 1½. There were only slight recoveries.

Stock Gossip.

New York—Walker Brothers to Paine, Webber & Co.: The strength in coppers was the feature. The trading was mostly professional and there was little commission house business. The crop rumors were the chief factors. We look for a traders' market for the rest of the week.

* * *

Logan & Bryan, New York, to Paine, Webber & Co.: A small shakeout in Union Pacific and other stocks which have advanced sharply during the past few days, coupled with damage reports from wheat sections of the country, threw the list into a temporary rut, in which condition it remained until well nigh the close. Prices sagged, but there was not enough steam behind the selling to cause anything more than a moderate decline.

It is strange indeed that stocks held up as well as they did in the face of continued crop damage reports. It begins to look as if the high prices stocks had been squeezed about as much as they will stand for. Crop damage reports will probably cause declines such as we had today, however, we favor the long side on any pronounced set-backs.

Copper Gossip.

Boston to Gay & Sturgis: When copper came up over 3 pounds in London this morning everyone stood around with their mouths open, wondering what was going to happen. No one wanted to start the ball rolling, and the first sales of Amalgamated and Anaconda were lower than last night's close. It looked for a moment as though it would fall flat. Shortly after the opening, however, buying orders appeared, and soon the local market broadened out. A better demand has not been seen in a long while. It seems to us that when people get educated up to the fact that we are not going to have a 16-cent copper market right away; that the big producing mines are today selling below their intrinsic worth, today's demonstration in Oscoola, Tamarack and Quincy will show what a little demand will do in them. The New York market sold off in final dealings on renewed crop scares, and our market shaded in sympathy.

Boston to Gay & Sturgis: The issue of 12,000 new shares of stock by the Old Dominion Company, of Maine following the action of the Old Dominion Company of New Jersey in issuing 12,000 net shares, is not for the purpose of paying off floating debt for the floating debt of the Old Dominion Company of New Jersey has all been liquidated. That company, however, has been turning all its earnings back into improvements for several years, and as the company is facing still further construction expenditures in rounding out its plant and enlarging it, it was considered an injustice to stockholders to further withhold profits now arising from a high metal market. While the Old Dominion company has paid off its debt, it has no working capital and this new capital issue will not only pay a portion of new construction costs, but will create a working capital.

The issue of this stock also opens the way for the payment of dividends and it is believed that either in June or July the Old Dominion company will enter the dividend rank.

The 12,000 shares of the new stock will be offered to stockholders of the Maine company at $50 per share, upon the basis of one new share for each twenty-four shares now held, and the issue has been underwritten without commission.

* * *

Boston to Paine, Webber & Co.: The sharp rise in London copper caused a much better feeling in the coppers today. The high priced stocks were in special favor and Tamarack, Calumet & Arizona, Quincy and North Butte showed good advances.

MELLEN CALLS ON PRESIDENT

Says That His Remarks on Land Were Distorted.

Washington, May 1.—President Charles S. Mellen of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad, and T. E. Byrnes, the first vice president of the road, talked with President Roosevelt for some time today. Not a word was obtainable from them as to why they called or what they talked about and they said there would be nothing to make public about the visit.

"You did come to Washington to see the president, did you not? Mr. Mellen was asked.

"Yes mainly. You might say, however, that I made a social call, if you want to do so. I really would not like to make any statement about the call. In fact, I would not like to be quoted about anything except religion."

Mr. Mellen was asked whether there has been a discussion of the railroad valuation question, but continued to maintain his reticence. He said he had no objection to anything the president might make public about the interview.

Pressed for information as to his opinion on the valuation of railroads, Mr. Mellen declared that he was not in favor of anything in particular. He added that he had charge of a little piece of railroad property and would like to run it in peace and quiet.

The man who never tries to trade something he needs slightly for something he needs badly overlooks a "Herald want ad. opportunity."

COOKS WILL NOT STRIKE

Restaurant Keepers Give In and Sign New Scale.

For a while this morning it looked as though Duluth was to have the same experience that the city of Paris went through a couple of weeks ago, when the cooks and waiters there went out on strike, but just before noon an agreement was reached between the Duluth Union of Cooks and Waiters and the Association of Restaurant Keepers, and lunches and dinners were served as usual at the various cafes and lunch counters this noon.

The new scale, which had been drawn up by the union, was this morning presented to the Association of Restaurant Keepers, and went into effect at 11 o'clock. The scale was unchanged, with one exception. Head cooks, second cooks and night cooks all received a stright raise of $3 a week, making the minimum wage for these three positions $22, $18 and $15.

It is said that the proprietors had no objection to this, but before they signed the scale, they wished to present a set of rules for the union to sign. The union refused to accept the rules, and declared they would strike unless the new scale was signed by the proprietors.

Early this mornign both sides were very determined, and several of the restaurant keepers declared they would not yield an inch, but just before noon they thought better of it and decided to sign the new scale.

PROF. ULRICH MAKES REPLY

Says That His Remarks on Land Were Distorted.

In reply to the editorial which appeared in the News Tribune yesterday morning, Prof. Carl J. Ulrich of the high school has a few things to say. Although he says he does not wish to become involved in a newspaper argument, he thinks that the erroneous impression conveyed by the article mentioned should be corrected.

In the first place, he claims his remarks on the St. Louis county farm lands were not so sweeping as intimated and those which he made were qualified in such a way as to give different meaning from that conveyed by the editorial.

His argument is that if the cost of clearing a piece of land is greater than the value of the land for agricultural purposes after it has been cleared, then that land is not fit for agriculture, and the man who advocates such a thing is advocating an absurdity.

Mr. Ulrich does not deny that there is much land in St. Louis county that is good for agriculture and he advocates the establishment of farms on all such land, as he believes that agriculture pays better than forestry under such conditions.

However, he also asserts that a great part of the land around Duluth is absolutely unfit for agriculture, not because the soil is unproductive but because of the great amount of rock which makes good farming impossible.

In support of this contention, he urges the fact that hundreds of stone and timber claims have been taken up in this country and that the settlers swore that the land was unfit for agriculture. If this is untrue then every one of these men perjured himself, urges Mr. Ulrich.

The only land that Prof. Ulrich advocates being set aside for forestry is such land, on which agriculture is unprofitable. He argues that the timber supply of the country must be preserved, and there is no better place for the preservation of forests than in Northern Minnesota.

CAPTURES PRISONER

Darting after a county jail prisoner who had escaped from the chain gang and clinging to the man's leg with both arms until the officer reached him, John Quackenbush, a 14-year-old boy residing in the vicinity of Sixth avenue east and Second street, displayed considerable nerve and tenacity this morning for a boy of his age. It is very probable that the prisoner would have escaped had it not been for young Quackenbush.

Ole Tullia of Biwabik and Victor Jacque of Eveleth, both ten-day men sent up for drunkenness, and who seemed to have conspired together to regain their liberty, broke away from the chain gang as the men were on Second street on their way, under guard, to the rock pile just below the courthouse.

Okey J. Simons, one of the guards in charge of the prisoners and who is employed by the board of public works, set out after the fleeing prisoner at full speed. He singled out Tullia, the larger of the men and chased him up and down avenues, through yards and over fences, until both men were winded and just about exhausted when they came out close to the county jail. Tullia having lost all idea of direction in his running. Officer Simons caught up with him and they did a tumbling and rolling stunt for a few moments, both being so nearly exhausted that they could do little. Simons finally landed on top and the chase was over. So long and hard was the chase that Officer Simons was bleeding from the nose when he got back to the jail with his prisoner.

While Jacque, the other prisoner was sprinting down Second street, John Quackenbush ran after him and caught him at the intersection of Seventh avenue east. The boy wrapped his arms about the man's legs and held one with all his strength despite the blow and attempts of Jacque to dislodge him. During the struggle the other officer had an opportunity to reach the scene and Jacque became as meek as a lamb.

The temptation to "jump" the chain gang occasionally comes to a county jail prisoner while he is working on the streets or is being taken to and from the jail, but there have been few cases where a prisoner has been successful in getting away for any length of time. If one does succeed in getting away from the guard, the police are immediately notified and all the usual avenues of escape are closed and search is made in the usual haunts of the person wanted.

OPEN SEASON AT HIBBING

The baseball game scedued for next Sunday between the Kelley Hardware team of Duluth and the Hibbing team to open the season and, incidentally the new baseball park at the range town, has been postponed until May 26 on account of the inability of the Kelley team to get in shape to play by next Sunday.

Instead of the Kelley team, Artie O'Dea will make the trip to Hibbing with a picked nine, which should be able to give the range fans an exhibition of baseball of a high order. Besides O'Dea, Tredway, Eagin, Shurch, Menecie, Leonard and several other professionals and semi-professionals will be in the lineup. Hibbing has a strong team and the opening game should be a good one.

NAVAL TRAINING BIDS RUN UP IN MILLIONS.

Washington, May 1.—Bids were opened at the navy department today for the construction of buildings at the navy training station for the Great Lakes, near North Chicago, Ill. The Noel Construction company of Baltimore, Md., was the lowest bidder on the twenty-four general service buildings needed, its aggregate being $2,137,986. There were five bids filed for this. For the construction of eight officers' houses, McArthur Brothers of Chicago were lowest, their bid being $109,000. Three bids were filed for the extension of water mains, the lowest being Henry C. Patterson of Waukegan, Ill., at $6,360.

STOPPED BY INSPECTOR

Mme. Schumann-Heink Had to Show Citizenship Papers.

Says America is the Grandest Country in the World.

Mme. Schumann-Heink stopped by an immigration inspector!

Such was the wonderful feat attempted by an over zealous Canadian official yesterday at Winnipeg but the wonderful German lady with American citizenship papers annihilated the questioner of her rights to leave her country as she choose. Mme. Heink told of her experience today. The story in itself is one to provoke mirth, but told with the grandiloquent grand opera gestures which the greatest contralto employs in relating it, and with the most delicious German-English that one ever listened to, the episode looms into the realm of real comedy.

"When we were leaving Winnipeg," rolled out the deep, motherly, grolious conversation, "at the depot there were many ladies to see us away. They brought me flowers and were shaking me by the hand and we were having a nice time, when a little man with much paper and pencil before him, hurry to me and say, 'Mme. Heink what country did you come from and where are you going?'"

"Och Gott," continued Mme. Schumann-Heink at memory of the insult, "I draw me up and say loud to him, 'I am an American citizen,' and he ran down the station and away." When the sonorous roll of that "I am an American citizen" is once heard, one didn't wonder that the little Canadian official ran. Few born-on-the-soil Americans can summons the grand and glorius pride of country that this same world known artist can get in her adopted country. "There is no place like it. Europe may do to live three month, six month or perhaps a year, but America the rest of the time. And New York is not America. America begins at Chicago and it is here," said Mme. Heink, indicating the precise spot, "and then it goes out on the prairies away off to California. That is America. There is no place like it. Here all one has to do is to do right and in whatever station in life one is, he has the resepct of every one. In Europe it is not so. Station and birth count too much. And an American never tells a lie," said Mme. Schumann-Heink with emphasis.

Mr. Rapp, who is the husband of the grand contralto, and who is also an American, and who happened to be present, looked uneasily at the reporter who also had some claim to Americanhood. Both knew better than that, but neither one liked to disillusion the lady with the confidence in the people who call George Washington the father of his country.

Mme. Schumann-Heink has one other great enthusiasm. There are eight of them in fact—children. Within the last two weeks she got homesick or rather children sick. She was in Lincoln, Neb., and they were on the farm near New York. She got on the train and went there and remained there eleven hours and started back for Winnipeg to sing. "Ach," said this enthusiastic mother, making a motion of gathering about seven babies into her capacious arms. "It was night when I get there and they are in bed, I wake them up and 'Mama' they say," and this half a continent away mother crumpled up when she closed her arms and found they were not there.

But she revived and such a telling of Hans, who is going to be a soldier, and Henry, who was a "hock der Kaiser" boy and who now thinks Yankee Doodle the finest song anybody ever sung, and of George Washington, who is without any exception the finest specimen of German-American or Franco-Prussian or of Russian-English boyhood to be found anywhere. Mme. Schumann-Heink said so and as she herself remarked in very lucious German-English, she was his mother and she ought to know. There were four others whom the reporter lost track of in the medley of experiences and adventures which were told, and even now it may be Henry or Fritz who is going to be a soldier and Hans who likes Yankee Doodle. But there is no mistake about it being George Washington who is the finest boy in America. That important fact is related as nearly as possible as it was told.

"My children and my art are my life to me," said Mme. Schumann-Heink, but she did not speak a word about her art. That will speak for itself in the concert which she sings here tonight, but a half hour's joyful conversation with this whole souled, hearty, buoyant, delightful woman could leave no question in the mind of anyone why she is one of the greatest artists before the world today.

A BURLESQUE LEAGUE PLANNED

If the plans of the promoters of the organization materialize, Duluth may have a three-cornered "burlesque" baseball league this season. The teams which will be featured on the circuit, will, according to present plans, be made up of the employes of the city hall, the police department, and the courthouse, and the schedule would consist of a game between two of these organizations with the deciding game between the winner and the third bunch.

The city hall employes have started more systematically than the other two branches of the proposed league, and have drafted the following "contract" for the signing of the players.

"We the undersigned officers and employes of the city hall do associate ourselves together as a baseball team, to be known as the 'City Hall Baseball club,' and pledge ourselves to diligently practice the national game, to the end that we may hang the hides of the police department team and the county courthouse team on the front door of the city hall, as trophies of our prowess."

The police were out of the game last year, but say that they can soon get back into shape for a game and look upon the proposed league as an excellent training for them for their game with the Superior force, which will be engineered through again this year, if possible.

At the courthouse it is said that some actual progress has been made in the practice line and, while considerable jealousy has been evidenced as to who shall officiate in the pitcher's box, indications seem to point to a team that will do credit to the league.

Certificate of Amendment of the Articles of Incorporation

---OF---

TUPPER-QUIGLEY COMPANY.

We the undersigned, George L. Tupper and Angus McLeod, respectively the President and Secretary of Tupper-Quigley Company, a Minnesota corporation, do hereby certify that at a meeting of the stockholders of said company duly called and held on Saturday, the 6th day of April, A. D., 1907, at four o'clock P. M., at the City of Minneapolis, State of Minnesota, at which meeting the holders of a majority of the capital stock of said corporation were present in person, the following resolutions were duly adopted by the unanimous vote of all of the stockholders present, to-wit:

"Be it resolved that Article III of the Articles of Incorporation of said corporation be amended so as to read as follows:

"The amount of the capital stock of this corporation shall be fifty thousand ($50,000.00) dollars, which shall be paid in as called for by the Board of Directors. Of said capital stock, thirty thousand ($30,000.00) dollars shall be common stock and twenty thousand ($20,000.00) dollars shall be preferred stock. The holders of the preferred stock shall be entitled to receive from the surplus or net profits of the corporation, when and as declared by the Board of Directors, dividends at the rate of seven (7) per cent per annum, payable on the first Wednesday of February in each year, beginning with the year 1908. The dividends on the preferred stock shall be cumulative, and shall be paid before any dividends are paid on the common stock. In the event of winding up or dissolution of the corporation, whether voluntary or involuntary, the holders of the preferred stock, after payment of all debts and liabilities of the corporation, shall receive the par value of their shares with any unpaid dividends accruing thereon, before any payments are made to holders of the common stock. The remaining assets shall be paid to the holders of the common stock pro rata according to their respective holdings. The owners or holders of the preferred stock shall not be entitled to any vote thereon at meetings of the stockholders."

"Be it resolved that the second line of Article VI of the Articles of Incorporation of said corporation be amended by striking out the word 'three,' where it occurs in said line and inserting in lieu thereof the words 'not less than three nor more than five.'"

"Be it resolved that Article VII of the Articles of Incorporation of this corporation be amended so as to read as follows:

"The capital stock of this corporation is divided into five hundred (500) shares of one hundred ($100.00) dollars each.'"

"Be it resolved further that the foregoing resolutions be embodied in a certificate duly executed by the President and Secretary of this corporation with the corporate seal of this corporation attached thereto, and that said Secretary be, and he is hereby directed to file for record, and cause said certificate to be published in the manner provided by law.

And we do hereby further certify that upon the adoption of said resolutions, said amendments to said Articles were then and there declared to have been duly adopted.

In witness whereof, we, as President and Secretary of said Corporation have hereunto set our hands and seals and have hereto caused to be affixed the corporate seal of said company this 11th day of April, A. D. 1907.

ORDER TO HEAR PETITION FOR LICENSE TO SELL LAND OF MINOR.

State of Minnesota, County of St. Louis.—ss.

In Probate Court, Special Term, April 15th, 1907.

In the matter of the guardianship of Savi Elmer Hanson, also known as Seavey Elmer Hanson, Minor.

On reading and filing the Petition of Sofi Nicolia Hanson, guardian of said minor, representing, among other things, that the said Ward, is seized of certain real estate in the County of St. Louis, Minnesota, and that for the benefit of said Ward the same should be sold, and praying for license to sell the same; and it appearing to the satisfaction of the Court, from said Petition, that for the benefit of said Ward said real estate should be sold.

IT IS ORDERED, That all persons interested in said estate, appear before this Court, on Monday, the 13th day of May, A. D. 1907, at ten o'clock A. M., at the Court House in Duluth, in said County, then and there to show cause (if any there be), why license should not be granted for the sale of said real estate, according to the prayer of said Petition.

AND IT IS FURTHER ORDERED, That this Order shall be published once in each week for three successive weeks prior to said day of hearing, in The Duluth Evening Herald, a daily newspaper printed and published at Duluth, in said County.

By the Court,
J. B. MIDDLECOFF,
Judge of Probate.

NEW TERM HAS BEGUN

May Calender is Called by Judge W. A. Cant.

Only Seven Cases Are Continued Over the Term.

The call of the district court calendar this morning, the opening of the May term of court, resulted in the taking of twelve cases from the calendar of cases set for trial, and the addition of one new case.

The calendar was presided over by W. A. Cant. There were 156 cases on the calendar, of which seven were continued over the term and six were stricken. The court was to hear a motion to have a seventh case struck from the calendar.

Of the cases for jury trial, thirty-one of them are appeals from the awards of the commissioners in the condemnation proceedings instituted by the Wisconsin Central Railway company. It is expected that the appeals come from the property owners, and some of the appeals come from the Wisconsin Central Railway company. It is expected that the calendar will be so arranged that the cases will each follow the other.

Besides the cases above referred to, there are fourteen appeals of property owners from the assessments made by the city for street improvement.

The grand jury assembled at 11 o'clock, at which time they were sworn and charged by Judge Cant, and retired to organize. There were sixteen jurors present out of the twenty-one summoned. One person was excused from service on account of his age. He had reached the age where he could, and did, claim exemption from jury service.

The grand jury has not so very much criminal work before it, and the business will probably be soon completed.

Tomorrow the courts will hear and dispose of some twenty-one divorce cases, set for trial this term. One divorce case was stricken from the calendar this morning, because the attorneys interested did not appear when the calendar was called.

The petit jury will not assemble until next Monday morning, at which time the jury trials will begin. The court has signified his intention of disposing of the tax cases brought by the county, after the jury cases are completed and the court cases are started for trial.

VETERAN OF CIVIL WAR

George Curtis Has Also Outlived Three Wives During Life.

Old Darkey Causes Considerable Amusement in Municipal Court.

A decidedly peculiar and interesting character appeared in the police court grist this morning when George Curtis, and old darkey, who said he had been working in a brewery, was arraigned on a drunkenness charge before Judge Windom. He has, according to his own testimony, been married three times and is now a widower, "de las' un," as he referred to his latest spouse, having passed away last October.

Curtis served with the Twelfth New York cavalry during the Civil war, he says, having been a member of company B, and one of the three colored men in the regiment. He now has a son in the service in the Philippines according to his story.

"How old are you, George?" asked the court.

"Sixty-fo', youah honah, sah."

"When were you born?"

"Fohty-eight, sah."

"Why George, you are five years off there some way," said the court. "That makes you fifty-nine."

"Now, looky-heah jedge," interposed the colored man with a grin, "we all ain't gwine ter argue dis case at all. You is de jedge and' you kin decided. Ah ain't so good at figgers as Ah was once."

After hearing the old man's story, Judge Windom asked the police to withdraw the second offense drunkenness and make him a plain drunk and he was assessed $7 which he paid.

"Ah does like to get drunk once in a while. Dat's all dat's de matter wif me," said the negro as he left the station.

The municipal court adjourned to the women's department of the city jail this morning in order that sentence might be passed upon Lizzie Mitchell, an old offender who was arrested last night by Officer Forrestal in her room on St. Croix avenue on a drunkenness charge.

When Lizzie saw the officers coming she jumped from her window in the second story to the ground below and sprained her ankle so seriously that she was unable to walk. She received her ten day sentence lying groaning on a cot in the women's department.

STILL NO SIGN OF BREAK.

Wisconsin Senatorial Deadlock Just as Firm as at Opening.

Madison, Wis., May 1.—The tenth ballot today for United States senator shows that the deadlock still exists. The leading Republican candidates received votes as follows: Cooper, 18; Esch, 20; Hatten, 16; Lenroot, 18; Stephenson, 18.

JAILBIRDS ON STRIKE, BREAD AND WATER CURE.

Alton, Ill., May 1.—Eight prisoners in the city jail, who, in default of police court fines imposed for various offenses, are required to sweep the streets, were put on bread and water today because they declared they would not work. James Locks, a fat man, who boasted that he had not worked in twenty-four years, acted as leader.

SOLDIERS SHOT ON PARIS STREET

Paris, May 1.—This afternoon a man who was passing the Place de la Republique on top of an omnibus, fired five shots from a revolver at a squadron of cuirassiers, wounding two of the cavalrymen.

The man, who was identified as Jacob Law of Balti, province of Podolia, Rssia, was dragged from the top of the omnibus by the police, and narrowly escaped lynching at the hands of the crowds surrounding the vehicle.

LARGE ATTENDANCE.

Rev. Dunnett on "Hell—What and Where it is?"

A large congregation gathered at the First Baptist church last evening to hear Rev. W. A. Dunnett, the evangelist holding services there. He spoke on "Hell—What and Where is It?" an interesting address. This evening his subject will be "The Message or the Messenger." There will be special music by the choir.

WIDOW'S STORY OF GRAFT PLACES QUAKER CAPITOL ARCHITECT IN BAD LIGHT

Offered Only Ten Per Cent of Big Contract for Marble.

"Gang" Wanted Nine-Tenths to Divide and Pay Expenses.

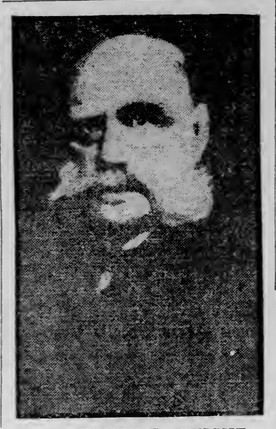
Harrisburg, Pa., May 2.—Mrs. Walter F. Anthony, a widow of Williamsport, gave decidedly sensational evidence last night before the commission investigating charges of extravagance in the furnishing of the Pennsylvania state capitol. Telling about a deal that Joseph M. Huston, architect of the capitol, John H. Sanderson, contractor for the furnishings, and others attempted to make with her for serpentine marble from a quarry left her by her husband, she said:

"They offered to allow me 50 per cent of the proceeds from a new company they desired to organize, but I was given to understand that 40 per cent of that amount must be divided among their friends. This would have left me only 10 per cent for the marble, so I decided it would be better to give it away, and declined to negotiate further. The other 50 per cent, they told me, would be used for operating expenses at the quarry."

John Shenk on the stand one week ago, testified that the same parties had called on him to negotiate a deal for the marble in his quarry. Shenk declared that they desired him to charge the state $15 a cubic foot for the marble instead of from $5 to $8, the price he thought would bring him a fair profit. It had been explained to him, he declared, that the balance was to be divided "among the gang."

Testimony was given also in reference to bills of Payne & Co., contractors, with the board of public grounds and buildings, for the work on the attic of the capitol, alleged to have been padded, on stationery secured from the office of William Sanderson of Philadalphia, representative of a firm that supplied the ice water for the attic.



GEN. HENRY C. DWIGHT, In Charge of the Gen. McClellan Monument Unveiling in Washington.

HONORS TO McCLELLAN

Statue of General to be Unveiled by Notable Service.

President and Four Famous Old Officers Will Speak.

Washington, May 2.—President Roosevelt, cabinet officers, army and navy officers, and men prominent in civil life, will participate this afternoon in the ceremonies attending the unveiling of the statue of Gen. George B. McClellan by the Society of the Army of the Potomac.

Hundreds of old soldiers are in the city to attend the unveiling ceremonies. Of these visiting veterans, about two-thirds are from the army of the Potomac, of which Gen. McClellan was commander, and the remainder, members of the societies of the armies of the Ohio, Cumberland and Tennessee.

The monument will be unveiled at Connecticut avenue and Columbia roads at 2:30 o'clock. Brig.-Gen. Henry C. Dwight, president of the Society of the Potomac, presiding.

FIVE MURDERED BY BANDITS.

Warsaw, May 2.—Near Pabianice Tuesday night bandits attacked a carriage containing five Hebrew merchants, whom they shot and killed. The robbers took money and valuables and threw the bodies into the river.

CHILD LABOR EVIL GROWING

Joplin, Mo., May 2.—Mrs. Henry N. Ess, secretary of the Missouri Federation of Women's clubs meeting here in annual session, said yesterday in an address that the number of child laborers in Missouri was increasing.

Mrs. W. B. Norris of St. Joseph declared that in Kansas City hundreds of children under the age of 14 were employed in factories, packing houses and sweat shops in violation of the child labor law.

SAVED FROM SEA GRAVES

Fishing Trip Given Up to Bring Castaways Into Port.

Norfolk, Va., May 2.—Capt. Da Rochel fourteen seamen and a negro boy stowaway, survivors of the Spanish bark Oriente, which stranded off Nagshead life saving station, on the North Carolina coast, last Saturday night, arrived here last night, having been picked up by the fishing smack Lilla B. Fernald of New York.

The castaways were rescued thirty miles north of Cape Hatteras, after they had been afloat in a small and leaking boat for fourteen hours. Their lives were in great peril from the time the bark stranded, 500 yards off shore, in a dense fog and rough sea, until they were taken on the Fernald.

The Fernald herself carried a crew of seventeen men, and there were not sufficient accommodation and feed for all hands, so her captain abandoned his fishing expedition and brought his charges here, and they are being cared for by the Portuguese consular agent.

The Oriente and her cargo of phosphate is a total loss. The vessel was bound from Barbadoes to New York.

GIVE ROOM TO CHICAGO

Commercial Club Plans to Remove Railroads Beyond Belt.

Subway System to Reach New Stations Also Projected.

Chicago, May 2.—Active work on the plans for relieving the congestion and improving the physical appearance of downtown Chicago has been undertaken by the Commercial club's railroad terminal committee, of which Joy Martin is chairman.

The committee discussed the transportation problem of the Loop district with the city's traction experts and representatives of the city railway company. The traction men and the leaders of the movement for a Greater Chicago reached an agreement to work out a downtown transportation system that will induce the railroads to retire their terminals to the outskirts of the business quarter.

The plan under consideration provides for the establishment of a boulevard belt inclosing the central portion of the town within Twelfth street on the south, Halstead street on the west and Chicago avenue on the north. Eventually all railroad terminals are to be located outside of this district and to front on the new boulevards, while the inclosed territory will be honeycombed with a double-decked subway system furnishing rapid transportation to and from the railway stations.

WORST LAND FRAUDS YET

State of Washington Steals Surpass Those of Oregon.

Heney to Have Charge of the Sensational Prosecutions.

Seattle, Wash., May 2.—Six secret service operatives are working in Western Washington unearthing a series of land frauds that are declared to be more astounding in their far-reaching character than the discoveries made in Oregon or California.

A secret service operative in the confidence of President Roosevelt has just been sent to the coast to take charge of the work and assemble the evidence that has been accumulated for presentation to special officers of the department of justice.

It is declared by a high government authority that when all the timber fraud evidence has been assembled, F. J. Heney will be asked to come here and duplicate his success in prosecuting the land frauds of Oregon.

CONCESSIONS TO GERMANY

American Tariff Rules Are Made Materially Lighter.

Berlin, May 2.—According to the Lekal Anzeiger, which is probably well informed, the chief customs concessions made by the United States in the new German-American are: The export price, not the market value, will be taken as the basis of appraisement in the case of foods exclusively intended for export or which are only put on the home market in limited quantities. Statements as to the cost of production will in future only be demanded from consuls when the customs authorities especially request such statements. The exporter will not have to appear personally before a consul, save for special reasons. Invoices can be indorsed by a consul at the place where the contract is made. The power of the consul to demand that invoices be sworn to is abolished and in case of reappraisement the proceedings shall be in the presence of the parties interested, or their representatives.

GREAT WORKS ARE CLOSED.

Ekaterinoslav, Russia, May 2.—The great Briansk foundries and rolling mills, constituting the largest mechanical plant in Russia, have been closed owing to the continued political and industrial agitation in the districts. The workmen have been discharged and the furnaces sealed.

CLARENCE S. DARROW, Who Has Issued a Formal Statement for Haywood, Moyer and Pettibone.

HEAVY RISE IN FREIGHTS

Greater Increases Are Made Than in Any Previous Year.

Pittsburg, May 2.—Railroads in the Pittsburg district have filed tariffs with the interstate commerce commission for a general advance in freight rates to become effective June 1.

Probably the most important feature of the advanced rates, as far as Pittsburg is concerned, is the general increase of 10 per cent on all iron and steel finished materials and the advance of 7½ per cent on pig iron and billets.

The tariffs were filed in accordance with the ruling of the commission, that proposed changes in rates of all kinds must be made public at least thirty days before they become effective.

It is said that the advance in freight rates this year is greater than was ever announced in previous years. Practically every freight rate has or will be advanced and it is reported that coal-carrying roads are now considering the question of making a still further advance in coal freight rates.

The new rates will affect not only the Pittsburg district, but all points east of the Mississippi river. The present rate for pig iron from the Mahoning and Shenango valleys to Pittsburg is 85 cents a ton, and under the new tariff will be 95 cents a ton.

IMMIGRANTS IN HORDES

Fifteen Thousand Arrivals in One Day Break All Records.

Ellis Island Utterly Unable to Handle Vast Incursion.

New York, May 2.—Ten trans-Atlantic liners brought more than 15,000 aliens to this port yesterday—a record number of immigrants for one day.

Most of the steamers anchored in the harbor and will probably not be able to land their steerage passengers for several days. The fog which shrouded the coast early this week kept several of the ships outside Sandy Hook for from thirty-six to forty-eight hours.

Health Officer Doty and his assistants were worked to their utmost from early yesterday morning until last night and succeeded in passing all the vessels.

Ellis Island accommodations are already swamped with immigrants and other immigrants are yet on steamers at different piers. The capacity of the immigration station is 5,000 daily so that the foreigners who reached here yesterday will have to await their turn.

BLAZE STIRS TO INSPECTION

Chicago, May 2.—Aroused by the fire which wrecked the old building at 255 Wabash avenue, yesterday, and resulted in injuries to forty-eight women, girls and men, the city building department prepared, last night, to make a thorough inspection of all the structures in the district bounded by Polk street and Chicago avenue and Halstead street and the lake.

The building which was burned housed the Story & Clark Paine company and the Lotus Lunch club, a monday eating place for women, girls, and men employed downtown. The fact that there were only one meager stairway in the Story & Clark building, and that the elevator shaft was not inclosed with fireproof material, as required by law, was held by Building Commissioner Downey, after he had inspected the ruined building, to be responsible for the injuries.

Trolley Car Accident Given as Excuse for Minister's Act.

New York, May 2.—Members of the fashionable St. George's Episcopal church at Hemstead, L. I., were astonished today when they learned that their pastor, the Rev. John Knode Cooke, had departed from Hempstead, and that Miss Floritta Whaley, an heiress, also had left her home and had written letters saying she would not return. It is believed that the two have gone to Europe.

That no official cognizance is to be taken of the departure was made evident by a formal statement issued today by Bishop Burgess of the diocese of Long Island. He says that immediate action will be taken by the vestry of St. George's church to fill the vacancy caused by the departure of Cooke.

"The vestry is overwhelmed by the unexpected calamity," said Bishop Burgess, "and is at a loss to account for it. I am inclined to the belief that Dr. Cooke can not be of sound mind. Three years ago he was in a trolley car collision and he has been a nervous wreck ever since. He obtained a leave of absence for a year and went to Crowded Northwestern Passenger Saved by Preceding Freight.

Wilwaukee, Wis., May 2.—An Evening Wisconsin special from Racine, Wis., says:

"An attempt was made last night to wreck the 9:30 southbound passenger train on the Chicago & Northwestern railway, heavily loaded with passengers, bound from Milwaukee and Racine for Chicago, but fortunately an extra freight train, which passed through here at 9:13, composed of an engine and thirty-five cars, loaded with miscellaneous freight in charge of Conductor Fitzgerald, struck the obstruction placed on the track, and only the locomotive left the rails.

"The attempt was made in about the same place south of Racine Junction, where a passenger train was wrecked last fall by boys placing an iron nut on the rail, only it occurred on the east instead of the west track. In less than two hours the engine was replaced and the train proceeded.

"Investigation as to the cause of the accident reveals that it was a probable attempt at train wrecking."

GUARDS OUT OF SERVICE

Ten Companies of California Militia Are Summarily Dismissed.

San Francisco Left Practically Without Military Organization.

Sacramento, Cal., May 2.—Sweeping orders were issued by Adjt. Gen. Lauck yesterday, whereby ten companies of the California National Guard are mustered out of the service for "having fallen below the standard of efficiency," and, by general reconstruction of the state military organization, the number of regiments is reduced from five to three, each to be a full regiment of twelve companies.

The dismissal of the ten companies comes as a result of investigations by Col. Thomas Wilhelm during the last few months, and it is understood that it is upon his recommendation that the orders are issued.

San Francisco is more largely affected than any other place, and that city is now almost without military organization, several companies having been dismissed some time ago from the First infantry, which is now wiped out of existence.

PROBING BEGUN BY GRAND JURY

Chicago, May 2.—The grand jury today commenced an investigation of the charges against Former Chief of Police John M. Collins, in connection with the recent municipal election. Subpoenas were issued for thirty-six members of the police force, Inspectors Revere and Kelley and Capt. Kandzian being among these summoned.

The charges against Collins in which other men high in the police department are also said to be involved, are that he directed the collection of funds for the campaign of Mayor Dunne, contrary to the rules of the civil service commission, and that he also directed the mutilation of the records of the department by ordering, torn out the pages of the order books on which were written his instructions to collect the money.

SHOT DEAD BY FOOTPADS

Chicago Machinist Killed and Robbed on His Way Home.

Desperate Knife and Revolver Affray in Crowded Restaurant.

Chicago, May 2.—The first murder of the prolonged holdup season was reported early today from South Chicago where two highwaymen shot and killed Charles Lindley, a machinist 23 years old. Lindley's pockets were turned inside out. When the police reached him he was unconscious and died in the patrol wagon on the way to the South Chicago hospital.

J. E. Burgeson, owner of a resturant, quarreled yesterday with his cook, Alfred Beaumont, who is said to have been drinking, and was stabbed in the back. He ran from the kitchen into the crowded restaurant with a big butcher knife sticking through his body. Beaumont picked up another knife and ran after Burgeson, who had reached his counter and got his revolver. A waiter pulled the knife from Burgeson's body as he ran past him. As Beaumont resumed the attack, Burgeson fired four time at him, three bullets taking effect. Both men dropped to the floor. Beaumont was taken to the county hospital, where he died two hours later. Burgeson was taken to the Presbyterian hospital where physicians said he probably would die. Both men were married.

HEAR FIRST LAND CASE

The John A. Lingren vs. Arthur O'Dea Contest is On.

Several Other Cases of Same Nature Will be Heard.

The hearing of the first of the homestead contests on land in the new townships opened last year in the Beaver Creek district began this morning in the United States land office, when the case of John A. Lingren vs. Arthur M. O'Dea was taken up. In view of the fact that there are several cases hinging on the same issues as the O'Dea case, there is considerable interest taken in the contest.

At the time the lands in town 57 were opened for settlement, O'Dea was one of the large number who rushed for a homestead there. He has been living on it for some months, but Lingren claims that, although O'Dea has the entry, he, Lingren, had prior settlement, and he claims the homestead on the strength of the contention. The contest will be hard fought and it promises to drag through several days. Lingren is represented by H. L. Shepard and B. N. Johnson of Fergus Falls, and W. E. Culkin and W. H. Smallwood are appearing for O'Dea.

The O'Dea case is in the nature of a test, and for this reason there are a good many people interested outside of those directly involved. On the decision in the case will depend the issue of a number of others waiting to be heard.

RAILROADS

ROADS ARE DISTURBED

Soo and South Shore Cut Rates to the East.

Western Passenger Association Has Taken Up the Matter.

The midsummer excursion rates to Eastern points just announced by the Soo and Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic roads are likely to result in a sharp clash between the lines in the Western passenger association. The rates will become effective June 1, and continue in force until Sept. 15.

The South Shore rate as announced from Duluth to New York and Albany, beginning June 1, is $20; $19 to Toronto, Ottawa and Montreal, and $21 to Boston, which is a very decided reduction from the regular rate, and far below that which the other lines in the territory are willing to put into effect.

As soon as the passenger men of rival roads got hold of the tariff they took up the matter, and the Western Passenge rassociation may call a special meeting to consider the question.

A NEW TARIFF.

Eastern Roads Greatly Increase Their Charges for Special Trains.

Some of the Duluth railroad agents have received a copy of a new tariff on special train movements which has just been issued by Eastern lines, and which develops some new feature in traffic matters and the provisions of the Hepburn act that all rates must be according to a tariff filed with the interstate commerce commission.

One section is to the effect that if a road has to make a special train for the transportation of one car the charge will be five times the tariff rate multiplied by five times the minimum weight of the car. The rate on horses between Chicago and New York is 60 cents a hundred. Figuring 20,000 pounds as the minimum weight of one car, the railroad mathematicians say, for example, that it would cost $3,000 to haul a race horse from New York to Chicago in a special train by itself. Speed is also make a basis for rates.

The trunk lines have always charged a different rate on their fast freight lines from the ragular trains, but this is the first time that they have had a tariff on special train movements with speed as a basis. In the past the lines have been glad to make up a special train to get the business regular tariff rates, but it is asserted that the provisions of the new law are so restrictive that the tariffs must be filed for all kinds of traffic movements. The new tariff does not affect circus or show traffic.

For movement of horses at a speed of twenty miles an hour or less, $1.25 a train mile will be charged, and for a movement at a speed exceeding twenty mils an hour, $2.50 a train mile will be charged. For less distances than 100 miles the rate for the 100 miles will apply.

Railroad Notes.

The territory of F. M. Rugg, Northwestern passenger agent of the Burlington, has been extended to Sault Ste. Marie and Port Aruthur and as far east at North Bay, Ont.

The railroads are trying to give the traveling public a wide choice of routes in connection with the rates to the Jamestown exposition. The Burlington has figured out a tariff which provides rates over 763 routes east of Chicago.

F. E. Dewey, assistant to President W. A. Bradford of the Wisconsin Central road, has resigned and returned to his former home in Boston. He is still a director of the Wisconsin Central, and probably will remin on the board.

Frank G. Guyer, traveling freight agent of the Rock Island, is in the city today.

WILL RESUME OPERATIONS

Work Again Begun on Robinson Street—Other Jobs Ready.

Street work will be well under way in Duluth within a few days.

Work on Twenty-fourth avenue east has been in progress for some time on the rock cut, but no work has been done on the paving of the avenue. Contractor Hugh Steele did a little work on the sewers in Commerce street before being blocked by the injunction, which tied up the work, but this is all that has been done up to this time.

Today, however, Mr. Steele resumed work on the unfinished job on Robinson street, in Lakeside, and will probably have the work finished by the end of the month. He reports that the frost is out of the ground sufficiently to obviate any trouble in grading and the work will be finished up in short order. Five blocks of the work, from Forty-second to Forty-seventh avenues east were laid last year, but the frost blocked work on the last block from Forty-first to Forty-second avenues and it had to go over until this spring. A macadam roadway is being laid.

It is probable that paving work in the Twenty-fourth avenue job will be begun at the near future, and Contractor McDonnell is pushing on getting to work on the lower Lake avenue paving, from Sutphin street to the viaduct, in the near future. This is the job which was tied up during the litigation in the Lake avenue viaduct case.

The late spring has made the work which is ahead for this year doubly formidable and every effort will be made to get things under way as fast as weather conditions and the labor market permit.

WILL PREACH HERE SUNDAY

Rev. Campbell Coyle, D. D., of Toledo, Ohio, is expected to arrive in Duluth some time this week and will formally begin his pastorate of the First Presbyterian church in the city, Sunday.

As soon as his family arrives, about the middle of May, Dr. Coyle will take up his residence at the parsonage, which was recently purchased by the congregation of the First Presbyterian church at 1107 East First street. He has a wife and two little sons.

For more than ten years, Dr. Coyle has been pastor of the Collingwood Avenue Presbyterian church in Toledo and his congregation in that city and the Presbytery in whose jurisdiction he worked, were very loath to see him leave.

When Dr. Coyle took hold of the Collingwood avenue congregation at Toledo in 1896, it had no church of its own and the membership was 200. Through his efforts, a handsome church costing more than $100,000 was built and the membership of the church today is 800.

Dr. Coyle is still a young man, being only 40 years or so, and the members of the First Presbyterian church are congratulating themselves upon securing him.

WATERWAYS COMMISSION HEARS NOTED SPEAKERS.

Washington, May 2.—The Inland waterways commission today listened to statements by Representative Burton and Commissioner of Corporations Herbert Knox Smith, the former relative to the general condition of the streams of the country and the latter especially to canals and traffic along the coasts. Mr. Burton gave a great many figures relative to inland transportation by water accompanied by comparisons with other countries, but neither he nor Mr. Smith made any recommendations. Indeed all the statements have been made so far have been intended to lay the foundation for future work and to convey information rather than to make recommendation. Mr. Smith will prepare a report on the canal question.

BOTH SIDES STILL FIRM

No Prospect of Immediate Settlement of Builders' Strike.

Members of Unions Claim Their Demands Are Not Excessive.

Nothing has developed today which would indicate that there will be an early settlement of the strike of the building trades, which was begun in Duluth yesterday, and all building operations in the city are almost completely paralyzed for the time being. The unions whose men were called out yesterday are the inside electricians, builders' laborers, carpenters and sheet metal workers.

The contractors seem to be making the greatest fight against adopting the new scale presented by the builders' laborers yesterday. The scale presented gives the building laborers 35 cents an hour and an eight-hour day, and this is claimed by the contractors to be too much. They claim that this is far in excess of the wages paid members of the same trade in the Twin Cities.

Members of the union, stated this afternoon, however, that this is not correct as the difference between the Twin Cities and Duluth is only about 40 cents a day. The members of the union also contradict the statements made by the contractors that they could not raise the wages again this year, as they had just done so last year. In 1905, the builders' laborers were receiving 28 cents an hour, which was increased last year to 30 cents, but the day was reduced from 9 to 8½ hours, so that the wage increase was actually not more than a few cents a day.

The carpenters in Duluth are demanding an increase to 45 cents an hour, which is the same as the Twin Cities scale. The scale asked by the tinners and sheet metal workers is 5 cents an hour more than that paid in Minneapolis, but the members of the union claim that the cost of living is so much higher in Duluth that this is necessary.

The electricians, who have made an increase of 75 cents a day have consented to compromise on a 50-cent raise, but the contractors have refused to compromise. The members of the union claim that they wish to be fair in the matter and that they have already conceded much to the demands of the contractors.

Another union, whose members have walked out upon the refusal of the contractors to grant the new scale, is that of the roofers, who are asking a new scale of 47½ cents an hour for first men and 42½ for second men, which is a 5-cent raise in each case over the wage paid last year. The tinners are all out and none of the shops have as yet signed the scale.

At a meeting of the Duluth Builders' exchange last evening a committee was appointed to confer with the representatives of the striking trades unions, the chairman of which is William Burgess. The committee is made up of contractors who emply the four crafts which are on strike and it is expected that a conference will be held this afternoon or evening.

The board of governors of the Duluth Building Trades Structural alliance was in session at Kalamazoo hall all day yesterday and today, but up to this afternoon the members had not been notified that a conference with the committee from the builders' exchange would be held.

The builders' laborers on four of the big building operations in the city have been promised the new scale tomorrow, however, and 100 men will probably go back to work.

MISSING BOY IS LOCATED

Peter Lee Who Ran Away From Home, is Found.

Through the medium of The Herald, Peter Lee, the orphan boy who ran away from his uncle's farm at Midway, has been discovered.

He was working at the box factory in West Duluth and on seeing the disturbance that was created as a result of his disappearance, he notified his sister, Miss Mary Lee of 115 Park avenue, of his presence in Duluth.

The written decision has not yet been filed.

Land Office Receipts.

The receipts of the United States land office during the month of April, as shown by the monthly report, were as follows: Sales of public lands, $19,572; fees and commissions, $1,941.29; forfeitures on public lands, $211.10; Indian lands, $1,050; total, $22,778.33.

Medals Await Veterans.

Chief Yeoman John Shaw, in charge of the United States naval recruiting station here, has been notified that there are still about 300 medals held by the department, awaiting the claims of those who are entitled to them, through having served in the navy during the West Indian campaign of the Spanish-American war. Yeoman Shaw has been urged to notify any Duluth people who have served in the navy and have not secured their medals to make claim for them. He believes there are several in Duluth entitled to the decoration and he is endeavoring to seek them out.

Four Recruits for Navy.

Lieut. J. B. Gay and Dr. J. N. Moore of Minneapolis, in charge of the navy recruiting stations in this district, were in Duluth today and enlisted four recruits at the station here. The young man are Fred Moreau, Escanaba, Mich.; James B. Martin, Ashmun, Mich; Harry H. Seeley, Andover, S. D., and Harry N. Johnson, Two Harbors, Minn. They will leave tomorrow evening for Norfolk, Va., to enter the training station at the navy yard.

Commissioners Appointed.

Judge Page Morris, in the United States circuit court, yesterday appointed a commission of Daniel M. Gunn, Michael H. Toole and James M. Elder to appraise certain lands in Itasca, Crow Wing and Cass counties, the condemnation of which is desired by the United States government. The lands in question are those which would be overflowed by the construction of irrigation dams, in the work to be done by the government in those counties. The government's arguments on its petition for the appointment of the commission were made yesterday by Assistant States Attorney J. M. Dickey, and the owners of the lands made no arguments in opposition.

Temple Emanuel Services.

At Temple Emanuel, Second street and Seventh avenue east, Sabbath services will be held tomorrow night at 8 o'clock. The subject of the sermon will be "The Beauty of Holiness." The services at Temple Emanuel are open to members of all denominations, Jewish or non-Jewish.

Morphine Victim Jailed.

Bernard I. Bradford, once a successful practicing physician but now a total wreck as the result of the persistent use of morphine, was arrested yesterday on a vagrancy charge, and was committed to the county jail for thirty days on an old sentence which had been suspended on condition that he get out of town. When being searched yesterday he made several attempts to transfer the case which contained the hypodermic needles from one pocket to another, so as to escape detection, and he cried like a baby when they were found and taken from him.

New "Y" on Lake Avenue.

The street railway company has begun the construction work of a new "Y" on Lake avenue at Morse street for the purpose of turning cars at that point. When the "Y" is completed the West Duluth cars will be run down Lake avenue, giving a 10-minute service on that thoroughfare, every other car from West Duluth going through to Third avenue east for turning. The Lake avenue improvement has been made to give the company greater facilities for handling the crowds to the White City during the summer season. If the 10-minute schedule is not sufficient to take care of the traffic, arrangements will be made to have more cars take the Lake avenue route.

Building Contract Awarded.

The contract for the new home which T. F. Cole will build for Whitney Wall on the north side of Second street, between Sixteenth and Seventeenth avenues east, has been awarded to Linden & Danielson. The residence was designed by Bray & Tne residence was designed by Bray & Nystrom, the architects, and will be somewhat classical in style. It will be two stories high, with a gable roof and will be constructed of pressed brick with Redford stone trimmings. The building will cost in the neighborhood of $15,000.

BIG STEAMER ON SANDS FOR ALMOST WHOLE DAY.

Deal, Eng., May 2.—A three-masted steamer, with three smoke stacks, a German liner, that has not yet been identified, went ashore on the Goodwin Sands early this morning, but late this afternoon was able to get off and is riding at anchor. A heavy gale is blowing, and the vessel is rolling heavily.

A German ship, the Wilhelmine, also went ashore on the Goodwin Sands, but subsequently was refloated and proceeded.

NOTE IN BOTTLE TELLS OF DEATH

Message Washed Up on Michigan Shore From Missing Tug.

Harbor Beach, Mich., May 2. — (Special to The Herald.)—Capt. J. G. Kiah, superintendent of the life saving station, has received a note found enclosed in a bottle on the beach near Lexington which explains the loss of the fishing tug Searchlight. It was picked up by Michael Meyer, a fisherman, and reads as follows:

"Searchlight turned turtle off Harbor Beach; all going down except 'Jack' in cork jacket.

"M. PERKINS."

Perkins was a fireman on the tug and it is thought that 'Jack' was one of the crew. The note is regarded as genuine. Capt. Kiah and the life saving crew are again searching for the wreck.

For the woman who is looking for paramount style, we are daily receiving shipments of goods which are at present being accepted as ultra-stylish by the best dressed women on either side of the Atlantic.

Rajah Silk Demi-Costumes—

These elaborate little gowns, supple in their draperies and gracefully complicated in their conception are worthy to be called "The work of noted artists."

Just a hint as to description and we would say, these are made in the complicated models which combine original trimmings of laces—Persian braids and other accessories of the elaborate gowns and they also come in the neat three, four and five-button cut-away effects, which fit the figure to a nicety, and are touched off with mannish collar and cuffs of contrasting colors and neat breast pocket—"quite smart" is the phrase that describes.

The Stunning Linen Cut-Away Suits—

Will be a much favored member of the Dress Family during the coming season, and will be much in vogue for use as "outing" and "trotteur" habits for the smartly dressed woman.

Rubber-Silk Touring Coats—

The Automobile has become a part of one's life, and garments suggestive of this delightful sport are more indispensable than ever, and the practical traveling coat is a necessity. It is light, pliable, dust and rain proof—amply full to protect the entire dress and stylish.

Dainty Fluffy Dresses—

Of Point de Sprit and Bobinet and other sheer materials are ready for the girl whose happy anticipation is launched on Graduation, Confirmation or Marriage. These are dainty, fluffy, phantoms of delight.

Our Jeweled Novelties—

Are indescribable and an artist with the aid of his palette would be more able to render them than we, but even the colorings of paints could not bring out the glint of the Oriental precious stones. They await your critical inspection.

CONCERNING WOMEN.

Rena Vivienne has been the subject of another interview with a young woman of the Brooklyn Eagle, and extracts of this talk will be of interest to many here:

"Those who heard 'Madam Butterfly' sung at the Mantauk theater at the Wednesday evening or last evening's performance brought away a vivid impression of Rena Vivienne, the prima donna, who sang the leading role on those two evenings. Some called her a second Calve, so brilliant was her acting of the part and so wonderful her interpretation of the feeling and passion of the loving, trustful and later the deserted little Japanese wife.

"Duluth claims Miss Vivienne, but in reality she did not go there until she had reached the dignity of long frocks and tucked up hair, when it was time for the frills and polish of a finishing school. Her father was a surgeon who lived in Indian Territory and all her little girl days were spent there in the free, open spaces of that Western land. She rode horseback and fished, listened to Indian tales and perhaps dreamed dreams of the far-off East where she would go when she grew up and win fame with her voice. When she had received all the advantages that Duluth offered in the way of musical training and schooling and she had given up newspaper work as a mistaken field of endeavor, she began to turn her eyes to New York to complete her training. She was ambitious and determined to succeed, so, instead of New York, she decided on Paris as her place of training. She went there and became enrolled as a pupil of Victor Maurel.

"Miss Vivienne cautiously revealed the fact that there is more to her name than Rena Vivienne, that at the tag end there is Smith. 'But Smith, you know, is impossible on the stage,' she said. 'One could never succeed with that name. My name is Rena Vivienne Smith, so I just snipped off the Smith and left the rest.'"

WEDDING A SURPRISE.

Miss Josephine Northmore Becomes Mrs. W. S. Wing.

Word has been received here of the wedding at Minneapolis of Miss Josephine Northmore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Northmore of this city, and William S. Wing also of this city. The wedding took place Monday of this week and the friends and parents of the young people who live in this city did not know of the contemplated ceremony until the telegram arrived from Mr. Wing and his bride. Mr. and Mrs. Northmore had announced the engagement of their daughter to Mr. Wing a year ago, but no plans for the ceremony had been made. Mr. Wing is a son of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Wing of 609 West Second street. Mr. Wing and his bride are on a wedding trip and they will be at home in this city.

Birthday Party.

Mrs. E. Engle entertained at a birthday party yesterday afternoon at her home, 942 East Fifth street in honor of the anniversary of her sons, Robert and Raymond. The rooms were prettily decorated, and games made the afternoon a delightful one for the following guests:

Military Dance.

The members of Company C entertained at the last of a series of military dancing parties last evening at the Armory. The hall was decorated in the national colors and a picked orchestra from the Third Regiment band played the program of music for the dances. These parties at which the members of the company have been hosts have been greatly enjoyed by a large number of young people. The committee in charge of the affair consisted of Corporal Harold C. Foster, Lieut. Walter Flodin and Corporal Frank T. Sherwin.

Wed at St. Paul.

Miss May Alness, daughter of A. L. Alness, of St. Paul, and Dr. Edwin Daugherty of Duluth were quietly wed at 5 p. m. yesterday afternoon at the home of the bride's father, 463 Ashland avenue. The home was beautifully decorated for the occasion. Rev. Theodore Sedgwick read the marriage services. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Alness, as maid of honor. Dr. Louis Daugherty of Eveleth was best man. Dr. and Mrs. Daugherty left last evening for a trip East, and will be at home at Duluth after June 15. The only Duluth people present were the father and brother of the groom, Former Senator S. B. Daugherty and Otto Daugherty.

Art Lecture.

A supplementary lecture by Mrs. Robert Morris Seymour has been arranged by the members of the Morning class for all interested, and Mrs. Seymour will talk on "Art Appreciation." This lecture was delivered before the annual meeting of the Federation of Women's Clubs, and was well received. Many Duluth women who were unable to be present at that meeting have been desirous of hearing the lecture, and it has been arranged for Wednesday morning of next week.

Events of Interest.

The Forward Guild of the First Presbyterian church will meet Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock with Mrs. Raskey of 506 East First street.

What Retail Markets Offer.

Rhubarb, 10 cents a pound.
Strawberries, 20 cents a pound.
Radishes, 10 cents a bunch.
Bananas, 25 cents a dozen.
Lamb chops, 25 cents a pound.
Veal.

A perfectly made veal loaf cut in delicate slices and served with an apple salad might make one forget the petty annoyance of plowing through a May snowstorm. The mysteries of a veal loaf are as a never opened book to dilettant housekeepers, and the cautious one will not too bravely attempt this queer mixture of veal and things which is so tender and rich and which stays together so well. Spring is a good time to get it, or is it fall? At any rate if this is the time when it is especially good the markets will supply it in abundance. A consultation with a kitchen calendar has just been made and it has been found that this is the time to buy veal, so that a loaf with the aforementioned salad will make a pleasant Sunday evening lunch or a Friday 12 o'clock luncheon or a pleasant Thursday evening dinner. In fact, all that will be necessary for its enjoyment is the healthy appetite of youth, which will enjoy it equally at 5:30 in the morning at a pre-breakfast aid to digestion, or at 5:30 in the afternoon to put off starvation until dinner time.

WON BY A CAMERA

By Catherine S. Long.

(Copyright, 1907, by Joseph B. Bowles.)

When Hepburn lighted his ruby lamp and sat down before his developing tray in the room of the hotel where he was spending his summer vacation, it was with the pleasant anticipation, always experienced by the amateur on such occasions of the enjoyment of the treasures concealed in the little box of exposed plates which only await the magic bath of a chemical to disclose themselves to his delighted gaze. Hepburn was an enthusiastic student of photography.

A half hour later found him in a state quite as incident to the occasion as the first by the way of surprise, disappointment and indignation, which showed, first, that Hepburn was of a sanguine temperament, and lastly, demonstrated a well-known fact that theory and practice are not always correlated.

"This settles it," he declared with emphasis, as he removed the last plate from the box. "I shan't buy any more supplies of Sanford when I get back to the city. There's a limit to the demands that can be made upon friendship. Here I've been buying plates of him ever since I began to take pictures, and what have I got to show for whole dozens of them but just such crazy things as these? I'm afraid Sanford will never be a business success."

He shook his head dubiously, as he placed the twelfth plate in the hypo.

Photography is a capricious mistress, and has a fashion of springing surprises upon her devotees. Hepburn was soon aware that there was something about this plate quite different from any that he had ever tried to develop. Slowly the image appeared, but there was a clearness about it, coupled with that evolution of unfamiliar outlines, that puzzled him. There was a picture of the girl herself, clear, yet soft, a negative such as he had often dreamed of making. But back of this picture was another. It was—oh, strange and entrancing sight!—that of the most beautiful woman that he had ever seen. Hepburn stared hard. Hepburn almost trembled as he carefully washed the plate and set it on the rack to dry.

Hepburn was a bachelor of many years' standing. His friends considered him hopeless. Deep in his own heart, however, was an unconfessed conviction that some time he would love; but, although he had seen many beautiful women, real and pictured, not one had ever affected him as did this Venus, born of the waters of a myrrh developer, which had so mysteriously come into his possession.

After breakfast next morning he sauntered out as usual with his camera. He had no appreciation whatever of the scenes through which he wandered, when turning a bend in the path, he came quite unexpectedly upon a scene of such wild and romantic beauty that it at once appealed to his carefully-fostered artistic and photographic sense. The little stream, here running swift and deep, crept into a sheltered cove, over which the foliage drooped in long and graceful festoons, and its slender current was spanned by an old moss-grown log.

"Beautiful!" murmured Hepburn looking about him critically. "Why, this is just such an arrangement as I've been looking for ever since I studied 'Pictorial Effect in Photography.'"

Even as he spoke a woman emerged from the forest and began to cross the moss log. She hesitated before she had taken many steps and remained standing in what was an unconscious, but what would seem a premeditatedly beautiful pose.

Hepburn could have shouted with delight. "Perfect!" he exclaimed. "Now, if I can only get it before she moves farther. Absolutely perfect!"

While he was preparing to take her picture, a blood-curdling scream smote his ears. Turning quickly, he was horrified to observe that the support for the wedge had disappeared, and instantly he surmised that the girl had fallen into the water.

Hepburn did not hesitate, but sprang forthwith into the stream. The girl once more arose to the surface and promptly wound herself about him, totally incapacitating him as to the use of all his members.

"Let go!" he yelled. "Or you'll sink us both!" But the girl continued to twine and clutch. Then Hepburn did a cruel and ungallant thing, which only the exigencies of the occasion could excuse. He grappled with the girl. Partially disengaging his left hand, he attempted to thrust her away from him in order to get a hold upon her unhampered by her grasp, but he only succeeded in dealing her a terrific blow in the face with his elbow. The woman of the double negative, stunned into unconsciousness, relaxed her hold, and with a gasping sigh went down again. After that it was easy. Hepburn was not a practiced swimmer, but he had no difficulty in towing the senseless woman to the shore only a few strokes away. Arrived there, he lifted her carefully up the bank and laid her on the grass. Then he regarded the still, white form ruefully. The water streamed from her clinging draperies, mingled with the blood which had begun to run down her face.

"Oh, Lord," he groaned, "I've killed her! I've found her and killed her in almost the same breath. The only woman in the world that I could ever have loved. Oh, the brute that I am!"

Suddenly, to his intense surprise, the girl opened her eyes. She fixed them meditatively upon him for a moment, then she sat up. She looked at her streaming skirts, and put her hand to her bruised face, over which a shade of annoyance flitted. It is not a pleasant sensation for a fastidious young woman to find herself in such a condition of dishevelment in the presence of a handsome young man, even if she never has seen him until he appeared, apparently out of thin air, to rescue her from drowning.

"You hit me," she declared resentfully.

"I know it," acknowledged Hepburn dolefully. "I can't tell you how sorry I am. But it seemed to be the only way. You hung on so, we would have both drowned in four feet of water if I hadn't. You could have stood on your feet there if you had tried. It was very stupid of you not to. But it is awful to think that I should have struck you. You—you of all persons!"

"Me, of all persons," cried the girl of the double negative. "Why do you say such a thing as that? I don't know you from Adam."

"Because, because," said Hepburn wildly, "I love you. I love you! I have loved you ever since I saw your picture last night, but it seems to me now as if I had always loved you."

The girl arose from the grass with an expression of profound disgust upon her features. "Well, of all incomprehensible things!" she exclaimed. "You are certainly the most impudent man I ever saw. How dare you say such a thing to me? What do you mean?"

"I mean," said Hepburn desperately, "that I don't care what things you say to me now, if only some time you will marry me."

The girl of the double negative spoke never a word, but with tightshut lips gathered her skirts in both hands and began to walk rapidly away. Dripping draperies are an impediment to dignified progress. The little river streaming behind her from them was navigated by hairpins and blue ribbon bows, and her face had begun to swell frightfully, but there was something so stern and uncompromising in the poise of her neck and head that Hepburn made no movement to follow her. He noted, however, with some satisfaction, that she went in at the side entrance of Tanglewood Inn.

For over a week he saw nothing of Miss Carrington. That young lady remained in her room nursing a nose, formerly of classic proportions, and an eye which resembled a boiled gooseberry, sunk deep in the brilliant and varied hues of a summer sunset. Her indisposition did not, however, prevent her from inspecting "that horrid man" from behind her curtains, and secretly commenting upon the facts that he was certainly very good looking, and that he took sly peeps at her window as he passed.

If she had expected a repetition of Mr. Hepburn's former frenzied conduct when she again appeared in the corridors of the hotel she was disappointed. At first he seemed not to even see her. Then after they were introduced by a mutual friend, he treated her with the grave courtesy which a happy instinct told him would be most pleasing to a young lady with a high regard for the conventionalities of polite society.

It was only towards the close of the season, and when preparations were being made by her family to return to the city that, piqued by his indifference, she began to unbend a little. They met often, then oftener, then walked together. They discovered that they had many points of interest in common, although photography was not one of them.

"You see," explained Miss Carrington, "my brother takes pictures, and one crank of that kind is enough in a family."

One warm September evening they walked upon the almost deserted plazza of the hotel in the moonlight, and it seemed to Hepburn that the hour was ripe at last. Ardently, but this time with dignity and decorum, he told her again of his love. Memories of that other proposal must, however, have returned to the lady's mind, for she drew herself up haughtily and said:

"I am surprised and sorry, Mr. Hepburn, that you should so have misunderstood my sentiments toward you. I esteem and respect you, but I do not love you. I cannot marry you, but I will be a sist—"

Miss Carrington paused and blushed. It was the regulation formula which she had tendered to more than one callow youth, but it was too obvious a chestnut to offer to a man of Mr. Hepburn's character and experience. To her utter amazement, he seemed to entertain no sensation of chagrin or disappointment. Instead, he drew her only half-resisting form into his arms, and for the second time in their short acquaintance pressed a kiss upon her brow.

Again she intimated angrily, as she had once before done: "You are certainly the most presumptuous man I ever heard of! Don't you understand me? I said no!"

Hepburn's face beamed with joy and satisfaction. "My sweetest girl," he said gayly, repeating the osculation, "I hear you. But don't you remember that you learned long ago when you were in school that a double negative is always equal to an affirmative? This is the second time you've turned me down. What other conclusion can I draw?"

That evening, when the happy man was again alone in his room, he found in close proximity to the fateful piece of glass a letter placed there by the bell-boy, and bearing a special delivery stamp. It read as follows:

"Dear Hepburn—Did you take away with the rest of the stuff you bought of me last summer an open box of 4x5 dry plates? If so, for heaven's sake return them at once. I hope you haven't mentioned with and spoiled them. They were left here by a young fellow—Billy Carrington—to be developed, and he is rending the earth because they can't be found. Wire if you have them. Yours,

"SANFORD."

Hepburn smiled, with some concern on his features, however. "What a careless fellow Sanford is," he said; "I always insisted that he would never make a business success. Still," he admitted, without a shadow of reluctance, "he does keep pretty good plates."

MISER SOBS AS HE PAYS MONEY

Milwaukee, Wis., May 2.—Sobbing like a child, Adolph F. Just, a miser, handed over $100 of his hoarded gold to Clerk of Courts Fred W. Cords yesterday afternoon. Judge Orren T. Williams ordered the money deposited with the clerk to assure Dr. Fred R. Weber of payment for an operation on Anna Just, the miser's wife. Her husband had denied her the luxury of medical attendance.

Although he confesses to owning real estate and over $1,000 in gold, the husband was overcome by emotion at being compelled to part with a fraction of his earthly wealth. When he came into the clerk of court's office he held ten $10 gold pieces in his grasping palm.

His long bony fingers opened and closed greedily upon the money as he glanced from the face of Mr. Cords to the treasured gold. Tears welled into his beady, dark eyes, almost hidden by his shaggy overhanging eyebrows. His breast heaved convulsively and he sobbed. He was in anguish at parting with even so small a portion of his hoard.

He picked one of the glistening gold coins, bright from long handling, from his palm. He gazed longingly at the single coin and quickly, as if it hurt him, pushed it over the desk. Handing over the gold pieces one by one he looked fondly at each a trifle longer than at the one preceding it. When the ten coins finally had passed into the hands of the clerk the miser gave a short, sharp guttural cry and turned away. With a single glance behind his he left the office.

How this money was hoarded was told by both the man and his wife. Each day the miser was paid—he's a laborer—he hurried home with his money. Each gold coin was wrapped with care in an asbestos covering that it might not be destroyed in case of fire. Then it was placed in an old tin can and hidden beneath the second step of a stair that led to a garret.

All luxuries and many necessities were unknown in the home of Adolph Just. He and his wife lived frugally. They ate no more than was absolutely essential to sustain life. The wife said that at times she almost starved that her husband's hoard of gold might grow.

There came a day when she could stand it no longer. There was no joy in her life with this man of avarice. She sued for divorce, but two months ago the suit was dismissed. She said that up to that time her husband had saved $85, all in gold. The money was hidden under the attic stairway.

When the woman's suit for divorce was dismissed the husband was angry. He wanted a separation. He said his wife was a luxury. He thought he could increase his hoard faster if he lived alone. He brought suit for divorce from her on grounds of desertion. When this case was called before Judge Williams yesterday the woman said she had been forced to leave her husband. Although she was suffering from a disease which could be cured only by an operation, the husband denied her medical treatment. He denied her even the food she needed. She admitted that she deserted him.

Dr. Webber said on the witness stand that the sick, neglected woman could be restored to health for $100. Judge Williams then ordered that amount of money deposited in the court office by the husband and held the divorce suit open until June 15.

Although Adolph Just says he earns only $10 a week he testified that with a few dollars earned by a rented house he had saved $300 within the last two months.

SUICIDE MADE TERRIBLY SURE

Cleveland, Ohio, May 2.—A man believed to be C. G. Stickle, a traveling man of Pittsburg, jumped from what is known as "Suicide Pier" today, after having tied a fifty-pound iron bar around his neck. He sank instantly to the bottom. Just as he plunged off the pier some fishermen saw him and rushed up, but he had sunk from view. With hooks on the end of long lines they raked the bottom from the pier and from small boats for more than an hour before the body was finally brought to the surface.

INJUNCTION GRANTED

To Iowa Girl Against Attentions of an Ardent Suitor.

Des Moines, Iowa, May 2.—Cupid's ambitions have received a fearful jolt with the granting of an injunction to pretty Katherine Homan, restraining her former fiance, James Payton, a young business man, from making further protestations of love to her.

Not only has the court frowned on Payton making love in the future to Miss Heman, but Judge Howe, before whom the application for an injunction was heard, personally warned Payton against waiting for her on street corners, speaking to her in public and otherwise annoying her in the manner she described.

Miss Homan and Payton were playmates and were engaged for several years. Miss Homan finally decided to end the engagement, and informed Payton to that effect. But he refused to listen to such a course, and insisted on their old friendly relations of accompanying her home from work, meeting her at lurch and otherwise being as attentive as a fiance should.

Shortly after breaking the engagement Miss Homan met Payton while walking with another young man. Payton knocked the young man down, Miss Homan became desperate and appealed to the district court. Payton declares that Miss Homan broke the engagement only because her parents objected to him, and he characterized her recent action as "bluff." He says she accepted a $50 diamond ring since then. He also introduced a note in which he says she addressed him as "Dear Jim," and told him to 'cheer up' things would be brighter after awhile."

The ferry boats of the Independent Ferry Line will commence running Saturday morning. First boat 7:15 a. m., and last boat 6:15 p. m.

Moving means new shades!

You have always had more or less trouble with window shades.

But the Brenlin is a fine closely woven material without "filling" of any kind—it will not spot—it doesn't crack—it hangs straight and smooth.

And we make Brenlin Shades to fit your windows—mount them with the best of fixtures—and guarantee them to work.

Call, phone, or drop a postal and our man will call with samples of Brenlin—and measure your windows.

No charge for estimates.

HYPERDERMIC INJECTION FLUID

That Cures Cancer, Tumor, Tubercular Glands, Goiter and Other Abnormal External Growths.

AS PRACTICED BY

W. D. REA, M. D.

Minneapolis, Minn., May 8th.

Hyperdermic Medication as is being introduced by Dr. W. D. Rea is unlike the system of drugging the patients to death. Call it what you please, give it any name you please, but the fact remains, that no other treatment brings such remarkably quick and satisfactory results.

The Hyperdermic Medication supplies what all the remedial agents lack in the curative properties of restoring health, and incurable diseases amenable to cure. Even diseases that have been thought to be incurable and beyond hope, this treatment cures permanently, lastingly, and successfully, without pain, and without inconvenience to the patient. Dr. Rea has spent fifteen years of his life to demonstrate to the world, that this treatment was bound to prove successful.

He has never failed, as his discoveries have been along the line devoted principally to diseases which have heretofore been incurable by the ordinary method of practice. These, however, have been incurable by the ordinary method of practice. These, however, have been incurable for the reason that the physicians in attendance were not competent or did not possess the faculty of having a system sufficiently active or certain to cure these diseases.

In the Dr. Rea Hyperdermic Method of treatment, there is no return of the diseases, and the patient's health gradually improves from the start. This Hyperdermic Medication does not drug the patient to death, but consists of injecting into the growth and into the disease, hyperdermically, such medicines as it is experienced by Dr. Rea to cure.

Dr. Rea treats successfully with this treatment, cancer, tumor, piles, fistula, goiter, moles, warts, tubercular glands, and other external abnormal diseases and growths. Dr. Rea is recognized authority in the treatment of chronic, nervous and surgical diseases, of lingering and deep-seated ailments, diseases of men, diseases of women, chronic diseases, appendicitis, etc.

We herewith publish the names of some of the few that he has cured:

Ole Satrum, Colgate, N. D., cured of piles.

A. S. Swedan's daughter, Bird Island, Minn., cured of consumption.

Mrs Albert Tessman, Excelsior, Minn., cured of chronic eczema.

Miss Annie Gieving, McIntosh, Minn., cured of early consumption.

C. J. Wendt, Duluth, Minn., cured of chronic eczema all over the body. Of two years' standing.

William Reid, Little Falls, Minn., cured of cancer of the lip, in one treatment.

H. P. Jackson, Morris, Minn., cured of long standing piles. Cured it without operation.

L. S. Dressler, Ellison, N. D., cured of fistula of the rectum. Quickly cured of the most terrible disease.

Mrs. George Kasanke, St. Cloud, Minn., cured of cancer of the womb.

John Feuchte's child, Brainerd, Minn., cured of blindness.

IOWA MADMAN DEFIES POSSE

Albia, Iowa, May 2.—Armed to the teeth and swearing that he will sell his life dearly, Frank Ralston, 37 years of age and believed to be insane, is being pursued through the wild district between here and the Hocking mining camp by a posse of twenty men. The posse was able for a time to follow Ralston's trail in the snow, but all trace has been lost. He is believed to be hiding in the woods and it is feared that a desperate battle will take place before he is captured.

Ralston, who has been famous through this mining district as a man who does not drink, smoke or gamble, is charged with a most infamous crime. Lucy Ralston, 40 years old, a sister with whom the fugitive lived alone on a farm south of here, drove into town Monday behind a team that bore evidences of having been hard driven. She went at once to the sheriff and told him a terrible tale of the mistreatment to which she had been subjected by her brother. She said that after committing the offense, Ralston buckled on his cartridge belt, took a rifle and two revolvers and started for the woods, remarking: "They will die capturing me."

Some months ago the parents of the Ralstons died, leaving an estate so involved that there has been almost constant litigation. Worry and trouble are believed to have unhinged Ralston's mind. He recently threatened to kill both the administrator of the estate and his own attorney.

WEST DULUTH

BIG PLANT MAY COME

West Duluth Is Being Considered by Car Foundry Company.

Have Been in Communication With Member of Commercial Club.

West Duluth has a good chance of securing another big manufacturing institution this summer if a concerted movement is made by the business men of this end of the city and the assistance of the Duluth Commercial club is rendered. The plant in question is that of the American Car Foundry company and would be a big thing for West Duluth.

Charles A. Russel, a member of the West Duluth Commercial club, who was mentioned prominently for the position of industrial agent for Duluth if such a position is created, has been in communicaton wth the firm and is confident that it could be induced to establish the plant here.

For some time the management of the company has been figuring on coming to the Head of the Lakes and will probably establish its plant either at Superior or at Duluth. As Duluth is about to become one of the centers of the steel industry it is more than ever liable to get the car foundry plant.

Mr. Russel states that if he were in the position of industrial agent for Duluth he would be able to go ahead with the negotiations with the foundry company and is sure that he could bring the big plant to Duluth.

No plans has yet been made in regard to engaging an industrial agent by either the West Duluth or Duluth Commercial club, but it is still a live question and will probably be brought up at the meeting of the West Duluth club tomorrow evening.

ENDORSE BUILDING PLANS.

At the meeting of Euclid lodge, No. 198, A. F. & A. M., at the Masonic hall last evening, the matter of the new Masonic temple for West Duluth was the principle object of discussion. There was a good attendance and the meeting was an interesting one.

The plans which had been drawn up were presented by the building committee composed of E. G. Wallinder, L. R. Clark, A. Dunleavy and James Maghan were passed upon by those present and were finally endorsed by the lodge.

It has not yet been decided just when the new building will be erected, but it is understood that it will be completed during the present season. It will be located near the present hall on Central avenue and Elinor street.

All Ready to Build.

R. Murchison, secretary of the board of public works, has been notified by City Comptroller W. S. McCormick, that the money appropriated by the city for the building of the city dock at the foot of Ramsey street is now available. A meeting of the board will be held tomorrow afternoon and arrangements will then be made to issue a call for bids for the building of the dock. It is estimated that the dock will cost in the neighborhood of $3,200.

Leaves on Long Trip.

John Mattson, 207 Main street, left day for an extended Eastern trip to Worcester, Mass., where he will represent the West Duluth Swedish Finns at the national conference of the Swedish-Finnish Lutheran church. He expects to be gone for about three weeks.

Pleasantly Surprised.

Mr. and Mrs. James Oatman of 312 Fifty-third avenue west were pleasantly surprised Tuesday evening by a number of friends. The occasion was in the nature of a farewell party, for Mr. and Mrs. Oatman left on the 11:15 train for Seattle, Wash., their future home. Those present were Mrs. L. J. Hamiot, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Evans, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Zion, Mrs. William Bushley, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Eland and Mr. Leoseald.

Given Farewell Reception.

The Duluth Heights friends of Rev. W. J. Lowrie, who was until recently pastor of the Duluth Heights Presbyterian church as well as that at West Duluth, tendered him a reception last evening at the Duluth Heights fire hall. An informal program of speeches and music was rendered and refreshments were served. A handsome mahogany center table was presented to Mr. Lowrie by the members of his old congregation.

Col. Graves Congratulated.

To the Editor of The Herald:

In reply to a New York dispatch of April 27, in which Mrs. von Claussen says Minister Graves has insulted King Oscar, allow me to say that I have received some information from a friend of mine in Stockholm, stating that King Oscar had no desire to give an audience to this woman.

Now, as we all know, King Oscar to be one of the best and wisest rulers of Europe, beloved by his people, and as we all took notice of Mrs. von Claussen's actions, unbecoming a lady, we may congratulate Col. Graves for doing King Oscar a favor, the same time we appreciate the's actions for saving himself and the American people from humiliation. Yours truly,

BALLOONISTS UNABLE TO BREAK DISTANCE RECORD.

Golconda, Ill., May 2.—Capt. Charles DeF. Chandler, United States signal service, and J. C. McCoy of New York, failed to break the long distance balloon record and win the Lahm cup. The balloon which left St. Louis Tuesday evening landed five miles north of here yesterday afternoon. Golconda is only 130 miles from St. Louis. Changeable air currents demonstrated to the aeronauts that they could not win the cup and for that reason they made the landing. The balloon was brought here in wagons.

LYCEUM—"The Juvenile Bostonians" in "Tips."
METROPOLITAN—Burlesque.
BIJOU—Vaudeville.

SCHUMANN-HEINK.

Enthusiastically Received by Big Audience at Lyceum.

Where other great artists have met only apathy and indifference, Schumann-Heink found a splendid reception awaiting her. The Lyceum was almost filled last evening, and the splendid audience was most enthusiastic and appreciative.

Schumann-Heink is more than a mere artist. Her magnificent vitality, her overflowing good humor, and the personal magnetism which she possesses make her more than a great singer, and she has the advantage over other artists of always singing to an audience that is entirely in sympathy with her. No one can resist her expansive smile, and when it is followed by those deep throaty notes, there is no choice but to succumb to her charm.

Her program last evening was carefully selected. It opened with the exquisite aria from "Mitrane" and was followed by three Schubert selections. These comprised her first number.

The second number was composed of the beautiful selection, "Helmweh," by Hugo Wolf; "The Three Gypsies," by Liszt, and a charming Schumann selection entitled "Widmung."

Her third group was composed of the dainty little "sapphische ode" by Brahms, and a cycle of six Hungarian gypsy songs.

She was very generous with her encores, and on two or three occasions the audience stopped her in the middle of a group of songs and insisted on a repetition of one number. She also sang for encores the sacred solo, "For the Lord is Mindful of His Own," and the famous drinking song from "Lucretia Borgia."

Her final number, the prison scene from "The Prophet," displayed the full strength and range of her magnificent voice. The audience remained seated and compelled her to respond repeatedly, although she was too much exhausted to give another encore.

Miss Josephine Hartmann, the accompanist, is a musician of rare talent. She was heard in two solo numbers. The first, Chopin's F minor fantasie, was rendered with rare technique and feeling. As an encore she gave the Mendelssohn scherzo. Her second group consisted of a Chopin Etude and the spinning song from "The Flying Dutchman."

THE JUVENILE BOSTONIANS.

"The Juvenile Bostonians" crossed the bay to Superior last evening, while Madame Schumann-Heink appeared at the Lyceum. They will return tonight and sing "Tips," which is a favorite with the children themselves.

ACKNOWLEDGE IT.

Duluth Has to Bow to the Inevitable—Scores of Citizens Prove It.

After reading the public statement of this representative citizen of Duluth, given below, you must come to this conclusion: A remedy which cured years ago, which has kept the kidneys in good health since, can be relied upon to perform the same work in other cases. Read this:

Mrs. Agnes McKay of 125 Nineteenth avenue west, Duluth, Minn., says: "It is now six years since I first recomended Doan's Kidney Pills through our local papers, and I have just as much faith in them today as ever. I do not like to have my name appear in the local papers in this way, but Doan's Kidney Pills are such a reliable remedy that I would like every sufferer from kidney trouble to know about them. The symptoms of kidney trouble are well known. Headaches and bearing down pains across the small of the back are quickly banished by the use of Doan's Kidney Pills, and in my case my whole system was invigorated and generally toned up. I have not had a return of the trouble since using your remedy."

HE ATE DEADLY "BURNING SAND"

Wealthy Prospector Died After Much Suffering in Death Valley.

Los Angeles, Cal., May 2.—John L. Morgan, formerly of Chicago, possessed of wealth enough to keep him in luxury, has starved to death on the desert of Death Valley.

Morgan's death occurred at Furnace Creek last Thursday. The story was brought to San Bernandina by Walter Adams, Morgan's partner. For more than a year the men have been prospecting on the border of Death Valley. Last summer they were lost and suffered agonies from thirst and hunger before being rescued. During that period Morgan ate the deadly "burning sand" of the desert.

He suffered periodically from the effects of the hardships sustained during that time and finally reached a condition that he could not eat. Adams begged and pleaded with him to leave the forsaken country and seek medical treatment, but Morgan was always fearful that prospectors would jump his claims. He had been actually dying for a month, though able to walk about, but could not eat without terrible suffering afterward.

"We had between us an interest in a group of twelve claims, for which we have been offered $50,000 cash. Morgan figured his claims would make a million and would not sell."

"When he was dying he wanted to eat, but couldn't and tears coursed down his sunken cheeks, Adams says. A physician who reached him finally diagnosed his ailment as tuberculosis of the bowels, caused by eating the sand when crazed from lack of water.

Adams is on route to Chicago to find the widow of his dead partner. The two men first met a year ago. They had beaten their way to California. During the time that Morgan was wandering through the sands lost, he informed Adams that his wife lived in Chicago.

Morgan made his partner swear that if he died without seeing his wife Adams was to take to her Morgan's last farewell.

Adams hopes to be able to obtain the consent of the widow to a sale of the mining property and if this can be arranged, he says he will never return to the desert again.

INVITE CHICAGO MEN.

Windy City Real Estate Dealers May Visit Duluth.

The Chicago Real Estate board and the Building Manager's association of Chicago have been invited by the Duluth Real Estate exchange to make a visit to this city some time in August. The receipt of the invitation has been acknowledged, but no meetings have been held to act upon it.

If the Chicago men come, they will be royally entertained, and will be taken over the iron ranges by special train, and about the harbor on a chartered boat. Yesterday the local exchange received a letter of invitation from the St. Paul Real Estate exchange to attend the dedication and reception at the opening of its new rooms in the Ligget building. The invitation was addressed to "Duluth, Iowa," and was, therefore, delayed in transit.

POKES FUN AT BAN PUT ON "MIKADO" PRODUCTION

London, May 2.—The censors' prohibition of the production of "The Mikado" as a mark of sympathy with Japan, is causing considerable protest here. Vincent Kennedy, Irish Nationalist member for the west division of Cavan, has given notice that he will question the government in the house as to whether Premier Campbell-Bannerman will cause the presentation of "Hamlet" to be prohibited, "since Denmark is a friendly power and a Danish king is therein portrayed as a murderer."

CLEVER LUNATIC.

He Changes Places With Officer and Escapes From Asylum.

Council Bluffs, Iowa, May 2.—Officer Steve Maloney of the Omaha police force spent an hour in St. Bernard's insane asylum Monday while the insane man whom Maloney had taken to the asylum walked away a free man, after convincing the asylum authorities that Maloney was the crazy man and that he himself had brought him to the place as a patient.

Maloney started from Omaha with the patient, and arrived at the asylum safely. The patient was not violent, and there were no shackles on him. Within the building as Maloney and his man entered a private room, the lunatic shoved the officer into the room and locked the door from the outside. Then he turned the key over to the authorities, telling them to watch their man closely. Afterwards he calmly walked out of the building and disappeared. Maloney insisted that he was the officer, and became violently angry because he was kept a prisoner. Finally he asked that the police captain of Omaha be telephoned for. The captain arrived and Maloney was then released. The lunatic has not been captured.

FAVORS A TAX ON HEIRESSES

Paul Morton Indignant at Way American Money Goes Abroad.

Philadelphia, May 2.—Paul Morton, formerly secretary of the navy, after his attendance at the banquet of Equitable Life Insurance agents at the Bellevue-Stratford, talked on various subjects, and among them that of those who spend American money abroad, and of heiresses who take their money abroad and marry noblemen.

"On this matter of the immense exportation of money from America to Europe by means of heiresses, etc.," said Mr. Morton, "I have often believed that some kind of a tax should be put upon it.

"Particularly have I for a long time thought that a tax of some kind should be placed on the incomes which American women carry to Europe after their marriages to foreign noblemen. Those good-for-nothing fellows marry American girls solely for their money, and some taxation scheme should be worked out to save at least a portion of this outgo. Besides, we want to keep young American heiresses in this country.

"It does not seem equitable. These girls' fortunes have been all made by good Americans from good American industry, and by good American brains.

"Does it not seem utterly unfair that this garnering, this harvest, should be taken out of the country and be dumped into the pockets of some idle scion of nobility, who never did a stroke of work?

"This country loses not only the girl, who might have brought herself and her riches to some good American, but it also loses many, many millions.

"I am in earnest about this," concluded Mr. Morton. "It sounds funny, bit it's so. There should be a tax on them."

CHILDREN GAZE ON SUGGESTIVE PICTURES IN THE PENNY ARCADE

Complaint of "A Mother" Proves to be Well Founded.

Pictures, While Not Obscene, Are Harmful in Effect.

"Here's a dandy," said a bright faced 10-year-old boy to a Herald reporter who visited a Superior street penny arcade to investigate the complaint contained in a letter to The Herald signed by "A mother," which was published in Monday evening's paper.

The reporter dropped a cent in the slot and turned the handle of the machine in question. The picture showed a group of three young women performing the act of climbing a lamp post. It was accomplished with a very free display of skirts, underclothing and legs.

"Pretty juicy, isn't it?' inquired the kid with the free masonry that springs up in the arcade.

Pictures Are Suggestive.

To say that the pictures in the penny arcade or arcades of Duluth, for there are more than one, are sufficiently obscene to violate the law would probably be overstating conditions. They are merely suggestive, both in their titles and in what they show.

The picture mentioned above is but a fair sample of one class of pictures shown. Some of them are suggestive in their titles only. One called "The Simple Life Led by a Fat Friar in a Monastery on the Rhine" showed only a jolly old monk drinking a mug of ale and smiling over it.

"Just Getting Up" was a picture of a man and two women companions dancing. The dance was productive of a free display of legs and lingerie.

Another picture purported to show the dream of a young theatrical manager. A beautiful young woman, scantily clad, entered and after performing a dance, was picked up in the arms of the young man.

"Carmen, the sensuous Spanish beauty" did not do anything out of the ordinary. She was, in fact, quite a proper young person.

"The Dressing Room. Have a Peep" was the title of another, and it is but a sample of the suggestive titles which are written on the machines.

The Evils in the Arcade.

The evil in the arcade is in the effect that it has on children. A large percentage of the patrons of the place are school children between the ages of 6 or 7 years and 16. Boys and girls alike gaze on the suggestive pictures, and the effect cannot but be harmful. Children of all ages go into the arcade and make the rounds of the machines until their pennies are exhausted. Certainly they gaze on many pictures which would never be shown them by their mothers.

But one of the worst effects of the pictures, is the manner in which it opens the way for conversation that would never be introduced otherwise. Young factory girls with their "beaux" are frequent visitors at the arcade. The pictures are naturaly the subject of conversation, and they introduce subjects which might otherwise never have been broached.

The arcades have their redeeming features. They furnish cheap amusement, and some of the pictures are instructive. There are also the music machines, and a dozen other devices which are not harmful if they were separated from the insidious picture machines.

Haywood, Moyer and Pettibone Issue Their General Defense.

Boise, Idaho, May 2.—Clarence Darrow, of counsel for Haywood, Moyer and Pettibone of the Western Federation of Miners, charged with complicity in the murder of Former Governor Steunenberg, issued a formal statement last night. It had been expected that it would be a direct reply to President Roosevelt's "undesirable citizen" letter, but it proved not so. In part it is as follows:

"We have been charged with killing ex-Governor Steunenberg with a dynamite bomb. Our trial is to begin May 9. The details of the assassination have been published broadcast, for more than a year. The press of the country, especially of that section of Idaho, where we will be placed on trial, has bitterly denounced us and the Western Federation of Miners to which we belong.

"We were not in Idaho for years before the crime was committed. Under the law we could not be extradited from Colorado. But we were arrested on a perjured affidavit, charging that we were in Idaho at the time of the commission of the crime and that we immediately fled from the state, and on this perjured affidavit the governors of Idaho and Colorado kidnaped us in the night, refused us an interview with family, friends or counsel or a chance of appeal to the courts and brought us on a special train a thousand miles from home and into a state and community systematically poisoned against us by newspapers and officials. We have been confined in jail fourteen months and denied bail while constantly demanding a trial. Every effort has been made to teach the farmers, business men and workingmen of the community that we are assassins and outlaws.

"Our case is about to be reached and the president of the United States, in no way interested, officially or otherwise, sends two letters broadcast over the country charging us with guilt and crime. These are republished in every paper in the land, and especially every paper of Idaho. The governor of Colorado adds words of spite and venom to that of the president and says that we are not only guilty of the crime charged, but many others, too.

"While the president of the United States and the governor of Colorado are sending out their statements to compass our death, the judge of this county has brought a citizen before him for contempt on the charge that he tried to influence the mind of a prospective juror by saying that the state administration was trying to railroad us. On the appearance of this man in court, the judge told the state's attorney that he should have this obscure farmer indicted for felony because he tried to influence the mind of a prospective juror. The president knows how much greater weight will be given to his words than those of an obscure citizen.

"If we are about to be tried every law abiding citizen, however, great or humble, should do everything in his power to cool the passions of man, rather than add fuel to the flames. If we are to be thrown to the mob, the officers should at least open our prison doors and give us some chance to defend ourselves."

Barring the pallor inseparable from confinement, Haywood, Moyer and Pettibone show no mark of long confinement nor apparent trepidation at the close approach of the trial. They were laughing over a story told by one of their counsel when they received a correspondent of the Associated Press yesterday afternoon and the laughter went on for some time.

"This day cell of ours is really the home of the Western Federation of Miners," said Pettibone, "for it was in here, back in 1892, after the trouble up in the Coeur D'Alenes that the federation was first proposed and discussed. You will remember that they arrested a lot of our men in 1892 and held us until the supreme court decided in 1893 that we were illegally in custody. While we lay here in this cell we planned the federation. You men who have not been in the Coeur D'Alene know nothing of the frightful conditions that prevailed. We were wretchedly housed and miserably fed. A company store supplied everything at outrageous prices, a company doctor was supposed to look after us, and we were paid in script if there was anything coming to us when the company got through. I saw a camp surgeon refuse to go to the home of a dying miner. Now what are men to do? Is there anything too mean to do to men who grind down their laborers under such circumstances?"

"Down in Colorado," said Moyer, "it was the company store for everything, an enforced assessment for a company doctor in whose choice we had no voice and pay in script."

Haywood, Moyer and Pettibone are caged in steel at night, but their days are spent in a large room with steel barred doors and windows. For two hours each day they exercise on the lawn under guard.

"Martial law will not be declared in Boise unless disturbances should occur and make such a step necessary," said Governor Gooding, when shown a statement that it was his intention to place Ada county under martial law at the commencement of the trial of William D. Haywood, charged with participating in the murder of Former Governor Steunenberg.

"I do not expect any such breach of the peace on the part of the people of our state and I should very deeply regret the necessity for a declaration of martial law," the governor went on. "Any statement that martial law has ever been under consideration is absolutely without foundation."

SKIN DISEASES AND MEDICAL ETHICS

Good doctors are sometimes misled by their prejudice or habits. Many condemn manufactured medicines, the good with the bad, seemingly forgetting that there are manufactured chemicals that eradicate disease in the surest way.

And such doctors also forget that their own prescriptions are manufactured, too, when the druggist puts them up by hand. Think of the little difference between putting up a prescription in a drug store and putting it up in a large factory.

Not all doctors are slaves of habit. Many have abandoned the treatment of skin diseases with internal remedies. With the recent discovery that skin diseases are caused by a germ that works on the surface of the cuticle they prescribe that mild, soothing liquid of Dr. Decatur D. Dennis, known as "D. D. D. Prescription," which destroys the germs quickly. These doctors no longer dose the patient's stomach with nasty drugs or smear him with offensive salves. Credit is certainly due these doctors for sending their patients to the drug store for a remedy when they can make so much larger fees by writing out their own prescriptions.

If you are suffering from eczema, psoriasis, salt rheum, ringworm, dandruff, or any rash, get a bottle of D. D. D. Prescription and a cake of D. D. D. soap and that awful itch will disappear with the first few drops.

MAY DAY RIOTS IN PARIS LIVELY

Police Have Sharp Conflicts and Many Are Injured.

Paris, May 2.—The expectation that May day would pass off without violence was not realized, the vicinity of the trades unions headquarters becoming turbulent after midnight, and many persons being injured. The stringent precautions taken by the authorities and the stern determination to repress disorders, however, brought tranquility before midnight. Over 1,000 arrests were made.

After a meeting at the labor exchange 5,000 men went to the headquarters of the labor federation, hooting the police. Charges were made by the police and a woman fired, the bullet striking a member of the bicycle patrol. The police drew sabres and revolvers and a lively melee followed, lasting about half an hour. The police pressed the crowd from the Quai Jemmapes to the banks of St. Martins canal, during which 200 arrests were made and many persons were hurt.

Later in the evening in the Place De La Republique, the police, while arresting rioters, were surrounded by a threatening crowd which attempted to rescue prisoners. Sabres were used freely, and finding their position perilous the police fired in the air. A further detachment charged and dispersed the crowd.

JAPAN MAKING TREATIES.

Tokio, May 2.—It is semi-officially said that a Franco-Japanese agreement to assure mutual respect of France's right in her Asiatic possession and those of Japan in Formosa and Korea and under the Liao Yang treaty will probably be concluded. The instrument will be ratified after the termination of the Russo-Japanese negotiations regarding commercial and fishing rights on the Siberian coast, now nearing conclusion at St. Petersburg. It is said that it will be followed by a definite Russo-Japanese agreement for the preservation of the post-bellum status quo in the Far East. The two agreements are being independently negotiated.

COMPULSORY ALIMONY AS CURE FOR DIVORCE.

Chicago, May 2.—Judge John Gibbons of the circuit court has issued an informal request to members of the Chicago bar, practicing in his court, that they include in all bills for divorce brought before him in behalf of women clients an application for alimony.

He believes the enforced payment of alimony will cure the divorce evil.

"If a woman is entitled to a divorce on any grounds, she is also entitled to alimony, and if it were in my power I would make it compulsory upon her to apply for it," said the judge.

AMERICAN NEWS NOTES.

After the visit of President Mellen of the New Haven road to President Roosevelt yesterday, Secretary Loeb said no statement would be given out at the White House regarding the matter.

District Attorney Jerome took personal charge, yesterday, of the investigation of the stealing of bonds from the Trust Company of America, but said last night that the investigation had not disclosed anything new.

San Juan, Batista, Campecha, Mexico, was swept by a hurricane Tuesday night, entailing great loss of property and several deaths. Many cocoa groves are ruined.

Clarence H. Mackay, president of the Postal Telegraph company, announced yesterday that the company would soon construct a new route from Salt Lake to San Francisco, touching Goldfield, Tonopah, Manhattan, Rhyolite, Beatties and other Nevada mining towns.

The ninth anniversary of Admiral Dewey's victory at Manila bay was celebrated in Washington last night by an informal dinner and annual reunion of the "Manila Bay Boys." Admiral Dewey and a number of those who fought with him were present.

Three thousand men engaged in the iron trades in San Francisco and vicinity struck yesterday because their employers had refused an eight-hour day. The Union Iron works, the Risdon Iron works and twenty other shops are completely tied up.

The Missouri house yesterday passed a bill prohibiting brewers, distillers and wholesale liquor dealers from engaging in the retail business. A bill giving the right to search for liquors in local option counties was also passed.

The recent announcement that a definite understanding had been reached between Mayor McClellan and Tammany Leader Charles M. Murphy, through which political peace was assured, was premature, according to a statement made public by the mayor last night.

Goldfield, Nev., became the county seat of Esmeralda yesterday by virtue of an act of the legislature at the last session. This fact may complicate the Smith-Preston case now on trial at Hawthorn, the old county seat.

The Hawaiian legislature has approved an act incorporating the city and county of Honolulu.

THE LEGISLATURE DETERIORATING?

Is the Minnesota legislature deteriorating in quality? It is by no means to be taken for granted that it is, though there are many that are in a position to know who assert very positively that it is deteriorating to a marked degree. There can be no doubt, however, that it is capable of being vastly improved, and there is little attempt to claim that it is growing better and stronger.

If it has deteriorated, it is worth while finding out what is causing the decline.

Enemies of the primary election system, and they are numerous, assert that popular nomination has brought about the decline in quality. They say that under the old convention system, when the party bosses got together and made up their slates in advance of the conventions, the results were better because it stood the bosses in hand to pick out the best men they could find, for the sake of the party's strength.

Under the primary election system, they continue, nobody picks out the candidates. The people are limited in their choice to those that go after the places, and while they might desire to select better men, they must make their choice from those that file for the legislative nominations.

Even if this is true it is no reflection upon the primary election system of nomination. If it is argued that the present laws provide no means of inducing men to run for office unless they seek it of their own accord, it may be replied that a simple amendment to the law could be adopted providing that names of candidates might be placed upon the ballots in response to petitions to that effect signed by a certain number of voters. This would enable the voters to induce men to run for the legislature who would not voluntarily come out and declare their candidacy of their own initiative.

There is no manner of doubt that the state fails to send its best men to the legislature. A considerable proportion of those who made up the recent legislature were unfitted for the places they occupied, and the state would have been better off if they had remained at home. However, the same thing has been true of every session in the history of the state, before the adoption of the primary election system as well as since.

At the same time, the legislature at its recent session included a number of men who were honorable, upright, keen, intelligent and single-minded in their devotion to the good of the state, and no council of party bosses would ever have picked out such men or have permitted them to go to the legislature if they could help it.

Conditions could be vastly improved if the people would give greater attention to the selection of their lawmakers, and the suggestion of an amendment to the primary election system given above would undoubtedly work out well.

THE WATCH TRUST.

A curious situation has developed in the search of the department of justice after evidence on which to base a prosecution of the watch trust.

Every charge that has been made against it has been proven, or even admitted, and still the government is doubtful whether it is going to be able to convict it in the courts.

A month ago a number of independent watch manufacturers called on President Roosevelt and filed a complaint with him against the watch trust. They charged that the trust is made up of the Waltham and Elgin watch companies, and that there is a combination between these concerns by which prices are the same all over the country all of the time for watch movements of an intermediate grade, such as constitute the bulk of the trade. No matter whether it is an Elgin or a Waltham, the price is the same wherever you go. Furthermore, these companies do not allow their movements to be used except in cases made by the Keystone company of Philadelphia.

In this way independent manufacturers are prevented from putting the movements into cases of their own make. In fact, they cannot buy them unless they agree to put them in Keystone cases.

It was also charged that both companies have their watches in the hands of the same jobbers and dealers throughout the country, and that they sell them abroad cheaper than they do at home.

Not a single one of these charges failed of proof. Yet the government has been unable to get evidence of an agreement between the two companies, or to discover that either company holds stock in th other company.

The uniform price is merely a coincidence, apparently. The fact that the same jobbers handle both movements is another coincidence, and is due to the fact that they are enterprising. As to the requirement that the Elgin and Waltham movements shall go only into Keystone cases, the companies admit it, but assert that they have the right to do this, as the patents are their own, and a patent is a monopoly.

It will be exceedingly strange if the government, after finding that all the charges upon which the investigation is based are true, should back down and confess its inability to convict. The theory of "coincidence" will hardly wash. If there is not a combination in restraint of trade here, there is no such thing in the country.

AN UNWORTHY PLOT.

A story is afloat that the president may refuse to approve the new Oklahoma constitution, and by putting it back to the people again may prevent the new state from taking her place in the councils of the nation until after the presidential election, the idea being to head off seven probably Democratic votes in the electoral college next year.

It is difficult to believe that the president would lend his countenance to such political chicanery as this. No matter whether the new state is going to be Democratic or Republican, statehood has been granted it, and it should not be delayed or withheld to help out the presidential election. Such a deal might be worthy of a slum politician, but it is inconceivable that the president of the United States would stoop to such tactics.

In August the recently formed constitution of Oklahoma will go before the people of the new state, and at the same time a full set of state officers, a state legislature which will elect two United States senators, and five congressmen will be elected. The new state is already great enough in population to have more representatives in congress than any one of sixteen of the older states.

The campaign will be well under way shortly, and as the first state campaign in what used to be Oklahoma and Indian territories, it will doubtless be a lively one.

The addition of two senators and five congressmen to the national lawmaking body means that if Oklahoma becomes a state before next year she will have seven votes in the electoral college. Now the chances are that these votes will be Democratic. At the election of a constitutional convention last year, under the enabling act of congress, the Democrats swept the two territories. They had more than three to one in the convention. This show of Democratic strength was a surprise to the Republican leaders of the country, and they have viewed it with no little alarm. Nobody knows what the next presidential campaign may bring forth and it is altogether within the bounds of possibility that these seven new votes might decide the contest.

Hence the temptation to ask the president to reject the new constitution, and make the people hold another convention to form a new one, as this would postpone statehood until after the presidential election and head off the seven Democratic votes whose possible appearance in the electoral college has caused such trepidation among the Republican leaders.

However, it seems impossible that the president would suffer himself to be dragged into such an infamous plot.

A COMMON SENSE VIEW.

Carl J. Ulrich of the high school teaching force, being taken to task for remarks attributed to him about the quality of Northern Minnesota land, explained his views in The Herald last evening, and it is difficult to find anything in them to criticise.

He is a believer in forestry, and there are few unbelievers, though there are many that take offense at the radical foresters who would seize agricultural lands for forestry purposes. Therefore he thought that land in Northern Minnesota that is not good for agriculture should be devoted to forestry, and The Herald agrees with him most heartily, providing the selection is made with care and with due regard to the agricultural needs of the state.

Professor Ulrich points out that there are acres in Northern Minnesota so rocky that it is difficult, if not impossible, to plant crops upon them. It is true that in other states crops are planted and the natives live upon the yield thereof, on land so rocky that it is a marvel how the seed can be sown otherwise than with a shotgun. However, there is so much fair soil in Northern Minnesota that it is a waste of effort, perhaps, to try to plant crops among the rocks, and as the professor says, such lands might well be turned over for forestry purposes.

He declares, however, that agriculture is more profitable than forestry, and therefore that lands good for agriculture should not be devoted to forestry. All but the most blindly fanatic of foresters must hold the same view. There is ample land in Northern Minnesota for both purposes, and the quicker the land good for agriculture is being used for that purpose, and the quicker the land good only for forestry is being planted to pine, the better for the state and for all of its people.

Representative Clarence B. Miller of Duluth introduced a bill during the recent session of the legislature that should have become a law, though it was perhaps a little new and sudden to appeal immediately to members from other parts of the state, unfamiliar both with Northern Minnesota and with forestry.

This measure provided for a thorough survey of all vacant public lands in Northern Minnesota, belonging either to the state or the nation, with a view to determining what acres are good for agriculture and what are good only for forestry. It is very important that such a survey should be made at the earliest possible moment. Northern Minnesota is well adapted for forestry purposes, and forestry should be encouraged to a proper extent. But before many more acres are turned over as forest reserves, the country should be examined and the agricultural lands set aside, in order that the superabundant enthusiasm of the forestry folks may not result in getting good farming lands tied up for forestry purposes.

HOTEL GOSSIP.

"We often hear that mining is a lottery and a gamble, but, when a little sense is used in investing money in mining enterprises, the risk is about the same as it is in any other legitimate business," said D. S. White, of Denver, Colo., at the Lenox. "There are failures in all lines of business, and no more in the legitimate mining field than in any other. Of course there are a lot of fakirs in the business but they do not handle legitimate propositions, and it is a foregone conclusion from the start that their mines will be failures. With a little care anybody can steer shy of these fakirs.

"The impression that mining is a lottery and a gamble springs mainly from sources which are interested only from a stock market speculative standpoint. Such an element cares little for real values but tries to make profits from the rise and fall of the price of stocks and shares. Of course, to that kind of investment there is a lot of risk. Mining as a form of investment, outside of the stock market speculative side, ranks as high, if not higher, than the average, but only so when conducted along sound business lines by men who have the practical experience and knowledge. It is true enough that failures have occurred with the best informed, but not any more so than with the average form of investment.

"Mining investment is more general through the West than anywhere else in the country, for the reason, I suppose, that the people are nearer the mines, where results are heralded daily, and where there are all kinds of stories, many of them true, of vast riches accumulated from this form of investment. The women are as anxious to put their money into mines as are the men. Usually a woman, once she is started, is a greater gambler than a man in this respect, and often will take obviously greater risks with her money."

"It is a mistake to go to Quebec without paying a visit to the shrine of Ste. Anne de Beaupre, that famous mecca for thousands of weary pilgrims from all parts of the continent, but more particularly from points in Canada," said C. S. Whitney of Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., at the St. Louis. "Not many people in the States know the legend of Sainte Anne. Years and years and years ago, so the story runs, some pious fishermen undertook to build for themselves a little village on the banks of the St. Lawrence, and, of course, a church was necessary. There was a good deal of trouble and discouragement attendant upon the attempt to build a church, and the first structure was built too close to the shifting sands of the river, so that when the floods and ice came, the sacred edifice was carried away.

"The fishermen made one or two more efforts and finally selected a location that was high and dry, constructing thereon their temple. It was during the construction of this building that the first miracle occurred, demonstrating to the wonder-stricken workers that the good Sainte Anne was their guardian angel still. While toiling over his work on the new building, one of the laborers was suddenly cured of a severe attack of rheumatism. From that time to the present the place has been a shrine of devotion, and the pyramids of crutches, canes, bandages and other paraphernalia of the sick and crippled, seem to testify that miracles are still being worked there.

"These signs of sickness are piled in one corner of the building, and there are so many of them that they reach clear to the ceiling. It is said that they actually were thrown there by sick and crippled who were miraculously cured. The village where the church is located is a tiny hamlet, with nothing particularly interesting about it except its air of quaintness."

Better Than Hot Air.

Wayeross Journal: A sure and consistent growth is worth more than a sudden spurt that soon ends and after it has ended is followed by a reaction that carries with it industrial stagnation.

ENGLAND SAYS NO ALUM IN FOOD

In England and France the Sale of Alum Baking Powder is prohibited by law because of the injurious effects that follow its use.

The law in the District of Columbia also prohibits Alum in food.

You may live where as yet you have no protection against Alum. The only sure protection against Alum in your Baking Powder is to

"Wouldn't it freeze you?" was Mr. Grouch's disgusted remark as he emerged from his home this morning into a driving snow storm. Snow on the second day of May is a little unusual, and only the fact that much worse snow storms have been experienced much further south this season keeps Duluth people amiable over it. The snow did not continue long, and the temperature was so mild that the fall did not remain on the ground more than a few seconds. Cool temperatures are the rule, and frosts are generally predicted for tonight. The lowest here last night was 30 degs. and the highest yesterday 62 degs. The weather man says that it will be partly cloudy and cool tonight and tomorrow, with tonight's lowest between 15 and 20 degs.

The sun rose this morning at 4:50 and sets tonight at 7:19, making 14 hours and 29 minutes of sunshine, if it hadn't been cloudy.

A year ago today it was cool, cloudy and unsettled.

Says Mr. Richardson of conditions: "Light rains fell during Wednesday or last night in the South Atlantic states and Gulf states, Kansas and New Mexico and rain or snow in the Northwest due largely to the influence of the persistent low pressure in the Southwest. The Western Canada high pressure has increased in strength and now covers Saskatchewan and the Dakotas. It has caused colder weather throughout the entire Northwest with temperatures ranging from 10 degs. to 20 degs. in North Dakota, Manitoba and Saskatchewan. Partly cloudy weather and chilly temperature may be expected in this locality tonight and Friday."

Department of Agriculture, Weather Bureau, Duluth, May 2.—Local forecast for twenty-four hours ending at 7 p. m. Friday: Duluth, Superior and vicinity, including the Mesaba range and Vermilion iron ranges—Partly cloudy tonight and Friday; colder tonight with minimum temperatures 15 degs. to 20 degs.; fresh northwesterly winds.

H. W. RICHARDSON,
Local Forecaster.

Chicago, May 2.—Forecasts until 7 p. m. Friday: Wisconsin—fair tonight and Friday; cooler tonight with frost; cooler in east portion Friday.

Minnesota—Fair tonight and Friday; frost tonight and colder in east portion.

North Dakota and South Dakota—Fair tonight and Friday. Killing frost tonight. Rising temperature Friday.

SMILING LINES.

Philadelphia Ledger: The Cuban at the age of 150 years was about to pass away.

"What's the use, Doc?" he said wearily, when told to brace up. "This thing of howling a century and a half for liberty really is wearing."

Baltimore American: "Papa, this paper says a lot of men in office had their heads cut off. Did they cut them off with an ax?"

"No, my boy; with a sharp move."

Philadelphia Press: "Come to see all the sights, eh?" said Citman. "Well, you don't want to miss the big mirror in the lobby of this hotel."

"Do tell!" said Farmer Korntop. "Somethin' worth seein', is it?"

"Yes, indeed. You won't see all the sights unless you take a look at something like that."

Baltimore American: "Good gracious, John, do you know what you are trying to sing to that baby?"

"Yes, dear, it is the agonized appeal of a parent's heart. It is 'Oh, Let Me Dream Again!'"

Washington Star: "Be sure you're right, and then go ahead," said the man who likes to quote.

"Yes," answered the energetic citizen. "But try not to waste too much time making sure, or you're liable to be like the man who studied his time table so long that he missed his train."

"Nonsense," said his lawyer, "my client never stole the land. Why, your honor, if you will permit the jury to visit the place of the alleged crime they will find that the land is right there yet."

Nevertheless the motion to dismiss was overruled.

San Francisco Argonaut: A young bridegroom, after the wedding guests all over and the bride's old father had gone off to the club, began to search anxiously among the wedding gifts.

"What are you looking for, dear?" said the bride.

"That $2,500 check of your father's," he said anxiously. "I don't see it anywhere."

"Poor papa is so absent-minded," said the bride. "He lit his cigar with it."

THE LATE LEGISLATURE.

Pine City Pine Poker: The passing of this session marks a distinct step in advance by the state along the line of reform legislation. At one bound the state takes its place in the front rank of the progressive states of the Union. So much was undertaken by the legislature along this line that it would be too much to expect that all, if any, of its reform measures will, in the working out, prove entirely satisfactory.

Brainerd Tribune: Contrary to general expectations, the session of 1907 has been productive of much important legislation in the interests of the people.

Stillwater Gazette: When you calmly and deliberately size up the situation, you will discover that the recent legislature sized up very favorably with any of previous years.

Martin County Sentinel: The legislature passed an anti-pass bill as the people demanded they should but had it go into effect not until 1908, after the passes the members all held had run out. There are some great jokers in the Minnesota legislature.

Long Prairie Leader: The legislature did valuable work. It may properly be classed as the great reform legislature. However, there were some matters upon which the members did not distinguish themselves. The way the anti-pass bill was juggled reflects no credit upon the legislature.

Madison Independent-Press: The Republican party failed, during the legislative session, to do all that the party platform of the last campaign promised, but it did very well, just the same.

Brookston Herald: About the only piece of work accomplished that was for the good of this section of the state was the defeat of the tonnage tax bill, and if it hadn't been for the delegations of citizens sent from the different range towns to assist Mr. C. B. Miller of Duluth, in his fight in behalf of St. Louis county we fear the worst would have surely happened. Hats off to Mr. Miller, but for the rest—

Roseau Region: If the raising of the members' salary to a yearly allowance will aid in curtailing the sessions of future legislatures, it will be a good thing for the state—and we believe this will be the result.

Sauk Rapids Sentinel-Free Press: The trusts and other special interests are to be congratulated. Never before have they fared so well at the hands of Minnesote's lawmakers.

Hutchinson Leader: It is easy to pick flaws in the work of any man or aggregation of men and it is easy to criticize the legislature for things done or left undone, but we believe it will be the universal verdict of the people of Minnesota that the legislative session just ended came nearer meeting the demand for various reforms and enactments than any other in the history of the state. Its sins were largely of omission.

Reflections of a Bachelor.

New York Press: A woman really likes to go to church so that her neighbors can't say she doesn't.

Having a reputation for good morals is making the people with whom you have it believe you do what they do.

A woman wouldn't be willing to admit she was an old maid if that was the surest way for her to get to heaven.

A woman is not always sure her children are the smartest in town, but she never has any doubt about their being the most truthful.

A man can always prove to his wife that he was off on a business trip by bringing her home a present that he says cost less than she knows he could buy it for in her town.

Pointed Paragraphs.

Chicago News: Perhaps the new woman is a failure because there is no new man to play second fiddle.

If a man is called upon to bury his wife's pug dog he is apt to shed tears —of joy.

People applaud the villain on the stage for doing things they would have him arrested for doing in real life.

It isn't always safe to judge a man's charitableness by his actions when his wife asks him for money.

MINNESOTA OPINIONS.

Barnum Star-Gazette: The land business in this vicinity will be pushed this spring and summer, and many new settlers will be welcomed to as good a country as could be desired. Pure air, pure water, healthy climate, good soil, excellent markets, cheap land, good class of neighbors; what more can a man ask for?

Pine River Sentinel: With a 2-cent fare assured by May 1, the Minnesota public has quit cussin'. The railroads are taking a turn at it now.

Staples World: While the city of Staples as a whole is making a number of improvements, such as a new electric light plant, a waterworks system and a sewer system, some of the inhabitants have caught the spirit also, and are planning to make additional improvements that will greatly increase the city's attractions as a business center or as a desirable place of residence.

Cannon Falls Beacon: In the stock issue shell game Mr. Harriman probably has no superior; but when it comes to politics, the big chief in the White House can make rings around him.

St. Peter Herald: Railroad greed and obstinacy are alone responsible for the reform legislation enacted by various state legislatures. Will the railroads profit by experience?

Warren Register: It is not improbable that Governor Johnson will be one of the nominees of the Democratic national convention next year, especially if a compromise ticket is put in the field. Of course, if the extreme radicals rule the convention and insist upon the candidates belonging to the Hearst-Tillman-Vardaman class, Johnson would not do; but in case the conservatives and the moderate progressives should by combination gain control of the convention, our governor would stand a good show.

Worthington Herald: The only way to prevent the railroads issuing passes is to have free transportation for everybody.

Marshall County Banner: We fail to see how the railroads will suffer much as a result of the enactment of a 2-cent fare bill, even though they do accept its terms without litigation. The passage of an anti-pass bill and the consequent cutting out of passes, together with the increase of travel resultant from the rate reduction, would, in our estimation, fully compensate them for the reduction in rates. It simply gives every one a square deal and works hardship to no one.

Little Falls Transcript: There is a general impression that the Minnesota railroads will accept passenger and freight reductions made by the legislature. It is to be hoped that the companies will see their way clear to do so. Constant litigation would be unpleasant for both sides.

Weather Philosophy.

Itasca County Independent: Never mind if the old Minnesota four-season rule—June, July, August, and winter—holds good this year. The modified winter we are enjoying this spring will prevent another flood and consequent drowning out of the farmers along the Mississippi.

TWENTY YEARS AGO.

Fifty liquor dealers held a meeting at the Windsor hotel, last evening, for the purpose of perfecting an organization to protect themselves against the bling pig schemes. John Curry acted as chairman and Jay Anderson as secretary. Messrs. Curry, Anneke, Lundberg, Kennedy and Anderson were appointed a committee to draft by-laws for the association.

A number of prominent citizens held a conference last night at the chamber of commerce rooms with President Fisher and Engineer Morris of the St. Paul & Duluth, with reference to a union depot. Mr. Fisher thought that the present Windsor hotel property would be the most eligible site, and his plan would be to build a span over Michigan street, providing that the council would consent, and then build the depot proper from Superior street to the lower side of Michigan street. He felt sanguine the St. Paul & Duluth and the Northern Pacific roads would build the depot at an expense of about $300,000, if the city would donate the Windsor hotel property for the purpose.

The opera house was packed to overflowing last evening when Thatcher, Primrose & West's minstrels gave a performance. Billy Rice was the central figure of the show.

The new State bank will open for business in the Hayes block on May 4. W. R. Rogers of Columbus, Ohio, has been elected president; O. Stenson, vice president; M. O. Hall, cashier..

Europe to recuperate, but his condition since his return has been poor. The church and its property are in the best of condition. The funds are intact."

According to stories circulated freely in Hempstead today, the infatuation of the minister for Miss Whaley had been apparent for some time and was the direct cause of Mrs. Cooke leaving for her father's home. It was said that the young woman's grandmother, with whom she made her home, became aware of the infatuation some time ago and asked the minister to cease his visits to her home. Miss Whaley left her home several days ago saying she intended to visit friends in this city. Later the grandmother received a letter saying that when it was received "they" would be out of the country.

Cooke is 36 years old and has been married for five years. Miss Whaley is not yet 18. Cooke was curate at Grace church, Baltimore before he received the call to Hempstead.

Miss Whaley's father died a year ago leaving her and her sister an ample fortune. It is said that each will be worth $125,000.

HONORS TO M'CLELLAN

Right Rev. Henry Y. Satterlee, bishop of Washington, will open the services with prayer, after which Brig.-Gen. Horatio C. King of New York will give a brief history of the statue. The unveiling by Dr. George McClellan will be followed by a salute by the Fourth battery, United States field artillery. Addresses will be made by President Roosevelt, Maj.-Gen. Daniel E. Sickles, Maj.-Gen. O. O. Howard and Maj.-Gen Grenville M Dodge. The parade of the troops past the statue will be under the command of Maj.-Gen. J. Franklin Bell, chief of staff of the United States army.

The military parade, which will be reviewed by the president, will be the closing feature of the unveiling ceremonies. The troops, consisting of all the regular army, navy and marine forces near Washington and the national guards of the District of Columbia and the state of New Jersey, will assemble on Washington Heights, north of the statue and commence marching past the president's stand immediately after the benediction. The grand army men will form on both sides of the line of parade and the troops will march through.

When the statue, which was made in Italy by Sculptor MacMonnes, was exhibited in Paris, Counsel General Mason of Paris, who served as a captain under Gen. McClellan, pronounced the figure a striking likeness of the general, recalling that it showed many of the latter's personal characteristics of manner and dress, such as the old-fashioned square-toed boots, baggy sleeves and slouch hat. This slouch hat, as it appeared in the original plaster model, caused considerable agitation. Some of the general's old comrades of the army of the Potomac insisted that he always wore the small service cap with leather peak and that the slouch hat was of much later origin. After much discussion, in which the Society of the Army of the Potomac took some part, a compromise was made by which the slouch hat was removed, and the old-time peaked cap was put in its place. It is in this form that the bronze figure was finally cast. Before being shipped to the United States, the statue was exhibited at the national salon in Paris, and was one of the most striking features in that great exhibition of sculpture and painting.

NEW YORK LIFE DECLARES FOR VOTING BY PROXIES.

New York, May 2.—The New York Life Insurance company has issued a statement that the officials of that company had submitted to the joint committees on insurance of the senate and assembly their views of the proposed amendments of the Armstrong law. The company comes out flatly in favor of proxy voting, supporting its view by citing the case of policyholders abroad who wish to vote, the fact that the proxy is "on the spot," etc. The company advocates an official ballot only, opposing any "outside depository" for votes.

ORE LAND DEAL CASE CHECKED

Venner Summons Against Hill and Nichols Set Aside by Court.

St. Paul, May 2.—Judge Kelly, in the Ramsey county district court, today, filed an order setting aside the summons of Charles H. Venner against James J. Hill and Edward T. Nichols, in the suit brought by Venner against the officers of the Great Northern company, to set aside the ore lands' deal made between the Lake Superior company and the United States Steel corporation.

The two defendants referred to demurred that they were not properly served with the summons, and their objections are sustained.

HUNDREDS OF AFFLICTED PRAY AT SHRINE IN OHIO.

Carey, Ohio, May 2.—Hundreds of afflicted people, many of them crippled, scores of them blind and others almost helpless from paralysis and other diseases, are praying today before the holy relic in the church of Our Lady of Consolation here. This is the annual pilgrimage.

REVOLVER MISSED FIRE

Lake Carriers' Association Rescues Sailor From Lockup.

A defective cartridge which failed to explode when the trigger was pulled, and a well directed kick that sent the revolver spinning ceilingward, are probably all that saved Officer Grandmaison from being shot in a Bowery saloon last night when attempting to arrest Ole Anderson at the request of the bartender.

Anderson came into the saloon and after drinking rather heavily pulled a revolver and was waving it wildly in the air. Two men grabbed him and were holding him awaiting the arrival of the officer. When Grandmaison appeared upon the scene, however, the Norseman, a big burly fellow who has given the police some rather strenuous times upon the occasions of former arrests, broke away from his captors, and again pulling the gun leveled it at the man with the brass buttons. He pulled the trigger once as Grandmaison advanced, but for some reason the cartridge failed to explode, and before he could fire again Grandmaison sent the gun whirling toward the ceiling with a sharp kick and grappled with his man.

Anderson was meek enough when deprived of his gun until they arrived at the patrol box and the officer sent for the wagon. He began to show fight here and Grandmaison promptly threw him down and sat on him until the wagon arrived.

When he reached the station a search revealed the fact that he was a regular walking arsenal. He had a pair of brass knuckles, a knife with a six-inch blade and an improvised billy made of two huge keys.

He was arraigned this morning on a charge of carrying concealed weapons. He pleaded guilty to the charge, but told the judge that he was not planning to use them "unless he got in a fight and had to." When asked if he would kill a man under those conditions, Anderson seemed rather doubtful, but rather intimated that he might.

The judge decided that he would be the better for a sixty-day jail sentence, and so imposed it, with a $50 fine alternative.

When he was taken to the station it developed that the warlike Scandinavian had something over $200 in bills in his possession, and the rather dangerous character walked out a free man, much to the disgust of the authorities. The collection of weapons was, however, confiscated.

The bad shortage of men to work on the lakes as sailors was the cause of the release of John Graham, this morning, after Judge Windom had imposed a three-days' sentence for drunkenness. A representative of the Lake Carriers' association asked for a suspended sentence for the man, as he was an experienced sailor and much needed just at present, and upon his assurance that the prisoner would be out of town by tonight, the judge let him go.

Mrs. Jack Munro, who was arrested with a young girl from one of Duluth's most respectable families a week ago on a vagrancy charge, and released at that time on condition that she leave town, was again arrested last night by Capt. Resche at the Temple roller rink, and she spent the night again in the lock-up.

She is said to have stolen a masquerade suit from a Superior dealer. She told where the suit was, and it was recovered, so the Superior people did not care to prosecute, and she was released this morning.

FLYER IN A WRECK, BUT NOT A PASSENGER HURT.

Griffin, Ga., May 2.—The Dixie flyer, a fast train from St. Augustine, Fla., to Chicago, was wrecked by an open switch at Orchard Hill, on the Central of Georgia railroad, seven miles south of here early this forenoon. No passengers were injured, but a negro helper in the express car was killed and two express messengers were injured, neither fatally. The locomotive and two cars passed the switch, but the rest of the train was derailed. Fire started but was quickly controlled.

FREE MAIL DELIVERY

Virginia, Minn., April 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Free mail delivery in this city is one of the probabilities of the near future. At a largely attended meeting of the Commercial club held last evening, a committee was appointed to take the preliminary steps and petition the postoffice department to establish free delivery. Deputy Postmaster Peterson, who was present, stated that the law provides that the free delivery system may be established when the receipts of a postoffice exceed $10,000 per annum. He said that for the year ending, March 31, 1906, the receipts of the Virginia office were somewhat over $10,000 and for the year last past they exceeded $13,000. The committee appointed consists of Messrs. Victor Peterson, A. E. Bickford and W. E. Hannaford.

The secretary read letters from the managers of water and light plants of surrounding towns, quoting rates on light and water and giving other information requested.

On motion the secretary was instructed to tabulate the rates charged in other places, together with those charged in Virginia for similar service and give the table to the local press for publication. A committee, consisting of Ransom Metcalfe, Frank Hughes and R. J. McGhee was appointed to investigate the local water and light rates and report at the next meeting of the club; the duty of the committee being to determine whether or not the light and water company charges rates exceeded by those established in the franchise granted by the city.

On motion of Dr. Lenont a committee was appointed to investigate the matter of securing a shorter and more direct highway to the Mariska mine and the location of the Gilbert mine. The president appointed as such committee Dr. Lenont, Mayor W. E. Eaton and D. E. Cuppernull.

The secretary reported that $479 was raised by the citizens to pay the expenses of a delegation sent to the legislature to lobby against the tonnage tax proposition. Of this amount $212.05 was expended, leaving a balance of $266.95. On motion it was decided to return 50 per cent of the total amount collected to the donors, the remainder to go into the Commercial club treasury.

PREMIUM LIST FOR HIBBING FAIR IS OUT.

Hibbing, May 2.—The second annual premium list of the St. Louis county fair has been published, and 5,000 copies were distributed. The book contains seventy-two pages filled with premiums and advertising of many of Hibbing's best known professional and business men. The fair will be held at Hibbing Sept. 20, 21, 22, and 23. Horse racing, as usual will be the principal feature.

RANGES IN BRIEF

Chisholm—J. F. Nuench, superintendent of schools, has tendered his resignation, to take effect May 10. Mr. Nuench resigned to accept the position of overseer of schools in the Philippines. He will go from here to San Francisco, from which place he expects to sail for the islands on May 17.

A strike, which may be a forerunner of a general strike on the Mesaba range, took place Wednesday at the Shenango mine, about 100 men leaving their work and coming into the town. The men are striking for more money. The mine operators feel no apprehension over the situation, as the miners are mostly unschooled foreigners and are unorganized.

Eveleth—The roadway and grounds at the pumping station on the shores of St. Mary's lake are being improved by the street department by order of the city council. The stumps and branches littering the ground are being destroyed, and when this is done the ground will be plowed and harrowed preparatory to seeding it.

Hibbing—In exercising his prerogative as police judge, Thomas F. Brady ordered three vagrants in the city jail taken to the ball park yesterday, where they were put to work preparing the diamond for next Sunday's game.

POSITIONS IN CIVIL SERVICE

List of Examinations for Government Positions This Month.

The United States civil service commission announces an examination for May 22 at a number of places throughout the United States, including Duluth, to secure eligibles, from which to fill a vacancy in the position of statistical assistant with special knowledge of the statistics of production of fuels in the geological survey, at $1,200 per annum, and vacancies as they may occur in that survey requiring similar qualifications. The examination is now open to all citizens of the United States, 20 years of age or over, who have had experience in the collection of statistics of the production of fuels.

On May 29 an examination will be held to fill a vacancy in the position of assistant superintendent of construction, at $900 per annum, Sheridan, Wyo., for duty at Fort Mackenzie, Wyo., in the quartermaster's department at large, and vacancies as they may occur in branches of the service requiring similar qualifications. The work of a superintendent of construction in the quartermaster's department consists in directly supervising on the ground, construction work in progress. The appointee should have sufficient ability to read and interpret plans and specifications to enable him to determine whether work is being done in accordance with them; should be able with an instrument and give lines and levels, and have knowledge of and practical experience with the use of materials of building construction, including those pertaining to sewerage, plumbing and heating, to be able to determine in all cases whether they conform in all respects to the requirements of specifications and are properly assembled and placed. The inspector will not be required to plan or lay out original work.

Applicants for those two examinations should apply to the civil service commission at Washington or the secretary of the local examining board.

The department also announces an examination on May 22 to secure eligibles to fill a vacancy in the position of artist at $10 per diem, when actually employed, in the bureau of chemistry, department of agriculture, for intermittent service at Philadelphia, Pa. Approximately fifty days service will be required during the year and both men and women will be admitted to the examination. Applicants will not be assembled for the examination.

On May 29 an examination will be conducted to secure eligibles to fill a vacancy in the position of stoker, $780 per annum, quartermaster's department at large, Fort Rosecrans, Cal., and vacancies as they may occur in any branch of the service, requiring similar qualifications. Applications for the position of stoker may be filled at any time, but only those filed prior to the hour of closing business on May 28 will be considered for the specific vacancy. It will not be necessary for applicants to appear at any place for examination and no educational test will be given, age, physical condition and experience only being considered.

Applicants for those latter two examinations should apply to the civil service commission at Washington.

MRS. YERKES-MIZNER HAS BEGUN SUIT FOR DIVORCE.

New York, May 2.—The papers of the Mizner-Yerkes divorce case, which could not be found at the county clerk's office yesterday, came to light today. The finding of the papers followed an announcement by County Clerk Dooling that unless they were located without delay some of the clerks in the office might be suspended. They had been placed under a "W" in the filing cabinet instead of under "M" as they should have been. The papers were not made public.

Good Words for Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

People everywhere take pleasure in testifying to the good qualities of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Mrs. Edward Phillips of Barclay, Md., writes: "I wish to tell you that I can recommend Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. My little girl, Catherine, who is two years old, has been taking this remedy whenever she has had a cold since she was two months old. About a month ago I contracted a dreadful cold myself, but I took Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and was soon as well as ever." This remedy is for sale by all druggists.

ITALY CHECKS EMIGRATION

New and Stricter Rules for Leaving and Favors for Return.

Rome, May 2.—The government today presented a bill to parliament providing for stricter emigration regulations. Messina is added to Genoa, Naples and Palermo as ports from which emigrants may leave Italy. The repatriation of emigrants returning from America will only be allowed on steamers authorized by the Italian government. Steamers violating this rule will, on arrival in Italian waters, be fined $20 for each emigrant over the first twenty.

The passenger rates which emigrants will be required to pay are to be established by the foreign minister Jan. 1 and July 1 of each year. Agents of emigration companies must deposit $1,000 as a guarantee against infraction of the regulations.

The government can stop the departure of any emigrants if it is considered detrimental to their interests for them to leave Italy for the port they may have selected. No company will be allowed to carry emigrants unless it owns at least two steamers.

Italians who have become naturalized Americans can again become Italian citizens by merely re-entering the kingdom and declaring they have established a domicile here, or without such declaration after three years have elapsed since they re-entered the kingdom.

ADVICE TO RHEUMATICS

Dr. George Edmund Flood says—"If you want to cure yourself quickly of Rheumatism, Kidney-Bladder, or Urinary trouble, take this to your druggist and have it filled, or get the ingredients and mix them at home.

Fluid Extract Cascara Aromatic, ½ oz.
Concentrated Barkola Compound, 1 oz.
Fluid Extract Prickly Ash Bark, ½ dr.
Aromatic Elixir, 4 ounces.

Adult dose, take one teaspoonful after meals and at bedtime; children, one-fourth to one-half teaspoonful after meals.

ONE MINUTE TALKS.

Do you want to rent a house, or do you want to find nice rooms or a good place to board?

Or, maybe you may need help, or a situation, or have you lost something? It makes no difference what you are looking for, let the people of Duluth know about it through the want ad columns of The Herald, and it's dollars to doughnuts that your search will be ended. This is because the people of Duluth rely on The Herald to tell them of all the wants of all kinds of all the people.

Make an inventory of the things you own which you would like to "turn into money;" and then start a little private advertising campaign of your own in The Herald's "For Sale" columns.

One of your intimate friends may want to buy something which you want to sell; and yet it may require a want ad to bring the transaction about.

Things are sure to "go wrong" unless they are well managed—and there are a lot of things in business and home life which can only be managed well by the aid of Herald want advertising.

No matter what you want, if you will call up 324 either line, it will be a pleasure for a Herald want ad man to call upon you and give you every assistance.

GOES RIGHT TO THE SPOT

There is a little spot in the thirsty part of the palate that sheds liquid like a duck's back. We can pour glass after glass of water, sweet drinks, sour drinks, "soft" drinks and alcoholic drinks over it, but still it cries for more.

Coca-Cola

is the only beverage that reaches it and wets it thoroughly and satisfyingly. That's because there's more to Coca-Cola than wetness or sweetness. It quenches the thirst, relieves fatigue and banishes headache. A delicious, refreshing, invigorating temperance beverage.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

MINNESOTA

BRUIN IS SQUASHED

Minnesota Schoolma'am Falls on Bear and Puts Him Out.

Had First Given Him a Dose of Hot Syrup.

Grand Rapids, Minn., May 2.—Miss Nathalie Comstock, schoolma'am at the Deer Lake school, in the country a few miles northwest of here, probably saved the lives of a number of her pupils, and the manner in which she did so was peculiar, to say the least.

Miss Comstock had been giving her pupils a course in nature study, and in order to impress her teachings more forcibly upon their minds, she made it a point to take them on frequent trips to the nearby woods. Monday she took about a dozen boys and girls, the oldest of whom was about 12 years, to the sugar bush, in order to show them how maple sugar is made.

The boys and girls were taught how to tap the maple trees and Miss Nathalie herself undertook the task of boiling the sap in a huge iron kettle which had been borrowed from a neighboring homesteader. The pupils were bringing in the sap in buckets and Miss Nathalie had started the fire and the sap was beginning to boil and bubble and send forth a fragrant steam. At a moment when the teacher was alone by the fire and engrossed in the boiling of the syrup, she was startled to hear a gruff "oof oof" and glancing around was horrified to see standing near by a big brown bear, with nostrils dilated, sniffing the fragrant odor.

The bear was lean and lank from its winter hibernation and its appearance was distinctly uninviting. Miss Nathalie would have fainted had she not been so badly scared and would have screamed had she not wished to keep her pupils out of danger. Instead she threw a ladleful of the boiling syrup at the bear, striking it in the face. With a growl of rage and pain the animal started in the direction of the schoolma'am, who now saw that discretion would be the better part of valor. She started to run.

Miss Nathalie has a pleasant looking face, round and full, and her figure is that which is euphemistically denominated of the "dumpling" order. She could not run fast, but the bear had been partially blinded by the hot syrup and was slow in pursuit.

Nevertheless it came steadily on and by the time Miss Comstock had managed to climb into the lower branches of a nearby tree, the bear was at the foot of the tree, sitting on its haunches directly beneath the school mistress, whose feet almost touched the top of its head.

The animal seemed determined to keep the teacher a prisoner. She dared not call for help and was in agony lest some one of the pupils should suddenly return and be attacked by the bear. She thought she heard one of them coming through the woods, and shifted her position in order to be able to wave a warning to them. That shift was fatal to the bear.

The limb on which she sat was small and could not withstand the strain of the sudden shifting of her weight. It broke suddenly and the teacher was precipitated heavily on top of the bear's head. Even a bear cannot withstand a human catapult of the dead weight of so plump a girl precipitated from a height of eight feet, and it was down and out. So was Miss Nathalie, for a time.

The pupil whom she had sought to warn proved to be one of the larger boys and when he found Miss Nathalie and the bear, both apparently dead, he quickly summoned his comrades. By the time they arrived, Miss Nathalie had recovered, but the bear had not.

By her directions, the boys filled a pail full of the boiling syrup and poured it down the bear's throat. The animal thrashed wildly about, but it was a death struggle, and it fell a victim of the combined sweetness of Miss Nathalie and the maple syrup. The teacher was bruised by her fall from the tree, but after the bear had been disposed of she returned to the work of making the sugar.

The pupils showered praises upon her for the manner in which she had saved their lives.

FOUR ARRESTED.

Charged With Timber Trespass and Bound Over to Circuit Court.

Sponer, May 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—United States Marshal George Malone of Duluth and Fred Van Doran of St. Paul arrested the following: A. S. Chapin, J. A. Newlove, Roosevelt; Dave Olson and A. Johnson, Rapid River, for timber trespassers. They were brought for hearing before United States Commissioner Albert Berg. The defendants all waived examination and gave bonds to appear in circuit court, which is held at Fergus Falls in May.

DRANK ACID.

Woman Drinks Out of Wrong Bottle and Nearly Dies.

East Grand Forks, Minn., May 2.—As a result of drinking what she supposed was brandy, but what was in reality some kind of acid used for soldering purposes, Mrs. William Montgomery, who lives near Key West, was very ill for a short time time. She has almost recovered now, and has returned to her home.

LOGGING IS DIFFICULT

In Kebekona Gulch But Will be Undertaken Next Winter.

Walker & Akeley Have Acquired a Valuable Tract of Pine.

Bemidji, Minn., May 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Walker & Akeley, the logging firm that furnishes the "raw material" for the Red River Lumber company's big sawmill at Akeley, has acquired all the pine in what is known as the Kabekona gulch country, east of Lake George, and is already making preparations to cut the timber next winter.

The stands which lie along the "gulch" contain what is believed to be the very best white and Norway pine to be found in Hubbard county. The timber was secured several years ago by T. B. Walker, C. F. Ruggles, T. H. Shevlin and others, but has never been cut, owing to the almost inaccessible condition of the country. The gulch, which extends from a short distance east of Lake George to Kabekona lake, is a deep ravine, the banks on either side of which, in some places, being fully 100 feet high. The pine covers these banks, and owing to the steepness of the hills, it has always been considered as next to impossible to cut the timber and log it to any advantage, as the cost of building logging roads that could handle the work would be almost prohibitive. However, Walker & Akeley have decided to log the timber, and will build a railroad in order to do the work. Many contractors have looked the timber over, and it is the general conclusion that the only feasible method of logging the stands is with a railroad.

Walker & Akeley have let a contract to John Moberg of Bemidji, to build two miles of the railroad that will be used in logging the Kabekona pine. Moberg this week began hiring men and laying plans for putting in the road, while hwill be no small task. He expects to have the road constructed and fully equipped for business in ample time for next season's logging.

Mr. Morberg states that, as a rough estimate, Walker & Akeley now have, with their recent acquisitions, fully 100,000,000 feet of the finest Norway and white pine in the Kabekona country, all of which will be cut and hauled by rail to the mill at Akeley.

SHOOTING OF BOY WAS CLEARLY ACCIDENTAL.

Crookston, Minn., May 2.—Coroner G. S. Chesterman has arrived home from the town of Garden, where he went to learn the circumstances attending the death of Arnold Spardy through the discharge of a shotgun by Albert Slingerd. "Never in my experience has such a clear case of accident come to my notice as the one in question."

POSTMASTER RESIGNS.

Newberry, Mich., May 2.—John M. Greig has resigned his office as postmaster at Whitefish Point after fourteen years' service. Mr. Greig is a Democrat of the old school, and has been active as a Democrat ever since he assumed the office, but notwithstanding he has been retained because he did his duty well and there were no complaints from the patrons of the office. He tendered his resignation to the postoffice department last fall and it was only recently that it was accepted.

DIES OF INJURIES.

St. Ignce, Mich., May 2.—Mrs. J. C. Land, 26, a Chippewa county woman, is dead, the result of terrible injuries received March 16 last in an explosion of dynamite at the family home in Pickford township. Her husband had put a quantity of the explosive in the oven for the purpose of thawing it out. The heat caused the dynamite to explode, wrecking the house and fatally injuring Mrs. Land.

Winona—The Winona hotel changed hands Wednesday, the E. K. Tarbell heirs disposing of the property to George P. Tawney and S. L. Wright for $160,000. S. L. Wright has disposed of a quarter interest to F. W. Kadletz for $25,000. The new owners will incorporate and F. W. Kadletz will become the manager of the hotel.

St. Paul—The supreme court Wednesday appointed a new board of state examiners at law, made up as follows: William Lightner, St. Paul; Charles J. Traxler, Minneapolis; James E. Putnam, Blue Earth; Frank L. Cliff, Ortonville; Eli Southworth, Ortonville.

Fergus Falls—A. L. Cole, who has been seriously ill in Chicago, has arrived here and is the guest of his brother, Dr. A. B. Cole. The former is steadily improving and is now able to be about.

St. Cloud—News has been received from Oklahoma City that Louis S. Frees, for many years a resident of this city, has received a handsome fortune from the estate of his great grandmother. The exact amount is not known, but it is said to reach up close to six figures.

WISCONSIN

MILWAUKEE UNION MEN

Add Their Condemnation on the President's Recent Letter.

Characterize Attitude as "Unfair, Prejudicial and Cowardly."

Milwaukee, Wis., May 2.—Resolutions in which the words, "unfair, prejudicial and cowardly" were used to describe the attitude of President Roosevelt in regard to the character of Moyer, Hayward and Pettibone, officers of the Western Federation of Miners, who are facing trial in Idaho on the charge of having murdered Former Governor Steunenberg of that state, were passed by the Milwaukee Federated trades council, the Central labor body of this city, at the bi-weekly meeting last night, and copies will be sent to the president and to each branch of congress.

WOULD IMPEACH MAYOR.

Milwaukee Council, However, Refuses to Act on Resolution.

Milwaukee, Wis., May 2.—An attempt to impeach Mayor Becker for alleged misconduct in office was made by the Social Democrats at the meeting of the common council Monday evening. A resolution providing for the appointment of three aldermen to try the chief executive on the charges which were preferred by Chief Janssen at Madison was introduced by Alderman Melms, but on motion of Alderman Yockey, it was postponed indefinitely. Alderman Smith was the only one to stand with the Social Democrats in asking for the trial, declaring that the city charter is mandatory upon this question.

DIES IN ANGUISH.

Four-Year-Old Child Burned to Death While Playing With Matches.

Milwaukee, Wis., May 2.—While playing with matches after getting out of bed when most of the members of the family were out, and two children, the only other occupants of the house were asleep, Lester Gebrake, 4 years of age, son of August Gebrke, 1324 Claybourn street, was burned at the home of his grandfather, Peter Schmitz, 1084 Thirty-fourth street, last Saturday morning, and died on Sunday. His aunt, Clara Schmitz, 13 years of age, was severely burned about the hands and arms in putting out the fire. The little boy died Sunday night at St. Mary's convent, to which he was removed after the accident.

BOUNTY FOR FAKE HIDES.

Wisconsin Has Paid Thousands of Dollars for Foxes, Badgers and Woodchucks.

Black River Falls, Wis., May 2.—Some time ago County Clerk Davis refused to pay the bounty on what was claimed to be a wolf hide. Mr. Davis has some knowledge of natural history and pronounced it a fox, and although he was threatened with prosecution held to his belief and appealed to the zoological department of the state university and was sustained in his theory. For a while Mr. Davis was interrogated from several counties relative to the matter, and it was also taken up by the state department and Mr. Davis is now informed that probably $30,000 has been paid out by the state for scalps that bear no relation to the wolf. This is true especially among the young wolves, for which a bounty has been paid. Among these are the young of the foxes, badgers and woodchucks when they are very small, and the state is now demanding that the scalps shall accompany the county clerk's affidavits.

Waupaca—The Waupaca municipal water works plant met with an accident, disabling the electric motor that pumps the water from the wells and the patrons are now compelled to use river water.

Monroe—Richard Omelong, a tailor, who came from Milwaukee two years ago, died from injuries received a week ago, when he caught a leg in a buggy when on his return from a fishing trip. He was 40 years old.

Madison—Judge S. D. Hastings of Green Bay has filed a statement in the office of the secretary of state, declaring that his campaign expenses at the recent judicial election, when he was re-elected judge in the Fourteenth circuit, amounted to $2,263.03.

Stevens Point—Henry Curran, postmaster of this city, died Wednesday. About fourteen years ago he was tried on the charge of having been a party to the killing of Willis Hazelton, a young lawyer, who was shot dead in front of the Curran house on spring election day. Both he and his brother, John, were acquitted on the ground of self-defense.

UPPER MICHIGAN

TO CIRCLE THE GLOBE

Two Adventurous Youths Will Soon Start on Long Journey.

Will Take No Funds and No More Clothing Than Necessary.

Escanaba, May 2.—An international alliance has been formed by Gerald Clifford and Harry Lucas and they will circumnavigate the globe together. They will meet in New York and start on their trip together some time next week.

The adventurous young men have been chums since childhood, and the tedium of any hard times which they encounter will be relieved by the companionship which they will afford each other. Lucas, as well as Clifford, will start on the long journey in strange lands without funds and no more clothing that is absolutely necessary. They both expect to meet with hard knocks, but are confident of seeing all the principal countries of the world before returning home.

CARLSON BOUND OVER.

Centennial Man Found in Calumet Home Held for Burglary.

Marquette, Mich., May 2.—Charles Carlson of Centennial, who was charged with burglary in having entered the home of James Lisa of Calumet and stolen a watch, as well as being accused of stealing two other watches, was bound over to the circuit court by Justice Curtis of Calumet. He was remanded to the county jail in default of bail. Carlson was caught in Lisa's house, and at the time excused himself on the ground that he was looking for a place to sleep.

Baraga—One of the most remarkable men of this part of the country is James Burns, the well-known shoemaker. Mr. Burns is 72 years old and the father of twenty-eight children, the youngest of whom is 8 years old and named "Bobbie" Burns. Mr. Burns is hale and hearty and has a local reputation as a fast racer.

Lake Linden—Joseph McDonald was appointed night watchman for the village of Linden at a meeting of the common council. He will assume his duties at once. Lake Linden has been without a night policeman for some time.

Houghton—The plumbers of Houghton and Hancock went on strike Wednesday because of the refusal of employers to grant a wage increase and Saturday half-holiday. Only seven union plumbers are yet working, and the entire business is tied up.

Iron River—Driven into town ahead of a train, a deer has been captured by boys at Wakefield, Gogebic iron range. Dogs had pursued the animal about the location. It had run until it was so exhausted that it was an easy matter for the boys to walk up and catch it by the ears and lead it home. Subsequently a large buck, found entangled in a barb wire fence, was captured near the Colby mine at Bessemer.

SHOWS GREAT ACTIVITY.

Eau Claire, Wis., May 2.—Frank Harrington, recently suspended from the police force, has secured warrants for the arrest of four saloonkeepers. Three warrants charge selling liquor on Sunday and one charges running a gambling house. Harrington's hearing on his suspension will be on May 6.

TO SPREAD GOSPEL AMONG WOODSMEN.

Minneapolis, Minn., May 2.—The Northwestern Evangelistic association of Minneapolis was incorporated yesterday for the purpose of spreading the gospel into railroad and lumber camps. W. W. Bradley is to be president of the organization. The other officers are: Vice president, E. G. Helm; secretary, F. E. Reynolds; treasurer, W. S. Harris; additional directors, H. C. Gilbert, C. J. Mills and E. Benedict. L. C. Ward, who has been connected with the Rev. F. E. Higgins in lumber camp work for two years, is to be superintendent.

TRAINED NURSE

Remarks About Nourishing Food.

"A physician's wife, gave me a package of Grape-Nuts one day, with the remark that she was sure I would find the food very beneficial, both for my own use and for my patients. I was particularly attracted to the food, as at that time the weather was very hot and I appreciated the fact that Grape-Nuts requires no cooking.

"The food was deliciously crisp, and most inviting to the appetite. After making use of it twice a day for three or four weeks, I discovered that it was a most wonderful invigorator. I used to suffer greatly from exhaustion, headaches and depression of spirits. My work had been very trying at times and indigestion had set in.

"Now I am always well and ready for any amount of work, have an abundance of active energy, cheerfulness and mental poise. I have proved to my entire satisfaction that this change has been brought about by Grape-Nuts food.

"The fact that it is predigested is a very desirable feature. I have had many remarkable results in feeding Grape-Nuts to my patients, and I cannot speak too highly of the food. My friends constantly comment on the change in my appearance. I have gained 9 pounds since beginning the use of this food." "There's a Reason." Read, "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs.

DAKOTAS

GAMBLERS SURPRISED

Officers Arrive Unexpectedly and Raid Churchs Ferry Joint.

Proprietor Arrested and Held to the District Court.

Grand Forks, N. D., May 2.—In a night raid at Churchs Ferry, Ramsey county, Fred Olson, proprietor of an establishment in which gambling is alleged to have been maintained, was arrested and at a hearing Tuesday was held to the district court in the sum of $500. He furnished the bond promptly. State's Attorney Serumgard and deputy prevailed upon the superintendent to stop the Oriental Limited at Churchs Ferry and the gamblers were taken by surprise. Factional quarrels are the cause of the recent arrests and raids in Churchs Ferry. The factions are determined to clean each other up. More arrests are promised.

CHARGE OF PERJURY

Will Confront Miller After He Serves Six Years for Manslaughter.

Dickinson, N. D., May 2.—When George Miller, recently convicted of manslaughter for the killing of George Carr, a Northern Pacific brakeman, finishes his six years' term in the penitentiary, to which he was sentenced, he will have to face a charge of perjury. When he took the witness stand in his own behalf on the trial for the killing of Carr, Miller swore that the testimony he had given at the preliminary hearing was entirely false. A warrant charging perjury was sworn to by the prosecuting attorney and Miller was bound over. He maintains he was not put under oath at the first hearing.

TOWN ON THE MOVE.

People of Seim, S. D., Are Transferring Themselves to North Dakota.

Seim, S. D., May 2.—Seim is ready, like the Arab, to fold its tent and silently steal away" for the new railroad town over the line in North Dakota. The two newspapers, two banks and everything else, will go on the jump as soon as the new town is definitly located. Over 100 homeseekers are locating in Butte county a week. The new town on the Milwaukee road is going to be a hummer and Seim will soon be "nonest."

LAND OFFICE CLOSES.

No More Business for Watertown Land Office in South Dakota.

Watertown, S. D., May 2.—The Watertown land office in this city has closed. It has been practically known some time that the office would be closed. Practically all the vacant land within a radius of a hundred miles or so have been taken up, and, for the most part, titles thereto perfected through the proving up process, so that it is getting to be a tame business that the office has conducted.

RUGBY EDITORS BOUND OVER TO DISTRICT COURT.

Rugby, N. D., May 2.—Messrs. L. H. Bratton and Max Boehmer, both of the Rugby Optomist, arrested some time ago on charges of criminal libel, waived preliminary examination and were bound over to the district court. Bonds were placed at $250, which the defendants furnished.

NAVIGATION OPENS ON THE "RAGING RED."

Grand Forks, N. D., May 2.—Tuesday, April 30, marked the opening of navigation on "the raging Red river" for the season of 1907. The steamer Grand Forks and barges of the East Grand Forks Transportation company's fleet left for Big Woods and other points north with a load of miscellaneous freight and bring up a load of wood on the return trip the latter part of the week. Capt. Lystad will be in command and Capt. Fero, the veteran river pilot, will be at the wheel again. On the next trip the boat will commence hauling wheat and has about 200,000 bushels to move.

INDIAN MAY HAVE BEEN SLAIN OUT OF REVENGE.

Yankton Indian Agency, S. D., May 2.—The authorities have as yet been unable to find the slightest trace of Steve Cloud Elk, a former chief of the Indian police force, who disappeared several weeks ago under circumstances which indicate he was the victim of foul play.

When he was chief he was vigorous in prosecuting persons who made a business of selling liquor to Indians on the Yankton reservation, and it is believed by some these persons revenged themselves by taking his life and throwing his body into the Missouri river.

MULES HAVE A NARROW ESCAPE FROM DROWNING.

Cavalier, N. D., May 2.—A team of mules belonging to Pete Berens, had a narrow escape from drowning in the Tongue river. The mules were hitched to a dump cart and their owner engaged in filling in a portion of the river bank, near the outskirts of the city. The cart was backed too close to the edge, and when dumped, slid down the embankment, dragging the mules and their driver into the water. The team freed itself fro mthe cart, swam up stream until a dam of ice prevented further progress, and it was nearly an hour before three teams and fifty men succeeded in hauling the mules, half dead from cold and exertion to safety.

DAKOTAS IN BRIEF

Bismarck, N. D.—Charles Albertson, Jr., put a bottle in the river on March 25 and Monday received a letter saying that it had been picked up at Okobojo, S. D. The note which it contained was read and the sender communicated with.

Minot, N. D.—H. J. Hanskamp of St. Cloud, former president of the Minot bank has settled with the receiver by paying him the sum of $25,000 and the case against him will be dropped.

Fargo, N. D.—Edward Vangsness of Webster township, died at his home Sunday after a brief illness of typhoid fever. He was 27 years old.

Inkster, N. D.—J. P. Hammond, an old and highly respected resident of this town died Sunday of paralysis.

Minot, N. D.—John Blestervolt of Sioux City, Iowa, who was injured in the Great Northern wreck at Blaisdell, died at the hospital here. His leg had been amputated and the shock proved too much. He had also received internal injuries. His wife was at his bedside when death came. The body was taken back to Sioux City.

"FINANCIAL INSANITY" IS EXCUSE FOR BANKRUPTCY.

Boston, May 2.—"Financial insanity," was the novel plea that brought freedom to Harry E. Lane, formerly a prosperous business man of Wakefield, who had been on trial in the United States circuit court for two days on the charge of criminally concealing his assets from a trustee in bankruptcy.

Insanity experts testified that Lane was afflicted with a mania for spending money and that he had no idea where it went. After a brief deliberation the jury returned a verdict of not guilty.

A motion of United States Assistant District Attorney Ham to commit Lane to an asylum was denied by Judge Dodge on the ground that the defendant was not leagally insane.

SPORTS OF THE DAY

NO PLAY AT FOND DU LAC

Rain Compels White Sox to Remain Idle in Hotel.

McCormick Still Missing From the Squad.

Fond du Lac, Wis., April 2.—The villainous hoodoo in the shape of bad weather still pursues the Duluth baseball club. After making the trip from Madison here, Smith and his men were unable to get into action yesterday, the rain of the past few days having made the diamond a veritable mud-hole. The White Sox will be unable to play the local state league team today, either, by the appearance of things.

McCormick has not yet reported, but is expected any day. He has been detained at home by the illness of his father. There is no danger of his jumping the team, and he will certainly join it before it reaches Duluth for the pre-season games there.

After leaving here the White Sox will go to La Crosse, Green Bay and Eau Claire, playing two games in each place, if the weather permits. They will then leave for Duluth, arriving there next Thursday. The men with the team pronounce themselves in fine shape. Despite the fact that the weather has been anything but suitable for training, the boys have worked all stiffness out of their joints and, with the absentees in the line-up, they would be willing to go into the league race tomorrow.

FAMOUS GAME REMEMBERED

Fifteen Inning Tie on May 1, 1877, Commemorated by Banquet.

St. Louis, May 2.—A banquet was held at the Southern hotel last night in commemoration of the thirtieth anniversary of a remarkable baseball game—the 15-inning tie between Syracuse, N. Y., Stars and the St. Louis Browns, May 1, 1877, resulting 1 to 1. Only one base runner reached third, and there was but one error in the game. Chris Von Der Ahe, formerly president of the St. Louis club, and W. A. Kelso gave descriptions of the game.

A CORNER IN SPORTS

It certainly is too bad the White Sox can't find a place in Wisconsin with some kind of weather suitable for the training of baseball players. They have tried Madison, Fond du Lac, and Freeport, Ill., without result and now they are going to try a few more, with better success, it is hoped. The Sox surely do need all the practice they can get. The team is still incomplete and unproven and it will never do to have it come back to Duluth and start out the league season headed in the wrong direction.

They now have less than two weeks before the opening of the season. If that Wisconsin weather will only change its colors for a week, when the Houghton Giants appear for the first game, Smith may have his team in some sort of shape.

The schoolboys' baseball league and the interscholastic field meet certainly deserve all the support that can be given them.

There is nothing that develops school spirit like schoolboy athletics, and the school that a boy isn't proud of, isn't worthy the name of a school.

Friendly rivalry between the grade schools in the line of athletics will only do much to foster clean sport among the grade schools, but it will react on the actual school work, by making the pupils loyal to their school and to their companions. The boy who thinks he belongs to the best class in the best school in the city will try to live up to that belief, and cannot help but do better work than the boy who looks upon his school room as the cell of a jail in which he has to spend four or five hours aday.

THREE GAMES ARE PLAYED

Longfellow, Jefferson and Lincoln School Ball Teams Win.

The Interscholastic Baseball league, which is being conducted under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A., is creating a good deal of interest this year, and the nine schools which are represented in the organization are turning out enthusiastic crowds of rooters to cheer their teams on to victory. Several of the schools have adopted colors, and these are much in evidence on the field of battle. So far all the games have been played very nearly as scheduled, and prospects for an exciting pennant race are good.

Three well played contests were pulled off on the circuit yesterday afternoon.

The Longfellow school clashed with the Madison contingent on the Madison field and cleaned them up by a score of 5 to 2. All the scoring was done in the fourth inning. The Madison men managed to get two men across the plate in this section, but when the Longfellow stickers got a chance at the scoring game, they landed hard and put five men home during the frame.

The teamsw were made up as follows:

Longfellow—F. Miller, Fred Paulson, R. Gamache, C. Gamache, R. Larson, Charles Wilson, Fieldman H. Johnson.

The Jefferson school played the Endion aggregation and defeated them by a final tally of 7 to 4, in a fast contest. Both pitchers were hit rather freely at times, but the Jefferson slab artist received a little the best backing from his team mates. The teams:

Jefferson—W. Hake, H. Helmer, D. McLeod, A. Walter, P. Landfald, F. Tims, R. Arseneau, S. Redlock, M. McDonald.

Endion—R. Maas, Pillsbury, Trelford, Kennedy, St. Claire, McGie, McGonaughy, Brierer, Peterson.

The Lincolns cleaned up the Emersons yesterday afternoon by the score of 6 to 3, winning on sharp, snappy fielding, in spite of several lively batting rallies on the part of the "Poets."

The teams were as follows:

Lincolns—M. Helm, Ekholm, H. Hansen, A. Olsen, J. Schambo, A. Johnson, A. Anderson, J. Young, M. Olsen.

Emerson—D. Croval, D. Berg, L. Wright, C. Blumquist, H. Levin, F. Huttle, Malvick, S. Berg, A. Conning.

The week-end games will be as follows:

Friday afternoon, at 4:30, St. Thomas vs. Washington, Washington grounds; Saturday morning, at 10 o'clock, Jackson vs. Longfellow, Longfellow field; Lester Park vs. Emerson, Emerson field; Saturday, at 2:30, Madison vs. Endion, Endion field; St. Thomas vs. Lincoln, Lincoln field; Lester Park vs. Jefferson, Lester Park field.

The interscholastic field meet committee will meet in the boys' department, Friday afternoon, at 5 o'clock, to perfect arrangements for the meet.

BOAT RACES POSTPONED.

Double Program Scheduled for Today at Jamestown.

Norfolk, Va., May 2.—The boat races planned for yesterday between crews representing various vessels of the foreign and American navies here in connection with the Jamestown exposition, were postponed on account of a storm. This results in a double program today.

Another feature of the program of sports in connection with the exposition will be the match for the boxing championship of the British and American navies. This will be held Saturday night. There will be six bouts, covering all weights.

HIGHS LOSE IN PRACTICE GAME

Alumni Nine Won Yesterday by Score of 6 to 1.

Yesterday afternoon, at Hunter's Park, the Alumni baseball team defeated the regular team of the Duluth Central highs by a score of 6 to 1. The game was a good exhibition, both Deetz and Cummings working in fine form. Deetz allowed the high school boys but one hit and Cummings gave the Alumni but three chances to bingle safely. In the second inning, with the bases full and two down, Deetz hit for two bases and cleared the stations. Cummings settled down after that and the graduates couldn't see his twisters.

Saturday afternoon the high school team will meet the Nelson Dewey high school nine of Superior in the first game for the possession of the Northern Hardware company cup. Yesterday's game gave Capt. McDevitt of the high school team an opportunity of sizing up his men and he will be able to pick his team for Saturday more intelligently than otherwise. At the same time the boys had a good practice and they will be in shape to dispose of the Superior boys Saturday.

COLDEST APRIL EVER RECORDED

Month Just Passed Chilliest in Thirty-Seven Years.

According to the monthly meteorological summary issued by Forecaster H. W. Richardson of the local weather bureau, the month of April just passed is the coldest since the establishment of the weather bureau here, thirty-seven years ago. The average temperature for the month of April was 38.4 while the past month the average temperature was only 31, 7.5 degs. colder than the average. The next coldest month was in 1874 when the average was 33. The highest point which the thermometer reached during the past April was 55 degs, on April 22, and the lowest was 12 degs. on April 13.

The rainfall during the month was far below the average. The usual precipitation for the period is 1.96, and the total recorded during the past month was only .92. The precipitation for April has been as high as 5.85 in 1894.

The maximum velocity of the wind during the period was sixty miles per hour which was attained while the wind was in the northwest on April 16. There were eleven clear days, ten partly cloudy, and nine when the sun did not appear.

WILL OPERATE FUNERAL CAR

Interstate Traction Company Will Make Innovation.

One of the innovations that the Interstate Traction company, which operates the car line on Minnesota Point, has made this season is a funeral car to be used whenever the occasion demands it. Park Point is fast settling up with permanent residents and, although the Point is regarded as a healthy locality, deaths are bound to occur there as well as in other parts of the city. In the past, when there have been deaths on the Point, great trouble has been experienced in getting the remains to the bridge by reason of the heavy sand which makes travel with a hearse impracticable. The funeral car will be available now at any season of the year.

MURDER CHARGE STOUTLY DENIED

"Baroness" De Massey Hints at Another Woman in Case.

New York, May 2.—In support of his contention that Mrs. Anissa Louise De Massey, the so-called baroness, on trial for the murder of Gustav Simon, was the victim of unusual circumstances, her counsel called to the stand yesterday Michael Goode, a former city marshal, who told of an encounter with Simon eighteen years ago. He had gone to Simon's place to serve papers upon him for non-payment of a bill, he said, and Simon shot him twice. He has been a cripple since. Goode said he would not have believed Simon under oath.

Mrs. De Massey testified that when she notified Simon that she intended to leave his employ he told her to call on the following Monday and he would pay her. She called as agreed and while she was waiting his arrival another woman came. When she asked Simon for her wages he told her he would not pay her and that she could sue for the money.

"Mr. Simon simply opened the door and shoved me into the hallway," she added.

Mrs. De Massey swore that she walked out to the curb and signalled for a car to stop just as a policeman arrested her. She declared that she was not in the building after leaving Simon's office and that she did not shoot Simon.

MISS GILMAN TO WED MAY 13

Former Actress Confirms Report as to Engagement to Corey.

New York, May 2.—Miss Mabelle Gilman, the former actress, who arrived here yesterday from Paris on the Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse, said when seen concerning her reported marriage to William E. Corey, president of the United States Steel corporation:

"I must refuse to discuss my personal affairs. However important you may regard it to gratify the curiosity of inquiring friends and strangers, I am afraid I cannot share your view. But I will so far depart from this reason to say that Mr. Corey and I will be married in this city on May 13, and both Mr. Corey's family and mine will be present. That is all."

HARD ROAD TO TRAVEL

The President Will Find Jordan, Predicts Henry Watterson.

Will be Fortunate if Able to Keep Party Together.

Louisville, Ky., May 2.—Henry Watterson says in the Courier-Journal:

"Mr. Roosevelt has broken all the records. Tyler, Fillmore, Johnson and Arthur long ago paled their ineffectual fires before him. He is a law unto himself. Nothing seems to feaze him. Doing wrong things outright, or good things in the wrong way—backing and filling as the case requires—making issues of veracity with the proof against him—choleric in method, cynical in action—by turns a daring temporizer and a rash assailant—a practical politician among the most practical politicians, a reformer among purists—inconsistent as a conservative, illogical as a radical—there still exists in the popular mind a fixed belief in his essential virtue; in his good intentions, his integrity and his courage. His enemies would agree that, if you offered him a bribe, he would knock you down. The good in bad men, the bad in good men, are sometimes magnified and sometimes denied; but here is a man who gets credit for good and bad alike, and there is nothing so successful as success.

"Yet, nevertheless and notwithstanding, the president is going to find Jordan a hard road to travel, and, in the end, if he is able to keep his party together an issue from the fray, drums beating and flag flying, he will be fortunate indeed; because he can no more divert the Republican party from its nature, kill in it the reason of its being than he can out-Bryan Bryan in the estimation of the Democrat.

"Thus, there may be one more victory for the Republicans in 1908, as there was for the Democrats in 1856. But it will have to be gained by a change of riders and a straddle, for the talk about a "third term" is the purest nonsense, lacking the president behind it and having defeat before it, a figment of hot-partyism which the patronage in esse cannot afford, nor the discipline in posse will not brook. The best the president can hope for in the next convention, in my judgment, is a dog-fall.

"What is the Republicar layout? From a distance it seems to be this. Taft, entered by the president, first choice of the ladies and gentlemen in the grand stand; Fairbanks and Foraker from the senate stables, backed by the knowing ones, and a field of favorite sons; Uncle Joe Cannon, from Illinois, for all that may be in sight; Knox to hold Pennsylvania for contingencies, and the list of entries not yet closed. In sporting parlance, such appears to be about the size of it.

"There is material here for the widest and wildest guessing.

"Eminent jurists make disappointing candidates. You may remember that before the last national Democratic convention I said something of this sort about Judge Parker. It is equally applicable to Judge Taft. The president has overworked Judge Taft as a man-of-all work, made him too much of a fetch-and-carry. Those who still insist that Mr. Roosevelt is secretly conspiring for a third term might see a deep design in this. There are others who declare that he is under pledge to the secretary of state rather than the secretary of war. But, great as Mr. Root's abilities and services must be conceded to be, the line which events have drawn upon the corporations makes the nomination of the most eminent of the corporation lawyers unlikely. I take it that the president wants the secretary of war, that he means it, and that as surely as Jackson stood by Van Buren, Roosevelt will stand by Taft.

"Whoever is nominated will have to beat Taft. It will be Taft against the field and the field against Taft. But let it not be forgotten that Fairbanks is in that field and that whoever is nominated will have also to beat Fairbanks.

"The vice president is an old, a cool and a shifty hand at the bellows. He is the incarnation of orthodox and conservative Republicanism. Indiana is a pivotal state. What Foraker may do to Taft in Ohio remains to be seen. Even if Ohio goes back on Foraker, may not the country be a trifle tired of Buckeyes? If it rejects Taft, can Taft still pull through a national convention as Cleveland did? Less and less has the furore trick worked in these gigantic mobs, as more and more the trick has come to be understood.

"Taft? Why not Roosevelt himself? Fairbanks? Why not Harriman?—Forakar? Why, anybody can beat Foraker. Uncle Joe Cannon? Good enough, but too old. Knox? Fiddle-dee-dee! Crane? A little shadowy. Root? Too bad we didn't! And so along the gamut of likes and dislikes, preferences and aversions, a very ten-pin alley where most are set up only to be knocked down.

"Our national conventions are growing more and more like our race courses where to the knowing ones there are few surprises. Being in France, I am going to buy 'a Paris Mutuel, on a dark horse I picked nearly a year ago—that is, in June, 1905—though I see my 'long shot' is beginning to show in the betting, to wit, Charles E. Hughes, governor of New York."

ARTHUR McEWEN DIES SUDDENLY

Late Chief Editorial Writer on New York American.

New York, May 2.—Arthur McEwen, chief editorial writer of the New York American and well known in newspaper circles, suddenly died yesterday at Hamilton, Bermuda, of heart failure. He went to Bermuda ten days ago for his health and finding himself much improved wrote home to friends expressing a hope of coming back to New York in a few days. Tuesday night he was taken sudenly ill and died before medical aid could be summoned.

McEwen leaves a widow in New York. A son and daughter also survive him, the latter residing with her husband in St. Louis, and the former in San Francisco where he is engaged in the newspaper business. The body will be brought to New York.

McEwen was born in Scotland fifty-six years ago. He went to California in the early '70s and thence to Virginia City, Nev., and joined the staff of the Virginia Chronicle where he was associated with Charles Goodwin, editor of the Salt Lake Tribune, Mark Twain, Dennis McCarthy, Edward Hart and half a dozen others who later became famous. Later he returned to San Francisco where he was connected with the various newspapers as editorial and special writer until two years ago when he came to New York.

BAD RECORD OF THE RAIL

Washington, May 2.—The accident bulletin issued by the interstate commerce commission for the three months ended Dec. 31 last shows that, during that quarter, casualties to railroad passengers and to railroad employes on duty numbered 20,944—an increase of 1,094 over those reported during the preceding three months.

The number of passengers and employes killed in train accidents was 474, an increase of 207 over the previous quarter. The number of passengers killed—180—is the largest on record, except for the quarter ending Sept. 30, 1904. Three accidents, two collisions and one derailment caused 143 deaths. The number of employes killed in coupling cars and engines was 84 as against 81 the preceding quarter.

The total number of collisions and derailments was 3,965 (2,226 collisions and 1,739 derailments), of which 391 collisions and 190 derailments affected passenger trains. The damage to cars, engines and roadway amounted to $3,099,228.

The most disastrous accident was a collision between a passenger train and an extra train hauling empty passenger coaches at Tera Cotta, in the District of Columbia. In this accident, the commission says, the number killed was 43, and injured 63. This collision is under investigation and the commission intends to issue a special bulletin concerning it.

Relief from Rheumatic Pains.

"I suffered with rheumatism for over two years," says Mr. Rolland Curry, a patrolman, of Key West, Fla. "Sometimes it settled in my knees and lamed me so I could hardly walk, at other times it would be in my feet and hands so I was incapacitated for duty. One night when I was in severe pain, and lame from it, my wife went to the drug store here and came back with a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm. I was rubbed with it and found the pain had nearly gone during the night. I kept on using it for a little more than two weeks and found that it drove the rheumatism away. I have not had any trouble from that disease for over three months." For sale by all druggists.

RUEF PANEL NOT FILLED.

Two Seats in Jury Box for Trial of Alleged Grafter Vacant.

San Francisco, May 2.—Although nine talesman were subjected to examination and cross-examination yesterday, neither of the two seats remaining vacant on the Abe Ruef panel was filled by a final acceptance.

Myrtile Carf, a staunch friend of Ruef, was ejected from the court room by order of Judge Dunne because he was whispering to Ruef at the counsel table.

Edward P. E. Troy, an insurance man, proved to be the liveliest prospective juror thus far cross-examined. He wanted to make a speech in answer to nearly every question asked him by Ruef's counsel. He was excused.

EXPLOSION IN COAL MINE PROBABLY FATAL TO SEVEN.

Charlestown, W. Va., May 2.—Three men were killed, four severely burned and four others entombed and probably dead as a result of an explosion in the Whipple mines in the Leap Creek district yesterday afternoon. The dead men whose bodies have been recovered are Hudson Bergess, motorman; Erastus Wiley, a sprinkler and Ira Kelly, a driver.

WORKERS ORGANIZE

Employes in Garment Factory Have Formed New Union.

Start With a Total Membership of Forty-Five.

Members of the organization committee of the Duluth Trades and Labor assembly have this week perfected the organization of a new garment workers' union in this city. The union starts out with a membership of forty-two, but it is expected to grow swiftly during the next few months and will probably eventually have between 200 and 300 members.

A meeting of the garment workers was held last evening and W. E. McEwen, state organizer of the Minnesota Federation of Labor, spoke to them and urged them to organize. A vote was taken and it was found that the majority of those who attended the meeting were in favor of forming an organization and agitating the use of the union label on all garments manufactured in Duluth.

Mr. McEwen has already sent to the international offices of the garment workers' organization for a charter for the new union and it will arrive within a few days. At the meeting last night a temporary set of officers was elected, but as soon as the charter is received a meeting will be called and permanent officers will be chosen.

The organization of the garment workers in Duluth has been under way for several months and several trips of the organization committee and its individual members to the various factories have been made in attempts to convince the workers that the organization is the best thing for them.

The employes of the firm of M. S. Shore & Co., of the West end make up the majority of the forty-two members of the new organization, although a few other smaller firms have been included. The members of the new union will make a strenuous effort to get all the other garment workers of the city into the organization and there is a good prospect that the union will be one of the strongest.

The proprietors of the factory at the West end are heartily in favor of the organizing of the workers and have already promised to place the union label on all goods made at their factory.

BRIDGE WHIST STILL "IT."

London Society Crazier Than Ever Over the Game.

London, May 2.—The craze for bridge whist is greater than ever this spring. No other amusement has succeeded in gaining more than passing notice, and the number of new bridge clubs organized since New Year's is really astonishing.

The latest and most expensive club is to have its headquarters in a magnificent mansion adjoining the new "tube" station in Knightsbridge, an enormous rental being paid therefor. The rooms are to be fitted up for bridge and the list of members includes some of the best bridge players in society.

Bridge dinners are all the vogue and a series of "progressive" dinners has been organized by Lord Haliburton one of the most indefatigable devotees of the game. He invites a certain number of expert players to dine with him, and the other players give dinners to the same people in turn, the result being that three and sometimes four evenings a week are devoted solely to bridge.

The game is being played by suburbanites in the railway trains, and even in some of the West end theaters, where box parties while away the long intervals between the acts of musical comedy. High play is increasingly popular, especially among women.

An anti-bridge crusade is being organized by some of the high church clergy, so demoralizing are the results of excessive bridge in some society circles.

ICE THICK ON LAKES

Inland Bodies of Water Are Still Ice Bound.

Farmers Begin to Worry Over Backwardness of Season.

Not for a period of thirteen years, perhaps longer, have the small lakes in Northern Minnesota been frozen over to such a depth at this time in the spring, as in the present year.

A. J. Shea, who resides on Ely lake, has kept a record for the past thirteen years of the date that the ice went out of the lake, and in that length of time the latest date was May 2.

This is May 2, 1907, and the ice covering on the lake is so firm that it will bear up a team. The ice, in fact, shows hardly any sign of going out, although continued warm, windy weather with plenty of sunshine would make a great difference within a short time.

What is true of Ely lake is true of all the other interior lakes, so far as information can be had of the settlers and others who have visited the lakes within the past few days.

The board of county commissioners, on the annual trip from Eveleth to Duluth, over the Miller Trunk road, Tuesday, passed by a score of small lakes, and every one of them had a heavy covering of ice.

The lakes are, for the most part, shallow bodies of water and they froze to quite a depth. After the ice formed, it became covered up under a heavy blanket of snow which thus far has kept the sun from thawing the ice. Until the snow thaws off, the ice has little chance of melting.

Farmers throughout this part of the state are complaining of a backward spring. They are anxious to begin the spring plowing and seeding, but the continued freezing weather has prevented the work. The farmers claim, however, that they are better off than the farmers in other parts of the country who, on account of the apparent early opening, went ahead and did their early seeding and had their work for nothing, because of subsequent freezing weather. A week or two of continued warm weather would see a great deal of farm work started in St. Louis county.

The pastures are about two or three weeks behind those of last season. At the present time there is scarcely a sign of green grass and some of the farmers are a little anxious as they are running pretty close on hay. While a great deal more hay was put up last fall than in any previous year in this part of the state, the high prices that it commanded in the local and adjoining markets this past winter, drew rather heavily from the farmers' stores. They held on to just about what they thought they would need to carry their stock through to the time for new pastures, but their reckoning did not hit the weather conditions very closely.

There are some districts not far from Duluth where the farmers are really in a bad way for lack of hay for their stock and the high prices that feed brings at this time practically precludes the idea of their buying very much. Several days of warm weather with a warm rain would take a load of care fro mthe minds of the St. Louis county farmers at the present time.

Telephoning From Trains.

One of the greatest inventions for railroad use since the air brake is an appliance for telephoning from moving trains, and a successful demonstration was made a short time ago on a train running about 35 miles an hour. During the past 53 years there have been hundreds of successful demonstrations of the merit of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters in cases of stomach, liver, bowel or kidney disorders, in fact it is regarded by many persons as the greatest medical discovery of the day. A fair trial is all we ask to prove to you that it can cure cases of poor appetite, bloating, heartburn, sour risings, dyspepsia, indigestion, costiveness, insomnia, sick headache, female ills or malaria fever and ague. Insist on having Hostetter's with Private Stamp over neck of bottle. It is absolutely pure.

FISHHOOK IN HIS STOMACH

Kentucky Farmer Swallows Barb While Fixing Fishing Tackle.

Lexington, Ky., May 2.—Lee Adams, a well-known young farmer of this country, who lives with his father, Charles H. Adams, near Athens, was in Lexington a few days ago to consult with physicians with regard to having taken from his stomach a fish hook which he swallowed several days ago.

The latter part of last week Mr. Adams bought a package of fish hooks at a store in Athens, and took them to his home to refit his tackle for a day's fishing. That night he got out several old lines, and while he was going over them, putting on a hook or a cork when needed, he held a fish hook in his mouth. While he had a large hook in his mouth, he was suddenly seized with a fit of sneezing, and before he could remove the hook he had swallowed it. Calling to his mother, he told her that he had swallowed the hook, explaining that it was near the roof of his mouth, and that he could touch it with his finger. However, as the end on which the little spear is attached was foremost in his throat, he was afraid to attempt to pull it out, as he feared it would probably catch in his throat.

A peculiar fact about the case is that Mr. Adams had been suffering for some time from some trouble in the stomach, presumably a tumor. The hook has aggravated this, and he is now suffering much pain. The physicians whom he consulted could suggest no relief from his trouble except through a surgical operation. The presence of the tumor, however, makes this quite dangerous, and the victim of the accident is placed in the peculiar position of having to keep the fish hook in his stomach in order to save his life.

While he is now suffering great pain, the physicians believe that the hook may finally become encysted, and further suffering be prevented. Mr. Adams, however, will probably come in to one of the hospitals where, after a careful examination, it will be decided whether or not an operation will be performed.

PHONE GIRL HAS BOILS IN THROAT

Cleveland, Ohio, May 2.—The opening of the baseball season in Cleveland has developed a new and malignant disease which Dr. H. C. Long, physician at the Hollenden hotel, says threatens the sweet voices of the 1,000 feminine telephone operators in the city.

He said that since the baseball season opened here he had no less than a half dozen telephone girls as patients, whose vocal chords were affected by yelling the scores over the wires.

They have carbuncles in their throats.

The most striking case that came to his attention, Dr. Long said, was that of Miss Alice Loretz, chief telephone operator at the Hollenden hotel. She was forced to leave the board at 5 o'clock in the evening, because of a strange affection of her vocal chords. She said:

"The tones of my voice came in sections or chunks."

She said that she felt a slight pain in her throat after the ball game, and she attributed it to the strain incident upon answering calls demanding the baseball scores.

Dr. Long, after making an examination, declared that the girl's throat was affected with laryngeal anthrax. In other words, she has boils in her throat.

TAFT ESCHEWS ALL POLITICS

Washington, May 1.—Secretary Taft said this afternoon that he had been to Ohio and returned in the same frame of mind as he left Washington: that is, he was determined to say nothing whatever about politics. He had found here a large accumulation of work, much of it the outcome of his Southern trip, involving the reduction to form of data gathered by him and the preparation of orders and instructions to give effect to the various changes that he had decided to make, particularly in the case of the canal work, and as to Cuba.

Mr. Taft expects to remain quietly at work in Washington until the middle of the month, when he will go to New Haven, to attend the annual meeting of the Yale corporation, of which he is a member.

One of the first matters to engage the secretary's attention today was the expected letter from Col. Goethals, the chairman of the Isthmian canal commission, relative to the demand of the steam shovel men and other mechanics for additional pay and other concessions. Mr. Taft had personally listened to the representations of the men and had made up his mind as to what action he should recommend to the president when the colonel requested him to defer action until he himself could report on the subject. Although the secretary was not prepared to make public this report, it was evidently of a nature to cause him to modify his original recommendation, for he announced that he was going to discuss the report with the president today, and it probably would be some time before he would be able to announce a decision.

MAN WHO BITES PEOPLE.

Stranger With Queer Mania Sought by Philadelphia Police.

Philadelphia, May 2.—With bites on his arm inflicted, he declares, by a man he does not know, John Boyle, 26 years old, was taken to the University hospital where the wounds were cauterized.

According to the hospital physicians, Boyle's case is the latest of several attacks by a strange man with a mania for biting persons walking near the Schuylkill river. The unknown, it is said, approaches unsuspecting pedestrians and sinks his teeth in an arm or hand and then runs away.

Boyle was walking on South Schuylkill avenue just before noon. He heard quick footsteps behind him and felt somebody seize his right arm. Before he could turn around his wrist and forearm had been bitten in two places. He saw a short, thick set man run around the corner and disappear up a neighboring alley.

The pain in Boyle's arm was severe, and he was taken into a house at 612 South Schuylkill avenue to wait for the hospital ambulance. Serious results are not feared from the bites. The police of the Twentieth and Federal street station are looking for the biter.

Constipation the Cause of Disease

Nature's Own Remedy.

Constipation is not only disagreeable—it is dangerous. If allowed to run on and become chronic it will prove the forerunner of sickness and disease. Nature intends that the bowels should move regularly at least once every day, and she will not be satisfied with anything else. The delicate stomach and bowels are the keystone of the arch of the human physical organization, and should be kept in normal working order to preserve health. When the bowels become sluggish they require a natural and harmless laxative. Too often they are permanently damaged by powerful drugs taken into them several times a day in the effort to force action. Nature herself has provided her own harmless laxative, the famous Natural Mineral Water — HUNYADI JANOS which can be relied on for quick and sure results. One dose of this water (½ a tumblerful) drunk on arising in the morning (slightly warmed for best results), will, within an hour, move the bowels gently and copiously. A bottle costs but a trifle and contains many doses. At all druggists.

AN ARTIST WINS GIRL WHO SAT AS HIS MODEL.

New York, May 2.—Robert Reid, the famous artist, clubman and bon vivant, has found his affinity. She is a girl outside of his sphere—a girl who sat for one of his noted paintings.

His friends know her only as "Miss Reeves of Massachusetts," but they will know all about her within a week, for the marriage is to take place at that time.

It was while painting the young woman's portrait in his studio at 142 East Twenty-third street, last winter, that the artist was conquered. Hundreds have admired the painting, which is called "A Portrait Sketch."

The prospective husband has missed few of the lively affairs that New York's studio dwellers have given in many years. He was one of the few who were bidden to the famous "Pie Dinner" which Stanford White gave in May, 1895. He was one of the group that laughed and applauded poor little Susie Johnson, whose tragedy was recalled by Evelyn Nesbit Thaw within the last few weeks.

In 1905 there was a "Bob" Reid dinner which caused no end of excitement and gossip in the studios. The police complained to by neighbors, literally "dropped in" upon the festivities—by way of the skylight.

FRICK FOR THE SENATE.

His Candidacy Involves Open Warfare With Edward H. Harriman.

New York, May 2.—Wall street has heard that Henry C. Frick has completed a deal whereby he is to get support to succeed Boise Penrose as senator from Pennsylvania, and that as a result he will from now on be an open adversary of Edward H. Harriman.

Everyone knows that a split has been widening between Frick and Harriman, but only now is the cause of the split understood.

Mr. Frick cannot hope to capture Pennsylvania legislators' votes unless he stands as a stanch supporter of President Roosevelt and his administration, and he cannot pose as a friend of Roosevelt and be in alliance with one so obnoxious to the president as Mr. Harriman.

Although Mr. Frick is now the lessee and occupant of the splendid Vanderbilt mansion, at Fifty-first street and Fifth avenue, his legal residence is in Pittsburg, and he is on the list of twenty-eight righteous citizens of Pittsburg recently proclaimed and published as such.

It has been rumored for some time that Mr. Frick would like much to become United States senator, but he has now clearly shown his hand, and all Pennsylvania politicians know that he is after the place now occupied by Boies Penrose of Philadelphia, the man who has been mentioned as having divulged the "conspiracy of rich men" against President Roosevelt.

"O. K." say U. S. Pure Food inspectors, because they KNOW these three important facts about our Rye and Bourbon whiskies are TRUE. First, that

Sunny Brook
The Pure Food
Whiskey

complies with the National Pure Food Law and compiled with it years before it was enacted.

Second, that it is "Bottled in Bond" under the direct supervision of U. S. Internal Revenue Officers, who affix over the neck of every bottle the Government "Green Stamp," guaranteeing age, purity and quantity.

Of the hundreds of samples analyzed by the North Dakota Pure Food Department chemists—acknowledged to be the most rigid in the U.S.—Sunny Brook was the only whiskey found NORMAL.

"Its quality has made it famous."

ONE FIFTH INCREASE

Big Building Boom West of Ore Docks is Shown.

An increase of 20 per cent over the total building in Duluth last year, and a record of 160 permits granted, as compared to 137 in April, 1906, is the record which the building inspector's office has established during the past month, in spite of the late spring, which has delayed things materially. The sum of $367,498 is the total of the permits granted by the office during the month, as compared with $313,507 during the same month last year.

In view of the increase which was made, in spite of the lateness of the spring and the fact that the frost is not out of the ground sufficiently to make building operations very easy as yet, it is expected that the month of May will break all records of the office.

The increase, as shown by the figures, gives a very correct idea as to the increase in building operations, as there was no exceptional big permits granted in either month, and the buildings commenced were largely unpretentious but comfortable residences.

The western end of the city is experiencing a faster growth in building lines than any other portion of the town. Of the 160 permits granted, forty-one were for buildings to be constructed west of the ore docks, at Thirty-second avenue west. Most of these were for new residences, averaging, according to the permits issued, about $1,000 each. This is a most remarkable record for that portion of the city, and when the fact is taken into consideration that the building season is as yet hardly under way.

During the month the building inspector's office has issued twenty-six licenses to move houses, granted four permits for electric signs, inspected 139 electric meters, and granted seven elevator licenses. The fees of the office during the month amounted to $885.25, which is the biggest total of receipts in the history of the office.

As the Y. M. C. A. and the St. Louis hotel are due to take out big permits for $165,000 and $75,000 in the near future, and there are a number of other big permits in sight for the month, it is very probable that the month of May will show more building in progress in the city than ever before.

REAL ESTATE MEN WILL COME

The invitation of the Duluth Real Estate exchange to visit Duluth in August has been referred to the directors by the Chicago real estate board, to get quotations on railroad rates, and to ascertain the number to come to the Head of the Lakes.

This fact is taken to mean that the invitation of the local board will be accepted, and that a number of the members of the Windy City board will pay a visit to Duluth. Outside interest in Duluth has become widespread and keen recently, and the Chicago men are said to be glad of the opportunity to pay a visit to the Zenith City.

WISCONSIN DEADLOCK STILL TIGHT AS EVER.

Madison, Wis., May 2.—The vote on United States senator remains unchanged. Today's ballot, the eleventh, resulted practically the same as yesterday's, the leading Republican candidates receiving the following votes: Cooper, 17; Esch, 19; Hatten, 16; Lenroot, 18; Stephenson, 19.

KING AND PRESIDENT CALL

Paris, May 2.—King Edward and President Fallieres exchanged visits today. The interview at the Elysee palace lasted 45 minutes.

DID NOT BUY PROPERTY

No Property Yet Sold for $2,000 Per Front Foot.

"The report that I have purchased the Merchant hotel property is incorrect. I have not bought the property and that is all there is about it," declared Joseph Sellwood, president of the City National bank, this morning, when asked by a Herald representative concerning the reported deal.

Capt. Sellwood said he had several offers from local interests this morning to erect an office building on the corner in question, but that, unfortunately, he could not accept any offers for the reason he does not own the property.

For some days past there have been rumors that negotiations were under way for a sale of the southwest corner of Superior street and Second avenue west, comprising a frontage of fifty feet on the street and 115 on the avenue, occupied by the hotel building, and that Joseph Sellwood was interested in the matter. If there was such a deal under way it has not been closed.

There seems to be a general sentiment among the professional men that the city is very much in need of more office buildings and a structure of that class on the corner now occupied by the Merchant hotel would, undoubtedly, be a fine investment.

Up to the present time there have been no sales of Superior street property at $2,000 per front foot.

TAMARACK TO SELL OFF LANDS AT GOOD PROFIT.

Boston, May 2.—At the annual meeting of the Tamarack Mining company, which was held in this city today, the old board of directors was re-elected. The directors were authorized to sell 5,906 acres of timber land, which cost the Tamarack company $12 an acre, for $20 an acre. It does not possess any mineral value.

KUROKI IN AMERICA AS JAPAN'S REPRESENTATIVE.

Victoria, B. C., May 2.—Gen. Baron Kuroki, wearing a khaki uniform and the star of the Order of Pawlonia, accompanied by a representative party of Japanese military men, arrived here yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock on the Aki Maru, on their way to the Jamestown exposition. They left for Seattle this morning.

RUSSIA'S COUNCIL ACTS ON IMPORTANT MEASURES.

St. Petersburg, May 2.—The council of the empire (upper house) today adopted unanimously the recruiting bill and the bill appropriating $3,000,000 for famine relief, passed by the lower house April 30. A supplementary resolution was adopted expressing the confidence and respect of the council in the "glorious Russian army."

RUEF AFRAID TO FACE A SAN FRANCISCO JURY.

San Francisco, May 2.—Abraham Ruef, at the resumption of his trial today, applied to Judge Dunne for a change of venue to some other county, alleging that for various reasons he could not be fairly tried in San Francisco county.

FUNDS IN GOOD SHAPE

Treasurer's Monthly Report Show Good Balance on Hand.

With $137,439.38 in the sinking fund, $24,620 in the public works fund, and $114,833.76 in the permanent improvement revolving fund, and all the other funds of the city's treasury fairly well supplied with money, the monthly report of City Treasurer Frederick J. Voss shows the coffers of the city to be in a most healthy condition.

The water and light plant fund, in spite of a disbursement of $27,453.31, still shows a respectable balance amounting to $10,973.77. The general fund suffered the most seriously, and an expenditure of $28,391.86 left it with but $3,778.83 to its credit. This is better than at the beginning of last month, however, for it was reduced at that time to $2,940.44.

The report in detail is as follows:

INTEREST FUND.

Balance on hand April 1	$42,945.37
Disbursements for the month	22,000.00
Balance	$20,945.37

SINKING FUND.

Balance on hand April 1	$137,334.38
Receipts for the month	105.00

FIRE DEPARTMENT FUND.

MARINE NEWS

NUMBER OF DEPARTURES

Is Greater Than the Arrivals for the First Time.

Conditions in the Harbor Remain Unchanged as Yet.

For the first time this season since interlake navigation opened last week, there were a larger number of departures from the Duluth and Superior harbor today than there were arrivals. The number of departures for the past twenty-four hours up to 1 o'clock today was nineteen, while the arrivals were only twelve.

Of the departures the majority of the boats cleared with ore for lower lake ports while a few were loaded with grain for Buffalo. Twelve were loaded with ore, six with grain, and the Adella Shores, departed light for Two Harbors where she will load ore. Of the arrivals five brought coal, three came up light for grain, three brought merchandise and one, the steamer Oglebay, came uplight and will load ore.

Conditions in the Duluth and Superior harbor are not changed since yesterday, except in the transfers of a few of the boats from the bay to the docks as their turns came. The coal docks are working as fast as possible to unload the waiting boats but it will probably be a couple of weeks before the blockade is at an end.

The number of boats at anchor in the bay is about the same as at the first of the week. Some the vessels have been towed to the docks but others have taken their places as more arrive in the harbor.

BIG GRAIN RECEIPTS.

Those at Duluth in April Much Greater Than Last Year.

The month of April was a record-breaker in the total receipts of grain received at the Head of the Lakes as they amounted to 8,971,503 bushels compared to 3,322,345 bushels for the same period last year.

The shipments, however, are only a little over half what they were for the month of April last year. For this year they were 4,946,503 bushels, as compared with 8,244,881 bushels in the same month last spring. There was an earlier opening of navigation last year which accounts for the greater shipments.

	Receipts April, '07.	Bushels April, '06.
Wheat	5,760,264	1,162,088
Corn	13,475	4,196
Oats	370,096	548,380
Rye	31,797	16,179
Barley	1,022,547	270,799
Flax	1,826,387	1,280,751

Tug Johnson Beached.

Cleveland, May 2.—The tug L. B. Johnson sprung a leak last night and was beached four miles west of Fairport. She can be released after being pumped out.

Body of Missing Mate.

Ashland, May 2.—The body of Patrick Casey of Prescott, first mate of the steamer Alexander Nimick, who disappeared last October, was picked up yesterday. At the time of his disappearance Casey had been despondent on account of ill health, and it is believed he committed suicide.

To Float Kilderhouse.

Dunkirk, N. Y., May 2.—The tugs Delaware and Trenton are here from Buffalo to float the tug John Kilderhouse, which sprung a leak and was beached east of the harbor while on her way to the Soo last week. After temporary repairs have been made the Kilderhouse will be towed back to Buffalo.

Delay Makes Big Difference.

Cleveland, May 2.—The delay in the opening of navigation to Lake Superior has made a big difference in the line-up of shippers, and ore men have during the past week covered several good-sized blocks of ore at old rates. Leading vessel owners are pretty well filled up on contracts, and there promises to be considerable wild ore on the market during the season. Ore is handling very slowly at upper lake ports, and there is much delay in that trade. Grain carriers are in good demand at Duluth and Fort William, and shippers at the latter port will probably have to pay an advance. All offers of 2 cents on wheat to Buffalo are being turned down. There is little tonnage on the market at this end of the route. Small carriers are very scarce.

Erie Canal Is Open.

Buffalo, May 2.—The Erie canal opened for the season at noon yesterday, and fifty boats cleared for eastern points, having on board 565,096 bushels of grain. Old canalers cannot remember a better opening in twenty years, with grain rates at 5 cents on wheat, 4¼ cents on corn and 3½ cents on oats. Indications point to the most prosperous season in the history of New York's old waterway.

Winona Badly Damaged.

Detroit, May 2.—It will take six weeks to repair the steamer Winona, which was injured in Georgian bay on her last trip last season. The shoe is gone and over 100 plates will have to be taken off.

Damages of Steamer Pilgrim.

Port Huron, May 2.—The passenger steamer Pilgrim, which was beached to prevent sinking several days ago, is in bad shape. There is a large hole in the starboard side, the deck has opened up and the cabin is shifted. The hull is badly "hogged" amidships.

Sioux City Is Sold.

The Booth line has sold the steamer Sioux City, which was brought up from the lower lakes last year, to the Indiana Transportation company. She will this year be used in the excursion business on Lake Michigan.

ROOSEVELT TO WRITE LETTER

President Sees New York Union Men on Moyer-Haywood Case.

Washington, May 2.—William A. Coakley, John S. Henry and Maurice Brown, representatives of the Central Federated Union of New York, had a talk with the president today concerning his letter to Representative Sherman, describing Moyer and Haywood as "undesirable citizens." While they declined to say anything about their interview, further than that it was "pleasant and satisfactory," it was learned that the president will write a letter to the union, to be read at its next meeting Sunday, at which time the committee also will make a report. The committee was accompanied by James B. Reynolds, who arranged for the interview with the president.

The man who never tries to trade something he needs slightly for something he needs badly overlooks a "Herald want ad. opportunity."

MURDER IS THE CHARGE

First Indictment Against Him Will Probably be Dismissed.

The grand jury, which began its work yesterday noon, made its first return in the district court today. Three indictments charging murder, grand larceny and forgery were handed in.

Dan Basorich, who was indicted last term for murder in the first degree, was indicted again for murder in the second degree. It is probable that the first indictment will be dismissed.

Basorich is alleged to have shot and killed Marco Breklacich in the town of Stuntz last January during a celebration of the Greek new year. Basorich has been in the county jail ever since the shooting and it was thought for a time that he would not live long enough to stand trial, as he refused to eat and brooded over his troubles until he became sick. Lately he has improved in health and seems to take more interest in his case and his surroundings. He will be defended by L. H. Corcoran.

Gust Carlson is indicted for grand larceny in the second degree. It is claimed that he stole $20 from Nels Erickson April 16 last.

Henning Johnson is indicted for forgery in the second degree. It is alleged that he cashed a time check for $44.30 belonging to another man.

JUDGES HEAR DIVORCE CASES

Cruelty, Drunkenness, Desertion, and Adultry, Are the Grounds.

Divorce day in the district court was marked by the usual routine of cases, several being heard and disposed of by two of the three judges this morning. It was thought possible that the divorce calendar would be cleaned up by this evening.

Cruelty, inhuman treatment, drunkenness, desertion and adultery constituted the grounds for the separations petitioned for in the cases heard this morning.

Theresa Brown was divorced from Charles R. Brown for cruel treatment and desertion. She was given the custody of her children, and $20 per month allmony. Brown is employed by one of the railway companies.

Two cases were partially submitted, the court holding them open for additional evidence. These were the actions of Ella Allen against Lawrence Allen, in which statutory grounds were alleged, and Erick Nass against Svanhild Nass, on the same grounds.

SUPERIOR NEWS

CHILD IS BADLY BURNED.

Superior Youngster Tries to Light Fire With Aid of Kerosene.

Thinking to start the kitchen fire and have it burning nicely by the time her mother returned, 7-year-old Ruth Walstad, daughter of Theodore G. Walstad of 921 Cedar avenue, Superior, poured kerosene on the coals and was so badly burned by the explosion which followed that she may die.

In a mad frenzy of terror she ran from the house, where she was alone, except for some smaller children, and raced down Cedar avenue. Her cries for help attracted a peddler who was near by and he succeeded in extinguishing the flames which enveloped the child's body.

The child's face and body were badly burned and it is thought that she inhaled some of the flames, and is injured internally.

LAND DEEDED TO CITY.

Superior Receives Big Tract After a Long Litigation.

The finale of the long drawn out litigation between the city of Superior and Douglas county over a big tract known as the "Stinson lands" came yesterday when the county deeded over to the city 1,000 acres, which is the share the city received by the term of the settlement.

The deed was signed by County Clerk Charles L. Flagstad of Douglas county and was witnessed by Deputies W. J. Leader and Dan Hoffland.

Already the city of Superior has received offers averaging $40 per acre for the lands, but they have been turned down. However, it is understood that if a more satisfactory terms can be secured, a deal will go through, as the city is anxious to use the money to make different improvements about the city.

Enlarging Its Yards.

The Great Northern railroad has begun work on the enlargement of its yards.

A large hydraulic dredge began work this morning filling in some low lying land, and the extensive improvement plans will be rushed as rapidly as possible.

New Railroad Opens Office.

An office was opened in Superior this morning by the promoters of the proposed new railroad from the Twin Cities to the Head of the Lakes. The office is in the Wisconsin block, and H. G. Crossland is in charge.

Strike Holds Up Work.

Work on Superior's new federal building has been held up by the strike of the Duluth electrical workers. The Crowley Electric company of Duluth has the contract, and the men have been called off the work, pending the settlement of the labor difficulties.

ACID IN THE BLOOD.

A well-known authority on Rheumatism gives the following valuable yet simple and harmless prescription, which any one can easily prepare at home:

Mix by shaking well in a bottle, and take a teaspoonful after each meal and at bedtime.

He states that the ingredients can be obtained from any good prescription pharmacy at small cost.

This mixture is said to relieve almost any case of Rheumatism, which is nothing more or less than sour blood—too much acid in the system, which in damp, cool weather forms into minute crystals about the joints and muscles, causing the awful pain and misery of Rheumatism.

The above mixture is said to force the Kidneys to purify and sweeten the blood, causing the Rheumatic pains and swelling to diminish with each dose, until permanent results are obtained, and without injuring the stomach.

A BRIDGE OVER TRACKS WANTED

Wholesalers on Lower Fifth Avenue Still Asking For Viaduct.

Since the engineering department claimed it to be impracticable to construct a viaduct across Fifth avenue west to the wholesale district south of the railroad tracks at that point, the proprietors of the wholesale houses and their employes in the district affected, are still anxiously stirring up things in the hope of getting some means of passage over the tracks.

They are now working for a footbridge instead of a full width viaduct. They are willing to have the teams and wagons wait for a passage across the busy tracks or are willing to send them around via the Sixth avenue viaduct if necessary, but they want some way of reaching town provided for themselves, by which there can be no danger of delay and inconvenience from the trains.

The city engineer has been asked to prepare plans and specifications for a wooden footbridge across the tracks at this point and a strenuous attempt will be made by the promoters to secure the construction of such a bridge in the near future. It is estimated that a wooden structure such as desired would cost from one-half to two-thirds as much as a steel structure answering the same purpose.

Just who would pay for it is a matter of discussion. There is a possibility that the recent rulings of the supreme court may make the necessity for its construction devolve upon the railroad companies.

BEMIDJI TO BUILD SCHOOL

Voted to Bond the District for the Sum of $35,000.

Bemidji, Minn., May 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—At the special election held last evening for the voting on the proposition to bond the school district for the sum of $35,000, for the purpose of building a new high school building, the proposition carried by a vote of 171 for and 151 against.

The building is to be built in block 19, Third addition to the townsite of Bemidji, between Twelfth and Thirteenth streets, and between Minnesota and America avenues.

The board expects to have at least four of the eight rooms ready for occupancy by Jan. 1.

WHEAT HAS GOOD BULGE

Another Day of Bullish News Puts the Prices Up.

Flax Is Quiet and About Unchanged in Duluth.

Duluth Board of Trade, May 2.—Wheat had another sensational advance again today and while prices fell off somewhat before the close, they ended considerably above the closing prices of yesterday. Bullish news was heard on all sides and the foreign markets were up. Heavy selling toward the close sent the market down a little. The continued cold weather in the Southwest, predictions of frost and reports of damage to the Russian crop were among the things which gave the market its strength. In Minneapolis, it is estimated that the amount of wheat in the farmers' hands in the Northwest on May 1 was 7,000,000 bus less than on the same date last year. Liverpool closed 6d to 7d higher, Berlin 1c higher and Budapest 3⅞c higher.

The Argentine shipments for this week are estimated at 4,000,000 bus.

The May option closed 1⅞c higher in Duluth and New York, 2¼-7⁄8c in Chicago, 1⅜c in Minneapolis, 1c in St. Louis and 1⅜c in Kansas City. The Winnipeg and Sept in Kansas City. The Winnipeg and Sept in Duluth, July option closed 1¼c higher in Duluth, 2⅝-¾c in Chicago and Kansas City, 1c in Minneapolis, ⅞c in New York and Winnipeg and 1⅛c in St. Louis.

May corn closed ¾c lower in Chicago and was ¼d higher in Liverpool. May oats closed ⅜c lower in Chicago.

Primary receipts of wheat were 546,000 bus., last year 321,000 bus. Shipments 500,000 bus., last year 164,000 bus. Clearances of wheat and flour were 169,000 bus.

Primary receipts of corn were 383,000 bus., last year 418,000 bus. Shipments 461,000 bus., last year 293,000 bus. Clearances of corn were 178,000 bus.

Wheat was active throughout the session in the Duluth market. May wheat opened ⅛c higher at 87⅜c, went off to 86⅝c by 9:32, rallied to 88c by 12:02, went off to 87¼c by 1:05 and closed at that price, a gain of 1⅜c over yesterday. July wheat opened 1¼c higher at 88¼c, declined 87⅝c, rallied to 89c, went off to 88¼c and rallied to 88⅝-89c, went off to 88¼c, a gain of 1⅛c over yesterday. September wheat opened ⅝c higher at 85⅜c, went off to 84c, rallied to 85¾c, declined to 84c, and closed at 84¼c, a gain of 1c over yesterday.

Durum wheat closed ½c higher and a cash spring wheat was selling on a basis of ½c over May for No. 1 northern.

Flax was quiet and prices practically unchanged at the close. May flax opened unchanged at $1.18½, advanced to $1.19, declined to $1.18⅜, rallied to $1.18⅝, and closed at $1.18⅝, a gain of ¼c over yesterday. July flax opened unchanged yesterday, at $1.21, advanced to $1.21⅜, declined to $1.21, rallied to $1.21⅛, declined to $1.20½ and closed at $1.21, unchanged from yesterday.

October flax was inactive and closed ¼c lower than yesterday at $1.21¾.

Oats on track and April oats were ½c lower and the other coarse grains unchanged.

Following were the closing prices:

Wheat—No. 1 hard on track, 88c. To arrive: No. 1 northern, 88c; No. 2 northern, 86¾c. On track: No. 1 northern, 88c; No. 2 northern, 86¾c; May, 87½c; July, 88¼c; September, 85¾c; May durum, No. 1, 73½c; No. 2, 71¾c; July durum, No. 1, 74c; No. 2, 71¾c. Flax to arrive, $1.18⅝; flax on track, $1.18⅝; May, $1.18⅝; July, $1.21; October, $1.21¾. Oats to arrive, 42c; April oats, 42c; rye, 64c; barley, 56-58c.

THE CHICAGO MARKET.

Wheat Opens Nearly Cent Higher on Cold in the Southwest.

Chicago, May 2.—The wheat market today opened very strong with prices nearly 1c higher. There was a large demand based upon the continued cold in the Southwest. The prediction of frost tonight especially in Kansas and an advance of ½d at Liverpool caused by reports of damage to the Russian crop, were the chief sources of strength. July wheat opened 88c to ⅞c higher at 84¼c to 84½c, declined to 84⅛c and sold at 84¼c. Minneapolis, Duluth and Chicago reported receipts of 422 cars against 615 cars last week and 216 cars one year ago.

Sentiment continued bullish all day, the high point for July being 85⅜c. Offerings were liberal in the last half of the session and prices eased off somewhat. The close was strong with July up ⅝@⅞c at 84½@85c.

The corn market opened strong in sympathy with wheat, but later eased off somewhat on reports of good weather for farm work throughout the corn belt. July corn opened ½@¾c higher at 50⅜@50½c and sold at 50⅝c. Local receipts were 190 cars with 16 of contract grade.

The high point for July was 50⅝c. In the latter part of the day prices eased off on realizing sales. The low point for July was 49⅞@50c. The close was easy with July at the low mark for the day.

The oats market was active and strong, the chief bullish factor being cold weather in the Southwest. July oats opened ⅛c lower to ⅛c higher at 43⅜c to 44c and for a time held within this range. Local receipts were 157 cars.

The provisions market was quiet and prices were firm. There was no special news. July pork opened 2½c higher at $15.22½. Lard was up 7½c at $8.82½. Ribs were 2½c higher at $8.75.

Close: Wheat, May, 87⅝c; July, 84¼@84⅜c. Corn, May, 49⅝c; July, 49⅞@50c. Oats, May, 46⅜c; July, 42⅞@43c. Pork, May, $15.05; July, $15.35. Lard, May, $8.07½@8.70; July, $8.82½. Ribs, May, $8.02½; July, $8.77½. Rye, cash, 71c. Barley, cash, 62@75c. Flax, clover and timothy, nothing doing.

Minneapolis Flour.

Minneapolis, May 2.—Flour prices were advanced 10c per barrel this morning and millers are holding quotations strong. The advance in the wheat market was too rapid to make business very satisfactory but there were lots of inquiries, the only deterrent to active business being the price. Shipments 50,567 barrels. Grain Gossip.

Broomhall on wheat: "Wheat was firm at the opening with values ¾d to 1d higher. The strong cables from America yesterday caused extreme nervousness among the shorts who covered actively. Following the opening the market ruled quiet but firm, prices holding the early advance and September gaining an additional ⅛d. The small demand for nearby cargoes and the expectation of large arrivals of cargoes if the coast served to check the advance. At midday, however, the undertone was firm."

Weather forecast for grain belt:

Lower Michigan—Fair tonight and Friday; colder Friday and in north and west tonight; frost tonight, variable winds.

Minnesota—Fair tonight and Friday; frost tonight with snow in east.

Iowa—Fair tonight and Friday; frost and colder tonight; colder in southeast Friday.

Nebraska and Kansas—Partly cloudy tonight and Friday; colder tonight with frost.

Montana—Fair tonight and Friday; frost tonight and rising temperature Friday.

The Cincinnati Price Current says: "Under a tardiness of favorable weather conditions winter wheat is backward and the situation is irregular, with warmth and moisture needed. Insect damage is apparently less serious than presumed. Oats are making a better start than expected under favorable weather conditions. It is too cold for corn planting."

* * *

Logan & Bryan, Chicago, to Paine, Webber & Co.: It looks as if the public is in the grain list to stay. There was an enormous volume of trade in wheat today, perhaps the largest for a single day in years. The strong opening was followed by a very large volume of selling orders, chiefly local in the way of profit taking. When this sort of selling was at an end the market started up a second time and recorded the highest prices of the day. The damage has been done to the crop in the Southwest and the late reports indicate that recent freezings are even more serious than drought. The damage from bugs is large. King wires that complaints are very numerous from the best wheat sections in Ohio, Indiana and Michigan. North Dakota has a blizzard and the acreage of wheat is sure to be reduced. We believe wheat a purchase on any setback of this kind.

Corn—This market naturally shares in the strength shown in wheat and oats. Weather is too cold to make preparation for early planting. Sales by a leading bull house were largely responsible for the heaviness on last trades.

Oats—Acted with wheat early and late. The leading bull interest in the market appeared to have oats for sale on the swell. The weather West and Southwest continues so cold as to endanger the crop. Much of the selling was in the way of profit taking and the trade is in shape to again take hold on the buying side.

Provisions—Shorts were buyers because of the rather bullish exhibit in stocks for the month. Moderate selling by packers and local longs held the market in check.

SHOT FATHER TO AID MOTHER

Baltimore, May 2.—J. Henry Middlekarp, a 17-year-old youth, shot and killed his father in their home at Catensville, Baltimore county, today in defense, it is alleged, of his mother's life.

Middlekarp, senior, who was a night watchman at the United States subtreasury here, began beating his wife, it is asserted. Another son went to her assistance when the man grabbed both the wife and son by their throats and began choking them. At that moment Henry appeared with a revolver and fired a bullet into his father's brain, the latter dying almost instantly.

GRANDE AGAIN ARRESTED

Joseph H. Grande of the Independent Fruit company was again arrested at 3 o'clock this afternoon, on a warrant charging him with endorsing a draft for $344.25. The warrant was sworn out by Joseph B. Simpson of the Frank Simpson company.

Grande was arrested several weeks ago on the strength of a telegram from California, but was later released, and promptly started suit against Chief Troyer for malicious arrest.

He will probably have a hearing Monday.

NIPS FUGITIVE FIREBUG.

Niagara Falls Chief Captures Syracuse Brewer Who Fled to Canada.

Auburn, N. Y., May 2.—A telegram was received here last night by District Attorney Burritte from Chief of Police Naine of Niagara Falls, Ontario, stating that he had arrested at that place, Herman Bartels, the Syracuse brewer, wanted by the Cayuga county authorities. Bartels was convicted here last year for attempted arson and, being under heavy bonds, was given three days to straighten out his business affairs before being sentenced. Instead of appearing in court on the day appointed, he fled to Canada.

INSURANCE PRESIDENT LET OFF WITH $500 FINE.

New York, May 2.—William A. Brewer, Jr., former president of the Washington Life Insurance company, was sentenced today to pay a fine of $500 for making a false and fraudulent report to the state superintendent of insurance in regard to the financial condition of that company. Two indictments charging perjury were dismissed. Brewer paid the fine.

SOO LINE CHIEF CLERK GIVEN HIGHER TITLE.

Minneapolis, May 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—It was announced at the Soo line railroad headquarters here that William H. Schutt had been appointed assistant to General Manager E. Pennington. Mr. Schutt heretofore has been chief clerk to Mr. Pennington.

STRENGTH IN STOCKS

Market Ruled Active and Strong and Closed Firm.

New York, May 2.—Opening dealings in stocks were merely nominal and resulted in a very dull market and little change. A rise of ⅝ in Amalgamated Copper and a decline of ¾ in Northern Pacific were the most conspicuous changes.

The metal stocks attracted most of the buying orders in the market, but their rise had only a temporary effect in depressing the heaviness of the railroad stocks. Initial losses in the grain carriers were recovered, but a subsequent fall of a point in Canadian Pacific and Baltimore & Ohio, and a sharp relapse in Union Pacific and Reading, affected the entire market unfavorably. Smelting, Aanaconda and Amalgamated Copper retained the major portion of their advances of 1@1¼c. Before the hour expired the list was recovering the downward movement.

A sudden spurt in the Union Pacific stock carried the Harriman and Hill stocks upward, but had not much effect elsewhere. Union Pacific rose 2½ and the preferred 7½; Southern Pacific, St. Paul and the Hill stocks 1¼ to 1½, and Reading and New York Central 1 each. Pressed Steel Car preferred fell 1. Prices were below the best at noon. A rally in Atchison convertible 4ours was a feature in the bond market.

Stocks most in favor in the earlier hours continued to gain, notably Union Pacific and Southern Pacific. The rest of the list remained firm, but was featureless. Union Pacific was up ¾ at 1 o'clock; Delaware & Hudson, 2½; Southern Pacific, 2⅜; Great Northern preferred, Northern Pacific, Reading and Amalgamated Copper, 2 each; Wisconsin Central, 1½; and Northwestern, 1⅜.

Urgent buying of the Pacifics slackened, but the market did not recede more than a small fraction. United States Steel showed later strength crossing 38. Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis & Omaha lost 2½.

The market closed firm. Profit taking was general in the final hour and carried back Union Pacific 1⅜, and Reading 1. St. Louis Southwestern preferred fell 1⅝. Prices then advanced again. Erie first preferred, United States Steel preferred, American Locomotive and National Lead gained ¼. St. Paul 1¾, Interborough-Metropolitan preferred 2½ and Amalgamated Copper and Northwestern 2⅜. Union Pacific advanced with precision to 150, at which figure very heavy transactions occurred, before it went a small fractional higher.

Stock Gossip.

New York—Logan & Bryan to Paine, Webber & Co.: Today's market ruled strong and active. Union Pacific again assumed tradership and was bid up and held strong during most of the session. Other high class stocks were in good demand and taken as a whole the list presented a better tone than for some time. There was no news of particular importance, but as soon as the shorts started to run everybody seemed to have buying orders. Today's operations would indicate that the recent rumors of pool buying were through. Union Pacific, it appears, has been picked out as the keynote of the securities seem willing to follow. We do not look for much further advance for the present as we believe the market is more or less of a traders' affair. On sharp setbacks, however, we favor the long side of the market.

New York Money.

New York, May 2.—Money on call steady, 2¼@3 per cent; ruling rate 2½; closing bid 2¼; offered at 2½. Time loans closing bid 2¾; offered at 2¾@4 per cent and steady; sixty days 3½@4 per cent and ninety days 4 per cent; six months 4½ per cent. Prime, mercantile paper, 5½@6 per cent. Sterling exchange firm with actual business in bankers' bills at $4.86.25@4.86.30 for demand and at $4.83.30@4.83.35 for sixty day bills. Posted rates, $4.84 and $4.87. Commercial bills, $4.83. Bar silver 65⅝. Mexican dollars 50½. Government bonds steady; railroad bonds irregular.

Treasury Balances.

Washington, May 2.—Today's statement of the treasury balances in the general fund, exclusive of the $150,000,000 gold reserve in the division of redemption, shows: Available cash balance, $252,122,883; gold coin and bullion, $101,357,583; gold certificates, $45,025,950.

Chicago, May 2.—Cattle: Receipts about 6,500; market steady; beeves, $4.25@6.40; cows, $1.80@4.80; heifers, $2.60@5.30; calves, $4.00@7.75; good to prime steers, $5.25@6.40; poor to medium, $4.25@5.30; stockers and feeders, $2.90@5.15. Cotton Market.

New York, May 2.—The cotton market opened firm at an advance of 6 to 13 points on covering of nearby shorts, some fresh buying for long accounts and continued uneasiness as to new crop prospects, which was promoted by further unfavorable private reports. The opening was considered better than the cables warranted, and this caused some selling for a reaction. With the weather slightly better, the market eased off shortly after the opening. Prices in the middle of the morning were about unchanged to 5 points higher, with July and October selling on and the new crop practically even terms and the new crop relatively easy. Trading was active, but there was not as much business as yesterday.

Futures closed barely steady. Closing bids: May, 10.24; June, 10.26; July, 10.33; August, 10.20; September, 10.12; October, 10.33; November, 10.34; December, 10.37; January, 10.54; February, 10.58; March, 10.66. Spot closed steady; middling uplands, 11.55; middling gulf, 11.80; sales, 13,992 bales.

Copper Gossip.

Boston to W. A. Paine: "I do not anticipate any early change in copper prices one way or the other. The United Metals Selling company is quoting the market for Electrolytic at 25¼ and Lake 25½. Buyers will no Lake above this price. Buyers will probably appear in the market this month to cover their requirements for August and September. Consumption of copper is keeping pace with the production at present."

* * *

Boston to Gay & Sturgis. The copper market is rising in strength, both as respects metal and copper shares.

All the big producers are holding firmly at the highest asking prices, and all bids of even a fraction under these prices are turned down. For several weeks the buyers have been holding off, hoping to get the market into their control. But the situation today is that the sellers are in control, as there are no stocks of copper. The consumers have been living on odds and ends and have existed by gathering up scrap copper from every conceivable source.

Now, if the copper treasurers remain firm, the consumers will have to pay top prices.

The situation is that there can be no accumulation of copper during May, and the buyers must either pay the sellers price or prepare to reduce their business.

* * *

Boston to Gay & Sturgis: The Quincy Mining company, which sells its copper direct to the trade, has negotiated the sale of a moderate sized block of copper for nearby delivery at 26 cents a pound. In 1906 the company received 1944 cents a pound for its copper, an exceptionally high figure.

A director says:

"There has not come to my attention any substantial evidence of any prospective drop in the price of copper, and I believe it will sell at between 25 and 26 cents a pound for the remainder of the year.

"Our output for the month of April was 1,300 tons of mineral, compared with 1,275 tons for March, thus establishing a new high record, and our present production, which is now at the rate of 21,000,000 pounds a year, should be continued indefinitely. At the prevailing price for copper, Quincy should be able to close the year with a surplus of from $400,000 to $500,000 over and above the $18 which it proposed to pay in dividends.

"The directors will make liberal appropriations this year for reconstruction work. This work of reconstruction should have been done long ago, but, as it was not absolutely necessary, we have waited for such favorable conditions as now prevail."

STREET CARS.

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC.

This company operates a street railway line in the city of Duluth between Third avenue east and the end of Rice's Point, and another street railway line in the city of Superior between Twenty-first street and the end of Connor's Point. These lines are separated by the waters of St. Louis Bay, and are operated as two distinct and separate lines.

The public is hereby notified that this company does not, by undertaking to carry any passenger, or by accepting fare for such carriage, assume any responsibility beyond that of carrying such passenger safely between points on the above mentioned lines.

This company is not responsible for close connections, nor safe transportation, between the above mentioned lines by any ferryboat or other means of transportation. While the employes of this company have been instructed to keep themselves posted and give upon request all the information they can as to the probability of connections being made with other transportation lines, the company has no better means of foreseeing unexpected interruptions in the service of such lines nor of telling how long such interruptions will continue, than the public has, and therefore cannot be responsible for notice of such interruptions.

Certificate of Amendment of the Articles of Incorporation
...OF...
TUPPER-QUIGLEY COMPANY.

We the undersigned, George L. Tupper and Angus McLeod, respectively the President and Secretary of Tupper-Quigley Company, a Minnesota corporation, do hereby certify that at a meeting of the stockholders of said company duly called and held on Saturday, the 6th day of April, A. D., 1907, at four o'clock P. M., at the City of Minneapolis, State of Minnesota, at which meeting the holders of a majority of the capital stock of said corporation were present in person, the following resolutions were duly adopted by the unanimous vote of all of the stockholders present, to-wit:

"Be it resolved that Article III of the Articles of Incorporation of said corporation be amended so as to read as follows:

"The amount of the capital stock of this corporation shall be fifty thousand ($50,000.00) dollars, which shall be paid in as called for by the Board of Directors. Of said capital stock, thirty thousand ($30,000.00) dollars shall be common stock and twenty thousand ($20,000.00) dollars shall be preferred stock. The holders of the preferred stock shall be entitled to receive from the surplus or net profits of the corporation, when and as declared by the Board of Directors, dividends at the rate of seven (7) per cent per annum, payable on the first Wednesday of February in each year, beginning with the year 1908. The dividends on the preferred stock shall be cumulative, and shall be paid before any dividends are paid on the common stock. In the event of winding up or dissolution of the corporation, whether voluntary or involuntary, the holders of the preferred stock, after payment of all debts and liabilities of the corporation, shall receive the par value of their shares with any unpaid dividends accruing thereon, before any payments are made to holders of the common stock. The remaining assets shall be paid to the holders of the common stock pro rata according to their respective holdings. The owners or holders of the preferred stock shall not be entitled to any vote thereon at meetings of the stockholders."

"Be it resolved that the second line of Article VI of the Articles of Incorporation of said corporation be amended by striking out the word 'three,' where it occurs in said line and inserting in lieu thereof the words 'not less than three nor more than five.'"

"Be it resolved that Article VII of the Articles of Incorporation of this corporation be amended so as to read as follows:

"Be it resolved further that the foregoing resolutions be embodied in a certificate duly executed by the President and Secretary of this corporation with the corporate seal of this corporation attached thereto, and that said Secretary be, and he is hereby directed to file for record, and cause said certificate to be published in the manner provided by law."

And we do hereby further certify that upon the adoption of said resolutions, said amendments to said Articles were then and there declared to have been duly adopted.

In witness whereof, we, as President and Secretary of said Corporation have hereunto set our hands and seals and have hereto caused to be affixed the corporate seal of said company this 11th day of April, A. D. 1907.

GEORGE L. TUPPER,
As President of said Corporation.

BROKEN BANKER IN LAWS TOILS

London, May 2.—Sir George Arbuthnot, formerly a familiar figure in the financial world and club life of London, was arrested at Madras today as the result of the failure of his bank, which was regarded in India as almost as safe as the Bank of England. Many officers' widows and children deposited their whole resources in the bank and were ruined when it stopped payment.

Proposals for State Printing.

Proposals are hereby solicited for doing the following described printing and binding of the State of Minnesota, for the period of one year, commencing the first day of August, 1907, and ending the 31st day of July, 1908. Such proposals will be received at the office of the Secretary of State until the hour of 12 o'clock noon on Tuesday the 4th day of June, 1907, and will be thereat, immediately thereafter, opened in public by the Printing Commission of the State of Minnesota. Said printing and binding consists of that required by the third and fifth classes of the classification of state printing, and is as follows:

Third Class—The printing and binding of all records and other documents ordered by the legislature, or either branch thereof, or by the executive departments, to be printed in pamphlet or book form, together with the volumes of executive documents constituting the third class.

Fifth Class—The printing of all blanks, circulars and miscellaneous work necessary for the use of the executive departments, other than such as are printed in pamphlet form constituting the fifth class.

Such proposals for printing must state the fixed rate of composition, press work, ruling and binding, respectively. Such rates must not exceed the maximum rates established by said Printing Commission and must include the furnishing of paper stock and all material required to complete the work. Each bid must be in writing, sealed and addressed to the Secretary of State, and must be accompanied by a bond in at least the penal sum of Ten Thousand Dollars ($10,000), approved as to form and execution by the Attorney General, executed by the bidder with sufficient sureties to be approved by said Printing Commission, conditioned, among other things, that the bidder will, within ten days after the acceptance of his bid by said Commission, enter into a written contract with the State of Minnesota in accordance therewith, and thereafter perform such contract according to its terms and in accordance with the specifications hereafter mentioned. Bids unaccompanied by bonds will not be considered. The right to reject any and all bids for cause is reserved. Upon the rejection of any bid the bond accompanying the same will be returned. Blank bonds, blank proposals, and copies of said specifications are now on file in the office of the Secretary of State and may be had upon request.

Dated St. Paul, May 1st, 1907.

JULIUS A. SCHMAHL,
Secretary of State.
S. G. IVERSON,
State Auditor.
CLARENCE C. DINEHART,
State Treasurer.

MAY SNOWS INFREQUENT

Late Falls of the Beautiful for Twenty-Two Years.

Heavy Storms Early in Month in 1902 and 1903.

Just as people began to congratulate themselves upon the fact that winter had at last taken himself into oblivion, the disillusions came in the shape of a snowstorm this morning.

May opened up bright and balmy. It looked as though nature had arranged affairs so that May 1 would see the departure of winter and the ushering in of spring. People looked longingly at the bright summer apparel displayed in the store windows and some went so far as to affect low shoes, although none had the temerity to spring a straw hat on the unsuspecting public. One firm conviction prevailed Wednesday, however: Spring had come.

But it was not to be. This morning about 7:30 a reminder that Duluth is nearer the North Pole than the equator, came in the shape of a snow storm. Big, soft, flakes they were, coming down in a manner to suggest the first snowstorm in the fall. For over an hour, the fall continued until there was nearly a half inch of snow on the ground. Then it stopped and the sun, breaking through the clouds intermittently, quickly removed all semblance of a snowstorm, though the wind continued chill.

Since 1885, when the United States weather bureau began to keep records of snowfall, a measurable quantity of snow has fallen in May in Duluth in six years. In 1885, there was a snowstorm covering a period of three days, although the snow did not fall continuously. Six inches fell on the sixth, one inch on the seventh, and a half inch on the eleventh. In 1888, two inches fell on May 2. In 1889, there was a half inch on May 15. May of 1890 was a wintry month. There were two inches of snow on the fourth, one-half inch on the fifth, one inch on the fifteenth, and three-tenths of an inch on the sixteenth. May 16, 1890, is also the record date for spring snowfall in Duluth.

From 1890 to 1902, there were no snowfalls in May, other than traces. In 1902, there was five and one-half inches on the tenth and in the following year, there wa a heavy fall on the first and second, the total depth of snow being four inches. The snowfall this morning did not total a half inch, but it was rather surprising in view of the weather conditions Wednesday.

It's too bad to see people who go from day to day suffering with physical weakness, when Rocky Mountain Tea would strengthen them. Tea or Tablets, 35 cents. Ask your druggist.

PERFECT HEALTH.

Health is man's and woman's birthright.

The fault with many who do not enjoy perfect health lies in the fact that they place their reliance in drugs, while the trouble is in the diet.

"MOOSE BRAND BEER"
Is a highly nutritive food beverage and coupled with an otherwise well chosen diet, it is a powerful agent for health.

Its regular use creates energy, builds up wasted tissues and enriches the blood. It stimulates appetite, promotes digestion and induces sound, refreshing sleep.

Get a case of Moose Beer and use it at meal times. If you are debilitated, it will restore you. If you are well, it will give you added vigor.

EXPLOSION IN MAGAZINE CAUSES DEATH AND RUIN IN CENTER OF CANTON

Twenty-One Bodies of Chinese Recovered From Debris.

Many Buildings and Wall of City Are Demolished.

Hong Kong, May 3.—Great destruction of life and property was caused at Canton, yesterday evening, by the explosion of a gunpowder magazine. Twenty-one bodies already have been recovered from the ruins. Hundreds of persons were injured.

Fifteen buildings were razed to the ground and over 100 were seriously wrecked. A section, 200 feet long, of the massive city wall was thrown down. The historical nine-story pagoda escaped with slight injuries.

The officials and staffs of the hospitals are doing their best to succor the sufferers.

In the Shamien suburb, where the foreigners live, a terrible shock was caused by the explosion, but the residents were unharmed.

The city of Canton is about six miles in circumference, and is en-

LABOR UNIONS IN A CONFLICT

Philadelphia Contractors Suspend Work Until Men Settle Fight.

Philadelphia, May 3.—As a result of a dispute among the labor unions representing the bricklayers, stonemasons and granitecutters of this city, work on many buildings was suspended today by order of the master bricklayers, who last night decided to stop work until the unions come to an agreement. About 4,400 workmen are affected, but if the suspension continued for more than a week, about 20,000 men of the building trades will be forced into idleness.

Neither wages nor hours are involved. The dispute concerns the laying of stone after it has been made ready by the granitecutters. The masons, reinforced by the bricklayers, with whom they are affiliated, hold they should lay the stone, while the granitecutters, supported by the builders, claim they should not only cut but lay it.

SPEEDY TRIAL ORDERED FOR SLAYER OF POLICE.

New York, May 3.—Salvatore Governale, who killed two policemen a short time ago near Washington Place park, has been indicted for murder and his trial has been set for May 13. The authorities have decided to expedite this case. The tragedy caused much public indignation and led to the crusade against the carrying of concealed weapons.

FIRE RUN BY STATESMAN

Iowa Congressman Leads Party of Fighters in Auto Race.

Mr. Haugen Saves His Bank After Cross Country Dash.

Chicago, May 3.—A dispatch to the Tribune from Kensett, Iowa, says:

Congressman G. N. Haugen led a party of fire fighters in automobiles in a race across the country early yesterday, in an effort to save this town from destruction. The run from Northwood here, twenty-eight miles, was made in thirty minutes.

Shortly after midnight, Mr. Haugen, with other citizens at Northwood prepared to render assistance, when a telephone message was sent there asking for aid. Twenty volunteers prepared to leave at once. Every automobile in town was brought into service and hose and other apparatus bundled in. Then began a wild dash through the night.

Congressman Haugen took the lead, and he set a lively pace for his followers. He led in the work of checking the flames. His bank was in danger of being destroyed. The building was ablaze several times, but each time the congressman subdued the flames.

Several buildings were destroyed, the total loss being $37,000.

UGLY RIOTS IN PUNJAB

Hindu Mob Burns, Pillages and Smashes European Houses.

Police Disperse Crowd and Hussars Patrol the Town.

Allahabad, British India, May 3.—Serious anti-European riots have occurred at Rawalpindi, Punjab. A Hindu mob burned two bungalows, pillaged the mission church, looted the postoffice, burned a garage and all the motor cars in it, destroyed the plant of a power house and smashed the windows of the residences of many Europeans. Armed police eventually obtained the upper hand and dispersed the rioters. The town is now patrolled by a squadron of the Tenth hussars.

The outbreak at Rawalpindi is attributed to the incendiary influence of agitators, who have been making speeches throughout the Punjab and who also are held responsible for the recent outbreak at Lahore.

Rawalpindi is a fortified town of the Punjab, capital of the Rawalpindi division and district, and has a population of about 90,000. The Rawalpindi division has about 5,500,000 inhabitants.

There was considerable excitement at Lahore about the middle of February, following the conviction of the proprietor and editor of a native newspaper, who were accused of stirring up hatred against the government and the British community. A story was printed in the paper that an English officer shot a Mohammedan policeman for refusing to carry the carcass of a dead boar which the officer had speared. The government prosecutor showed the

GATES OUT OF STOCKS

Noted Speculator Announces His Wall Street Retirement.

Says West is Growing Fast in Financial Independence.

New York, May 3.—John W. Gates, who is going abroad for an extended period, and who recently announced that his firm would retire from the Wall street district, is quoted in an interview today, as declaring that he has abandoned Wall street for good.

"I am through with Wall street," he said. "I've been busy down there off and on for quite a few years and I shall devote myself to the management of the business interests with which I am connected entirely apart from the stock market. I'll have enough to do to keep me busy at that, I think."

Mr. and Mrs. John W. Gates will sail from New York about the middle of July and will not return until some time in October. They will spend about a month on a French hunting preserve.

In giving his opinion of the future, Mr. Gates said: "Financial affairs in this country are undergoing a pronounced change. It will not be so long a time before New York ceases to be the whole thing financially to anything like the extent that it is now. The western cities are constantly growing in financial independence. Chicago, St. Louis, St. Paul, Omaha and other cities have got to be reckoned with more and more as the years go by. The financial center is visibly inclining westward."

MAY BLIZZARD SWEEPS WITH SNOWS AND FROSTS ON FOUR WESTERN STATES

Heavy and Destructive Storm in Missouri and Nebraska.

Iowa and Kansas Temperatures Below the Freezing Point.

Ruin of Fruit About Omaha and Lincoln Complete.

St. Joseph, Mo., May 3.—A snow storm of blizard proportions is raging here this morning. It will greatly benefit the growing wheat.

Kansas City, May 3.—There was a light fall of snow here and in Northwest Missouri this morning following a cold rain.

Wichita, Kas., May 3.—Rain that began falling here at midnight turned to sleet this morning when the temperature stood at 30 degs.

Omaha, Neb., May 3.—Snow fell here and out in the state during the night and early this morning. In Omaha the precipitation again set in, accompanied by a stiff wind which drove the snow and cut the faces of pedestrians like a January storm. Fruit and other vegetation was believed to have escaped fatal results from storms are given up now.

SOLD TO HILL FOR GOOD CAUSE

Inside History of Burlington Deal Given Out at Last.

Chicago, May 3.—At the first annual dinner of the Burlington Association of Operating Officers last night Vice President D. Willard read a letter from Former President C. E. Perkins, in which Mr. Perkins said that at the time the road was sold to James J. Hill it was in great danger of being bought up and falling into the hands of Wall street speculators and to prevent this the Hill sale was made. At the time there was a great deal of adverse criticism by the officials and employes and that he felt some explanation was due.

SUICIDE IN PARIS HOTEL

Charles J. Steedman of New York Ends Life on Tour.

Companion of Senator Aldrich on an Auto Journey.

Paris, May 3.—Charles J. Steedman of New York and Philadelphia, son of the late Rear Admiral Charles Steedman, committed suicide by shooting last night at the Hotel de l'Orient here.

Mr. Steedman and his wife, daughter of a former governor of Rhode Island, reached Paris April 30 from Italy, accompanied by a child. They had been touring in an automobile with Senator Aldrich of Rhode Island, and Mrs. Aldrich.

Since his arrival here, Mr. Steedman has become despondent. He was left temporarily alone in his room last night and when the apartment was re-entered he was found sitting bolt upright in a chair, with a revolver at his feet. He had shot himself in the mouth, the bullet traversing the brain and passing out at the back of the skull. Death was instantaneous.

The body will be embalmed and shipped to the United States.

MEN INVOLVED.
Carpenters	350
Builders' Laborers	200
Electricians	40
Sheet Metal Workers	30
Roofers	11

It is a battle royal which is being waged between the strong trade union organization known as the Duluth Building Trades Structural Alliance on one side and the equally strong organization of contractors and builders known as the Duluth Builders' exchange on the other. Both sides are still holding out, and no compromise or settlement is in sight as yet.

In the meantime practically all building operations in the city have either been stopped altogether or greatly delayed, and, should the contractors continue to refuse the demands of the union men and a sympathetic strike be declared, all work will cease except in a few cases where independent contractors may sign the scale.

About 600 Out.

There are now about 600 men in all, who have been called out, including the inside electricians, carpenters, sheet metal workers, builders' laborers and roofers, and in case the strike spreads to other trades the total num-

THIRD TERM NOT FOR HIM

Roosevelt Plans to Write Most Positive Declaration Later.

Believes Popular Indorsement is Meant for Policies Only.

Chicago, May 3.—A dispatch to the Tribune from Washington, says: President Roosevelt has decided to set at rest all reports that he will be a candidate for the presidency next year. It was learned yesterday on the highest authority that at the proper moment the president will issue a statement to the American people announcing that he will not accept a renomination under any conditions, and calling attention to the declaration he made on the night he was elected in November in 1904, as follows:

"The wise custom which limits the president to wo terms regards the substance and not the form. Under no circumstances, will I be a candidate for or accept another nomination."

The advisability of issuing a statement at the present time has been forced upon the attention of the president as the result of earnst representations made to him by intimate friends, politicians, and people residing in every

MATERIALS IMPORTS BIG

Unusual Activity Shown, With Values Breaking All Records.

Washington, May 3.—Unusual activity among the manufacturers of the United States is indicated by the record which they are making in the importation of foreign materials for use in their industries, according to a statement issued by the bureau of statistics of the department of commerce today, covering the nine months ending March 31 last.

The figures indicate that the value of materials imported for manufacturing purposes, whether crude or partially manufactured, will in the fiscal year 1907 exceed by more than $100,000,000 that of any preceding year. Much higher prices are being paid.

FRISCO'S MAIL CUT DOWN.

Only Two Deliveries a Day Hereafter in the Business Section.

San Francisco, May 3.—Beginning today the mails are being delivered to the business section of the city only twice a day instead of four time as heretofore. This is a result of a refusal of the postoffice department at Washington to allow more than $25,000 a year for carrying the mail within the boundaries of the city.

DRUMHEADS MERCILESS

Over Eleven Hundred Russians Summarily Put to Death.

Hundreds Condemned to Prison and Very Few Acquitted.

St. Petrsburg, May 3. — Newspaper statistics published today show that under the drumhead court-martial regime, 1,144 persons were executed, seventy-nine were sent to the mines for life, 710 were condemned to minor terms of imprisonment, and seventy-one were acquitted.

In spite of Premier Stolypin's order suspending the activity of the law after the convocation of parliament except in the gravest cases, thirty-nine persons have been executed since March 5.

The highest monthly number of sentences was 261 in November last. Three hundred and twenty-four persons were executed in the Baltic provinces, 212 in Poland, 195 in the Caucasus, and 103 in Yekaterinoslav.

These statistics, however, are incomplete, as the sentences were subject to the confirmation of the governors general only, who do not make any returns to St. Petersburg.

The bill introduced in the lower house of parliament providing for the abolition of drumhead courts-martial, will be discussed in the upper house May 15.

FIELD ARTILLERY POSTS IN EAST BADLY NEEDED.

Washington, May 3.—As an incident to the separation of the field and coast artillery, according to an act of the last congress, pressing needs for ample and spacious posts in the eastern part of the United States for the assembling and training of the field artillery which the experience of the Russo-Japanese and Boer wars has demonstrated to be the very backbone of the army, has developed. This division of the army must be greatly increased and strengthened and brought to the highest efficiency, if the American army is to keep step with the armies, not only of Europe, but the Orient. To meet the necessity of ample reservation for muster and drill of these forces, Secretary Taft will strongly urge on congress, at its next session, the urgency of procuring the necessary lands.

COUNT SHOT AS OUTLAW

Nephew of Cardinal and Prince Mistaken for Murderer.

Exile From Home for Love and Laborer in California.

San Francisco, May 3.—The supposed desperado, who was killed at Willows, Monday night, after a running fight with a posse of offices, has been identified as Count Otto von Waldstein of Austria, nephew to the cardinal and to Prince Wartemburg, one of the richest men in Franz Joseph's empire.

The identification was made at Willows yesterday by Miss Mary Fitzgerald of this city, who knew him well, after the body of the young nobleman had been exhumed from the potters' field. The identification was so complete that there can be no possibility of mistake.

Count Otto died fighting, believing he was being attacked by a band of robbers. The posse thought it had run down Smith, the murderer of John Marcovich of Oakland.

Count Otton von Waldstein left Austria and family six years ago, because of a love affair. He fought through the Boer war. He wandered to America, a poor man without profession, to work with his hands for existence. He followed the reclamation service through the West. He quit a job in Placer county the day before his death and was walking toward San Francisco.

HUGHES IS OVERRIDDEN

New York Senate Votes to Retain Superintendent Kelsey.

Warm Talks by Leaders on Both Sides of Contest.

Albany, N. Y., May 3.—One year, to a day, from the time of his original appointment by Governor Higgins, the senate, last night, reconfirmed Otto Kelsey in the office of state superintendent of insurance, giving only 24 of the 26 votes necessary to sustain Governor Hughes' recommendation of his removal from office. Twenty-seven votes were cast against removal. The result was received by applause and cheers from the crowded floor and gallery.

The governor's action in asking Kelsey's removal was warmly supported by a number of senators and as hotly criticised by others. Senator Herman of Binghamton in asking the removal said: "Governor Hughes had no desire to injure or reflect upon Superintendent Kelsey, but he wanted at the head of that department a man, with stogie boots and brass knuckles, who would take the insurance companies by the neck and compel them to give the policyholders their rights. The people are tired of the partnership between rich corporations and politicians and the party, and the members of the party who fail to read the signs of the times, will hear from the people."

Senator McCarren of Brooklyn, Democrat, opened the argument in Superintendent Kelsey's defense and made a speech far longer and much more impassioned than is his wont. He said: "The man who votes to remove Otto Kelsey merely in order to 'sustain the governor' or because 'the president favors it' or for any reason other than his own convictions as to the merits of the case is a coward and unfit to sit as a member of this senate."

Senator Hooker of Genesee, Republican, scouted the idea that either President Roosevelt or Governor Hughes would desire any senator to vote otherwise than according to the dictates of his own conscience.

The appeal to sustain the governor's recommendation was taken up by Senator Armstrong, Republican, who was chairman of the insurance investigation committee and who declared: "Some of the men who desire today to crucify Governor Hughes will never return here to repeat it. He will live in politics longer than some of you who now oppose him."

EXPLOSION IN MAGAZINE

closed by walls, about twenty feet thick and from twenty-five to forty feet high. There are sixteen gates into the city, besides the water gates. The famous nine-storied pagoda, dating from the beginning of the middle ages, is situated in the western part of what is known as the old city.

The foreigners reside in the Shamien suburb, founded in 1859, on an artificial island on the Honan side of the river.

Some idea of the force of the explosion may be gathered from the fact that the roofs of houses a mile from the magazine were blown off. A number of important mercantile establishments were demolished.

The bodies recovered from the ruins in the vicinity of the magazine were shockingly mangled. The officer in charge of the magazine was among those killed, and when his body was recovered, a pipe was found clutched in his hand.

TRIBUTE TO GOOD WOMEN

Duties of People and Country Set Forth in Address.

Washington, May 3.—At the unveiling of the bronze heroic equestrian statue of Maj. Gen. George B. McClellan, erected under the auspices of the Army of the Potomac, yesterday afternoon, President Roosevelt made the principal speech and, with Gen. Frederick D. Grant on his right and Governor Stokes of New Jersey on his left, witnessed the imposing military parade of regulars and militia. Mrs. McClellan, the general's widow, Mayor George B. McClellan of New York, son of the general, and Dr. George McClellan of New Jersey, a nephew, who pulled the string, releasing the flags in which the statue was enveloped, occupied seats on the president's stand.

In his speech, the president paid high tribute to Gen. McClellan and the Army of the Potomac; referred to the presence of presidential aides of sons of generals on both sides in the Civil war; declared it the duty of all to "strive for peace provided it comes on the right terms," and peace with respect and honor and standing for the right; scored the rich man who does nothing but accumulate riches and extolled men and nations that overcome obstacles and do not shirk duties; and gave high praise to the soldiers who fought for what they held right in the Civil war.

The president said there was one person in this country he put ahead of the soldier—"The really good woman, the good wife, and mother who has done her full duty." "She often has a pretty hard time," he added. "Yet the woman who thus, with labor and anxiety brings up her children is blessed among women, blessed among men. I do not pity her in the least. I respect and admire her and hold her worthy of admiration and honor. The selfish creature, man or woman, who reaches old age, having acquired ease by shirking duty, is to be heartily despised and not envied. Our admiration is reserved for him or her who has done the real work which makes the next generation able in its turn to do its work in the country."

The president concluded as follows: "America must rise level to the ideals of the founders of the nation when they started this mighty republic on the road of self government. These ideals in their sum were to found her a government of the people, by the people, where no man should wrong his brother, where the nation should wrong no outsider, and should be able to resist aggression from without. I hope to see this nation play an ever growing part in the affairs of the world. It cannot play that part unless it is willing to accept the responsibilities that go with it. We cannot do our first primary duty at home within our own borders unless we strive measurably to realize certain ideals. By this I do not mean merely to talk about them at Fourth of July celebrations; to speak of them, and applaud the speech, and then go home and have neither speaker nor hearer practice what has thus virtuously been preached. We should say and applaud only what we believe in, and, having said it, and have applauded it, when said, we should try to put it into practice."

A BOLD STEP.

To overcome the well-grounded and reasonable objections of the more intelligent to the use of secret, medicinal compounds, Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., some time ago, decided to make a bold departure from the usual course pursued by the makers of put-up medicines for domestic use, and so has published broadcast and openly to the whole world, a full and complete list of all the ingredients entering into the composition of his widely celebrated medicines. Thus he has taken his numerous patrons and patients into his full confidence. Thus too he has absolutely and completely removed his medicines from among secret nostrums of doubtful merits, and made them Remedies of Known Composition.

They are now in a class all by themselves--being absolutely and in every sense Non-secret.

By this bold step Dr. Pierce has shown that his formulas are of such excellence that he is not afraid to subject them to the fullest scrutiny.

So many false formulas and malicious statements concerning his medicines had been published through the connivance of jealous competitors and disgruntled doctors, that Dr. Pierce determined to completely disarm his assailants by a full and frank statement of their exact composition, verifying the same under oath as complete and correct. This he has done and to the complete discomfiture of those who had assailed his good name as well as the well-earned reputation of his world-famed medicines.

Not only does the wrapper of every bottle of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, the famous medicine for weak stomach, torpid liver or biliousness and all catarrhal diseases wherever located, have printed upon it, in plain English, a full and complete list of all the ingredients composing it, but a small book has been compiled from numerous standard medical works, of all the different schools of practice, containing very numerous extracts from the writings of leading practitioners of medicine, endorsing in the strongest possible terms, each and every ingredient contained in Dr. Pierce's medicines. One of these little books will be mailed free to any one sending address on postal card or by letter, to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., and requesting the same. From this booklet it will be learned that Dr. Pierce's medicines contain no alcohol, narcotics, mineral agents or other poisonous or injurious agents and that they are made from native, medicinal roots of great value; also that some of the most valuable ingredients contained in Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription for weak, nervous, over-worked, "run-down," nervous and debilitated women, were employed, long years ago by the Indians for similar ailments affecting their squaws. In fact, one of the most valuable medicinal plants entering into the composition of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription was known to the Indians as "Squaw-Weed." Our knowledge of the uses of not a few of our most valuable native, medicinal plants was gained from the Indians.

As made up by improved and exact processes, and with the use of specially designed chemical apparatus, the "Favorite Prescription" is a most efficient remedy for regulating all the womanly functions, correcting displacements, as prolapsus, anteversion and retroversion, overcoming painful periods, toning up the nerves and bringing about a perfect state of health.

The exact proportion of the several ingredients used in these medicines, as well as the working formula and peculiar processes, apparatus and appliances employed in their manufacture, are withheld from publicity that Dr. Pierce's proprietary rights may not be infringed and trespassed upon by unprincipled imitators and those who may be piratically inclined.

Dr. John Fyfe, of Saugatuck, Conn., Editor of the Department of Therapeutics in THE ELECTRIC REVIEW says of Unicorn root (Helonias Dioica) one of the chief ingredients of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription: "A remedy which invariably acts as a uterine invigorator and always favors a condition which makes for normal activity of the entire reproductive system, cannot fail to be of great usefulness and of the utmost importance to the general practitioner of medicine."

"Helonias more fully answers the above purposes than any other drug with which I am acquainted. In the treatment of diseases peculiar to women it is seldom that a case is seen which does not present some indication for this remedial agent."

"The following are among the leading indications for Helonias: Pain or aching in the back, with leucorrhea; atonic (weak) conditions of the reproductive organs of women, mental depression and irritability, associated with chronic diseases of the reproductive organs of women, constant sensation of heat in the region of the kidneys: menorrhagia, ("flooding") due to a weakened condition of the reproductive system; amenorrhea, arrising from or accompanying an abnormal condition of the digestive organs and an anemic (thin blood) habit; dragging sensations in the extreme lower part of the abdomen."

If more or less of the above symptoms are present, no invalid women can do better than take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, which is rich in all the medicinal properties of Unicorn root or Helonias.

"BARONESS" IS FOUND GUILTY

New York, May 3.—"Baroness" Anisia Louise De Massy, the pattern designer, tried for the killing of Gustav Simon, a shirt waist manufacturer, was convicted last night of manslaughter in the first degree, with a recommendation to mercy, and the prisoner was remanded to the Tombs until next Thursday for sentence, which may be imprisonment for not over twenty years, with no fixed minimum.

Gustav Simon, a wealthy shirt waist manufacturer, was shot in his office Nov. 19 and died a few hours afterward. Mme. De Massy, known as "Baroness" De Massy, was employed by Simon as a shirt waist designer, and was arrested while leaving the building a few minutes afterward. She acknowledged that she had had a disagreement with Simon over wages and had left the manufacturer's office a few minutes before her arrest, but consistently maintained throughout her trial that she had nothing to do with the shooting.

When the prisoner was brought in she was very pale but appeared calm, and faced the jury without apparent emotion. She also received the verdict calmly.

HE WAS FORTIFIED.

The Bellman: Prof. Masson of Edinburgh, author of a compendious life of Milton, was once exasperated by the listlessness of a student in one of his classes. After bearing long in silence the young man's inattention, the professor one day broke out in the midst of his lecture and addressed himself to the student. "May I ask you, sir," said he, "whether you expect to pass this course?" "I have hopes, sir," answered the student. "Then, when the examination comes, sir, you will wish for notes on these lectures. What will you do for htme?" "I have my father's sir," was the reply.

ALL READY FOR HAYWOOD TRIAL

Nothing Now Expected to Delay Opening of Miner's Case.

Boise, Idaho, May 3.—Counsel for prosecution and defense in the Governor Steunenberg murder case have settled down to their final preparatory work, and there is every reason for believing that the trial of William Haywood, first of the accused, will be commenced next Thursday. Various reports as to moves tending to further delay the trial are in circulation, but the attitude of both sides indicates that they are ready to go to trial.

The only preliminary proceeding is a motion by the defense for a bill of particulars of the evidence by which the state hopes to show that Haywood conspired in the murder of Steunenberg. This motion, which is designed to secure a disclosure of the hand of the state, will be argued before Judge Wood Monday, but is not regarded as likely to delay the trial.

story was fictitious and that the policeman was killed by being thrown from a horse. The prisoners pleaded that they had published an unverified rumor in good faith, but the court sentenced the proprietor to two years in prison and a fine, and the editor to six months' imprisonment and a fine. After the sentences had been imposed, a crowd of Hindus paraded the streets angrily denouncing and hooting every European they met.

A dispatch from Lahore April 27 announced that rifles and twenty rounds of ball had been served out to the local volunteers in consequence of signs of marked unrest among the Hindu student elements, due to the publication of articles in the native newspapers inciting race hatred and demanding native control of the government by means of an elective parliament. The authorities had the unanimous support of the great Mohammedan population, who, at numerous mass meetings, emphatically condemned the anti-European movement.

FURIOUS ITCHING HUMOR ON CHILD

THEN CUTICURA MAKES COMPLETE CURE IN 5 DAYS

"It is in my opinion my duty to join those who praise the Cuticura Remedies. After my granddaughter of about seven years had been cured of the measles, she was attacked about a fortnight later by a furious, itching and painful eruption all over her body, especially the upper part of it, forming watery and bleeding sores, especially under the arms, of considerable size. She suffered a great deal and for three weeks we nursed her every night, using all the remedies we could think of. Nothing would help. We then remembered having heard so much about Cuticura Remedies. We sent for them and after twenty-four hours we noted considerable improvement, and, after using only one complete set of the Cuticura Remedies, in five consecutive days the little one, much to our joy, had been entirely cured, and has been well for a long time. TWENTY-EIGHT WOMEN LAWYERS

Admitted to Practice in the United States Supreme Court.

Washington, May 3.—Miss Ida M. Moyers of this city, who was admitted to practice before the supreme court last week, is the twenty-eighth member of the tender sex to attin that distinction. The first woman to become a member of that bar was Belva A. Lockwood, who was first denied the privilege on the ground that there was no authority for women to practice before the court. She then secured the passage of a special law admitting women to the bar on an equal footing with men, and as soon as the bill was signed she appeared and took the customary oath on March 3, 1879. It was not until six years later that Mrs. Lockwood lost her monopoly of rights, and since then the applicants have appeared every year or so. They are scattered all the way from Massachusetts to California, each of which is the residence of two women who are members of the high bar.

This city has the greatest number—six. Illinois and Wisconsin have four each; Nebraska, three; Pennsylvania, two, and Arizona, Connecticut, Missouri, New Jersey and Montana one each. All four of the Wisconsin members belong to one family—Mrs. Kate Pier and her three daughters, who are active practitioners in Milwaukee. The eldest daughter, Miss Kate H. Pier, the first of the family to be admitted, had as her sponsor the then Senator William F. Vilas of Wisconsin. Later her next sister was admitted on her motion and she introduced her mother and youngest sister on the same day.

Comparatively few of the women admitted avail themselves of their privileges, the conspicuous exceptions being Mrs. Lockwood, who has appeared frequently, and last term argued an Indiana case, and Mrs. Sarah Herring Sorin of Tuscon, Ariz., who was admitted about a year ago and is the attorney of record in a case on call next week.

Miss Moyers, the latest addition to the ranks, is a good looking young woman, apparently 23 or 24 years of age, and is the senior member of a law firm here which makes a specialty of practice before the court of claims.

LONGSHOREMEN GO ON STRIKE

Three Thousand New York-Brooklyn Dock Workers Are Out.

New York, May 3.—Strikes of longshoremen along the water front of both New York and Brooklyn have become epidemic. Today it is estimated that nearly 3,000 men have gone out. All demand an increase of at least 5 cents an hour for day work, and 15 cents more for overtime or night work. Much shipping is held up, pending a settlement of the difficulty.

The second, third and fourth officers who resigned from the service of the coastwise steamship lines because an increase in wages has not been granted, with but a few exceptions, came to terms with the companies last night. The outlook is a victory for the men, who receive substantial advances. The companies which have not yet accepted the terms of the officers are the Atlantic Coast Lumber company, the Gulfey Oil company and the Standard Oil company, but they are understood to have been prepared all along to fall in line with what the other companies decided on. The new scale is $100 per month for first mates, $80 for second mates and $60 for third mates, or a general raise of $20 per month all around.

FREE FROM COAL TRUST

Big Dock at Ashland Will Supply Independent Companies.

Ashland, Wis., May 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—The successful organization of the Northwestern Co-Operative Coal & Dock company, and the starting of the work here in the construction of a modern coal dock, has aroused a great deal of interest throughout the Northwest, for this is the first time in the history of this Northwestern region that an effort has thus far been made to supply coal consumers on a co-operative basis with coal direct from independent mines in the East.

The movement was designed originally for the Farmers' Co-Operative companies of the Northwest, but as under the terms of the organization no person can secure coal except the stockholders, many other coal consumers, who have become incensed at the arbitrary dictation of the coal trust, have become members of the company.

Ashland is just now the mecca for many of the offices of the co-operative farmer institutions, who are coming here for the purpose of personally investigating the situation, with a view of having their companies become members of this co-operative coal concern.

Yesterday there was a delegation here consisting of George W. H. Davis of Devils Lake, N. D., the president of the Farmers' Grain company, which owns seventeen co-operative elevators in that part of the state; M. A. Hanson of Morris, Minn., secretary and manager of the Nelson & Hanson company; Thomas Nimlos of Minneapolis, the general organizer for co-operative stores; J. F. Lossing of Finley, N. D., director in the Farmers' elevator there, and H. A. Bornaman, director of the Farmers' elevator at Colgate, N. D.

All of these men returned home enthusiastic over the plan of the organization of the company, and the opportunity that the company thus affords co-operative companies of the Northwest to secure coal direct from their own dock on Lake Superior.

Mr. Davis, whose Farmers' Grain company is capitalized at $250,000, and which consists of Ramsey, N. D., farmers, stated that the organization of this co-operative coal company was the first time in the history of the Northwest that a co-operative movement of this magnitude had been attempted, and that he was not only impressed with the possibilities and the advantages, but that he would have his company become a member at once, for he feels that under the manner in which the company is organized, that his concern will save on their coal supply the amount of money the first year that their stock purchase amounts to.

Officers and directors of the Iowa Farmers' Grain association are coming here to make a personal investigation of the situation and of proposition. The Iowa Farmers' Grain association is made up of the 220 farmer co-operative elevators in that state which gives a membership of fully 25,000 active working farmers.

A rather unexpected feature of the organization of the company has been the starting of movements in various towns for public spirited men to take stock necessary in the company so as to supply their respective municipalities with coal on this co-operative basis. This is particularly the case in communities that own their own electric light plants where trouble has been experienced in various ways in getting suitable treatment by companies controlled by the coal trust.

At Breckenridge, Minn., the city council and prominent citizens are taking up the proposition in this way, and this is also the case at Devils Lake, N. D., where the people feel particularly incensed over the treatment they have received during the past winter, and they seem very anxious to arrange some proposition so they will be able to get coal on this co-operative basis at their own dock on Lake Superior.

Under the plan of organization the six Northwestern states, Wisconsin, Minnesota, North and South Dakota, Iowa and Nebraska are each to have one director, and the first annual meeting for this purpose is to be held in Ashland in June, at which time excursions are to be run from various points in the Northwest to this city.

The company is organized to secure for its stockholders coal bought direct at independent mines in the East, taken to Ashland on the Great Lakes on boats chartered by the company and unloaded on the company's own dock at Ashland, thus taking coal direct from the mine to the stockholders of the company, without the intervention of any organized monopoly, wholesaler, jobber or retailer, thus freeing the consumer from the dictation, terms, and exorbitant prices of the Coal trust, which has the Northwest at present so firmly in its grasp that the federal grand jury has just been holding an investigation in Minneapolis regarding it.

MARINE NEWS

WILL LIVE IN DULUTH

Lake Vessel Masters and Mates Are Looking for Homes.

Duluth is More Convenient Than Lower Lake Ports.

Some of the vessel masters, mates and engineers are already living in Duluth or at Superior, and have done so far a number of years, but the majority have until this season made their homes at lower lake ports. At present, however, it is reported that there is a general movement among the mariners to either purchase or rent homes in this city and the Head of the Lakes will probably soon become a central headquarters for them.

Heretofore a majority of the captains and mates have lived at the lower lake ports, Buffalo, Cleveland, Detroit, and Chicago, but the tendency to move North seems to be general this spring. Several of the real estate offices have received inquiries from the captains concerning houses and flats for rent and for sale, and as is usual in Duluth, the captains are having difficulty in finding what they want.

It is much more convenient for the captains in Duluth, it is said, and for this reason they are now beginning to look for homes in this city. When a captain leaves for a trip down the lakes he does not always have a chance to reach his home if it is located in one of the lower lake ports, for the reason that he rarely goes to the same port twice in succession. Some trips he may go to Chicago, others to Cleveland or Buffalo and therefore there are some periods during the season of navigation when he has no chance to visit his home for several weeks or months at a time.

If the captains in the lake trade have their homes in Duluth they will rarely miss a visit with their families as the boats practically always come to Duluth or Superior if they come to Lake Superior at all. There are also other reasons why many of the captains are seeking homes in Duluth.

Owing to the large number of boats which are at the Head of the Lakes at the present time, the city is almost full of captains, mates and engineers, and on account of the delay in getting the vessels unloaded the men have had a good chance to become better acquainted with the city and they all seem to be well pleased.

STEAMERS IN COLLISION

Port Huron, May 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—The steamer Iroquois and the wooden steamer Gratwick were in collision last night abreast of Port Huron. Both vessels were badly damaged.

The Gratwick was bound up and was passing the Iroquois, which had a barge in tow, when it was caught by the current and swung broadside directly across the bow of the Iroquois.

CANASTOGA CHARTERED

By Duluth & Chicago Line---Steamer Alva Arrives.

The steamer Alva, of the Duluth & Chicago Transportation company, arrived in the Duluth harbor last evening after being several hours overdue. She is the first boat of the new line to arrive, and carried package freight.

The new company has just chartered the steamer Canastoga for the season and she will leave on her first trip from Chicago today. The other steamer operated by this company is the Gratwick. The Gratwick will leave Chicago next Wednesday.

Completes Round Trip.

The steamer Hoover & Mason is one of the first boats which left the Duluth harbor, which has made a round trip. The Hoover & Mason was one of the first steamers to leave the harbor two weeks ago and she has since carried a load of grain to Buffalo and was among the arrivals yesterday, having come up light for ore.

Easton and America Return.

The steamer Easton of the Booth line returned last night after making her first trip down the shore to Houghton. She departed again this afternoon on her second trip. The America returned this morning from her north shore trip and again cleared this afternoon for another trip.

To Be Completed at Lorain.

Cleveland, May 3.—The steamer Thomas Lynch of the Steel Trust fleet which was recently launched at the South Chicago yard of the American Shipbuilding company, will be taken to the Lorain shipyard to be completed, owing to the strike at the former yard. The Lynch will be towed to Lake Erie by the steamer Mary H. Boyce.

Captains Suspended.

Buffalo, May 3.—Capt. D. L. Cartwright of the steamer Northern Wave was today suspended for a period of ten days, and Edward A. Fleming, shore captain of the line, is also penalized for navigating the steamer without a certificate of inspection on board.

Is a Total Loss.

Cleveland, May 3.—The tug L. B. Johnson, which was beached near Fairport Tuesday night to prevent sinking, is a total loss and has been abandoned by her owners.

Chartered by New Line.

Grand Haven, May 3.—The teamer Conestoga has been chartered by the Crosby line to Thomas Prindiville to be placed in the new line between Chicago and Duluth. The Conestoga left for Chicago last night.

Want Better Rate.

Cleveland, May 3.—Vesselmen are holding for 2¾ cents on wheat from Fort William, and they say they will send boats for ore unless that rate is paid. Tonnage is in good demand at Duluth and at the Canadian ports. Ore is moving a little more freely. Coal boats will be scarce until next week.

Coal Supplies Slow.

Buffalo, May 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—Coal is coming in from the mines very slowly, and chartering is extremely quiet, only one contract being reported today by the Thomas Cranage for Superior at 30 cents.

Steamer Eddy Is Sold.

The Gilchrist Transportation company has purchased the steamer Charles A. Eddy at Cleveland for $9,500 at a marshal's sale held Wednesday. The boat will be placed in dry dock at once for repairs and will be placed in commission as soon as possible.

Take Charge of Barges.

Capt. Fred Krick and Capt. A. H. Hand of the Pittsburg Steamship company's barges Nos. 130 and 134 respectively, arrived in Duluth yesterday to take charge of their boats which wintered at Two Harbors. The captains both left in the afternoon for Two Harbors, from which they will both depart on their vessels, which are loaded with ore, tonight.

PLEADS CONSTITUTION IN OIL TRUST'S BEHALF.

Chicago, May 3.—In presenting arguments today on his motion for a new trial in the Standard Oil case recently decided against the company in the United States district court, Attorney John S. Miller declared in the Elkins act as applied to interstate shipments was in violation of the fourteenth article of the constitution of the United States. He announced at the commencement of his argument that without prejudice to the motion of a new trial he would make a motion for arrest of judgment.

ST. LOUIS STRIKE ENDS IN ARBITRATION DEAL.

St. Louis, May 3.—The striking Web pressmen, after an all-night session, decided early today to return to work. The Republic and Globe-Democrat came out with their city editions on time. The employes returned to work, agreeing to settle the matter under the terms of the arbitrational agreement. Two afternoon papers were also affected by the strike.

FIRE MARSHAL BLAMED FOR NOT AIDING DUNNE.

Chicago, May 3.—Fire Marshal Horan, chief of the local fire department, was summoned today before the grand jury. After leaving the jury room he said that he had told the grand jury that much fault had been found with him by the Dunne administration because he had not enlisted the firemen in the interests of the administration as deeply as it was expected he would. He declined to give the name of the individual connected with the administration who had criticised him, but said that he had given it to the grand jury.

FAIRCHILD FACES TRIAL

Ex-Secretary to be Arraigned in Court Next Monday.

Prussian Bond Deal Involved Noted Men in Legal Meshes.

New York, May 3.—Counsel for the defendant arranged with the district attorney's office yesterday for the appearance next Monday of Charles S. Fairchild, former secretary of the treasury, who in December last, was indicted on six counts charging forgery in the third degree. The case grew out of what came to be known as the "Prussian bond transaction" of the New York Life Insurance company. George M. Perkins was indicted at the same time.

In the so called Prussian bond affair, the New York Life was threatened with expulsion from Prussia because the Prussian government declared that the company was carrying on its credit sheet industrial stocks and bonds which the Prussian government did not consider the proper security for an insurance investment. Accordingly the New York Life, it is alleged, charged off its books to the New York Security & Trust company of which Fairchild was then president, as bonafide sale of stocks to the value of many millions of dollars in the Chicago & Northwestern and the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railroads. The trust company, however, it is alleged, under the indictment charged off the sale as a loan, giving its note, of which M. M. Mattison, head bookkeeper in the New York Life's finance department and a colored porter named Marshall were the makers. It is alleged that Perkins and Fairchild authorized the transactions and the same constituted falsifications of the insurance company's books. Fairchild will be represented by McFarland, Whitney & Monroe, attorneys.

District Attorney Jerome continued his investigation yesterday into the recent election for directors of the New York Life company and which has already resulted in the arrest of George R. Scrugham, manager of the International Policyholders' committee and two employes of the committee on charges of conspiracy. Mr. Jerome gave out a statement in which he declared that he was satisfied with the work of his assistants which resulted in the arrest of Scrugham and that he assumed responsibility.

LEGISLATOR IS SUSPECTED

May be Responsible for Death of Miss Edith Presley.

Lansing, Mich., May 3.—Representative Charles E. Ward, who is suspected of knowing some of the circumstances leading to the death of Miss Edith Presley in a Detroit hospital, is prostrated at his home in this city.

Ward is the only man under suspicion. He has not been at the state house for several days. He has engaged State Senator Tuttle as his counsel.

Prosecuting Attorney Robison of Detroit said he has learned that Representative Ward went to Detroit April 18 and asked a reputable physician to perform an operation on the girl. Robison says further that he has positive information that Ward endeavored to learn of another physician who would do the work when his first request was refused. The police claim that Miss Presley went to Detroit at Ward's request. It is also known that Ward registered in the same hotel as Miss Presley, who signed herself "Miss Hall." Mrs. Scott, the girl's landlady, says Ward often called on Miss Presley and remained in her room until 2 o'clock in the morning.

Dr. George A. Fritch, the physician who attended Miss Presley in her last hours at the Detroit hospital, has been released under bonds of $5,000. He persists he is innocent of any crime.

Dr. John G. Rulison said that a prominent legislator recently asked him to perform an operation on a girl, but that he had refused. He refused to give names. He will be subpoenaed for the coroner's inquest.

Among the cherished things at her home at Lansing, Miss Presley left a tin box, in which have been found two packages of letters, tied up and marked, "to be burned at my death." Yesterday these were opened, and found to be all from one man. They cover the last two years, are couched in endearing terms, and are signed "C." They refer to the writer's political ambitions, the stormy incidents of his campaign for re-election to this legislature.

AUXILIARY TO THE GRAND ARMY

Duluthians Will Form Organization to Perpetuate Patriotism.

A goodly number of Duluth's most patriotic and public-spirited citizens are expected to gather this evening in the Commercial club rooms in response to a call extended, with a view to the formation of an auxiliary organization to the G. A. R. The purpose of this "Citizens' Staff Auxiliary" is to assist the members of the Grand Army to celebrate Memorial day in the decoration of the graves of their departed comrades, and, when the last of the old soldiers shall have passed away, to perpetuate their work in keeping alive the honor and respect due to the men who were willing to give up their lives for their country.

The meeting has been called by a committee consisting of W. J. Prince, S. W. Clark, Judge Page Morris, M. W. Bates, T. H. Pressnell, Dr. R. W. Bowden and C. S. Mitchell. The eager support which the first suggestion of such a movement called forth has made the promoters confident of a big and enthusiastic attendance at the meeting at the Commercial club this evening.

STANDARD OIL HEARING SET

Exceptions to Government's Bill to be Argued May 24.

St. Paul, May 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—Judge Sanborn, presiding judge of the United States circuit court today announced that the court consisting of Judges Sanborn, Vandeventer, Hook and Adams, would hear the arguments on the exceptions to the bill of complaint filed by the United States against the Standard Oil Company of New ersey, May 24.

This is the case brought by the federal government against the Standard Oil company and its alleged corporations in the circuit court at St. Louis under the Sherman anti-trust law, to enjoin the alleged conspiracy to restrain trade. The defendants have answered the bill and filed the exceptions to portions of it, and it is on these exceptions that the arguments will be made. It is expected that a rather formidable array of legal talent will take part in the proceedings.

EXPLOSION ON STEAMER KILLS FIVE OF CREW.

Plymouth, Eng., May 3.—The British steamer Westgate, from Rosario, March 24 for the Tyne, arrived here today and landed the survivors of the crew of the British tank steamer Silverlip, which was destroyed May 1 by an explosion of benzine in her cargo while passing through the Bay of Biscay. The explosion burst the vessel's decks open and set fire to the ship. The engineer and four firemen were killed and four others of the crew were seriously burned. The forty-eight survivors were rescued by the Westgate.

MRS. EDDY IS INTERVIEWED

Sure That the World Will Eventually Do Her Justice.

Boston, May 3.—In the current issue of Human Life, Sibyl Wilbur publishes an account of the recent interview with Mrs. Eddy, in which the writer reiterates her former statements that the head of the Christian Science faith is "well, sane, happy and serene." At Pleasant View the members of the household believed an interview out of the question "because Mrs. Eddy had given orders that a publication scandalizing her past career should not be brought into the house, nor its vilifications brought up in conversation. As I wished to have her explain the significance of these publications, they thought it improbable that Mrs. Eddy would see me."

However, Mrs. Eddy did grant the interview and Miss Wilbur was admitted to speak to her alone.

"Mrs. Eddy sat at her desk as usual, wearing a black silk gown and a bit of rare lace at her throat," writes Miss Wilbur. "She was looking down as I entered, wrapped in thought. But presently she looked up and rose and came to me with a quick, elastic step. She took me by the arm, and, after studying my face for a moment, smiled and led me to the window.

"'Don't you know, my child, that it is not necessary to reply to calumny?' she asked. 'I have had a great deal of this to bear with for many years, and I no longer think it wise to answer unjust aspersions. But I appreciate what you are trying to do. I will not talk about these matters, however; my Father has led me step by step through a long life. He is still leading me, and I will go forward trusting, confident in the outcome, absolutely sure that the world will eventually do me justice.'"

GEORGE WOOD IN PRISON.

Winnipeg Magistrate Refused to Admit Him to Bail.

Winnipeg, Man., May 3.—After hearing the evidence in the preliminary hearing of George W. Wood, president of the Canadian Stock and Grain company, charged a second time in the municipal court with conducting a bucket shop, Magistrate Daly committed the man for trial, and instructed counsel for the defense that he would take no further responsibility in the matter of accepting bail for the accused's appearance, and ordered that he be detained in custody until such time as satisfactory arrangements could be made for his release, with the superior court. Wood, since his arrest under the present charge on April 13, last, has been at liberty under $5,000 bonds.

SWEET SMILE

Of the Pretty Waitress Captivated the Pittsburg Stock Broker.

Los Angeles, Cal., May 3.—Two months ago, while spending a few days fishing at Catalina Island, F. H. Boris, a millionaire stock broker, of Pittsburg, met Miss Jennie Donahu, a pretty young waitress in the Hotel Metropole. During the coming week the millionaire and the girl who smiled upon him while serving his meals are to wed. They are only waiting for the bride-elect's beautiful gown to be finished for the conclusion of the romance.

Boris, who is rated high in Pennsylvania financial circles, is a native of Jacksonville, Fla., and Miss Donahu comes from Albany, N. Y.

STRANGE ACCIDENT

To Cliff Climbers in Cumberland---Two Rescued in Exhausted State.

London, May 3.—While two tourists were attempting to scale the cliffs of Scrawfell, a mountain in Cumberland, one of them slipped, dragging his companion by the rope with which they were coupled. The rope caught on a projecting rock and the climbers hung at either end swaying over a precipice some hundreds of feet high.

They hung helplessly for several hours, when another party of climbers chanced to see them. They were rescued in an exhausted condition. Had they not been found they would have hung until the rope broke or would have died from exhaustion.

CONDITIONS ARE BETTER

Produce Market More Liberally Supplied Than Last Week.

Strawberries of an Improved Quality Are Now Arriving.

Fruits and green stuff are arriving on the Duluth market a little more freely than they were at this time last week, despite the fact that the weather conditions through the growing districts have been very unsatisfactory. The spring has been backward all through the South, as well as here in the North, and this condition has been reflected in the crops.

First there were long continued rains, and then, just as the weather seemed to be clearing up, and everything appeared to be all right for the growers, frosts visited several sections, and the fruits and green stuff were given another set back. The Duluth market is now fairly well supplied with produce of this kind, and, everything considered, the prices asked are not unreasonable.

* * *

Most of the strawberries now arriving are coming from Arkansas. The quality of the berries is somewhat better than it has been recently. The berries are arriving in carload lots, but the quantity is not as liberal as is generally expected at this season of the year. Some of the most severe frosts and other disagreeable weather conditions have been in the berry districts. Prices are gradually reaching a lower level, and it will not be long before they reach a very reasonable point, unless the supply at points of shipment becomes even smaller than is anticipated.

Apples are to be had in fairly liberal quantities, and owing to the high prices on berries and other fruits, they are proving to be very good sellers. The dealers do not look for any particular change during the next few days. There has been a slight advance during the week and a further advance may be expected later in the season. The fruit is still in the neighborhood of $2 less a barrel than it was a year ago at this time.

* * *

There is no particular change in the condition of the banana market since last week, and the importations continue to be light, and are hardly enough to supply the demand. For this reason the importers are holding the prices very firm. Probably there will be no reduction in the price of bananas for the next two or three weeks, at least.

* * *

The orange market is practically unchanged from last week. The quality of the fruit is exceptionally fine, and the oranges are still running to large sizes. Neither is there any particular change in the lemon market. The receipts still continue rather light and prices are holding firm. More liberal receipts are expected within the next two or three weeks, and some of the dealers anticipate a lower price before the lemonade drinking season arrives.

* * *

There has been a substantial advance in the potato market, and there may be even a further advance in prices. The Michigan street dealers all have several carloads of the spuds ordered, but it seems an utter impossibility to get the orders filled promptly. The railroads are slow in handling such shipments, although they are somewhat better in this respect than they were a few weeks ago, when the car congestion was more serious. The market in other vegetables is holding quite firm, with a slight advance in onions. Old onions will soon be out of the market entirely. Cabbage is a little more reasonable in price, and more liberal receipts are looked for next week.

No startling changes have occurred this week in the butter and egg market. Prices are practically unchanged. The receipts of butter are none too liberal, but there is enough to supply the demand at good prices.

* * *

Much the same may be said of the poultry and fish market. Prices are virtually unchanged from last week, and the supply is sufficient to meet the demand.

DIVORCE CASES ARE FINISHED

Decrees Are Granted in Twelve Out of Seventeen Suits.

When the district court judges completed the divorce calendar last evening seventeen cases had been disposed of, twelve decrees being granted, two submitted, two partially submitted and one stricken from the calendar.

Eleven out of the twelve decrees were granted to women.

Divorces granted during the afternoon session of the court were as follows: Hulda Desermoue from Joseph Desermoue, Maria Asterlund from Carl Asterlund and Nellie E. Geer from Byron Geer for habitual drunkenness and cruel treatment; Minnie Gamp from Paul Gamp, for habitual drunkenness; Pearl Freestone from Ulysses Freestone, Mary Davidson from Henry Davidson, Hilda Larson from John Larson, Louisa Morrish from William Morrish, for cruel and inhuman treatment; Alex Colombe from Annie Colombe for desertion.

The cases of Gertie LaPine against Joseph LaPine and of Elizabeth McMurphy against Angus McMurphy were submitted.

JOKES AT SURGEONS CUTTING OFF HIS LEG.

New York, May 3.—To save a man's life an experiment with cocaine applied to the nerve centers was conducted by surgeons at Flower hospital on a recent afternoon, with the surprising result that a man whose heart did not permit the administration of anaesthetics sat up on the operating table and calmly witnessed the amputation of his leg.

Edward McCabe of No. 384 Third avenue, was run down by a Third avenue surface car at Fifty-ninth street, and one of the wheels crushed his left leg. The shock of the accident seriously affected his heart.

Almost hourly tests of the man's heart revealed the fact that it was still out of the question to administer anaesthetics. But another danger, that of blood poisoning, became such a menace that it was necessary to reach a quick decision to save the man's life.

Drs. L. S. Lolzeaux, William Case and R. R. Reed determined to take a daring chance with cocaine. A hypodermic injection was administered into the spinal canal. This injection brought on a state of spinal anaesthesia, paralyzing and deadening the lower part of the man's body.

"Say, doctor, I can't run any more hundred-yard dashes after you have finished, can I?" was the startling question that interrupted the surgeons at their work when McCabe was on the operating table.

Through the full hour of the operation McCabe watched the surgeons, commenting and apparently feeling no pain. The doctors at night said he had a good chance for recovery, and there appeared not to have been the slightest shock from the operation.

Japanese and Americans of Seattle Do Honor to General.

Seattle, Wash., May 3.—Gen. Kuroki and his staff, representatives of Japan to the Jamestown exposition, arrived in this city from the Orient yesterday afternoon and received a picturesque welcome by both local Japanese and Americans, who crowded every dock on the water front and lined the streets as the Japanese party passed through in a string of automobiles. Last evening a brilliant reception was given at the Ranier club, at which Governor Albert E. Mead and prominent business men were present.

All the Japanese stores in the city were closed yesterday, and there were many thousands of Japanese to greet the general when he arrived on the Aki Maru. Daylight fireworks were set off over Elliott bay, and as the party landed the native cheers or "banzais" were almost incessant. A hundred Japanese girls sang the national anthem, and the general's carriage was almost covered with flowers presented by school children.

MORE SECRECY AT WHITE HOUSE

Reporters Are Told They Must Keep Away After Dark.

Washington, May 3.—An order issued by Secretary Loeb, forbidding newspaper men from waiting in front of the White House proper, late in the evening, to interview public men and others who see the president after the White House office is closed, is explained by Mr. Loeb as having been issued at the request of visitors to the president, who assert they have been annoyed by newspaper men asking them questions as they came out of the White House.

The White House, Mr. Loeb explains, is regarded by the president as his private residence, and he sees no more reason why he should be bothered there by the presence of reporters than any other person in his private house. The privilege is not denied newspaper men of going to the White House in the evening and asking questions of the policeman on duty at the front door, but, of course, the policeman will know nothing.

But if newspaper men congregate on the front porch of the White House, or stand about the driveway, they will be told by the policeman on duty outside to "move on."

It was thought at first, when Mr. Loeb issued the order, that it had some bearing on the "rich man's conspiracy," and that the president did not want the world at large to know if Mr. Harriman, or any other distinguished person, came to the White House for a midnight conference to assure the president they were not members of the plutocratic plot, but Mr. Loeb denies that the order has been inspired by any such thoughts, or that the president fears the "conspirators," masquerading as newspaper men, are trying to watch his movements as carefully as the president is alleged to be watching the movements of the plotters.

This latest order, however, is simply in keeping with several other orders of a similar character that have been issued by the president to prevent dissemination of news, unless he is anxious, for his own reasons, to have it given publicity. He issued a former letter to members of the cabinet telling them they were not to talk to newspaper men about what had been discussed in cabinet, and that if any information was to be made public it would be done through Secretary Loeb.

Members of the cabinet were also warned that they must not "play favorites" in communicating news to special correspondents, and that if they had anything to give out, the press associations must be told.

BABY RIDES ON FLYER'S PILOT

Climbs Aboard at Water Tank and Enjoys Swift Trip.

Decorah, Iowa, May 3.—When the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul flier No. 3, with Engineer Swanton up, stopped at Calmar for water a few days ago, a 3-year-old child of a family named Johnson climbed upon the pilot of the engine, unnoticed by any of the trainmen or the pumphouse engineer.

After the fireman had replaced the tank cover Engineer Swanson pulled open the throttle and the train was soon flying fifty miles an hour toward Des Moines.

When about ten miles out of Calmar the fireman, looking ahead, saw what he thought was a bit of gingham standing straight out in the breeze. He told the engineer, who changed seats with him and took a look for himself.

At that instant the little fellow's hair came into view and Swanson put on the airbrakes with such force that the train stopped almost within the length of itself. He climbed down to the pilot, where he found the little fellow laughing and crowing and holding on tight to one of the braces.

MUST TIE UP THEIR CATS.

Omaha Feline Fanciers Have Run Against Weird Ordinance.

Omaha, Neb., May 3.—And now the old house cat and all the little kittens must be tied up and kept at home.

No more nocturnal feline serenades from the back fence.

No more moonlight parties for the cats.

Assistant City Attorney John A. Rhine has unearthed some old ordinances which prohibit the running at large of any of the domestic animals, excepting dogs. He says it applies to cats.

The cat owner who, therefore, permits pussy to ramble about the neighborhood is violating the law, and is subject to arrest and fine.

RUEF JURY PICKING SLOW.

One Talesman Disqualified for Declining to Accept Night Work.

San Francisco, May 3.—No progress was made yesterday toward the completion of the jury to try Abraham Ruef on the charge of extorting money from keepers of French restaurants, and the case went over to Monday because of the death of Superior Judge Hosmer.

Only one talesman was examined and he disqualified himself by declaring that overnight confinement of the jury would disturb his mind so that he would be unable to reach a fair verdict. As Judge Dunne stated frankly that he would, if he conceived it his duty, "Keep the jury out for the remainder of the year," the state's challenge for cause was allowed.

Another venire of twenty-five talesmen, the sixth since the securing of a jury was begun, was issued by the court.

SPANISH LIBERALS SORE AT MINISTRY'S COURSE.

Madrid, May 3.—The Liberals have refused to participate in the senatorial elections, which take place May 5, on the ground that the actions of the Maura government renders a fair expression of the people's will impossible. The Imperial says that the dismissal of 150 mayors and the suppression of many municipal councils constitue a scandolous use of coercion and prove the reactionary tendecies of the Maura ministry.

CITY BRIEFS

Copper Man in Duluth.

Thos. Bardon of Ashland, a prominent figure in the world of copper, is in the city. He came on business in the capacity as president of the Shattuck-Arizona Copper company and director of the Denn-Arizona company and is spending much of his time in conference with his Duluth associates. The officers of these two companies will visit Bisbee some time during this month on an inspection tour and for the purpose of holding a business meeting there. The new smelter project will be the chief subject of discussion at this meeting.

Claims Breach of Contract.

Athol M. Miller has started suit in the district court against John F. Craig to compel the latter to transfer to him, free of incumbrances, lots 9 and 10, block 17, Harrison's division and fractional lot 18, block 1, Longview addition. In his complaint Mr. Miller alleges that he had an agreement with Mr. Craig to purchase the property described for $5,850, the understanding being that it was free of encumbrances. Mr. Miller claims that the property is not free and that he stands ready to take it as soon as it can be turned over to him without encumbrances.

Receives Construction Bids.

The Massachusetts Realty company, J.L. Cromwell, agent, has received bids on four modern two-story brick houses that the company contemplates erecting at the southeast corner of Ninth avenue east and Fourth street. The approximate cost of the houses is expected to be $15,000.

Contest Still On.

The homestead contest of John A. Lingren vs. Arthur M. O'Dea is still on at the United States land office. Lingren's testimony was concluded before adjournment yesterday and the second witness for the plaintiff is on the stand today. It is expected the case will drag through several days. On account of the value of the land and the fact that a number of contests are to be brought on similar issues, considerable interest is being taken in the case.

On Recruiting Duty.

Edward E. Nordquist has reported to Chief Yeoman Shaw for duty at the United States naval recruiting station for about a month. Mr. Nordquist is a Superior boy and has just re-enlisted for a second term after serving one term in the navy. After about a month on duty here near his home, he will be assigned to active duty on ship again.

Young Man Is Insane.

Leo McCann, aged 28 years, was examined in probate court yesterday afternoon and an order was made committing him to the state insane asylum at Fergus Falls. McCann thinks that members of his family and friends are persecuting him.

Arrange for Ball Game.

The courthouse baseball team, managed by Thomas Clark, Jr., will cross bats with the Hunter's Park team at the home grounds of the latter aggregation tomorrow afternoon. The Hunter's Park team is said to be comprised largely of bank clerks who reside in that part of the city.

Congressman McCall Here.

Congressman S. W. McCall of Winchester, Mass., an old friend of Judge Page Morris, is in the city today. Congressman McCall has been prominently identified with the nation's affairs for some little time past, and recently his name was brought prominently to public notice through the government investigation of affairs at the Panama canal.

Dies in Asylum.

Notice has been received by the probate court of the death at the Fergus Falls asylum of Georgiana Amundson, who was committed from St. Louis county Jan. 20 last. Old age was the cause of death.

J. C. Currie Dead.

John C. Currie, who for some years has been connected with the Gray-Tallant company in this city, died yesterday afternoon at his home at 130 West Third street, at the age of 74 years. He is survived by his wife and two sons, one of whom, James Currie, is a Chicagoan, and the other John Currie, resides at East Orange, N. J. The funeral arrangements have not yet been announced.

Violated Health Rules.

A. Anderson, 718 Fifth avenue east, was arrested and arraigned in municipal court yesterday afternoon charged with violating the health ordinance. He pleaded not guilty and his trial was set for tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock. This is the second arrest which has been made on complaint of the health department in the last two weeks, as H. Popken, 414 East Eighth street, paid a $10 fine yesterday rather than go to jail.

NO CHANGE IN STRIKE OUTLOOK

Both Sides Remain Firm —Structural Iron Workers Reported Out.

This afternoon there had been little change in the strike of the building trades, neither side having shown any signs of giving in. No sympathetic strike has yet been called by the board of governors of the Building Trades' Structural Alliance, but there is every reason that it will be called unless an agreement is reached tomorrow.

It was reported this afternoon that the structural iron workers employed on the Y. M. C. A. building had struck in sympathy with the other trades. One of the union officials stated that he thought this was so, but refused to confirm the report. The men have quit work at least. No other strikes have been reported.

Although the bricklayers and stonemasons have not walked out, there are very few of them who are working, as it is impossible for them to work without the aid of the builders' laborers, who are on strike. On this account building operations are already almost completely tied up, and it only needs the sympathetic strike to completely paralyze all building in Duluth.

RAILROAD LEGISLATION BY WISCONSIN ASSEMBLY.

Madison, Wis., May 3.—The state assembly today passed a bill abolishing the $5,000 limit of liability of railroads for the death of passengers. A bill was also passed requiring the upper berths of sleeping cars to be kept closed unless occupied.

WILL LEASE ITS MAINS

Prindle Gas Company Not Desirous of Selling to City.

Council Has Already Ordered Condemnation Procedings Begun.

The Prindle Gas company is not desirous of selling its gas main in First alley to the city, either by direct sale or under condemnation proceedings.

Representatives of the company have presented a counter proposition to the board of water and light commissioners that the company will lease its mains to the city for a term of years. The proposition has been submitted to the city attorney for his opinion as to the legality of such a step, although such action does not mean that the city has given up the idea of acquiring the mains through condemnation proceedings.

If the leasing process is held to be legal the city will probably investigate the matter before pushing the condemnation proceedings that the city attorney was authorized to begin at the last meeting of the council.

A great deal of trouble has been experienced by the water and light department in the matter of granting contractors the privilege of using the city hydrants to get water for building or street work. The board of water and light commissioners has authorized the manager to notify contractors that in granting permission to use the hydrants, hereafter, the contractors must pay for the services of an employe of the water department, who will open the hydrants in the morning and shut them off at night.

The necessity of action along this line was brought to the attention of the department when the fire occurred on Lake avenue, a few days ago, and the fire department was delayed in making its hose connections with a hydrant because it had been opened, and an attachment put on by a contractor, so he could get water for his purposes. The fire department must shut off the hydrant before putting on the steamer hose, and the work requires too much time.

A. E. Carlston has been awarded the contract for the hauling of the pipes on ten extensions ordered last year. The aggregate amounts of the bid received for the work were as follows: Duluth Van & Storage company, $513.38; James Burns, $600.25; C. O. White, $481.33; A. E. Carlston, $468.89.

The engineer's final estimate on the contract with John Wanless to lay the water and gas main across the Duluth ship canal, which amount was $1,330, was ordered paid, by resolution of the board, when Mr. Wanless shall have executed a bond on his contract to keep the mains in repair for a year.

The board considered the matter of placing about 300 yards more of riprap over the mains in the bottom of the canal, but it was decided not to do the work this coming season. It may be that additional rip-rap will not be necessary, as the government engineers do not think the small amount of dredging that will be done at the outer end of the canal will result in an increased scouring process by the currents through the canal.

Petitions for water and gas mains in the following streets were presented at the meeting yesterday: 600 feet in Sixth avenue west, 341 feet in Sixty-first avenue west, 900 feet in Fifty-eighth avenue west. The work has been ordered, subject to the approval of the city council.

The board reports progress in the matter of a reservoir for the hillside water system. It is understood that a site has been practically decided on and that the water department expects to make a report to the city council next Monday evening regarding the location, in which case step will be ordered toward the purchase of condemnation of the ground.

BALFOUR OUT FOR PROTECTION

Former Premier Puts Tariff Views Under Guise of Preference.

London, May 3.—Presiding today at the annual demonstration of the Primrose league, the great organization of the Unionist party, ex-Premier Balfour abandoned his previous attitude of apparent indecision on the subject and came out squarely in favor of protection, under the name of preference. He said he was satisfied that a preference policy would ultimately be adopted by this country and emphasized the necessity "for speedily translating the sentiment of brotherhood into practical action," by accepting the proffers of Canada and other colonies of preferential treatment for trade within the empire before the latter is drained of its vital strength.

FOREST FIRES SURROUND TOWN

Bellingham, Wash., May 3.—The town of Maple Falls, situated in the northwestern part of Whatcom county, is surrounded by forest fires and is burning. Before telephone and telegraph wires went down a frantic call for help was made. A special train, with fire fighting apparatus, left here today for the scene. Maple Falls has a population of 800.

WARNER'S SAFE CURE

MR. WILLIAM MELLIN.

"Mr. William Mellin, Franklin, Mass., who tried many so-called remedies for kidney trouble without results, is loud in his praise of what WARNER'S SAFE CURE did for him.

He writes: "It is with great pleasure that I write you recommending your very valuable remedy, WARNER'S SAFE CURE. For years I have been suffering with kidney trouble, which many times forced me to take to my bed. I had awful pains in my back which caused me intense suffering. I spent a great deal of money for so-called cures, but they were not of any benefit to me.

"Seeing your numerous advertisements I tried your medicine. After taking the first bottle, I felt much stronger and continued taking it. I now feel in the best of health, better than I ever felt in my life. I owe all this to your wonderful remedy. I always recommend and consider it the best remedy in the world.

"You may publish this letter, as I cannot thank you too much for what your medicine has done for me.

"WM. MELLIN.

RAILROADS

INCREASE VERY HEAVY

Car Service Association Handles 30,032 Cars in April.

Every month now shows an increase in the number of cars handled by the Lake Superior Car Service association. The month of April was another record-breaker for this time of the year. A total of 30,032 cars were handled, as compared with 22,022 cars for the same month in 1906. This is a gain of 8,000, or more than 33 1-3 per cent.

The increase was principally in coal, grain, lumber and other building materials handled. The total number of coal cars taken care of in April amounted to 12,600; grain, 7,720 and lumber, 3,853.

IMPROVING SHOPS.

Northwestern Railway Will Spend Considerable Money at Waseca.

Waseca, Minn., May 3.—The Chicago & Northwestern Railway company has commenced improvements upon its shops in this city. A new brick office and store room 20x65 feet, will be built on the west side of the old machine shops. A new oil house, with depressed vaults, will also be built, and a new 70-foot turn-table will be put in to take the place of the old forty-eight foot one. The present store room and foreman's office will be made into a reading and resting room for the use of the engineers and firemen.

W. H. Schutt Promoted.

William H. Schutt has been appointed assistant general manager of the Soo road, the appointment already being effective. He has been connected with the Soo line for many years, and has worked up to his present position from a clerkship.

KUROKI PLEADS FOR CHILDREN

Japan's Purpose in Sending Little Ones to America Clear.

Seattle, Wash., May 3.—"Japan sends her children, many of them, to the United States to learn. We hope and believe that the United States in the future will receive them and teach them in the same spirit in which they are sent," said Gen. Baron Kuroki, who arrived here yesterday, in discussing the Japanese school question. He made this statement with a smiling face, but spoke earnestly, and his interpreter repeated the statement in English with convincing force.

"We are glad to think that you up here in Seattle think the children we send over are good and hard working," added the general. "You are unlike some others. This attitude means that many Japanese children in the future will come to the United States by way of Seattle. When you praise them, you praise us, for they are our children. I feel sure that they will be well-treated by the United States. I do not believe that the feeling against them is widespread. I think that feeling is dying out."

OMAHA PACKERS RAISE WAGES

Eight Thousand Men Get Increases and Strike is Ended.

South Omaha, Neb., May 3.—The entire working force of all the packing houses in South Omaha, comprising about 8,000 men, were today notified that an advance in wages of from 5 to 15 per cent had been granted them. As a result of the announcement, 200 men who were out on strike, returned to work immediately. The increase takes effect at once.

TWENTY NEW BATTALIONS FOR MANCHURIA DEFENSE.

Pekin, May 3.—Twenty new battalions of troops will be raised by conscription to form a special army corps for the defence of Manchuria. The emperor had ordered the viceroy, Hsi Shih Chang and the governors of Manchuria to co-operate with Yuan Shi Kai, commander in chief of the military and naval forces, in reorganizing the provincial administrations.

AMERICANS ARRESTED FOR CABRERA EXPLOSION.

Guatemala City, May 3.—Among the persons arrested on suspicion of having been connected with the attempt on the life of President Cabrera, April 29, are two Americans, named Cooke and Wilkinson, railroad contractors. The latter occupied a house adjoining the scene of the explosion and in it the police found an electrical apparatus for use in exploding dynamite, a quantity of that explosive and other articles used in blasting. It is expected, however, that the two will soon be set at liberty.

SWIFT JUSTICE IN NEW JERSEY

Negro Sent to Prison for Twelve Years for Crime Monday.

Woodbury, N. J., May 3.—Swift justice was meted out today to Edward Gibson, a negro, who attacked Miss Dorothy Paris, 19 years old, of Wenonah, Monday night. Gibson made no defense when arraigned and was sentenced to twelve years' imprisonment and to pay a fine of $2,000. This is the extreme penalty for the offense.

WISCONSIN DEMOCRATS VOTE FOR REPUBLICANS.

Madison, Wis., May 3.—The twelfth ballot for United States senator in joint legislative session today resulted in no choice. There were many absentees. The leading Republican candidates received votes as follows: Stephenson, 19; Cooper, 17; Esch, 16; Hatten, 15; Lenroot, 13. Two Democrats voted for Republicans today. Hatten received one and Secretary of State Frear the other Democratic vote.

WEST DULUTH

THEATER OPENS.

Reproductions of Ben Hur and Passion Play Will be Given.

The new Elcho theater, which has been established in West Duluth at 320 North Central avenue this week, will open its doors to the public for the first time tomorrow afternoon when there will be a moving picture reproduction of Ben Hur and also of the Passion play.

The manager of the new theater company is James O'Brien, who is well acquainted with the show business. He is said to have arranged an excellent program for the shows at the Elcho and it is epected that it will meet the approval of the West Duluth people.

The building in which the performances will be given has been fitted up during the week by Mr. O'Brien, who has spared no expense to make it a suitable showhouse.

Three performances will be given daily, one at a matinee in the afternoon and two each evening. Popular prices will prevail and Mr. O'Brien expects to see some large crowds turn out for every performance.

FAREWELL RECEPTION.

Mrs. H. F. Prindle is Remembered by West Duluth Friends.

Mrs. H. F. Prindle was entertained yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. Whalen on Fifty-seventh avenue west, by a number of her friends. The reception was in the nature of a farewell to Mrs. Prindle, who will leave tomorrow for Winton to join her husband, who is already there. Mrs. Prindle was presented with a beautiful hand painted china plate.

Cards furnished the amusement for the afternoon and the favors were won by Mrs. Alex Brotherton and Mrs. W. E. Cowden. Lunch was served by Mrs. Whalen, who was assisted by Mrs. J. J. Holmes. The following guests were present. Mesdames J. J. Holmes, Alex Brotherton, A. Dunleavy, W. E. Cowden, H. F. Prindle, J. D. Larrive, Foubister, J. T. Hammill, M. Willenson, W. Mallough, Ehr, L. F. Faulkner and J. Whalen.

Commercial Club Meeting.

The regular meeting of the West Duluth Commercial club will be held this evening at the club rooms. Reports of the various committees appointed at the meeting last week will be heard, and action taken upon them. The committee appointed to look up the matter of suitable shade trees for West Duluth has made an investigation of the best kind of trees, and the club is expected to either recommend a certain kind for the people out here to purchase, or the club may appropriate a sum of money for this purpose.

Dancing Party.

A pleasant dance party was given last evening by the "Emerald Club" of the Daughters of Erin, at West Duluth, at Gilley's hall, and a pleasant time was enjoyed. There was a large number of couples at the hall, and the music was of a high quality.

Irving Alumni Meeting.

Members of the Irving School Alumni association will hold a meeting at the school this evening, and preparations will be continued for the annual banquet to be given on May 31. Committees have been appointed and are already at work on the arrangements for the affair. Plans will also be made at the meeting this evening for the minstrel show, to be given about the middle of May, for the benefit of St. James' church. The second performance will be in charge of the Alumni association, and it is the intention of the members to make it a great success.

PROBE POLICE OF KANSAS CITY

Commissioners Secure Approval of Governor Folk to Clean-Up.

Kansas City, May 3.—Following allegations of corruption in the police department here, an investigation, having the approval of Governor Folk, probably will be started at once. Police Commissioners Gallagher and Rozelle went to Jefferson City late yesterday at the request of the governor to talk over local conditions.

After a conference that lasted late into the night, Governor Folk is quoted as saying: "If there are crooks in the department they must be found out and if they are found out they must be summarily dismissed. There will be no halting. Conditions at Kansas City are not reassuring."

BIG LUMBER CONTRACT FOR CANAL IS PLANNED.

Washington, May 3.—The Isthmian canal commission is about to call for proposals for 8,000,000 feet of yellow pine, Douglas fir or redwood lumber, one of the largest contracts of this kind that has been placed in several years. Specifications will be issued in a day or two.

Today the commission issued a number of circulars inviting proposals for supplying a vast amount of material needed to carry on the construction of the canal. All these bids are to be opened at the commission's office May 17, and the materials are to be delivered by the bidders on the isthmus.

May	6, 1906	28 degs.

Last night, when the mercury in the official thermometer at the United States weather bureau on the hill-top dropped to 16 degs. above zero, a record for May weather was established. Since the weather bureau was established in Duluth thirty-six years ago, the temperature has never been so low in May as it was last night. The weather was such as would be more expected on an evening in March, rather than on the second day of May, the month of flowers and balmy spring breezes.

The former record was established May 1, 1885, when the mercury fell to 25 degs. above zero. Although last night's record is 9 degs. lower than the former mark, that mark of 25 degs. was considered exceptional and was never reached before or since during May until last night. The table above shows that the temperature fell below 30 degs. on twenty days during May in the past thirty-six years. It fell once to 25 degs, twice to 26 degs., seven times to 27 degs., three times to 28 degs. and six times to 29 degs. The margin between last night's low mark and low temperatures formerly recorded in May is so great that it is indeed exceptional and will undoubtedly stand for a good many years as a record.

LOTTERY FOR MONTANA LANDS

Omaha, Neb., May 3.—The government has definitely decided to proceed with the Huntley project of opening 30,000 acres of government land for settlement near Billings, Mont., by lottery or the drawing system. The exact date has not been fixed but it will be about June 30 or July 1. This will be the first government land ever thrown open for settlement, where water for irrigation is immediately available.

L. W. Wakeley, general passenger agent of the Burlington railroad says: "The land will all be within fifteen miles of the $1,000,000 sugar beet factory at Billings. Township sites will be established and land within two miles of the towns will be allotted in forty-acre tracts, and more than two miles will be allotted in eighty-acre tracts. The expense to the man drawing will be about $31 an acre. Should a man draw a forty or eighty acre tract he must pay one-tenth down or $3 for his pro rata to the government for expense of irrigation, $1 for the Indians and 60 cents for the expense of maintenance which makes $4.60 for the first year for each acre."

MEETING OF COMMISSION

Owners of Lands May Object to Condemnation Petition.

The commissioners recently appointed by Judge Morris of the United States circuit court to determine and award damages on the lands involved in the proceedings to condemn certain lands in Itasca, Cass and Crow Wing counties, affected by the overflowage from the government dams at the Pokegama and Winnibigoshish, Pokegama, Leech Lake, and Pine River reservoirs, have held their first meeting. The commission consists of Senator Daniel M. Gunn of Grand Rapids, Michael L. Toole of Cass Lake and James Elder of Brainerd.

They decided to hold their meetings to hear objections to the applications and to determine the amount of their awards at Grand Rapids, Itasca county, on June 11, at the office of the clerk of the district court at Walker, Cass county, on June 13, at the office of the United States commissioner at Brainerd, Crow Wing county, on June 15, at the office of J. N. Elder. The owners of the land involved may appear before the commissioners at those times and places and enter objections to the petition for condemnation.

STATEMENT IS ISSUED

Builders' Exchange Members Make Explanation to the Public.

Deny That They Have Declared for Open Shop.

After a meeting this morning held at the club rooms of the Duluth Builders' Exchange, the members issued a statement to the public explaining their position in regard to the contest being waged with the building trades of Duluth.

Following is the statement:

To the Public:

That there may be no misunderstanding as to the employers' position in the pending strikes, we deem it wise to say that the conditions existing are as follows: Building laborers have been receiving 30 cents per hour, and demand 35 cents; carpenters have been receiving 40 cents and demand 45; sheet metal workers have been receiving 45 cents and demand 50; and electricians have been receiving 40½ cents and demand 50.

The stone masons, bricklayers, painters, plumbers, plasterers, and steam fitters are getting all they ask, and there are no differences to adjust with them.

The Duluth Builders' Exchange has not declared the open shop policy.

Minimum rate of wages per hour for an eight-hour day:

Builders' laborers, Duluth, 1906, 30c; 1907, 35; Minneapolis, 1907, 25; St. Paul, 1907, 22½ and 25.

Note—Builders' laborers will work eight and a half or nine hours as required.

This condition puts the cost of building in Duluth considerably above that of the Twin Cities, and is having a tendency to discourage building, as the architects will testify. We believe all this retards the growth and prosperity of the city as a whole and should be carefully considered by all classes of citizens as well as ourselves. Yours very truly, E. R. COBB, Secretary.

Duluth Builders' Exchange.

USED RAZOR ON A RIVAL

Jealous Negress Trails Husband and Slashes Woman in Case.

Mary Williams Appears in Police Court in Evening Dress.

After following her husband, Frank Buchanan to the door of her rival's home about 9:30 last night, Mrs. Carrie Buchanan followed close on his heels as he entered the house, produced a big razor and started to make things warm for hubby and for Mrs. Eva Pattison, the women of whom she was jealous. Buchanan made a hasty exit as soon as the razor came into view leaving Mrs. Pattison to her fate. Mrs. Buchanan then turned her attention to Mrs. Pattison and slashed her seriously, inflicting a big cut on the arm and another more serious on the neck. Mrs. Pattison was taken to St. Luke's hospital where the wounds were sewed up and she was reported in fairly good condition today. All the parties to the affair are colored.

The Buchanan woman was arested by Lieut. Schulte and Sergeant Fritz about 10 o'clock last evening and locked up. She was arraigned before Judge Wilkudom this morning charged with second degree assault and her examination was set for May 10 at 10 a. m., bail being fixed at $1,000.

Mrs. Buchanan is not at all reticent regarding the affair.

"Ah followed him right up to de doah, dat's what Ah did," she said this morning. "Dey ain't any of 'em kin say Ah one of them gal's that flies off de handle jus' cause somebody tole 'em su'thin'. Ah went an' seen foh mahself. He's been goin' up theah to her house foh a long time an' givin' her money and keepin' her an' Ah wasn't gwine to stand it any moah.

"Ah took dat razor along 'cause Ah thought the two of 'em 'ud jump on me. Did Ah do a good job? Well, Ah hope so. Ah wish that Ah could have got him, but he run."

Mrs. Pattison is the negress who came so near being killed by her husband in an assault about a month ago for which Pattison is now doing a sixty day sentence in the county jail, and last night's cutting affray happened at the same house, 23 Fifth avenue north, as the former affair.

* * *

Decollete gowns are not strictly en regle in police court circles. But Mary Williams did not care. She flounced into a chair before Judge Windom, this morning, in the most low-necked of low-necked silk gowns and turned a defiant and smiling face toward the judge. It was hard to believe that the apparition with the pompadour of auburn hue and the gay raiment was up for drunkenness, charged with the same offense as the row of stolid lumberjacks who gazed curiously at the gaily colored lady from their seats across the room.

But it was so. Mary was gathered in last evening by Patrolman Walsh, and she was gloriously and happily drunk. She pleaded guilty to the charge this morning, and paid a $12 fine rather than spend ten days at labor in the county jail. She refused a wrap which was offered her to appear in court, and preferred to appear in conventional evening dress. One of her friends arrived at the station with a golf cape, however, before she left, and she consented to don this.

Judge Windom imposed two sentences without fine alternatives this morning, quite an unusual occurrence. The cases were very similar. James Wallace, a West end horse dealer, and Anton Kusnerick had been arrested on complaint of their wives on drunkenness charges. With the complaint in both cases went a tale of a winter of drunken sprees and brutal treatment that made the court feel anything but lenient toward the offenders. Wallace got forty days and Kusnerick thirty, with the hard labor accompaniment, that means far more than the sentence to this class of men.

DISCHARGE FROM ARMY FOLLOWED BY SUICIDE.

New York, May 3.—With only 2 cents in his pockets, a man believed to be John J. Gorman of Manistee, Mich., was found dead from asphyxiation in a Fourth street lodging house today. According to papers found in his pockets, he was discharged from Company E, Twelfth United States infantry, yesterday. When discharged, he received $52.10 from the government.

CANADIAN MINERS WIN CLOSED SHOP PRINCIPLE.

Vancouver, B. C., May 3.—A special dispatch from Fernie says it is unofficially reported today that the striking coal miners have decided to return to work. The agreement, about which much secrecy has been observed, practically means the achievement of the closed shop principle.

A VIADUCT NEEDED.

It is small wonder that, as stated in The Herald last night, the proprietors of the wholesale houses on Fifth avenue are anxiously "stirring up things in the hope of getting some means of passage over the railroad tracks."

There is grave need for somebody to stir things up to that end, for not only every proprietor of a wholesale house on lower Fifth avenue, but every employe in every one of those wholesale houses that has to cross the busy railroad tracks on that avenue several times a day at imminent risk of life or limb has a vital interest in seeing that something is done.

Some provision should be made, and that as speedily as possible, and whatever is done the railroads should pay the cost. They have been given, along with other lavish gifts from this city, their rights-of-way across Fifth avenue, and they are using them almost every minute of the day. Their tracks stretch across between that wholesale section and the retail section, a standing threat to everybody that crosses them.

People have been killed there by passing trains, and if something is not done soon more will suffer the same fate. Every mother, wife and sister of those whose daily duty calls them to pass and repass those tracks, dodging their way between hurrying trains and switch engines, will breathe easier when a way of safety is afforded.

The question of whether the protection to be provided is to be a viaduct like that on Lake avenue, or only a footbridge for the safe conduct of pedestrians, should be settled promptly, and action should be taken at once to compel the railroads to build whatever structure is deemed practicable and sufficient. If it is feasible, there certainly should be a viaduct, because teams by hundreds pass those dangerous tracks daily, and no footbridge will afford safety to their drivers.

The city engineering department has pointed out that a viaduct would necessarily run pretty well down the block, forcing some of the drivers to retrace their way after crossing it. That would involve a slight loss of time, but it is an open question whether the time thus lost would be equal to the time now wasted in waiting for trains to pass.

Viaduct or footbridge, whichever it is—and The Herald believes that it should be a viaduct—steps should be taken at the earliest possible moment to compel the railroads concerned, the Northern Pacific and the Omaha, to build it.

That it is their duty to do so there can be no question. That it is the duty of the city to compel them to do so, as a measure of protection to its citizens, is equally certain. Any day of delay may involve loss of life, and not a single moment should be wasted in bringing about this much-needed protection.

NO PRIMARY ELECTION CHANGE.

One thing that members of the late legislature will have trouble in explaining to their constituents is the failure to extend the primary election system to state officers and United States senators.

If there was anything that it was clear the people wanted done by the legislature, it was this extension of the primary election system. The people wanted 2-cent fares, an anti-pass bill and a reciprocal demurrage law, and they made it pretty clear that they did, but they made it equally clear that they wanted the convention system abolished on state officers, and while they got the other things, they did not get this.

The house went so far as to go on record in favor of the extension by an informal vote, when the bill received an ample majority. But when it came to actually voting for its passage, it fell far short of receiving enough votes in the house, so it never got to the senate.

Three legislative sessions have gone by since the primary election system was adopted, and as yet practically no amendments have been adopted. A few of minor importance have been passed, but not a single one that materially affected the provisions of the law.

At first the advocates of the old boss system made so much noise in opposition to the law that the people felt that they were doing well to retain it in any form. Of late, however, this opposition has died down, and it is doubtful whether, if a bill abolishing the system were presented, there would be more than a scant half dozen in either house that would dare to vote for it.

The public sentiment in favor of extending the system to cover state officers has been swelling formidably in recent years, but apparently it has not waxed great enough to force the legislature to action. It was strong enough to induce the parties to incorporate it in their state platforms, but not strong enough to make the lawmakers heed it.

It would be interesting to know just how much of an explosion will be necessary to make the legislature perform its obvious duty in this respect. If the people can find out just what is needed, they may be relied upon to furnish the materials for the explosion, even if it has to take the form of retiring to private life those who permit their personal prejudices to blind them to an unmistakable popular demand.

FORESTRY.

A circular just issued by the federal forestry bureau is evidently designed to alarm the people into a greater regard for forestry, or rather for the preservation and propagation of the forests.

Its statement that the country as a whole is now consuming every year three or four times more wood than all the forests of the nation grow in that time is not surprising. Anybody who has given the matter the slightest thought must realize that the consumption of timber in this country is much greater than the ordinary growth of the forests can possibly keep pace with.

It is also noted that every person in the United States is using over six times as much wood as he would use if he were in Europe. This probably indicates a prodigal use of the forest products, yet it must be remembered that a large share of the extra use of timber in this country is due to the fact that much more building is being done here to supply homes for the rapidly-increasing population. The immigrants that are swarming in at the rate of a million a year do not bring their houses with them, and they help consume a large part of the timber used in building purposes. There is nothing about the prices charged for lumber to tempt anybody to make prodigal use of it.

To offset this, the government and some of the states are engaged in reforestration, though so far forestry work has not begun to keep pace with the destruction of the forests by consumption of timber. At present one-fifth of the total forest area of the United States is embraced in national forests, and the policy of the federal administration is to get as much more of it as possible under the forestry bureau.

While some of the forestry fanatics of this state have argued that it is better to put lands into forestry than into agriculture, and that reforestration is a profitable enterprise, as a matter of fact there is small encouragement for private individuals or even corporations to go into this business. The average age of trees felled for lumber this year is 150 years, which means that if a man who had decided to invest his money in reforestration should plant this year, his heirs several generations hence would reap the dividends. This is scarcely rapid enough work for the average investor in this country.

However, the nation and the states can afford to wait that long, so it is peculiarly fitting that they should take up the work of reforestration. They must, if the timber supply is to continue any great length of time.

They must not devote agricultural lands to this work, because there is plenty of land in this country that is good for nothing else but forestry, and they will do well if they keep busy on such land, without crowding settlers off the lands fitted for agriculture.

PAY OF PREACHERS.

The Atlanta Constitution has been looking into the emoluments of preachers in Georgia and finds that the larger proportion of the army of men responsible for the spiritual welfare of the people of that state are more poorly paid than the day laborer.

What is true in Georgia is doubtless true to a greater or less degree in most other states. Generally speaking, there are no important occupations so poorly paid as those of preaching and teaching. Yet they should be among the most highly regarded of all professions, and therefore, if not the best paid, they should at least be so well paid as to be attractive.

The pay of ministers of the gospel is very uneven, of course, and it varies according to the abilities, opportunities and locations of the ministers themselves. There are hordes of unknown preachers, ministering to obscure hamlets, whose annual pay would make the average laboring man go on strike. On the other hand, there are a few in charge of wealthy churches in the large cities that command very large salaries.

Probably the Georgia average is a little lower than that of Northern states. President Lyman Hood, of the Atlanta Theological seminary, stated that outside of the large city churches the average salary of preachers in that state is less than $300 a year, or $25 a month. It would be difficult indeed to find laborers who would be content with such earnings, and the wonder of it is not that there should be a shortage of preachers, but that in this age of materialism anybody could be found to undertake the arduous and responsible work of preaching on pay so miserly as this.

The trouble must be that the average church-goer, in spite of his fine talk about the veneration in which he holds his church and his religion, contributes but scantily to its support. Men who think nothing of spending dollars on their idle pleasures will toss a penny or a nickel into the contribution box, and look upon themselves as generous.

If the people gave more liberally, the pay of preachers would be greater, and the field would attract a higher class of talent. It is all very well to say that preachers do not seek the vineyard for the money there is to be made, and it is very evident that they do not, because they could take a pick and shovel and earn more, but no man can give the best there is in him when he has to pinch and starve to make both ends meet.

It is a blot upon the name of religion in this country that ministers are not better paid, and it looks as though it were up to the church-goers to contribute a little more freely and fully to the support of their churches.

THE PASSING SHOW.

Talking about the weather—let's change the subject.

All eyes are set Duluthward, watching the building of a great city.

The Northwestern Printer, which has just made its bow at St. Paul, is full of news of interest to Northwestern newspaper publishers.

* * *

President Roosevelt is getting some mighty good advertising because of the source of the attacks being made upon him. He couldn't get better if he paid for it.

W. T. Stead boasts that he has seen three kings and two queens. Very pretty, but in this country, if he investigates, he will find that four measly little deuces will make that hand look like a weak margin account in a stock panic.

TALKING ABOUT THE HERALD.

Enterprising and Progressive.

Utica, N. Y., Press: The other day, April 25, to be accurate, the Duluth Evening Herald published an industrial edition of 92 pages, an enterprise thoroughly creditable to Publisher A. C. Weiss, as indeed that excellent newspaper is every weekday in the year. The Herald is an independent newspaper, and perhaps that is one of the reasons why it has the largest circulation in Duluth. It is thoroughly enterprising, progressive and up to date in all respects. The special edition of last Thursday gave to the readers of Duluth and of the Northwest a full and optimistic account of all matters connected with what it represents as being the prospect of unrivaled manufacturing and commercial prosperity in that region. That city seems to be on the threshold of great occurrences and one of the best helps which any municipality can have toward prosperity and greatness is a thoroughly independent, progressive newspaper, and The Herald is just that in Duluth.

Fills the Field.

Biwabik Times: Just where a new paper will find room in Duluth it is hard to determine, particularly when The Herald fills the field in such an acceptable manner.

It Was a Hummer.

St. Hilaire Spectator: We are in receipt of the "Industrial edition" of The Duluth Evening Herald, published last Thursday evening, and it is a hummer. The prospects of the new steel plant, dry docks and other good things are making things lively at Duluth, as The Herald's edition will testify.

Strictly Up-to-Date.

Carlton County Vidette: The Duluth Herald is strictly up to date. Its latest effort for which that paper should be congratulated upon made its appearance Thursday in the shape of a 92-page edition.

A Marvel and Pride.

Deer River News: The Duluth Herald covered itself with glory this week with a 92-page special industrial edition which was a marvel and pride to the Zenith City. Of course, directly the big edition was put out at a deficit, but Duluth is made of the kind of good citizens that will repay the publishers in other ways.

Keeping Pace.

Rovey Iron News: Few daily newspapers could get out an industrial edition the equal of that published Thursday by The Duluth Herald, because no matter how energetic the publishers might be, the material for making the edition would not be in hand. It is a great compliment to The Herald to say that it is keeping pace with the greater Duluth that is arriving with wonderful rapidity.

HOTEL GOSSIP.

"One of the best things about Isle Royale is the fishing," said H. E. Strand of St. Paul at the McKay. "To be numbered among the best things, the fishing must be mighty good, for everything about the island is just about as fine as is could possibly be, including a bracing atmosphere with a lot of beautiful scenery thrown in.

"I have paid three visits to the island, each time remaining about a week, and in every instance I have left the place more enthusiastic than ever over its advantages as a summer resort. As I say, the fishing appeals to me very strongly, as it does to a great many other men. One may have his choice of lake trout, speckled trout, pike and huge pickerel.

"There is one large slough, covering twenty or thirty acres in extent, where Northern pike are so thick that there isn't hardly room for the weeds to grow. At least they call them Northern pike down there, but to my mind they are nothing more nor less than overgrown pickerel. The true fishermen generally turns up his nose in disgust at the mention of pickerel, and put them in the same class with snakes, but to my mind one of these fish that weigh upward of ten or twelve pounds is about as nice to the taste as any kind of fish you can get.

"Anyway, this particular slough offers good sport to the fishermen. It is not fished a great deal, and so there are always plenty of the pike, if such they are, waiting for the bait of the Minnesotan. I shall never forget one day two years ago, when a friend from Minneapolis accompanied me to the place. We were in a small launch, and well equipped for the sport. We had never fished in his life to any extent, and did not know what it was to get where they were biting good.

"The weeds were so plentiful that we could not run the launch very well, but I gave it a start and ran into a likely looking spot, and then stood up in the boat and prepared to cast with a trolling spoon. My friend looked up in disgust, and said it would be pretty slow work fishing that way. I laughed and told him to wait and see. At the first cast there were two swirls in the water where big fellows took a look at the spoon, and at the next I got hold of one that later tipped the scales at eleven pounds. He put up a fair fight, and the fellow with me was pretty much excited by the time we got the fish in the boat.

"Then my friend threw out his spoon, and got a seven-pounder first whack. The next one to get on his hook was a fifteen pounder, and I never saw any one so excited in my life as that man was. He went half crazy. We could have remained at that one spot and caught a boat load, I believe. The place was literally alive with them. We quit when we had enough, however. To this day the Minneapolis man grows wildly excited when he tells his friends about the fifteen-pounder he landed."

They were telling rat stories in the Great Northern city ticket office, which is located in the Spalding hotel building, yesterday afternoon. Mr. Morrison, manager of the Spalding, told some pretty good ones relative to the number of rats in different hotels he had heard of, and the freight and passenger agents grouped around chipped in with some thrilling experiences they had had with the rodents.

"That's nothing," ejaculated A. E. Hathaway, city passenger and ticket agent of the Great Northern, at the conclusion of a pathetic tale from the lips of the hotel manager, which dealt with the sad end of seven or eight rats that were so unfortunate and so entirely lacking in good judgment as to fall into the same trap during the same night. "Why, I can tell you a true rat story that makes that one look like a copper cent with a hole in the middle.

"I was in a railroad building in Minneapolis for a time that was located near some sort of a city dumping ground. The dumping ground was closed for some reason or other, and within the next three or four days our place was overrun with rats. The rodents are migratory, you know, and frequently whole clans of them move from place to place. While they were leaving the dumping ground they evidently encountered the railroad building, and made up their minds to rest there a while.

"There were hundreds of them. Open a door suddenly at night and the scampering of feet sounded like a freight train going over a bridge. They were sufficient in number to eat the foundation from under the building, and we took steps to get rid of them. A number of these wire cage rat traps were bought and set about the place. The first morning we found 158 rats in three of the traps. They were packed in like the proverbial sardine. One trap alone contained sixty-seven rats."

An expression of pained surprise settled upon Mr. Morrison's features. Stunned into silence, he gazed hopelessly at Mr. Hathaway for three-eighths of a minute, then turned sadly and stumbled toward the door leading into the lobby, his shoulders bent forward as under the load of a crushing defeat.

"Goodbye," he murmured, and was gone. Mr. Hathaway's other auditors silently formed in line and marched dizzily across the street, to a popular haven, where railroad men sometimes lean against a polished piece of mahogany and rest.

No snowstorm this morning, but it was partly cloudy and still rather too cool for the season. Early, the sky was clear and the sun shone with a deceptive softness that made it appear from the window as though it was a fine, warm spring morning. Out of doors, however, the wind had a wintry chill, showing that spring has as yet entered upon its work but half-heartedly. The weather man predicts rising temperatures tonight and tomorrow, with partly cloudy weather. Last night the thermometer got down to 16 degs., and yesterday's highest was 38 degs.

The sun rose at 4:49 this morning and sets at 7:21 tonight, making 14 hours and 32 minutes of sunlight. The hours of sunlight are increasing now at the rate of three minutes a day.

A year ago today it was warm, soft and fine, and the first thunder storm of the season occurred.

Says Mr. Richardson of conditions: "Light to killing frosts and freezing temperatures occurred this morning throughout the entire Northwest and southward to Colorado and Western Kansas, in connection with the high pressure that has moved its center to Nebraska. The disturbance central over Mexico caused further rains in the Southwest and South, and some snow in the Lake Superior region during Thursday or last night. The barometer is falling and the temperature is rising in the extreme Northwest. While frosts may occur in this locality again tonight, it is not expected that the temperature will fall lower than 20 degs.

Chicago, May 3.—Forecasts until 7 p. m. Saturday: Wisconsin—Fair tonight and Saturday; frost tonight; warmer in west portion Saturday.

Minnesota, North and South Dakota—Fair tonight and Saturday; slowly rising temperatures; frost tonight.

"Tulip Girl," Miss Taft's Nickname.

Although she is not yet a social "bud," Miss Helen Taft has been nicknamed "the tulip girl" by her close friends. The title had its origin in her fondness for a certain style of dressing. Thus a princess gown of pale rose cloth has a yoke of deep yellow lace and a single red and yellow tulip rests on a dark green straw hat that crowns her blond hair. The daughter of the secretary of war is almost seventeen and will "come out" in the last winter of the Roosevelt administration. She is a classmate of Miss Ethel Roosevelt in the cathedral school. Miss Taft has been in the Orient and can rattle off Filipino phrases.

TWENTY YEARS AGO.

Several Duluthians will attend the Sarah Bernhardt performances at St. Paul next week. It only costs $4 a head to see her.

John W. Miller of Minneapolis will open a coffee house and restaurant here this week. He has secured a store room on Superior street, between First and Second avenues west.

Walter Ayers has gone to Beloit, his former home, for a short stay among relatives and friends.

Mrs. E. P. Crosman of Clearwater is here visiting her sister, Mrs. C. C. Brown. They both start for Royalton on Monday and will spend most of the summer there.

News has been received of the death, at New Haven, of the father of Rev. E. M. Noyes of this city. The Misses Noyes have gone to the funeral.

The Hotel Zenith has passed into new hands. Thomas Connors of St. Paul has leased the same, and will continue in the restaurant and saloon businesss.

A. Bailey of Duluth has been elected a member of the Minnesota Association of Trotting and Pacing Horse Breeders.

W. T. Mason, who has been in the renting business since December, says he would like to see the person who spread the report that there were vacant houses in Duluth. "I am doing no business," he added, "because there are absolutely no buildings to rent."

To show how firmly real estate is held in this city, the following items may be quoted: Dr. McCormick has been offered $10,000 for his house on Second street, and E. W. Markell has been offered $8,000 for the fifty feet next to the Gilbert house. A. J. Sawyer has been offered $8,000 for his house. All these offers have been refused. James C. MINNESOTA OPINIONS.

Virginia Virginian: After the several state legislatures throughout the country adjourn the railroad, express and other large corporations will have a chance to catch their breath.

Rochester Post and Record: The Harriman lawyers will no doubt employ some experts to testify that his brain itself was seven-eighths water.

Mesaba Ore: The man that will build one hundred cottages for rent in Hibbing this year will lay the foundation for a fortune that will put him in the Rockefeller class, and he'll be a mighty popular man in this town right from the start.

Itasca Iron News: The long drawing card in the agricultural development of Northern Minnesota is the nearness to the market. If real farmers are to be coaxed into coming into this section nothing will appeal to them quicker than to know that prices will always be higher here than in other agricultural sections because the consumer is right at hand.

St. Cloud Journal-Press: Minnesota is an eleven million dollar state, according to the legislature, and an evidence of our richness is manifest by the fact that this immense sum only means a mill and a half state tax. That fact alone is worth the price.

Border Budget: Land and timber are gold, and the man is indeed fortunate who is the possessor of either. Land values do not shrink like railroad bonds and timber is traveling upward at a rapid pace.

Red Wing Republican: With the passing of such moral and business degenerates as Thaw and Harriman the country can stand a few earthquake shocks and a snow storm or two out of season with some relish.

Freeborn County Standard: The New York Sun says "Governor Johnson is just the kind of a man that is often exalted to the presidency over merely eloquent and brilliant men." True, quite true, but the people of Minnesota want Governor Johnson yet longer at his present post and they would spare him, even for the White House, with great reluctance.

Lake Crystal Union: Do not offer any excuse, you member of the legislature, on your return home, for not being present and voting for propositions that were for the interest of the people. No excuse will pass muster. Never again ask for any position of trust, but retire as a failure.

Le Sueur News: We are certainly a great state. We have just paid approximately $200,000 to make new laws. It remains to be seen how much we will pay to enforce them.

PASSING PLEASANTRIES.

Cleveland Plain Dealer: "Don't you think she has a pretty complexion?"

"Yes, the enamel sets well on her fat, white face."

Philadelphia Press: "Surely you're not going to give up your cozy little flat?"

"Have to, by the doctor's orders. He insists that every morning when I rise I must stand perfectly erect and expand my chest a dozen times or so."

Cleveland Leader: Floorwalker—See here, Mr. Sayles, that customer complains that you didn't show her ordinary civility.

Salesman—Great Scot! I showed her everything in the store, and she bought nothing. If I didn't show her that, we haven't got it.

Chicago Tribune: Naggus (Literary Editor)—By the way, Borus, where did you get the material for that society novel you're writing?

Borus (Struggling Author)—At a department store. I'm using the commonest kinds of pens, ink and paper.

Philadelphia Ledger: "Catch anything?" asked the boy of his schoolmate, who had played truant to go fishing.

"Naw," replied the truant in disgust, "but I will when I get home."

Catholic Standard and Times: Farmer Korntop—Ain't ye goin' to send yer boy to college?

Farmer Rich—No; 'tain't necessary now.

Farmer Rich—Yes, but he's learned to smoke cigarettes without it.

Philadelphia Press: "Miss Roxley," said the foxy fortune-hunter, "may I not hope that some day you will love me enough to marry me?"

"That's a good deal to expect, Mr. Hunter, isn't it?" coyly asked the homely heiress.

"Yes," he replied absent-mindedly, "it will be a good deal, if it works."

"No," answered the journalist, "she was unfortunate in living at a time when it was not yet customary to represent every woman who does anything unusual as being beautiful, accomplished and a member of fashionable society."

Royal Dinner Wines Cut.

New York World: One of the most notable changes that have come over royal dinners of late years is the difference in the amount of wine consumed. This is really an example of what is taking place everywhere. A bottle of champagne among each four guests is about the average for a large London dinner party nowadays, instead of, as in old times, something like a bottle apiece.

Will It Ever Happen?

New York Evening Post: The unprecedented price of $100,000 was paid in 1950 for an autograph letter dated "Washington, April, 1907," and reading: "My Dear Mr. Smith—Allow me to subscribe heartily and with absolutely no reserve to the truth of your published account of our interview last summer."

THE LATE LEGISLATURE.

St. Peter Free Press: The legislature is now a thing of the past, as far as the session itself is concerned, but it would be a mistake to assume that with its adjournment it also passed out of the minds of the people. Quite the contrary. It was the most profligate legislature the state ever had and its work will be very much in the limelight in the near future.

Pequot Enterprise: The legislature having adjourned a more even temperature in the weather should follow.

Hibbing Mesaba Ore: The legislature adjourned without having made an extension of the primary election law to include state officers and United States senators, and that was one of the Republican promises of the last state campaign. Too many fool amendments were offered, and none of them would have given the remedy sought.

St. Cloud Times: So far we have not yet been able to discover that the session just closed will not compare very creditably with any of its predecessors.

Hibbing Mesaba Ore: The late session of the Minnesota legislature did not develop a Republican leader. The nearest approach is Clarence B. Miller of Duluth, with W. I. Nolan of Minneapolis a close second.

Little Falls Transcript: There is a general absence of the usual demand that the legislature should have accomplished more. Re-electing Senator Nelson and reducing railroad charges help make a record.

Mankato Free Press: "It is easy to criticise the legislature, but if you were a member of that body would you do any better?" asks the Sauk Center Herald. Well, some of us might at that.

Badger Herald-Rustler: It is spring; sprang and sprung upon a defenseless people—the anti-pass law to take effect Jan. 1, 1908. The legislature, after voting to raise their salaries, had the effrontery to fix it so that they can still ride on passes for nine months yet. Just wait till these fellows come up for re-election—the people will not do a thing to them.

Fergus Falls Free Press: Only a few days more and we ride for 2 cents a mile. Then we can jingle the other 1 cent a mile and realize that the legislature did pass one really good law.

Reflections of a Bachelor.

New York Press: A woman does a lot of worrying just to satisfy herself that she is a good mother.

A man doesn't care whether you call it income or just plain pay, if there is plenty of it.

Some women are so conscientious they won't spend any more money on clothes than they can get hold of.

A man imagines he is having a fine time if he can sit on the piazza in his shirt sleeves even when it is cold.

There are lots of women that the others would never speak to if they weren't afraid they'd miss the things they say about people.

King Edward's Sticks.

Leslie's Weekly: King Edward of England is a diligent collector of walking sticks, match boxes, caricatures and model ships. His collection of canes numbers nearly 2,000, and most of these have remarkable associations. A stick very highly prized by the king is one used by Queen Victoria in her closing years. It is made from a portion of the oak in whose boughs Charles II concealed himself after his defeat by Cromwell at Worcester.

A Helpful Hint.

Galveston News: When you enter a newspaper office to seek a fat position on the editorial staff, it is all right to take your diploma along, but do not begin any spiel about folklore and civics.

FAITH OF INVESTORS

Renewed by Vigorous Prosecution in the Last Few Years.

New York, May 3.—The full import of the reduction in rates of interest in London, Paris, Berlin and India has just dawned upon the minds of the financiers in New York, and they are also beginning to realize that the present outburst of popular opinion in this country against abuses in railway methods and railway promotions is having a beneficial effect abroad, and that investors there, instead of being dismayed and affrighted, are enthusiastic and encouraged by the demand for change in methods and for reform in financing in general. No one realizes more strongly than does the English, German or French investor the effects of over-capitalization, internal corruption or secret squandering of corporate resources by the men in charge of the great corporations of the United States. It is a long and sad story to the European investors and capitalists, beginning with Erie away back in the early '40s and through almost every great and small railway enterprise until the recent Alton disclosures.

The European markets were for decades the slaughter pens of European investors in American railway securities, and the operations of Fisk, Jay Gould, Villard and others of the old school sent many an opulent family of Great Britain and the continent into ruin. Within three years the scandals of the life insurance managers, of the shipbuilding trust, the personal perquisites of the Pennsylvania minor officials, the indefensible and illegal actions of railway officials as to rebating, the plainly told looting of the resources of one railway for the benefit of promoters of other enterprises—all these frightened and appalled the plain people, who furnish the cash to buy railway securities, and it is only the prospect of reform and of investors' protection held out by the words and actions of President Roosevelt and the unmistakable trend of state and national legislation that induce investors to purchase at any price.

All the legislation directed against over-capitalization, against rebating, against looting of company funds, against squandering of corporate recources, all legislation for publicity, for frequent accounting, for proper valuations and honest dealings with the public, the state and the nation, all these are in the interest of the investor and are additional inducements for capital that desires safety, security and profit.

The address of the president at the Jamestown exposition opening stated his position clearly, firmly and decisively. He desires to destroy the evils in corporate management, not the corporations themselves. He takes his stand to oppose the evils of plutocracy with the same vigor and vim that he would throttle the mob spirit, the communistic attempt to destroy or appropriate the property of others.

His address was timely, for his opponents have for months been cunningly attempting to create the impression that he was trying to pander to those who undo but never construct.

He made it clear he desired to preserve all that was worthy of preservation and was desirous and determined to eradicate the abuses, wrongs and errors of the corporate management. Far-seeing railway managers discern a future clear of many of the evils of the former and present methods and are inclined to withdraw all opposition to legislation that seeks to control in the proper spirit.

Others who have gained wealth, power and position by the use of these reprehensible practices are loth to accept a situation which changes their sphere of action and forces them into an honest competition for position, power and profit.

Boss Tweed was opposed to the legislation proposed by Samuel J. Tilden, and the reform forces of New York city and state, and naturally so, for these reforms left him and his associates no opportunity for plunder.

Many men today in this city and in the state are secretly, yet actively, opposing the policies of Governor Hughes, and there is being fought out at the present time a most determined, bitter and deadly contest between the reform forces of the Republican party, headed by the governor, and the old Republican machine forces, directed by the lobbyists, franchise grabbers and grafters, who have fattened at the cost of blackmailed corporations and the plundered public for a score of years last past.

I have listened to the apologies of railway attorneys and railway managers for past actions that they could neither deny nor defend. They confessed to paying lobbyists for procuring and preventing legislation, but charged it up as being forced to do this by the attacks made upon them by evil designers in various legislative bodies. It can hardly be expected that all legislators or all lawyers will in this geenration attain to the high standard laid down by Justice Brewer, but if corporate managers would give the utmost publicity to attempted blackmailing by those entrusted with the making or the execution of the laws it would be a great step forward to the ideal which the learned and high-toned justice so ably outlined. Railway managers may as well accept the situation, for control of the railways has been accepted by the people as a thing that must now be accomplished. Some of the people would go a step further, but those who would go further do not hesitate at control.

Ninety-five persons out of every hundred are in favor of control and vigorous control. Six months ago the railway magnates were strong on state rights and against national control, but the way the state legislatures went after them soon convinced them that state control was "out of the frying pan into the fire," and now they are all back gain into line against state rights and for national control.

It is ludicrous the position these people who have been accustomed to control legislatures, congresses, courts and the majority of the press find themselves in. The voters are against any one who is known to be identified with them or their cause. They have been defeated in Republican strongholds they formerly controlled and driven out of Democratic Gibraltars. Congressmen they thought they elected denied them, and executives of states repudiated their claims. Legislatures professer abhorrence of their actions, courts rendered adverse decisions and juries formerly obtuse became clairvoyant and indicted them. The president, like Simon Peter, has protested thrice, and all the cocks of the nation crowing could not bring him to a remembrance of any knowledge of any favor the corporations ever did him.

The last attempt of these managers has failed to affect public action. They have tried to bulldoze the business and working people by threats of cessation of business throughout the country. It has failed, completely failed. Business continues to grow greater and greater. The New York Central Railway company moved 20,000 more cars of freight during the month of March, 1907, than it did in March, 1906, and for the first three weeks of April it is reported that the amazing increase of 80,000 cars was recorded, as compared with the same period last year.

The cotton planting acreage in the South is reported to be very heavily increased, and from the West come favorable reports as to condition and acreage of wheat.

Gold can readily be obtained now by our bankers from any of the great European money centers. Manufacturing in every class of business continues very active, and the demand keeps stocks close up to production in all important lines of trade. It is surprising to note the avidity with which goods are being purchased by the masses of the people in all the great department stores, and it is most encouraging to listen to the expressed views of the men at the head of these great distributing emporiums.

ACTRESS IS TO WED RICH LORD

Estelle Christy, Beautiful Chorus Girl, Has Captured a Prize.

London, May 3.—Miss Estelle Christy, one of the beautiful American chorus girls who were brought over here to take part in Edna May's "Belle of Mayfair," is soon to be married, so the London society papers say, to Lord Eliot of London, a scion of one of the oldest, most aristocratic and wealthy families of the English nobility. The young man's pedigree is so long as to make the Crusader's progeny look like the nouveau riche, and, moreover, he is said to possess a fat bank account himself.

If this romance really ends in a wedding, Estelle will be the second beautiful girl in the same chorus to capture a member of the English nobility. It will be recalled that Camille Clifford became engaged to a swell Johnny, and the affair was made so much of in the London papers, and her beauty so conspicuously commented upon, that Edna May quit the opera in a fit of jealousy and disgust.

Lord Eliot loves Miss Christy, it is said, because she's she, and many eligible young New Yorkers who saw her flirting about the footlight in "The Social Whirl" a year ago will be asking themselves why they ever let her go abroad.

In private life Lord Eliot is Edward Henry Cornwallis Eliot, 22 and serious-minded. The London world is very much surprised that he should ever have met the chorus girl, but his friends recall now that, having been dragged by several clubmen into the Aldwych theater, where Miss May's "Nellie Nell" is on, he became a frequenter of that playhouse as soon as ever he set eyes on Miss Christy.

Though the formal announcement of the engagement hasn't yet been made, there is no doubt that it is "toward"—as the English say—and in all probability Miss Christy will be seen on Broadway no more forever.

Since Lord Eliot is the only son of the fifth earl of St. Germans, he will probably take the American actress to his ancestral castle to live. London would not be surprised now if the marriage should happen about June.

DANVILLE, ILL. WOMEN SEEKING HUSBANDS.

Danville, Ill., May 3.—Foiled in their effort to get an ordinance through the city council legalizing the taxation of bachelors, the unmarried women of this city have resorted to woman's strongest method of accomplishing anything—pleading. They have come to the bachelors through the columns of the newspapers and declared that they will not reject unmarried men who come to them asking their hands in marriage.

In addressing the communication to the newspapers they say:

"Being a little more frank than are the majority of women, we wish to say that every day we feel rebellious against the fate that forces us into the commercial world where we must go of necessity to earn a living. Not a day passes that we do not feel that nameless longing—a yearning for protection, for shelter, for good husbands' tender care and solicitation.

"How we hate the noise, bustle and worry of the commercial life. How we hate the competition, the clamor, the drudgery incumbent upon us who must go through life alone, battling every day against a cold and heartless world in an effort to earn our daily bread.

"We are heartily sick of the noonday lunch, where we are compelled to jostle each other in the crowd, snatch a bite to eat and hasten back to our labors. Every finer instinct in us cries out against the coarse, rude life of the business world. Women, only women, possess warm hearts which have depths and heights of feeling which man can never hope to understand and which many of our gender are too sensitive to admit."

PRINCESS THIEF FOUND INSANE

Prosecution of Kleptomaniac in Berlin is to be Dropped.

Berlin, May 3.—The criminal action which was brought against Princess Camilla von Werde because of the theft of silver from Berlin hotels is to be abandoned. Medical experts have pronounced her insane. The princess is now in a sanitarium.

The accusation against the princess, which caused a sensation, were brought by a valet of the princess' husband. The man had been discharged after informing the prince that his wife was a kleptomaniac and demanding $12,000 for silence. The valet was arrested, charged with attempted blackmail.

When the police searched Basedow castle in Mechlenburg, which was leased by the Von Wredes, they found silverware valued at $45,000, which is said to have been stolen from the leading hotels in Europe.

NAT GOODWIN SUED

For $640 Due on Flat Leased for Edna Goodrich.

New York, May 3.—An irate landlady's suit against Nat C. Goodwin for $640 back rent on an apartment leased jointly to Goodwin and Edna Goodrich, leading woman in the actor's company, has caused no end of gossip.

Mr. Goodwin is the husband of Maxine Elliott. They have not been playing together for several years, but there has been no separation, and rumors of that character were denied. Goodwin's friends said that he merely had gone sponsor for the apartment for Miss Goodrich, she having no real estate that would make a judgment against her valid in case she failed to pay the rent.

The suit against Goodwin was brought by Adelia Duane Ireland for the rental due for an apartment in the Crosio, 7 West Twenty-sixth street.

In her petition the plaintiff says: "On or about the second day of October, 1906, the plaintiff rented the apartment to the defendant as tenant for the term of one year from the first day of October, 1906, to the first day of October, 1907, at an agreed rental of $1,920 per year, payable in equal monthly installments of $160 on the first day of each month in advance.

"Thereafter the said defendant, Nat C. Goodwin, entered into possession of the said premises and became a tenant of this plaintiff.

"The defendant has failed to pay the rent for the months of January, February, March and April, 1907, amounting to $640, payment of which has been demanded and no part thereof has been paid."

Goodwin's friends say the apartment was rented by Miss Goodrich, who, not being a responsible party in the eyes of Lawyer Henry Goldstein of 71 Nassau street, is supposed to have obtained Mr. Goodwin's signature to the lease for that reason. They declare that if Miss Goodrich were asked to give security for her apartment the most natural thing would be to refer the agent to Goodwin, with whom she is under contract for the season.

JUNIORS TIED GIRLS TO TREE

But They Were Only "Paying Back" the Seniors.

Baltimore, Md., May 3.—Tied to leafless trees and cold, hard posts at the ghastly hour of 3 a. m. Thursday, seventeen seniors of the Maryland college for women at Lutherville, watched the junior class hold their annual feast on the campus, while several members of the faculty stood by trying in vain to interfere.

It certainly was cruel of those forty juniors who sat down to the spread in the glare of lamps and Japanese lanterns guaranteed to keep away all spooks and monsters of the mysterious darkness, but the seniors brought it all on themselves. One of the main things in a college—particularly one where young women are educated—is the upholding of traditions, and it was the desire of the juniors to do so when the seniors brought the trouble about.

For years it has been the custom for each class in its junior year to hold a "feed" between midnight and dawn. There was nothing left for the juniors to do this year but carry out the old custom. They agreed that the feast should be held Thursday morning in the "wee sma'" hours when the "bugaboo" hovers about and melodramatic villians steal pretty young girls. It was a daring thing to do, but they did it. With hearts beating like triphammers, they made their way to their beds.

They little dreamed that the watchful seniors were on the trail, but at the appointed time when each junior was to display her nerve each found the door to the room locked. Soon the fertile minds reasoned out the situation. They had been tricked, real meanly, too. It was a deeplaid plot and the seniors were responsible, they knew. "Gumshoe" methods were resorted to. Locks were picked in the stillness of the early morning with a cleverness which would baffle even a real detective. The more daring climbed out windows and made their way to the campus by the outside route.

When the class had assembled the sweetmeats and good things were spread upon the campus and the lamps and lanters were lighted. As soon as the juniors had fixed themselves comfortably about their improvised table the seniors dashed upon them with a whoop that stirred the old college walls.

Then there was a battle. It was short, but interesting. The juniors outnumbering the upper-class women and were soon dragging their captives off to convenient trees and posts. From the points of their captivity the seniors not only suffered the pangs created by a squint of goodies just beyond their reach, but the taunts of the juniors were anything but pleasant.

Members of the faculty were awakened and they really wanted to break up the feast, it is said, but there were forty juniors. When the feast had disappeared and the classwomen felt that they had sufficiently lowered the prestige of the seniors, they released their captives. But, before the bonds were loosened, each senior was forced to promise to behave in the future.

They act like Exercise.

CANNOT LIVE ON $13,500 A YEAR

Miss Bailey, 19-Year-Old Society Bud, Needs More.

New York, May 3.—If the authority of Miss Aletta Natalie Bailey, 19 years old and one of the leaders in the younger set of society, is to be accepted, it takes a good deal more than $13,500 a year to launch and maintain a society bud in the world of fashion.

There probably are many families to whom an income of $13,500 represents a dream of wealth unattainable. Yet Miss Bailey, heiress to an income of $36,500 a year under the will of her grandmother, tearfully declares in an application to the courts for an adequate allowance, that the $13,500 a year granted to her until she comes of age is altogether insufficient to maintain a society bud—especially if she happens to be pretty—in the style demanded by the exigencies of fashion.

From her father's family, descendants of Jacob Lorillard, Miss Bailey was already an heiress to $3,000,000, when her grandmother, Mrs. Eliza Bailey, died, five years ago, leaving her a secondary fortune of $1,400,000. Her father, James Muhlenberg Bailey, bequeathed to her his town house, 77 Madison avenue, and his estate at Yonkers, in which his widow has a life interest.

"Thirteen thousand five hundred dollars a year!" said Miss Bailey with a little grasp of horror, "is an income for a child, no doubt; but for a society debutante it is absurdly insufficient. How can I entertain my friends on such a paltry sum?"

Think of it, clerks struggling to bring up, educate and launch into the world a family of sons and daughters on an income of $2,000 a year!

According to Miss Bailey, the expenses of the society bud today would have maintained a leader of fashion two generations ago. She has become the entertainer of her friends, and her social equipment is entirely incomplete on anything less than $25,000 a year.

Miss Bailey declares the following expenditures are imperative to her position:

Afternoon receptions.
Pink teas.
Bachelor girls' dinner parties.
Box parties at the opera.
Town automobiles.
Touring automobiles.
Dances for debutantes and bachelors.
Forty new dresses a year.
Thirty new hats.
New costumes for every social event.
Bridge whist parties.
Gloves, candy, jewelry.
Perfumes, etc., etc.

Debutantes of the '70s and the grandmothers of today gasp with surprise as they reflect on the days when they wore white muslin and were content with an occasional tea party.

Whether Louis H. Phelps, appointed by Justice Bischff to take an inventory of the girl's estate and report to the court on her application, will accept Miss Bailey's view as to an adequate income remains to be seen.

TO ESCAPE TAXATION

Canadian Pacific Will Not Pay on Its Crown Lands.

Two Cabinet Vacancies Exist in the Dominion Government.

Ottawa, Ont., May. 3.—By a recent decision of the judicial committee of the Imperial privy council the Canadian Pacific railway has won a great victory over the people of the Canadian Northwest. When the company got its charter in 1881 there was a provision in it that the 25,000,000 acres of land granted by the crown as a subsidy would not be subject to taxation by the municipalities until "twenty years after the granting thereof by the crown." The municipalities held that the time for taxation had arrived twenty years after the signing of the contract with the government. The C. P. R., on the other hand, maintained that the time was not up until twenty years after the patents had been issued. To test the case, two of the municipalities imposed the taxes and the C. P. R. refused to pay. The courts have sustained the C. P. R. contention. This means a great saving to the company and a big loss to the municipalities.

Out of the 25,000,000 acres only 1,820,017 were patented in 1896, when the Laurier government took office. The charter provided that the grant was to be made in alternate sections of 640 acres, extending back twenty-four miles on each side of the line from Winnipeg to the summit of the mountains, the odd-numbered sections being set apart for the company, and in order to make good any deficiency of first-class land there might be in the 48-mile belt from Winnipeg to the Rockies, tracts of land elsewhere were also reserved. When the present government took office it promptly addressed itself to the duty of settling up the business of having the C. P. R. select its land, and of issuing the patents.

The exemption from taxation runs for twenty years after the issuing of the patents for each particular parcel of C. P. R. land. The company can hold the land until the end of that term free of taxation; but if the land passes from the company it at once becomes subject to taxation. Until the expiration of the 20-year period the C. P. R. lands pay nothing for school purposes, though the value of the C. P. R. lands is steadily increasing as the result of the opening of the country, to which the municipal taxation of other lands contributes. The Hon. J. J. C. Abbott, who drafted and perfected the C. P. R. charter, had it so framed that the Hon. Edward Blake, with the best legal talent that Canada produced, could not find a flaw in it that did not always turn to the advantage of the company.

There is one vacancy for the cabinet in New Brunswick and it is likely that there will be another for Nova Scotia before long. H. R. Emmerson, who recently resigned, represented New Brunswick, and, it is understood, that Sir Frederick Borden will become high commissioner in London, England, in place of Lord Strathcona, leaving a vacancy for Nova Scotia. The New Brunswick vacancy will be filled by the appointment of Dr. Pugsley, the premier of New Brunswick, or Mr. Carvell, M. P., Carleton, N. B. As far as Nova Scotia is concerned it will have to lose a portfolio for the growing West.

As an illustration of how the parliamentary representation in the West is growing, it may be pointed out that seventeen members will be elected at the next general election from Alberta and Saskatchewan, which, as recently as in 1900, seven years ago, elected only four. And with this it is to be remembered that the representation of seventeen is based upon the population of the new provinces a year ago. If the provisions of the British North America act did not stand in the way of a redistribution being made also in Manitoba on the basis of the census of the West taken last year, the three Prairie provinces would elect 32 members to the next parliament instead of 27. But Manitoba must wait until the next decennial census, which will be taken in 1911, and the general redistribution of the whole Dominion that will follow. In the next general elections counting in the number representing the adjoining constituency of Western Ontario, the seven members from British Columbia and the representative of the Yukon, there will be 36 members in all elected from Western Canada.

Charles Hyman has resigned his seat for the third time. That his resignation as member for the city of London was not accepted in the first instance was not his fault. It was not in regular form, and the speaker had to decline it. After some delay the resignation was again presented. As the premier cogently pointed out before he left, there was never the slightest necessity for the house to go behind the last resignation. It was good enough in form, and its acceptance by the house without query (everybody knowing it to be a bona fide intention) would have made it perfectly regular. When, however, the opposition insisted on going into its technical position there was only one thing for the privileges and elections committee to do, to declare it invalid and it did that unanimously.

The matter was very much like the raising of an ill-advised point of order. There are times when the interests of business and fair play are best served by a tacit disregard of the strict rules of order, but when once an appeal has been made to those rules the speaker is as much bound to enforce them as the privileges and elections committee was bound to enforce the safeguards relating to regulations. The whole procedure—except the Conservative appeal to the privileges and elections committee—is so natural and inevitable that the theory of a determined plan to defer the opening of the London seat is wholly unnecessary. The arrival of Mr. Hyman's resignation caused no comment this time, and there will be none later. There can be no doubt that the opposition is heartily sick of such tactics.

Mr. Hyman's absence has not impeded any routine or urgent business to the country, but it has certainly robbed the session of some of its interest. The Georgian bay canal surveys for instance, are generally supposed to have been his special field, and as there is no vital necessity for haste concerning them, they have been allowed to proceed at a much more leisurely rate than when he was in Canada. From his sojourn at Coronado, Cal., in search of health, it is understood that the minister of public works will take a sea voyage, after which he will return to London and will have the unanimous support of the Liberal party should he seek once more to contest the city, as it is stated he will.

Death Reveals New Romance in Mrs. Frank Leslie's Life.

New York, May 3.—Intimate friends of Mrs. Frank Leslie, widow of the former well-known publisher, will be surprised to learn that she was the promised bride of the marquis of Campallegre, a Spanish nobleman, who died in Paris about a month ago. Her trousseau had arrived from Paris, and the wedding was to have taken place in this city early in May.

"I did not see the necessity of informing my friends in this city," said Mrs. Leslie, in explaining the secrecy attached to her engagement. "I am not a young woman, and my intended husband was considerably older than myself. He was just past 60. It was a most charming romance and was not characterized by the distressing conditions that are part of most modern marriages where a title is concerned. We were both entirely disinterested as to our finances.

"He wrote me seven times a week," said Mrs. Leslie, blushing like a girl of 16, and proudly exhibiting a stock of love letters. "In addition to the letters, he used to cable me several times a week. I wrote to him several times a week, but never cabled."

"Is it so that this would have been your fifth matrimonial venture?" Mrs. Leslie was asked.

"Mercy, no," came the reply. "It would have been my third, but the press has married me to everybody on both sides of the ocean. One time it said I was engaged to Governor David B. Hill and I had never seen him. They say he doesn't like women, but I never had any personal knowledge on that point."

Mrs. Leslie's maiden name was Miriam Florence Follin, and her birthplace New Orleans. Her first husband was E. G. Squier, afterward United States minister to Peru, from whom she separated. She became the wife of Frank Leslie, and some years after his death married "Willy" Wilde, brother of Oscar Wilde, from whom she got a divorce, her principal reason being that he was a spendthrift.

WEST END

FEW HOUSES ARE VACANT

Scarcity of Dwellings in the West End Just Now.

Many in Course of Construction — Stores Well Filled.

Establishments of all kinds from 5-cent theaters to department stores occupy floor space on Superior and intersecting streets, from Garfield to Twenty-fourth avenues west.

Within the last month two new stores have opened their doors for business, and both of them seem already to be enjoying a prosperous trade.

Nor are business blocks the only places which are in demand. The first days of May are usually moving days, but few people in the West end are changing their residence, fearful of giving up the houses they already have lest they draw one a great deal less comfortable but more expensive.

Many apartment houses and detached dwellings are in the course of construction at the present time, but even when they are completed there seems to be no danger of there being a too ample supply.

Police Are Working.

The police are still at work on the robbery cases which have been reported from the West end. Several stores have been entered lately, and the sneak thief has been busily plying his trade.

Money and jewelry have been missed, and while some persons are under suspicion, no arrests have been made as yet.

West End Shortrails.

Miss Marie Anderson leaves the first of next week for St. Paul, where she will make her home.

The Home and Foreign Missionary societies of Grace M. E. church will give an entertainment at the church this evening.

The Swedish Christian Sick Benefit society will hold a meeting this evening at Sloan's hall.

Prof. Martinson of Minneapolis is in the West end on business. In June he will be regularly ordained as a minister in the Lutheran church. He has been preaching now and then for some time, having filled the pulpit of Bethany Swedish Lutheran church for a while last summer and fall.

Mrs. James Preston of 2516 West Second street has recovered from an illness which confined her to her home for some time.

Rev. A. Edstom, pastor of the First Swedish Baptist church, is in Aitkin. He is expected home tomorrow.

The Rector's Aid Society of St. Luke's Episcopal church is meeting this afternoon with Mrs. John McMillan of 107 Park terrace.

Rev. Dr. Ockerstrom of Port Wing, Wis., will deliver the principal address at the entertainment in honor of the anniversary of Dr. Linneaus, the noted botanist, to be held at the Bethany Lutheran church May 7.

H. A. French of Eveleth is a guest at the Esmond.

Your prescriptions will be properly filled at the Lion Drug store.

Frank Morgan of Staples, Minn., was in the West end Wednesday.

William Goesch of St. Paul is a guest at the Esmond.

The Paragon Social club met last evening at the home of James P. Campbell, 2432 West First street. It was decided to give an Oriental social at the next meeting, which will be held May 16, at the home of George T. Richardson, 1915 Piedmont avenue.

The Ladies' Aid society of Grace M. E. church will hold an "experience social" at the church on the evening of May 10. Each lady in the organization will bring a dollar to contribute to the fund. The rules of the game provide that she must procure the money in some way out of the ordinary way and tell her colleagues about it at the social.

Mrs. Helgemo of Grand Lake was in the West end on business yesterday.

John Eckman met with a painful accident at his home yesterday while cutting bread with a bread cutter. He cut several slices of bread with the sharp machine and then accidentally sliced off part of the thum on the left hand. Flinn Brewer of 2715 Railroad street has recovered from an attack of pneumonia, which confined him to St. Mary's hospital for some time.

Frank Pelu has gone to West Baden, Ind., for a few weeks.

"For weak lungs or lingering cough nothing equals the Norwegian Cod Liver oil sold at the Lion Drug store."

B. A. Martin of R. R. Forward & Co. has returned from Hudson, Wis., where he has been under treatment for a nervous disorder. He is much improved in health.

David Shesgren, formerly proprietor of the Lion Drug store in the West end, died Tuesday at his home in Shell Lake, Wis. The funeral took place there Thursday.

The Sunday school of Grace M. E. church will give a special program at the usual Sunday school hour on the coming Sabbath. It is expected that many new members will be admitted.

Gust Bergquist, manager of the Duluth Posten, was pleasantly surprised Wednesday evening at his home, 1931 West Fourth street. The occasion was his fiftieth birthday and thirty or more of his friends helped him celebrate. Among those present were:

Messrs. and Mesdames W. M. Tilderquist, Otto Johnson, Victor Palmquist, L. J. Willner, Henry Johnson, Charles Johnson, M. Martinson, S. H. Eckman, Peter Ajerson of Superior, Gust Bergquist, Dr. and Mrs. O. A. Oredson, Prof. and Mrs. A. F. Lundholm, Prof. and Mrs. K. A. Ostergren, Dr. J. J. Eklund, Dr. E. G. Peterson, Rev. C. G Olson and Uno Lindstrom, Mrs. L. Nordstrom, Mrs. Ellen Cassel; Misses Agnes Willner, Evodia Olson, Nannie Palmquist and Lillie Palmquist.

GIRL IS SAVED BY A THIN MAN

She Had Become Wedged Between Two Houses in Cleveland.

Cleveland, May 3.—The difference between four cookies and six cookies called out the fire department, an ambulance and the reserves in the Third precinct station Wednesday evening. Ten-year-old Julia Pipino crawled in between two buildings. She stuck there hard and fast while the whole neighborhood and the police and fire department endeavored to extricate her. A slim man living in Newberg finally solved the problem and rescued the girl after a half hour's anxiety on the part of everyone concerned.

Julia just loves cookies. She took her visible cash and bought six of them. She ate four and then retired between the two buildings, which almost touch each other, to eat the rest. Five minutes after a passing pedestrian heard a faint scream and found her stuck, unable to move. The remaining two cookies had been transferred from her hand to her stomach. The process had sealed up the space between the two buildings.

Patrolman Hardy was called. When he attempted to squeeze in to where she was, he became wedged in and couldn't get out.

The neighbors sent a hurry call to the Third precinct.

The two reserves were detailed and came on the run. They, too, were of generous proportions and didn't dare venture in where only the thin ones could tread.

As none of Chief Kohler's finest are noted for sparseness in construction, it looked as though no help would come from the police, so the fire department was called.

Engine Company No. 18 responded. The firemen were also too fat. They thought of lowering ropes from above, and even contemplated a sapping expedition to undermine the girl.

A big crowd had collected.

While the police and firemen were retiring for a council of war, "the human shadow" from Newburg came up. He slipped in between the two buildings, helped the patrolman out, and then rescued the little girl.

The crowd gave a cheer, the firemen and police went home, and Julia gave the man a beautiful glance. He might not have been of heroic proportions, but he had completed the rescue at any rate, and her heart went out to him.

GOVERNOR IN DIRT CART.

Virginia Executive Forced to Leave Exposition Grounds in Wagon.

Norfolk, Va., May 3.—Governor Claude A. Swanson, Tuesday, underwent the humiliation of having to ride, accompanied by his wife, in a dirt cart, from the Jamestown exposition grounds to the boat, in order to return to Richmond. At the time the governor and his wife were ready for their journey, not a carriage was to be had. The governor, who had pressing engagements elsewhere, could not afford to miss his train. Hailing a passing dirt cart, the governor had his baggage placed in its body, while he and Mrs. Swanson climbed into the seat with the driver. An official of the exposition company, who happened to see the made-to-order conveyance which the governor had adopted for his immediate use, exclaimed in horror: "What, the governor of Virginia and Mrs. Swanson in a wagon!"

"Oh, that's nothing," replied the governor; "if I was an official of the exposition, I would be riding in a carriage, as all of you do; but, being only the governor of Virginia, and not an influential official, I must accept with thanks even the dirt wagon which you are kind enough to furnish me. I am thankful you do not require Mrs. Swanson and myself to walk and carry our trunks."

MIZNER ADMITS DIVORCE.

Young Husband, With $1,000,000, Will Not Contest Decree.

New York, May 3.—Wilson Mizner last night confirmed the report that his wife, Mrs. Charles T. Yerkes-Mizner, had sued him for absolute divorce. He intimated that several co-respondents had been named, and said that, while he denied all the allegations, he had determined not to contest the suit.

"Yes, it is all over," said Mizner. "My wife sued me for divorce. The case was sent to a referee, and she will obtain her decree. The testimony is all in and the papers have been taken to the judge. I denied the allegations, of course, but I shall not fight the suit."

When asked on what grounds the suit was brought, Mizner said:

"You can bring suit for divorce in this state on only one ground, can't you?"

"Then, who was the co-respondent?" was the next question.

"That I decline to disclose," said the young man.

It is asserted that he had obtained $1,000,000, and that he intended to wed another lady of millions.

FRIENDS HELP.

St. Paul Park Incident.

"After drinking coffee for breakfast I always felt languid and dull, having no ambition to get to my morning duties. Then in about an hour or so a weak, nervous derangement of the heart and stomach would come over me with such force I would frequently have to lie down.

"At other times I had severe headaches; stomach finally became affected and digestion so impaired that I had serious chronic dyspepsia and constipation. A lady, for many years State President of the W. C. T. U., told me she had been greatly benefited by quitting coffee and using Postum Food Coffee; she was troubled for years with asthma. She said it was no cross to quit coffee when she found she could have as delicious an article as Postum.

"Another lady, who had been troubled with chronic dyspepsia for years, found immediate relief on ceasing coffee and beginning Postum twice a day. She was wholly cured. Still another friend told me that Postum Food Coffee was a Godsend to her, her heart trouble having been relieved after leaving off coffee and taking on Postum.

"So many such cases came to my notice that I concluded coffee was the cause of my trouble and I quit and took up Postum. I am more than pleased to say that my days of trouble have disappeared. I am well and happy." "There's a Reason." Read, "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs.

CONCERNING WOMEN

The spring Assembly ball will be given this evening, at the Spalding, and promises to be the most brilliant of the spring affairs. This party is the first large and formal gathering of society since the return of many of the Southern and Western tourists, and it is expected to be a delightful affair. During the evening many informal receptions will doubtless be held by the recently returned travelers. The committee of the Assembly in charge of the ball has given careful attention to all the details, and this formal opening of the spring season will be a delightful start for the season's entertaining. La Brosse's orchestra will play, as usual.

COMING IN JUNE.

State President of W. C. T. U. to Conduct Meetings Here.

At the regular meeting of the Women's Christian Temperance union, which was held yesterday afternoon at the residence of Mrs. Ida Merritt of West Eighth street, arrangements were made for the reception of the state president, Miss Bessie Laythe Scovell of Minneapolis, who will be in this city during June. Mrs. Scovell will conduct meeting in various parts of the city about June 1.

The study for the afternoon was the laws of Minnesota regarding the rights of women, and the leader and principal speaker was Mrs. T. J. McKeon. An informal discussion of the subject was held. An informal social hour followed the program. The next meeting will be held May 16 with Mrs. T. W. Smith of Central avenue, West Duluth.

Memorial Service.

The regular devotional service Sunday at the Young Women's Christian association will be a memorial service, in honor of the late Mrs. F. C. Bowman. Mrs. Bowman was a member of the board of directors of the association, from the beginning of the work in this city, five years ago, until the time of her death. At the service Sunday afternoon, the speaker will be Mrs. W. C. Agnew, president of the association. Mrs. Homer Collins will sing, and the accompanist will be Miss Simonds.

CECILIAN SOCIETY

Holds Last Meeting of Year and Elects Officers.

The annual meeting of the Cecilian society was held yesterday afternoon at the home of Miss Theresa Lynn of 114 West Third street. After the program the annual business meeting was held and the election of officers took place. The officers who have served the past year were re-elected. They are: President, Mrs. K. A. Ostergren; vice president, Mrs. W. C. Sargent; secretary, Mrs. John Segog; treasurer, Mrs. James McAuliffe, and librarian, Mrs. C. S. Sheldon.

The club will resume work in the fall continuing the study of opera, a two years course of study, the first part of which has been completed this year. Last year this society continued its meetings during the summer, but have discontinued them this season until the opening of the regular fall club work.

Wed at St. Paul.

Mr and Mrs. E. A. Schulze and Miss Emma Schulze are in St. Paul where they attended the wedding of Miss Edith I. Stewart of that city to Dr. Albert G. Schulz of Carlton, Minn. Miss Schulze was the maid of honor at the ceremony which took place Wednesday evening. Dr. Schulze and his bride will be at home at Carlton.

Y. W. C. A. Notes.

The contributions to the building fund for the new building of the local Young Women's Christian association are continuing to be received, and it is expected that the $15,000 which remains to be subscribed will be pledged within a few days. Six thousand dollars in subscriptions have been received since May 1, and those interested in the securing of the fund feel that the total amount of $130,000 will be at the disposal of the association for the erection of the building in a short time.

* * *

The Outing club of the association will leave the rooms tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock for an informal outing. The plan for the afternoon has not yet been decided upon. Any desiring to enjoy the out of doors with the members of the club are invited to meet at the rooms at the appointed hour.

Cronin—McCarthy.

Announcements have been received in this city from Mr. and Mrs. John Cronin of Le Sueur, Minn., of the wedding of their daughter, Miss Marian Cronin, to John Charles McCarthy of this city. The wedding took place Wednesday of this week at the home of the bride's parents. The bride has made her home in Duluth for many months and Mr. and Mrs. McCarthy will be at homo here after May 15.

Dancing Party.

The members of Palestine Assembly will entertain at a dancing party this evening at the hall room of the Masonic Temple. The members of the Assembly will be hosts at one more party during the month, which will be the last of the series given during the season.

Events of Interest.

Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Murray of West Duluth have announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Blanche Murray to Garfield Blackwood. The wedding will take place this month.

* * *

The children of the gymnasium and dancing classes of the Duluth Gymnasium club will entertain at a party tomorrow morning at the rooms. The little friends of the members will be the guests of honor.

Personal Mention.

Miss Eva Shore of 811 East Third street left yesterday for a month's visit at Chicago and points in Indiana.

* * *

Senator George R. Laybourn and Mrs. Laybourn have returned from St. Paul and are at home at 614 East Second street.

What Retail Markets Offer.

Watercress, 5 cents a bunch.
Pineapples, 40 cents each.
Strawberries, 20 cents a box.
Artichokes, 5 cents each.
Asparagus, 15 cents a bunch.
Frogs' legs, 20 cents a dozen.
Lobsters, 35 cents a lb.
Spring broilers, 40 cents a lb.

The Saturday market will offer a host of dainties and delicacies for the Sunday table and the early morning shopping should be a pleasure for any conscientious housewife. The fruits and vegetables are becoming slightly lower in price and there is enough to promise that maybe by July or August there will be an abundance of garden vegetables at low and pleasant prices. The strawberries are better than they have been at any time during the spring and some very fine pineapples will also be available. Plenty of meat luxuries such as frogs' legs and lobsters, and crabs and broilers are also in the market and the market man asks just one thing which he has no hope of being gratified—order your Sunday groceries early.

EZRA'S SECOND COURTING

By Blanche Trennor Heath.

(Copyright, 1907, by Joseph B. Bowles.)

The sun was blazing full on the vegetables in the back barden. Ezra Cole sat down in the shadow of the hedge, and, pushing back his hat, drew a long breath. Just then he heard the front door close. Through the leaves, himself unseen, he saw two young men walking away. One of them turned and looked back. "I pity that woman," he exclaimed.

"What woman?" The other stared at him. "You can't mean Mrs. Cole? Why, her home is the very picture of comfort."

"Yes, but she isn't. She looks starved—oh, I don't mean for bread-and-butter, but as if her life lacked some—" The click of the gate behind them cut the sentence short.

Ezra Cole sat still, in utter bewilderment. His wife starved, unhappy even to a stranger's eye! And yet he was called a kind and generous husband. What was it she lacked? What did this young fellow mean?

He got up and went toward the house, stopping to pick a spray of late-blooming roses.

In the hot kitchen Mrs. Cole was ironing, keeping about her work mechanically. Ezra Cole wondered he had never before noticed that listless droop of the eyes and mouth, or realized the loneliness of her present life, her daughter gone, her husband absorbed in his work.

"Whew!" He sat down and fanned himself with his hat. He sat silent for a moment. "I see Mr. Langton goin' away," he went on. "Is he comin' to board again?"

"No," she replied. "He's on his way to the mountains, but he said he couldn't pass through without just callin' in. He wanted to be remembered to you." She paused with a faint smile. "I declare I was 'most ashamed; he asked all about everything here, an' I couldn't answer hardly better than if I lived somewhere else. I didn't seem to know just what was goin' on."

"No," assented her husband. "You've kept pretty close to home of late."

He crossed over and laid the roses on her ironing table. "That's the last o' them velvet roses," he said. "Ain't another in the village, neither."

"'Most a pity to pick 'em," she said, "if they're the last."

"Well as to let 'em wither, I guess," he said. "I recollect you used to like them red roses, Almiry. Many's the posy I brought you when I come courtin'."

"My sakes, Ezry!" She spoke in a pleased tone, and her face glowed as she looked up. "Did you really remember about those old times?"

"Why, certain," he said laughing. "An' I remember you was the prettiest girl in the village when we were married. You've held your own wonderful, Almiry," he went on. "Why, to look at you this minute, I'd almost think we were just settin' up housekeepin' 'stead of goin' on thirty-odd year."

"My sakes, Ezry Cole!" she said again, smiling up at him over her ironing. "How you do talk!"

He laughed again, but continued more seriously: "Speakin' of the neighbors, Almiry, don't you think 'twould do us both good to come out of our shells a little? S'pose we begin with the sociable up to 'Squire Hunter's? It's to meet the new minister, you know."

"Why, yes, if you'd like it, Ezry. 'Twould be showin' a proper respect."

During their thirty-odd years of marriage she had been truly a helpmate, thrifty and industrious. She had borne her full share of life's burdens, and of bereavements, for, of their four children, only the youngest survived. To her the mother's heart clung, and her marriage and departure seemed to leave a void that nothing could fill.

Ezra Cole was a kind and generous husband, but too busy to consider his wife's need of anything more than the comforts he provided. So her life crept on dully along its narrow channels, and in her middle age she felt as if she had reached the end. She ceased to be neighborly, or to look outside the monotonous round of household duties.

But today it was different. She hummed a cherry tune as she went upstairs, and there was a very becoming glow of happiness in her face.

After supper who should come along but Mary Jane Simpson, the village dressmaker.

"Well, I declare, Mary Jane," exclaimed Mrs. Cole, "if you ain't the very one I wanted to see!"

"Yes," chirped Miss Simpson. "I just dropped in as I was passin, to rest myself a minute. Good evenin', Mr. Cole. Hot, ain't it? Anything particular, was it, Mis' Cole?"

"Well, 'twas this black silk." She held it up. "My husband and I were thinkin' of attendin' the sociable at 'Squire Hunter's. We'd like to show our respect for the minister, you know."

"Yes," agreed Miss Simpson. "Folks'll be real glad to see you neighborly again, Mis' Cole. We've all missed you."

"But it's so long since I've been anywhere," resumed Mrs. Cole, "I don't know as I've got anything fit to wear. I expect this black silk looks old-fashioned?"

Miss Simpson examined it critically. "The skirt's all right," she pronounced, "but them sleeves need fixin'. I'll tell you what, Mis' Cole, seein' it's you, I'll manage to do 'em over, though I'm terrible drove just now. An' that handsome lace'll make a real tasty trimmin'."

So the waist was rolled up. And then Miss Simpson declared that she must go.

"I've got a dreadful pressin' order," she said. "Mis' Dr. Dent's sister is visitin' her, an' she's engaged me to make her a dress. An' now she's had to hurry off somewheres else to a weddin', an' has left everything to me. I'm to choose among these patterns," unfolding a paper of samples. "Quite a compliment to my taste, ain't it, for she's real dressy? Which of 'em do you like best, Mis' Cole?"

Mrs. Cole looked them over admiringly. "I like this one best," she said, selecting a delicate silver-gray.

"Why, so do I," said Miss Simpson. "Well, I guess it must be," laughed Miss Simpson, "since we're both agreed. Then I'll decide on it right away."

Miss Simpson was never known to disappoint a customer. And sure enough, about noon on the day of the sociable she made her appearance with the waist.

After the waist had received its due praise, Miss Simpson bent down and lifted something from a box beside her. "I want you should have a peek at this" she said.

"Why, if it ain't that silver-gray!" cried Mrs. Cole. "My! Ain't that handsome!"

"Ain't it though!" echoed Miss Simpson. "Lemme just hold it up to you. It's goin' to be real becomin. I wonder," with a sudden thought, "if you slip it on a minute? You see, she bein' gone, I had to make it by her measures, an' I noticed then they were 'most the same as yours."

Without more ado she began trying the dress on Mrs. Cole, pulling and smoothing it into place.

"Well, if that ain't a perfect fit!" she exclaimed admiringly. "Looks 'most as if 'twas made for you, Almiry."

Having viewed the dress from every point, Miss Simpson took it off and laid it on the sofa. "I'm real obliged to you, Mis' Cole," she said as she prepared to go. "I 'spose I'll see you at the sociable tonight? Well, good afternoon."

"Mary Jane! Mary Jane!" Mrs. Cole called after her. "You're leavin' the dress!"

"Oh, that's all right," the little dressmaker nodded back. "It's your property—Mr. Cole'll tell you. I can't stop another minute."

Mrs. Cole, the picture of bewilderment, turned to her husband as he came in. "What on earth does Mary Jane mean?" she exclaimed. "She says this dress belongs to me!"

"Well, I guess she's right,' he answered, with a twinkle of the eye. "Anyhow, I told her to make it for you."

"You did! Why, then"—a sudden light breaking on her—"then you must have had it all planned out. Well, if ever! What in the world did you want to surprise me this way for?"

He laughed. "Well, I had a kind o' fancy to. An' then I was afraid if I told you, you'd raise some objection—say 'twas extravagant, likely."

"Well, so 'twas, just a mite. Though 'twas real good of you, too, Ezry. But the black silk would have done just as well."

"So it might, Almiry," he admitted. "But I kind of wanted you to have somethin' new."

Mrs. Cole smiled. "'Twas real good of you, Ezry," she repeated. "An' of course 'twill wear for years, an' help save the black silk. That's gettin' a little frail now."

It was a trifle extravagant, perhaps, but it pleased her that her husband should take thought of her appearance in the village society.

At the sociable that evening Miss Simpson came fluttering up, full of nods and smiles.

"Mis' Cole," she chirped, "everybody's admirin' your new dress. It's real becomin', an' a perfect fit, if I did make it myself! I didn't have time to explain," she went on, "but I don't want you should think I was deceivin' you about makin' a dress for Mis' Dent's sister. I did make her one, only it wa'n't this."

Meanwhile 'Squire Hunter was talking with her husband across the room. The 'Squire had been one of her beaus before either was married, and he had not forgotten the old days yet.

"I declare, Cole," he chuckled, "your wife is the prettiest girl here tonight! Don't let on that I said so, though," with another laugh.

As they were going home Ezra Cole repeated the 'Squire's words to his wife. She laughed.

"It seemed good to see 'em all again," she said. "I've had a real pleasant evenin' Ezry."

"So've I," he answered. "An' we'll keep it up, too. I tell you Almiry," he went on earnestly, "I got a realizin' sense o' things the other day. What do you s'pose I'd care for workin' an' thrivin', if I hadn't you to share with me? There's just us two left now, an' I feel as if I was doin' my courtin' over again," he laughed.

She pressed his arm softly, and they walked homeward through the moonlight, as happy as in those old days of courtship.

BECAME LION TAMER.

Member of Tenderfoot Chorus Torn to Pieces in Wichita.

"Well, I will give you twice what you are now receiving if you will accept my proposition, and if you prove at all deserving, in time I will increase that," said Al Barnes, manager of the Barnes Trained Animal show, one day recently in Denver to Dolly Castle, a member of the Tenderfoot Dolly chorus, which was then playing an engagement in that city.

That evening at the theater Dolly asked Manager Cullen if she could leave without the usual two weeks' notice, explaining to him her offer to be a real lion tamer. At first Mr. Cullen demurred, but not wishing to stand in the little lady's way of advancement, finally gave his consent.

"But, Miss Castle," said he, "you well know how dangerous this lion taming business is?" Have you thought it all over carefully?"

Miss Castle hadn't given it much thought, but she knew it was a great opportunity and as she once on a dare made a balloon ascension with a parachute jump, and at another time allowed herself to be placed inside a hollow ball and rolled down a loop-the-loop incline, she felt sure she would be all right if the wild animal man would just how her.

The following week the bill boards of Denver were all ablaze with the flaming posters, announcing, "Dolly Castle, the famous lion tamer, who will at each and every performance fearlessly enter a cage of man-eating lions and give her famous dances."

The first week's engagement passed off without an accident. Weeks went by, the Al G. Barnes wild animal exhibition went from town to town and the pretty little lion tamer created a sensation everywhere. Then the sad news from Wichita, Kansas reached the company. Dolly had been set upon by the four trained African lions and almost torn to pieces. The animal trainers had to take iron crow bars to force the lions off, and the former chorus girl now lies between life and death in the Wichita hospital.

"THE JUVENILE BOSTONIANS."

"The Juvenile Bostonians" appeared last evening in "Taps" at the Lyceum. This evening they will sing "Dorothy" and tomorrow afternoon will give a special matinee singing "Olivette." "The Rajah of Pazala" will be the bill for Saturday night.

The children give a very interesting entertainment, and every one should hear at least one of the operas before the engagement is brought to an end.

ISABEL IRVING.

A light little comedy like "Susan in Search of a Husband," full of the bright and witty lines that Jerome K. Jerome, the noted English humorist, knows so well how to write, and played by the company of artists which Miss Isabel Irving brings with her to the Lyceum, Monday, May 6, ought to be just the thing to make an evening pass pleasantly.

THE DUNBAR QUARTET.

The Dunbar male quartet will be the next attraction in the Star Lecture course at the First Methodist church, Monday evening. Ralph Dunbar, the violoncellist, is a special feature of the company. He is an artist who has won pronounced success as a soloist with the late Jessie Bartlett Davis and other artists, and as one critic has said, "has enough music in him to make an entire quartet." Harry Dunbar is a natural reader and humorist, who has never been spoiled by any school of oratory, and his character work gives a pleasing variety to the program.

The company has been most remarkably successful this season.

MATINEE FOR SCHOOL CHILDREN.

The usual matinee for school children will be given at the Bijou to-morrow afternoon. The bill this week is an attractive one, and fully up to the usual standard.

CLEVER COMEDIAN.

Fred Smith, who plays the deaf man in the schoolroom scene of "Mixed Pickles," the musical farce which is a part of the entertainment being given at the Metropolitan this week by Miners' Americans, is a clever character actor. His role is not an important one but he makes much of it and is quite a hit. His make-up is clever, as well. The Americans will give a bargain matinee tomorrow afternoon.

BATTLE BETWEEN THE CONTRACTORS AND MEMBERS OF BUILDING TRADES

ber will be increased to between 1,600 and 2,000 men of the local unions which are allied with the Building Trades Structural Alliance. Of the electricians who are on strike there are about forty, a few of the contractors having signed the scale. The carpenters who are out number approximately 350, builders' laborers 200, sheet metal workers, thirty and roofers about eleven.

A meeting of the Builders' exchange was held yesterday afternoon and the contractors considered the demands of the unions from every point of view and then decided to continue to refuse to grant them. It was stated that if the men come back to work they must do so at the old scale. It was also claimed that some of the contractors will bring in men from the outside to break up the strike unless the unions come to time.

Secretary E. R. Cobb of the Builders' exchange denied the statement made in the morning paper that the exchange had declared for the open shop.

Not After Open Shop.

"You can say for me," said Mr. Cobb this morning, "that the Builders' exchange has not declared for the open shop. The statement that we have not granted any of the demands of the unions is also false, because we have signed the scale demanded by the stonemasons, bricklayers, plumbers, painters and one or two others. In the case of the stonemasons and bricklayers, we have been paying the scale for two months, and the new scale of the painters went into effect on April 1."

Although the Builders' exchange appointed a committee to meet and confer with the representatives of the unions, no conference has yet been held. The board of governors of the Structural Alliance is holding daily sessions at Kalamazoo hall, and keeping the men in line in an excellent manner. It is claimed by some of the unionists that the public in general does not understand why the strike has been made necessary, and think the unions have made their demands just because they think the contractors cannot afford to have a long strike on their hands at this time of the year, when there is so much building going on.

The Union Side of It.

"If the public understood the matter better," said one of the board of governors this morning, "I think they would be sure to sympathize with us. For example, take the builders' laborers, over whose demands the main fight is centered. The average wage scale for the year for the builders' laborers is not more than $40 to $45 a month, and no man can live on those starvation wages. They do not work more than four or five days a week on the average, and as the cost of living is steadily increasing they have a right to make a demand for an increased wage.

"The business men and the owners of the property, and those who are hiring the contractors to do building work are generally with us, and are in favor of paying the increase in wages, but it is the contractors who are fighting us. They have figured on their work in a number of instances since notice of the increase was given, and have figured on the basis of paying the increase, but now refuse to agree to our demands."

May Form a Company.

It is claimed by the union electricians that the contractors will have a hard time trying to find anyone to break up the strike. Some time ago the union itself was looking for outside men and was unable to locate any and they know where to go for them if there are any to be found. The electricians are preparing to form a co-operative company of their own within a few days if a settlement is not reached and will go after contract work on their own hook. It is claimed that a new electrical company was formed yesterday and is doing business and paying the union scale.

Claim Demands Are Excessive.

The union men are very confident of winning the strike and are determined to remain out all summer if it is necessary. They will call out every building trade union in the city if necessary, and if this is done nearly 2,000 men will be on strike. In addition to the carpenters, electricians, sheet metal workers, builders' laborers, and roofers, the following will be involved in a general strike, the lathers, plasters, plumbers, tile setters, cement workers, hoisting engineers, structural iron workers and painters. These are all allied to the Building Structural alliance.

Men Are Determined.

It is claimed by the Builder's exchange that the demands of the unions are far in excess of those of the Minneapolis and St. Paul unions. In Minneapolis the builders' laborers are asking a new scale of 25 cents an hour, in St. Paul 22½ to 25 cents, while in Duluth they demand 35 cents. Carpenters in Minneapolis demand 42½ cents, while in Duluth and St. Paul the demand is 45 cents. The new scale for bricklayers in Duluth is 65 cents while in St. Paul and Minneapolis it is 60 cents. But in nearly all instances the contractors are paying wages above the scale to the bricklayers.

While the builders' laborers are asking for the eight hour day, they are willing to work eight and one-half hours in order to keep the bricklayers and stonemasons supplied with materials when they go to work in the morning. At present there are three or four of the contractors who are paying the scale demanded by the builders' laborers, but as a general thing all work is stopped all over the city.

LADY BAGOT BRINGS SUIT.

Former Baltimore Girl Demands Restitution of Conjugal Rights.

Baltimore, Md., May 3.—Lady Bagot, formerly Miss Lily May of Baltimore, has instituted proceedings in England for "the restitution of conjugal rights"—that is to say, Lady Bagot is legally calling the attention of her husband to the proper maintenance of herself and their child. In England this is of frequent occurrence. There is no action for divorce. Lady Bagot is a Roman Catholic, and was married at the Brompton Oratory, one of the most noted Catholic churches in London.

The wedding, which took place in July, 1903, was a brilliant one, and was followed by a reception at the Hyde Park hotel. The bride was given away by her brother, George May, and it was said that she was the handsomest bride of that season. She has always been noted for her beauty and distinguished appearance. Lady Bagot is also a sister of Mrs. John S. Gittings of this city.

Lord and Lady Bagot lived in apparent happiness until after the birth of their daughter. A difference of opinion arose as to the baptism of the child, Lord Bagot wishing her christened in the Church of England, while Lady Bagot prevailed in having the baptism performed according to the rites of the Catholic church.

The breach widened, and Lord Bagot retired to his ancestral place in Staffordshire, where he has since been living in comparative retirement. Lady Bagot, with her little daughter, who is called Barbara, is living at Ascot with her mother, Mrs. Henrietta De Courcy May.

The Bagots are an old and prominent family, and have been connected with the court for many generations. The present peer was formerly in the household of the late Queen Victoria.

THE NAMING OF THE DOG

Nomenclature of Duluth Canines Reveals Some Interesting Features.

History, Hero-Worship and Patriotism in Dog License Records.

As the more dutiful of the dog owners file into the city clerk's office and apply for dog licenses and register their dogs, their name, breed and general description, and receive in return one of the little tags that insures for the animal the immunity of the law, a study of the names of the canine population of the city is rather interesting.

In the first place, the effect that passing history has upon the titles affectionately bestowed by owners upon their faithful pups is decidedly interesting. Although there is no one in the clerk's office today who can remember the time, there probably was a day back in the late '60s and the early '70s when dogs were named "Lee" and "Grant" and "Lincoln" or for some of the other big heroes of the Civil war. At any rate, this tendency to honor (?) the memory of heroes by naming dogs after them is very marked today.

There are only 110 licenses issued up to date, but the effect of recent events upon names is very marked even among this comparatively small number. One might almost believe that names had been changed in some instances in order to keep thoroughly abreast of the times and have doggie named after the latest heroes.

Up to 1900 the Spanish war heroes were all the go. "Hobson" and "Dewey" and "Schley" and "Sampson" were repeated over and over in the somewhat monotonous records of dog licenses, but they soon fell into disuse. In this year's licenses one lone "Dewey" remains to record the greatness of the hero of Manila bay. The nine years which have intervened since the eventful day of the big naval battle have proven too much for the many namesakes of the great hero, and they are, according to the records, practically extinct.

The popularity of the president is evidenced by the presence of nearly a dozen "Teddies" among the 110 license issued, and the officials expect to register nearly 200 of the president's namesakes before the city's population of dogs is finally enrolled.

The thoroughly up-to-date animals are named after Japanese heroes, however, and there are two "Togos" and a "Marquis Ito" among the Duluth canines already enrolled. "Teddy" seems to be the only statesman great enough to inspire the naming of a dog after him.

There are other things than history which influence the naming of dogs, however. For example, John Christie, with a true patriotism which seems to characterize the people of "the banks an' braes," has a fine specimen of doghood named "Bobby Burns" and another named "Wallace." Another canny Scot has named his dog "Heather."

And then, of course, there are the old familiar Sport and Spot and Dash and Rover, the naming of which seems to be done principally with a view to getting short, convenient appellations to use when necessary. Of these, Sport is far in the lead so far, and the dogs which answer to this brief and suggestive nomenclature are numerous indeed.

International Falls and Its Future.

To the Editor of The Herald:

In your publication of April 13, I notice under the heading of "Hotel Gossip," an interview with a Mr. Wolf of St. Paul, drawing attention to the difference between Fort Frances and International Falls, very much to the detriment of the American city. I think it only fair, therefore, to give your readers a chance to understand why that is. It is not fair to the inhabitants of the United States to allow such remarks to be made, if there are reasonable excuses therefor.

Mr. Wolf sees these two towns with the eyes of a visitor, and he makes his comments in a kindly manner, but unthinkingly.

International Falls is a town of 800 people, without a railroad, without a sewer system, without a city water system, no telegraphic communication with the outside world, no telephonic communication with the outside world, and yet this little town has $125,000 cash deposits in the banks. This town is one of the few where the owners have refused, practically, to sell their lots. The prices have been made prohibitive to keep people away until such improvements were made as to make it a reasonable place to live, and sole control of the property has been held, to build a city beautiful when the psychological moment arrived. Two months ago the Koochiching company, owners of the International Falls townsite, decided that the moment had arrived to formally lay out the town, and engineers are now on the ground laying out streets and preparing for sidewalks. Mr. H. Kelly, of this city, has just returned from an exhaustive examination of the questions of water and sewer, and on Tuesday of this week the village council ordered sewer on the main business street and gave me a franchise for a city water plant. In July the Northern Pacific will run trains from Minneapolis and St. Paul, giving to this little American city its first communication with its own country. Telephone wires are expected to be in operation next week. It has not been necessary up to this time for the powers that control International Falls to have it other than it is. Its merchants have collected their money, awaiting the time when the advent of the railroad would make it necessary for them to double their stocks and the town has been run as an open town, as the days have been long and dark, and the council have encouraged every form of innocent enjoyment, both for men and women, that could keep up their hopes and spirits until they could become a part of the United States by wire and by railroad. On their emerging in July from the bonds of captivity they will have opportunities for seeing people of their own country, and traveling in their own country, and undoubtedly they will then desire the laws and habits of your own happy town, or of St. Paul and Minneapolis.

Very truly yours,
E. G. WALTON,
Townsite Manager.

MYSTERIOUS STEAMER WAS RUSSIAN CRUISER.

Deal, Eng., May 3.—The mysterious steamer which anchored yesterday near the Goodwin Sands turns out to be the Russian volunteer cruiser Terek, formerly the Hamburg-American Steam Packet company's steamer Columbia, which took a prominent part in the war between Russia and Japan. While the Terek was being towed to Barry for repairs, the tugs left her in order to obtain coal.

WILL TALK TO FARMERS

Ex-Governor Hoard of Wisconsin Will Visit Duluth.

Plans Are Under Way for Big Meeting in June.

W. D. Hoard of Fort Atkinson, Jefferson county, Wis., ex-governor of that state, editor of Hoard's Dairyman, and one of the most widely known authorities on the subject of dairying in this county, will visit Duluth for a few days toward the end of June, and is willing to meet with the practical farmers of this county, and the business men, to discuss the subjects of dairying and hog-raising.

Numerous efforts have previously been made to get ex-Governor Hoard to come here and give the farmers and others interested in the subject a lecture or talk, on the dairying proposition in the Northwest. The announcement that he will come here June 26, for that especial purpose, will please a large number of people.

In a letter to C. P. Craig of this city, a personal friend, ex-Governor Hoard has suggested that arrangements be made to get as large a meeting as possible of the practical farmers and the business men with the idea of going into a thorough discussion of the project of pushing the dairying industry in St. Louis and adjoining counties. He also suggests that attention be given to the pea culture as ex-Governor Hoard believes this country is adapted to it in connection with the dairying and hog-raising.

While there has hardly been time to arrange the details for the proposed meeting in June, it is understood that an invitation will be extended Dr. Wood of Winona, who is an authority on horses and cattle; Prof. Hecker, of the Minnesota State university, an authority on agriculture and dairying, and a Mr. Scribner of Rosendale, Wis., who has made his 50-acre farm famous by its returns in dairy products, to attend and take part in the meeting. Dr. Wood will probably illustrate his talk with some fine stereopticon pictures.

It is the intention of Mr. Craig and others to make the June meeting a notable one and, toward that end, it is desired that the matter be well advertised from now on. No pains will be spared to bring here, not only the prominent men mentioned, but others who are regarded as authorities along dairying lines.

There is every reason to believe that such a meeting as planned will do much to stimulate interest of the farmers that live in the territory tributary to Duluth, and will do much to open the eyes of people to the possibilities before the Northern Minnesota country if proper attention be given the matter of dairying and the raising of the bacon hog.

JEWELS IN WASTE BASKET.

St. Louis Woman's Son Burns Contents and Thieves Secure Gems.

St. Louis, May 3.—Mrs. J. H. French of 5719 Delmar avenue reported to the police the loss of jewelry valued at $9,000. She took the jewels from a safe deposit vault about two weeks ago and concealed them, in the bottom of a waste paper basket. Her small son, not knowing the jewels were in the basket, burned the contents. She reported to the police that she had searched the allay where the paper was burned, but could find no trace of the jewels. Neighbors say they saw two men scraping through the ashes a few minutes after the paper was burned.

FROM ORE PIT TO U. S. BENCH

Conshohocken, Pa., May 3.—Of Conshohocken's self made men none are, perhaps, more popular than James B. Holland, judge of the United States district court. It is a far look from an ore team to the bench of the federal court, but Judge Holland has bridged that chasm in less than forty-nine years. Born in Gwynedd township, one of fourteen children of James and Sarah Holland, James had an uphill job of it trying to grasp an education while he was driving ore teams from the pits surrounding his borough to the furnaces hereabouts. In this vocation he assisted his father, who, blessed with many children, and accordingly, with little means, honestly toiled in behalf of the large family he loved so well. When the family removed to Spring Mill young Holland persuaded his father to permit him to attend the Conshohocken high school, and three years later he finished the course with honors from the then principal, R. F. Hoffecker, who sent him forth with a teacher's certificate. For three years Mr. Holland taught school in Virginia, and later at Lafayette, near his home.

When, in 1881, the Republicans carried the county, and James Burnett, the Spring Mill miller, was one of the successful candidates, having been elected county commissioner, young Holland received his political baptism. His sponsor, or finder, was "Jimmy" Burnett, for it was Burnett who took up Holland and had him elected county clerk—that is, clerk to the county commissioners. In this position he was brought in contact with the politicians of the county.

The lean, lank commissioner's clerk was not content with the salary which the position brought him, although it was considerably more than he had ever made before. His ambition made him turn to the study of law, and, during his spare moments in the county commissioner's office he perused Blackstone, the other necessary books being obtained in the library of Aaron S. Swartz. In 1886 he passed the examination for admission to the bar, and a year later stepped from the clerkship to the solicitorship of the county. This position he held until 1893. In the meantime he had not neglected getting along politically. After serving as secretary of the Republican organization, he was elected county chairman, and this was used as the stepping stone to the nomination of district attorney, to which office he was elected in 1892 and served for three years.

About this time the Quay-Hastings imbroglio occurred. This was a hot Hastings county, and the majority which had been recently given him for governor had never been equaled locally. Holland led the opposition later on and carried the county for Quar, by a small margin. From then Holland was the "Old Man's" chief lieutenant in this section. A wish from Holland was a command to Quay, and the plums fell thick and fast into the lap of "Montgomery's favored son," from national delegate, to naval officer of the port of Philadelphia, to United States district attorney and then to the newly created federal judgeship, which had been put through by Congressman Palmer.

With all these honors the head of James B. Holland was never turned, and he is today just as genial as ever, though the exacting duties of the office have entwined about him an atmosphere of dignity.

ELOPEMENT AT BARNUM

George Goodell and Miss Olson Surprise Their Parents.

On Third Meeting the Couple Steals Away and Weds.

Moose Lake, Minn., May 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—There was excitement galore in Moose Lake and Barnum on Tuesday evening, when it leaked out that George Goodell, the enterprising young hardware merchant of Barnum, had eloped with one of the fairest daughters of Moose Lake, Miss Annie Olson. The couple stole out of town in the evening and drove to the country home of Rev. Fetters, persuading that worthy gentleman to arise from his peaceful slumber and tie the knot.

Aside from the fact that the pair stole a march on their friends and relatives, their marriage has a romantic side that makes a fine subject for discussion among the gossips. The couple had never associated together until a week ago and the time of the marriage was only the third time they had met. Mr. Goodell comes from one of the oldest families in this section of the state. His father, C. T. Goodell, was a business man in Barnum for many years, and is now on the road and perhaps the best known traveling man that makes this section of the country. He has been very prominent in the good roads movement of Northern Minnesota. The son has succeeded to his father's business and is counted a hustler in the village of Barnum, where the couple will make their home.

REDWOOD FALLS WANTS GIRL'S TRAINING SCHOOL.

Redwood Falls, Minn., May 3.—The business men have decided to make a determined effort to convince the state board of control that Redwood Falls presents stronger claims as a location for the training school for girls than any of the other towns which have been suggested. It is located in a district which has no state institutions, the cost of provisions is low and the facilities for transportation on the two competing lines of railway are ample.

Messrs. Baldwin, Gold and Aune were authorized to appoint subcommittees to decide on the site to be recommended.

SHORTAGE INCREASES.

St. Paul, May 3.—The shortage alleged to exist in the accounts of Harry E. Ricker, former business manager of the Metropolitan theater, St. Paul, has been increased to $3,065 as a result of further examination of his books. The case came up in the police court yesterday, but was again continued, as Stan Donnelly, Ricker's attorney, is out of the city. The complaint was presented by County Attorney O'Brien who charges grand larceny in the first degree.

MINNESOTA IN BRIEF

Crookston—The American Biscuit company of Crookston has been forced to the wall, several creditors uniting in a petition asking that the concern be declared a bankrupt. The liabilities are put at $18,000; nominal assets, $21,000; real estate, $5,000; capital stock, $25,000.

St. Peter—Prof. K. A. Kilander, who has been at the head of the Swedish department at Gustavus Adolphus college for fifteen years, has received a call from Bethany college, Lindsborg, Kan.

Winona — Southern Minnesota experienced unseasonably cold weather Thursday. Following a warm May day, the thermometer began to drop rapidly here, from 90 degs. to 5 o'clock to 30 degs. at 11 o'clock.

St. Paul—John W. Olsen, state superintendent of public instructions, is wanted in North Dakota for the presidency of the state normal school at Mayville. The meeting of the board of trustees at which the formal tender will be made will not be held until later in the month, but the members of the board have been endeavoring to ascertain if Supt. Olsen, would accept the place, which pays $3,000 a year and house provided, as against $2,500 in his Minnesota position, with the privilege of paying his own rent.

OLD WORLD GLEANINGS.

Premier Christensen of Denmark denies reports of a secret treaty with Germany and declares that the object of the government's policy is neutrality.

General Botha, premier of the Transvaal, surprised the imperial conference of British colonial premiers yesterday by the declaration that he was uncompromisingly opposed to a commercial conference within the empire and protested against any attempt to rob the respective governments of their freedom in tariff matters. Sir Robert Bond, premier of Newfoundland, spoke in a similar strain.

The Infanta Ferdinand of Bavaria, nephew of King Alfonso of Spain, who has been ill, with the measles is recovering.

An electrician named Martin Burlehe of New York, committed suicide on the docks at Marseilles, France, yesterday.

Arcangelo Rossi, the tenor, who was with the Conreid Opera company in San Francisco during the earthquake and as the result of the fright has not since been well, tried to commit suicide at Milan, Italy, yesterday by cutting out his tongue with a scissors.

Queen Victoria of Spain took her usual morning and afternoon drives yesterday and on each occasion was greeted by cheering crowds.

The doors of the huses in the native quarter of Tien-Tien, China, have been smeared with blood as was done on the eve of the Boxer uprising and the people are greatly alarmed.

ALL LUMBER TO BE TAXED

Late Opening of Navigation Gives Ashland More Revenue.

Dealers Unable to Ship Usual Cargoes Before May 1.

Ashland, Wis., May 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—The late opening of navigation this year will be profitable to this city, in the way of taxes. The lumber carriers Schoolcraft and Mary Bourke arrived Wednesday. The Bourke will load at the Schroeder dock, but the Schoolcraft may go on to Duluth. The Hines' carriers Ashland and Law are unloading at the Hines mill. It is very desirable from the standpoint of lumbermen, to get as much lumber shipped as possible before the 1st of May, to avoid the local taxes, and for that reason, it is usual to see considerable activity in the spring.

The early opening of navigation, while a good thing in its way, results in the early shipment of lumber, and the city loses the taxes. This year, however, every foot of lumber on the docks is assessable, and the city loses none of it.

The arrival of over 5,000 tons of hard coal has broken the coal famine.

Ore shipments are proceeding at a lively gait, and half a dozen big carriers are now loading, of which one will go to Chicago, and the others to Lake Erie.

BROUGHT UP BY DREDGE.

Ashland, Wis., May 3.—The body of Patrick Casey, first mate of the steamer Alex Nimmick, was discovered near the Clarkson coal dock at 11 o'clock Thursday morning. The dredge, occupied in dredging near the dock, brought to the surface the body, and it was at once taken in charge by Undertaker Hoppenyan.

Casey disappeared from the Nimmick at the Clarkson dock last fall. The captain of the vessel reported the fact to the local authorities, and stated that he believed it was a case of suicide. The mate had been in low spirits for a day or so, on account of ill health. He disappeared after breakfast on the morning of the 25th of October, leaving his clothing on board. Later on, a son of the missing man at Prescott, Ontario, asked Mr. Hoppenyan to search for the body, but he was unable to find it.

HAD LEG IN BUNDLE.

Woman Carries Around Ghastly Proof of Her Husband's Misfortune.

Kaukauna, Wis., May 3.—The dwellers along Division street were astonished at the methods adopted by a Little Chute woman a few days ago, by which she endeavored to raise money. She was trying to sell tickets on a baby carriage, as she said, to purchase an artificial limb for her husband. In proof of her hard luck tale she offered to show the dismembered leg which she claimed to have with her carefully wrapped in clothes, but no person was found with curiosity enough to look at the ghastly relic. The peculiar method was reported to the police who soon hustled her out of town.

TOSSED FROM TRACK.

Child Struck by an Engine Narrowly Escapes Instant Death.

Chippewa Falls, Wis., May 3.—While playing on the railroad tracks near the Chippewa river bridge, George Albreth, a child of 5 years, was struck by the Omaha passenger train, northbound. The lad was hit on the back of the head and tossed off the track. When the train was stopped and the engineer hurried over to the still form, he expected to find a dead body. Instead of that, he found the child unconscious, but alive. That he was not killed outright seems almost a miracle.

UNCOOKED HAM FATAL.

Six-Year-Old Nekimi Girl Dies After a Brief Illness.

Oshkosh, Wis., May 3.—The 6-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Specht, residing in the town of Nekimi, three miles south of the city limits, died at about noon Wednesday at the home after a brief illness. It is stated that the cause of death was the eating of some uncooked smoked ham, resulting in a form of blood poisoning.

TO SUPPRESS GAME LAW VIOLATIONS.

Chippewa Falls, May 3.—On account of the many violations of the game laws reported in Chippewa, Eau Claire and Taylor counties, Game Warden DeLong, Kirkoff and Little met here today and planned a co-operative campaign. So bold had some of the illegal fishermen become that Paul Haas was caught selling large quantities of brook trout about the city. He was arrested and fined $18.75.

BUYS HUBBY SALOON TO KEEP HIM BUSY.

La Crosse, Wis., May 3.—Setting forth among other things, that her husband had such an abnormal appetite for liquor that she found it necessary to buy him a saloon in order to keep him busy where she could watch him, Philena Reiter secured a divorce in circuit court from Charles E. Reiter on the grounds of cruel and inhuman treatment and drunkenness.

Mrs. Reiter charged that Reiter married her for her money, and that from the date of their marriage she had constantly been called upon to furnish him with money for protracted sprees, and that she finally started a saloon in connection with the hotel business, in order to keep him busy at home. That he kept busy indicated by the further charge that is "he became infatuated with the idea that he must drink up all the booze in his own place."

WISCONSIN IN BRIEF

Eau Claire—The carpenters and joiners of this city are out on a strike, demanding a general wage of 30 cents per hour and a nine hour day.

La Crosse—Two hundred and fifty people in La Crosse county have been quarantined as a result of being exposed to small pox at a wedding in Smiths Coulee. Miss Josie Harmann was married to William Beyer, a prosperous farmer.

PENINSULA BRIEFS

Ishpeming — Alexander Bashaw, employed as a brakeman on the Chicago & Northwestern passenger train on the run between Ishpeming and Marquette and between this city and towns to the West, was seriously injured while in the performance of duties at the Ohio mine near Michiscamme Wednesday afternoon. He was caught between a car and an ore pocket, and was badly squeezed.

Gladstone—Paul Lee, a farmer on Day's river, set a trap for some "varmint" that was annoying him. He expected to catch a porcupine, but found the trap dragged away. He followed it, and suddenly a she wolf sprang upon him. He killed the animal with his ax, and is now richer by the amount of the bounty and the pelt.

BOY PRISONER AT CUSTER ENDS LIFE.

Custer, S. D., May 3.—Ernest Miller, who had been in jail charged with arson for accidentally setting fire to a vacant mill at Hermosa, while cooking his breakfast last winter, hanged himself at the grand stand in the baseball park. The jailer had for some time granted him privileges and he escaped and was not discovered until Wednesday. He was 19 years of age.

UPPER MICHIGAN

LOST LIFE IN WOODS

Edward Kinifick Frozen to Death in April Storm.

Farmer Discovers Remains Near Beaver Dam, South Range.

Houghton, Mich., May 3.—The body of Edward Kinifick was found Tuesday night near Beaver Dam, on the Copper Range railroad, about eighteen miles from Houghton. Kinifick had evidently met his death by freezing in the woods during the recent great storm. The body was found by a farmer who had left a sleigh on an unfrequented road several days ago, and had gone in after it. The body was found near the sleigh.

It is believed that he mistook the road into the camp after leaving the railroad at Beaver Dam and wandered into the woods and was lost. He had not been seen by any one since April 11, hence it is believed the body must have lain in the woods for more than two weeks. The severe snow storms at that time made traffic through the woods precarious and the unfortunate man's lack of knowledge of the roads, combined with the blinding snow, served to confuse him and lead him to his death.

THREE WEEKS LATE.

Active Farming on Upper Peninsula Delayed by Cold Weather.

Menominee, Mich., May 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—The late spring has delayed active farming in the upper peninsula, the season being about three weeks behind. Very little seeding has been done so far. Winter grains have suffered during the cold spring and most of the acreage sowed last fall will have to be turned under and seeded with summer grain. Pastures are very short, making barn feeding necessary, with hay at $18 per ton.

LOG SORTING WILL COMMENCE MONDAY.

Menominee, Mich., May 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—Menominee river log sorting will commence next Monday by the Boom company. About 160,000,000 feet of logs have been banked on the Menominee river by the various lumber companies during the past winter. Low water has seriously interfered with the driving of the logs and, on some of the smaller streams, the drive is entirely "hung up."

CARPENTERS GET WAGE INCREASE AT MENOMINEE.

Menominee, Mich., May 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—Complying with the demands of the carpenters' union, contractors will pay 35 cents per hour, instead of 30 cents, the former wage scale. Earlier in the season the contractors were determined not to grant the requested increase in wages, but, when a strike was threatened, an agreement was reached satisfactory to both parties. Considerable building will be done in this city during the coming summer.

WILL MOVE PLANT.

Escanaba, Mich., May 3.—Announcement was made Wednesday that the Escanaba Manufacturing company has purchased all interests in the Crystal Falls Wooden Ware company for $30,000, and will move the equipment of the Crystal Falls plant to Escanaba. The Crystal Falls factory has steadily employed sixty men, and the change will result in a big increase in business. The Escanaba factory is already one of the largest concerns of the kind in the country.

DRAYMEN IN CLOVER

Making Money in Hauling Baggage From Fargo to Moorhead.

Complicated Railroad Fare Situation Cause of Their Harvest.

Fargo, N. D., May 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—Local baggagemen are reaping a harvest as a result of the complicated railroad fare situation. Under present conditions it is impossible for passengers to take advantage of the reduced rates and have their baggage checked from any point outside of Minnesota. They cannot buy tickets at the reduced rate except at stations in Minnesota and they cannot get their baggage checked without a ticket.

In consequence, most of those who are going East and have any baggage to take with them are buying their tickets in Moorhead and having the draymen haul them over. As a result, the latter are doing a rushing business. One expressman said that he had three times as much Moorhead business as usual and unless conditions changed it is likely to increase as people become more accustomed to the present state of things.

STEEL BRIDGE SETTLED.

The New Structure at Montpelier Has Gone Down Two Feet.

Jamestown, N. D., May 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—Commissioner Past and Engineer George Conn spent yesterday at Montpelier, where they investigated the new bridge recently completed by the Hewitt Bridge company, which settled badly at one end. Last Friday, A. G. Itel attempted to cross the bridge with his threshing engine, which had remained on the bank of the river all winter awaiting the completion of the bridge. The bridge settled two feet, but Mr. Itel backed his engine off and saved it and the bridge before serious damage was done. The bridge was condemned by the commissioners and a representative of the company will be here at once to repair and raise the bridge.

HASTY MARRIAGE

Grand Forks, N. D., May 3.—After an acquaintance of less than a month, Samuel A. Martin, who travels out of Grand Forks, married a woman at Mount Clemens, Mich., and now is the plaintiff in a divorce action. Soon after the wedding the happy pair came to Grand Forks. Mrs. Martin became ill and, after treatment at a local hospital proved ineffectual, was sent to Rochester. Her husband charges that she recovered in a few days and indulged in celebrations at a leading hotel with another woman and two hospital attaches. At the same time she wrote her husband that she was very ill. Martin became suspicious and visited Rochester, where he surprised his wife and learned of her escapades.

GOVERNOR BURKE NAMES A STAFF OF COLONELS.

Bismarck, N. D., May 3.—Governor Burke has appointed the following list of colonels on the staff: George W. Duls, John Bloom, John D. Benton, Alex Scarlet, W. H. Makee, Tracy R. Bangs, Benjamin G. Whitehead, D. C. Greenleaf, W. E. Purcell, Max Wippermann, H. H. Perry, Frank Witte, Joseph M. Kelly, Frank Lish, F. W. McLean, Adelbert W. Cogswell, B. F. Brockhoff, Charles R. Lyman.

Temperance Commissioner Murray has appointed E. C. Hagen of Aneta his first deputy law enforcement sheriff, and he will make his headquarters in this city.

ELEVATOR AT CLYDE DESTROYED BY FIRE.

Fargo, N. D., May 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Peavy elevator at Clyde, N. D., was burned to the ground Tuesday evening at about 6:15 o'clock. The building was filled with grain, 10,000 bushels of wheat being destroyed.

The fire was discovered after every one had left the building. During the day, the machinery had been running, and it is supposed that a hot box caused the blaze.

The loss on the structure and the grain is quite heavy.

DAKOTAS IN BRIEF

Fargo, N. D.—Harry Gallagher, who charges James Cougill of Columbus, N. D., with chewing his finger off in a dispute over a freight car which arrived in Columbus last winter during the car shortage, has instituted a civil suit against Cougill asking $12,000 for the loss of the end of his fore finger on his right hand.

Sioux Falls, S. D.—An assessment of 100 per cent on all the stockholders of the First National bank of Scotland, which closed its doors early in February last, has been ordered by the comptroller of the currency at Washington.

Bismarck, N. D.—At a meeting of the trustees of the penitentiary F. O. Hellstrom of Fargo and Thomas Gray of Grand Forks were appointed warden and deputy warden of the penitentiary vice N. F. Boucher and Norman McDonald. The change is made for purely political reasons.

Fargo, N. D.—Under the new long distance franchise granted the Independent Telephone company of this city about 100 'phones will be put in the wholesale houses, newspaper offices, hotels and machinery houses as soon as the cables can be strung. This will give Fargo two long distance lines with the Twin Cities and all sections of North Dakota.

ASSAILANTS BOUND OVER.

Valley City, N. D., May 3.—The preliminary hearing of George J. Schleiger and H. H. Schleiger, charged with making an attempt on the life on Officer Christianson, resulted in the first named being bound over to the district court under a bond of $2,500, and the latter pleading guilty to a charge of misdemeanor and receiving a fine of $50, which was paid.

OVERCOME BY FOUL GAS, FARMER FALLS TO DEATH.

Pierre, S. D., May 3.—Arthur Cowan, a farmer residing near Harrold, was killed in a well Wednesday evening. He went down to clean out the material loosened by a blast, and feeling himself being overcome by gas, asked to be drawn out, catching the rope for the purpose. His companions at the top had drawn him up about thirty feet when his hold gave way and he dropped striking on his head and breaking his neck.

FOUR OF FAMILY DEAD FROM ESCAPE OF GAS.

New York, May 3.—William Cross, his wife and their two sons were found dead from inhaling illuminating gas in their home in Jersey City today. The gas escaped from a disconnected pipe in the kitchen. Cross and his wife were about 35 years old. The boys were 7 and 10.

TIRED AND SICK YET MUST WORK

MRS. AUG. LYON

"Man may work from sun to sun but woman's work is never done,"

In order to keep the home neat and pretty, the children well dressed and tidy, women overdo and often suffer in silence, drifting along from bad to worse, knowing well that they ought to have help to overcome the pains and aches which daily make life a burden.

It is to these women that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs, comes as a blessing. When the spirits are depressed, the head and back aches, there are dragging-down pains, nervousness, sleeplessness, and reluctance to go anywhere, these are only symptoms which unless heeded, are soon followed by the worst forms of Female Complaints.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

keeps the feminine organism in a strong and healthy condition. It cures Inflammation, Ulceration, displacements, and organic troubles. In preparing for child-birth and to carry women safely through the Change of Life it is most efficient.

Mrs. Augustus Lyon, of East Earl, Pa., writes:—Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—"For a long time I suffered from female troubles and had all kinds of aches and pains in the lower part of back and sides, I could not sleep and had no appetite. Since taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and following the advice which you gave me I feel like a new woman and I cannot praise your medicine too highly."

Mrs. Pinkham's Invitation to Women

Women suffering from any form of female weakness are invited to write Mrs Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. Out of her vast volume of experience she probably has the very knowledge that will help your case. Her advice is free and always helpful.

SPORTING NEWS OF THE DAY

REFUSES TO MEET HIM

George Milton Withdraws Acceptance of McGraw's Challenge.

McGraw Said to Weigh 130 Instead of 120 Pounds.

The proposed wrestling match between George Milton, the midget champion of the Head of the Lakes, and Frank "Kid" McGraw, an unknown in the wrestling world, will not come off. Milton, who accepted McGraw's challenge, withdrew his acceptance today on account of the difference in the weights of the two men.

McGraw, who was first reported to weigh but 120 pounds, is said to tip the beam at something over 130. Milton weighs but 117 pounds or so and he refuses to take on McGraw with such a difference in weight. During the past winter, Milton took on some men considerably heavier than himself and he had some pretty close calls, so he has decided to confine himself in the future to men weighing within five pounds of his weight.

Those who have seen McGraw in action, say that he is a husky youngster. He is something of a boxer and has only taken to the wrestling game recently. Under the instruction of Charlie Jones, he has progressed rapidly and, being possessed of a goodly share of strength, he makes a good showing on the mat. His challenge stands for anyone his weight and he may be able to arrange the match.

Nothing has yet been heard from Jones in regard to his challenge to the middleweights. W. H. Beaulieu and Dick Johnson have both signified their willingness to meet the ex-fireman and it is all up to Jones. All he has to do is say the word and either Johnson or Beaulieu will take him on. Both think Jones would be easy picking for them and they are waiting for his word. The match could undoubtedly be placed on at the Met next Friday night if arranged soon enough. Jones is said to be clever on the mat and both Beaulieu and Johnson have already shown their prowess.

George Milton is in training for his coming match with Frank Myers, the Minneapolis lightweight. The details have not yet been arranged, but there is no doubt but that the match will come off in Duluth within the next three weeks. Milton has been doing very little work recently and he needs about two weeks to get in shape, while Myers, who is a physical culture instructor in the Flour City, is ready to go on the mat at any time. Milton says that by the time the match comes off, he will be in shape to put up a good battle and the champion will find the unbeaten midget a tough proposition.

HIGH SCHOOLS PLAY TOMORROW

Duluth Centrals and Nelson Dewey in First Game.

The first game of the series between the Duluth and Superior high school teams for the possession of the Northern Hardware company's trophy, will be played tomorrow afternoon, when the Duluth Centrals will meet the Nelson-Dewey high school of Superior. The game is screduled for Duluth, but the grounds on which it will be played are still in doubt. Athletic park is not available, as the diamond is plowed up and the roller has just been put to work. There are no other enclosed grounds in the city and the game may be played on one of the corner lot diamonds.

The Duluth high school teams is in good shape for the game, despite the fact that the boys have not had exceedingly good weather, in which to train. They have been out several times, however, for good practice and from the large squad, Capt. Cole has picked what he considers is a fit team to represent the school. In the practice game with the alumni one day this week, the boys showed ability and they should be able to take care of the Wisconsin invaders tomorrow.

The teams will probably line up as follows:

Duluth.	Position.	Nelson Dewey
McDevitt	catcher	Malley
Cummings	pitcher	Mack
Anderson	first base	Colbeck
Bowen	second base	Alvord
Ostergren	third base	Hudson
Cole	shortstop	Conley
Ryan	left field	Starby
McKinley	center field	Erlanson
Morris	right field	Welter

HAS NARROW ESCAPE.

Jockey Radtke's Mount Falls at Stretch But He Escapes.

New York, May 3.—Jockey Radtke narrowly escaped being killed at Jamaica yesterday, when his mount, Ben Cole, in the first race fell. The accident occurred in the stretch, and it looked from the stand as if the boy would be trampled on, but he quickly got up and walked to the infield, where he fell. The ambulance carried him to the paddock and a doctor was summoned. Barring a cut on the shoulder and a severe shaking up, he was pronounced all right.

No can of Hunt's Perfect Baking Powder has ever been condemned by any pure food department—they don't condemn purity and wholesomeness—that's why.

A CORNER IN SPORTS

Ted Murphy, the boy manager of Chicago, now has the say as to whether or not Duluth fight fans will see a lively fifteen-round boxing match in the near future. Murphy some time ago offered to match Tony Caponi, the fast Chicago middleweight, with Tom McCune. The Duluth man has accepted, and he expects to hear from Murphy at any time, agreeing to the match. It will come off in the vicinity of Duluth, and should be one of the best staged in Northern Minnesota in many months.

McCune is keeping in shape in anticipation of the match, and he is now fit to go in the ring. Caponi has a reputation in the Middle West, which stamps him as a dangerous man in the ring, and McCune has something of a string of victories behind him also. The opportunity to see the two clash will be grasped by Duluth fight followers, if the match materializes, and the class of the two men is assurance thatt he match will not be a fizzle.

* * *

The opening season for grandmothers is approaching, and a heavy mortality is expected among them this year. Next Wednesday the Duluth White Sox will be home for two series of practice games before the opening of the regular season with Houghton, and from that time on it is permissable for any office boy under the age of 17 years to have his grandmother die on any fine Saturday afternoon. The "unwritten law" also permits it on Mondays, Tuesdays, Wednesdays, Thursdays and Fridays, but hard-hearted employers object to deaths occurring in the family so frequently.

* * *

Dr. P. R. Glass, president and secretary of the Northern-Copper Country league, is in controversy with President Lennon of the Chicago American association team, which promises to end before the national commission. Last fall, Vorpagel of the Calumet team, and Howell of the Houghton Giants, were ostensibly purchased by St. Paul. The purchase money was not paid, however, although Dr. Glass took the matter up with Secretary Farrell several times. Now St. Paul has turned the two men over to Madison, in the Wisconsin State league, and the Calumet and Houghton magnates want to see the men or the money.

* * *

Jack Johnson, the negro heavyweight, is rushing back from Australia, to force Fill Squires to fight him. Poor Mistah Johnson. He is always chasing around looking for some of the prominent heavyweights to fight him, but they withdraw behind the color line and refuse to come out. Johnson is too dangerous a man for any of the present white heavyweights to fight, and the color line is a very convenient refuge for them.

* * *

When the White Sox arrive in Duluth, they will be joined by Tredway and Fagin. Big McCormick will be along shortly and Leighty is now with the team. With the squad complete, the boys will be better able to strike their gait and the fans refuse to believe that there is nothing in them but a string of defeats.

* * *

The corner-lotters have been having their troubles just like the rest of the athletes. Last Sunday, a snowstorm put their plans to the bad and they haven't had much time to practice thus far. If the weather man is kind, however, the crack of the bat and ball will be heard at a good many points in Duluth next Sunday.

* * *

The trout fishermen are in despair and longing for real spring weather. The season has been open nearly three weeks and still the streams are in no condition for good sport. Each new snowstorm increases their volume and makes fishing conditions worse. In Wisconsin and Michigan, the season opened Wednesday, but the streams in the northern part of those states are in just as bad shape as those in Minnesota and the only course for the fishermen is to wait for suitable weather, which must come some time.

WRESTLING AT THE "MET."

Tommy Doyle and Kid Paul Will Meet Tonight.

Tonight at the Metropolitan opera house, the lightweights will go at it again. For some time the patrons of the theater have been given heavyweight matches on Friday nights but tonight, the bill is Tommy Doyle vs. Kid Paul and they promise to stage a scrappy match. Both boys have been on the mat at the Met before and they know a good deal of the game. Both are fast and aggressive and the match tonight will be an interesting one. They will weigh in at about 118 pounds.

SELLS PLAY TO MISS ANGLIN.

Young Newspaper Woman of Sioux City Bids for Fame.

Sioux City, Iowa, May 3.—Miss Helen Ingersoll, a society reporter on the Sioux City Journal, has written a play which has been accepted by Margaret Anglin, one of the foremost American actresses. Miss Ingersoll returned today from Omaha, where she met Miss Anglin's agent and entered into a written agreement whereby the actress takes the play, paying a cash bonus and royalty and also purchasing an option on future plays which the young newspaper woman may write.

SOX LOSE TO WEATHER

Are Now at Eau Claire for Three Days' Series.

Wisconsin continues to be unkind to the Duluth White Sox and the inhospitality of the sister state to its guests is beginning to wear on the fans of Duluth. Wisconsin takes the big prize in the mid-winter stakes.

Greenland's icy mountains haven't a thing on the Badger state and the land of LaFollette could give the north pole the whole deck and then have a look at the money. Jack Frost, Jup Pluv, and Old Boreas are the ruling powers of the commonwealth of Wisconsin.

It was the same old story yesterday. The Sox didn't get a chance to don their natty new uniforms and shy a few bricks at the budding hopes of the second of the Twins born to the Wisconsin State league this year. Nothing to it but rain and cold weather and the men who make up "Smiley" Smith's squad must have accumulated a nice bunch of sympathy for the men who must play ball in that climate all summer. This country by the lakes is all to the good, when its weather is compared to the brand furnished in Wisconsin in the beautiful springtime.

The trip to Fond du Lac having been made for nothing, the Sox are now in Eau Claire, where they will tackle the nine which landed the cellar championship of the Wisconsin organization last year. Eddie Herris' Maroons recently took Eau Claire into camp and with the kind permission of the weather, "Smiley" Smith's White Sox will do likewise—perhaps. The Sox are billed at Eau Claire today, tomorrow and Sunday.

The finishing touches will be administered to the weary wanderers Monday and Tuesday, the Sox jumping from Eau Claire to La Crosse, where the pennant flies. Nearer to home than they have been for some weeks, they will pull off two games, and then for their own little lot out in the West end. There they hope to find the weather and training conditions they have been vainly seeking. Wednesday, they will arive in Duluth. Thursday or Friday, a picked up nine or the Kelley Hardware company's team will put them through their paces and Saturday and Sunday, Jack Morrison's Lethbridge team will be along for a couple of games. After Lethbridge comes Medicine Hat and then the Houghton Glants for the grand start of the race.

MARKSMEN ORGANIZE

Major F. E. Resche Heads Northwestern Military Rifle Association.

Maj. F. E. Resche of Duluth was chosen president of the Northwestern Military Rifle association at the first meeting of the organization which was held in the Armory last evening. The meeting was fairly well attended. Nine teams will be entered in the association for its first shoot during the latter part of July, including Companies A and C and the field staff and band team from Duluth, Company I from Superior, and teams from the Ashland, Rice Lake, Eau Claire, Princeton and Anoka militia companies being enrolled. Representatives from nearly all the towns in the circuit will be on a larger scale than anything which has been attempted here before.

Capt. A. S. Peterson of Rice Lake was elected vice president, Capt. E. Rossiter of Superior is secretary, and Lieut. Roger M. Weaver of Duluth is keeper of the funds. Among the other out of town officers present were Lieut. H. F. Bortz of Rice Lake and Second Lieut. H. F. Gielle of Ashland.

WILL TALK ON BASEBALL.

Players in Interscholastic League Will Study the Rules.

The athletic committee of the boys' department of the Y. M. C. A. has arranged with Mr. Phillips of the high school to give a talk on baseball at the club rooms Friday evening at 8 o'clock, the idea of the talk being to make all the players in the Interscholastic Baseball league familiar with the rules. Mr. Phillips will give an informal talk, and the boys will be at liberty to ask any questions in reference to any of the rules. The talk is especially for the players in the Interscholastic league, but every boy in the city is cordially invited. The meeting is called for 8 o'clock.

The Washington and the St. Thomas teams will meet on the diamond tomorrow afternoon at 4:30 on the Washington grounds, Twelfth avenue east and London road. David Duncan will be the umpire.

The Interscholastic field meet committee will meet Friday afternoon at 5 o'clock.

Wonderful Eczema Cure.

"Our little boy had eczema for five years" writes N. A. Adams, Henrietta, Pa. "Two of our home doctors said the case was hopeless, his lungs being affected. We then employed other doctors, but no benefit resulted. By chance we read about Eclectric Bitters; bought a bottle and soon noticed improvement. We continued this medicine until several bottles were used, when our boy was completely cured." Best of all blood medicines and body building health tonics. Guaranteed at all drug stores. 50c.

MEALS FOR OARSMEN

Training Table is Inaugurated by Duluth Boat Club.

Twenty Candidates for Places on the Junior Eight.

The training table has been inaugurated for the Duluth Boat club crews, and hereafter meals will be served the oarsmen in the club cafe every evening.

The plan is to serve a meal at a moderate price, which will cause no hardship to any of the men. The first meal was served last evening, when about thirty of the members were the guests of President Julius H. Barnes.

Two junior eights, a junior four, a senior four and several working boats were out on the bay last evening, in spite of the chilly wind and the choppy sea.

The senior four this year will probably be composed of Church, Haroldson, Alworth and Skelton.

There are from fifteen to twenty candidates for the junior eight, and every evening this week two full crews have been out on the bay. They were put through a stiff grind last evening by the coaches. The boats are beginning to run more smoothly, and considering the bad water last evening, the showing was encouraging. There are some big, beefy men among the juniors who will pull a strong oar when they round into shape.

No attempt will be made to pick a crew for several weeks yet. The two junior eights will be kept as evenly balanced as possible, and no selection will be made until the coaches have an opportunity to try out all of the men thoroughly. There will be no first boat and no second boat, therefore, for at least two weeks to come.

The club will be formally opened about May 15, when a smoker will be given by the members. The first club dance will not be given until the weather moderates considerably, probably not before the first of June.

VOICE OF MUSICIAN,

Who Became Dumb, Restored by Explosion of Sodawater Siphon.

London, May 3.—The accidental bursting of a sodawater siphon has restored the power of speech to a dumb man. He is a young musician, who through overstrain and sickness became dumb seven years ago.

All kinds of remedies were tried to cure him. Specialists were consulted, and he was treated at various hospitals. Nothing availed to restore his speech, and he was compelled through misfortune to seek refuge in the Croydon workhouse.

There he opened a cupboard, from which a sodawater siphon fell, exploding on the floor with a loud noise. The shock of surprise released the man's vocal cords. He uttered a cry and instinctively tried to speak. To his own and everybody's astonishment his voice returned and seems to be completely restored.

His throat is somewhat contracted, but the doctors believe that with rest and care he will be permanently cured.

HUGE PROFITS ON FURNISHINGS

Still More Heavy Graft Disclosed in Pennsylvania Statehouse.

Harrisburg, Pa., May 3.—The capitol investigating commission issued an itemized statement last night, showing the cost to the state for furnishing the house library and the reception and private rooms of the resident clerk of the house. The metallic cases in these apartments were supplied by the Pennsylvania Construction company of Marietta, Pa.,, and the other furnishings by John H. Sanderson & Co. of Philadelphia. Architect Joseph M. Huston was paid a commission of 4 per cent by the state for designing the furnishings, the total cost of which was $104,732.94. The library cost $72,-907.89, the private room $20,115.23, and the reception room $11,709.82. The commission's auditors estimate that the profits of the two firms on these furnishings were from 500 to 1,000 per cent.

James Scarlet, chief counsel of the commission, has been asked by the attorney general to take charge of the proposed criminal and civil suits against certain persons involved in the capitol scandal.

S.S.S. CURES CHRONIC ULCERS

Chronic Ulcers are the result of a deeply polluted and foul blood supply. The blood is filled with impurities and germs which are being constantly fed into the place through the circulation, until all the surrounding flesh becomes diseased and the sore an obstinate and permanent trouble. Every symptom of an old ulcer suggests pollution; the discharge, the red, angry looking flesh, the inflammation and discoloration of surrounding parts, all show that the ulcer is prevented from healing by the constant drainage through it of impurities from the blood. This impure condition of the blood may be hereditary, or it may be the remains of some constitutional disease, or the effects of a long spell of sickness, leaving disease germs in the system, or the absorption of the refuse of the body which has not been properly expelled through the natural channels. But whatever the cause, the blood is so weakened and polluted that it does not properly nourish and stimulate the place, and the sore cannot heal. Salves, plasters, lotions, etc., keep the sore or ulcer clean, relieve pain, and perhaps reduce inflammation, but can never permanently heal them because they do not reach the blood. S. S. S. goes down to the very fountain-head of the trouble, drives out all poisons and germs, builds up the weak, sluggish blood, gives energy and strength to the system, and by sending a fresh, healthy stream of blood to the diseased parts, allows the ulcer to heal naturally and permanently. Nothing reaches inherited taints like S. S. S. It cleanses the circulation of every trace of hereditary disease or impurity, and those who have nursed and treated an old sore for years will experience good results as soon as the system becomes influenced by S. S. S. Book on Sores and Ulcers and medical advice free to all who write. THE SWIFT SPECIFIC CO., ATLANTA, GA.

More Boats at Two Harbors Than Can be Accommodated.

Much Sunday Work Will be Necessary This Season.

Two Harbors, Minn., May 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—Ore business since the arrival of the boats the first of the week has been brisk and will have reached a maximum within another ten days. The docks have been blocked with boats all week and others are coming as fast as they are cleared. Most of the dock force have been loading boats mostly to keep them going and clean out the docks, which were filled with ore, and as soon as the boats are got to moving, shipments from the mines will be largely increased and more dumping done. It is expected that much Sunday work will be necessary this season, owing to the lateness in getting started.

About all the timber work on ore dock No. 5 has been completed, and the work lining the pockets and putting on the decking is now under way.

Owing to the increased ore business additional short run crews have been put on at Ely. Conductors Phil Weindl and J. T. Frame going up Thursday to take charge of the trains.

The night force at the ore docks was put on Saturday for the season and both the day and night force will be increased to a maximum as rapidly as the men can be secured.

The Duluth & Iron Range is already making arrangements to enlarge its dock capacity here and is making surveys and soundings for a location for ore dock No. 6.

MUST OBEY LAWS.

Austrian Fined $25 for Leaving Pest House Without Permission.

Eveleth, Minn., May 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—Dr. J. V. Johnson, commissioner of health for Eveleth, is determined that quarantine for contagious diseases shall be respected. Ignorant persons and those who habitually disregard the law have been breaking quarantine, and it was decided that some one would have to be made an example of. The example was found in Tony Crevic, a young Austrian, who contracted scarlet fever, and was placed under the care of Dr. E. M. Gans.

He was taken to the quarantine hospital on Spruce hill and placed under treatment. Without permission, Crevic skipped from the pesthouse and went up town. He was caught and again confined until the disease had run its course. Tuesday he was taken before the municipal court, charged with breaking the health ordinance, and fined $25 and costs.

WOULD ENTER EVELETH.

Rainy Lake Road Very Anxious to Run Its Main Line There.

Eveleth, Minn., May 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—There is no doubt but what President W. H. Cook of the Duluth, Rainy Lake & Winnipeg railroad desires to get an entrance for his road into this city. He has so told several city and county officials, and proposes to do everything in his power to accomplish that end.

The obstacle is in getting over the mining grounds. Whether this is an unsurmountable obstacle remains to be seen. It is said that the road might get a spur in here, but what President Cook, as well as the Eveleth people want, is to have the main line come in.

BIWABIK COUNCIL LETS CITY CONTRACT.

Biwabik, Minn., May 3.—The city council last night let a contract for the construction of the addition to the sewer and water plant. The improvement will practically amount to a reconstruction of the entire plant.

The water and drainage systems are controlled by municipal ownership. Bids were asked some time ago and eight competing firms responded. The contract was let to Pastoret & Lunz of Two Harbors for $45,467.57. The second lowest bidder was Alex Sang whose offer was $2.03 below that of the Two Harbors contractors.

KILLED BY ROCK FALL.

Eveleth, Minn., May 3.—John Shevitz, an Austrian, about 18 years of age, was killed early yesterday in Fayal No. 2 pit. Other men working there say that a rock fell upon him from above and that he fell about twenty feet. Shevitz died while being carried to the hospital. He had started to work the night before.

NO STRIKE AT THE SHENANGO.

Chisholm, Minn., May 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—The report of a strike at the Shenango mine proves to be erroneous. Supt. Peacock says there are no labor troubles there.

wave struck this city yesterday afternoon and at 9 o'clock last night the temperature was 30 degs. above zero. A light snow is falling. Sleet and snow began falling at Norfolk, Neb., last night. A killing frost is forecasted by the weather bureau.

Lincoln, Neb., May 3.—Snow which fell to a depth of four inches, covered the greater part of Nebraska this morning, breaking all records for the month of May. The snow was driven by a heavy wind in the eastern part of the state and the storm had all the marks of a blizzard, with drifts delaying trains.

Topeka, Kan., May 3.—An inch of snow fell over this section of Kansas this morning with a temperature of 30 degs. prevailing.

Des Moines, Iowa, May 3.—Snow is falling in many sections of Iowa today. The mercury stands at 31 degs., and indications, as issued by the local weather bureau, are that the worst frost of the spring will visit the state tonight. One inch of snow has fallen in Des Moines.

Fort Riley, Kan., May 3.—A heavy snow storm during the forenoon interfered with the program for the entertainment of four Chinese army officers on their way to the Jamestown exposition. The visitors were taken through the different service schools and post buildings and other buildings.

THIRD TERM NOT FOR HIM

section of the country who want him to run again. The president does not feel, however, that the time has come for him to publish a statement; he does not believe that politics is an all absorbing question with the American people at this time.

Naturally the president feels flattered by appeals to him to be once more a candidate, be he seems inclined to attribute these suggestions rather to approval of policies he has initiated and enforced than to any special desire to keep him in the White House. If the Republican party can be induced to nominate a man like Secretary Root or Secretary Taft, who peculiarly are identified with the Roosevelt policies, the president believes the country will be satisfied, for it will be assured that the progressive program of this administration will not be abandoned.

Later on, if the demand for President Roosevelt's nomination should continue, and should come from a larger section of the people, he will make a statement of reunciation in the way he indicated above.

Wheeling, W. Va., May 3.—"Theodore Roosevelt can have the nomination for the asking," said Paul Morton, president of the Equitable Life Assurance society and former secretary of the navy, who is here to celebrate the twentieth anniversary of the local agency of the Equitable yesterday. "I am strongly a partisan of the president. If he would run again there is not the slightest doubt that the Republican national convention would make his nomination by acclamation. Many believe he can be induced to accept it. I do not believe so. I was with him when he wrote his determination not to accept a third term, as he called it. It was not done impulsively, and he meant it."

CHICAGO POLICE PROBE MAY HIT LEADING MEN.

Chicago, May 3.—Twenty new witnesses were today summoned before the grand jury in connection with the investigation of charges against Former Chief of Police Collins, growing out of the municipal election.

It was admitted by State's Attorney Healy that unexpected evidence, which developed yesterday, had broadened the original scope of the inquiry, and he said that it was possible that a number of prominent politicians, in no way affiliated with the police department, might ultimately be involved.

ENDS LIFE IN STATION.

Chief Lineman of St. Paul Police Alarm System Shoots Himself Dead.

St. Paul, May 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—Harry C. Burdette, chief lineman of the St. Paul police alarm and signal system, committed suicide at an unknown hour last night by shooting himself just above the right ear with a thirty-eight caliber revolver. The body was found in the workshop in the rear of the police station by Jailer John Hammes.

WIFE ARRIVES IN DULUTH TO FIND HUSBAND DEAD

Tragic Incident in Daily Rush at the Union Depot.

Mother and Children Now Alone in Strange Land.

Now and then the spectators at the Union depot witness an interesting bit of by-play to the regular rush and bustle of arrival and departure around the station. There is a picturesque air to the scenes and crowds in the Union depot, which one sees only in cosmopolitan centers, and the crowds at the Duluth depot are indeed representative of the mixed population of Duluth and the ranges.

This morning at the Union station, one of those meetings assumed a pathetic form, and grim tragedy stepped in, where joy was anticipated. Few who saw the incident understood its significance and it will soon be forgotten in the daily humdrum of life by all except those directly interested.

A Tragic Meeting.

Six Italians, four women and two men, awaited the arrival of the South Shore train this morning. They held themselves aloof and talked in whispers, the usual gaiety of the people of their race being notable by its absence. There was an air of suppressed sadness about them and the depression seemed to increase as the train pulled into the shed. All gathered around the steps of the day coach, from which a woman emerged to be surrounded by them and overwhelmed with greetings. She was accompanied by two children, a girl of about 10 years of age and a boy of 7 or 8. The greeting over, the men backed away, and the women prepared to lead the way for the new arrival.

She stopped, however, looking anxiously around, seemingly wondering at the absence of someone. A look of fear overspread her face and she spoke to the women, who evidently were averse to ansyering her question. Then one said a few words and all broke into tears, while the woman almost fainted away, a picture of abject despair. Two of the women took her arms and led her away, sobbing wildly, the other two taking the children, whose faces expressed wonderment over the developments they did not understand.

The two men had hung back, seemingly not wanting to take part in the affair and they looked after the departing group with tears in their eyes.

"That's too bad," remarked one of the reporters standing near and the newsgatherer instantly made an effort to assume a look of sympathetic interest.

"What's the matter?" he asked, and the man told the story in his broken English and all the natural fervor and eloquence with which his race endowed him. After hearing the story, the newspaper man's look of interest was not feigned, for it is seldom a sadder case comes to light anywhere.

Husband's Hard Struggle.

It seems that about six years ago, the woman's husband, Anton Pastori, led by the stories of prosperity and opportunities of the United States, left his wife and two little ones on their farm near Naples (or Napoli, as the teller of the story pronounced it). His farm was not paying very well and it required incessant labor to eke out a scanty existence for himself and his little family. He left his wife in charge of the little tract which was leased, and crossed the ocean, with the intention of saving enough money to send for her and the children later to make their home in this country.

He worked in the coal mines of Pennsylvania for a year or so, but, with the scant wages, he was unable to save anything, after sending a little money home each month. He next went to Michigan, where he worked in the copper mines of the Keweenaw peninsula. There he prospered for a year and had saved almost enough to accomplish his aim, when he was injured by a blast in the mine. For three months he was in the hospital and when he was discharged, his savings had dwindled to nothing. Once more he decided to move, coming to Virginia on the Mesaba range. He worked hard and saved money until about the first of the year he had accumulated enough for his desired object again. This time he sent the money and anticipated with pleasure, the coming of his wife and little ones, the latter now grown into a healthy boy and girl. But he was doomed to disappointment. There came a letter saying the wife was ill and the sum he had so carefully hoarded would almost entirely go for treatment.

Was Killed in Montana.

In despair he left the range to seek the higher wages of the West. He went to Butte and hoped to save enough by the time his wife had recovered, to bring her to him. But it was never to be. About three weeks ago his friends at Virginia were notified that he had been killed in one of the Montana mines. Before they had time to notify the wife, her sister, who lives at Virginia with her husband, the teller of the story, received a letter saying that the woman had recovered, and, unwilling to wait longer, she had secured enough money by loans from her friends, to bring her to this country, and she would be on her way before the letter would reach its destination.

She came today, only to be met by the sad news. She is now in a strange land, her husband buried far away, her money gone, and she and her children are dependent upon the bounty of friends. Her sister, who was one of the women at the depot, will take her to her home and care for her until such time as she can find some means of supporting herself.

MANY CHANGES IN COMMANDS

Gen. Wood to Come to New York, and Gen. Weston to Philippines.

Washington, May 3.—The order assigning various military officers to the command of departments, as proposed by the general staff, was issued today by the adjutant general.

It provides that Maj. Gen. Leonard Wood, on being relieved from the command of the East, at Governor's Island, relieving Maj. Gen. Frederick D. Grant, ordered to the command of the department of the lakes at Chicago, relieving Brig. Gen. William H. Carter, ordered to Omaha, Neb., to assume command of the department of the Missouri.

Maj. Gen. John F. Weston is ordered to assume command of the Philippine division upon the relief of Maj. Gen. Wood, next fall. Maj. Gen. Adolphus W. Greeley, upon the distcontinuance of the Northern division, is ordered to Vancouver barracks, Wash., to assume command of the department of Columbia. Brig. Gen. Albert L. Meyer is ordered to San Antonio, Tex., to the command of the department of Texas. Brig. Gen. Earle D. Thomas is ordered to Omaha to command the department of Missouri.

Brig. Gen. Charles L. Hodges is ordered to report to the commanding general of the Philippine division for assignment to duty in command of one of the departments there.

MISSING CHILD WAS MURDERED

Cleveland Police Find Little One in Rubbish Barrel.

Cleveland, May 3.—The mystery surrounding the disappearance of 3-year-old Alexander Hoenig, who, it was believed, had been kidnaped, was cleared up today by the discovery of the badly decomposed body of the boy under a lot of rubbish in a large barrel near the home of his parents. The police believe the child was murdered.

The boy disappeared last Monday night. The police had scoured the city in a vain hunt for the lad, stimulated by the offer of a large reward for his recovery.

WITCH ELM WINS BIG RACE.

One Thousand Guineas Stake in England Taken by Favorite.

London, May 3.—The 1,000 guineas stakes at Newmarket today was won by Witch Elm; Frugality, second; Sixty, third. Seventeen horses started. The stakes are for three years old fillies, distance one mile.

Witch Elm, the favorite, took the lead early in the race and won by three lengths in a center. Altitude, ridden by "Danny" Maher was fourth. The betting was 4 to 1 against Witch Elm, 20 to 1 against Frugality and 20 to 1 against Sixty.

hiding somewhere in the city until search for them is relaxed, and they will then leave the country.

It is announced that the police and private detectives here and in other places are looking for them. The detectives are employed by August Belmont, senior warden of the church, which is one of the wealthiest on Long Island. A picture of the girl and two letters she wrote were turned over to Mr. Belmont, and by him given to the detectives in the hope of tracing the couple.

The district attorney of Nassau county is quoted as saying that he will do his utmost to bring Cooke back to that county to have him punished. He was asked by Mrs. Henry Wood of East Rockaway, an aunt of Miss Whaley, to give the matter of Cooke's apprehension his personal attention. Mrs. Wood is well-to-do, and she says that she will spare no expense to have Cooke arrested.

Mr. Belmont is also exercised over the affair and has had several consultations with his vestrymen regarding it. Many rich New Yorkers having places in Nassau county worship at St. George's, as do also some of Long Island's oldest families.

It is recalled by many of the parishioners that last Sunday, which proved to be his last as a minister, both of Cooke's sermons were of a sort of valedictory kind, showing that he had made up his mind to quit the parish.

When the roll was called in Miss Whaley's class in the high school, yesterday, and she did not respond to her name, several of her schoolmates became hysterical. The teacher was obliged to strive during the entire session of the class to keep the girl's minds off the elopement. Miss Whaley was very popular with her teachers and her schoolmates.

ALL BECAUSE OF HER BABY.

Mrs. Henderson Tells of Her Sufferings on Ninety-Mile Walk.

Kansas City Times: "Persons never know what they will do for the ones they love. If I thought it would benefit my baby any I would walk twice the distance again."

This was said by a small, frail woman as she sat in the woman's apartments of the Helping Hand institute. She is Mrs. Mabel Henderson of Sedalia, Mo. She was picked up in the streets by the police. She was carrying a blind baby. She said that she had walked all the way from Sedalia here in search of work and was unable to find friends in this city for whom she was hunting.

"Didn't you get tired?" was asked of the woman.

"Yes, but I couldn't own it. I had to keep up for my baby. It has never know what it is to see, but it has known want. My husband left me six months ago. Then I tried to get work. I failed. Everywhere I went they told me they didn't want a half blind woman and a blind child around them. I was starving. Monday morning I saw that I had to do something for myself and baby. No one in Sedalia wanted me to work for them. I would not beg. I was too proud. I went to the depot there. Monday to inquire the way to Kansas City. I told my story to a man and he told me what railroad track to take. Then he gave me a quarter. That was all the money I had.

"Well, I started. I didn't know the distance to this city, but I knew it was a long way. All that day I walked. The ties were hard and the gravel got in my shoes. It hurt, too. But my baby was comfortable, so I did not mind a little pain. I had nothing to eat and the wind was cold. But the baby was wrapped up well. I thought I would not last the day out. The baby is 15 months old and weighs about seventeen pounds. I weigh about ninety pounds, so you know it became heavy on me. But every time I would look into its sightless eyes, I would get fresh hope and strength.

"When night came I was allowed to stay at a negro woman's house. There I received something to eat and bought some milk for my baby when I started out that morning. That night was the first time I ate since I left Sedalia. I ate only one meal a day. I had to save that 25 cents to buy milk for the baby. I knew I could get through all right. The next day passed the same, only I was a little more tired. That night I found another place to stay.

"Yesterday morning my money gave out. I did not know how far it was to the city. The baby commenced crying. Then I forgot all my fatigue. I walked faster. Then the snow began. It was real cold and the snow fell pretty thick out on those tracks yesterday. But I didn't mind that. Only I did hate to hear the baby cry. Neither of us had anything to eat until last night. I was pretty glad to get here because I thought I could find my friends. But they had moved from where they used to live. But I wasn't discouraged. I was sure that my baby would be taken care of, anyway. I thought I could get along if someone would take care of the baby. So I came to the police."

The persons for whom Mrs. Henderson was looking were found by the police. They were told to go to the Helping Hand. A physician has also been obtained to examine the baby's eyes.

"That makes me very happy," the woman said when she heard it.

SUPERIOR NEWS

HAD LIVED A CENTURY

Old Anton Gordon Dies at Ripe Old Age.

Town of Gordon, Wis. Was Named After Him.

Anton Gordon, one of the most picturesque characters of Northern Wisconsin, and probably the oldest resident in the district at the Head of the Lakes, died this morning at his home at Gordon, near Superior. He was over 100 years old, it is known, but his exact age was a secret. He came to Douglas county a great many years ago and has spent the later years of his life at Gordon, which was named after him. He leaves several sons and daughters.

REVOLTING CRIME CHARGED

Superior Man is Arraigned on Statutory Charge.

George Fraser was arrested last night at Superior and arraigned in municipal court there this morning on a statutory charge, preferred by Joe Lahalak, the father of a 9-year-old girl. Fraser demanded an examination, which was set for next Wednesday. He was remanded to the county jail to await examination.

Shake-Up In Committee.

The Douglas county board held a meeting in Superior this morning and the committees for the coming year were appointed. The new chairman, W. J. Philbrook occasioned some surprise by his appointments, there being a general shakeup in the personnel of the committees.

Charged With Assault.

Joe McAuley was arrested in Superior last night, charged with assault on a man named Mant. He was arraigned in municipal court this morning, waived examination and was bound over for trial at the next term of the circuit court, his bond being fixed at $1,000. He was unable to furnish the bonds and was committed to the county jail to await trial.

Duthey Changes Attorneys.

Edward Duthey of Allouez Bay, who was sentenced to a term of fourteen years in the Wisconsin state prison for murdering his wife, and who secured a new trial by appeal to the supreme court, will be defended at his second trial by George C. Cooper, instead of W. P. Crawford, who defended Duthey at the first trial and carried the case to the higher court. The change of attorneys caused much surprise. Mr. Crawford declined to discuss the matter any more than to state that there was a misunderstanding as to the compensation he was to receive at the coming trial.

Tower Avenue Property Sold.

The Berkshire Realty company's property at the southeast corner of Tower avenue and Eleventh street, in Superior, is reported to have been sold to the Kuh, Nathan & Fischer company of Chicago. The last named company is a large wholesale clothing concern and owns the Burrows building in Duluth.

TURNS DOWN APPOINTMENT

W. E. McEwen Does Not Want Job With the State.

St. Paul, May 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—W. E. McEwen of Duluth today formally turned down the tender by Governor Johnson of the place of superintendent of the free employment bureau to be located there. The pay is $1,100 a year, and Mr. McEwen had the right also to name his wife as assistant, which would have added another $800 to the amount.

In announcing his refusal, Mr. McEwen said the filling of the place would be left with the labor interests of Duluth. When he returns, the matter will be put up to them and their choice will be recognized.

Mr. McEwen was one of the firm Johnson supporters at Duluth in the late campaign, and aided materially in piling up the St. Peter man's majority there.

Mr. McEwen was out of the city today, and therefore no statement could be obtained from him.

TWO JANITORS CHANGED AT THE NEW CAPITOL.

St. Paul, May 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—The removal of janitors at the new capitol, and the filling of their places with men agreeable to the administration still goes on. Today William Turner and Joseph Gultner received their walking papers, and William Johnson, colored, and C. Larson were appointed to the places. Peter Larson, removed a few days ago, was reinstated, the pressure from outside sources being more than the administration could hold out against.

ROAD FUND IN DANGER

Constitutional Provisions Held to Bar Over $60,000 a Year.

St. Paul, May 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—Unless Attorney Gen. Young takes the very opposite of the opinion given by Former Attorney Gen. Childs in 1895, the counties of the state will never realize from the $400,000 road and bridge fund created by the late legislature.

"The law," said Mr. Young today, "was never submitted to me for an opinion as to its legality, and I cannot even now pass upon it as I am unacquainted with its contents, but there is in my office an opinion which has sufficed to discourage such measures in the past. It was given to the senate in 1895 by Gen. Childs and was in answer to a request from Frank Day, who was then presiding officer. How that opinion would cover this law I do not know, but even in the absence of it and the doubt which exists, I am positive no money will ever be paid out under the law until the courts have been consulted."

The bill, passed by the two houses, and which Governor Johnson signed, provides for an appropriation of $400,000—$200,000 in 1907 and $200,000 in 1908—and it is held that under the constitution this is impossible. Interior improvements, which means roads and bridges, are explicitly provided for through medium of revenue received from lands set aside for that purpose and a one-twentieth mill tax. This at present realizes the state $60,000 a year. No higher sum can be appropriated in one year.

New York Press: They were swapping stories about people who were "close" or "near"—the adjectives seem more expressive than the word stingy. The up-state man had the floor.

"Did I ever tell you of old Lemuel Green who lived in my town? Old Lem was about as economical as they make them. By strict attention to business and never spending a cent more than he had to, he had accumulated considerable property, and on retiring from active life, his one ambition was to keep his money intact, adding to it, of course, when occasion offered. His nightly occupation was to figure up the interest on his investments, to see how much richer he was than the day before. The first thing he would do in the morning, after his frugal breakfast, which he took at an unearthly hour, was to go to the hotel, where he was the first to get hold of the morning paper left for the benefit of the patrons of the hostelry. It was the keenest sort of enjoyment for him to know that the reading of the sheet was attended with no expense.

"The crowning achievement of his career came in connection with his marriage an event which took place very late in life. He always had said he couldn't afford to get married, and the announcement of his approaching nuptials set the whole community agog. It was figured out that in some way he was going to make or save money by it, but just how we didn't know, and I guess no one knows to this day; however, Lem being what he was, there can be no doubt that he was the monetary gainer. At any rate, he showed, immediately after the ceremony that he had entered into the state of wedlock in no extravagant spirit.

"The marriage took place at the parsonage. After the words which made the twain one had been pronounced, Lem, in the presence of the minister and the witnesses, turned to his wife and his hand went down into his trousers pocket. I had it from the minister that the moment was one of tense expectancy. On withdrawing his hand it was seen that it contained a nickel. The 5-cent piece Lem presented to Mrs. Green. "'Here,' he said, 'is your car fare home. I'll walk.' And walk he did, letting thanks take the place of the customary fee to the domine."

SCATHING CRITICISM.

At a dinner of the Beach club at Palm Beach, Oakleikh Thorne, New York's noted raconteur, told a story about a theatrical manager.

"The day after the production of a new melodrama," said Mr. Thorne, "this manager wrote to his leading man as follows:

"'Dear Sir: Your performance last night was so bad that fourteen deadheads have written to me demanding that their names be stricken from the free list.'"

BASARIC IS ARRAIGNED

Confinement in Jail Tells on Accused Murderer's Health.

Shakes Head and Mumbles "No, No," Over Indictment.

Pale from sickness and his long confinement in the county jail, Dan Basorich, or Dana Basaric, as he claims his true name to be, stood before Judge Cant this morning and was arraigned on the indictment returned by the grand jury, yesterday, charging him with murder in the second degree.
Basaric could understand no English, so another prisoner from the county jail acted as interpreter, Basaric was indicted by the grand jury in March, for murder in the first degree, which is murder with intent or after premeditation. It is understood that the facts thus far unearthed by the state indicate that if Basaric did the shooting he did it without premeditation. In fact, Basaric claims that he was drunk and did not know that he shot anybody. When told that the indictment accused him of killing Breklacich without any reason, Basaric shook his head violently and mumbled, "No, No."
When he was brought to the county jail in January, Basaric was a husky looking fellow. The confinement has told on him and he has brooded over his troubles unti he looks thin and worn. His general health was very bad for a time, but has improved of late. Basaric will be defended by L. H. Corcoran, who appeared for him when the first indictment, charging murder in the first degree was returned. Mr. Corcoran secured affidavits from witnesses who claimed that Basaric did not kill Breklacich and County Attorney Norton asked for a continuance of the case until this term. The matter was taken up with the grand jury and the new indictment, charging murder in the second degree, was returned. Murder in the first degree is punishable by death, while murder in the second degree is punishable by imprisonment for life or for a lesser term of years, at the discretion of the court.
Basaric will plead to the indictment tomorrow morning.
Hemming Johnson, who was indicted for forgery in the second degree, and Gustaf Nelson indicted for larceny in the second degree, were also arraigned and will plead tomorrow morning.
Johnson is accused of forging the signature of Louis Hendrickson as an indorsement to a time check of $44.39, payable by the Oak Hall Clothing company. A. G. McKnight was appointed by the court to defend him.
Carlson is accused of stealing two $10 bills from a companion named Nels Erickson. Carlson said he did not have funds to employ an attorney and started to tell the court that he told the police he had Erickson's money for the purpose of taking care of it, when he was told that he had better talk the matter over with an attorney before he enters a plea. Walter S. Whiton was appointed to defend Carlson.

MAY DOUBLE APPROPRIATION

Council Will be Asked to Give $600 to Laboratory.

In all probability Duluth will not loso its branch laboratory, as was at first feared when the legislature refused to include an appropriation for its benefit in the omnibus bill. A meeting of local men interested and state authorities was held at the Spalding hotel last evening and it is thought that there will be no difficulty in procuring the necessary funds to insure its operation.
Dr. H. M. Bracken, secretary of the state board of health, and Dr. F. F. Westbrook, director of the state laboratory, were present and the local men were Health Commissioner D. D. Murray, City Comptroller McCormick and Alderman Ribenack of the finance committee of the city council. The reasons why the laboratory should be continued were fully set forth and it was shown that it would be necessary for the council to increase its appropriation for the support of the institution from $300 to $600 for the coming year. It is estimated that it will take $2,400 to operate the laboratory during 1907. Of this, $1,200 will come out of the general fund of the state health department, $600 will be paid by the county of St. Louis, and the remaining $600 will probably be provided for by an appropriation by the council next Monday evening.
It was expected that an appropriation of $5,000 would be included in the omnibus bill for the branch laboratory, and the health department was planning to use most of this sum at Duluth. Some extensive lobbying was done for the measure, petitions were sent to the local delegations from Duluth and the ranges, and the health department authorities are at a loss to understand why the appropriation was omitted, when the bill finally went through.

CONRIED'S COMPLIMENT.
An actor told the other day a graceful story about Heinrich Conried.
"At a reception," he said, "the loss of the various senses was discussed, and a young woman, a grand opera singer of considerable beauty, said to Mr. Conried:
"'Which would you rather be, deaf or blind?'
"Smiling and bowing gallantly, the great manager answered:
"'Deaf, madam, when I am looking at you, and blind when I hear you sing.'"

The fact that the new rate law in Minnesota became effective so soon after it passed the legislature resulted in considerable inconvenience to the railroads, and in certain respects this inconvenience is felt by the traveling public. Under the existing state of affairs, for example, no road in the state can sell through tickets to a point on a foreign line, even if that point be in Minnesota.
The Great Northern cannot sell a ticket to Mankato until the tariff sheets of the lines leading from the Twin Cities down have been distributed. If a person desired to travel over the Great Northern out of Duluth to Mankato, he could buy a ticket in Duluth only as far as the Twin Cities, and he would have to buy another ticket in the Twin Cities to Mankato. It would be the same with the Northern Pacific, although the Omaha, having a through line from Duluth to Mankato, could sell a through ticket. The same rule would apply to the Omaha in selling to another town in the state not on its line. This condition of affairs will not last long, however. It will continue only until the several roads interested have sufficiet time to get their tariff lined up under the new rates, but on the same system as prevailed under the old.
The new rate law, as has been pointed out before, will mean a considerable saving in the course of a year to the traveling public.

LOWER COST OF PAVING

East End Rock Cut Saves Thoussnds of Dollars.

Duluth's rocks have their value to the city, if they are in the way at times.
They will save the property owners of Jefferson street several thousand dollars in the cost of paving.
With a bid of $27,754 for tar macadam with sandstone curb, nearly $3,000 under the amount of the engineer's estimate for the work, P. McDonnell carried off the contract for the Jefferson street paving work this morning and cinched one of the biggest paving jobs of the season. Besides being low on tar macadam Mr. McDonnell was the only bidder on the asphalt and creosote block pavement and was well below the engineer's estimate for the work on these bids also.
Mr. McDonnell has an advantage in bidding on this work from the fact that the rock cut which he is making on Twenty-fourth avenue east will furnish enough rock both for the Twenty-fourth avenue improvement and for the tar macadam on Jefferson street. His bid for tar macadam of $27,754 provides for a sandstone curb, the material which will probably be used. For a granite curb his bid was $31,769. All the bids ranged from $2,000 to $4,000 higher for granite curbing than for sandstone.
For asphalt Mr. McDonnell's bid was $38,774.50 with sandstone curbing and $41,309.50 with granite curb. Creosote blocks were the most expensive of the pavements and the bid was $50,511 for sandstone and $53,096 for granite curbs.
George R. King was second on the tar macadam with a bid for sandstone curbing of $29,888; Hugh Steele was next with a bid of $31,071; and J. W. Preston was high with a bid of $31,992.
The specifications call for a thirty-foot roadway from Thirteenth to Twenty-second avenues east to be completed by June 15. Owing to the late date of letting the contract there will, however, probably be a considerable extension granted on the date for completion.
Mr. McDonnell says that the property owners along Twenty-fourth avenue east are making a mistake in trying to buck the uniform assessment imposed by the board. He says the fact that he is enabled to take the rock for the paving directly from the rock cut at the foot of the street enabled him to bid enough cheaper to almost equal the cost of the rock cut, and that if the cut was not made, and he was compelled to haul the rock from a distance the cost would be almost as great as at present.
E. F. Hussey, treasurer of the Kettle River Sandstone company, was present when the bids were opened this morning. The Kettle River company will furnish Mr. McDonnell with the curbing for the job.

WHEAT HAS WIDE RANGE

Goes Away Up During Day But Weakens at Close.

Flax Has Big Advance in the Duluth Market.

Duluth Board of Trade, May 3.—Wheat had a wide range in the American markets today, bulging on reports of cold weather both in the Southwest and the Northwest, and declining again on heavy selling and more optimistic opinions regarding conditions in general. The closing prices were irregular. In Duluth the tone was easier, and active options in some of the other markets were off at the close, but the general tendency of the May option elsewhere was stronger. May wheat hit the high point of the week in the Duluth market today. July wheat was easier almost everywhere. The foreign markets were stronger. Liverpool closed unchanged to ¼d higher, Paris unchanged to ¾c higher, Antwerp unchanged, Berlin ¼c higher and Budapest 1⅜c higher.

The Modern Miller, despite bullish reports from other sources, takes a bearish attitude this week. It says:

"Reports from winter wheat millers indicate no extensive crop damage outside of Texas and Oklahoma, except in Northern Oklahoma. That state and Texas have practically lost their crop through green bug ravages. Several large producing counties in Southern Kansas have suffered material loss by bugs and drought. Little damage by green bugs is reported elsewhere. Inquiry by winter killing late frosts or floods in the more eastern states and deterioration through lack of moisture in Kansas is reported. But no serious damage is noted during the last week of April. Favorable weather had a beneficial effect. Most millers report improvement in the condition of the crop. Nearly all unite in the belief that seasonable growing weather will overcome the bad effects of the cold dry spell of April."

The May option closed ¼c lower in Duluth, ¼c higher in Chicago, Minneapolis, Kansas City and Winnipeg, ⅜c lower in New York and ⅝c lower in St. Louis. The July option closed unchanged in Duluth, ⅛-¼c lower in Chicago, a shade lower in Minneapolis, ¼c lower in New York, St. Louis and Kansas City and ⅜c higher in Winnipeg.

May corn closed ⅛-¼c lower in Chicago and was ⅛d to ⅜d lower in Liverpool. May oats closed 1⅛c lower in Chicago.

Car receipts at Duluth were 121 against 23 last year, and at Minneapolis 312 against 192 last year, making a total for the Northwest of 433 against 226 last year. Chicago received 35 against 7 last year.

Primary receipts of wheat were 811,000 bus, last year 328,600 bus. Shipments 764,000 bus, last year 205,600b bus. Clearances of wheat and flour were 257,000 bus.

Argentine shipments of wheat were 3,456,000 bus, against 4,456,000 bus last week and 3,216,000 a year ago.

Primary receipts of corn were 418,000 bus, last year 475,000 bus. Shipments 430,000 bus, last year 329,600 bus. Clearances of corn were 257,000 bus.

Argentine shipments of corn were 217,000 bus, against 204,000 bus last week and 2,803,000 bus a year ago.

Wheat was active in the Duluth market throughout the session. May wheat opened ⅝c higher at 87⅞c, went off to 87½c by 10, rallied to 87⅝c by 10:15, fell off to 87⅜c by 10:20, rallied to 88c by 11:28, went off to 88c by 12:20, rallied to 88¾c by 1:05 and closed at 87¼c, a loss of ¼c from yesterday. July wheat opened ¼c higher at 89½c, went off to 88¾c, rallied to 88¾c, declined to 88¼c, rallied to 89c, declined to 88c and closed at 88¼c, unchanged from yesterday's close. September wheat opened ⅛c higher at 88½c, went off to 88¼c, rallied 10 minutes, declined to 88c and closed at 88¼c, a loss of ¼c from yesterday.

Durum wheat closed unchanged and cash spring wheat was selling on a basis of ⅞c over May for No. 1 northern.

It is estimated that the stock of wheat in store at Duluth will decrease 1,000,000 bus this week.

Flax was active during the session here. The Argentine shipments showed a falling off from last week, and with a strong foreign market prices went up. Argentine shipments of flax were 632,000 bus, against 1,200,000 bus last week and 576,000 bus a year ago. It is estimated that the stock of flax on store at Duluth will decrease 825,000 bus this week.

May flax opened ¼c higher at $1.18⅞, advanced to $1.20¾, went off to $1.20, rallied to $1.20⅝, declined to $1.20½ and closed at $1.21⅛, a gain of 2⅜c over yesterday. July flax opened unchanged at $1.21, advanced to $1.22⅜, went off to $1.22¼, rallied to $1.22⅝, declined to $1.22¼, rallied to $1.22⅞, went off to $1.22¼ and rallied by the close to $1.23¼, a gain of 2¾c over yesterday. October flax opened ¼c higher yesterday, declined to $1.24 and rallied by the close to $1.24, a gain of 2¼c over yesterday.

Oats on track and April oats closed 1c lower and the other coarse grains were unchanged.

Following were the closing prices:

THE WHEAT MARKET.

Wheat Opens Active and Strong on Western Cold Weather Reports.

Chicago, May 3.—The wheat market today opened active and strong on account of cold weather in the Northwest and Southwest. Killing frosts were reported in Iowa and Nebraska and the weather bureau predicted that they would occur again tonight. In the North, it is expected that the cold weather will delay seeding operations. The demand at the opening was very strong at all sides. Later prices eased off on realizing sales and because of the failure of the Liverpool market to respond to yesterday's advance here. July wheat opened a shade to ⅜@⅝c higher at 84⅝c to 84¾c and sold at 84¼c. Minneapolis, Duluth and Chicago reported receipts of 468 cars against 553 cars last week and 233 cars one year ago.

The market was unsettled for the remainder of the day, on conflicting reports of damage, it being claimed in some quarters that the crop had not suffered as severely as at first reported. The high point for July was 85¼. The low mark was 83¾c. The close was easy with July off ⅛@¼c at 84⅜c.

Trading in the corn pit was quiet but prices were firm in sympathy with wheat. July corn opened a shade to ⅜c higher at 50 to 50¼@⅜c, sold at 50⅜c and then declined to 50⅛c. Local receipts were 221 cars with 17 of contract grade.

Prices weakened in sympathy with the easier tone in the wheat market and July declined to 49⅝c. The close was easy with July a shade lower at 49⅞c.

The oats market was strong on a good demand which was based upon the cold weather in the West. July oats opened a shade to ½@⅝c higher at 43 to 43½c and for a time held within these figures. Local receipts were 211 cars.

The provisions market was very quiet. Lard and ribs were somewhat firmer than yesterday on a fair demand. July pork opened 2½c lower at $15.92½. Lard was up 2½c at $8.85. Ribs were a shade higher at $8.77½.

Close: Wheat—May, 87⅝c; July, 84¼c. Corn, May, 49¼@⅝c; July, 49⅞c. Oats, May, 45c; July, 43c. Pork, May, $15.67½; July, $15.92½. Lard, May, $8.67½; July, $8.82½. Ribs, May, $8.80; July, $8.72½. Grain Gossip.

Logan & Bryan, Chicago, to Paine, Webber & Co.: Wheat acted a little tired today. This was not the result of any change in the conditions which have been forcing higher prices but due almost entirely to a change of feeling on the part of the pit traders. The shorts were largely run to cover yesterday and market lacked that element of support today. There was some selling because Kansas had quiet a fall of snow. On the other hand, there is sleet and frost and unfavorable conditions al over the West from Oklahoma to Manitoba. Those who know most about the operations of the green bug believe that further damage will follow a change to milder weather. Believe bearish tactics of today will be short lived and that wheat will be on the upturn again very soon.

Corn—Cold weather over the corn belt unfavorable. Chicago continues to get very moderate receipts of corn. All primary markets shipped more corn than received for the day. Best cash authorities here say that corn is very firm and hard to buy.

Oats—Very good authorities in Iowa and Nebraska are wiring that the weather conditions are proving very severe on the new crop and that the damage will not be known until the weather turns warmer. Some Nebraska dispatches report damage of 25 per cent almost certain. Predictions of hard frosts again al lover the West and Southwest. Believe the new crop months will bull easily from this level.

* * *

Liverpool, May 3.—Broomhall on wheat Steady at the opening with values ¼d higher, being influenced by the American cables and the fact the Argentine shipments were smaller than expected. Later, however, offerings became larger and selling was a prominent feature, prices as a result easing ¼d to ⅜d. Weakness was the result of the bearish Minneapolis record report on planting in the Northwest issued yesterday. Further selling was prompted by reports that the continent was offering to resell cargoes recently purchased in the nearby positions.

Corn was weak at opening with values ½d lower followed by a further decline of ⅜d in July. The fact cheaper Danubian, La Plata offerings, together with a poor demand in all positions prompted selling to realize.

REMARKS.

Freezing temperatures occurred last night in the entire Northwest and Southwest in Western Kansas, Nebraska and Iowa. Rain or snow fell over Nebraska, Kansas and Oklahoma.

H. W. RICHARDSON,
Local Forecaster.

T indicates inappreciable rainfall. * For yesterday.  For twenty-four ending at 8 a. m. 75th meridian time.

NOTE—The average maximum and minimum temperatures and the average rainfall are made up at each center from the actual number of reports received. The state of weather is that prevailing at time of observation.

ADVICE AS TO PIPES.

Kansas City Star: "A corncob," is the reply of nine out of ten tobacco men when asked what is their favorite kind of pipe.

"Of course," said one dealer the other day, "the corncob cannot be smoked on the street, or anywhere else in public. But for a nice, quiet evening at home, give me a 'Missouri meerschaum.'"

In judging pipes there are three things to be considered—bowl, stem and tobacco. Poor tobacco will make the finest pipe taste flat. Lovers of pipe smoking never allow cheap tobacco to be used in their pipes, some even going so far as to declare that but one kind of tobacco should be used in every pipe.

"Leaving out of consideration the cob pipe, which is only for horse use or for workingmen, the best kind of pipes are to be found only in the high-grade articles. These cheap, celluloid stem pipes are not to be tolerated by men of discrimination," said a dealer.

"About as good a combination as can be obtained is a French briar, amber-stem pipe. If both the briar and the amber are genuine, a nice, sweet smoke is bound to be obtained with good tobacco.

"Meerschaum pipes are not generally used. Nearly every smoker has a valuable meerschaum at home, but they are seldom used. They are usually sold with amber stems, and they make a comfortable smoke. They are light in weight, therefore not hard on the teeth. The meerschaum is porous, soaking up the nicotine. The man that has not colored a meerschaum can lay no claim to be a true pipe lover.

"Getting down to cheap pipes, we find all sorts of combinations. Bowls are made of apple knots, cherry and rosewood. A few horn pipes are on the market.

Celluloid, rubber, bone, horn and cane are used for making stems for inferior pipes. A bone pipestem is not so bad, but the rest are pretty poor. But to tell the truth, apple knots and some of the other imitations of briar make a better smoke than the genuine French wood. The imitations burn out faster, but as they are softer they absorb more of the nicotine.

"Genuine French briar comes only in the high-grade pipes. Briar pipes are nearly all labeled 1, 2 or 3. Firsts are the roots, which are the hardest and color prettiest. Seconds come from the trunk of the tree and thirds from the branches."

"Which is the more popular with users of cheap pipes, the corncob or the clay pipe?" the dealer was asked.

"The corncob. You must not refer to the 'Missouri meerschaum' as a cheap pipe. It is only an inexpensive one, and gives the finest, cleanest smoke to be found. You would be surprised to know how many well-to-do and cultured men go home, put on old smoking jackets, go up in their 'dens' and enjoy the evening with corncobs. Clay pipes are seldom sold in tobacco stores. Children use them in blowing bubbles, and a few old women and some 'backwoods' people smoke them. But remember, my son, don't ever let anyone make you believe a corncob is a cheap smoke. No, sir."

DULLNESS IN STOCKS

At the Close, Which Was Steady With Good Tone.

Profit Taking Caused Declines But They Were Temporary.

New York, May 3.—Prices of stocks started higher than last night and the dealings showed considerable animation. Substantial gains were recorded by several of the active favorites. Brooklyn Rapid Transit rose 1½; Pennsylvania, St. Paul, Sugar and American Tobacco preferred a point each; and Southern Pacific, Baltimore & Ohio, Amalgamated Copper and Anaconda large fractions. American Ice declined ¾.

Confidence in the course of the market was reflected in largely increased purchases, the demand being keen for the foremost railroad and industrial stocks. The pace at which the market advanced for the first half hour prompted realizing principally in Union Pacific, after which the activity lessened and a recovery ensued to the neighborhood of yesterday's closing. The chief gains were Brooklyn Rapid Transit 3, Union Pacific preferred and St. Louis & San Francisco second preferred 1½, Pressed Steel Car 1¾ and Baltimore & Ohio, Canadian Pacific, Reading, the Pacifics, St. Louis Southwestern preferred, Amalgamated Copper, Smelting and Interborough-Metropolitan 1.

The sag in prices carried them below last night for active issues. The activity then died out of the market. There were gains in Cotton Oil preferred of 2, National Lead 1¾, Republic Steel preferred 1¾ and Pullman and Long Island of 1 each. New York Central lost 1 and Federal Sugar preferred 2. Bonds were irregular.

The decline was checked shortly after midday, but there was no effort made to put up prices. Gloss-Sheffield Steel and Norfolk & Western sold 1@1¾ higher and Peoria & Eastern 4 lower.

The general course of prices was governed by the movement of Union Pacific, though the list did not cover as extensive a range as the leader. Union Pacific was marked up again to near the top, but fell afterwards to below yesterday's closing. Some of the less active stocks showed strength, among them Chicago Terminal preferred, National Lead, Railway Steel Spring preferred, St. Louis Southwestern preferred, Canadian Pacific, Baltimore & Ohio, Consolidated Gas and Distillers' Securities.

The market closed steady and dull. Reading was advanced 1½, but profit-taking was in progress elsewhere under cover of this movement. Union Pacific fell 1⅛ below last night and Amalgamated Copper ⅜. Minneapolis, St. Paul & Sault Ste. Marie and St. Louis Southwestern rose 1 and Iowa Central preferred 1½.

Stock Gossip.

New York, Logan & Bryan to Paine, Webber & Co.: At times general profit-taking caused the list to decline, but the declines were only temporary and in most cases fractional. Although damage reports from the wheat sections continue to pour in, little attention was paid to this. Sentiment seemed cheerful and on every slight backset the list was given support. On any setbacks would buy stocks for a turn.

* * *

New York to Gay & Sturgis: American stocks in London firm, above parity where active.

Steady demand for stocks in loan crowd.

Western weather reports slightly better.

Strike of officers of steamship lines settled.

Hurricane damage reported on the Mexican coast.

No adequate explanation forthcoming for special strength and activity in Union Pacific.

Treasury Balances.

Washington, May 3.—Today's statement of the treasury balances in the general fund exclusive of the $150,000,000 gold reserve in the division of redemption shows: Available cash balance, $25,587,388; gold coin and bullion, $90,140,319; gold certificates, $44,580,560.

New York Money.

New York, May 3.—Money on call steady at 2¼@4 per cent; ruling rate, 3; closing bid, 2¾; offered at 3. Time loans firm; sixty days, 3½ per cent; ninety days, 3¾@4 per cent; six months, 4½ per cent; prime mercantile paper, 5½@6¾. Sterling exchange firm, with actual business in bankers' bills at $4.86.83@4.86.40 for demand and at $4.83.40@4.83.45 for 60-day bills; posted rates, $4.84 and $4.87; commercial bills, $4.83¼@4¾. Bar silver, 65¾c; Mexican dollars, 50½c. Government bonds steady; railroad bonds firm.

St. Paul Live Stock.

St. Paul, May 3.—Cattle—Receipts, 400; steady and unchanged. Hogs—Receipts, 3,100; steady. Range, $6.20@6.32½; bulk, $6.27½. Sheep—Receipts, none; dull and unchanged.

The Cotton Market.

New York, May 3.—The cotton market opened steady at from an advance of 8 points to a decline of 1 point, with trading very active and sentiment much confused by the talk of legal proceedings against the exchange. The strength of the near positions in the English market added to the unsettled state of local sentiment and early fluctuations were very erratic. July shot up to 10.40 right after the call, or about 7 points net higher and a full cent above the recent low level, but there was plenty of cotton for sale at the advance, and later the market reacted to within 2 or 3 points of last night's final close. The weather map showed continual rains but temperatures were generally higher.

Futures closed near months easy; distant months, steady. Closing bids: May, 10.12; June, 10.18; July, 10.20; August, 10.10; September, 10.06; October, 10.31; November, 10.33; December, 10.37; January, 10.53; February, 10.58; March, 10.65. Spot closed steady; middling uplands, 11.55; middling gulf, 11.80; sales, 2,480 bales.

Copper Gossip.

Boston to Gay & Sturgis: It is very gratifying to see our local market broaden out as it did today, and, as we have said many times, the market is made up entirely of sentiment. People are beginning to realize that the price of the metal is not 18 cents and that this country is not going to the dogs, as so many people seem to think. The time to buy stocks is when nobody wants them and the time to sell is when everybody wants them. We certainly advise taking profits on any further rally from here, as there will be chances enough to replace them, and one is apt to forget in these times what we have been through.

* * *

Boston to Paine, Webber & Co.: The rise yesterday was a little too rapid, and this morning all the traders took profits. The buying was good, however, and prices held well most of the day. We still believe in the bull side and recommend especially Quincy, Tamarack, Butte, Calumet & Arizona, and Range. These companies are all making big money and will declare dividends within net six weeks. The Quincy dividend comes next week and will be $4.50. This should put the stock to $150.

* * *

Boston to Vern R. Culbertson: There has been a broad market with prices holding the sharp advances of yesterday. North Butte, Copper Range, Old Dominion, Butte Coalition, Boston Consolidated and Utah were the most active. Arizona Commercial was listed on our exchange today and sold up to 27¾ on light trading. A good demand continues for our dividend payers, although they show advances from 10 to 20 points in the last week or so. Our market is growing broader each day and the public is taking more interest, and we look for the activity to continue.

* * *

Boston to Paine, Webber & Co.: I understand the net earnings of the Copper Range Consolidated company for March were slightly in excess of $500,000, or more than $15 a share on the 33,000 shares.

Chicago Live Stock.

Chicago, May 3.—Cattle—Receipts about 1,500; market steady. Beeves, $4.20@6.40; cows, $1.80@4.80; heifers, $2.60@5.30; calves, $4@6.25; good to prime steers, $5.25@6.40; poor to medium, $4.25@6.40; stockers and feeders, $2.50@5.15. Hogs—Receipts about 19,000; shade higher. Light, $6.45@6.55; mixed, $6.35@6.60; heavy, $6.30@6.57½; rough, $6.15@6.52½; pigs, $5.90@6.45; good to choice heavy, $6.40@6.52½; bulk of sales, $6.45@6.55. Sheep—Receipts about 6,000; market steady. Native, $4.40@6.50; western, $4.40@6.80; yearlings, $6.75@7.65; lambs, $6.50@8.00; western, $6.50@8.70.

Success Magazine: As Mark Twain and a friend were chatting at the summer home of the humorist, Quarry Farm, near Elmira, N. Y., the conversation turned to the wealth of John D. Rockefeller.

"Just think of it, Sam," said the guest, "he has more dollars than there are hairs in that vigorous old thatch of yours."

"That's nothing," replied Mr. Clemens, "I have more dollars than he has hairs in his head."

WEAKEN AT THE CLOSE

Coppers Open at Higher Prices But Slump Later.

Boston List Ends Session at Slightly Lower Prices.

Copper stocks opened with a flourish and during the early part of the day gave indications of going higher, but toward the close prices went off so that at the end of the session the market was somewhat lower than yesterday's close.

North Butte opened at $93, advanced to $93.50 and closed at $92.25 bid and $92.50 asked. Amalgamated opened at $97.75, advanced to $98, declined to $97.75 and closed at $96.87½ bid. Anaconda opened at $65 and went off by the close to $64.12½ bid. Butte Coalition opened at $28.25, went off to $28, rallied to $28.37½ and closed at $28.12½ bid and $28.25 asked. Calumet & Arizona opened at $178, declined to $177.50, rallied to $180 and closed at $177 bid and $178 asked.

Greene-Cananea sold at $16.50, went off to $16.25, rallied to $16.62½ and closed at $16.37½ bid and $16.50 asked.

A Boston dispatch to Paine, Webber & Co. says: "Directors of ten local mining companies meet this month for dividend action. Considerable interest attaches to the present declarations, as the copper companies for the past three months have realized to some extent the benefits of a 25-cent copper market."

LODGE NOTES

SAMARITAN RECEPTION.

Alpha Council Entertains Imperial Officers of Order.

Alpha Council Modern Samaritans gave a reception to the imperial officers last evening at their council chambers in Elk hall. Twelve candidates were initiated into the mysteries of the Beneficen degree with orchestral and guard accompaniments and all the pomp and ceremony provided by the ritual.

Addresses were delivered on the parables and progress of the order by George S. Crosby, I. G. S.; A. E. McManus, I. C.; C. E. Lovett, I. P. G. S.; W. A. Hicker, I. S., and neighbors Myrle Hanna, P. G. S., Lake Superior council, and King of Alpha. Ed Grignon sang, accompanied by Neighbor Souve.

The imeprial good Samaritan presented Alpha with a large size portrait, framed in dark oak. At the conclusion of the ceremony a four course banquet was served in the dining room, the rugs were removed, and the evening given over to dancing. The Samaritan orchestra furnished the music for the dance and during the ceremony.

SMALL ROADS TO COMBINE

Illinois, Iowa and Minnesota Divisions to Unite Under a New Name.

Milwaukee, Wis., May 3.—President J. H. Seaman of the Illinois, Iowa & Minnesota road today announced that a consolidation of all the roads embraced in this system had been effected and would be formally announced at the annual meeting May 26. These roads include the Rockford Belt road, the Illinois, Indiana & Gary and the Milwaukee & Rockford roads.

At the annual meeting announcement also will be made of a change in the name of the system to the Chicago, Milwaukee & Gary Railroad company. The total mileage embraced in the system at present and prospective is 300 miles. One hundred and twenty-five miles of the road is now in operation.

Mr. Seaman stated today that his road would shortly begin an extension from Rockford to Milwaukee and that another branch would be built to Gary, Ind., as soon as possible.

DAVID SHAPIRA ARRESTED.

Charged With Swindling Merchant Out of $150.

David Shapira, well known in Duluth, was arrested in St. Paul last evening on a warrant from the Duluth police, charging him with obtaining money under false pretenses. On being informed by the St. Paul police that they had made the arrest, Sheriff Bates went to the capital and he returned this afternoon with his man.

Shapira is charged with having secured $150 from Joseph Oreckovsky on false pretenses. He will be arraigned in municipal court this afternoon on a larceny charge.

Blue serge suits, $15. The "Fitwell."

PROF. GEORGE SVERDRUP DIES VERY SUDDENLY.

Minneapolis, May 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—Prof. George Sverdrup, president of Augsburg seminary in this city for more than thirty years and a noted theologian, died here suddenly at 3:30 a. m., aged 58 years. He was a member of one of the most distinguished families in Norway. He leaves a widow and seven children.

ORIGIN OF BOCK BEER.

Boston Herald: The appearance of bock beer signs in all cafe windows has started anew the annual spring discussion as to the origin of this seductive beverage, and whence came its name.

Concerning the name of bock beer, there are a dozen mythical stories, most of which include wondrous tales of the buck goat, whose head appears on the signs, leading many persons to call the beer erroneously "Buck" beer. But, according to a Western brewer, who produces some of the finest bock beer brewed in America, these stories have their origin and explanation in a confusion of names.

Bock beer—a much richer and stronger beverage than ordinary beer—was first drunk in Germany as a sort of spring tonic and blood purifier. It is nourishing and strengthening. When the kegs of this special brew were brought into the taprooms, they were put on a sort of wooden frame, similar to the American saw buck, or saw horse. In Germany these frames are called "bocke." When a customer wanted a stein of this special brew, he would ask for the bocke beer, and in time the name lost its final "e" and became bock beer.

Brewers in this country who observe the traditions of the Fatherland still continue the custom of making bock beer, to be sold for a fortnight in the spring as a sort of medicinal beverage, although its brewing is far from profitable.

WORLD'S CHAMPION PEA-EATER.

London TitBits: John William Catton claims to be the champion pea-eater of the world. He is a Dewsbury man, and has recently emerged from a fourteen days' pea-eating contest.

The condition was that Catton should eat two peas on the first day, double that number on the second, and continue doubling day after day for fourteen days. The peas were the ordinary green marrowfats.

During the first week, before the total exceeded 200, Catton swallowed them like pills. Subsequently they were steeped and boiled. On the fourteenth day he had 16,384 peas to eat.

Some idea of the enormous nature of the task may be gathered from the fact that when Catton reached his twelfth day the peas represented about five pints in the dried state. When they were steeped in water they swelled to over twelve pints.

Owing to a little hitch in the proceedings, Catton at first refused to consume the total on the last day, but on the thirteenth day he disposed of 8,192, which is believed to be a world's record, and sufficient for a meal for over sixty persons.

On the last day Catton commenced operations at 3 o'clock in the afternoon. He immediately disposed of 500 without the slightest trouble, and rested until 7 o'clock, when he faced the enormous mass with the keenest determination not to surrender. Just before 11 o'clock he cleared the last of the dishes.

WHERE WILLIE GOT HIS SLANG.

Philadelphia Press: "That boy of ours is chock-full of slang," remarked Mr. Sharpe to his wife in a complaining tone. "He talks about me as the guv'nor, and this morning I heard him tell Bridget to 'Let her go!' Where does he pick up such abominable stuff?"

"Goodness only knows," Mrs. Sharpe replied.

"At school," continued the father, "of those Yardsley boys. He is altogether too fly, that boy, and if I catch him with those boys again he'll make a home run of the liveliest kind."

"He may hear some of it at home," suggested Mrs. Sharpe, with motherly kindness.

"At home!" cried Mr. Sharpe "You are entirely off your base, my dear. Who uses slang here?"

"Probably I am addicted to it," was Mrs. Sharpe's meek reply.

"Well, it's a vice you'd better get rid of, then; refined conversation is a mark of culture. Let me hear that kid use slang again and I'll give it to him right of the bat. I'll—"

Just then he saw an amused look on his wife's face, and an idea suddenly striking him, he picked up his hat and, mumbling something about having an appointment at the office, fled.

MANY FREAKS IN MAIL.

Cranks and Jokers Make Much Trouble for the Postal Clerks.

Chicago Post: Probably no one has so close an acquaintance as Uncle Sam with all the cranks, jowers, paranoiacs, persons suffering from an exaggerated ego and from brain storms, not to mention the vastly large class who "just don't think." Trouble, and plenty of it, is what the presence of these individuals spells, and what with the tricks that are forestalled, the tangles that are unraveled, the mistakes that are O. K.'d, the oversights corrected, it keeps your uncle pretty busy.

The postoffice department, with its inviting mail boxes, seems to offer an irresistible temptation to this class of the population to send lemons neatly tied up, or potatoes carefully tagged, to those who in their private opinions merit such attentions. But the government has no appreciation of this form of humor, and the lemons and potatoes are ruthlessly consigned to the waste basket.

It is not the crank so much as the merely careless man who really causes trouble for the postal authorities, however. The pranks of the crank usually are sufficiently pronounced to convince them of the sender's intent, and the packages are quickly sent to Washington, where their contents are subjected to examination.

Every day brings to notice some fruits of the crank's activities. Sometimes it is a letter to King Edward VII addressed to his summer residence in Chicago. Or it may be president Roosevelt who serves the joker with an excuse to be busy.

This class of mail is usually without postage, but not always. Among this week's lot in the Chicago office is a package carrying 54 cents in stamps and addressed simultaneously to most of the prominent men in the country.

But the mistakes of the forgetful man, whose purpose is genuine, really constitute the bulk of the brain teasers that the postal authorities set their wits to straightening out.

There are 800 letters a week in the Chicago postoffice alone that are given up as hopeless, or at least beyond the capacity of the local office to decipher, and they are sent to the dead-letter office.

But a far larger number yield to the efforts of the deciphering force and are sent to their proper destinations. It takes the capacity of five men to take care of this line of errors.

Packages improperly packed or tied are another source of annoyance to the postal authorities. People frequently do not take into account the volume of matter that passes daily through the mails, and fail to prepare their packages for rough handling. As a consequence all sorts of queer things that were never intended to see the light until their destination was reached are brought to view.

No prohibition is placed upon the mailing of umbrellas, or even shoveis, except the general regulation that applies to all mail matter that it must not weigh more than four pounds. When such articles as these, therefore, come unpacked in transit, the government does not abide by the universal prerogative that in the ownership of an umbrella possession is ten points of the law, but conscientiously ties it up and forwards it to the person whose moral claims are stronger.

STEAD'S BAGGAGE CHECKS.

New York World: Because of his ignorance of American methods of checking baggage William T. Stead was compelled to dine with the Russian ambassador, Baron Rosen, tonight in his traveling clothes. When Mr. and Mrs. Stead left New York last night to come to Washington Dr. Albert Shaw, who accompanied them, attended to the checking of their baggage. Dr. Shaw handed over the paper checks to Mr. Stead.

"If you'll give me your checks I'll attend to your baggage," said Dr. Shaw when the party left the train this morning.

"What checks?" Mr. Stead asked in amazement.

"Those paper tags I gave you in New York after I checked your trunks," Dr. Shaw said.

"But I've thrown them away. I did not know they were of any value."

"Well, you're in a pretty fix," Dr. Shaw said. "Now you won't be able to get your evening clothes."

Dr. Shaw saw the railroad officials and discussed indemnifying bonds, but did not get the trunks until nearly midnight.

FLYING FISH STRUCK SAILOR.

San Francisco Chronicle: When the liner Korea was bowling along on a smooth sea in the tropic between Yokohama and Honolulu, a flying fish struck Second Officer R. Allman as he stood on the bridge and caused him some little injury.

The fish was one of a large school and had flown to an unusual height at the time. Allman was at the moment taking an observation when he felt a blow on his right side. A hasty glance downward disclosed the flying fish, which lay on the bridge stunned from the impact with the officer's body.

Allman was not seriously hurt and he saved the flying fish, which is retained as a memento of his strange experience. The bridge of the Korea, where Allman stood, is about fifty feet above the surface of the sea.

SENATOR BORAH CHARGES TO FORMER JUDGE BEATTY 'DISHONORABLE ACTIONS'

Bitter Answer by Idaho Statesman to Retired Jurist.

Receipt of Favors From Litigants in Court is Alleged.

New York to Hold Moyer-Haywood Demonstration Tonight.

Boise, Idaho, May 4.—Senator Borah, one of the leading counsel for the state in the approaching trials of William D. Haywood and others for the murder of ex-Governor Frank Steunenberg, issued the following statement yesterday in reply to an interview given out at Washington by Former Judge James B. Beatty, who recently retired from the federal district bench in this state:

"Judge Beatty for the last year seems to have utterly forgotten the high position he holds. During the last campaign for the senatorship, he used his position in a shameless and utterly dishonorable way for his political advantage. He did not hesitate to demand and receive favors for litigants who had important litigation in his court, and so conducted himself as to compromise to a great extent his dignity and his honor. I am sure it is to

READY FOR END OF THIS WORLD

Montana Religious Fanatic Sells Property for Mere Song.

Great Falls, Mont., May 4.—Believing that the end of the world will come within ten days and that he, with a handful of followers, will be straightway transplanted to heaven, A. W. Stanton, a prominent stockman of this city, yesterday disposed of all his property, valued at several thousand of dollars to the first bidder for $150, and, taking up his residence in a rented house in the most elevated part of the city, is calmly awaiting the end. Stanton's followers, eight in number, disposed of their possessions in a similar manner and are with him.

LONGSHOREMEN'S STRIKE DELAYS MANY VESSELS.

New York, May 4.—The strike of longshoremen on the Manhattan and Brooklyn waterfronts now involves about 5,000 men, mostly Italians. Thus far only two of the trans-Atlantic passenger lines, the American and Red Star, have been seriously affected, but work has been practically suspended on a score or more of the tramp steamers which discharged their cargoes in Brooklyn. Vessels are much delayed.

LONG BALLOON JOURNEY MADE BY TWO PARISIANS.

Paris, May 4.—Maurice Farman and a friend ascended from St. Cloud on Wednesday evening in a balloon of 1,-606 metre gas capacity and they landed at Carlsbad yesterday, having traveled a distance of 780 miles.

CONGO DEAL FALLS FLAT

King Leopold Fails Completely on Mission to France.

Conversion of Debt of African Territory is Declined.

Paris, May 4.—Absolute confirmation has been secured by the Associated Press of the complete failure of the mission of King Leopold of Belgium to Paris, which was indirectly designed to secure the support of the French against Great Britain in the matter of the Congo-Independent state.

The king tried to induce a French financial institution to convert the Congo debt, hypothecating for that purpose the railroads and other franchises of the Congo to the French government.

France already enjoys preference in the matter of taking over the Congo, should Belgium decline to refuse to consider the proposals made on the subject by England.

EX-RECTOR FACES CELL

Eloping Clergyman and Girl Traced to Peekskill, N. Y.

Warrant Out for Pastor on Charge of Abduction.

New York, May 4.—Ex-Rev. Jere Knode Cooke, former rector of St. George's Protestant Episcopal church of Hempstead, L. I., and 17-year-old Floretta Whaley, who disappeared simultaneously last Monday, have been located at Peekskill, N. Y., according to information received here today. At the same time, it was announced that the officials of Nassau county have issued a warrant for Cooke's arrest, and that officers have been sent to Peekskill to serve it. The charge is believed to be abduction, Miss Whaley being only 17 years old.

The disappearance of Cooke and Miss Whaley created a great sensation, principally because of the prominence of the church of which Cooke had been rector for five years. Included among its parishioners are scores of wealthy New Yorkers, who have country homes in that vicinity. Among this number is August Belmont, who took an active part in the proceedings following the minister's disappearance, which resulted in the pulpit of the church being declared vacant and Cooke being deposed from the ministry.

INSURANCE WAR GROWS

Agents in Many States May Now be Prosecuted.

Policyholders' Committee Plans Turning Tables on Companies.

New York, May 4.—After a conference yesterday between Richard Olney of Massachusetts, chairman of the International Policyholders' committee, Samuel Untermeyer, the committee's counsel and ex-Judge Alton B. Parker, chairman of the executive committee of the Policyholders' organization, it was announced that a meeting of the general committee would be called for May 15 to determine whether steps should be taken looking to the prosecution of Mutual and New York Life agents in thirty-three states for the alleged forging of administration ballots.

The international committee, at the same meeting, will arrange to raise funds to keep up the fight for a code of insurance laws that will safeguard the interests of the policyholders in the elections.

This move is, in effect, the answer to the arrest of Manager Scrugham of the committee and of two of his employes, Charles Stirrup and C. F. Carrington, on a charge of conspiracy. The basis of the move which the international committee may take against the agents of the company in thirty-three states lies in affidavits which, it is stated, have been collected from some thousands of policyholders all over the country on the question of alleged forged ballots.

FIRE KILLS CHILDREN

Four Little Ones of Michigan Farmer Burn While Alone.

Parents Away at Dance, Leaving Big Blaze in Stove.

West Branch, Mich., May 4.—Four small children were burned to death last night, in the home of Martin Campbell, eight miles from here, on a branch of the Michigan Central railway.

Mr. and Mrs. Campbell had gone to a dance a mile from their home, leaving their six little ones locked in the house. They left a big fire in the stove, and in some manner this ignited the house, which was destroyed with its contents.

The children were awakened by the flames, and the two oldest, aged 8 and 10 years, managed to escape in their night clothes. The four smaller ones perished in the flames. The parents are prostrated.

Kansas City's Low Mark Nine Degrees Under Former Figures.

Gardens and Fruit in Entire Section Completely Destroyed.

Heavy Snow Falls in Ohio, Delaying Telegraph Service.

Kansas City, May 4.—The coldest May weather on record was experienced last night in this part of the Southwest, 27 degs. being the official figure at Kansas City and generally in the northwest corner of Missouri. This is 9 degs. colder than any previous May record.

The lowest temperature—23—was reported from Toronto, in Southeastern Kansas, three counties west from the Missouri line. Other low temperatures were: McPherson, Central Kansas, 24; Brown county, Northeastern Kansas, 25; Fort Dodge, Southwestern Kansas, 25; Enid, Northern Oklahoma, 33; Amarilla, Panhandle of Texas, 28.

HARRIMAN-HILL TERMINAL DEAL

Chicago Property Secured by Baltimore & Ohio as Agent.

Chicago, May 4.—The sale of the property of the Chicago Terminal Transfer Railway company, scheduled for yesterday, under the order of the United States circuit court, was indefinitely postponed because of the order of the court allowing the Baltimore & Ohio interests to step in and redeem the bonds, amounting to $15,000,000.

It was understood at the time the order was entered that the Harriman and Hill interests, which were contesting for the possession of the property, had reached a settlement whereby both interests would enjoy the property jointly. This conclusion since has been strengthened by the Hill interests depositing more than one-half the bonds with the Baltimore & Ohio agents for redemption.

MONARCHIST WINS CONTEST

Noted Boulanger Adherent Raps Present Government of France.

Paris, May 4.—Jules Delahaye, former supporter of the late General Boulanger, has been elected, on a monarchist platform, to the chamber of deputies from Cholet, department of the Maine-and-Loire, center of a great textile manufacturing district and a town which figured in the wars of the Vendee.

M. Delahaye, who was the author of the famous Boulangist manifesto of March 7, 1889 declared that the idea of a restoration of the monarchy in France frightens no one. He added: "It appears to all to be preferable to the horrible shrew—the republic. The experiment which I have made should be repeated in all Catholic constituencies. I am convinced that one think alone inspires the disgust and fear of all honest men—the republic of the Clemenceaus, Briands and Vivanis and of the general federation of labor."

BIG BOATS FAST IN ICE

Cabot Strait Blocked and Three Atlantic Liners Caught.

Conditions All Up and Down Maritime Coast Very Bad.

Halifax, N. S., May 4.—The Allan line steamer Sardinian, from London and Havre for Montreal, which was forced by the vast ice fields that block Cabot strait, to land her 600 passengers here reports that imbedded in the ice fields are the Allan liner Ontarian and Dominion liner Vancouver. The Allan line steamer Ionian is also believed to be fast in the ice. The fields stretch across Cabot strait for a distance of a little over fifty miles, and to add to the dangers of navigation, a thick fog hangs over the coast.

Not for years has the opening of the summer service to Montreal been so delayed as this year and, as a result, immense quantities of freight designated for that port have been severely delayed.

The ice conditions this winter, all up and down the coast of the Maritime provinces has been worse than for many seasons, and has caused great damage to shipping and marine interests. The government ice breaking steamers have been helpless for weeks at a time, having been caught in their efforts to relieve other vessels.

The sealing fleet has been one of the heaviest losers. Its catch has run thousands behind that of last year, owing to the sealing grounds being walled in by vast ice fields. Several of the steamers were badly damaged in the ice, and three are still imprisoned somewhere along the coast.

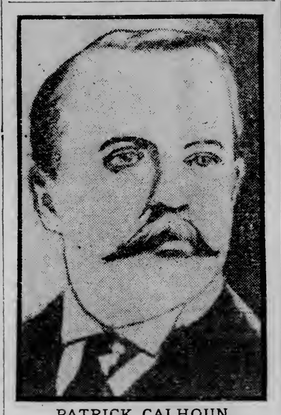
THIRD TRIAL ENDS IN TIE-UP

Efforts to Convict Victor O'Shea of Wife Murder Fruitless.

Chicago, May 4.—The jury which for two weeks has listened to evidence in the trial of Victor R. O'Shea, charged with the murder of his wife, Amy Hogenson O'Shea, five years ago, today reported a disagreement. Seven voted for acquittal on the ground that the defendant was insane at the time of the murder and five were for a verdict of guilty.

This concludes the third trial of O'Shea, one having resulted in a verdict of manslaughter which was reversed by the supreme court on a technicality, and the other being a disagreement.

FRISCO GRAND JURY NET STATED TO HAVE CAUGHT STREET RAILWAY CHIEFS



PATRICK CALHOUN, President of San Francisco's United Railways, Reported Indicted for Bribery of Officials.

Indictments Reported Voted for Bribery for Franchises.

President Calhoun Faces Probers, But Refuses to Talk.

Three-Quarters of Million Boodle Said to Have Passed.

San Francisco, May 4.—It is reported that the grand jury has voted indictments against officials of the United Railways, following a continuation of an examination of the directors in an endeavor to find out just what they know about the disbursement of money used, it is alleged, for the procurement of a franchise.

Yesterday, President Calhoun and General Manager Thornwell Mullaly were in the grand jury chamber. When they reappeared, Calhoun said: "I have nothing to say at this time. When I have a statement to make to the public, I shall put it in writing."

From District Attorney Langdon, it was learned that Calhoun and Mullaly were informed by Assist-

FIND FAULT WITH RATES

Chicago Shippers Object to Rulings of Commerce Commission.

More Men With Practical Railroad Knowledge Are Wanted.

Chicago, May 4.—That many of the rulings of the interstate commerce commission are unjust to the shippers, and that rate discrimination is shown through these rulings are claims of the Illinois Manufacturers' association, the traffic bureau of which organization has passed resolutions advising the amendment of certain sections of the interstate commerce law, the enlargement of the commission, and appeals from some of the commission's rulings.

Fully 100 traffic managers of some of the largest institutions of Chicago were present at the meeting. The question of the uniform classification of freight rates formed one of the principal topics of discussion.

As a result of the meeting, the

YOUNG GOULD'S TENNIS HONORS

Wins International Court Championship in Hard Contest.

London, May 4.—Jay Gould, son of George J. Gould, the railroad magnate, of New York today won the championship match of the International amateur court tennis tournament at the Queen's club, defeating Eustace H. Miles, holder of the title. Score: 6-4, 3-6, 1-6, 6-2, 6-4. In the last set, when the score was 5-3, the American suffered from a cramp in his arm and the game was stopped for a few moments.

TROOPS IN A CONVENT

French Gendarmes Batter In Doors of Old Sacred Edifice.

Crowd Shouts Maledictions, and Several Arrests Are Made.

Nantes, France, May 4.—At daylight today, fifty mounted gendarmes surrounded the ancient convent of the Ursulines here and when the sisters refused to open the doors they were battered in.

The sisters were found assembled at prayer in the cahpel, but after the mother superior had read a protest against the action of the authorities, the officiating priest removed the holy sacrament and the sisters withdrew.

In the meantime, an excited crowd gathered outside the convent, shouting maledictions on the soldiers. Several persons were arrested, including a lieutenant of the Twenty-fifth dragoons.

SUICIDE ENDS LEGAL ADVISER

Governor Hughes' Counsel Kills Himself on Steamer's Deck.

New York, May 4.—Ernest W. Huffcutt, legal adviser to Governor Hughes, committed suicide on the steamboat C. W. Morse which left Albany last night for New York. The body was found on the vessel's upper deck. On the floor beside it lay a revolver, and near it a partially burned cigarette. No one has been found who heard the shot.

At first the body was not identified, but description and the initials E. W. H. in the hat furnished clues to the suicide's identity.

SOLID ROCK BOTTOM FOR PANAMA LOCKS ASSURED.

Washington, May 4.—Secretary Taft today laid before the president a report from Alfred Noble, Frederick P. Stearns and John R. Freeman, who went to the Isthmus of Panama to examine the sites proposed for the locks of the Panama canal. The engineers say they found that all of the locks, of the dimensions now proposed, will rest upon rock of such character that it will furnish a safe and stable foundation.

INDIANS IN RED MEN'S PARADE.

Hobart, Okla., May 4.—Two hundred Indians of the Wichita and Kiowa tribes, decked out in war paint and carrying tomahawks, bows and arrows, took part here today in the parade of the Order of Red Men of Oklahoma and Indian Territory, now meeting here in annual convention.

KING'S TRAIN IN DANGER

Grease Box on Axle of One of Cars Removed Secretly.

Probable Dark Plot Discovered in the Nick of Time.

Geneva, May 4.—The overheating of an axle which compelled the removal do anything but submit quietly to Edward was traveling to France is declared by newspapers here to have been probably an attempt to wreck the train.

Before entering the Simplon tunnel the train was stopped as a measure of precaution at Sion and it was found that a grease box on one of the axles was missing. The train had been running at the rate of 100 kilometres an hour and the axle was white hot. If the train had gone a few miles further the axle might have fused and the cars would then have been derailed.

It is said that the bolts and pins securing the box had been deliberately removed. An inquiry was immediately begun.

ARE YOUR KIDNEYS WEAK?

THOUSANDS OF MEN AND WOMEN HAVE KIDNEY TROUBLE AND NEVER SUSPECT IT.

To Prove What the Great Kidney Remedy, Swamp-Root, Will Do for YOU, Every Reader of The Duluth Daily Herald May Have a Sample Bottle Sent Absolutely Free by Mail.

If you are sick or "feel badly," begin taking the great kidney remedy, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, because as soon as your kidneys begin to get better they will help all the other organs to health. A trial will convince anyone.

Didn't Know I Had Kidney Trouble

"I was out of health and run down generally; had no appetite, was dizzy and suffered with headache most of the time. I did not know that my kidneys were the cause of my trouble, but somehow felt they might be, and I began taking Swamp-Root. There is such a pleasant taste to Swamp-Root, and it goes right to the spot and drives disease out of the system. It has cured me, making me stronger and better in every way, and I cheerfully recommend it to all sufferers."

Gratefully yours,
MRS. A. L. WALKER,
340 Boulevard Place, Atlanta, Ga.

Weak and unhealthy kidneys are responsible for many kinds of diseases, and if permitted to continue much suffering and fatal results are sure to follow. Kidney trouble irritates the nerves, makes you dizzy, restless, sleepless and irritable. Makes you pass water often during the night. Unhealthy kidneys cause rheumatism, gravel, catarrh of the bladder, pain or dull ache in the back, joints and muscles; make your head ache and back ache, cause indigestion, stomach and liver trouble, you get a sallow, yellow complexion, make you feel as though you had heart trouble; you may have plenty of ambition, but no strength; get weak and waste away.

To overcome these troubles take Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the world-famous kidney remedy. In taking Swamp-Root you afford natural help to Nature, for Swamp-Root is the most perfect healer and gentle aid to the kidneys that has yet been discovered.

HOW TO FIND OUT.

If there is any doubt in your mind as to your condition, take from your urine on rising about four ounces, place it in a glass or bottle and let it stand twenty-four hours. If on examination it is milky or cloudy, if there is a brick-dust settling, or if small particles float about in it, your kidneys are in need of immediate attention.

EDITORIAL NOTICE.—So successful is Swamp-Root in promptly overcoming even the most distressing cases, that to Prove its wonderful merits you may have a sample bottle and a book of valuable information, both sent absolutely free by mail. The book contains many of the thousands upon thousands of testimonial letters received from men and women who found Swamp-Root to be just the remedy they needed. The value and success of Swamp-Root are so well known that our readers are advised to send for a sample bottle.

In writing to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., be sure to say that you read this generous offer in The Duluth Daily Herald.

Swamp-Root is pleasant to take and you can purchase the regular fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles at the drug stores everywhere. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

SUPERIOR NEWS

EYE HIT WIFE; IS FINED $100

Stiff Sentence Given Superior Man in Municipal Court.

Judge Parker in municipal court today imposed one of the stiffest sentences possible for a case of simple assault. William Eye drew the sentence, which was a fine of $100 and costs or four months in the county jail.

The complainant in the case was Eye's wife, who charged the man with throwing a tea-cup at her. It seems the wife had come home and asked Eye for the money to pay a doctor's bill for services she had received. Instead of handing over the money, the man threw a tea-cup at the woman, fortunately without any very serious results. In court, Eye seemed to treat the thing as a huge joke and assumed an air, which bordered closely on contempt of court. He is a big husky fellow and Judge Parker administered the stiff sentence, accompanied by a scathing lecture.

Eye rustled around among his friends to raise the amount of the fine and finally discovered a saloonkeeper willing to put up the money for him. The man paid over $99 and Eye was released, with a wholesome respect for justice as administered by the Superior court.

CONTRACT FOR BUILDING.

T. K. Dahle to Have $10,000 Store Building Erected.

This morning, T. K. Dahle of Brownsdale, Minn., let the contract for a store building at 1101-3-5-7 Fifth street. Berg & Olson were awarded the contract at a price of about $10,999. The building will be modern in every way and will be an important adjunct to the district in which it will be located.

WILL IMPROVE GRAND.

Not to be Permanently Given Over to Vaudeville.

The rumors that the Grand theater was to be leased to the Bijou people for use as a permanent vaudeville house, leaving Superior without a playhouse, for regular road attractions, were spiked yesterday by Manager Charles Marshall. Mr. Marshall states that the Grand is neither to be sold, leased permanently, nor torn down, but is to be improved so as to accommodate all big road productions. It will, however, be leased to the Bijou people for the summer months, when they will put on vaudeville performances of greater magnitude than they can stage at their present playhouse.

Mr. Marshall says positively that the arrangement with the Bijou people is merely temporary and to hold during the summer months. A large number of excellent attractions have already been booked for next season and, with the co-operation of the people of Superior, the city will be just as well treated in the matter of theatrical attractions as any city on this northern circuit.

The rumors that the Grand was to be sold or leased to the Bijou people for use as a vaudeville theater caused considerable indignation among Superior people, who objected strenuously to the city being left without a theater for first-class performances. Yesterday petitions were circulated and were to have been presented to the city council next Tuesday night requesting that body to refuse to grant a license to any company for the use of the Grand for vaudeville purposes. The petitions were liberally signed, but Mr. Marshall's denial of the rumors obviates the necessity of any such steps being taken.

LIFE IS CRUSHED OUT.

William Clark is Killed at the Globe Elevator.

William Clark, a young man 20 years of age, employed as a night watchman at the Globe elevator, was killed last night about 7:15 by having his head crushed between the passenger elevator and an iron bar blocking the door to the elevator shaft. There were no witnesses to the accident, but the body was discovered by employes going through the building. Clark had evidently been leaning over the iron bar, when the elevator descended, crushing his life out almost instantly.

The elevator has no regular operator, but is run by the employes as they find occasion to use it. Nobody was in the car at the time, and it is presumed that Clark started it himself. Leaning over the bar, he probably thought the car was at the bottom, and it is supposed that he started it up. While watching for it, it undoubtedly descended from above and crushed his head, before he had time to escape.

Clark had been employed at the elevator but a short time and boarded with his cousins, George and Julius Marsh, 324 Banks avenue. His father, James Clark of Whitefish Point, Mich., has been notified of his son's death. The body lies at the morgue, while the authorities await instructions as to its disposition.

GATHERING OF DOCTORS

Tuberculosis Congress of Unrivalled Interest In Medical World.

Convention of Medical Men To Be Held at Washington.

During the hottest part of the presidential campaign in 1908, Washington will be the scene of one of the most important scientific congresses ever held in America. During the last ten days of September and the first days of October, a large number of distinguished men from all part of the world, physicians, hygienists, sociologists andhumanitarians will assemble in Washington to discuss the problem of tuberculosis. This great gathering will be organized under the name of the "International Congress of Tuberculosis." It will number several thousand members and delegates and the visitors to Washington, on account of the congress, will number thousands more.

Having in full view the intense preoccupation of public interest at that time, the national association for the study and prevention of tuberculosis has chosen the time and place for the international congress to suit the pleasure and convenience of the foreign members and delegates, and the association has not the slightest doubt that it will be a great success.

They expect to have a tuberculosis exhibition which will surpass in variety and interest anything of the sort ever attempted. The collection of illustrative objects has been going on in this country for several years, and this exhibition method of educating the public on this subject is employed in many foreign countries. The exhibition will be open and free to the public at all times, and its contents will be as interesting to the man in the street, or to the high school pupil, as to the savant.

Many of the distinguished authorities on tuberculosis in Great Britain, Germany, France and Italy are widely known by name in this country. The most important men from these countries will attend the congress, not only for the purpose of discussing the subject in the scientific sessions, but also to make public addresses in Washington and other cities. There will be thirty of these public lectures in Washington, each one by a foreigner distinguished as an authority on tuberculosis. Besides the famous men whose names will occur to well-informed Americans, some of the great men from remoter and less known countries will be seen and heard on the public platform. The great men of medicine in Sweden, Russia, Japan, China, India, Australia and New Zealand are known in this country only to the inner circle of scientific medicine.

The work of organizing the international congress has been intrusted by the national association to a special committee of six well known medical men, who will add to their number up to twenty members. The committee at present includes Dr. Lawrence Flick of Philadelphia; Dr. Vincent Y. Bowditch of Boston; Dr. Alfred Meyer of New York; Dr. J. J. Walsh of Philadelphia; Dr. Lawrence Litchfield of Pittsburg; Dr. Charles J. Hatfield of Philadelphia. The committee has appointed a secretary-general, Dr. John S. Fulton of Baltimore, who has opened an office in the Colorado building in Washington, and will devote all his time to the organization of the congress.

For physicians the international congress on tuberculosis will be an unique event. Such a gathering is not likely to take place again in this country in a generation. The chance of seeing and hearing the most distinguished foreign medical men is of itself sufficient to draw physicians in hundreds from all parts of this country, Canada and Mexico. This occasion also will excite extraordinary interest among the medical schools and professors will bring their students to Washington to study the remarkable collection of pathological specimen in the exhibition and to attend lectures, clinics and demonstrations by famous teachers of this and other countries.

The international congress will cost a good deal of money. The National association will provide a fund of $100,000, and this sum will come chiefly from the private purses of a few wealthy and enlightened men, who see in this congress an opportunity to give a tremendous impetus to the movement against tuberculosis. An undertaking which will bring all the energies now engaged in the world's combat against tuberculosis to a focus in Washington for nearly a month, will undoubtedly leave a permanent impress on the whole country, and will yield large returns for the money invested.

The event of the current quarter century—that is what the international congress on tuberculosis will be for physicians and humanitarians; and for the American people, the choicest opportunity ever offered for a massive movement against the greatest of remediable scourges. Such are the views of the National association about the forthcoming congress on tuberculosis, and it will not be allowed to come and go as an event of merely usual interest. From now till the middle of September, 1908, the labor of preparation will not cease.

Copies of the call for the congress have been received by Duluth medical men and by The Herald.

Once in a year you may find a good tenant by chance—through "happenstance." But a Herald want ad. will find him for you at the time you want him.

BUSSE AFTER COMMISSION

Resignations of Chicago Civil Service Board Asked and Refused.

Chicago, May 4.—Mayor Fred A. Busse today formally asked for the resignations of Joseph Powell, William Prentiss and Frank Wenter, who constitute the civil service commission of Chicago.

The commissioners refused to comply with the mayor's request and, in their letter of refusal, make the claim that the mayor was without power, under existing circumstances to ask them to relinquish their positions.

The action of Mayor Busse in requesting the resignation of the commissioners, before whom several important matters are pending, including the police investigation, has caused considerable stir about the city hall. The mayor declined to give any reason for his action.

THE ECONOMY OF STREET CLEANING

Test by Machine, Hose, and Sweepers to be Made.

Duluth will soon be in a position to judge accurately as to the comparative economy of methods of cleaning her paved streets, where flushing is possible without damage to the property.

The board of public works is planning within the next three weeks to have an exhaustive test of the economy of the street flushing machine, which was secured on trial by the city last fall, to determine its value as compared with cleaning by the "White Wings," and with the big hose.

The machine will be installed on a stretch of one or two blocks and a careful record will ke kept of water used and all other expense items. The aggregate will be compared with an equally careful expense account for the street sweeper method, and for flushing with the big hose, and the result will determine whether or not the city will retain the machine.

If the machine shows itself to be an economical method for cleaning in all probability the city will purchase two, or at least one more like it.

The machine costs $800 and was rented to the city, with the understanding that if the city decided to purchase it, the rent would apply on the purchase price. The St. Louis Street Flushing Machine company are at present involved in litigation with the Sanitary Street Flushing Machine company, for alleged infringements of the latter company's patent, but will furnish a bond to guarantee immunity to the city should the machine be purchased.

FIXING UP THE BARN ROOF.

Episodes of Husband's Experience While Wife Watched.

Kansas City Star: Slowly and painfully the assistant bill clerk walked into the shipping room. He limped to the billing desk and carefully moved the high stool. But he did not sit down.

"What's wrong?" asked the shipping clerk.

"I sure hate to tell," the bill clerk answered, "but I guess I'll have to relate all the harrowin' details. My wife never satisfied. I been makin' a garden all week around the barn, but that ain't enough. Yesterday mornin' at the breakfast table, she says sudden like:

"'Eusophus, that barn's got to be shingled. Today's a mighty good day to do it.'

"Well, sir, there wasn't nothing to do but get to work. So I got a shovel to rake the shingles off with and then I got a ladder to climb up on the roof. The ladder was kind o' wobbly so my wife said she'd hold it. I was a carryin' the spade in one hand and our kid was helping my wife hold the ladder. I'd gone up about six rounds when the pesky thing got shaky. One o' my feet slipped and went right in my wife's face. She howled an' I got scared, I dropped the fool spade and it hit the kid square on the top of the head. He howled, too. Then the ladder broke in the middle an' I dropped in the rainbarrel.

"Well, we laid off about an hour for repairs and then we went at it again. I patched the ladder up and this time I got to th' roof all right. Then I started to make those shingles fly with that shovel. And I got along fine, too. That is, till I got down to the eaves. Then I didn't have any place to stand.

"'How'm I goin' to get these shingles off,' I yelled to my wife, who was sittin' on the porch.

"'Stand in the gutter,' she yelled back. I did—for about two seconds. Then the gutter broke an' let me down in th' flower garden right on top of three rose bushes and a cactus plant. Ain't it funny how a woman gets? She didn't think nothin' of all them stickers in my hide. She just gave me about seventeen lectures 'cause I broke those rose bushes. There wasn't anything I could say back 'cause my wife talked too fast. When that woman gets started you might as well try to stop a 10,000-horsepower benzine buggy on a slayin' expedition.

"'I must a guessed wrong,' she says indignant like, 'I don't think you can shingle that barn.'

"Well, that sure did make me sore. I up an' told her just to watch her husband an' she'd see some developments. I put the ladder up against the barn—after I'd picked most o' the stickers outen me—and started to work again. I had to stand on the ladder and pull the shingles off with my hands. About every two minutes, that ladder'd slip an' let me down on those rose bushes again. When I got through pullin' the shingles off I looked like a pin cushion in a woman's got club on a busy day.

"I got all the shingles off but the nails wouldn't come. They were all stickin' up from the under timbers.

"'Better drive those nails in 'fore you start shinglin',' my wife says.

"'Who's bossin' this job anyhow?' I yelled. I was gettin' mad. 'I guess I know what I'm doin'. I'll drive th' nails in as I go along. I'll save time by it.' Well, I climbed up over th' nails to th' top o' the barn. I never saw so many nails in my life as there were sticking outen those undertimbers. Th' men that did that job certainly weren't stingy. When I got to th' top o' the roof I found out I'd forgotten to bring my hammer. I started down—an' slipped. Over all those nails I went about a mile a second. Then I landed in th' rainbarrel again. My wife pulled me out. Bleedin'? Oh, no. I just looked like somebody had started a butcher shop and used me for the ment. No, I didn't work any more that day."

And the bill clerk limped to the telephone to call up a carpenter.

BRIDE IN STOCKING FEET.

From the classic regions known as "Barefoot Nation," near Fairfield, Ill., there appeared in that town an unsophisticated bride and groom, and were married at the court house by Squire Dickey, says the St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

The couple had arrived early in town, and the groom had bought his prospective bride a new pair of shoes, and they hurt her feet woefully. She wore them about an hour or so while shopping, but finally her feet hurt her so badly she pulled off the shoes and went in her stocking feet to the court house, where, in the presence of the entire court house delegation and a score or more of lookers-on she stood in a pair of striped stockings and said the vows. He wore a pair of blue striped overalls.

She was Mrs. Martha Jane Green and he was John Green, both of Golden Gate. She was the widow of her new husband's deceased brother, Frank Green, who was drowned a few months since while rafting logs.

A honeymoon back home was taken in a tumbledown wagon.

HIS MOTHER WENT WRONG.

Kansas City Journal: For about a year the son, who is about 23 years of age, has been spending his evenings away from home. He used to come in at 10 o'clock, and finally got so that he didn't arrive until noon the next day. Naturally his mother worried—mothers have a way of doing that. Probably you yourself have sneaked quietly in about 2 G. M., and congratulated yourself on your success in getting in so safely, when suddenly mother's voice filtered from somewhere: "Is that you, Billy?" You had to say "yes" the best you could, for if you hadn't answered, the "old man" might have got up and shot you for a burglar.

This particular son was chided at first by his mother, roundly scolded by his father, shamed by sisters, etc., ad infinitum. Finally the mother got to crying and couldn't sleep while the boy was out. The father tried to "sit up nights and keep him good," but the medicine didn't work.

Things kept going from bad to worse. Last Monday night the young man, arrayed in all his glory, sauntered from the house across the front porch. Just as he sauntered down the steps, he heard his mother call:

"John, wait a minute."

The boy took off his hat and waited. "Sit down," said the mater.

They talked a long while, but the boy kept telling his mother that his late hours were of no bad effect, and that he was doing nothing wrong. "Say, John," she said, "let me go with you tonight? Show me the attractions down town. Let me see what keeps you out so late?"

John fiddled nervously. It was up to him. "All right, mother," he said, falteringly. He knew he had to make good on the declaration that there was "no harm" in his nocturnal prowlings.

So the mother put on her hat and they stepped down the street together. They boarded a car and got into the heart of the city. Alighting the boy steered her to a saloon at one corner.

"We're going in here," said the son, "to get a drink."

"What is it?" asked the mother.

"A saloon," he said.

He started to push open the swinging doors. His mother stepped forward. The lad hesitated a moment, grasped her arm and said: "Mother, I guess we had better go home."

They went.

DULUTHIANS PATRIOTIC

Meeting to Organize Auxiliary to G. A. R. Well Attended.

Forty-Nine Citizens Are Enrolled on the Charter List.

Duluthians did all that was expected of them in the enthusiastic way in which they responded to the call extended for the meeting last evening in the Commercial club rooms for the purpose of forming a citizens' staff auxiliary to perpetuate the work now being carried on by the G. A. R. and to assist them in their celebration of Memorial day from now on.

At the close of last night's session, forty-nine members were registered on the charter rolls of the organization and there was a considerable sum of money in the treasury.

W. I. Prince presided at the meeting as chairman and Dr. R. W. Bowden officiated as secrtary and keeper of the funds.

The general committee which called the meeting was empowered to fix the amount of the dues, the only restriction placed upon them being that they should not exceed $2 as initiation and $1 yearly thereafter, and upon a suggestion from Judge Ensign all those present, with exception of the few members of the Grand Army, at once paid up. Secretary-Treasurer Bowden receiving $1 as initiation, subject to an addition if the committee should decide that the initiation fee should be higher. The G. A. R. men were barred from contributing.

The chairman announced the following committees:

Permanent organization—C. S. Mitchell, Judge J. D. Ensign and T. W. Hugo.

Membership — George H. Crosby, Harry G. Gearhart and T. F. Upham.

Chairman Crosby of the membership committee planned out a strenuous campaign before leaving and promised a total of 100 members before this evening.

The following names were placed upon the rolls of the auxiliary last evening, some who were not able to attend, having authorized the use of their names: Judge Josiah D. Ensign, Judge Page Morris, Mayor Marcus B. Cullum, Trevanion W. Hugo, Rev. H. W. Knowles, M. C. Knowles, W. E. Whipple, Dr. R. W. Bowden, C. E. Lovett, George H. Crosby, E. F. Heller, Charles H. Thornton, J. F. Johnson, E. L. Millar, B. Silberstein, E. A. Silberstein, W. L. Seaton, T. F. Upham, H. R Spencer, Dr. F. H. Barnard, A. Fitger, A. H. Kreiger, M. F. Bates, Bert Fesler, H. L. Dresser, Charles B. King, Charles S. Mitchell, W. I. Prince, W. S. Albertson, George J. Mallory, B. F. Neff, C. B. Gilbert, R. J. Davis, J. E. Rockwell, J. M. Stowell, Clinton Brooke, L. A. Barnes, Rev. Alexander Milne, Rev. Merton S. Rice, Rev. Arthur H. Wurtele, Rev. Kirby S. Miller, H. G. Gearhart, Prof. R. E. Denfeld, S. S. Williamson, Samuel J. Coulter, W. W. Huntley and H. A. Wing.

Among the others present, including old soldiers and some who had to leave early in the evening, were: Capt. F. H. Barnard, deputy postmaster; J. H. Lavaque, D. W. Scott, Stillman H. Bingham, Jeremiah Kimball, Judge S. F. White, W. H. Schultz, E. S. Chapman, E. F. Force, A. T. Albertson, S. W Clark, Capt Asa Dailey, Rev. Upham and Dr. W. H. Wilson.

TELEPHONE ALARM.

Operator's Mistake Sends Fire Department to Wrong Location.

A fire, starting in the toilet room of the Exchange hotel, 112 East Superior street, late yesterday afternoon, came very near wiping that hostelry out of existence. The telephone operator evidently misunderstood the proprietor's fire call and the department was headed for 119 West Superior street, instead of toward the Exchange hotel, when Chief Black noticed the crowd which had congregated in front of the hotel and suspected the true state of affairs. Quick action on his part resulted in getting the department to the real scene of the fire, with but little loss of time and the building was saved.

The Exchange is a small frame building and the fire had gained considerable headway when the department arrived. The sawdust packing between the frame walls became saturated with water, however, and this doutbless saved the structure. The basement was gutted and the walls of the first and second stories were stained with smoke and damaged by water. W. F. McDonald, the owner, estimates his loss at about $1,000, but this is largely covered by insurance.

ONE DEAD AND TWO DYING FROM FIRE IN DWELLING.

Grand Rapids, Mich., May 4.—In a midnight fire that destroyed the home of Mrs. Frank Telford, at Hopkins Station, a few miles south of here, Thomas Corning, aged 27 years, was burned to death, and Mrs. Telford and her daughter, Sadie, aged 13, suffered fatal burns. The family was asleep when the fire was discovered.

"There's a Reason"

SUBSTANTIAL WOMEN OF THE UNITED STATES

Tell Their Experience With Pe-ru-na as a Great Family Medicine.

Cystitis Entirely Relieved.

Miss Mattie McArthur, care of Hospital, Medical Lake, Wash., writes:

"I have not written to you for some time, but, Oh! I have given you many words of praise. I am so well.

"I had cystitis very badly and could not walk any distance without suffering intense pain, but I do not have a touch of my old suffering now.

"I can never praise Peruna enough. I am telling every one how much good Peruna has done for me."

A Word to Other Women.

"I trust that no one will think from this that I want my name in public for any cause only to let sufferers know where they may find relief from many ailments.

"I can truly say I have been much benefited by the use of Peruna. I feel better than I have for two years. It is the best medicine that I know for internal troubles. I have taken medicine from the doctors and found no relief; but when I began taking Peruna I could see that before I had finished taking the first bottle it was doing me good.

"I recommend it to all suffering women. I think that it is the best medicine in the world. I can't say enough in its favor."—Mrs. George C. Worstell, 11 River Road, Clarksburg, W. Va.

Catarrh of Kidneys and Bowels.

"I must inform you that I recovered my health after using your valuable medicine, Peruna. I had suffered with catarrh of the kidneys and bowels, but now I am much better and feel real strong.

"I can only praise your medicine and extend my hearty thanks to you herewith."—Mrs. Maria Gongoll, Mayer, Minn.

Peruna is not simply a palliative to relieve some of the distressing symptoms. It brings permanent relief.

For Suffering Women.

Mrs. J. F. Summitt, cor. Seventh and Cypress streets, Muscatine, Iowa, writes:

"It has been some time since you have heard from me, but I am getting along all right. Peruna has cured me.

"I hope other suffering women will give Peruna a trial the same as I have done, for if it will cure me it will surely cure others."

Dyspepsia and Constipation.

"As to the merits of Peruna, too much cannot be said.

"I am sixty years old and have just found out a medicine that is a great improvement to my health. I have suffered for years with dyspepsia and constipation. The use of Peruna two weeks only has given me great relief.

"I wish Dr. Hartman grand success."—Helen A. Maxfield, M. D., Lyman, Utah.

System All Run Down.

Mrs. Ricka Leopold, 137 Main St., Menasha, Wis., Sec'y Liederkranz, writes:

"Three years ago my system was in a terribly run down condition and I was broken out all over my body. I began to be worried about my condition and was glad to try anything that would relieve me.

"Peruna was recommended to me as a fine blood remedy and tonic, and I soon found that it was worthy of praise. A few bottles changed my condition materially and in a short time I was all over my trouble.

"I owe my restoration to health and strength to Peruna. I am glad to endorse it."

"I was bothered with a pain in my left side for twenty-one years. Peruna and Manalin cured me. I think it is the best medicine to take for catarrh."—Mrs. S. V. Griffith, Utopia, Texas.

Effects of La Grippe.

Mrs. C. S. Sagerser, 1311 Woodland Ave., Kansas City, Mo., writes:

"I feel it a duty due to you and to others that may be afflicted like myself, to speak for Peruna.

"My trouble first came after la grippe, eight or nine years ago, a gathering in my head and neuralgia. I suffered most all the time. My nose, ears and eyes were badly affected. For the last two years, I think from your description of internal catarrh that I must have had that, also. I suffered very severely.

"Nothing ever relieved me like Peruna. It keeps me from taking cold. With the exception of some deafness, I am feeling perfectly cured.

"I am forty-six years old. I feel that words are inadequate to express my praise for Peruna."

The plan of furnishing on a large scale, directly to the people, a remedy for chronic catarrh, is an immense saving to the people.

Stomach Trouble.

Mrs. Wilson Robinson, 2926 Robinwood avenue, Toledo, Ohio, writes:

"I feel like a new person. I have no more heavy felings, no more pain, don't belch up gas, can eat most anything without it hurting me. I want to be working all the time. I have gained twenty-four pounds.

"People that see me now and saw me two months ago seem astonished. I tell them Peruna did it. I will say it is the only remedy for spring and all other ailments."

Treatment of Catarrh.

The treatment of catarrh is no longer guess work; the nature of catarrh is so thoroughly understood, and the action of drugs so completely comprehended, that the remedy can be adjusted to the disease with an accuracy that almost approaches scientific completeness.

Philadelphia Ledger: A missionary who advocated the elevation of the Filipinos through introduction of baseball surely does not intend to acquaint the simple native with the lingo, too.

Baltimore American: The new minister of the Rockefeller church in New York asked his hearers in his first sermon if they were prepared to have their business books stand a heavenly audit. This is a cruel quizzing of the oil trust in the midst, too, of its other earthly afflictions, which at present are taking up all its time and attention in the face of prosecutions and indictments, present and to come; it is little short of brutal.

Portland Oregonian: Fourteen years ago a New York minister promised a woman member of his flock that he would dance with her on her 100th anniversary. A few days ago the anniversary occurred and he kept his promise. No proceedings have yet been brought to expel the pastor from the church. First thing we know it will become fashionable for ministers to dance with the 100-year-old women of their churches. It ought to be.

New York Tribune: The delegate to the National Conference of Church Clubs at Washington, who said that 75 per cent of the sermon output ought to be dispensed with was warmly applauded by his hearers. Probably the sentiment will meet the same approval elsewhere, with by no means unanimous dissent from the ministers themselves. Surely the day has passed when the congregation thinks the minister isn't earning his salary unless he delivers so many writen pages of sermon weekly.

Kansas City Times: At La Porte, Ind., a Quaker preacher has been compelled to resort to manual labor to support his wife and has "accepted" a position in a drug store to supply the deficit between the $35 a month paid him by the church and the expense of maintaining a home. From the occupation of making tents, as followed by the Apostle Paul, and mixing summer drinks at a soda fountain is a long step marking the advance of Christian civilization since the day when the chief apostle exhorted the Romans to flee from the wrath to come. Incidentally, the story emphasizes the fact that the church has not been able to separate itself from the parsimonious habit of "pinching" the preacher's salary.

EXODUS TO PARK POINT

Duluth People Are Moving Into Their Summer Homes.

Cold Weather Causes But Few to Change Their Plans.

Despite the backward spring and the generally unsuitable weather for occupancy of summer cottages, the annual May exodus of Duluth people to Park Point has begun at the usual time and with all its accustomed volume. For some two weeks past, an army of painters and cleaners have been at work on numerous cottages in the summer suburb, placing them in shape for the reception of their summer occupants. Better weather was expected for the first week in May and, now, most people have not changed their plans, but are moving to their summer homes.

Every day for the past week, the aerial bridge has been taking loads of furniture and household goods across the canal. The rush to the Point is not as great now, perhaps, as it will be later, but in a week or so, the percentage of summer cottages occupied will be no small one and the rush to the Point will not let up until all are occupied, which will probably be about June 1.

NEW STAMPS ARE RECEIVED

The Duluth postoffice has been supplied with the stamps of 1 and 2-cent denominations, issued in observance of the Jamestown exposition. The 5-cent denomination has not yet been received here, but a supply will doubtless se sent soon. Only the 1, 2 and 5-cent stamps are issued.

Like every other commemorative series of stamps issued by the postoffice department of the United States, the Jamestown exposition stamps are beautifully designed, and excellent products of the engravers art. The issue is known as the Commemorative Series of 1907, and will be on sale in all postoffices of the United States during the period of the exposition.

Both the 1 and 2-cent stamps are of the same color as the regular stamps of those denominations, and of the size of former commemorative series, about twice as large as the ordinary stamps. On the top of the stamp the words, "Commemorative Series of 1907" appear, with "United States of America" curved below. On the 1-cent stamp a picture of Capt. John Smith appears, with "1580—Capt. John Smith—1631," under it, and "Founding of Jamestown, 1607," over it. The customary figures, showing the denomination, are placed in the corners of the stamp.

The picture on the 2-cent stamp shows the landing of Capt. John Smith, with the words, "Founding of Jamestown, 1607," under it. The form is the same as the 1-cent stamp in the other details.

LETTER CARRIERS MEET.

Duluth Branch Preparing for the State Convention.

A meeting of the Duluth Letter Carriers' association was held last night in the postoffice building and different matters of current interest to the association were discussed. The salary situation was reported to be satisfactory and the report of the committee showed that the Duluth carriers are doing well in raising funds for the establishing of the proposed home for carriers at Colorado Springs.

It was reported that preparations are going along nicely for enteraining the state convention of letter carriers here next month. A. E. Halverson is delegate to the state convention and J. F. McDonald, William E. Tuska and R. G. Malcolm will represent Brank 114 at the second be-ennial convention of the National Association of Letter Carriers to be held in Canton, Ohio, in September.

ON THE IRON RANGES

MATT TAYLOR BREAKS A LEG

Caught Between Two Dump Cars at Two Harbors Docks.

Two Harbors, Minn., May 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—Matt Taylor, manager and crack player of the Two Harbors hockey team and a former player in the Victoria team of St. Paul, sustained a broken leg yesterday afternoon the result of getting caught between two dump cars at the local coal dock. He was setting a brake on one of the cars on the incline and did not notice a following car in time to get out of the way being caught in the collision. The break is not a bad one, but he will be laid up some time.

KILLED AT ORE DOCKS

Gust Anderson Falls Into Pocket at Two Harbors.

Two Harbors, Minn., May 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—Gust Anderson, a Finlander employed on the ore docks, was fatally injured yesterday by falling into an ore pocket. He was taken to the Budd hospital, but his injuries were so he died there a few hours later. He leaves a wife and three children in the old country.

Ore is now being received at the local docks at the rate of about 1,000 carloads per day.

A very pleasant dancing party was given by the Two Harbors Athletic association at the Opera house, last evening.

FUTURE OF M'KINLEY

McKinley, May 4.—The progress of the town of McKinley is retarded because the Steel corporation, which owns the townsite, refuses to sell lots owing to the probability that ore underlies the townsite. A diamond drill is now at work determining the facts in this matter and, should it fail to reveal an ore deposit ,McKinley will be given an opportunity to grow, otherwise the place will remain at a practical standstill or be wiped off the map altogether.

QUICKSAND HINDERS PROGRESS AT BIWABIK.

Biwabik, Minn., May 4.—An unusual grade of quicksand has been struck in the Kellogg mine at about ninety feet that flows up into the shaft like water, and so far has defied all efforts of the workmen to get the shaft timbers below it. After the shaft was driven to a depth of ninety-two feet, and no farther progress could be made, a second shaft, to be used for timber, was sunk near by. At a depth of eighty feet the quicksand came into this shaft also as fast as it can be pumped out. They hope, however, by working in the two shifts alternately to be able to get down below the quicksand and into the ore. Where the working shaft is located the surface is about 115 feet deep, and it will be necessary to drive the shaft about twenty feet deeper before the ore is reached.

SENIOR CLASS PLAY

Will be Produced by Virginia Pupils the Last of May.

Virginia, Minn., May 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—Rehearsals on the senior class play are progressing finely, and it is expected now that the play will be ready to put on the last week of May. "Diamonds and Hearts" is the title of the play. It is a comedy drama in three acts. The play is a new one and has bounded into wide popularity. The good plot, the strong "heart" interest, and the abundant comedy all combine to make a most excellent drama. The seniors carry the leading parts. "Bub" Barnes is a fine character "bit." Sammy is an excruciatingly funny little darky. The other characters are good. Fine opportunity for introducing specialties. The play has se many good points that it never fails to be a success.

DEER RIDES IN WHEELBARROW

Chased Over Hill by Dogs, It Falls From Boulevard.

A fawn from the woods north of Duluth was initiated into the ways of city life yesterday afternoon by being wheeled along the boulevard in a wheelbarrow. The poor little animal, which had become completely exhausted as a result of a chase by dogs, did not seem to appreciate the generous display of scenery, but was too tired and hurt to do anything but submit quietly to the ride.

A number of people saw the deer running along the boulevard with a dog in close pursuit. The fright of the animal touched their hearts, and they stoned the dog away. The fawn ran as far as Sixth avenue west, and then, as frightened at the people as it had been at the dog, plunged over the cliff at that point, striking the rocks twenty feet below, and injuring itself so seriously that it could not move.

Rudolph Shogran of 517 West Boulevard, a lad 14 years old, ran to the spot and captured the deer before it had revived sufficiently to move. His father was summoned and wheeled the strange visitor home in a barrow. Gamewarden Green will be asked for permission to keep the animal.

IRISH FAIR IS OPENED

Message From King Edward in Response to Welcome.

Dublin, May 4.—The earl of Aberden, lord lieutenant of Ireland, opened the Irish national exhibition at Herbert Park, Balls Bridge, today. It is designed to revive the drooping industries of the country. The Knights of St. Patrick, wearing their insignia, the castle officials and a number of naval and military officers, all in full uniform, as well as representatives of many public bodies and large crowds of spectators, were present.

The address of welcome was read by the marquis of Ormonde, who raised a guarantee fund of $100,000. In replying, the earl of Aberdeen, who was accompanied by the countess, read a message which King Edward sent from Paris, as follows: "I trust that the exhibition which you are to open today will prove a success, and demonstrate the internal progress made by Ireland."

After a tour of the exhibition, the state procession was re-formed and returned to the castle. The exhibition is far from being completed. Elaborate arrangements are being made by the English railway and steamship companies to transport visitors to the exposition, and their officials say they are prepared to carry between 40,000 and 50,000 passengers daily during July and August. A few foreign nations have become interested in the enterprise, foremost among them being France, Italy and Japan. The colonies also have sent fine exhibits.

The fifty acres contain numerous buildings of great beauty and extent. The most imposing is the large central hall, with a dome 150 feet in height, which has a diameter very little less than that of St. Pauls. It commands a view of Dublin and Kingston harbor, and on a clear day may be plainly discerned while the steamer is many miles from Kingston.

SENATOR BORAH CHARGES

Judge Beatty presided when the grand jury recently returned indictments against a number of persons for alleged timber land frauds. It is alleged that one of the indictments was found against Borah, who has been general counsel for the Barber Lumber company, which is accused of having secured lands by frauds. The alleged indictment has not been reported.

The jury which will try Haywood will be kept during the trial in a house just across the street to the rear of the courthouse, and within 300 feet of the court room. To make the daily journeys of the jury as direct as possible, the sheriff has constructed a temporary stairway from the rear of the second story of the courthouse. An official cook has been retained, and arrangements have been made with local stores for a good and varied supply of food. Four baliffs—two for day duty and two for night service—will guard the jury. The house will be constantly watched. Entry to the open lawn will be prohibited.

New York, May 4.—The parade committee of the Moyer-Haywood conference has completed arrangements for the praade of the unions and societies and a mass meeting at Grand Central palace this evening. The managers claim that 40,000 men will be in line. The program says the parade and meeting will be a "protest against the kidnaping of Moyer, Haywood and Pettibone; against the violation of habeas corpus and against the continued postponement of the trial."

FRISCO GRAND JURY NET

ant District Attorney Heney that they were summoned to give testimony as to the alleged bribery of supervisors and others by which it is claimed the United Railroads obtained its overhead trolley privilegies in San Francisco; that they were then warned that whatever testimony they might give might be used against them in a criminal action; that they were informed that they had the right to refuse to testify on one ground only, namely, that to testify might tend to incriminate themselves and render them liable to criminal prosecution, and that thereupon each refused to testify at all.

"We were very careful," added Mr. Langdon, "not to put any questions to them."

Asked if he meant that this refrainment was for the purpose of leaving the field free for the indictment of the president and general manager, the district attorney replied: "You may say that it was very significant."

Proceeding on the working basis of the confessions before the grand jury of fourteen supervisors (which became public as official records recently), it is the announced theory of the prosecution that the United Railroads spent $750,000 in bribery.

According to a further statement from the prosecution, it expects to show that, in order to avoid future suspicion, bonds forming part of the bribe were not issued in the names of Ruef and Schmitz, but in the names of other persons and that they were converted into cash by Ruef and Schmitz through the house of Charles Sutro & Co., of this city, Fred Hilbert, a friend of Schmitz, acting as messenger between the offices of Schmitz and Sutro.

COLDEST MAY WEATHER

have been ruined, and what little fruit had escaped the late frosts was entirely killed.

Cleveland, May 4.—Driven by a fierce gale from the northwest, heavy snow fell over Northern Ohio today. The storm caused much delay to telegraph service.

Chicago, May 4.—All records for snowfalls in Chicago during May were broken yesterday. Only once since 1875 has the temperature fallen so low. By 7 o'clock last night eight-tenths of an inch of snow had fallen, and the temperature had dropped to 34 degs.

The baseball game between Northwestern university and the University of Wisconsin scheduled for today was postponed. One and a half inches of snow covered the field.

Columbus, May 4.—A fierce rain storm which turned into a slight snow swept over Central Ohio last night. It is very cold and raw today and reports from the country throughout this section say that all the fruit is killed and early vegetables are ruined. The local weather man predicts frosts tonight throughout the state.

YALE AND MIDDIES TO RACE.

University and Naval Academy Crews Ready for Boat Contest.

Annapolis, Md., May 4.—Weather conditions were almost perfect for the two mile boat race scheduled for today between the Yale university and the naval academy first eights. The water was somewhat tossed by a stiff southwest breeze, but the probabilities are that the wind will died out and that the race will be started shortly after 2 o'clock. Neither of the Georgetown's two crews who were to have competed with the second and third midshipmen, have put in an appearance. Under the circumstances it is declared that the navy will claim the two minor events by default.

The average weight of the crews approximately is: Midshipmen, 171; Yale, 173. The race will be rowed over the two mile "inner" course on the Severn.

TWO CONVICTS ESCAPE, BUT THIRD IS KILLED.

New Orleans, May 4.—Reports have just been received by the state penitentiary board of the escape of two convicts Wednesday night from the Angola state farm in West Feliciana parish and the killing of a third convict, A. B. Smith, who was also attempting to get away. The three convicts were all young white men serving short terms. Both of the men who escaped were natives of Missouri.

LUMBER SCHOONER BURNS.

Vessel and $30,000 Cargo Destroyed Off Seattle, But Crew Escapes.

Seattle, Wash., May 4.—Loaded with lumber, the German schooner Arthur Fitger, lying outside Salmon bay, near the Westpoint lighthouse, was burned last night. The cargo, worth $30,000, was destroyed. The fire started in the paint room aft, and crept slowly forward, and in about two hours the flames poured from stem to stern. The fireboat and municipal tugs that stood alongside were repelled by the intense heat. The crew of twelve men lowered a lifeboat and escaped.

CURED TO STAY CURED

The longest established, most successful and reliable specialist in diseases of men as medical diplomas, licenses and newspaper records will show.

What the afflicted man wants is not a temporary relief, but a permanent cure.

The beneficial effects of my treatment are as lasting as life—I cure to stay cured.

When once a patient is rescued by me from the ravages of disease or weakness peculiar to his sex, he is never again bothered with his former trouble.

I do not treat all diseases, but I treat men—MEN ONLY—and cure them to stay cured.

Varicocele.

Under my treatment, which includes no cutting or pain, this insidious disease rapidly disappears.

Pain disappears almost instantly.

The pools of stagnant blood are driven from the dilated veins and all soreness and swelling quickly subside.

Every indication of Varicocele soon vanishes, and in its stead come the pride, the power, and the pleasure of perfect helth and restored manhood.

Stricture.

My cure for Stricture is safe, painless and bloodless, and therefore, free from surgery in any form.

It is the only cure that should ever be used, and the only one recommended by the legions of men who have been restored by it.

It dissolves the Stricture completely and removes every obstruction from the urinary passage, allays all inflammation, stops every discharge, reduces the prostate gland when enlarged, cleanses and heals the bladder and kidneys when irritated or congested, invigorates the organs and restores health and soundness to every part of the body affected by the disease.

Contagious Blood Poison.

My special form of treatment for specific or contagious blood poison is practically the result of my life work, and is endorsed by the best physicians of this and foreign countries.

It contains no dangerous drugs or injurious medicine of any kind.

It goes to the very bottom of the disease and forces out every particle of impurity.

Soon every sign and symptom disappear completely and forever.

The blood, the tissue, the flesh, the bones and the whole system are cleansed, purified and restored to perfect health and the patient prepared anew for the duties and pleasures of life.

Nervo-Sexual Debility.

My cure for weak men does not stimulate temporarily, but restores permanently.

It soon drives away all those distressing symptoms which so constantly remind one of his former folly.

It stops every drain of vigor and builds up the muscular and nervous system, purifies and enriches the blood, cleanses and heals the bladder and kidneys, and invigorates the liver, revives the spirits, brightens the intellect, and, above and beyond all, restores the wasted power of manhood.

Reflex Diseases.

Many ailments are reflex, originating from other diseases.

For instance, manly weakness sometimes comes from Varicocele or Stricture, innumerable blood and bone diseases often result from blood poison taint in the system or physical or mental decline frequently follow loss of manhood.

In treating diseases of any kind I always cure the effect as well as the cause.

We charge nothing for private counsel, and give to each patient a LEGAL CONTRACT to hold for our promises. Is it not worth your while to investigate a cure that has made life anew to multitudes of men?

If you cannot call at our office, write your symptoms fully. Our home treatment by correspondence is always successful.

40% INVESTMENTS 40%

ABSOLUTELY SAFE
ABSOLUTELY GUARANTEED

THIS IS the class of propositions which we are now offering, and if you are interested in realizing quick profits at the rate of at least 40% on your money, we can give you the opportunity. Our friends and customers—and our customers always become our friends—have secured reasonably good profits in the past on the investments which they have placed with us, but our wish has been to secure the opportunities for investment where our customers could place their spare funds and reap a good profit,—and be able to withdraw at any time with a profit,—and to know that their money is absolutely secure,—and now we are placing before you such opportunities—

This is what we offer you,—If you have any amount, from $100 up to $100,000, and wish to have it earn profits for you at the rate of forty per cent per year, and be able to withdraw it at any time, together with the profits earned, we want you to come in and see us, and let us show you our propositions.

Of course, a small amount can be withdrawn on very short notice, while a large amount could not be withdrawn hastily without lowering the market values of the investments, but we arrange all large investments so that such can be withdrawn on reasonable notice.

The Foundation of All These Investments is

REAL ESTATE

In Some of Our New and Rapidly Growing Towns in Western Canada

One of our towns had nobody to speak of, three years ago, and now has a population of nearly 2,000, and people coming in every day. Five coal mines operating, and all surrounded by the richest farming territory in all Western Canada. Some of our best investments are in this townsite. Here is one instance of what we have done—one of our customers invested $600 in a lot in the above mentioned townsite on November 1st, last, and on January 1st we were offered $800 for this lot; on April 1st, another offer, this time $1000, and on last Saturday, April 27th, we were offered $1300 for it. These offers were made by other Real Estate firms, and we don't know what price they would have secured from their clients, but certainly they would have re-sold it at a yet higher figure. This is the kind of an investment we will give you—does this appeal to you? If it does come in and see us, and come at once, for if you have any amount from $100 up, we will be glad to invest it for you and guarantee to you a return of the amount with interest at 40% per annum, and privilege of withdrawal at any time, as specified.

REMEMBER—You are taking no chances when you let us place your investment, for We Have to Make Money For Our Customers, and never allow any money to be invested by us where we are not absolutely certain of returns as stated. We know our business, and know it thoroughly, and we know the local situations and conditions thoroughly—therefore we are absolutely certain of being able to make good our promises to you.

IN EVERY HOME.

The following simple prescription, writes a noted authority, should be made known to every family. While it is a simple home-made mixture, it forms a powerful tonic and vitalizing agent to the Kidneys, forcing them to filter and eliminate from the blood all acids and waste, restoring the full count, or 95 per cent of Red Corpuscles.

Here it is, and now is the time to take it: Fluid Extract Dandelion one-half ounce, Compound Kargon one ounce, Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla three ounces. The dose is one teaspoonful after meals and at bedtime. These harmless ingredients can be obtained at nominal cost from any good pharmacy, and anyone can mix them at home by shaking well in a bottle.

Noted medical authorities now recognize this as a blood cleanser and system tonic par excellence, because of its gentle though almost certain action in the treatment of rheumatism, skin and facial eruptions and other miserable Blood afflictions for which the Kidneys are responsible. At this time of year the blood becomes sour and filled with poisons and acids, which the skin pores failed to eliminate during the cold weather, adding this additional work to the Kidneys, which, overtaxed, become inactive and sluggish and require just such an Invigorant or Regulator.

Mix this and try it, and note the remarkable improvement in your health.

CAUGHT IN LOUISIANA

Dan Maloney Arrested the Second Time for Mitchell Murder.

Authorities Now Believe That They Have Evidence to Convict.

Charged with the revolting murder of little Freddie Mitchell at Burnett early last Septemger, Daniel Maloney was arrested in Shreveport, La., yesterday by detectives who have been working on the case. Maloney is the man who was arrested here about a week after the crime last year, but realeased on account of insufficient evidence. He was held for several days as the authorities felt reasonably certain that he was the man wanted, but as nothing could be found to fasten the guilt for the horrible deed upon him, he was released. Shortly after he disappeared, new clues were discovered which tended to indicate that he was the man wanted and the various police departments were notified to arrest him.

The large reward offered has kept the police on the watch all over the country and yesterday two detectives recognized Maloney as he was sitting on a levee in Shreveport.

When questioned at the police station by Chief Chelette of Shreveport, he admitted that he had lived in Duluth but denied working for the D. M. & N. railway.

He talks incoherently and acts as though slightly demented. He answers the description sent out by the local police fully, being 27 years of age, five feet, ten inches in height and weighing about 170 pounds. The prisoner has been "mugged" by the Louisiana police and his photograph is on its way here for identification.

The crime with which Maloney was charged was one of the most revolting in the history of the county. Freddie Mitchell, a 12-year-old boy, was assaulted a short distance from Burnett station and was found several hours later with his throat cut.

A NEW THEATER.

G. A. Kobald of Winnipeg May Build One in Duluth.

All kinds of stories concerning the building of new theaters are floating around Duluth just now. G. A. Kobald of Winnipeg, manager of the Dominion theater of that city, is the latest prospective builder. He is now registered at the Spalding, and he is planning on a theater in Duluth to book the same attractions on the Orpheum circuit that are played in the Winnipeg house. John Condon, former manager of the old Temple opera house, accompanied Mr. Kobald yesterday on a tour of inspection of good sites for a theater.

The Metropolitan people are planning on erecting a new building and there have been several reports regarding the possible erection of vaudeville houses in Duluth. It is a certainty that at least one of them will mean the building here of a first-class vaudeville house.

RAILROADS

LUMBERMEN ARE WRATHY

Object to Hill Lines Raise in Lumber Rates.

Losing Money Because of Inability to Get Cars.

Duluth is much interested in the attempt of the Hill lines to advance the lumber rate from the Pacific coast 10 cents a hundred pounds. The Western mill owners have been unable to market their product because of the car shortage on the Hill lines, and in view of the fact that the two lines have not been able for two years to furnish sufficient cars to load the lumber, the attitude of the railroads is considered very unreasonable.

Minneapolis lumbermen interested in the North Pacific coast mills and their selling agencies in Minnesota are greatly aroused over the matter. Speaking in regard to the matter the Minneapolis Journal says:

"In the light of the report that a move has been started by the Pacific Coast Lumber Manufacturers' association to divert the lumber traffic to the Harriman lines from the coast, the Minneapolis representatives of the manufacturers fail to understand the reason of the proposed action on the part of the Great Northern to advance a rate which is not applicable as it is, except on carload driblets that are coming through from the West.

"Seventy-five per cent of the mills in Washington are on the Northern Pacific road. The lumber cannot be shipped on any other line, and for this reason any compact with the Harriman line, through the interstate commerce commission's order to enforce through rates for lumber over the Harriman lines, would be futile, according to eminent authority. With this understanding of traffic matters in the West it is apparent that the Hill roads would be in a position to engage other roads in a general advance of lumber rates of 10 per cent.

"The present rate on fir is 40 cents, and on cedar and shingles 50 cents. The mills making this lumber are reported to have borrowed to the limit to carry their lumber stocks, with no relief in sight, and a condition as bad as that of 1906 predicted for this year. They are therefore, as a rule, at the last ditch. With an advance in rates under the circumstances, it is figured by the shippers that the railroads believe that they might as well get more for hauling what lumber they can carry, and thus make up to an extent for the heavy traffic which they have not the cars or the facilities to move."

T. E. Blanche Back.

T. E. Blanche, general agent of the Northern Pacific in Duluth, has returned from Buffalo, N. Y., where he went to attend the funeral of his brother. Mr. Blanche says business is booming all through the East, and that he never saw general business conditions looking better.

Iron River

Iron River, Wis., May 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mrs. Fred Johnson of Lake Nebagamon was the guest of Mrs. E. J. Watts last Thursday.

Mrs. James Root went to Minneapolis Wednesday evening.

Mrs. Thomas Stone of Menomonie, Wis., was in town Monday and Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Ellerman visited Ashland last Friday, when Mrs. Ellerman filed on a stone and timber claim.

Herman Oldendorf has sold his residence to John Hall and will move his family into the flat over his tailor shop.

H. S. Fairall returned to Milwaukee Tuesday evening, after spending a few days with his family here.

W. S. McDonald was reappointed police officer by the town board of supervisors at their meeeting held Wednesday. Dr. J. A. Paterson was appointed health officer.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Congregational church was entertained by Mrs. John Pettingill and Mrs. Harrington Thursday afternoon at the residence of the former. There was a large attendance.

Rev. John Gibson went to Park Falls last Monday evening.

An employe of the Iron River Lumber company, named Mike Mudrick, had the middle finger of his left hand badly crushed in the gearing of the resaw at the mill Wednesday night. Dr. Stewart and Dr. Tarter amputated the finger below the second joint.

About thirty friends and neighbors enjoyed a dancing party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Hall last Wednesday evening. Barney's orchestra furnished the music. At midnight lunch was served.

Mrs. Grace Wells and little son, Berkeley, returned to Finlell, Tuesday evening after spending two weeks with friends in Iron River.

M. C. Helmer returned last Saturday from his Western trip. He visited Couer d'Alene, Idaho; Spokane, Wash., and other points.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Philip Riley last Sunday, April 28th.

Invitations have been issued by the W. C. T. U. for a social meeting to be held at the home of Mrs. H. L. Fairall next Wednesday afternoon.

Peter Dahlby has sold his residence to B. F. O'Hara.

Frederick Goetsch has purchased the Fred Dahl farm, situated three miles north of town. Five forties were included in the transfer and the consideration given at $25.

Pat Chantelois has shipped his pacer, Casperdeen, to Minneapolis, where he will be tracked this season. Casperdeen now has a record of 2:09 and it is believed that with proper care and training he will considerably lower this record.

While under the influence of liquor on April 25th, Nick Luona, a Finlander, was relieved of a wallet containing a portion of his winter's savings. He did not know when it was taken but missed it as soon as he became sober and immediately began tracing it. He finally caused the arrest of Peter Corgan on the charge of robbery. When brought before Judge Sauve, Corgan pleaded not guilty, but claimed to know who was guilty and made a complaint charging Gust Soukko and John Peterson with the crime. All three cases were continued, Corgan giving bonds for his appearance and the other two were committed to the county jail for safe keeping. Luoma, the complaining witness and another witness for the state, were also sent to the jail to insure their appearance when needed.

At the meeting of the town board of supervisors held last Wednesday, the local W. C. T. U. presented a petition to the board signed by over 250 citizens, in which they asked for the closing of the saloons and other places of business on Sunday. The petition was tabled, the board maintaining that the town is not ready for such action, that the majority of the people want no Sunday closing, and that all lines of business would suffer by such action.

Rev. Mr. Murray of Chicago is visiting his brother, who is living in a log cabin near Cussons. Mr. Murray has been living in the woods with his wife for the past year, hoping to regain his lost health thereby.

Principal Nels-Anderson of Mason was an Iron River visitor last Saturday.

Alvin Hanson returned to his school work last Monday, after an illness of several weeks.

At the adjourned annual town meeting, held las Friday, several committees appointed at a previous meeting presented their reports. The committee appointed to investigate and report as to the necessity of providing more school room reported against building at the present time. The committee agreed that a number of the rooms are overcrowded; that the high school and upper grades are especially crowded and need relief, but suggested that more room might be provided by requiring parents to keep children under 6 years of age at home and by putting more classes in each of the lower rooms. The committee appointed to investigate and report on the cost of repairing or rebuilding the bridge across the Iron river, north and west of town, reported that they estimated the cost of rebuilding the north bridge would be $575 and that the west bridge could be repaired for this season by expending $100 upon it.

REPORT OF BETHEL WORK

What the Society Has Accomplished Along Charity Lines.

The report of the charitable work of the Bethel socley for the past six months has been issued. The work of charity of this organization is carried on in a systematic way, and there is no promiscuous giving. The cases of need are investigated, and Miss Joan Fraser, city missionary for the Bethel, visits among the poor of the city and brings the necessary help to the destitute. Fuel, food, medicine, and clothes have been given out during the last half year. There is a steady demand at the Bethel for clothes, and any people in the city having cast off garments who will contribute them to this work, are requested to telephone the Bethel and the garments will be called for. The report in detail is as follows: Visits to families, the jails and hospitals, 345; meals given to men, 593; women, 383; total, 891; lodgings given men, 157; women, 161; total, 318; garments given, 1,356; days spent by Miss Fraser at Bethel sewing for poor families and distributing food, 63. Total money expended for six months, $515.32.

INSANITY ENDS LIFE OF SHAME

Stella Lowe, Aged 35 Years, is Committed to Asylum.

Stella Lowe, aged 35 years, who was examined by physicians and the probate court, in one of the local hospitals yesterday afternoon, was committed to the insane asylum at Fergus Falls. She was a well known character in certain circles in the city and her manner of life is claimed to be responsible for her present condition.

A. P. Freeburg of West Duluth has filed information of insanity against his son, Clarence. The examination will take place at 4 o'clock Monday afternoon.

The probate court has been notified of the parole from the state asylum of Jacob Saari of Eveleth, who was committed the first of the year, and John Derzia who was committed last month.

ENLARGES HIS STORE

I. Freimuth Will Build Three Additional Stories.

Increased Floor Space Needed for Growth of Business.

I. Freimuth will, next Monday, celebrate the twenty-fourth anniversary of his department store business. In his advertisements of today and tomorrow Mr. Freimuth announces his intention of more than doubling his floor space by the addition of three more stories to the big store which he has been occupying at the corner of Lake avenue and Superior street for the past seven years. The additional space is made necessary by the steady growth of the business of the store, which has far outgrown the present facilities. Mr. Freimuth secured recently a new lease on the corner for a long term of years, by the terms of which he will have three additional stories constructed, the work to be started very soon and to be pushed forward to completion as fast as possible.

The plans for the additional stories are being made by German & Lignell, the architects, and these, it is understood, will soon be in the contractors' hands for figures.

While no figures as to the cost are given out, no expense is to be spared in making the store building up-to-date in every detail of a metropolitan department store.

When the Freimuth store was originally built, although only two stories high, the foundations were put down to the bed rock. It is claimed that there is not another building in Duluth with any better foundations, and that those in the Freimuth store would support a building ten stories high were it desired to construct one of that height.

The building improvement to the store will be one of the most important of the season in the Superior street business district.

AUTHORITIES ARE IN ST. PAUL

California Deputy With Grande's Extradition Before Governor.

Chief Troyer received a wire last evening from Deputy Sheriff Carleton C. Case of Stockton county, Cal., from Omaha, saying that he would reach St. Paul this morning. Sheriff Case is bearing the requisition papers from the governor of California to Governor Johnson for the extradition of J. H. Grande, the Independent Fruit company man, who is wanted in California.

Should he meet with no delay in getting the papers out, Mr. Case will doubtless arrive in the city with the proper papers to secure Grande's extradition on the 7 o'clock train this evening. Grande then has twenty-four hours in which to block the papers through, any irregularity which his attorneys may discover, and if this is not done the sheriff will be on his way West again by Monday afternoon with Grande in his charge.

Grande repeatedly announced his willingness to go back to California and "thrash this thing out," and still maintans that it is a cleverly constructed plot to drive him out of the city.

BASARIC SAYS HE IS NOT GUILTY

Pleads to Indictment Charging Murder in Second Degree.

Dana Basaric, who was indicted for murder in the second degree entered a plea of not guilty this morning and was remanded to the county jail without bail to await his trial. He is charged with having wilfully, wrongfully and unlawfully killed Marco Breklaeich without any just cause and without premeditation.

Gustaf Carlson, who was indicted for larceny in the second degree pleaded guilty to the indictment and will be sentenced later.

Hemming Johnson pleaded not guilty to the indictment charging forgery in the second degree.

NATIVE LAWYERS IN JAIL FOR INCITING TO RIOTS.

Alahabad, British India, May 4.—Five native lawyers who are alleged to have been the ringleaders of the agitation which led to the rioting at Rawalpindi, have been arrested and placed in jail, bail being refused. A mob subsequently attacked the residences of the district magistrate and assistant magistrate, did much damage and assaulted several Europeans before the men were dispersed.

Quiet has temporarily been restored at Rawalpindi, but the artillery is held in readiness for emergencies and a detachment of the Royal Irish rifles is on its way there from Murree.

What This Signature Means

The signature of W. K. Kellogg on a package means more to you than you would imagine.

It means delicious flavor.

It means the crispiest, tenderest breakfast food you ever ate.

It means the original—the genuine Toasted Corn Flakes.

Ten years were spent in perfecting this most delicious of all breakfast foods.

It was placed on the market a little more than a year ago.

But its success is phenomenal, because the flavor is just the kind that pleases everyone—that no one ever grows tired of.

Now the imitators claim to have equalled in a few months what it has taken us years to perfect.

Common sense says, "Impossible." For the flavoring process is secret. It cannot be reproduced.

So, when you buy "corn flakes," be sure and look for the above signature on the package. Else you may unknowingly accept one of the many worthless imitations.

THE POLICE COURT GRIST

Well Dressed Couple Make Disturbance in a Hotel.

Tillie Linberg Wanted Court to Wait While She Shopped.

Because they were refused admission to the Merchants hotel a little after midnight last night, Frank Hanley and Harriet Hanley, his wife, a stylishly dressed couple, but rather the worse for liquor, caused such a disturbance in the office of the hotel that an officer was called and they were arrested. They were arraigned in municipal court this morning and assessed $12 each, which they paid.

* * *

Tillie Linberg, the cook charged with stealing a coat from one of the inmates of the Esmond hotel in the West end last week, has more respect for the courts and their mandates than she had before.

Tillie was arraigned on a larceny charge Thursday afternoon and her hearing was set for yesterday afternoon at 2:30, her bail being fixed at $25. When 2:30 arrived, however, there was no Tillie in sight and the police arrested her at 6:30 charging her with contempt of court. Tillie said she had some shopping to do and thought the court could wait until today.

In addition to forfeiting the bail, which she put up for appearance yesterday, the court imposed a fine of $29.75 today.

DENEEN HOLDS TALK WITH TAFT

Illinois Governor and Secretary Deny Discussing Presidency.

Washington, May 4.—Governor Deneen of Illinois and Secretary Taft engaged in a conference today that is likely to be accredited as having political significance. It was recalled that on a recent visit of the governor to consult with the president at the White House, the secretary of war was called in, "merely to meet the governor," it was said. The story was brought out then that the governor was asked to take up the management of the Taft campaign in Illinois and possibly become the "favorite son" candidate in the state with a view to delivering the delegation to Taft at the opportune moment.

The story was denied at that time, but it was called to the attention of the secretary and the governor today. Both denied that they had been considering political issues and declared that "broad questions of statesmanship" were all that had engaged their attention.

SINGING CONTEST.

Annual Competition Between Swedish and Norwegian Societies.

One of the most interesting musical events of the season will be the singing contest between the Normanna male chorus and the Svea Glee club, at the Lyceum theater tomorrow evening, May 5.

This is the fourth of the kind. To the winning chorus in the contest will be awarded the artistic and costly Carlson trophy, which was donated by Carlson Bros. The trophy is a large handsome loving cup, now on exhibition in the show window of the Columbia Clothing company. The Normanna society has won two of the contests held in former years, while the Svea Glee club has carried off the victory once.

One of the prominent and pleasing parts of the program will be two grand choruses, in which both societies will join, making a chorus of sixty well-trained voices.

The two singing societies have been training for the event for weeks. Mr. Halten leads the Normanna Male chorus and Mr. Helmer the Svea Glee club.

The judges of the contest are three, two of whom are noted vocal instructors from the Twin Cities, and one a well known local professor of music. All the fine and technical points in the rendering of the different contest numbers will be carefully noted by the judges. Each society will contribute two contest numbers, which, of course, can not be encored. There will be solos by Professors Gronseth and Kretchmar and Flaaten's complete orchestra will also be in attendance.

Altogether the coming contest of song will be a most notable musical event. The healthy and friendly rivalry that exists between the two contesting musical organizations will impart a spice and an enthusiasm to the program not usually found in musical events.

SOCIETY ON MARS

Sociologist's Study of Probable Social Conditions on a Planet Where Civilization is at Least Twenty-four Million Years Old.

Providence, R. I., May 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—With only a million years, more or less, in which life will be livable on Mars, while we of the earth have had perhaps not more than 200,000 or at the most 200,000 years of our allotted 24,000,000, the conditions prevailing among the Martians would afford, such is a conclusion derived from a study of "Mars and Its Lesson" made by Prof. Lester F. Ward of the department of sociology at Brown university, an interesting study, could we only get a little nearer to them. Even at long range enough is discoverable to give a basis for conjecture and moralizing enough to encourage the optimist to believe that the human race is in reality just beginning to live. If the life time of this planet is regarded as consisting of one cosmic day, then man's achievements since the dawn of history have all taken place in but seven seconds of time.

This investigation, though immensely significant, of course, to humanity, was undertaken as one of the recreations of a distinguished student of human affairs, who finds in every one of the physical sciences, not excluding astronomy, with which he is familiar, material which throws lights upon present and future states of society on this globe. In one of his classes in sociology the study was first presented as an illustration of certain points under discussion. As a result of the general interest aroused it has lately been published in the little magazine which keeps Brown men all over the world in touch with each other.

The discursion into the affairs of another world, Dr. Ward maintains, is quite justifiable from the point of view of the practical sociologist. Since human society is still very young and unformed, it is obviously important, even while discussing the history of the past and discovering how the most essential human institutions came into being—such as religion, language, marriage, custom, war, law, jurisprudence, art and science—at the same time to have a look forward to note along what lines civilization is likely to proceed.

Not every answer can be read in the stars, of course. From the case of another planet no definite idea can be gained as to the legal restrictions under which divorces will be granted, or the traffic in alcohol regulated, or this earth 5,000,000 years, or 20,000,000 years hence. Yet there already is, Dr. Ward maintains, a science of Areology (Ares, it will be remembered, is the Greek name for Mars) parallel to our science of geology.

For we already know a good deal about this red-hued planet which, thanks to a hardly perceptible envelope of clouds, circle in plain view around the sun some fifty million miles to our outerward. To the view of the advanced areologists, such as Percival Lowell and Schiaparelli, Mars represents an elderly planet, one very much older. In fact, than Mother Earth.

It is, in fact, dry time perpetually up there. Most of the waters that once covered everything have vanished in the same way that this planet is all the while losing hydrogen, one of the two components of water, through some form of diffusion or radiation, so that while there is a constant meteroic rain of solids to assist in the upbuilding of our continents the breaking down and flying away of atoms of hydrogen, contained in the water vapor of the atmosphere, involves a steady loss of moisture. This process has proceeded so far on Mars that most of the liquid refreshment of its inhabitants, assuming it has such, is confined to narrow circles about the two poles. It is made available for the uses of the Martians, according to the view of the areologists, only by means of an intricate network of canals.

The existence of this system of irrigation, which Prof. Ward accepts as an established fact, is accompanied by the circumstance that the surface of Mars is more flattened out than is the surface of this world of ours. The processes of the gradual wearing down of mountain ranges through the mechanical and chemical agencies of rainfall, frost, wind, electrolysis and the rest have evidently proceeded very much further in the filling of the former ocean bed, and exposing vast plains which without water are deserts, and when irrigated become oases, somewhat like the flat prairie regions of Louisiana and Texas bordering on the Gulf of Mexico.

His belief that the inhabitants of Mars, a race of beings of great industry and high intelligence, are now approaching their last gasp, having only a million years approximately to live, Prof. Ward bases upon an interesting series of generalizations. On this earth scientists have outlined the various periods of geological growth on an estimated basis of hundreds of years from the first beginnings of life to the final disappearance of living things. Of this space between heat too great for the generation of protoplasm and cold and drought too excessive for its propagation the earth has already passed through about 72,000,000 years. Human life began between 200,000 and 500,000 years ago, according to these estimates, but the historic period in which the life of man and his works is traceable has amounted to not more than 25,000 years and the age of written language to not more than 6,000 years. The "psychozoic age," as it has been called, or the period of the living soul, has indeed been a very short one as yet, and man is just about entering into his inheritance. We sometimes speak of ours as Old Earth, and lament over the shortness of existence on a dying planet, but as a matter of fact, human kind, on a conservative prediction, has about 24,000,000 years in which to advance toward physical and moral perfection.

But not so with our neighbors, the Martians. Prof. Ward compares the apparent ages of the two planets, assuming for reasons which he states that they have cooled off at about the same rate, and reaches the conclusion that we have for the present total of the geological periods of Mars about 50,000,000 years. In a million years more the existence of highly organized beings corresponding to human kind will have become impossible. Within 4,000,000 years all life will have become extinct on the planet.

On the principle of the uniform action of cause and effect throughout the material universe, Mars is judged to have passed through just such stages as the earth has traversed, and still more. First, its globe was covered with water, brought down by the condensation from an envelope of steam. During the cooling of the hot water life was formed at relatively high temperatures. Protoplasm, the stuff through which all life manifests itself, consists of nothing that is not found in salt water and air. As land appeared through the slowly receding waters some of the marine tribes, by processes of natural selection, came to adapt themselves to terrestrial conditions. Mountains rose and were worn down. Broad continents were built with mountain ranges for their backbones. Generally a somewhat similar scheme of geological changes has manifested itself on each planet.

All that, if true, means that many millions of years ago people on Mars were just beginning to be civilized, exactly as our civilization is now beginning. What the race of thinking beings off there have done to improve the conditions of living can be guessed at merely; the only thing definitely known is, if the conclusions of the areologists are correct, that with the receding of the waters of the planet the Martians have accommodated themselves through a great system of irrigation, to changes which would otherwise have interrupted their existence.

Slight as our information about it is, the story of this other planet, Dr. Ward says, "teaches us in the most unmistakable manner that the earth must follow in its footsteps; that its mountains must be worn down and its seas filled up until it shall become a smooth ball; that its waters and its atmosphere must be absorbed and become incorporated in its solid crust, though in this respect it will remain long at the stage at which we find Mars today, its final death following that of Mars by the same time-distance as did its birth. In the above table I have assigned to Mars one more million years, which anyone is at liberty to double or to halve. On Mars we can, as it were, see with our own eyes a race of vast antiquity and supreme wisdom, clinging desperately to the orb that bore it, half gasping for breath, and hoarding every drop of its precious water, but doomed in the relatively near future to face the lingering death of a dying world."

Gloomy though this picture may seem to be to one who is sympathetically interested in the welfare of the Martians, the length of time which it presents as due to our own race is certainly encouraging to human effort. It is likely that the people on Mars have transformed and retransformed themselves, continuously improving and developing higher and higher social efficiency. In the same way it is certain that the inhabitants of this earth will go from lower to higher stages of civilization, in accordance with principles of sociology which are now becoming definitely understood, and some of which Dr. Ward has been a pioneer in stating. Called not long ago from governmental work in Washington, he has brought the results of a varied experience in scientific investigation such as hardly any other American has had to a professorial chair at Brown university in a department the importance of which is being more and more recognized by all educators.

THE MARKET HOLDS WELL

Listed Coppers Fairly Firm Despite Weaker Tendencies.

George L. Walker's Opinions on the Metal Market.

The copper stock market displayed weaker tendencies during the short session today, but despite that held fairly firm at the close. One or two of the listed stocks closed lower than yesterday.

North Butte opened at $92, went off to $91.87½, rallied to $92.50 and closed strong at $92.50 bid and $92.75 asked. Amalgamated opened at $96.37½, went up to $96.50, off to $95.87½ and closed at $95.87½ bid.

Anaconda opened at $64, went off to $63.50 and closed at $63.50 bid. Butte Coalition opened at $28.12½, declined to $27.25 and closed at $27.25 bid and $27.50 asked. Calumet & Arizona opened at $180, went off to $178 and closed at $180 asked.

Greene-Cananea sold at $16.50, went off to $16 and closed at $16.12½ bid and $16.37½ asked.

Superior & Pittsburg sold at $19.. 37½, declined to $19.12½, rallied to $19.50 and closed at $19.25 bid and $19.37½ asked. Globe Consolidated sold at $12.25, advanced to $13, went off to $12.50 and closed at $12.50 bid and $12.75 asked.

Denn-Arizona sold at $10.50 and closed at $10.25 bid and $10.50 asked. Warren sold at $8.75 and closed at $8.75 bid and $9 asked; Carman at $3 and $3.25 and closed at $3 bid and $3.50 asked; Cliff at $4.12½ and closed at 3.87½ bid and $4.12½ asked, and Keweenaw at $10.12½ and $10.25 and closed at $10 bid and $10.25 asked.

Hancock closed at $9 bid and $9.25 asked. Butte & Superior at $3 bid and $3.50 asked. Copper Queen of Idaho at $1.37½ bid and $1.50 asked.

Calumet & Montana at 90 cents bid and $1 asked. Black Mountain was inactive and closed at $5.87½ bid and $6 asked.

Walker's copper letter in Saturday's Boston Commercial, says:

"The copper market is beginning to look decidedly firmer. Producers are holding out for 25½ to 26 cents for lake and 25¼ cents for electrolytic. There is now every reason to believe these prices will be maintained for a long time to come. The period of uncertainty is apparently at an end. Had there been any surplus copper in existence, either in this country or abroad, the price undoubtedly would have been forced down to 20 cents or lower. A small amount of copper did come on the market and was sold at about 24 cents. Those consumers who were fortunate enough to get a portion of this cheap copper have reason to congratulate themselves. My advice to consumers who have failed to provide for their June requirements is to buy immediately, provided they can secure it at lower prices than those quoted above.

"Those in a position to know most about actual metal market conditions, statistically and otherwise, now express the belief that copper will not decline below 25 cents this year. They are very confident that the entire year's production will find a market at this level. It is certain that the largest producers will not consent to a reduction in prices until a small surplus begins to accumulate in their hands. They declare that they are not at present able to do business on a normal basis, as they have no copper with which to supply any immediate and unexpected demand which may come from their customers. They compare themselves to the retailer who carries no goods in stock and is obliged to make customers wait while he sends out for the articles which they may desire. In the case of the copper, however, consumers must wait until the copper is produced and refined.

"Just at the moment there is very little inquiry for copper. Consumers are still disposed to await developments. So far as this is concerned, however, the recent agitation and business uncertainty, arising chiefly from the break in security prices, has made very little difference. Consumers had already bought their supply of May copper, and the greater portion of what they will require in June. They were not expected in the market again until about the first week in May; and there is now every prospect that the buying and selling will occur at the usual seasonable time without any flurry or change in quotations.

"A great deal of interest has been aroused by the persistent advance in copper warrants in London. It is now reported that selling agency which has been talking bearish for some time past was responsible for the big break in 'G. M. B.' copper prices several weeks ago. Its managers, who have never been accused of lack of business ability or short-sightedness, are said to have discovered a very bearish disposition in European copper circles, and to have taken advantage of it by creating a bear market and then buying all offerings after the decline got well under way. Deliveries were demanded on the contracts, and the copper is now being imported and refined in this country. The 'coup' is said to have been highly successful, a great many million pounds of copper being secured at such low average prices that it will stand the buyers, after refining, about 23 cents per pound. The big profits will be supplied chiefly by British and continental copper consuming interests."

CRISIS IS YET TO COME

Sympathetic Strikes May Be Ordered On Monday.

Building Operations In Duluth Are At a Standstill.

No sympathetic strike of the various building trades, which are allied to the four organizations whose members walked out on May 1, has yet been called, although both sides remain as determined to win as ever. Building operations all over Duluth are practically at a standstill as a result of the trouble between the workingmen and the contractors.

It is the general opinion of the members of the building trades that unless a settlement or compromise is decided upon on Monday, the general sympathetic strike will undoubtedly be called. It is expected that the trouble will come to a head on Monday and the workingmen say that the contractors must give in or a general strike will be called.

Nothing has happened during the day to change the aspect of the strike situation. Both sides seem to be waiting for the other to act. The contractors were willing to make no statement this afternoon as to their course on Monday and all the strikers who are handling the walkout would say was that everything looked favorable to their side.

The board of governors of the Building Structural alliance has been in session daily ever since the strike was begun and the members have discussed the matter from every standpoint, but it is still their opinion that their only course is to remain firm. Yesterday afternoon it looked for a while as though the general strike would be called, but the more conservative members of the board persuaded the others to wait until Monday at least before going any further in the strike movement.

A report was spread about today that some thirty men had been imported into the city to take the places of the striking electricians. One of the members of the Electricians' union admitted that nine men had been imported, but stated that four of these had already been persuaded to pull out and join the ranks of the strikers this afternoon.

One of the prominent members of the board of governors, when asked concerning the probability of the sympathetic strike being declared on Monday unless an agreement is reached by that time, stated that the actions of the board Monday would be governed by the circumstances as they are at that time.

Although the board of governors in charge of the strike has not yet issued a statement, one of the members of the builders' laborers sent a statement to The Herald in reply to that issued yesterday by the Builders' Exchange. It is as follows:

"To the Public:

"Reading in the columns of The Herald last night a statement made by the Duluth Builders' Exchange, stating their reasons for refusing the wage scales of the unions and also giving a list of the wage scales paid in the Twin Cities, I will say that we as Duluth citizens are paying about one-third more for the necessities of life than people living in the Twin Cities. For instance, rent in Minneapolis is one-third lower than in Duluth and you can buy vegetables and the like direct from the farmer much lower than they can be purchased in this city.

"I want to say as a member of one of the lowest paid crafts on a building operation that at times even when we are working steadily it is almost impossible for us to make both ends meet, especially if we have families, and most of us do. We like to clothe our little ones as well as possible so that they can go to school and to church, so that they will be good and useful citizens when they grow up.

"We think that the public are generally with us when we have a strike on and we are going to win.

Telephoning From Trains.

One of the greatest inventions for railroad use since the air brake is an appliance for telephoning from moving trains, and a successful demonstration was made a short time ago on a train running about 35 miles an hour. During the past 53 years there have been hundreds of successful demonstrations of the merit of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters in cases of stomach, liver, bowel or kidney disorders, in fact it is regarded by many persons as the greatest medical discovery of the day. A fair trial is all we ask to prove to you that it can cure cases of poor appetite, bloating, heartburn, sour risings, dyspepsia, indigestion, costiveness, insomnia, sick headache, female ills or malaria fever and ague. Insist on having Hostetter's with Private Stamp over neck of bottle. It is absolutely pure.

TWO VESSELS ON SHORE AS RESULT OF A GALE.

Cherbourge, France, May 4.—A fierce gale is raging in the channel. The French steamer Laure and the French bark Jane Guillon have been driven ashore. The bark arrived at Queestown May 1 from San Francisco. Her crew were landed and it is hoped she may be refloated.

WAITS FOR SISTER'S MEASLES.

Chicago Tribune: Our little girl, 8 years old, has the measles. Paul, aged 4 years, was anxious to become notorious also. The other day a neighbor quizzed him thus: "Paul, how's sister?"

"Oh, she's all red."

"Don't you want the measles, too?"

"Yes."

"Why don't you have them, then?"

"Well, I have to wait till sister gets through with them."

ADVICE TO RHEUMATICS

Asks for Consolidation.

Judge Cant heard the arguments, today, on the motion of the Wisconsin Central Railway company to consolidate the several appeals from the award of damages by the appraisers in the condemnation proceedings, where the owner of the fee, the lessee, tenant and sub-tenant appeared as parties to the appeal on the same piece of property.

Surprise Party.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugo Svenson were pleasantly surprised one evening this week at their home at 1901 West First street. There were about forty guests in the party and they spent an enjoyable evening. The host and hostess were presented with a china closet.

Fails to Get Quorum.

The regular meeting of the Duluth Oratorio society will be held Monday evening at Steinway hall instead of at the church parlors of the First Methodist church, because of the concert at the church by the bell-ringers.

Start Sawing Monday.

The regular meeting of the board of education was not held last evening, there being no quorum. Several of the members of the board are out of the city for a few days. A meeting will probably be held some time next week, subject to the call of the president.

Will Talk to Boys.

The older boys' meeting at the boys' department of the Y. M. C. A. Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock will be addressed by Rev. W. A. Dunnett of Lynn, Mass. A musical program will be given by the boys' department orchestra and Prof. Hubert Crispini, the celebrated trombonist, late of Gilmore's band, New York. All boys in the city 14 years and over are cordially invited. The Knights of Sir Gallahad meet at the boys' department at 3 o'clock and will also be addressed by Rev. W. A. Dunnett. He will speak on the topic, "Some Good Things to Eat." There will be a musical program on the phonograph.

The doors will be locked at 3:15.

Gets Sixty Days.

Nester Aho was brought to the county jail yesterday from Mountain Iron and began serving a 60-day sentence. He was fined $100 and costs for petit larceny charge.

Close Offices Saturday.

The Tower Lumber company will begin sawing next Monday and from then until late in the fall, it is expected the mill will be kept busy night and day. The Edward Rines Lumber company has purchased the season's cut.

Change Place of Meeting.

Beginning this afternoon and continuing until fall, the Duluth-Superior railroad freight offices will close at 1 o'clock on Saturday afternoons. This is in line with the policy of a number of wholesale houses and other companies closing their offices on Saturday afternoons during the summer months.

Entertained the Company.

A planked whitefish dinner was served in the green room of the Metropolitan Opera house last night, at which the members of the Miner's Americans company, playing at the Opera house this week, and the employes of the theater, were the guests of the orchestra.

Railroad Construction.

Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Dear of Hibbing, were in the city yesterday. Mr. Dear, who is connected with the railroad construction firms of Lawton Bros. & Dear and Winton Bros. & Co., says the two companies have enough work ahead in the West to keep them busy for two years. The contracts are for the Northern Pacific and Milwaukee roads.

Broke Telegraph Cables.

Early last evening, some steamer dragging her anchor, tore up the Western Union cables just south of the interstate bridge and parted them. The repairing of the damage was begun at once. Communication was not interrupted as the cables crossing the river at West Duluth were intact.

Must Go to Norfolk.

People who have been counting on purchasing tickets to the Jamestown exposition and using them so as to stop other points in the East, thus gaining the benefit of the low rates to the exposition, find their plans upset. Inquirers learn that tickets must be stamped at Norfolk before they will be accepted for return passage.

"Tom" Hastings Dead.

Duluth friends of Thomas Hastings, the well-known Minneapolis curler, who has played a good many fine matches at Duluth bonspiels, were pained to hear of his death at his home Wednesday evening. Hastings was credited with being the father of the game in the Northwest. He was a native of Dumfrieshire and was prominent among the Scotch people of Minnesota.

GRAIN REBATER GIVEN BIG FINE

W. P. Devereaux Company of Minneapolis Assessed $1,000.

Minneapolis, May 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—The W. P. Devereaux company today admitted its guilt on one of fifteen indictments found against it by the federal grand jury for soliciting and accepting concessions in transporting grain from Minneapolis to Seattle.

Judge William Lochren of the federal district court, imposed a fine of $1,000 and the remaining fourteen counts were nolled.

The Devereaux company was charged with accepting a reduction of 20 cents a hundred pounds from the regular tariff charges on a carload of oats on July 31, 1905. The published rate of the Great Northern at that time was 50 cents a hundred pounds between these points. The other counts were on similar transactions.

HOW FISHES CARE FOR THEIR YOUNG

Washington, May 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—It is probably not very often that father stays at home to take care of the children. The duty usually devolves upon mother or sister or nurse. In any case, brother or the butler would consider it a task outside his province to see that no harm came to the little ones.

Out at the Zoo, too, it is usually the mother who stands guard over her young, who watches and cleans and pets and plays with them.

But pay a visit to the aquarium, a fresh-water aquarium, in its natural state. There it is the gaudy-colored father who floats motionless a few inches above the cup-shaped nest, bright-eyed, keen and watchful, or darts with a flash and a rainbow swish to lure away some curious submarine intruder.

Among the fishes, at least of the rivers and lakes, custom has placed the burden of care of the young in most cases upon the male. This is merely one of a number of interesting facts shown by Dr. Theodore Gill, associate in zoology at the United States National museum, as the result of a series of studies upon parental care among freshwater fishes, published by the Smithsonian institution.

It has been the general impression among naturalists, from the days of Aristotle, that fishes are indifferent to their eggs and young, and leave them entirely to the care of Mother Nature And through the teachings of naturalists, therefore, the idea that sea animals have not that instinct which is practically universal among land animals to care for and to protect their offspring, even to the sacrifice of their own lives, has been spread abroad. "Oliver Goldsmith, in 1774," says Dr. Gill, "told his readers that fishes seem, all except the whale kind, entirely divested of those parental solicitudes which so strongly mark the manners of the more perfect terrestrial animals." Many to the present time entertain that belief.

Dr. Gill has devoted much of his life to the study of natural history, and is one of the foremost authorities of the country, not only upon ichthyology, but upon most subjects connected with natural history. His recent studies show beyond a doubt that this idea is far from the truth. In fact, "the species which manifest care for their young are so numerous," he says, "that the present article must be restricted to those which are inhabitants of fresh water." And the curious methods of protection adopted by different families of sea animals, or even cousins and aunts of the same family are not few. Dr. Gill has gotten together practically all that is known among naturalists on the subject.

"Naturally the most common or frequent mode of care is the simplest," he says, "consisting of little more than selection of a site for the deposit of the female's eggs and subsequent guardianship of those eggs by the male." The place selected is usually cleared of stones and weeds, and in the cleared spaces the eggs are laid. Some, however, go further than this. A certain catfish in Queensland is always very careful to nose and splash and swash stones up from the river bed and pile them in a heap over her eggs.

Then there are a lot of tribes among our American and African fishes that, instead of laying their eggs in a certain spot and watching them carefully while they hatch, carry them about in their mouths for weeks at a time. And in South American waters there swims a very distant cousin to our catfish which has a method of attaching eggs in a mass to the skin. The skin of the fish then grows out around them "like the cups of acrons around the nuts," and in this manner they are carried and protected until they hatch.

Probably many an angler has happened upon a mass of fish eggs floating in a stream or lake, to all appearances deserted by the parent fish. But these are not mere foundlings to be hatched. There has been much work expended upon this floating nest. Perhaps its simplest form, explains Dr. Gill, is found in the many colored fish of paradise which a floating nest of a mere conglomeration of air bubbles held together by a sticky substance from the fish's mouth. Other fishes gather together to bind their rafts, twigs and fallen leaves so that a floating nest of this sort looks like little more than a bulk of mud and river waste. There is one species, the sticklebacks, which is even equipped, spider-like, with special web-making organs to weave a binding thread for the materials selected for the nest. And it is the general rule that the caretaker is the male.

Dr. Gill not only discusses these and other methods of protection to young but upon the philosophy of parental instinct in fishes says: "The attribute of parental care must be regarded as an outcome of selfishness, or, if you will, self love, a result of the sense of proprietorship. The eggs are the fishes' own, and therefore they and the resulting larvae are to be cared for as such."

FOUR WEST END BOYS ARRESTED

Are Charged With Burglarizing Station at Solon Springs.

Four young men, giving their residence as Duluth, were arrested at Solon Springs, last night, by Constable David LeRoy, charged with burglarizing the railroad station. They are mere boys, and gave their names, ages and street addresses as follows: Jack Monterey, 19 years, 112 West Superior street; Joseph Patrick, 2529 Huron street, 20 years; Wesley Sullivan, registered at the Solon Springs hotel as George Rogers, 17 years, 2509 Huron street.

The police investigated the case this morning and located all of the young men as four West end lads who ran away from home day before yesterday. The boy who gave his name as Jack Monterey is said to be Henry Warner of 228 Twenty-seventh avenue west. Joseph Patrick is Joseph P. McAminden, and his address is correct. James Hogan is claimed to be Otto Lindstrom of 2718 West Michigan street, and Wesley Sullivan, the only one of the quartet to give his right name, lives at 2529 Huron street, as he said.

No details of the crime with which the boys are charged is known. None of them have police records here, with the exception of McAminden, who was arrested a year ago and fined $30 and costs for disorderly conduct. Sullivan was also arrested on this charge three years ago, but was dismissed.

Chance to Make Money

So many persons, whom I know to be readers of this paper, have written me, asking about Mexico and how I made my money here, that, instead of answering each letter personally, which I have not time to do, I have decided to make known the information they want in this public manner.

I have been here in Mexico for the past six years. At first it was very hard, for I could not speak the language and had not enough money to even pay my board. But my experience as a mining engineer in the United States and my early investigations here convinced me that Cecil Rhodes was right when he said Mexico was the richest mineral country on the globe; so I persevered, even though it meant sleeping out in the mountains and often without food. I have opend up two of the biggest mines in the state of Sonoro, and just a few weeks ago sold a small block of stock in one of them for $40,000 cash.

I am now superintendent of what I believe to be the biggest proposition in Sonoro, and that means the biggest in Mexico, for Sonoro produced over $39,000,000 in gold, silver and copper last year. The property I have charge of now is one of the oldest mines in the state. Ancient Mexicans took over $100,000 worth of silver from one small hole in a few weeks. I am working a force of miners day and night at the place where the Mexicans were compelled to stop work when the Indians raided the camp and killed fourteen men. At one time 2,000 miners worked here. We are now taking out rich silver ore, which is being concentrated at a neighboring mine. A ton of concentrated ore nets us $110.00, American money.

All work is now being done by hand. Machinery will enable us to do in one day what it now requires a month to accomplish. The company owns the sole mineral rights of a property ten miles wide by twelve miles long—76,800 acres—and there are four distinct veins paralleling each other for a distance of over a mile and a quarter.

I honestly believe these to be the greatest mines in the country, and am confident all who join in the enterprise will soon make big money. I am fifteen miles from the postoffice, and your letter, should you write, might not reach me for a couple of weeks, so if you are interested in knowing all about the big money that surely will be made by all the stockholders in this company, I suggest that you write Wm. E. Jones, 914 Fort Dearborn Building, Chicago, who will send complete details about mining in Mexico and other important information necessary for you to have in order to fully understand the great wealth of this country.

AN IMPORTANT WORK.

One of the most important special commissions ever created in this country is the inland waterways commission, which has been meeting in Washington this week.

This is merely a preliminary gathering, at which information has been received from experts upon the condition of the waterways of the nation and the traffic they now provide for. Perhaps the most valuable information provided came from Chairman Burton of the rivers and harbors committee of congress, who is unquestionably the best informed man on this subject in the country.

The duty of the commission will be to consider and report upon all available and possible watercourses throughout the country, by the use and preservation and improvement of which the cost of traffic may be cheapened and the facilities for commerce may be increased.

Water transportation is so much cheaper than rail transportation that it is little short of astonishing that no special centralized effort to map out a plan of improving waterways has ever before been attempted. The work hitherto has largely been done by the rivers and harbors committee, and it has been sadly hampered by the ancient custom that makes the rivers and harbors appropriation bill a congressional pork barrel, to be used to strengthen the individual standing of congressmen in their districts rather than to really improve the waterways. Much money has been expended by the government in this work, but a sadly large proportion of it has been wasted because it was devoted to political rather than to practical uses.

Every waterway that is made practicable for the transportation of commerce is a great and distinct gain to the consumers of the nation. The money that has been spent upon the Great Lakes, for instance, has been recovered many times over in cheaper freights and in the saving in the cost of production caused by cheaper raw materials.

The purpose of the investigation to be taken up by the commission has been clearly stated by President Roosevelt in a letter written to Chairman Burton, who is a member of the commission, wherein the president said:

> It is becoming clear that our streams should be considered and conserved as great natural resources. Works designed to control our waterways have thus far usually been undertaken for a single purpose, such as the improvement of navigation, the development of power, the irrigation of arid lands, the protection of lowlands from floods, or to supply water for domestic and manufacturing purposes. While the rights of the people to these and similar uses of water must be respected, the time has come for merging local projects and uses of the inland waters in a comprehensive plan designed for the benefit of the entire country. Such a plan should consider and include all the uses to which streams may be put, and should bring together and co-ordinate the points of view of all users of water. The task involved in the full and orderly development and control of the river systems of the United States is a great one, yet it is certainly not too great for us to approach. The results which it seems to promise are even greater.

THE CITIZENS' STAFF.

The organization of a Citizens' Staff to perpetuate the observance of Memorial day at a meeting last night was a very proper and praiseworthy move, and should have the heartiest sympathy and thef ullest support.

In the past the burden of arranging Memorial day celebrations has fallen upon the shoulders of the living veterans of the Civil war, and the expense in toil and money has been almost entirely assumed by them. This was never right, and while no complaints have been heard from the veterans, it would have looked better if the citizens had taken it up long ago.

Now, however, it is becoming absolutely necessary that a start should be made to relieve them, for not only is their ability to bear the burden growing rapidly less, but, saddest thought of all, shortly there will be none of them left to commemorate the day, and unless the citizens take it up, Memorial day will fall into neglect and disuse.

This is the object of the new organization, which is similar to others formed in various cities. The organization will be made permanent, and every patriotic citizen should sign his name to the membership roll and take some part, however small, in honoring the living veterans in their declining years no less than those that have gone before, and whose glorious memory is to be gratefully recognized on May 30.

THE DEMAND FOR BRAINS.

Far more today than at any time in the whole history of the world do brains—good, sound, alert, quick-witted, quick-acting brains—count in the bloodless but none the less fierce conflicts and battles of life, whether it be in the roaring, rushing marts of trade, in the depths of the great factories or on the great steamers, on the flying locomotives or at the keys that direct the trains, in the courts or the hospitals or the pulpits or in the offices or the counting room.

A young man may go out into life with well-nigh every possible handicap; yet, if he possesses brains and learns how to use them, there is no height, especially in the industries and in commercial life, to which he may not hope to climb: provided only that he adds to the brains, energy, industry, quick wit, studiousness and indomitable determination, together with the capacity to make those brains felt in whatsoever way opportunity, that ever comes most unexpectedly, may offer.

The greatest masters of all lines of life today are seeking men of brains; for, far more than most people realize, their continued success depends on the capabilities of those in whom they are forced to trust. In these days of giant corporations, vast railroad systems, huge department stores and colossal factories, no "captain of industry" can do more than pick out the men to place in the positions of responsibility under him. In choosing these lieutenants, he does not look for "influence or pull," for money or family, but purely and simply for brains reinforced with energy and industry. And the "captain" makes the most marked success who has the keenest eye for the best brains.

Many a young man who has been advanced rapidly from position to position until, even before middle-age, he has attained marvellous heights, has made the world wonder how and why he has gained those heights and is able to hold them. Yet to those who know there is nothing wonderful in his progress and rise and his ability to hold each place in turn. He has brains and these have pushed him ever onward and upward by sheer force of merit.

A university education is a good addition to native brains but it is not a necessity except in some of the so-called learned professions. No man, no matter how much book learning he may acquire, will rise to the much-to-be-desired heights unless he has brains of the right sort—active, alert, capable, ever eager, never weary—and knows exactly how to use them.

HATRED OF WEALTH.

James M. Beck is a much saddened and discouraged man. He is losing faith in the American people. He finds them hateful and envious of prosperity and success. Therefore he is much disturbed and deep in gloom.

It throws a flood of light upon Mr. Beck's emotions to learn that he is private counsel for E. H. Harriman, typical of the class of rich and prosperous men at which most of the public resentment is aimed.

But it is not Harriman's wealth or success that the public resents. It is the methods he has adopted, and still uses, to gain his riches and his successes.

Addressing a lot of bankers the other day, Mr. Beck said:

> I believe that never before has class hatred so dominated the public mind as at this hour. In McKinley's time there was an era of good feeling, but I think today a man must be blind who cannot see the feeling, never before so exaggerated, of hatred and envy of prosperity.

There may be a few jaundiced and embittered individuals who hate wealth for its own sake, and because they have it not, but they are very few, and they cannot possibly be called typical of public sentiment in this country.

An "era of good feeling" in which Harriman methods would be condoned and forgiven is the last thing this country wishes to see. It is by no means a discouraging or a gloomy sign that the public deeply resents such methods now, and that the public officials are, more or less energetically, trying to squelch them.

It is, on the contrary, a most gratifying sign, and most encouraging. It shows that the people are not so sodden with adoration of wealth that they are blind to dishonest methods of accumulating it. It shows that it is no longer sufficient, to set a man right with the public, to say that he has wealth, but that the public insists upon knowing how he got it.

Class hatred does not dominate the American public. There is little hatred of wealth or of wealthy men because they are wealthy. The public is becoming used to large fortunes, but it is beginning to insist, though perhaps still too mildly, that they must be honestly acquired.

It used to be that a man could acquire a million by methods that would land him in jail if he used them to acquire a dollar, and still hold his head up in the community in which he lived and pass himself off as "one of our leading citizens."

That isn't quite the case now. Dollar methods of criminal prosecution are not yet applied to million-dollar crimes, but the big criminals are getting their proper share of public disapproval, and that is why gloomy Mr. Beck, counsel for Harriman, thinks class hatred dominates the American public.

MORE HISTORY MADE.

How times do change!

Everybody remembers a certain historic meeting between the governors of the Carolinas, which happened many years ago.

Said the governor of North Carolina to the Governor of South Carolina, on that historic occasion—and his remark has gone ringing down the corridors of time ever since: "It is a long time between drinks."

Well, the governor of North Carolina and the Governor of South Carolina met again the other day, at the opening of the Jamestown exposition. It was a happy occasion, and a most fitting one, if there are fitting ones, for a renewal of the ancient bibulous relations between the chief executives of the Carolinas.

The governor of Connecticut, who was also present, performed the introduction. The two Southern governors grasped hands firmly and heartily, and as one report has it, "the governor of Connecticut retired to higher ground, in expectation of the coming flood."

But— There was not a thing doing.

Finally, to titillate the strangely reluctant instincts of the Carolinian governors, the governor of Connecticut gently hinted that he was waiting to hear the governor of one of the Carolinas make the historic remark to the governor of the other Carolina.

The result beat history to a frazzle, smashed traditions and precedents right and left, and consigned the surrounding group to a state of temporary paralysis.

Said the governor of South Carolina to the governor of North Carolina: "Your excellency, as I am a Prohibition governor, and a teetotaler, I cannot make the once customary remark sincerely."

And then the governor of North Carolina, instead of crushing his contemporary with a look of scorn, replied: "Being a Prohibitionist myself, I, too, must suffer the remark, at least temporarily, to remain a matter of history."

And thus new history is made. Vale to the days when it was a cause of complaint that five minutes was a "long time between drinks." With the modern governors of the Carolinas a lifetime is none too "long a time between drinks," and they are glad of it.

The incident is epoch-making, or would be if the epoch were not already made. As it is, it stands as a monument to a day now happily past, when no reunion and no greeting of friends was complete without an invitation to drink strong liquors.

It is a day that will not be missed, save and except in the splendid contrast it affords between days of sottishness and days of wideawake and clearheaded sobriety.

Nowadays a man can keep his head clear and his mind unbefuddled without having to apologize for it. Indeed, in these days of strong competition that calls into play every faculty at its best, no man can put himself into a condition where he has to worry about the time between drinks and still hold his proper position in the forefront of the fight.

THE EVIL OF A SURPLUS.

Pennsylvania is having another siege with its legislature that shows what Minnesota might expect if the plans of some of those members who wanted to divorce state and local taxation and pile up great surpluses in the state treasury had succeeded.

Pennsylvania many years ago practically separated the state's revenues from those by which the local subdivisions are maintained. There has been no direct state tax on real estate since 1866, and only a small personal property tax for state purposes remains to give the plain citizen a direct interest in the state's finances. Most of the taxes are derived from the corporations of the state, and by a system of special taxes upon various industries for state purposes. The result has been the accumulation of a large surplus in the state treasury.

The building of the new state capitol cut into the surplus pretty deeply, something like $9,000,000 being spent in furnishings without the knowledge of the public. Now the state is investigating the expenditure of this vast sum, and is uncovering a nest of hideous scandals.

But in the legislature the remaining surplus is the object of a large list of bills designed to dispose of it. It is said that if half of them are enacted into laws, the surplus will disappear, and if one of them, a proposal for a state system of Civil war pensions in addition to the federal pensions, should be enacted, the state would have to seek new sources of revenue.

The Philadelphia Bulletin, in discussing the situation, says:

> A surplus is always a breeder of easy-going liberality or extravagance, and there are too many members of the present legislature who are surrendering to the temptation which the present one invites. It is evident that there is need of some pretty resolute action on the part of the members who have a due regard for the financial interests of the state, in shutting down the clamps hard upon some of the unnecessary or wasteful appropriation bills which are now before them.

Not long ago most tax theorists contended that the state revenues should be independent of local taxation, but now very few of them maintain that position. Experience has shown that the plan is distinctly bad because it breeds extravagance and corruption, as it has in Pennsylvania, and because it deprives the localities of the benefit of having the state see that the valuations of the strong local interests are kept up to a proper level for taxing purposes.

Both because it deprives the citizen of his interest in the state's finances, and because it deprives the state of its direct interest in local assessments, it is absolutely wrong and even vicious in its effects.

A BOY'S TERRIBLE PROBLEM.

Only a tragedy of the "seamy side of life," such an one as is considered hardly worth a column in the home papers and not more than a few lines in the dispatches! Yet in it is contained all of the elements of any of the colossal tragedies of history. And the questions that the boy was called upon to solve ran the whole gamut of human emotions.

Something that the wife and mother—poor, hard-working woman—had done, displeased and angered the husband and father on his return from work. Hard words were followed by the only too frequent resort to blows, succeeded by choking. The younger son ran to the mother's rescue and was also seized by the throat by the infuriated father. Both woman and boy were in apparently imminent danger of death for the man was possessed of great strength augmented immeasurably by his demoniac frenzy.

Just at this moment, the older son, a bright youth of 17 years, an honor scholar in the high school and destined for a professional career, ran into the room with his father's revolver in his right hand. The mother and brother were only half conscious and the father was shaking them with fearful rage. The youth loved his father but he loved his mother more and she was in the greatest peril. A moment's hesitation and then the revolver was raised and the trigger pulled. The next second the father fell dead, shot through the head. And on the boy's life was the eternal stain of patricide.

Yet what else could the boy have done? The true son's love for the one who gave him birth and cared for him in his early years, all of the instincts of right manhood, inexorably drove him to the terrible crime. He had no time to parley, no chance to weigh the niceties of the problem. He did what he thought was right and thereby he put on his own brow a brand worse than the "brand of Cain." Yet he saved the lives of his mother and brother and the law will undoubtedly give tacit approval to his act on the plea of justifiable homicide. Still he broke two of the Ten Commandments beyond redemption.

Fortunately for humanity and the home, problems such as those that confronted that boy are not often presented for inexorable solution. But, if any true young American were ever forced to battle with such a crisis, would he hesitate any longer than did this lad or would he ever do anything but what the poor son did?

HOTEL GOSSIP.

"Big exhibitions and fairs of the character of the one now being held at Jamestown are popularly supposed to do the town where they are held good while they are in progress, and then kill them for several years afterwards," said E. A. Barnes of Portland, Or., at the Spalding. "That was not the experience of Portland, however. The city was in better shape a month after the close of the Lewis & Clark exposition than it was when the show was at its height, and it has been growing larger and more prosperous right along ever since.

"The after-effects were beneficial rather than detrimental, and I really believe that the fair resulted in bringing several hundred new residents to the city. It gave thousands of people an opportunity to gain an idea of the advantages of Portland as a place of residence, and also to see for themselves the advantages of a business location there, or in the district tributary to the city. The other North Pacific coast towns also were benefited by the fair, for the visitors to Portland, most of them, made stops at the other towns along the upper coast.

"Business is booming in all the coast towns. Last year was a record-breaker, and this year will be better than last, according to present indications. The demand for labor is better today than it has been at any time within the last five years, and almost for the first time in that length of time there is a scarcity of labor. Wages are high in consequence, and everybody can find work at good pay. The cheap rates which are put in effect every year from the East and Middle West to the Pacific coast have had a tendency to flood the labor market on the coast at times, and some of the men taking advantage of the rates have found themselves worse off than if they had remained farther east.

"This will not hold true this year, however, for there is work enough for all, and if the market should be flooded on the North coast, California will gladly take care of the surplus, no matter how great it may be. The rebuilding of San Francisco is giving employment to thousands and thousands of men, and thousands more could be given work if they were available. This applies to both the skilled and unskilled classes."

"I have never heard so many kicks on the weather in my life as I have this spring," said H. L. Wolfe of Chicago at the St. Louis. "In the past four weeks I have traveled pretty well over all the territory east of the Mississippi, and have covered a part of Eastern Canada, and I don't believe I struck a single town where everybody was not complaining of the backward spring. Everywhere the same tale was poured out, telling about the latest spring in twenty years, etc. I guess warm weather is rather slow hitting Duluth along about this time of the year as a general thing, but if it has been slower this year than usual, you can console yourselves with the thought that others are afflicted in the same way.

"Duluth is one of the best towns I have struck since starting out on my trip. For its size, I think I am safe in saying that it is one of the best towns, if not the best, in a business way, in the entire country. The outsider is always impressed with the great activity here, and with the prospects for a great future for the city. The business people treat one right, and they seem to be prosperous and contented."

THE WEATHER.

This is more like it. This morning much of the chill had gone from the breeze, the sun shone with greater warmth, and only a degree or more of temperature would have been needed to make it a real May day. As it was, it was a delightful change from the absurdly cold wintry weather of the past few weeks, though it clouded up and turned a little cooler later in the day. The weather man expects rising temperature and rain or snow tonight and tomorrow. Last night's lowest temperature was 24 degs. and yesterday's highest was 38 degs.

A year ago today it was cool and fine.

The sun rose at 4:47 this morning, and sets at 7:22 tonight, making 14 hours and 35 minutes of sunshine. Tomorrow there will be three minutes more than that, the sun rising two minutes earlier and setting a minute later.

Says Mr. Richardson of conditions: "The Nebraska high pressure has moved its center to Missouri. It caused colder weather in the Eastern Lake region, Ohio and lower Mississippi valleys and Western Gulf states, with freezing temperatures southward to Missouri. Oklahoma and Northern Texas, and killing frosts south to including Kansas. Barometric depressions off the north Atlantic coast and over Utah and Saskatchewan have caused rain or snow over the Southeastern Lake region, the Missouri, Mississippi and Ohio valleys and rain in the South. The Western low pressures are responsible for slightly higher temperatures over the Eastern slopes.

Superiority.

The blackbird chirps in the sycamore tree
And brags that he's happy and fine and free;
He seems to think he's better'n me—
Huh! He Better'n me!
Why, you ol' fool bird, I'm a human, see?

Why, I'm a man! And goodness knows
You're nothin' as good as one o' those,
You've got no house, you've got no clo'es.
When it snows,
Rains, blows,
You ain't so pert then, I suppose.

Blackbird teeters on a lim',
Can't say nothin' to bother him,
Sings and teeters with a vim,
Then bim!
See him!
Off to the far horizon's rim!

That's the way he answer's me!
Showin' he's happy and fine and free,
Goes wherever he pleases, see?
Say, he Must be
Somewhat better off'n me!

He never works and he pays no rent,
An' he has no money that must be spent,
An' if he sins, he doesn't repent,
Nor keer a cent!
He's a gent!
He's always done as his Maker meant!

SATURDAY NIGHT TALK

Living Up to One's Possibilities.

In one of his stimulating books, Prof. William James of Harvard university devotes considerable space to the subject of "Unutilized Resources." He develops the idea that the average man does not employ all his powers and that he might accomplish more if he would but summon up his reserves. That may seem at first hard doctrine for an age which is probably more strenuous than any that has preceded it. But let us ponder a moment on the importance of living up to one's possibilities. There is a big difference between doing this in a quiet, determined, sympathetic way and doing it noisily and feverishly. Chaucer speaks of a man "who always seemed busier than he was," and we are all familiar with that type of individual, fussy, ostentatious, constantly solicitous to give the impression that he is a hustler.

But our doctrine, if rightly conceived and carried out, would not make any more tense nerves that are already stretched to their utmost capacity. It is designed rather for the multitude of persons who are just falling short of what they might do and be; who go through long years of life without ever putting at work talents and capacities with which God has endowed them. That there could be vast improvement and development no one doubts.

A school of medicine is growing up which emphasizes as no school before it has done, the part which the patient must play if he really wants to get well. So appeal is made to what is sometimes called the "subliminal" self, to a power of will not yet recognized by the patient. The aim is thoroughly to stimulate the personal force. When men are thus aroused they find they can do and bear more than they ever thought themselves capable of doing and bearing. It is not an uncommon experience in an emergency when a sudden draft is made on strength to find that our normal strength is reinforced. Now why cannot the same reserve be made a part of our daily working capital.

If the body can be strengthened by this appeal to unused forces, the mind is even more capable of more intense and fruitful activity. Take the simple matter of listening to others. That involves mental concentration. How many of us are able to keep our minds alert through a sermon or lecture and follow it point by point so as to be able to carry away the substance of what is said? In reading a book, who forces himself to grasp quickly and vigorously the meaning of every page? We might be far more attentive if we tried and that would make our memories more retentive. We might learn to think more consecutively and logically. Ah! It's hard work this bringing forward our intellectual reserves; but it pays every time.

No less responsible are we for the utmost development for our spiritual natures. We are not as good as we ought to be, either as respects God or man. We might have more faith if we sought it diligently. We might work out for ourselves a fairly satisfactory theory of human life; and certainly we might all be a bit kinder than we are. Yes, a good bit more considerate of those with whom we live and work day by day; some of whom love us devotedly; some of whom have shown their love for us by many a sacrifice. To live up to our spiritual capacities, to be as fine and pure and true as we can be, as we ought to be; to look out upon the world of men tenderly, sympathetically—this takes time and struggle; but this also pays.

Daniel Webster at the height of his fame once went back to the little Massachusetts town where he was reared. An old sea captain who had known him in his boyhood, came up to him after his speech, and after shaking his hand and looking into his face, said: "Daniel, you ain't done your best yet!" Would that some influential friend would take us by the hand today and say in all sincerity and in a way that would carry tremendous inspiration, "you haven't done your best yet!"

MAY AVENGE BRUTALITY

American Naval Commander Acts Sternly in Nicaragua Assault.

Louisiana Negro Terribly Beaten by Band of Soldiers.

Mobile, Ala., May 4.—A letter from Puerto Cortez, Nicaragua, dated last Monday, says:

"Day before yesterday a negro, formerly from Boyce Station, La., named 'General' Davis, now fruit inspector for the Thacker Brothers Steamship line, was standing near the railroad station at Laguna talking with three or four other American negroes. A drunken Nicaraguan soldier armed with a machette, approached the party and demanded to know what they were talking about.

"Davis answered that it was none of his business, whereupon the Nicaraguan drew his machette and raised it over Davis, who clasped his arms around the man and finally took away the weapon, threw it upon the ground and went into a nearby house.

"A companion of the soldier ran to a police station, and a squad of police and Nicaraguan soldiers dragged Davis from the house. As no attempt had been made to arrest the Nicaraguan soldier, Davis asked the squad why they did not arrest the Nicaraguan. In reply, the party beat him brutally over the head and body until Davis was unconscious. The soldiers and police carried his body to the Cuartel, the blood flowing from the nose, mouth and ears.

"Believing that Davis was dying, they carried the body back to where they had knocked him down and left him. The negro companions of Davis asked the soldiers to permit them to carry him out of the sun until medical assistance arrived, but they were cursed and told to let him lay there.

"Physicians were called and within ten minutes the bluejackets of the Marietta under Ensign Rorsarch were on the spot. Commander Fullam's orders were sharp and decisive: 'Arrest the chief of police and the policemen engaged in the assault, put them in irons and send them aboard ship, arrest the Nicaraguan soldiers and men engaged in the assault and hold them for orders.'

"It was thought possible that an attempt would be made to release the soldiers and police captured by the bluejackets, so men were landed from the Paducah to occupy Laguna, and additional men were landed from the Marietta. The Paducah moved to a position fronting the Nicaraguan cuartels, while the Marletta covered the cuartels in the port.

"Commander Fullam, finding that the civil authorities were incapable of maintaining regulations or order; that the government of Tegucigalpa was a mere provisional agreement of certain leaders, that so far gave no evidence of stability, decided to ignore the authorities and recognize the only organized and disciplined force here, under Gen. Estrada. The Nicaraguan officers and men were, therefore, delivered by order of Gen. Estrada, who was advised that they would be held responsible. Notice also was served on the Honduran and Nicaraguan authorities that reparation would be demanded.

"Commander Fullam says that if Davis dies, the perpetrators will be tried for murder, presumably by court-martial, and the guilty ones hung at the yard arm in front of the port."

City of Mexico, May 4.—El Diario says: "We have been officially advised that Guatemala will refuse Mexico's request for the extradition of Gen. Jose Lima, charged with complicity in the assassination of Gen. Manuel L. Barrillas while the latter was under the protection of the Mexican government. Upon receipt of this advice, Mexico will recall her representative, and the United States will do likewise."

HUNGARY TO CELEBRATE EMPEROR'S ANNIVERSARY.

Berlin, May 4. —It is understood here that it is the intention of the Hungarian government to invite a sort of world's parliament to journalists from Great Britain, America and all continental countries to participate in the festivities at Budapest in September, in celebration of the fortieth anniversary of the coronation of Emperor Francis Joseph as king of Hungary. The festivities, which will take place all over the country, will consist, not only of banquets and illuminations, but of historical, military and ethnographical processions in the various towns, showing the social, literary and economic development of the people.

KING EDWARD CALLED MASTER OF DIPLOMACY.

Paris, May 4.—The French press regards King Edward's continental tour, which ended today with his departure from this city for London, as being fraught with large political significance. The following is a sample opinion:

"The king has demonstrated that he is a master of diplomacy. He has succeeded in applying to Germany, from the political point of view, the continental blockade which Napoleon I failed to apply to England commercially. Were King Edward twenty years younger, the result might be dangerous for the peace of the world, but a man of sixty-six will hesitate to risk the grand coup."

Just fifty years ago the administration of James Buchanan undertook to put Stephen A. Douglas out of the political business. The little giant was a candidate for re-election to the senate, and by general consent Abraham Lincoln was selected as his Republican opponent. Horace Greeley, however, who was possessed of extravagant admiration for the wonderful forensic genius of Douglas, advised the party in Illinois to give its vote to him as a rebuke to the Southern Democracy, that had prevailed on Buchanan to favor the Le Compton constitution; but the Illinois Republicans distrusted and feared the little giant, and the result was the splendid light he made against both Lincoln and Buchanan in 1858, from which he came off victor.

A dozen years later Charles Sumner and President Grant had a row over Mr. Sumner's attempt to run our foreign affairs independent of the president and the secretaory of state, and there is no sort of doubt that we would have had a war with Great Britain over the Alabama claims if Grant had not served notice on Sumner that Hamilton Fish had charge of our foreign affairs. The result was the recall of John Lothrop Mottley, our minister of England, who persisted in taking orders from Sumner instead of from the state department. Later the Republican majority in the senate deposed Sumner from the chairmanship of foreign relations, and gave the place to Simon Cameron. Sumner then joined the Liberal Republican party and made a speech, rebuking Gen. Grant for nepotism that was wonderful for the vast wealth of historical illustration with which it abounded. Sumner supported Greeley, whom he survived but a few months.

Another famous quarrel was that between Garfield and Conkling, which was cut short by a maniac's bullet just as the senator was getting ready to fight.

* * *

And now there is a quarrel between president and senator that promises to eclipse all the other in public interest and political consequences. Ohio is the battleground and Theodore Roosevelt and Joseph B. Foraker the champions. The president asserts the right to appoint his successor, for that is what it means in plain English; the senator maintains the privilege to be a statesman in the senate, or a politician in Ohio, without let or hinderance from the president, or anybody or everybody else. Secretary Taft is the man the president has chosen to wear his mantle after March 4, 1908. Unfortunately, Mr. Taft is not all the presidential timber in Ohio. There are thousands of Republicans in Ohio who believe Joseph B. Foraker has done more for the party than Taft ever accomplished, and these gentlemen are in no humor to have their favorite horned off from the national convention in 1908 or pitchforked out of the United States senate in 1909.

Foraker is one of the most dashing and attractive public men Ohio has produced. He is fanatically honest and intrepidly courageous. His conscience never felt the touch of interest, and his tongue never felt the presence of bridle. What his heart forges, that his mouth speaks, and his is an eye that never feared to look on the face of man. He never flanks an obstacle. There is nothing negative about him. Had there been there is little doubt that he would have been president ere this, and this I make bold to say, that he would have been elected president nineteen years ago if he had consented to contest for the nomination.

* * *

Foraker was born in Ohio because he is of a Virginia family that preferred to dwell in the then wilderness rather than to cast its lot in a community where African slavery existed. That is why Foraker was not born in Virginia. Perhaps that is why he wore the blue and not the gray. He is a Methodist and was named for John Wesley's friend and follower, Joseph Benson. A year before his birth there came the great schism in the Methodist church that presaged the political session in 1861. The family settled in Highland county and there the future soldier and statesman was born July 5, 1846. At the age of 16 he was a volunteer soldier in the great war and continued in the service to the end when he was mustered out, having advanced to the rank of captain by sheer merit and without patronage. Only nineteen years of age and a veteran, his was a career and a record that tens of thousands of Ohio youth envied. He now set about acquiring an education and was graduated from Cornell university in 1869.

There was but one of the learned professions that invited him—the law—and during the autumn following the completion of his college course, he was admitted to the bar and opened an office in Cincinnati, a city famous for the splendid abilities of its bar. With youth, health, strength, character, brilliant parts and no ordinary talents, he was studious and diligent in his profession and in a little while he was not lacking for clients. He was no moot court lawyer, as he had been no carpet-knight soldier. He had no odious vices. Pleasures he had, but they were rational, the pleasures of a gentleman and a Christian. Ten years later he was on the bench, a judge of the supreme court.

* * *

But Foraker was a politician. He was made for public life—made "to move assembly." Not so polished an orator as Hurd, he surpassed him on the stump; not so accomplished a man as Garfield, he was more a favorite with the masses. It was character that stood him in good stead. His reputation penetrated the remotest precincts and everywhere he was known as one who never held to the scabbard when once he had drawn a sword.

As meets a rock a thousand waves, so
Misfall met Lochlin.

It was the days of reconstruction, a time of political frenzy that has its counterpart in the present economic frenzy, when nothing is patriotic that is not extravagant, nothing respectable that is not unconstitutional, nothing excellent that is not novel—where the leaders of both political parties are bidding in the auction for the approval of the mob and offering to pay cash on the spot in the mintage of economic fallacy and the curency of political heresay.

* * *

Foraker was a bloody-shirter of the most ensanguined here. He was outraged when Andy Johnson went acquitted. He was for reconstruction and re-reconstruction and re-re-reconstruction. He wanted treason made odious and traitors punished. He believed in Ben Wade, Thad Stevens, Oliver P. Morton and John A. Logan. The Liberal Republican movement of 1872 he abominated as next thing to treason; the Democratic victory of 1873, when "Old Bill" Allen was elected governor, he held to be a chastisement from heaven. His heart sank within him when the returns of the election of 1874 revealed a Democratic majority of about three score in the Forty-fourth congress. He believed that all was lost, and honor, too, when Samuel J. Tilden was elected president in 1876. That tribunal of 8 to 7 made way with honor and honesty part of the game in the shuffle they gave and the deal they made the following February.

By 1883 Foraker was the most brilliant man and attractive politician in Ohio and the Republicans nominated him for governor. His Democratic competitor was George Hoadley of the Cincinnati bar, an original Democrat, who had become a Republican because of his hostility to slavery and was now returned to the party of his youth and early manhood. Hoadley had never been so able; Foraker never so eloquent. Ohio was in a blaze, off year that it was. As I now recollect, the temperance question was a big side issue. However it was, Hoadley was elected—the third Democrat chosen governor of Ohio since the war, and the knightliest man Ohio has yet produced went down.

But it was the fall of Antaeus, and he sprang up more formidable than ever, and two years later, he succeeded Hoadley as governor, who was then taken out of Democratic national calculation for president, as "Old Bill" Allen had been ten years earlier when he was defeated for re-election by R. B. Hayes. The defeat of Allen made Tilden the nominee, and the defeat of Hoadley made Cleveland the nominee in 1884. Foraker was re-elected. While he was governor, Mr. Cleveland purposed returning certain flags captured in battle to the Southern states. Foraker challenged him on that proposition, and for some weeks there was a political brain-cyclone in Grand Army circles. The result was that Mr. Cleveland receded. Foraker was actuated by sentiment, pure sentiment, and as evidence that malice had no part in it, he was the first man of the North to spring to the aid of Charleston when that town was visited by the disastrous earthquake of 1896.

Foraker was 43 years old when he was nominated for governor for the fourth time, in 1889. James E. Campbell was his Democratic competitor. It was an off year, and the Harrison administration was far from popular. Campbell, next to Foraker, was the best stumper in the state, and when the returns came in the Rupert of Ohio was again unhorsed, and most people thought, and many people hoped, he was done for. Like Blaine, whom he so much resembles in temperament, and especially in audacity, Foraker has considerable capacity for making bitter enemies as well as great capacity for making devoted friends.

* * *

But Foraker was not done for. The next we hear of him he was more daring than ever, and entered the lists against John Sherman in a contest for United States senator. He was defeated; but every man in Ohio knew that he would have been elected if the legislature had been independent enough to select its first choice. It was the closest shave John Sherman had had in Ohio since he got the senatorship from a legislature that wanted to give it to Robert C. Shenck. At the succeeding election for senator, Foraker was chosen to succeed Calvin S. Brice.

Meantime a new prophet had arisen in that Israel—Mark Hanna—a Warwick, a president-maker. Trained to business, he brought to his new vocation a superior intellect, a forceful individuality, and a capacity for organization rarely equaled. He entered upon the work with enthusiasm, and before the adversary got ready for action, he had secured enough pledges to make William McKinley the Republican nominee for president in 1896. It was his wish to make it a tariff fight—the McKinley tariff against the Wilson tariff; but by this time the colnage question came on to be heard, and would not be denied. It was not until the battle was half over that Hanna realized the true point of attack, and the candidate did not see it until within a fortnight of the election. Foraker saw it from the beginning. With characteristic daring he proclaimed the gold standard, thought he was then, and is still, a more inveterate of age and a veteran, his was a career and unreasonable protectionist than McKinley ever was. The first time I ever saw Foraker he was forced to sand, and compelled to make a speech in the Republican national convention of 1888, and his exodium was this monstrosity: "We Republicans believe in a tariff for protection, and if revenue should follow incidentally, we have no very serious objection." There is no more aggressive standpatter than he, and if the friends of Secretary Taft are disposed to promote interest in the fight, let some one of them authorized to speak say something about "revision" anywhere in the Hocking Valley, or in one of the manufacturing towns of the Western reserve.

* * *

Foraker took the seat in the senate the day McKinley became president. He did not have to "spell up." He was in the front rank from the beginning, along with Hoar, Spooner, Hale, Lodge, O. H. Platt, Allison, Cushman K. Davis and the others. There was the greatest curiosity to see him. Now that Sherman was retired, he was recognized everywhere as the first statesman of Ohio, and save Thurman alone, the greatest lawyer Ohio has sent to the senate since George E. Pugh. The senate saw in him the strong man he is and gave him desirable committee assignments. Always an industrious man, he plunged into the drudgery of the position, and, after all, that is what gives a man standing in the senate.

I shall not undertake a review of Foraker's senatorial boom. Without a superior in that body as an orator, or debater, he has participated in every discussion of general interest and always acquitted himself with credit. He discussed the Cuban question, the Spanish war, the Philippine question, the tariff, statehood, and numerous other issues. But for him the senate would have been as craven as the house, and at the order of the president it would have joined Arizona and New Mexico as one monstrosity and admitted it as a state. If for no other purpose, Mr. Foraker should be kept in official station to prevent this outrage.

* * *

I pity the American who can read the following extract from a speech made by Joseph B. Foraker in the last Ohio state convention of the Republican party, without a thrill of pride in human nature:

J. B. FORAKER.

"I have always thought it was a great honor to be a United States senator from Ohio. Why? Not because of the salary, not because of the position, but because I have always understood that when my constituency elected me it was because they had the impression, at least, that I possessed the qualifications of a senator; that I had some ability and that I had good character, that I would stand hitched, did not need to have somebody overlooking me, and that when a great question arose I would be expected, speaking for this mighty and intelligent constituency, to bring to bear in the discussion of it, all those qualifications. I never understood that somebody was to tell me how to vote, either at that end of the line or at this end of the line, especially not about great profound constitutional questions that lawyers differ about. I thought I was to work that out; that I was to speak for you. I have pursued that policy. If that is not right; if, on the contrary, a man is to be rebuked because he exercise the qualifications with which he is possessed, then you take all the honor away from the office, and, so far as I am concerned, you can take the office with it. No office has any value in my opinion unless it carries with it the right to the man holding it to go according to his own judgement and discharge according to his sense of duty, free and untrammeled, the official obligations to support and maintain the constitution of the United States, which he takes when he enters upon his office."

* * *

There is no politics in that. Manhood, noble manhood breathes in every word. No man is fit to be senator who does not feel the sentiment of it in every pulsation of his heart. Patrick Henry felt it when he exclaimed: "Give me liberty, or give me death." Sam Adams felt it when, with folded arms and firm jaw and protruding neither lip, he cried: "George of Brunswick, I defy you." Hercules, chained to a distaff, was a less contemptible thing than is an American representative in either house of congress who puts in pawn his conscience in the broker's office of power, and ransoms it with his vote in the body to which he was chosen to legislate for 80,000,000 freemen.

We know one thing, and that is that Foraker never hypothecated his conscience for official favor; never sold his vote for public applause. The thing ought to be catching in this town.

* * *

When the president ordered the discharge of the soldiers of the Twenty-fifth infantry on account of that episode at Brownsville, Senator Foraker challenged him on the spot and secured an investigation of that affair that is not yet concluded. It was characteristic of the man, whether there be politics in it or not, and we may be sure his conduct would have been the same had any other man than Theodore Roosevelt been president. Whether this episode shall affect the situation in Ohio, time alone will tell. There are more than 60,000 negro voters in that state, and it is obvious that the administration is trying to placate them. The spoils of office caused the first colored United States senator to forget the debt of gratitude his race owed Charles Sumner, and now the opportunity is come to the colored people of Ohio to wipe out that stain by supporting the man who stood by their brethern in a controversy with the most powerful individual on earth. The pie counter is loaded, but it is understood that to eat federal pie and cut Foraker an Ohio negro will be required to leave home and travel beyond the geographical confines of the state.

* * *

Foraker was the only Republican senator who voted against the rate bill. His speech on that subject was one of the ablest constitutional arguments ever delivered in the United States senate. It commanded the respect of all intelligent men. It showed that the man had convictions, that he had the courage to maintain them, and the learning to support them. How much easier it would have been to fall in with the majority! How much more applause he would have reaped! He is recalcitrant who does not throw his cap in the air and raise his voice in unison with the whim of the mob.

John Sherman, the greatest practical statesman Ohio ever produced, declared that the anti-trust statute that bears his name was all our dual system of government would bear. That has been supplemented by the Elkins anti-rebate law. Foraker says these two are sufficient if they shall only be executed rigidly and without fear or favor. The rate bill has been the law of the land for months. Where is the octupus it has caught? Where is the trust it has busted? All that has been done was done under the Sherman and Elkins acts.

* * *

Foraker, rebuked by the administration, has appealed the case to the people of Ohio, and in Ohio will be the political storm center the next six months.

The issue is, shall a senator be deprived of his political life if he shall oppose a measure in congress dictated by a president of his own party?

COLLECTION IS TAKEN UP

Grand Jurors Pay Prisoner's Fare Back to His Home.

Eric Kurke Had Excellent Reasons for Shooting Hukka.

Unprecedented action by the grand jury was taken yesterday afternoon when that body of men not only determined that there was no true bill returnable against Eric Kurke, the Floodwood farmer charged with shooting and attempting to kill Charles J. Hukka, but took up a collection and contributed $9 to defray Kurke's expenses back to his home and family.

That the grand jury would not return an indictment in Kurke's case was quite generally expected by the people who had heard what are purported to be the facts regarding the shooting. Kurke has had the sympathy of the people of Floodwood without exception, so far as known, and a number of prominent citizens of that place appeared before the grand jury yesterday in his behalf.

Although not compelled to do so, Kurke desired to go before the grand jury and tell his story, which he did in a straightforward and convincing manner that impressed the grand jurors in his favor.

It was a story that showed how ungrateful some persons can be toward those who have shown them every kindness. Kurke told the grand jury how he had always welcomed Hukka into his home and treated him as well as though he were one of the family, but that the latter had attempted to poison the minds of the Kurke children against their father and had even shown the 9-year-old son how to use a knife to stab his father. Hukka was also claimed to have taught the children evil practices, telling them that it was all right.

Kurke claimed that as soon as he found that the despicable manner in which Hukka was repaying his kindness, he ordered Hukka from the house and the premises and warned him never to return.

It was claimed that Hukka went away, and that two weeks afterward Kurke saw him on the opposite side of the Floodwood river, near his homestead. Hukka begged Kurke to come across in a boat and take him over. Kurke claims that just as he reached the opposite shore Hukka attacked him with a club and persisted in the attack although Kurke drew his revolver and warned him off.

Kurke admitted that he finally fired, to protect himself, the bullet striking Hukka in the abdomen.

Hukka was taken to Floodwood and brought to a hospital in this city, coming down on the same train that brought Kurke to jail.

Kurke was much affected when told that there would be no prosecution, and when he received the money from the jurors. He was taken back to jail last evening and released after supper.

Kurke took the first train back to Floodwood this morning, where his wife and several small children have been for weeks anxiously awaiting the fate of the husband and father. The youngest Kurke child was but seven days old when the shooting affray happened and Kurke was arrested.

Two indictments were returned by the grand jury yesterday afternoon, one against Joe Conkovich, charging him with resisting an officer at Hibbing April 16, and the other against Henry Hill, who is accused of grand larceny in the second degree. It is claimed that Hill stole $65 from Sak Wenna in Duluth March 29.

After the criminal matters has been disposed of the grand jury inspected the jail and adjourned until Monday morning when it will prepare its report and recommendations.

MUSIC AND THE DRAMA

TONIGHT'S ATTRACTIONS.

LYCEUM—The Juvenile Bostonians in "The Rajah of Pazala."
METROPOLITAN—Burlesque.
BIJOU—Vaudeville.

JUVENILE BOSTONIANS.

The Juvenile Bostonians sang the pretty little opera "Dorothy" last evening. This afternoon they sang "Olivette," and tonight they will bring their engagement to a close with "The Rajah of Pazala." This latter opera is said to be the best in their repertoire, and the children are deserving of a full house for their farewell appearance in Duluth.

THE DUNBAR QUARTET.

The Cleveland Press had the following to say regarding the Dunbar quartet, which will be heard Monday evening at the First Methodist church in the Star Lecture course:

"The Dunbars furnish an excellent male quartet, bell ringing—the best I have heard in many years, and a fine 'cellist in Ralph Dunbar. One of the best combinations the "Pop Concert" management has given."

GREEN ROOM GOSSIP

COMING ATTRACTIONS.
May 13—"The Free Lance."
May 29 and 30—"A Yankee Tourist."
June 29—Mrs. Leslie Carter.
Spring date—Lillian Russell.

Sousa's Free Lance company, which made such a hit in Duluth earlier in the season, will return here for one evening, on May 13. "The Free Lance" has electrified the coast cities as it did Duluth, and has made a tremendous hit here. The same company will be seen here as it appeared on the former occasion.

* * *

Raymond Hitchcock in "A Yankee Tourist" will be here May 29 and 30. Raymond Hitchcock is always sure of a hearty welcome wherever he goes and he is always as funny or funnier than any other present day comedian, but in "A Yankee Tourist" he is given a greater opportunity to display his droll style of humor and the result is that a more pleasing play could not be imagined. Richard Harding Davis, the noted author and war correspondent, wrote the book especially for Mr. Hitchcock; Wallace Irwin has written the lyrics, while the music comes from the facile pen of Alfred G. Robyn.

ORDER FOR HEARING ON PETITION FOR ADMINISTRATION—

State of Minnesota, County of St. Louis, ss—

In the Probate Court.

In the Matter of the Estate of Nick Kasanic, Decedent.

The Petition of Peter Kasanic having been filed in this court, representing, among other things, that Nick Kasanic, then being a resident of the County of St. Louis, State of Minnesota, died intestate, in the County of St. Louis, State of Minnesota, on the 17th day of April, 1907, leaving estate in the County of St. Louis, State of Minnesota, and that said petitioner is the half brother of said decedent, and praying that letters of administration of the estate of said decedent be granted to Matt Prettner of Eveleth, Minn.

IT IS ORDERED, That said petition be heard before this court, at the Probate Court Rooms in the Court House, in Duluth in said County on Monday the 13th day of May, 1907, at ten o'clock A. M., and all persons interested in said hearing and in said matter are hereby cited and required at said time and place to show cause, if any there be, why said petition should not be granted.

ORDERED FURTHER, That this order be served by publication in the Duluth Evening Herald according to law, and that a copy of this order be served on the County Treasurer of St. Louis County not less than ten days prior to said day of hearing.

Dated at Duluth, Minn., April 19th, 1907.

By the Court,

J. B. MIDDLECOFF,
Judge of Probate.

NOTED WOMEN BARELY MISSED

Mrs. Roosevelt, Mrs. Bacon and Others Nearly Hit By Pole.

Washington, May 4.—Mrs. Roosevelt and a number of ladies who were accompanying her aboard the yacht Sylph narrowly escaped a serious accident as the boat reached Washington yesterday, on its return from a trip down the Potomac river. Through some misunderstanding, it went past the dock and crashed into a tug boat. The shock was so severe that the flag pole of the Sylph fell to the deck with a crash, narrowly missing Mrs. Roosevelt and those with her, among whom were Mrs. Clifford Richardson of New York and Mrs. Bacon, wife of the assistant secretary of state. Happily none was hurt.

FOLK WILL LOOK INTO KANSAS CITY'S POLICE.

Kansas City, May 4.—Governor Joseph W. Folk who, before he became chief executive of the state, prosecuted the boodlers in St. Louis, intends to come here to personally investigate charges of police corruption. He announced this decision last night. The commissioners have decided to begin an investigation Monday, and it is intimated that there will be a sweeping reorganization of the force.

TWELVE PASSENGERS HURT BY DERAILING OF TRAIN.

Raton, N. M., May 4.—Westbound Santa Fe passenger No. 1 was wrecked Wednesday night twenty miles south of here by the breaking of an axle under the engine tender. Twelve passengers were injured, ten seriously, but not fatally. The train carried many Shriners en route to Los Angeles. Two hundred and eight passengers on the train were thrown into a panic.

WEST DULUTH HOLD BIG MEETING

West Duluth Commercial Club to Investigate Labor Strike.

Committee Reports Read —New Members Still Coming.

It was decided at the meeting of the West Duluth Commercial club last evening that a committee should be appointed to make an investigation into the labor troubles between the Duluth contractors and the building trades. The committee named consists of H. H. Phelps, O. F. Olson and W. B. Getchell. They will report at the next meeting, but what the club intends to do at that time is not known. A communication was read from the contractors, presenting their side of the question and the committee will endeavor to get the views of the unionists.

The committee appointed to look up suitable shade trees to be planted in this section of the city, reported that West Duluth can have shade trees for $2 and $2.50 a tree by obtaining them from the park board. Trees may be ordered for several streets, if sufficient interest is manifested by the business men of this end of the city.

It was reported by the banquet committee that all the bills for the affair had been paid and that it was a financial success, as well as a great success socially.

The committee which was appointed several months ago to see if a fire alarm box could be obtained for the corner near the American Carbolite plant, reported that the fire box had been placed at the place specified.

The meeting last evening was one of the best which the club has ever held and ten new members were added, including R. E. Denfeld, superintendent of schools of Duluth, and other well known Duluth people. After the business of the meeting was concluded the members were served refreshments.

FLACK'S FIRST CASE.

Justice of Peace Will Try West Duluth Law Violaters.

Judge J. B. Flack, the West Duluth justice of the peace, will try his first case this evening since the new law, which was passed by the legislature for his benefit and which increases his powers was signed by the governor.

The case is of a minor criminal character, brought against L. P. Scheff of Sixty-first avenue, who is accused of letting his cow run wild through the street, thus violating the city ordinance. The complaint was made by John Hall, 422 Sixty-first avenue south, who declares that several of his trees have been ruined by the cow.

The case has been set for this evening at 7:30, and will be called at the police station. Judge Flack has not yet made arrangements for a place to try civil cases, but expects to find suitable quarters very soon.

TO GIVE FIRST CONCERT.

Choir of Swedish Baptist Church Will Raise Fund for Organ.

The first concert of the series, which are being planned by the choir of the Third Swedish Baptist church for the benefit of the organ fund, will be given Wednesday evening, May 8, at the church, corner Fifty-ninth avenue west and Ramsey street.

Aside from the many good vocal soloists that the choir has secured for this occasion, they have been very fortunate in securing the assistance of Michael N. Saudell, cornetist of the University of Minnesota band, who comes highly recommended.

Following is the program.

ALUMNI IS PLANNING.

Preparations for Annual Banquet Discussed at Meeting.

A meeting of the Irving School Alumni association was held last evening at the school, and arrangements were completed for the annual banquet, which will be held at Wade's hall on Friday evening, May 31. The Calendar Circle of the Westminster Presbyterian church has been given the contract to serve the supper.

The arrangement committee has prepared a fine program of instrumental and vocal music, and several toasts will be given. Dancing will afterwards be indulged in for a couple of hours.

Arrangements are also being made for the minstrel show, which is to be held about the middle of May. The second evening of the minstrels the program will be in charge of the Alumni association. The entertainment is to be given for the benefit of the St. James' Catholic church.

MANY NEW MEMBERS.

Degree of Honor Initiates Big Class at Meeting.

A big meeting of the West Duluth lodge of the Degree of Honor was held last evening at Wade's hall, and a class of fifteen candidates was initiated. There was a good attendance at the meeting, and it was one of the most interesting ever held by the lodge.

During the last two weeks over fifty candidates have sent in their applications for membership. Eighteen were read at the meeting two weeks ago, and thirty-seven read at the meeting last evening. About 150 members and guests were present last evening.

After the business and initiations had been completed, the members enjoyed a social session. An informal musical program was given and refreshments served. Among the guests who attended the meeting were Lady Chief of Honor Mrs. Wiley and Mr. and Mrs. Farrington, all of Progress lodge, West end.

ARE BUILDING HOMES.

Many West Duluth People to Have Their Own Residences.

The real estate situation in West Duluth remains about the same this week. A number of smalles sales have been made through the various agencies, but no big deals have been announced duri ngthe week.

In the building line many West Duluth people are putting up residences and store buildings. William Millsop is building a fine new home on Fifty-fourth avenue, and David Gibbons is also putting up a model residence on the sam estreet. The latter is also building a new barn. Jacob Granholm is building a residence on Grand avenue, and a large number of other private parties are putting up residences in West Duluth.

A sale was made today through the office of L. A. Barnes, John M. Home having transferred to Henry Butler 25 feet lots 1, 2, 3, block 58, West Duluth, Second division, for $1,200.

Through the office of J. J. Frey, the following purchases were made: 214 Fifty-fifth avenue north to John Calbraith; 416 Fifty-eighth avenue north to Eli Moore; 509-511 Fifty-ninth avenue north to C. E. Moore; 21-22 Fifty-second avenue north to M. Kamerer; 15 Sixtieth avenue south to E. Johnson; 113 Fifty-seventh avenue south to J. Lyons; 217 Fifty-fifth avenue south to N. Wilson; 408 Fifty-ninth avenue north to J. Calbraith; 5030-5032 Ramsey street to A. Hincke.

Pleasant Surprise.

The degree team of Old Hickory camp, No. 1555, M. W. A., gave a pleasant surprise party last evening, for one of the veteran members of the team, J. C. Connelly, at his home. Only the members of the team and a few invited guests were present. Mr. Connelley has been an active member of the degree team for about seven years. Cards and music formed the entertainment for the evening, and refreshments were served.

MURDERER DEFIES THE LAW

Georgia Detective, Sentenced to Death, Threatens to Use Horsewhip.

Augusta, Ga., May 4.—"I'll be d——d if they will hang me. When I get out of this trouble, I will horsewhip those fellows in there."

These are some of the statements made today by Arthur Glover, after being sentenced for the second time to be hanged on May 24, for the murder of Maud Dean, his paramour.

Glover, who was a detective, shot the woman dead without a moment's warning. Not long before that he had shot a negro, but got clear.

MYSTERY IN THE DEATH OF WEALTHY CHICAGOAN.

Chicago, May 4.—George P. Porter, a wealthy real estate man, died early today under circumstances which are being investigated by the police. He was found dying in an obscure section of the city. It is believed that death resulted from natural causes, but a careful inquiry is being made.

BEAR THIS IN MIND

Every year you continue to pay rent, you give away one-tenth of a Home, which might otherwise be your own. A small cash payment will secure for you one of our New Homes, and for the balance, you can make Monthly Payments just as easy as paying rent.

LISTEN!

Have you figured out the blessings of a home that's all your own?
Of a cozy little cottage that belongs to you alone?
Don't you feel a trifle weary as the rent days go and come,
That your little ones—your loved ones, have no really, truly home?
It is not a task heroic, you can purchase on small pay,
You can own a cottage cozy, if you know the proper way.
In the first place, don't be timid, just a modest sum will do,
If the Lakeside Land Company plans the home for yours and you.

Have you received our Booklet on Homes.

RECORD-BREAKING MONTH IN DULUTH REAL ESTATE

Register of Deeds and Comptroller Both Say That April Broke All Records—Market is Firm With Investors Eager and Owners Holding Back for Higher Prices.

During April the real estate movement in this city and county was the largest that has been experienced in many years.

This statement is supported by the county register of deeds and the city comptroller, one of whom receives the deeds for record and the other issues certificates before transfers are made, showing there are no assessments against the property conveyed. M. C. Palmer, county register of deeds and registrar of titles, stated yesterday afternoon that while he has not yet completed his report for April, he has gone into it far enought to note that his office did the largest business last month that it has done during any month since he held office.

City Comptroller W. S. McCormick said yesterday that in April 360 certificates relative to the payment of all assessments were issued by his office on transfers to city property. That was the largest number of certificates ever issued by the comptroller in one month, the total fees being $90. To show what his office may be expected to do this month, City Comptroller McCormick stated that thirty-nine applications for certificates came in yesterday. It is of interest to note that during the last month a large proportion of the certificates asked for, covered West Duluth and New Duluth property. Until this year there has been practically no movement of New Duluth realty for a long time.

"If this keeps up," said the comptroller, "the whole city will be transferred."

* * *

The past week has been marked by a firm market, with a steady sale of local realty, the volume of business aggregating a pretty good figure. Confidence of the owners and of investors in the future prospects of Duluth is expressed by the inclination of the former to hold on to their property and by the persistence of the latter in seeking to buy real estate. Moneyed interests that have hitherto been engaged in the mortgage loan investments are now turning their attention to real estate. The demand is lively both for unimproved and improved property, rather stronger, perhaps, for the latter class. There are a surprisingly large number of people who have not yet located rental properties for this coming year and the available supply is very small, some of the agents, in fact, not having a thing to offer. Several good sized sales of centrally located property for business houses and as many more of residence properties have been closed this week and there are many others pending that are likely to be closed by the end of the coming week.

A report, this week, that Joseph Sellwood had purchased the Merchants hotel property at the southwest corner of Superior street and Second avenue west was too premature. The property is owned by Mr. Thomas of Wilkesbarre, Pa., who bought it seven years ago for about $42,000. The report that some negotiations have been going forward for the sale of the property for $100,000, or on the basis of $2,000 per front foot for Superior street property, has opened the eyes of a great many to the possibilities of future values along that thoroughfare. If the sale is eventually closed at the figures mentioned it will be the record price thus far paid for Superior street property.

The transfer of the 100 foot property facing Second street at the southeast corner of First avenue west and Second street to Lawrence Case for $20,847.35 was recorded this week. The purchase was made several days ago, mention being made at the time by The Herald.

* * *

The deed was recorded this week transfering title from L. J. Hopkins to J. K. Killorin of the East end block bounded by Twenty-seventh and Twenty-eighth avenue east and Branch and Dingwall streets. The property is described as block 28, Harrison's division, and the consideration was $20,000.

* * *

William G. Hegardt of the American Exchange bank has purchased from S. D. Thomas for $8,000 a residence property on the lower side of Second street between Second and Third avenues west. The property is described as the east half of lot 36, West Second street.

* * *

H. A. Lundvig has sold John Colbroth for $5,500, a Central avenue business property in West Duluth, between Bristol and Gosnold streets. The property is known at lot 10, block 19, West Duluth, First division.

* * *

W. C. Sherwood has purchased from J. W. Reynolds, a residence property on the lower side of Mesaba avenue, between Third and Fourth avenues west, for $4,000. It is described as the west half of lot 55, block 50, Third division.

* * *

A. C. Hubbell has sold his residence property on the upper side of First street, between Eleventh and Twelfth avenues east, to W. C. Agnew for $9,000. It is understood that the property was purchased for a parsonage for the First Presbyterian church society. The property is described at lots 4 and 5, block 37, Portland.

* * *

L. N. Case, manager of the city water and light department, has sold his Lakeside home, on Lombard street, between Forty-second and Forty-third avenues east, to Mr. Stickles of the Phillips-Bell Shoe company, for $4,600, the sale being made through the office of John B. Greenfield. The latter reports also, the sale of H. J. Reinertson's residence on Oneida street, Lester Park, to E. A. Sawyer, for $3,150. Mr. Greenfield has sold several Lakeside lots this week, and a lot in Lester Park near Fifty-fourth avenue east.

* * *

W. C. Sargent & Co. report the sale of the residence property of Mrs. Augusta Letteau, at the southeast corner of Seventh avenue east and First street, to John Kreitter, superintendent of the Duluth, Missabe & Northern Railway company, for $11,400. The sale comprises the residence mentioned and two houses all on the 75-foot frontage of the property. Mr. Kreitter will take possession immediately. Mrs. Letteau is going abroad. The same realty company has sold to the Gogebic Steam Boiler Works, for Lillian Quirk, the undivided half of the easterly 88 feet of lot 296, Lake avenue. The premises are occupies by the boiler works now. The consideration was $2,562.50. The property has a frontage of 40 feet on Lake avenue. Other sales by W. C. Sargent & Co., this week, comprise some lots on Second avenue east, near the hilltop and some acreage over the hill.

* * *

Stryker, Manley & Buck report the sale of a three-story frame store building on Central avenue, West Duluth, from Harriet L. Lowe to Percy R. Thomas, for $5,250. The property comprises lots 5 and 6, block 27, West Duluth, First division. The company has sold for J. H. Evans, three lots and a double house in Central division of West Duluth, for $1,400. The purchaser, Josephine Wick, was represented by L. A. Barnes. The firm sold B. J. Toben, a 70x75-foot property on Eleventh avenue east, below Fourth street, for $1,500, also a house and lot on the upper side of Fifth street, between Eleventh and Twelfth avenues east, from James E. Drewett to Samuel Kaner, for $2,000.

* * *

William Prindle & Co. report the sale of a 50-foot property on Michigan street, between Lake avenue and First avenue east, for $11,000, the details of the transaction being withheld from publicity for a time. The property is unoccupied. Other sales by the same firm comprise two lots on the lower side of Second street, between Twenty-sixth and Twenty-seventh avenues east, for about $1,200; three lots in the same locality, to parties represented by R. H. Doran, for $1,200; a lot on Fortieth avenue west to parties represented by Thomas Olson, for $800; a lot at First street and Twenty-second avenue west, to parties represented by J. A. Klippen, for $1,500. W. M. Prindle & Co. also represented the purchasers for some local property this week. Among these were the following: Frank Suech, the grocery and restaurant man, has purchased the Snyder homestead at the southwest corner of Fifth avenue west and Fourth street, for $5,250. The property comprises a modern eight-room residence and a large tract of land. The purchase is considered a good one. A. W. Abercrombie of Kalamazoo, Mich., who has formerly been interested exclusively in Duluth mortgage loans, has purchased a property on the east side of Second avenue east, above First alley, for about $12,000. The property has a frontage of 86 feet on the avenue and is 75 feet deep. It was owned by parties represented by Stryker, Manley & Buck. W. M. Prindle & Co. also represented the purchaser of a residence property at Fifteenth avenue east and Fourth street, for $4,750, the seller being represented by N. J. Upham & Co.

* * *

Bray & Nystrom, the architects, report the contract for the Whitney Wall residence on Second street, between Sixteenth and Seventeenth avenues east, awarded to Linden & Danielson. The house will cost in the neighborhood of $15,000. The architects are preparing plans for a six-room schoolhouse to be erected at Eveleth out of brick and native stone. They have completed plans for a department store building to be erected at Keewatin, for William Keitz of Hibbing. The building will have three large store rooms.

* * *

Architect Anthony Puck is preparing plans for a modern two-story brick residence, containing eleven rooms, for James Walsh, at Second street and Twenty-third avenue east. He is also preparing plans for an eight-room brick house for E. W. A. Peake, who will build in the same neighborhood.

* * *

F. L. Young & Co., the architects, report plans for the following improvements: A two story brick business block, 32x70 feet, for P. Swanson of Aurora; a cottage on Park Point for Miss Kate Kingman; a cement block residence at Fostoria, Ohio., for M. S. Hawkins of Mountain Iron; a double brick house on East Fourth street for John Holihan; a brick block of nine flats at Seventh avenue east and Third street, for Mrs. Katherine Kohagen; four houses for the Massachusetts Real Estate company at Ninth avenue east and Fourth streets; a three story brick hotel building, 33x122 feet at Bovey, for the Fitger Brewing company; a two story brick store and greenhouse at Third avenue east and Superior street, for W. W. Seekins, the florist. The building will comprise five stories and the greenhouse. It is intended to make the flower store one of the finest in the country. The floors will have white tiling and the counters will be of marble, with mahogany cut flower cases. The store room will have dimensions 80x100 feet, and will connect with a greenhouse 60x80 feet. The architects have plans also for a $10,000 residence at Biwabik for F. S. Colvin; a residence for Simon Clark at Hardy street and Woodland avenue, Hunter's Park, costing about $7,500; a frame residence for Gust Anderson of Eveleth. They have plans for remodeling Henry Nolte's residence at Hunter's Park, for remodeling the home of Daniel Culovich at 608 West Second street and the remodeling of a store building at Fifteenth avenue east and London Road, for Dr. Bowden.

* * *

L. A. Larsen company report the following sales closed during the past two weeks in the eastern end of the city: One lot in block 62, London addition, to a local party who will erect a home thereon; a double corner on East Third street to a party from St. Paul, for $4,000; lot 2, block 68, Oneota division, sold to an outside party for M. A. Fedje, for $550; lot 1, block 25, Hazelwood Park addition, to a local party for $1,065; lot 7, block 10, Hazelwood Park division, house and lot, sold to J. H. Blaisdall for $1,550; lot 8, block 3, fractional lots, Chandler Park addition, sold for Richard Forester for $350; the southerly half of lots 1, 2, 3, block 10, Harrington addition, to M. A. Fedje, for $2,450.

Mr. Larsen says of the situation: "In Hazelwood park there has been a great demand for lots not only for cash but on easy payments." Following are some of the sales: In block 13, Hazelwood Park addition, lots 4, 5 and 16, sold to Frank Johnson and Peter Eastman; in block 14, lots 1 and 2 sold to A. J. Cloutier and E. Pykonen; lot 2, block 10, Hazelwood Park, to Charles Cordell; in block 12, lots 5, 6, 10, 11, and 12, sold to A. E. Berg and George Campbell; lots 22, 23 and 24, block 7, Murray & Howe's addition, were sold to E. A. Norstrad and Omund Nelson; lots 15 and 16, block 4, Murray & Howe's addition, sold to L. Strom, who will erect four homes thereon.

Julius D. Howard of the real estate firm of J. D. Howard & Co. has returned fro ma six weeks trip in the East. Mr. Howard says that the announcement of the steel corporation of its intention to establish a large plant here, also the other large enterprises which are expected to follow, has turned the attention of the Eastern people toward Duluth to a surprising extent and that everywhere he went he heard Duluth talked about as a coming city of great importance. Mr. Howard has returned more convinced than ever of the bright future of his home city.

T. W. Wahl & Co., one of Duluth's well known realty firms, has removed its offices from the second floor of the American Exchange bank building to commodious quarters on the second floor of the Lonsdale building.

CALUMET RIVER CASE TO COURT

Secretary Taft Consents to Test of Water Rights of Chicago.

Washington, May 4.—A Chicago delegation, headed by Governor Deneen which came here to invite the government to institute proceeding enjoining the sanitary district of Chicago from continuing the project of reversing the waters of the Calumet river, which is a part of the drainage canal scheme, was successful in its undertaking. Secretary Taft, representing the government in the matter of protecting the waters of the Great Lakes, promised to bring the desired law suit.

The purpose of the conference here today was to bring about a settlement of the legal status of the project. Notice has been given by the war department that objections would be raised against reversing the waters of the Calumet river, which is a navigable stream and the sanitary district of Chicago then asked for a permit to proceed with the work. The permit was refused and the district prepared to continue without the permit.

In order to determine the rights of the city before spending too much money, it was agreed that the matter should be taken into the courts and the necessary petition will be prepared at once and filed in the United States circuit court at Chicago.

About $15,000,000 will be expended on the project should Chicago win in the legal proceedings. Already $500,000 of this amount has been used.

BOND ROBBERY BROKER RELEASED UNDER BONDS.

New York, May 4.—Oliver M. Dennett, the broker who was arrested in connection with the Trust Company of America bond robbery, was released on $10,000 ball today. W. O. Douglas, the assistant loan clerk of the Trust Company of America, who is charged with having taken the bonds from the bank, is still a prisoner. His ball also was fixed at $10,000.

LOTTERY FOR RESEARCH IN OLD ITALIAN CITY.

Rome, May 4.—A bill has been presented in the chamber of deputies providing for a $200,000 lottery with the proceeds of which it is proposed to carry out excavations at the site of the Roman ampitheater at Benevento, the town founded, according to tradition, by Diomede, and possessing Trjan's triumphial arch, which is the finest and best preserved of all the Roman structures. The ampitheater at Benevento is lying almost intact under a number of old houses occupied by poor people.

STREET CARS.
NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC.

This company operates a street railway line in the city of Duluth between Third avenue east and the end of Rice's Point, and another street railway line in the city of Superior between Twenty-first street and the end of Connor's Point. These lines are separated by the waters of St. Louis Bay, and are operated as two distinct and separate lines.

The public is hereby notified that this company does not, by undertaking to carry any passenger, or by accepting fare for such carriage, assume any responsibility beyond that of carrying such passenger safely between points on the above mentioned lines.

This company is not responsible for close connections, nor safe transportation, between the above mentioned lines by any ferryboat or other means of transportation. While the employes of this company have been instructed to keep themselves posted and give upon request all the information they can as to the probability of connections being made with other transportation lines, the company has no better means of foreseeing unexpected interruptions in the service of such lines nor of telling how long such interruptions will continue, than the public has, and therefore cannot be responsible for notice of such interruptions.

THE WHEAT IS EASIER

Closing Prices in the American Markets Are Lower.

Flax Advances in Duluth, With Fairly Active Trading.

Duluth Board of Trade, May 4.—Wheat had an easier tone in the American markets at the close today. Predictions of liberal world's shipments and a less firm demand were weakening influences. Duluth showed the slightest decline. Liverpool closed unchanged to ½d lower, Paris ¾c to ¼c lower, Budapest ⅜c lower and Berlin ⅜c lower. The declines in Budapest and Berlin were due to more favorable weather conditions in Germany.

Broomhall estimates the world's shipments of wheat for this week at 11,200,000 bus., of which Europe is expected to take about 10,400,000 bus.

The May option closed unchanged in Duluth and St. Louis, ¼c lower in Chicago, Minneapolis and Winnipeg, ⅝c lower in New York and ⅜-½c lower in Kansas City. The July option closed a shade lower in Duluth, ⅛-¼c lower in Chicago and Kansas City, a shade higher in Minneapolis, ½c lower in New York, ¼c lower in St. Louis and ⅝c off in Winnipeg.

May corn closed ¼-⅜c lower in Chicago and was ½d higher in Liverpool. May oats closed ¼c lower in Chicago.

Car receipts at Duluth were 196 against 45 last year, and at Minneapolis 366 against 149 last year, making a total for the Northwest of 562 against 194 last year. Chicago received 225 against 20 last year.

Primary receipts of wheat were 529,000 bus, last year 368,000 bus. Shipments 480,000 bus, last year 257,000 bus. Clearances of wheat and flour were 230,563 bus.

Primary receipts of corn were 571,000 bus, last year 455,000 bus. Shipments 416,000 bus, last year 325,000 bus. Clearances of corn were 368,189 bus.

Wheat was rather quiet in the Duluth market. May wheat opened ¼c lower at 87c, advanced to 87¼c by 9:45 and closed at that price, unchanged from yesterday. July wheat opened ¼c lower at 88c, declined to 87⅝c, rallied to 88⅛c, went off to 88c, reacted to 88¼c and closed at 88⅛-¼c, a shade lower than yesterday. September wheat opened unchanged at 88⅜c, declined to 87⅝c, rallied to 88c, declined to 87⅝-⅞c and closed at 88c, a loss of ⅛c from yesterday.

Durum wheat closed ⅛c lower and cash spring wheat was selling on a basis of ⅛c over May for No. 1 northern.

Flax trading was fairly active during the day and the closing prices were higher. May flax opened ⅛c lower at $1.21⅛, advanced to $1.22, declined to $1.21⅜, rallied to $1.21⅝ and closed at $1.22, a gain of ⅝c over yesterday. July flax opened unchanged at $1.23⅛, advanced to $1.24¼, declined to $1.23⅝, rallied by the close to $1.24, a gain of ½c over yesterday. October flax opened unchanged at $1.24, advanced to $1.24¾, declined to $1.23¾, rallied to $1.24¼, went off to $1.23⅝ and rallied by the close to $1.24⅝, a gain of ⅝c over yesterday.

Coarse grains were unchanged.

THE WHEAT MARKET.

Wheat Opens Weak on Snow in Southwest and Northwest Warmth.

Chicago, May 4.—The wheat market today opened weak and with an active trade. The weather was the chief influence upon prices. Killing frosts were reported from the Southwest, but these were offset by the fact that a heavy snowfall had afforded protection for the crop. The weather was warmer in the Northwest which will permit of a resumption of seeding operations and rain was predicted tonight for Kansas and Nebraska. July wheat opened ½c lower to 1c higher at 81c to 81¼c and sold at 88⅝c. Minneapolis, Duluth and Chicago reported receipts of 527 cars against 509 cars last week and 198 cars one year ago.

The market was very tame for the remainder of the day, prices showing little change. The close was steady with July ¼@¼c lower at 83⅝@84c.

The corn market was quiet and prices were easy in sympathy with wheat. The demand was very light. July corn opened ⅛c to ¼c lower at 45⅝c to 49¾c and sold at 49½c. Local receipts were 254 cars with 27 of contract grade.

Prices held steady during the remainder of the session. The close was steady with July down ¼c at 49⅝c.

The oats market was quiet and easy, the chief weakening influence being the prospect of improved weather conditions. July oats opened ⅛c higher at 43¾c and sold down to 42¾c. Local receipts were 249 cars.

The provisions market was almost lifeless. Prices were steady. July pork opened 2½c lower at $15.90. Lard was unchanged at $8.82½. Ribs were unchanged at $8.77½.

Close: Wheat, May, 84¾c; July 88⅞ @ 88c. Corn, May, 49¾c; July, 49⅝c; Oats, May, 44⅜c; July, 42¾c. Pork, May, $15.67½; July, $15.95. Lard, May, $8.72½; July, $8.87½. Minneapolis Flour.

Minneapolis, May 4.—The flour market is firm. Millers are holding prices firm, with buyers looking for reduction on the easier tone in the wheat market. Cash wheat premiums are strong, however, and this gives little leeway for concessions. The inquiry continues good and quick shipment is wanted on all acceptances. Shipments, 65,579 barrels. Ohio's Wheat Crop Damaged.

Columbus, Ohio, May 4.—As a result of the late freezing weather, the wheat crop of Ohio has been considerably damaged, according to the monthly bulletin of the state board of agriculture issued yesterday. The condition of wheat May 1, as compared with an average, was 74 per cent, or 13 points below the report of April 1.

Grain Gossip.

Logan & Bryan, Chicago to Paine, Webber & Co.: Wheat—Considering the change forecasted in the weather wheat held remarkably well today, losing less than ¼c under considerable selling by leading professionals. About the only encouragement there was for the bears was easier continental markets. Points in Kansas and Nebraska are reporting from one-fourth to one-half inch ice formed over night. Omaha claims to have reports of sap frozen in the wheat at many points in Nebraska. South Dakota has more snow, North Dakota reports leave no doubt of reduced acreage. Ross Smythe of Liverpool cables that Eastern Europe is a month late on all spring crops. An Antwerp cable confirms serious winter killing in Germany, Hungary and Roumania. Should winter wheat sections get some warm rains over Sunday the effect will be bearish, but on any break wheat should certainly be bought as yields the world over are certain to be reduced and this will count for higher prices.

Corn—The forecast is for milder weather. Considerable long corn came on the market today. This market is very likely to recover from the present heaviness as soon as there is a revival of good buying in the other pits.

Oats—The best buying of the day was by a Northwest house, which took perhaps a half million bus of July. Some of the scattered selling was due to the easier feeling in wheat. Wisconsin points report seed rotting in the ground. Holden of Iowa Agricultural school, declares that the oats plant is injured in that state. The freeze of last night certainly is against the oats.

* * *

Broomhall on wheat: "Quiet at opening with values showing a decline of ⅛d owing to some realizing, induced by the easier American cables at the close, and the more favorable weather conditions in both American and Germany. Toward the close, however, a steady undertone developed prices showing a disposition to advance with shorts covering over the week end."

* * *

A special by telegraph to the Modern Miller, St. Louis, says: "Wheat in the Pacific Northwestern markets cornered by the large millers. Large advance in price. Export demand enormous, sales being made for several months ahead at sharp advance in prices. Oriental buyers bidding $3.60 for export flour."

Copper Gossip.

Boston to Vern R. Culbertson: The market opened fractionally lower in sympathy with a weaker New York market. There was no pressure to sell and what profit taking sales there were, were well taken and on the decline our market became dull. Activity was confined to Greene-Cananea, North Butte and Victoria, the latter has been well taken for some time around 8 and now crowd back of it seem inclined to put it up. Our market is holding the advance well and the activity will continue to be on the up side.

DECLINES IN STOCKS

Little Feature to Market, Which Closed Easy and Dull.

Prices Receded on Appearance of Weak Bank Statement.

New York, May 4.—Prices yielded in the opening dealings in stocks, and recessions were sharp in the speculative favorites, although the volume of transactions was very small. St. Paul fell 1⅜, Baltimore & Ohio 1⅛, Union Pacific, Southern Pacific, Northern Pacific, Great Northern Ore certificates and American Smelting a point each, and Reading, Amalgamated Copper and Anaconda ¾ each.

Not much additional progress downwards was made after the opening and when Reading began to show strength the entire list rallied. Reading made a full recovery, but the remaining stocks only reacted about half of their losses. Chicago Terminal preferred advanced 2.

The market closed easy and dull. Reading's rise to a fraction over last night pulled the rest of the list up to near yesterday's closing level, but prices receded again on the appearance of the weak bank statement. Northwestern, Missouri Pacific, Republic Steel, National Lead and United States Rubber preferred fell 1 each; United States Rubber second preferred and Canadian Pacific 2¼ each; New York Central 1¾; and Northern Pacific 2½.

FIRE CAR ON PARK POINT

Fire Board Authorizes Purchase of "Dinky" from Traction Co.

Sprinkling Valves on Hydrants Cause Trouble for Firemen.

Fire protection on Park Point is now assured. At the meeting of the board of fire commissioners held yesterday afternoon in the mayor's office, the Interstate Traction company offered to sell to the city one of its single trucked double motored cors, for $650 and the board authorized its purchase.

The car will be equipped with ladders, fire hose, axes and other appurtenances which go to make up a complete outfit, and will provide a quick, sure way of reaching the scene of fires on the Point. Owing to the fact that the water pressure is high on the Point and there are no buildings which would require a powerful stream of water no engine equipment will be installed and the hydrants will be depneded upon to furnish enough pressure.

The car company volunteers to furnish motormen and operators for the car in case of need, provided it is relieved from all responsibility for unforseen delays, such as an accident which would shut off the power, etc., and to operate the car over its lines free of charge. Firemen will also be free of charge when engaged in their business.

This announcement, coming at this season of the year when so many Duluthians are just moving into their homes on the Point, will be decidedly gratifying. Fire protection, heretofore, has been confined to the rather unreliable efforts of a volunteer bucket-brigade and almost all fires which have gained any headway in the cottages, have been disastrous.

* * *

At the meeting of the board yesterday afternoon a complaint was registered from the fire department regarding the city's hydrants. It seems that, with the attachment of the sprinkling valves to the hydrants, the water board places a serious cause for delay in the way of the fire fighters.

When the sprinkling valves are attached, the big valves in the hydrants are turned on, and the water is held in check and the pressure minimized by the smaller sprinkling valves. In order to attach a hose to the hydrant the main valve has to be first shut off, the sprinkling shutter removed, the fire hose attached and the hydrant opened again. This causes a delay of four or five minutes.

Serious inconvenience was caused by this state of affairs during the recent Lake avenue fire where the "Michigan" hydrants are especially troublesome to handle.

In response to this complaint the board directed Secretary McCullum to confer with Manager Case of the water and light department in regard to the placing of stand pipes for the use of the sprinklink wagons, and to report at the next meeting. On hearing of the complaint of the fire department the water and light department at once ordered all sprinkling valves off Lake avenue hydrants, which are said to be especially troublesome and they are being removed. This renders it very inconvenient for the sprinklers, however, and, if extended over the city, would result in a practical tie up of the work.

OLD OHIO EDITOR DEAD.

officers and directors of the association will attempt to secure the cooperation of every similar organization in the country, all of which will use their combined influence with President Roosevelt and with congress in an endeavor to attain their purpose.

It is the opinion of the members of the association that the present commissian is not large enough, either in number or scope. Speakers declared that there was a need for men who are practical, both in business adility and traffic arrangement. A resolution, which was adopted, dwells on the inability of the commission to act to the best interests of the shippers and the roads, because of the lack of practical knowledge among the men who at present comprise the commission.

Not only does the traffic bureau claim that the commission is "too small to effectually and expeditiously administer the law," but it also alleges that the interpretation of the law by the commission "has, by its rulings, worked undue hardships upon the shippers by supporting established methods, which in themselves were not unlawful."

The general counsel employed by the association will draft an amendment to section 6 of the interstate commerce law. By this the lowest rate, or combination of rates, published and filed, in accordance with the law, shall be the legal rate.

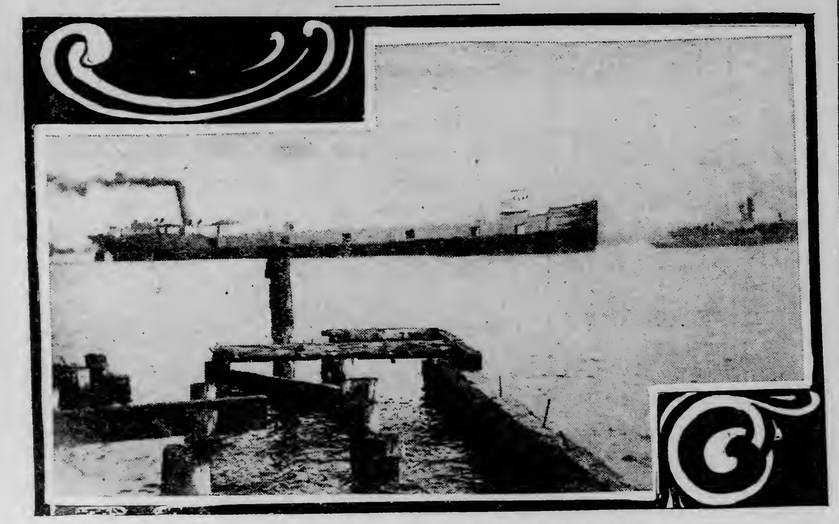
MARINE NEWS

PACKAGE FREIGHTERS WILL HAVE AN ACTIVE SEASON ON LAKES THIS YEAR.



STEAMER BUFFALO, WESTERN TRANSIT COMPANY.

Package freight carriers are expected to be busier than ever on the Great Lakes this year and the active commercial season for these package freight lines has already commenced. Every year as the western country further develops there is a great increase in the business of the package freight lines.

This spring the first boats to arrive in the Duluth harbor carrying the cargoes of package freight from the lower lakes were the steamers Duluth and Superior of the Western Transit company. They came up from Buffalo the first of this week and had been among the fleet which had been blockaded for several weeks at the Sault.

The steamer Buffalo shown in the picture is of the same line and is a sister boat to the Duluth and Superior. They are all owned by the New York Central company, but are managed by the Western Transit company. The Buffalo has a gross tonnage of 3,591, is 381 feet long, 50 feet wide and 28 feet deep.

She arrived in the harbor one or two days after the Duluth and Superior and has already unloaded her cargo and taken on a load for the return trip.

WILL SOON BE CLEARED

Blockade in Harbor Will be Broken in Few Days.

Coal Docks Are Rapidly Unloading the Big Freighters.

Within four or five days, or by the middle of next week it is expected that the blockade in the local harbor will be at an end. Marine men are of the opinion that nearly all of the boats which have been waiting for a chance to unload since the first of the present week will have had a chance to get to the docks by next Thursday.

Already the great fleet has greatly diminished in numbers and not more than a dozen or fifteen boats are now at anchor. The boats which are still waiting are mostly filled with coal and the coal docks are unloading the vessels as fast as possible, so that the remainder of the cargoes will probably be deposited at the docks within a few days.

The ore boats are now going out regularly every day and there is little delay in this traffic. The Missabe and the Allouez docks are working steadily and have already accommodated a large number of vessels. None of the boats in the harbor are waiting for a chance at the ore docks, and all vessels coming up light are loaded immediately.

The few boats which are coming up light for grain are loaded at the elevators very quickly and the active season of navigation now seems to be well under way. The package freighters are already doing a rushing business and the big passenger steamer Tionesta arrived in the harbor for the first time last night.

The delay this spring, first at the Sault and later here in the Duluth harbor, has been a bad one for all of the companies and marine men in general will be glad when the waiting period is over. The cost of maintaining the boats has been heavy for the companies, and they must do a volume of business to make up for it.

WANTS TRUST DISSOLVED.

Suit Begun at Cleveland Against Dredge & Dock Company.

Cleveland, Ohio, May 4.—Louis P. Smith of the L. P. & J. A. Smith company, Great Lakes dredgers, filed suit in common pleas court here yesterday, asking for the dissolution of a dredging trust, which he says exists.

He declared that the Great Lakes Dredge & Dock company, which took over the L. P. & J. A. Smith company of this city, and the Lorain Dredge company, are in an agreement which is contrary to the Valentine anti-trust law. John Sherwin, Eben H. Bourse, Charles A. Post, Caleb F. Swan and Thomas P. Wilson, James A. Smith and George D. Crowley are named as defendants.

L. P. Smith says that the first five were given three and a quarter shares preferred and one share of common stock, so they could qualify as directors when the Cleveland Dredge & Dock company was organized last year. They represented banks and creditors, Smith declares. He charges that these defendants turned over to the Great Lakes Dredge & Dock company the assets of the Cleveland company for 3,500 shares of the former's stock. The Cleveland company's assets, he says, amounted to $1,990,182. Smith asks for the return of his property and the dissolution of the "trust."

TIONESTA ARRIVES.

Big Passenger Steamer Brings Package Freight But No Passengers.

The big passenger steamship Tionesta of the Anchor line arrived in the Duluth harbor for the first time this season this morning. She came up from Detroit with a load of package freight. No passengers were carried and no regular passengers will be taken on the return trip as the boat is not yet sailing on the regular schedule.

The Anchor line will commence running its passenger boats according to schedule on May 23, when the steamer Japan will leave for Buffalo. The large steamer Juniata will leave the next day, May 24, for the same port. The steamers Tionesta and the Juniata of the Anchor line are both favorites with the Duluth people.

This afternoon the Anchor line package freighter Susquehanna left for Erie with a full load of flour.

BIG STEAMER RUNS ON A BAR

James H. Reed, Loaded With Iron Ore, Loses Bearings in Storm.

Chicago, May 4.—The big steamer James H. Reed, loaded with iron ore, ran aground on a bar last night at Crosse point, fifteen miles north of this city. Tugs were unable to reach the boat during the night because of the high seas and the blinding snow, but four tugs were sent out today. It is believed that it may be necessary to throw overboard a part of the cargo in order to float the vessel.

The vessel lost her bearings in the heavy snow storm that prevailed last night over the southern part of Lake Michigan.

About 500 tons of iron ore will go into the lake by tomorrow morning before the Reed is released. A gang of shovelers was sent to the stranded steamer this afternoon and the work of shoveling the ore overboard began. Thus far the Reed has not been damaged, it is believed, as there are no boulders where she went ashore. The wind from the northeast has died down and no sea to speak of is running.

SHOULD OBTAIN COPIES.

Masters Should Have Rules and Regulations for Duluth Harbor.

The rules and regulations recently adopted by the war department for the use of the canals and channels in the harbor at Duluth and Superior have now been published in pamphlet form and are being distributed by the United States engineers for the Duluth district.

Maj. Graham D. Fitch, chief engineer, says that it would be well for all captains and vessel masters to obtain a copy of the rules as it may save them some trouble, as ignorance of the law is not taken as an excuse for its violation, and unless the masters have a copy of the rules they cannot be thoroughly acquainted with them.

These rules and regulations are being posted in conspicuous places about the harbor at Duluth and copies can be had from the superintendents of the two canals, American and Canadian, at Sault Ste. Marie and also from the United States engineer's offices at Houghton and at Duluth.

To Launch New Tug.

The new Whitney Bros. tug Moose, which has been under construction for the last few weeks, will be launched early next week. She will be one of the largest and most powerful at the Head of the Lakes. Her total length is 59 feet and width 14 feet and she is equipped with triple expansion engines of the most modern type. Her total cost will be about $21,000.

TUG KNOCKS BRIDGE OFF PIVOT, BLOCKING PASSAGE.

Port Colborne, May 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—The S. C. Schneck, one of the Great Lakes Towing company's tugs, bound from Sault Ste. Marie to Kingston, ran into the Michigan Central railroad bridge at Welland today, shoving the bridge off its pivot. Both railway traffic and navigation are completely blocked. A large force of men are now engaged in getting the bridge back and repairs will probably be completed tomorrow.

Veteran Navigator Dead.

A veteran navigator of the Great Lakes, Capt. George H. Cottrell, died at his home in Marine City the other day at the age of 90 years. He began sailing in 1847 and retired from active service about three years ago.

Ore Shipments Delayed.

Cleveland, May 4.—Owing to the late opening of navigation into Lake Superior, ore shipments during the month of April show a decrease of more than 800,000 tons compared with the same period last year. The movement last month was a little over 600,000 tons against 1,447,386 tons shipped in April, 1906.

Grain Boats Are Scarce.

Cleveland, May 4.—Lake Superior grain shippers are still bidding for tonnage but they are not doing much business as boats are scarce. A steel steamer was placed for oats, Fort William to Buffalo at 1⅝ cents and indications are that shippers will have to bid the wheat rate up. There is little change in the ore trade and the movement is increasing slowly. Coal cargoes are plentiful with spot boats scarce.

STRIKE DELAYS SHIPMENTS

Workmen at Fort William Elevators Have Demanded a Raise.

Fort William, May 4.—A strike of workmen in the elevators of both the Canadian Pacific and Canadian Northern railroads has shut off grain shipments by lake at this point and a big fleet of grain boats will be tied up. It is expected, however, that the trouble will soon be settled. The men ask for 25 cents per hour, while the companies offer but 22 cents. The ice fields are still solid in the bay, but boats are experiencing little trouble in making their way into and out of port.

ACTION WILL BE DROPPED

Property Owners on Twenty-Fourth Avenue to Withdraw Protest.

The property owners along Twenty-fourth avenue east, who entered protests against the assessment which was to be levied upon them, as planned by the board of public works, held a meeting yesterday afternoon and decided to drop the action. The city attorney insisted that each case be tried separately, and when it became evident that an appeal would probably be necessary, and that the nature of the cases were such that it would cost nearly $300 to appeal, it was decided to be a better policy to drop the action.

This means that the assessment, as drawn up by the board of public works, will stand, and the cost of the rock cut will be assessed evenly throughout the six blocks of the improvement.

• • •

At the meeting of the board of public works, Monday, the hearing will be held for the purpose of allowing the property owners along the line of the Jefferson street improvement to choose the kind of pavement which will be put on the street. It is understood that there is a unanimous sentiment for tar macadam, as this was the variety of paving which was figured on at first, and there is a difference of over $11,000 between Contractor McDonnell's bid on the macadam and his bid on asphalt, which was next lowest.

• • •

Bids for the construction of the Ramsey street dock will be advertised for Monday, and the bids will be opened on May 17. The estimated cost of dock and approach will be in the neighborhood of $3,200, according to the engineer's estimate.

FURNITURE COMPANY FAILS.

Answer Filed in Proceedings Against Harry Mistachkin.

In the United States circuit court today, Harry Mistachkin filed an answer to the involuntary bankruptcy proceedings begun against him and Ima S. Mistachkin, as co-partners under the firm name of the Gold Star Furniture company. He admits bankruptcy and filed schedules. His liabilities consist of $1,451 in unsecured claims, mostly in small amounts. The assets are $600 of stock in trade, a horse and wagon, valued at $100, and household furniture, valued at $75. The horse and wagon and household furniture are claimed exempt.

Armory, next Thursday night.

The Cotton Market.

New York, May 4.—The cotton market opened steady at a decline of one point on near months to an advance of three points, the decline being due to rather disappointing sables and less bullish week-end figures than expected, while the market was favorably affected by covering of yesterday's sellers on the cold weather i nthe Western belt, and the prospect for unsettled conditions over the week-end. After the opening, trading was fairly active and prices worked up to a net gain of ten to twelve points but reacted a couple of points during the middle of the morning under realizing.

Futures closed steady; closing bids: May, 10.39; June, 10.22; July, 10.25; August, 10.14; September, 10.15; October, 10.36; November, 10.38; December, 10.42; January, 10.58; February, 10.51; March, 10.69. Spot, closed steady; middling uplands, 11.50; middling gulf, 11.75. Sales none.

GREAT FIRE AT BREMEN.

Warehouse, Custom House and Other Buildings Being Destroyed.

Bremen, May 4.—A violent storm prevails here and fire has broken out in the Freen Zone warehouse, containing 10,000 bales of cotton, half of which has already been burned.

The high wind is spreading the flames. The custom house and fire department within the Free Zone are on fire, while the building occupied by the firm of Anton Guenther has been destroyed.

HERE is a legitimate opportunity to make a real profit of 50 % inside of one week. Such a chance to realize enormous returns on your money could seldom be possible except through the medium of a mining investment. But the history of the mining industry—honest mining conducted as a business—proves that many vast fortunes have been made by poor men and women who have had the intelligence, faith and courage to put their surplus earnings into proved copper mines managed honestly in the interests of the stockholders. The conditions surrounding this property guarantee the investor not only big profits, but also absolute safety. We have the property—50 claims aggregating 995 acres—in the famous Goldfield - Tonopah - Yerrington district surrounded by some of the biggest dividend paying mines in the world. Title is clear. We have immense volumes of ore assaying from 6 to 31 per cent copper, with gold and silver values running $1.20 to $55.00. There is not one single element of uncertainty as to the outcome. Investors at the present price of shares should realize within one year from today between 500 and 1000 per cent on their money, because there is no reasonable question that the stock will reach par—$5.00—within that period.

The fact that Governor Sparks has been active in seeking to expose "wildcat" mining schemes, and has used every possible official and personal endeavor to eliminate this undesirable element from the mining industry of his state, should be a sufficient guarantee that his endorsement of and official connection with the Nevada-Goldfield M. M. & S. Co. means that the properties owned by it have absolutely proved and tested merit. Do not, therefore, make the common mistake of classing all mining investments as mere "gambles." There is such a thing as honest mining managed conservatively as a business, and it is your real interest to make a distiction between the good and bad.

The entire nation is waking up to the wonderful opportunity offered by this Company to make a safe and enormously profitabie investment in a high class mining property.

"Collier's"

The Great National Weekly, in its issue of May 4th, says:

"Hon. John Sparks, Governor of Nevada, is President of a mining company so gifted in copper and gold that it gives five dollar shares for fifty cents. 'This is a certainty, not a mere speculation or gamble.'"

WHAT THE GOVERNOR SAYS:

"I would never have accepted the Presidency of this Company unless I believed in it thoroughly. I consider this $5.00 stock—selling for a limited time at 50c—the greatest opportunity offered investors in many years to make a fortune in legitimate mining. It is my honest opinion that those who are fortunate enough to buy shares now at the bottom price will reap rich profits within the next few months."

This is entitled to the respect and endorsement of every thinking man or woman who has a little money to invest in a safe and profitable enterprise. It is the statement of an honest man, Chief Executive of one of our greatest States. Can you find, anywhere, at the head of a mining company a man whose word carries more weight or whose official standing gives you a better guarantee of protection.

AT LAKE COPPER MINES

Keweenaw Company Has Excellent Prospects in Its Medora Property---The Copper Range is Steadily Increasing Its Production.

Houghton, Mich., May 4.—An excellent copper showing is being made by the Keweenaw Copper company in its No. 1 shaft on the Medora property and the prospects are good for the development of a large and very successful mine.

Capt. Hoatson, managing director of the Keweenaw and general manager of its operations, is very enthusiastic over the showing in the deepest openings.

The Medora lode averages about ten feet wide near the surface, but it widened to fifteen feet at the 225-foot level and will probably average fourteen to sixteen feet in width in the bottom workings.

It furnishes an excellent stamp rock, the main portion of the lode being a soft, dark amygdaloid, with some calcite, quartz and phrenite, fine copper being freel disseminated through it. Some mass copper is found in this portion of the lode.

The formation is especially well charged with copper for about two or three feet from the footwall, where it has a darker color, and contains considerably heavy copper or barrel work.

At a point in the shaft 240 feet from the surface, the lode was thrown about eight feet into the hanging by a crossing. This brought the richer portion, or foot wall side, into the hanging of the shaft. At greater depth, however, the lode dropped back to its normal position.

At the Empire property, about two miles east of the Medora, work was started a short time ago on a compartment shaft upon the Montreal lode. Trenching at that point showed the lode fifteen feet wide on the surface. Diamond drill cores extracted from the lode there revealed an excellently mineralized lode at depth.

The Montreal lode was encountered in three holes, in the first at a point near the surface, in the second at a depth of about 600 feet and in the third at about 1,000 feet deep. A complete surface plant for the Empire shaft has been ordered. It will be very similar to that now in use at the Medora shaft.

Copper Range is steadily increasing its production. Between 75,000 and 80,000 tons of rock are being shipped monthly from he Baltic mine, and a like amount from the Champion. These two mines are ready to make still larger shipments.

SECOND FURNACE IS READY

In Greene-Cananea and in a Few Months the Smelters at Cananea Will be Producing 6,000,000 Pounds Monthly.

Cananea, Mexico., May 4.—The record being made for quick work in rehabilitation of the Greene smelter and in the bringing about of economies on every side, is occasioning astonishment at home as well as abroad.

The rapid manner in which plans are being carried out once they are formed leaves no room for doubt that the fall months will see Cananea outputting six million pounds or better of copper per month from the site of the present smelter.

Improvements which are being made in the plant and the improvements being installed in other operating departments of the company, to the end of economy, assure that the production of six million pounds will be made at figures materially reduced from former costs per pound.

Work done in installation of the new No. 2 furnace, a duplicate of the recently installed No. 1, has been surprisingly rapid. Announcement is that it will probably be ready to blow in during the latter part of this week. No. 1 has easily handled better than 400 tons daily since eblown in and No. 2 will be no less efficient. As soon as No. 2 is well under way the installation of the third and fourth new furnaces will be commenced. It is planned to have them in operation in May and June. Under discussion now is the advisability of ordering two more furnaces of the No. 1 type or a 54-foot furnace to take the place of the present No. 4 and 5 furnaces. Decision will be reached during the week and order placed.

Furnace improvements are not the only important steps being taken along large economic lines at the smelter. There have been ordered and are now on the way here two stands and eight converter shells of the very latest pattern, representing decided improvement over equipment now in use. Use of the new equipment will materially reduce costs and add a little to the converting capacity of the plant. This, however, is now considerably in excess of the present matte output capacity of the furnaces. Better than 6,000,000 pounds can be turned out with the converting capacity as it will stand when the new shells are put in service. An important step under consideration in this department is a plan to further relieve the smoke situation on the feed floor by doubling the flue capacity to the dust chamber.

STRIKE OF GOOD WATER BOON

To the Lee District in California and Pumping Plant and Pipe Lines Are to Be Installed at Once.

Rhyolite, Nev., May 4.—The best strike that has been made in the Funeral Mountains since the opening of the district has been reported from Lee, Cal., by S. J. Hernstadt, who reports the striking of water at a depth of 120 feet.

According to a telephone message received in Rhyolite two hours after the strike was made, the water is in abundance and is clear and cold as well as being free from all traces of alkali.

The strike of water in a district that has been considered absolutely barren because of its formation and the absolute want of vegetation means more to the Lee district than would a great gold discovery, as the water has been the main thing in the way of development of the district for the past twenty years.

The strike was made three and one-half miles east of Lee, and work will begin at once toward the installation of a pumping plant and the laying of pipes.

At present water for the Lee townspeople and for the mines on the Lee side of the Funeral Range, is hauled across the Amargosa desert from Rose Wells, and from Lee carried on the backs of burros to the mines. In Lee it retails for 20 cents a gallon. In Echo Canyon water is obtained from Furnace Creek, and is packed fourteen miles on burros over the mountains.

Water will mean the immediate rushing of work upon the mines of the district, while if a sufficient quantity is discovered, mills can be installed upon the various properties at once.

THE COLORADO DISTRICT

Isabella Mines Company to Pay Debts by Selling Treasury Stock---Bonanza Ore Shipped From Cripple Creek Mines.

Colorado Springs, May 4.—The Isabella Mines company management plans to pay its debt of $75,000 by selling 300,000 shares of treasury stock at 25 cents each. The mine outputted during 1904 $240,516.20, with $16,658.12 net profit. The debt was incurred mainly by the building of a cyanide mill, which is netting good returns. The mill is treating the Isabella dump, containing a vast tonnage and is yielding $8,000 to $9,000 profits per month. The management plans to resume dividends soon because of the method proposed for cancelling the debt. A large tonnage of good ore is exposed in the mine.

The Joe Dandy mine, Cripple Creek, is yielding a car daily of $30 to $35 ore, which, pending completion of the Jo Dandy mill, is being shipped to the Portland mill at Colorado Springs.

The Trilby Mines company has installed machinery over the trilby and Ben Harrison lode claims, Cripple Creek, and will soon begin hoisting from the lower workings at 860 feet depth. A 60 foot ore body exists there with the best samples returning $40 to $60 per ton. Pennsylvania capitalists are interested. The claims were purchased six months ago from the Moose company.

The Standard Mining & Leasing company, operating on the South Burns claim of the Acacia company, Cripple Creek, is shipping $30 ore from the 800 foot level. Mrs. Anna Cone, owner of the Ophir mine, Cripple Creek, is shipping a car of $100 ore daily. An occasional car of $300 ore is shipped separately. The monthly production approximates $60,000 to $90,000.

The Mabel M. claim of the Gold Dollar Consolidated company, Cripple Creek, is in a three-foot ore body yielding $100 per ton. Screenings assay $300 per ton.

Samuel G. Martin has brought suit in the district court at Eureka, Col., to restrain the Tintic Gulch Mining & Tunnel company from disposing of its property, which consists of 118 mining claims, water rights, mill sites and placer claims. He alleges that the deed thereto was acquired by fraud. Martin was once owner of the claims.

The Triangle, an old San Juan, Col., copper, silver and gold mine, has recently become active after years of idleness. Rich values are reported.

The Bill Nye claim, on Copper Mountain, is reported to be in a three-foot vein carrying gold, silver and copper values.

BISBEE MINES ALL WORKING

Further Increase in Number of Miners at Work an dStrike Practically Hardly in Evidence—Production at Bonanza Circle Smelters Show Slight Decrease From March.

Bisbee, Ariz., May 4.—The week just drawing to a close has witnessed a further increase in the number of miners at work in the district, and the strike, which was called by a small minority of workingmen, is hardly in evidence, further than the nightly street meetings, on which occasions Socialist speakers take advantage of the opportunity to preach their special brand of political doctrine.

At all the properties the same report is given out, to the effect that there are more men at work this week than last, and more miners returning to work with each succeeding day. Each incoming train brings workingmen from outlying districts, as far east as Calumet and Joplin, and upon their report of the labor conditions here will depend the coming of many more, especially from those districts in the East and North where men and their families are anxious to avoid the rigors of another cold winter.

The production of the Copper Queen smelters last month was about the same as the production of February—5,500,000 pounds. The production for March was a record-breaker, totaling almost 10,500,000 pounds, but it is the intention of the Copper Queen to keep the production figures around the 10,000,000-pound mark. Although Furnace No. 10 is being installed at the reduction works of the company at Douglas, it is the plan to hold one furnace in reserve and continue to use only the nine furnaces at present doing duty.

The production from the Superior & Pittsburg and Calumet & Arizona last month will compare favorably with February, but will fall slightly under the production figures for March. At the mine miners are coming into the district and the number who are returning to work, the production figures for May should be normal, if not greater.

The material for the big machine shops, which are to do duty for the Calumet & Arizona and Superior & Pittsburg companies, and which are to be located on Junction ground, in the vicinity of Lowell, has arrived and actual construction work is to be commenced next week.

General conditions at the Calumet & Arizona and Superior & Pittsburg properties tell the same story as the Copper Queen. More men are at work and several shafts are rapidly approaching their normal production.

Work has been resumed at the American-Saginaw with a small force of miners.

The Shattuck & Arizona makes the announcement that shipments of ore to the smelters are again normal, and that they have 100 underground miners at work. It is expected that the copper production from the Shattuck was about the same for the past month as March, for the reason that five days were lost during that month. Recently new ore bodies were opened at the Shattuck on the 800 level, consisting of oxides and sulphides and a station is at present being cut on the 900.

At the Denn, a full force of miners is again at work. The main drift in the 1,100 level has broken into a body of ore and ledge matter in the face of the drift, and assays gave returns of 11.6 per cent. The point where the ore body was struck is between 200 and 300 feet distant from the location of the ore body and the 1,000 level.

John Daniels, the president and W. F. James, treasurer of the Wolverine & Arizona mine, went to Los Angeles last week to see Thomas Higgins about using the old Higgins tunnel in working their mine. They went in response to a telegram from Mr. Higgins indicating satisfactory arrangement to this end could be made. The Wolverine & Arizona management have been looking for a better opening to their mine than is afforded by the shaft and drift at Don Luis, and their desire to use the old Higgins tunnel has been strengthened by the discovery through diamond drill explorations, of ore near the tunnel. The best way to reach this ore is through the tunnel, the end of the latter being only 300 feet from the recent find.

Work has been commenced in earnest on the Dripping Springs property of the London-Arizona Copper company in Pinal county. Two big tunnels will be opened right into the exposed ore and a shaft will be sunk as rapidly as possible. Plans are being laid for the construction of a smelter with 3,600 tons daily capacity. It is expected the smelter will be complete and ready to be blown in within a year. It will take from four to six months to get the machinery on the ground. This will be the greatest smelter in Arizona, with the exception of the Copper Queen works.

THE BUTTE OUTPUT IN APRIL

Shows a Decline, and Total Production for the First Four Months of Year is Between Seventeen and Eighteen Million Pounds Less Than a Year Ago.

Butte, Mont., May 4.—The April output of the Butte copper companies was distributed as follows:

	Tons of Pounds ore.	copper.
Anaconda	96,800	6,690,640
Boston & Montana	89,200	6,770,300
Butte & Boston	16,770	1,474,800
Washoe	12,200	990,300
Parrot	8,225	500,500
Trenton	15,110	975,900
North Butte	30,100	2,880,000
Original	20,700	1,560 0 0
East Butte	4,120	412,000
La France	4,975	417,000
Coalition	25,000	2,300,000
Pittsburg & Motana	4,300	400,100
Miscellaneous	3,000	265,000
Total	330,500	25,640,000

The total production for the first four months of the year is between 17,000,000 and 18,000,000 pounds less than in 1906, due to the labor troubles, severe weather, fuel shortage and lack of transportation facilities.

* * *

The North Butte Copper company is carrying on a lot of development work in the Berlin, Edith May and Miners' Union claims. On the Speculator vein the company has sunk a winze from the 1,600-foot level and from the winze drifts have been run on the vein, opening good bodies of ore, assaying 6 per cent copper.

* * *

The Butte Coalition company is mining about 1,500 tons of ore per day, and is prosecuting development work in the Rarus, Ogra, Minnie Healey, Tramway and Alice mines.

* * *

The East Butte Extension Mining company is reported to own nearly 100 acres of ground. Development work is being pushed and regular shipments of ore are being made. Lessees have recently shipped a lot of rock from the dumps of the Wall and Westlake mines of the company and it yielded 4 per cent copper. About thirty tons of ore a day are shipped from the two shafts.

* * *

Nine set of tributers are now working on the ground of the Amazon-Butte company and shipments continue at about the rate of fifty tons a day. The main shaft being sunk by the Amazon-Butte company is down 830 feet, and as soon as a station can be cut at the 400 foot point crosscutting will be done. From the Bullwhacker mine, north of the Amazon-Butte, regular shipments of ore are being made. The tributers on the Bullwhacker earned $30,000 in March.

* * *

The shaft on the high Ore mine of the Anaconda company has reached a depth of 2,700 feet, which makes it the deepest mine workings in Montana. It is going to the 2,800 without stopping and after the veins are crosscut and opened at that point, sinking will be resumed and continued to the 3,000, at which depth another crosscut will be sent through the ore bodies. The main vein in the property has been cut at the 2,400 and another opening is heading for this vein at the 2,600. The company aims to keep the bottom of this shaft a few hundred feet deeper than that of any of its other mines in order that all water from the adjoining mines, including those of the North Butte and some of the Coalition properties, will

THE GREAT RUSH TO COBALT

Between Three and Four Thousand Men Encamped Between Cobalt and Larder Lake and Reports of Rich Strikes—Fabulous Values as the Shafts Sink Deeper.

Cobalt, Ont., May 4.—All winter long there have been arriving on every train from South and East and West hardy miners from all parts of the world and from Cobalt way into the Larder Lake country, sixty miles from the center of the originally discovered district. These men have scattered and encamped under wagons and in tents, making themselves as comfortable as possible until spring should liberate them and permit search for treasure. A miner and newspaper writer just returned from the silver camp of Cobalt says that it is estimated that between 2,000 and 4,000 men are encamped between Cobalt and Larder Lake, and already reports of rich strikes are coming in to the camp.

The mine recorder's office at Haileybury, Ont., has already made entry of licenses and permits which have paid into the coffers of the Dominion $37,000, and the season not yet open. It is further stated that the entire townships of Lorraine and James have been staked, and the ground will be worked by thousands of men all summer.

The township of Bucke, which adjoins Coleman, in which is located the town of Cobalt, on the north, is producing almost fabulous values as the shafts sink deeper and experts are of the opinion that this camp will "out-Cobalt Cobalt" this summer.

The Green-Meahan the Red Rock, Big Pete, Argyle and other well known properties are doing systematic and scientific mining, sinking shafts, blocking out ore and making ready for heavy shipments this season. The Argyle especially is showing up values which more than bear out the government reports of Prof. Willet G. Miller, the Dominion geologist—that in the Keweakin and Diabase formation of this particular section, 15 of 2 Bucke, will be found silver values of unprecedented richness. This being the case on the Argyle, the precedent established by the adjoining properties, the Red Rock and the Green-Meahan, last fall will probably be completed.

The Nipissing properties are being put into thorough shape by the new mine manager recently placed in charge by General Manager Newhouse. Six shafts are being sunk to great depths, "gophering" or trenching on the surface has been stopped and everything is being done to the best advantage. Quarters are just about completed for the accommodation of 800 men, and some 400 are now employed. The advisability of leasing parts of the property to independent miners is being considered, with a probability of adoption.

The McKinley-Darragh-Savage property has ore blocked out for the immediate and regular shipment and as soon as the water can be pumped out from behind the coffer dam completed across the corner of Cobalt Lake, on their property, the rich gravel from the lake bed will be shovelled up and sent to the smelter.

The Silver Queen has several carloads of rich ore sacked for shipment—as have the Foster, Coniagas and O'Brien.

The merger of the great LaRose, University and others, with acreage about the same as Nipissing, with the same corporate capital has united a group of properties which will operate under one economical management.

The legal difficulties of the old Lawson, considered one of the richest properties of its size in the camp, have been settled and a charter will be issued next week making a $5,000,000 company. There is about $25,000 worth of ore on the dump, unsorted, and there was about $24 tied up in the old treasury, so that the new company will start out without need of going to the public for funds.

There is no longer any question as to the permanency of the district, as dia-

LAKE SUPERIOR IRON MINES

Ore Shipments in Full Swing and It is Estimated 42,000,000 Tons Will be Moved—Mines Prepared to Meet All Demands and Transportation Facilities Ample.

Ore shipments from the Lake Superior iron region are in full swing now, and there will be no cessation of the movement until the early days of December, or until ice again closes the inter-lake channels to navigation. That all past records will be shattered, and as much as 42,000,000 tons of ore will be moved, is the confident estimate of authorities in the trade. The mines are prepared to meet all expected demands, and the railroads and lake fleet were never in better condition to handle the immense tonnage they will be called upon to carry.

The Duluth, Missabe Northern has received about 500 new steel ore cars this season and 1,000 more will be put in use as soon as they can be furnished by the manufacturers. The new cars were ordered last fall from the Standard Car works and the Pressed Steel Car works. The latter company has also begun the shipment of new rolling stock to the Duluth & Iron Range road. About 100 cars have arrived and 500 more are coming. The Duluth, Missabe & Northern has received a track pile driver and a wrecking car with a capacity for lifting 100 tons. Both were made at Bay City, Mich. With this equipment the road is in a position to clear away a wreck rapidly or restore a bridge with little loss of time.

While all the great mines of the Mesaba are in St. Louis county as far as developed, it is evident from the work of the Steel corporation that the western end of the range, in Itasca county, is slated to become a source of ore supply of very large proportions. The fact that extensive deposits are being opened at Coleraine and Holman is well known. It seems now that further large bodies will be developed in the vicinity of Grand Rapids, the county seat. Considerable drilling has already been done west and southwest of the town and much territory has been covered. Sufficient is known to justify the corporation taking a large number of options, embracing lands in 55-26, 54-26 and 54-27, and active operations will soon begin to thoroughly test the district. It is understood that not less than twenty drills will be in operation in that immediate neighborhood within the next thirty days. Similar work will be done in the field by other operators, among them Hartman & Lum of Duluth. Indications point to the existence of ore bodies both south and west o fthe Mississippi river, as well as in the country northeast of that great stream.

The Chisholm district of the Mesaba will send out more ore this season than ever before. This distinction will not be confined to this one field, of course, since many other mining localities will share in forwarding the year's record-breaking tonnage, but there are few which possess greater deposits or ores of such high grade in quantity. The past year or two have been productive of immense developments. The Pillsbury, at Chisholm, will be one of the leading mines on the range. The same will be true of the Hartley, where already nearly a million dollars has been expended, with the property not due to enter the shipping list until the latter part of the present season. The Shenango mine has a stockpile of 400,000 tons, which is now being shipped, augmenting the daily production. The Jordan, now a small proposition, will be a much bigger one, and will use several

SMELTER FOR THE SHATTUCK

To Occupy Ground at Douglas West of Brickyard on the Mesa---Work of Construction to be Started Soon.

Douglas, Ariz., May 4.—The fact that the Shattuck-Arizona smelter is to be located in Douglas has been definitely settled and it may be further stated that now that the location has been determined upon the work of construction will be started at the earliest possible moment.

The first work will be that of surveying to get the contour of the ground which is to accommodate the various buildings required for the plant. Mr. Stauber, mining engineer for the Shattuck company at Bisbee, will do this surveying.

The smelter will be constructed under the superintendency of Arthur Houle of the firm of Houle & Houlton, mining engineers of this city. For the present Mr. Houle will have the Shattuck headquarters at his office in this city until an office building has been erected at the site of the new smelter.

Negotiations are already under way for the boring of a well in the vicinity of the site for the smelter. The water supply is a certainty and of the best quality in the territory. The quality and supply of water has already been demonstrated by both the Copper Queen and the Calumet & Arizona smelter, and this no doubt was the strongest inducement which Douglas had to offer to the Shattuck company in bidding for the location of its reduction works here.

Mr. Houle stated that it would probably be a month before the foundation plan could be received from the steel manufacturers who would furnish the material for the smelter and other buildings which will be included in the plant. Plans will go forward to the steel companies in a few days, as they are now about complete.

The building of the Shattuck smelter in this city insures for Douglas an enterprise which will give employment to not less than 250 men when the plant is ready to operate with an assurance that this number of employes will steadily grow.

THE OLD DOMINION SMELTER

Likely to be Enlarged---New Furnaces, Converters and New Stacks Planned---Ore Strike Hourly Expected at Globe Consolidated.

Globe, Ariz., May 4.—The story of Old Dominion from week to week is one of continual progress and improvement in the physical condition of the mine. The great size and richness of the sulphide vein, as disclosed by the developments on the fourteenth level, has attracted wide attention, and estimates of the value of the property have had to be revised. Old Dominion is now rated among the great copper mines of the country. The management, quick to realize the significance of recent ore discoveries in the mine, has lost no time in preparing plans for the enlargement of the smelter, as well as for expansion in all departments.

Plans for the further enlargement of the smelter have been completed here, and will no doubt be approved by the Eastern officials of the company. These plans contemplate the erection of the sixth furnace, another converter stnd, an auxiliary dust chamber, and another great stack to carry off the smoke and fumes. The capacity of the new stack will be twice that of the present one. It will be twenty-two feet in dlameter, (the old one is fourteen feet), and 200 feet in height, which is the same as the old one, but the new stack will be erected fifty feet higher on the hill.

A very large force of miners is employed and development work is progressing well. No. 3 crosscut on the fourteenth level, after penetrating over thirty feet of high grade sulphide, encountered barren ground, which is believed to be only an intrusion in the vein, and it is expected that the crosscut will be in ore again in a day or two.

Upon the completion of the station being cut on the fourteenth level, sinking a two-compartment winze 200 feet to open the sulphide vein on the sixteenth level will proceed as rapidly as possible.

An ore strike is almost hourly expected at the Globe Consolidated in either or both of the crosscuts on the

CANANEA-ARIZONA COMPANY

Has Acquired Valuable Mining Properties at Globe and Cananea---Adjoins the Superior & Boston and the Arizona Commercial.

Globe, Ariz., May 4.—The Cananea-Arizona Consolidated Copper company, recently formed by Duluth, Houghton, Minneapolis, Chicago and New York business men and mining men, has just completed its organization to acquire valuable mining properties at Globe and Cananea.

The company is composed of some of the largest merchants, manufacturers and business men of the cities named, who have associated with them men of large financial backing.

The property at Globe covers a large area, with over 2,000 feet of the well mineralized outcrops of the main Old Dominion vein not two miles from the Old Dominion mine. The Arizona Commercial and Superior & Boston shafts are not 1,000 feet distant. The great strikes of ore, reported to be from eighty to thirty feet wide, that will carry good copper values of from 7 to 10 per cent in the Arizona Commercial and Superior & Boston properties, give great promise to the Cananea-Arizona's Globe property of developing into large and profitable mines. It is reported on good authority of expert engineers that for hundreds of feet along the outcrop of the Old Dominion vein on the Cananea-Arizona ground, good showings of well mineralized iron and copper (sulphide are to be seen on the surface of the ground. One prospect shaft has developed the fact that at only the shallow depth of seventy feet the copper values in this capping increases from 1 per cent on the surface to 5 per cent of copper at this depth.

The surface showing indicated exactly similar conditions to those on the Arizona Commercial and Superior & Boston mines adjoining, and the development indicates that similar ores can be expected with depth as the shaft continues. The Cananea-Arizona development shaft is about 900 feet from the Arizona Commercial Black Hawk shaft and equally near the railway. The facilities for cheap operation and a quick realization of the profits in mining ores that may be opened during development are very good.

The Cananea-Arizona mines at Cananea were recently described by a gentleman who visited them from Duluth as being in that part of the camp where the richest ores ever found in the camp had just recently been opened. He, no doubt, referred to the Cole and American shoft of the Greene-Cananea of the Cananea Central, part of the big combination, which, by the way, entirely surrounds one of the mines the Cananea-Arizona has acquired through the recent deal. This gentleman is a large merchant at Duluth and telegraphed,

MINING IN THE BLACK HILLS

Work of Flooding the Homestake Begun and Practically All the Men Laid Off---Not a Stamp is Dropping.

Lead, S. D., May 4.—The work of flooding the Homestake mine for the purpose of extinguishing the fire which broke out four weeks ago has begun, and practically all the men are laid off. Not a stamp is dropping in any of the mills. The Amicus and the mills on the other side would have been kept operating on surface ore as they have been doing for the last three weeks had it not been for the fact that all the water was needed to turn into the mine. So far the water has risen from the 1,550-Foot level, the lowest in the mine, to the 1,100, where it is now about eight feet deep. From here on, however, the rise will be slower, and when the water reaches the 800 the rise for a number of days will be hardly perceptible, as the workings on that level are very extensive. The water is being turned into the Ellison shaft, the old Lincoln shaft, which has been reopened for that purpose, and the open cut and will shortly be turned into the Savage tunnel from Whitewood creek. This tunnel connects with the 200-foot level. It is not yet possible to determine the exact location of the fire or its extent, but it is known to be burning somewhere between the 500 and 400-foot levels. The time it will take to flood and then unwater the mine is estimated at from thirty days to six months. There are about 68,000,000 cubic feet of space below ground which it will be necessary to fill with water before the mine is flooded to the necessary level.

Keystone, S. D., May 4.—The Black Hills Anaconda Mining company, with ground near this camp, is doing development work and making satisfactory progress. A shaft has been sunk on the ledge for a distance of twenty feet and is all in ore. The ledge iself is several hundred feet wide, and the ore is free milling with considerable values in the concentrates. The shaft will be continued until it has reached water level, when cross-cutting will be begun. The very rich float which has been found on this ground since early days led to the belief that there was a caping over it. This spring, however, it was discovered and is being opened up. The same company is pushing work on the Jo Dollar claim in Palmer Gulch. A tunnel is being run to tap the vein at a depth of 200 feet. It has already been driven a distance of 140 feet, and it is expected that it will encounter the ledge any day. Very high values have been taken from this vein. These two properties are near the famous old Golden Slipper mine, one of the richest of Southern Hills properties.

The richest worfram ore ever discovered in this vicinity was found last week by J. R. Carter and Jo Hare about a quarter of a mile west of the latter's ranch. The ore crops out in several places and runs from 30 to 40 per cent. Four claims were at once staked off and development is already under way. The ground is but a few miles west of Keystone and only a short distance from the Burlington tracks, so that it is well located for shipping. There is abundance of water and timber.

SOCIETY

THE AUTOCRAT OF SOCIETY HAS BEEN DISCOVERED. It is the sewing girl.

Plan to have a wedding and you are at her mercy. Plan to get some fussy gowns made so that possibly there may be a wedding in the fall and you are at the discretion of the same independent young woman. Plan your week, to have hardwood floors laid and the walls redecorated and a luncheon for your youngest daughter and a quiet funeral service or a wedding celebration for some member of the family, and all these festivities are swept from the path of procedure by the mild words over a telephone: "I'm Miss Smith, and I am coming tomorrow." What matters that one had planned to entertain at bridge tomorrow or that one had decided to be married tomorrow. A few telephone messages of, "You know the sewing girl is coming and I just can't get her for another minute this summer unless I take her now" is the excuse that levels all obligations. A prospective husband might return next week for the wedding ceremony, but not so the sewing girl. She, for all her mildness, has a now-or-never accent to her voice and she reigns supreme.

All entertaining of the past week has been planned with her pleasure in view. And much entertaining has been done with her in mind. If you have been out to dinner this week and your best story or pleasantest manner has been received by a blank-eyed, but smiling expression, on the face of the hostess, you may rest easy that Miss Smith was imminent tomorrow and the dire necessity of deciding whether it should be cluster tucks or pleated frilling, was probably just that moment distressing the lady presiding at the table. When one comes to think of it, it is surprising that woman retains even the small reputation for a sense of humor which she does sustain. Sewing girls and spring housecleaning are harder things through which to carry a sense of humor than man ever dreamed of.

The last of the club meetings were held during the week and many Duluth women, who have been interested in this work, have completed the year's study. There is much interest in the art lecture, which will be given next Wednesday morning, by Mrs. Robert Morris Seymour, at the club room of the library. During the week, the Daughters of Liberty were hostesses at a charming musicale at the home of Mrs. E. T. Buxton, and the luncheon at the Spalding today, at which the members of the Saturday club were hostesses, was a charming affair. There is little formal entertaining planned for the coming week.

The May Festival, which will be presented by the Duluth Oratorio club at the First Methodist church, May 14 and 15, promises to be one of the most brilliant social and musical events that Duluth has ever seen. The engagement of such prominent soloists as Shanna Cumming, Arthur Beresford and Holmes Cowper, with the St. Paul Symphony orchestra promises a brilliant musical event, and the subscription list already includes the names of many of the prominent society women. The church will be extensively decorated and the spirit of the true May festival, the first to be held in the Northwest, will be carried out thoroughly.

The spring Assembly ball, which was danced last evening at the Spalding, was a delightful affair, simple in all its appointments, but thoroughly enjoyed by the hosts and their guests. The hall was undecorated, and a splendid program of dance music was played by La Brosse's orchestra. Among those present were:

Messrs. and Mesdames—
J. A. Scrihenson, W. H. Norton, G. H. Jones, H. P. Broughton, Carroll Graff, H. J. Kremer, W. B. Silvey, J. T. Hale.
C. W. Andrews, E. P. Towne, Frank Morrison, L. W. Leithhead, D. H. Costello, Lee Farmer, J. N. McKindley.

Misses—
Katherine Enslen, Richardson, d'Autremont, Helen Marble, Wylie, Jessie Campbell, Watterworth, Effie Smith, Cooper, Lou Smallwood, Virginia Morris, Evens of Milwaukee, Nelson, of Stillwater, Waida of Superior.
Katrina Richardson, Sygilla Hartman, Ruth Markell, Frances Woodbridge, Maude White, Leta Phelps, Lillian Brown, Jessie Hartley, McDonald, Lillian Gowan, Hubbell.

Messers.—
J. Harrison, Anderson, Gridley, Grady, Puck, Whyte, C. A. Parker, Hale, Grant, W. H. Brawer, Brookes, Greene, Haroldson, McBride, Church, Claypool.
J. Pierce, Glass, Telford, Ward Ames, Jr., C. F. How, Jr., W. L. McLennan, E. B. Dunning, McClaran, Fairchild, Spencer, D. G. Cutler, Jr. H. K. Brooks, Gillett, Kennedy, of Superior.

The members of the Saturday club were hostesses at luncheon today at the Spalding, the honored guests being Mrs. Emogene Lectra and Mrs. A. W. Nichols, members of the club, both of whom will leave within a few weeks to make their homes in the West. The luncheon was served at 1 o'clock, in a private dining room of the Spalding, and the decorations were in gold and white, the club colors, tulips and jonquils being the spring flowers that carried out the color scheme. Covers were laid for forty-five. An informal reception was held in the hotel parlors for half an hour preceding the luncheon, in compliment to the honored guests and the newly-elected officers of the club.

A program of toasts were given, at which Mrs. H. S. Ely presided as toastmistress. A letter of greeting from Mrs. J. L. Washburn from Ashville, N. C., president of the state federation, and a member of the Saturday club, was read. The toasts and the speakers were as follows: "The Ideal Club," Mrs. Emogene Lectra; "Charter Members," Mrs. Ward Ames; "The New Member," Mrs. A. H. Brocklehurst; "The Club Husband," Miss Effie White, and "The Saturday Club," by Mrs. Robert Smith, the new president.

May Festival.

There is widespread interest in the May festival to be given in this city on May 14 and 15 by the Duluth Oratorio club, assisted by the St. Paul Symphony orchestra with Shanna Cumnings, soprano, of New York; Arthur Beresford, baritone, and Holmes Cowper, tenor, as the soloists. Mr. Beresford was formerly soloist of Trinity church, Boston, and more recently he has been with the Chicago Sherwood Music school. He is a concert and oratorio singer of prominence. The directors of the society are delighted at the list of soloists who have been engaged and the interest evinced by Duluth people in the event. Many out-of-town visitors from the neighboring towns are planning to attend the festival, which will consist of two evening concerts when "The Death of Minnehaha" and "Hiawatha's Wedding Feast," oratorios by Coleridge Taylor, will be sung. An orchestra matinee will be given on the afternoon of the second day.

MISS SHOEMAKER, BRIDE OF ALFRED WAGSTAFF, Jr.

MRS ALFRED WAGSTAFF JR.

New York, May 4.—Of paramount interest to society this week was the wedding of Miss Blanche Le Roy Shoemaker and Alfred Wagstaff, Jr., at the home of the bride's parents, No. 26 West Fifty-third street, only one week after the announcement of the engagement.

Owing to the recent death of a brother of Miss Shoemaker, the ceremony was most informal, and no invitations were sent out. The bride had no attendants, and only relatives and intimate friends of the couple were present.

Miss Shoemaker was a society debutante two years ago. She is a beautiful young woman, and her natural charms caused a furor wherever she went upon her introduction to society. She is also the author of several poetical works. During her visit in Rome last winter with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry F. Shoemaker, she was presented to the pope. She has also been presented at the court of St. James.

Owing to the fact that the engagement of Mr. and Mrs. Shoemaker's son, H.W. Shoemaker, to Miss Beatrice Barclay of Western Pennsylvania, was announced simultaneously with that of Miss Shoemaker, it was expected that a double wedding would be held. The plans of the two couples, however, were not the same, and the wedding of Mr. Shoemaker will not take place until June.

Mr. Wagstaff, the bridegroom, is the eldest son of Col. and Mrs. Alfred Wagstaff, and was graduated from Columbia in 1904. His brother, Samuel, is the fiance of Miss Pauline French, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Amos Tuck French.

After a brief honeymoon trip the couple will join the colony in the neighborhood of Islip, L. I. Mr. and Mrs. Shoemaker's present to the bride is a house in that locality.

How to Prepare Pretty Summer Window Boxes

For a woman fond of gardening, who is deprived the pleasure because of living in the city, much satisfaction may be derived from window boxes. Quite the simplest way of having them, of course, is to place an order with a florist, who will fill and put them up, but this is not only expensive, but unsatisfactory to one who really loves flowers. For the chief interest is watching the seeds come up, or the small plants grow, and tending them until they become well grown, stocky bushes, that will give forth blossoms and color.

No window box was ever complete without geraniums, not only because the plants are easily grown, but because they blossom profusely. Petunias should not be forgotten, for though the flowers are perishable, the scent is delicate, and exquisite shades are now obtained in this one time common flower. Nasturtiums are the standby, and, taking it all in all, are the most delightful flowers of all, growing rapidly, the many colored blooms having a pungent and delicious fragrance, and a crispness refreshing to see in warm weather.

Simple marguerites, or white daisies almost precisely like the field flowers, are inexpensive and effective, growing rapidly and in bush form. To my mind a plant of lemon verbena is a joy in the window, because of its delicious fragrance. Heliotrope is another plant that, contrary to the opinion of many persons, will do well in window gardens and grow quickly. The white is a little more delicate than purple. Old-fashioned fuschias are not often seen thees days, but a woman who is going in for window gardening would do well to have a couple, for though not pretty for cutting, they are graceful and effective in the plant.

None of these flowers named is expensive, and with the exception of nasturtiums, it is better to buy roots rather than seeds. If one has had geraniums in the house all winter, do not make the mistake of upting the old roots into boxes and expecting them to blossom through the summer. Those are "worn out" and require rest. The best thing to do is to "slip" the plants, if one has any knowledge of horticulture, and use the young ones thus started.

"Slipping" is not difficult, even for an amateur, and consists in cutting a branch above a joint, and thrusting it into very sandy soil. This should be kept moist and out of the sun for two weeks or more, when it should have rooted. Then transplant. If several slips are taken from one plant, the old root may be thrown away.

It is better to buy small rather than large plants of any kind and put in boxes, with space enough to grow. They should be watered morning and night, but not drenched, and put where they will be in the sunlight.

It is cheaper to buy window boxes ready made at the department stores than to have them made by a carpenter. They come in various sizes.

It is not too soon yet to start them with the plants named, though if money is not to be considered, it is best to put in bulbs in flower, in hyacinth, jonquils, crocuses and the like, and let them stay for a fortnight or more before beginning with those for summer.

WHAT MAKES THE SKY BLUE.

Reader Magazine: It is the atmosphere that makes the sky look blue and the moon yellow. If we could ascend to an elevation of fifty miles above the earth's surface we should see that the moon is a brilliant white, while the sky would be black, with the stars shining as brightly in the day time as at night. Furthermore, as a most picturesque feature of the spectacle, we should take notice that some of the stars are red, others blue, yet others violet, and still others green in color. Of course all of the stars (if we bar the planets of our own system) are burning suns and the hues they wear depend upon their temperature.

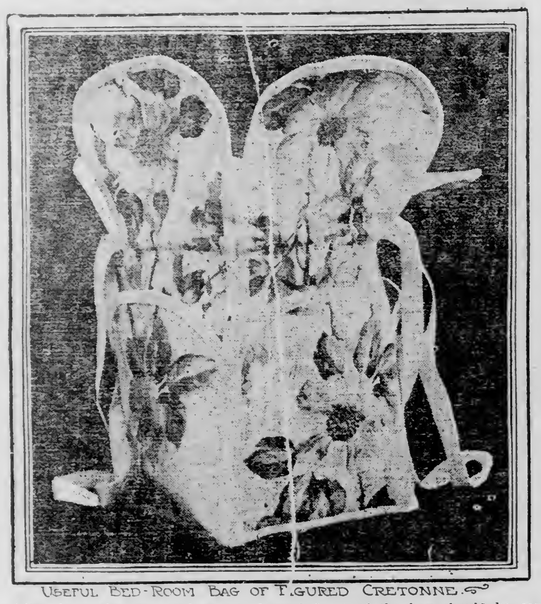
Serviceable Bags for Home Made Out of Remnants.

LANSDOWNE COVER FOR HOT WATER BAG.
FROM WOMANS EXCHANGE



USEFUL BED-ROOM BAG OF FIGURED CRETONNE.

After the sewing season there are always odd scraps left that are seemingly worthless, yet can be inexpensively made up into dainty and useful articles for decorating the home, if one only knows how.

Take a square of white elderdown, a material likely to be on hand in any house where there is a baby. It is the very thing to make into a carriage robe for spring and early summer use. The corners should be rounded off and then all four sides bound with strips of wash silk, fine printed organdy or any other washable fabric. Feather stitching in a dainty color may be added to this binding.

A second square of wash goods lining the elderdown will make a pretty fresh looking robe and an agreeable substitute for the heavy winter one.

Should the remnant of elderdown be a strip instead of a square, it may be fashioned into a cover for a hot water bottle. To make this bag cut two oval shaped pieces, overhanded together—the raw edges—then bind with wash ribbon or silk, setting on a row of feather stitching at the edge. About one-half inch inside the edge the back and front of the bag should be connected with a second row of stitching so that the cover can be more conveniently handled. Bows of ribbon will tie the bottle into the bag.

No woman can have too many bags, and the illustration shows one of the handy kind that is decorative as well as serviceable. The outer part is of a thin cretonne, while the lining may be of thin silk or lawn, not necessarily of one kind. A harlequin effect is produced by lining each section with a different color, possibly those found in the outer printed material. Four long and four short sections will be required, one end rounded off, the other straight and arranged so that the shorter sections form outside pockets. After being neatly bound with linen tape and four sides must be sewn together and then fashioned into a square which forms the bottom. This should be made of a strong piece of cardboard covered on both sides and then bound. Drawing strings of wide tape or ribbon finish the bag. White linen with appliques cut from cretonne, or any other flowered fabric with decoration, will make an equally pretty accessory.

Dainty After-Theater Lunch

By EMMA PADDOCK TELFORD.

Saddle of Mutton.

My Dear Mrs. Telford:

Will you please send me two menus for theater suppers and kindly tell me how to cook them? Also a way to prepare a saddle of mutton. Will you kindly let me hear from you.

MRS. E. M.

To make the after-theater supper a success everything should be arranged beforehand so there need be no long wait for sharpened appetites. While an appetizer is hardly an essential, it helps tide over while the hot dish is cooking. Anchovies filleted and spread between crisp crackers are nice for this, or a thin brown bread caviare sandwich, the caviare moistened with lemon juice or a bit of onion. The sandwiches might be spread before you leave for the theater, then covered with a damp napkin to keep moist. After the appetizer comes the single hot dish—oyster rarebit, chicken terrapin, Scotch woodcock or oyster crab. For the last course serve marmalade with wafers or bar-le-duc with cream cheese and lettuce. This may also be prepared before leaving home. Arrange a few delicate heart leaves of lettuce in a circle on a pretty plate, then press a cream cheese through a sieve on the stem ends of the salad, making an inside wreath of the cheese. Fill the center of this with any red jelly, currant, strawberry or raspberry and put on the table with plain wafers or dainty, crisp crackers.

Olives and salted nuts are always a welcome addition to the midnight luncheon.

Oyster Rarebit.

To make the oyster rarebit, parboil a cup of oysters that have been cut in two, in their own liquor in the chafing dish until their edges curl, then turn into a hot bowl and cover to keep warm. Put into a blazer a tablespoonful butter and a half pound cheese finely crumbed. Add a saltspoonful each paprika, mustard and salt. Beat two eggs lightly, add the oyster liquor, and as the cheese is melted, add gradually stirring all the time. Lastly put in the oysters, heat through and turn over slice of hot toast or crackers.

Chicken Terrapin.

This is made of the dark meat of cold chicken, turkey or goose cut in small slices. If you have the giblets of the chicken mince them also and add to a hard boiled egg rubbed to a paste. For a cupful of the meat, melt in the chafing dish two tablespoonfuls butter, a tablespoonful flour, stir until frothy, then put in a saltspoonful salt, a quarter saltspoonful each mace, cloves and cayenne. Next come the chicken or other meat, with the giblets, a few drops of Worcestershire sauce, a teaspoonful yellow rind of lemon, a quarter cup cream of chicken stock and lastly a quarter cup sherry. If you do not care to use wine, a little more stock will take its place. If you do not use the hard boiled egg with the giblets, the yolks of two eggs beaten should be employed, adding them just before the wine. Serve very hot.

Scotch Woodcock.

For this you will require three slices of toast, three hard boiled eggs, a tablespoonful butter, a half teaspoonful flour, a teaspoonful anchovy paste, a half cup milk, a salt spoonful salt and grain of cayenne. Since the eggs in a plate and chop with a silver knife until fine. Put the butter in the chafing dish blazer, and when melted add the flour. As soon as the mixture is frothy put in the milk, a little at a time, stirring constantly. Stir with the back of the bowl of the spoon, not with the edge. As soon as it boils add the anchovy paste, salt and pepper, cook a moment, add eggs, cook three minutes, then serve on the toast.

Oyster Crabs.

If the little crabs have not already been boiled, they should be as soon as they come from the market. Rinse clean. Put into a saucepan a half tablespoonful butter, a half cup vinegar, two cups water, a sprig of parsley, a half teaspoonful salt and three whole black peppers. When boiling add the crabs and cook for ten minutes. Then drain and set aside until required. When ready to use, put into the chafing dish a level tablespoonful flour. When smooth and frothy add a cup of cream, stirring all the time. Next put in a cupful oyster crabs and let them heat through. Beat one egg with a tablespoonful sherry or sauterne and just before serving turn into the crab mixture. Take care that it does not curdle. Do not cook after the egg is added. Have ready three or four thin crispy slices of toast, dish the crabs on it and serve.

St. Regis Selle d'Agneau a la Printaniere.

Cut off a saddle of two loins before the lamb is split down the back. Expose to intense heat, preferably before an open fire. When well browned on all sides, season with salt and pepper. Baste every ten minutes with its own drippings. Serve with mint sauce or a sauce made as follows:

Peel two large cucumbers, slice and throw in cold salted water. Peel and slice one onion and put into a sauce pan with the cucumber and gravy to cover. Simmer gently twenty minutes, then season with salt, pepper and lemon juice. Garnish with cucumbers in serving.

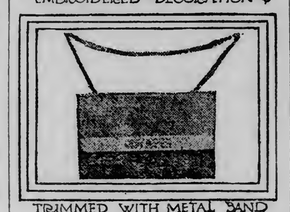
Saddle of Mutton.

Select a heavy, broad saddle with plenty of fat; remove the suet from the inside and skewer the kidneys in. Take two cloves of garlic, skin and stick one in each end of the backbone that runs through the saddle. Put the fat on the outside of the meat in diamond shaped gashes and stick four or five cloves in the fat. Roll the flaps under and tie into a well rounded shape. If the piece is large, leave the tail on. Now, if you have a place where the saddle can hang for a few days to get a trifle gamy and seasoned, so much the better. When ready to roast remove the garlic, but leave the cloves in. Season well with salt and pepper and roast in a hot oven, basting frequently, until it is done to a medium or rare degree. Nine minutes is the usual allowance to the pound. The saddle should be a rich dark brown on the outside, but rare within. It may be basted, during the roasting, with hot water and its own juices, or with a cup of sherry. When done, place on a hot platter. Put the dripping pan on the stove, stir in a little sifted flour, add more hot water or sherry, cook until smooth, stirring all the time. If at all "lumpy" it must be strained. Season with salt and pepper and color a rich brown with culinary bouquet or caramel. Decorate the saddle with pitted olives. In carving cut slices the length of the saddle and parallel to the backbone. Then slip the knife under and separate from the rib bones. After the top is carved trim the saddle and cut the tenderloin underneath in the same way. Serve with current jelly and the brown gravy.

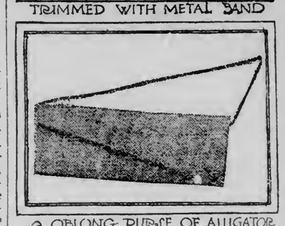
Bags and Purses for the Summer

NEW SHAPED BAG

EMBROIDERED DECORATION



TRIMMED WITH METAL BAND



OBLONG PURSE OF ALLIGATOR

Brown bags and purses are the fad of the season, and in alligator, pigskin, cowhide and various other leathers tanned or colored in this fashionable shade are now being carried by the "chic" metropolitan girls.

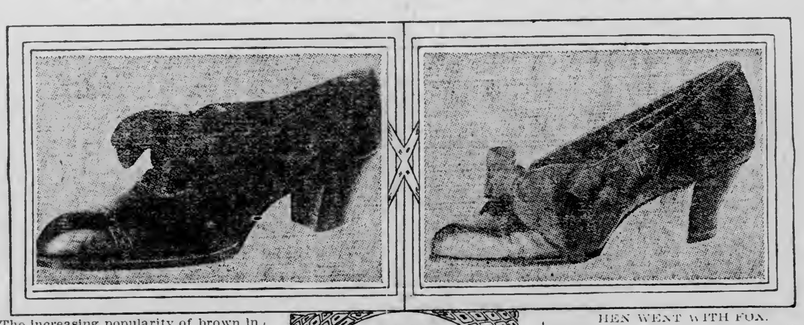
Some of the purses are long, others are short, and are severely plain or artistically ornate. There is an almost endless number of designs to choose from this year.

For business the plain bag of medium size in brown leather with strap handles is considered the most serviceable and practical model, while the smaller bag of dull suede or glossed kid, effectively mounted with silver, gold or artistically studed with tiny nail heads, is carried for dressy street wear.

Metal bands, plain or chased with flowers, scroll or geometric used extensively on purses and make most attractive ornamentation for alligator or pigskin bags that are otherwise plain.

The oblong purse, with no trimming except a button like clasp at one end, is considered fashionable in alligator, suede or any of the favorite skins. Such a model is particularly useful for shopping, because it has a strong chain handle, that may be in black, imitation silver, gold or tinted in any shade to match the costume, or to correspond in tone with the leather bag.

Golden-Brown Ties and Shoes



SMART WALKING TIES AND SHOES

The increasing popularity of brown in all shades for frocks has brought about novelties to match in footgear. Formerly a woman wore tan and the shade was considered correct for any kind of colored frock. Tan is still good form, but there is absolutely no excuse this season for hackabout shoes not matching almost perfectly where brown is used.

This is due to the introduction of golden browns in shoes of all kinds. Boots, ties and pumps are graded and sorted to show the newest effects.

Such extremely short skirts are smart now for walking that it is more than ever important that footgear shall be as correct as care can make it. Pointed toes with long vamps remain the preferred shape, and pumps are as much in vogue as ever.

HEN WENT WITH FOX.

Tit-Bits: A farmer in Cheshire, Eng., suspecting from the terrible racket in his henroop that a fox was raiding it, slipped a bag over the henslide. When one of the farmhands entered the henroop the fox sprang into the bag. Eleven fine fowl lay dead, four were badly maimed and had to be killed and the unharmed fowls cackled loudly.

The farmer took the fox and the dead fowls and drove to Marbury Hall to show them to the Hunt Poultry Fund secretary.

When the bag was opened the fox appeared, a hen walked out after the fox, an egg rolled out on the flood, and, of course, the farmer was puzzled. The fox, in his flight from the henroop, knocked the hen into the bag, where the egg was laid.

Dainty Underwear of Silk and Fine Lawn for Summer.

Dainty summer underwear is of special attention to women just now and the snowy piles exhibited in the shops are particularly fetching this season. The French underwear seems to be first favorite, although there are those who prefer the more showily trimmed garments of the home manufacture to the less elaborate but exquisite needlework of the imported articles.

There has been much improvement both in cut and design, during the last two years and now women's underclothing seems to have reached perfection, especially in combination suits.

These come both in fine Italian silk and in sheer lawns and are cool and of delightfully light weight. The silk garments are in dainty shades as well as white and are embroidered or plain. Some of these pieces have monograms worked in soft pastel shades that are exceedingly dainty on the white grounds. Fine Val. lace is the trimming employed.

The "Taute ma Til" or corset cover is another specialty of this kind, and is of woven silk as fine as a spider web. These pieces come in white and colors and are pretty for wear under sheer lingerie blouses.

The Marguerite chemise is favored by women with good figures, while those who are either unduly long or short waisted will prefer the long straight model to that made to define the waist line, even though they are of good figure, as materials are apt to shrink in washing and to shorten the lines.

Chemises of either design of fine French cambric, daintily embroidered, may be bought for from $6 upward.

Combination suits of corset covers, drawers and short petticoat in one, are now fitted over the hips by means of a hip yoke, the drawers-petticoats being attached to the lower edge with a narrow braiding and the corset cover secured to the upper edge. Thus there is not an atom of fullness over the hips, yet below there are billows of filmy fluffiness and above a corset cover becomingly full.

The princess bloomers are another improvement over the old fashioned kind. This new design is made to fit over the hips as smoothly as possible so that a princess gown may be worn over these, a single petticoat coming between the frock without showing any sign of a wrinkle. The prices are from $4 a simple pair in China silk to $40 for those in loveliest brocade lined with the sheerest of wash silks.

Night dresses are invariably on the low necked, short sleeved order, the bell this year being preferred to the puff. These show a sheer round yoke embroidered in small designs and supporting a full body band tucked at the top. The bell or wing-like sleeves are embroidered, and these and the neck are finished with frills of Val. lace. In some cases a narrow brading is threaded to act as a draw string at the neck, or rather top for the garment does not reach the neck at all, but is quite low.

Only a suggestion of colored ribbons are seen on the French underwear, and certainly the immense rosettes, loops, ends and bows that severally adorn the domestic garments would be entirely out of place decorating these finer materials, and so would quite overshadow the dainty handwork.

One can choose such a nightgown, either of imported or home manufactured goods, at reasonable prices, so that all tastes may be gratified, and, of course, can pay more if they wish. At this price, however, the garments are exceedingly pretty.

While petticoats made with a dust ruffle and an upper flounce of the material daintily embroidered, scalloped and buttonholed on the edge, then trimmed with a little Val. lace frill, may be purchased for medium prices. The skirts are shorter this year than formerly, none being longer than ankle length; a good feature, too, for nothing is more unsightly than a white petticoat just touching the ground, and so collecting a black edge all around. Some of the elaborate petticoats cost $20, and at $95 to $125 there are styles so exquisitely embroidered that they seem to be masquerading under the name rather than being the actual thing.

Conservative women who prefer the conventional corset cover will find this model in the daintiest trimming of hand needlework, the front and back finely hand tucked to fit the waist line, the upper edge embroidered and scalloped, a little lace frill being the only finish. These are made in lovely designs and materials.

The full French corset covers that slight women like are equally attractive, and one model, entirely of groups of fine hand pin tucking, alternating with Val. insertion, is a particular favorite, including, as it does, draw strings of dainty ribbon at neck and waist line.

Modified Princess Gown

MODIFIED PRINCESS GOWN.

Modified princess gowns for street and afternoon use will be much worn this summer, made up in lightweight cloths and in wash materials. This style garment, with a handsome lace or hand embroidered yoke, will be decidedly becoming to the average woman, especially to those who are tall and have well developed figures, for the tight fitting waist and the long, graceful lines in the skirts set off their physique to advantage. This illustration was taken from the De Le Salon.

Attractive House Furnishings

Summer furnishings are now displayed in the stores, despite the backward season, and in styles and colorings are so pretty and dainty that one can hardly resist the temptation to order, even though their use must await weather conditions.

Especially is this true of the bedroom furniture. One of the newest sets is in a plain wood, simply polished, that makes one feel cool only to look at it. The set consists of bedstead, bureau, washstand, two chairs, a rocker, small table, desk and desk chair, and, complete, costs about $75. At a higher price there is a more restful looking set in the same number of pieces, which is enameled in a new shade of gray, with brass mountings. Quite severe and plain in design, and so chaste in coloring, this is an ideal suit for a summer bedroom.

Odd chairs and rockers for bedroom use are in wicker, upholstered in pretty, fresh looking cretonnes, and a new shade of enamel is described as mauve, but seems to be a mixture of pinkish gray, green and blue. It is, however, much more pleasing to the eye than it sounds. Quaint looking desk chairs in plain woods with high backs are a special feature in bedroom furniture, and come in all prices, from $3 for a plain, highly polished wood to $20 for the same thing but much more elaborate in design and finish. Very pretty desks may be bought to match for $8 upward. Decidedly the most expensive bedroom set is the caned, mounted in Circassian walnut. These came out last summer, but proved too expensive to become very popular. The head and foot of the bed are of cane, exactly as chairs are caned, with a narrow mounting of the wood highly carved. chairs, couch and dressing table to match. The price for the bedstead alone amounts to $200, and each of the otner furnishings is correspondingly high.

Draped dressing tables are certainly exquisite, but not quite so appropriate for summer cottages as for the city homes, although they are selling for that purpose. They are preferable draped in very light fabrics, such as China silk and crepy mull rather than the more substantial cretonnes and chintzes. Such a table will cost anywhere from $35 to $100.

Dimity would seem the most appropriate material for draperies or hangings, and specially pretty spreads, scarfs and bolster cases are seen in this fabric. Many women will welcome it, too, for it is not expensive, launders well and gives excellent service.

Each article is so simple in construction, too, that it can be easily made at home. Necessary materials are plain white lawn scalloped and buttonhoied on the edge in the color matching the figured material with or without the design. This comes by the yard and only needs gathering to form the frills. A three-quarter bed draped with a scalloped edge in red around the canopy, from which fell curtains finished to match, was charming. The spread had a square center of white dimity dotted with red, outlined by a border a foot wide, entirely of half inch tucks of plain white dimity. This reached the edge of the bed all around and was finished with the gathered flounce of the dotted goods. The bolster case was of the dotted material, the tucked white portions coming at the ends, then a frill of the plain edge with the scallops fell down over the sides of the bed. Bureau scarfs and other accessories matched, having the dotted center, then a plain tucked border edged with the scalloped frill, and certainly there is nothing that could possibly excel this material and design for summer bedroom furnishings. The curtains could be of plain white dimity trimmed with the scalloped frill or be entirely of the dotted material, if preferred.

INSTALLING THE RING.

Home Magazine: "Much as pains me to have to tell you, Mr. Simkins," said the fair Miss Robinson in tremulous tones, "I do not love you, and so cannot accept the ring you gave me. Please, will you take it back?"

"Oh, I could not dream of doing such a thing," said Simkins gravely; "pray keep it in remembrance of me and my broken heart."

"Thank you! A thousand thanks," murmured the girl; "how good, how generous you are! I shall never, never part with it!"

"Oh, that's all right," answered Simkins, with his hand on the door knob, "I'll tell the man you're solely responsible. You see, there are five monthly installments to pay on it yet. Good by!" And before the astonished Miss Robinson could reply, Simkins was running down the front door steps.

"The Smiths," by Keble Howard—"The Truth About the Congo," by Frederick Starr—"The Master of Stair," by Marjorie Bowen—"Shakespeare," by Walter Raleigh.

THE SMITHS. By Keble Howard. New York: McClure, Phillips & Co.

The name of this book couldn't well be plainer. The folks it tells about couldn't well be plainer. The story itself couldn't be plainer, either and that is just why it rings true and will take a tight grip on the hearts of its readers. Its author calls it "a comedy without a plot," and it has no plot, any more than the average human life has a plot. It tells about the courtship and marriage of a young English couple, about their children, and about a few of their friends and relatives. That's all, but the author couldn't well have written a more fascinating story if he had crammed his pages full of blood-curdling sensations, nor half so fascinating, for that matter. The people are English, but about the only difference that makes is that they reckon money in pounds instead of dollars. It is a fine, appealing story, and will be widely read.

THE TRUTH ABOUT THE CONGO. By Frederick Starr. Chicago: Forbes & Co. $1.

Much has been said and written in recent years about the conditions in the Congo Free State. Stories of so-called atrocities in connection with the rubber trade have been given wide publicity in England and also in this country, and some emotional people have endeavored to induce the United States government to take action looking to the redress of the wrongs which the natives of Congo are said to be suffering at the hands of the whites. Prof. Starr had read these stories and visited the Congo with the expectation of finding them verified in all respects. But he found conditions there quite different from what he expected, and, when he returned to America, decided to express no opinion upon the questions. Later, he yielded to the the solicitation of the Chicago Tribune and prepared a series of articles, which appeared in successive articles from Jan. 20 to Feb. 3 of the present year. He was bitterly attacked, and decided to publish the articles in book form, which has been done. Prof. Starr made no hasty journey, remaining in Congo country more than a year, and his opportunities for forming an opinion of conditions were exceptional. His journey was made at his own expense. He was not the representative of an institution, society or body, and his observations were untrammeled by any demands or conditions from outside. The story that he tells has the ring of honesty and it is free from the exaggerations which stick out prominently from the literature of the Congo Reform association. Says Prof. Starr: "Flogging, chain-gang, prison, mutilation, heavy taxation, hostages, depopulation—all these I saw, but at no time and at no place were they so flagrant as to force themselves upon attention. And of frightful outrages, such as I had expected to meet everywhere, I may almost say there was nothing." No one can read the story told by Prof. Starr without being impressed with the fact that the bitter attacks which have been made upon King Leopold and the Free State which he established were not prompted by humanitarian motives, but that the laudable impulses and praiseworthy sympathies of the English speaking people are being used for hidden and sinister ends of politics.

THE MASTER OF STAIR. By Marjorie Bowen. New York: McClure, Phillips & Co.

The new book by the author of "The Viper of Milan" bears out her promise of being a mistress of literary thrills. It relates to the days of William of Orange and to the deposed monarch across the water and the plots of his champions to reinstate him. Most of the scenes are laid in the wild and gloomy "Heilands" of Scotland, and a large proportion of the characters are Highlanders, full of wild and bitter passions and strongly possessed of the spirit of feud and revenge. The story is therefore amply supplied with incidents of blood and battle, of plot and counterplot, and of strong love and hate. It is also, for the same reason, rather an unpleasant story, though strong in plot and with its interest well sustained. Those who start upon it will finish it. There is no danger that they will lay it down sooner, but they will wish that the author had lightened it a little more with passions less sombre and with emotions less depressing.

THE INVADER. By Margaret L. Woods. New York: Harper & Bros.

This is a book which promises to arouse unusual interest. It is a unique story of dual personality; the story of two women in one. Mildred Flaxman, the heroine, is, for part of the time, what may be termed her normal self, and then is good, simple, devout, and meek. The rest of the time, however, she is a very different person, and is alluring, enticing, and seductive. Her husband falls in love with one personality, and is puzzled and dismayed when he meets the other. And the curious part of it all is, the wife is jealous of her own self—jealous of the fact that her husband is passionately adoring when she is one person and coldly critical when she is another. Another man falls madly in love with one personality, and then is bewildered and checked by the other. How the story works out, with its dramatic and astonishing possibilities, is of strong and piquant interest, and all is told with a quiet and natural air of verisimilitude.

SHAKESPEARE. By Walter Raleigh. New York: The Macmillan company. 75 cents.

No English scholar could write more acceptably on Shakespeare than Prof. Walter Raleigh, author of the volume that has just been published in the English Men of Letters series. Prof. Raleigh combines happily the exact scholarship demanded by modern students and the critical spirit of the older Shakespeare commentators. His book is therefore a perfectly reliable outline of the facts of Shakespeare's life; and it is also critical essay displaying originality and insight in no small degree, and forming a genuine addition to the enormous body of Shakespearean criticism. When the difficulty of the subject is taken into consideration, Prof. Raleigh must be credited with one of the most remarkable books in the series to which this volume belongs.

This amusing little skit, in the characteristic vein of the author of "Pigs is Pigs," appears in the diverting series of humorous short story booklets being issued from the McClure press. Two village loafers, delivering the pies their wives have made, fall to speculating upon the formation of a pie trust, and the manner in which their dreams expand, to be shattered by the jarring of reality, is very funny.

THE SIAMESE CAT. By Henry Milner Rideout. New York: McClure, Phillips & Co.

A mighty entertaining story of adventure in the Far East, in which an uncanny cat, some desperate characters, and a valuable jewel form the ingredients, has been concocted by Mr. Rideout. The plot is well managed, the story well told and the thrills are delicately distributed and well sustained. It is eminently readable and full of incident, with a spice of rather cryptic local color in the shape of pigeon English and Siamese terms.

Literary Gossip.

The bewilderment of a strange language and unknown skies prevents many an American from enjoying his first days in the French capital. To obviate this and make every hour of one's visit pleasant and profitable, Miss E. Otis Williams writes and A. C. McClurg & Co. publish "Sojourning, Shopping and Studying in Paris," a book which justifies its comprehensive title. Making its first appeal to the woman visitor, it still contains instructions which will greatly assist the men as well to get the best out of the most interesting city in Europe, if not in the world.

One of the literary magazines recently announced that a careful examination of reviews showed that "The Awakening of Helena Richie" had won the unique distinction of receiving the approval of every reviewer, and that although some, of course, criticised certain portions, not one failed to praise far more than to criticise, thus putting it beyond question that the book is a contribution to real literature.

The errors of the poor, overworked reviewer, who has to run while he reads, are occasionally very amusing. Recently appeared in a New York daily, famous throughout the country for its delicious flippancy, a column-long notice of "The Turn of the Balance," Brand Whitlock's new novel. The column was headed, "In Dark Chicago," and the terrible conditions portrayed were located in Chicago with the Sun's accustomed relish. Yet from every page of the book stares plain and unmistakable evidence that the scene is not in Chicago at all, but Toledo, which Whitlock governs now as mayor.

Miss Florence Wilkinson, author of "The Silent Door and the Far Country," was recently asked by a friend why, if she loved poetry so well, she ever wrote prose. Her answer to this was that one friend does not suffice for all. Prose is also a joy, and, although it never brings the same pure delight of the poetic inspiration, yet it comes to one as a necessity, not as a choice. It is not the first thought and then the selection of form; the term is born simultaneously with the expression.

Admirers of Antonio Fogazzaro, the greatest of modern Italian novelists, will be pleased to learn that his new romance, "The Woman," is to be published by the J. B. Lippincott company in May. This author's novels of Italian life, "The Saint," "The Sinner," and "The Patriot," have met with intense favor at home and abroad.

It has been printed in many papers that "The Silent Door," by Florence Wilkinson, published by McClure, Phillips & Co. this spring, is this author's first novel. This is a mistake, as she has had two novels published previously, namely, "The Strength of the Hills," published by Harper Brothers, and "The Lady of the Flag-Flowers," published by Herbert S. Stone.

Among the Magazines.

Jack London's latest story of the Alaskan wilds appears in Success Magazine for May. The terrible suffering of a prospector lost, and at last driven to madness in the snow-heaped fastnesses of the Yukon fields, gives this gifted writer opportunity for a wonderful display of his magnificent descriptive powers. This story, "Morganson's Finish," will rank as one of Jack London's greatest portrayals of character and depictions of the awful loneliness of the Arctic winter. A new presentation of Christian Science is given in Mrs. Sue H. Mim's "The Christianity of Christian Science." Mrs. Mims, who is a society woman and a well known writer and lecturer on Christian Science in the South, argues for the Scriptural basis of the doctrines taught by Mrs. Eddy, and claims that the teachings of this religious order are in a large measure a reversion to the purest beliefs of the primitive Christian church.

The Popular Science Monthly for May contains the following articles: "The Jamaica Earthquake," by Prof. Charles Brown of Brown university; "The Development of Telephone Service," by Fred DeLand; "Sight and Seeing in Ancient Times," by Prof. Charles W. In many respects the May Atlantic is memorable for its contributions about the late Thomas Bailey Aldrich. Bliss Perry contributes a biography and study of Mr. Aldrich and his writings. There also appear two brief poems of "occasional" quality on Mr. Aldrich's death. These are "The Poet's Sleep," by Richard Watson Gilder, and "The Shadow on the Flower," by Edith M. Thomas. Frank Haigh Dixon's "Railroad Accidents" deals exhaustively with the problem in this country and in England, and shows that a federal board of inspection is needed for a thorough and permanent revision. Prof. Thomas R. Lounsbury, popularly now known as the spelling reformer, contributes scholarly and humorous "Confessions." Robin Lynde Hartt's paper on "The Amusement Park" evolves an interesting psychology of this American institution, and in these spring repairing days is especially appropriate.

The May numbers of the Youth's Companion will be noteworthy for several contributions by distinguished educators. President Seelye of Smith college tells why a girl, or rather most girls, should go to college. Prof. L. H. Bailey of the Cornell College of Agriculture records "A Farm Boy's Summer," showing what he found of pleasure and profit in the world about him in the midst of the busiest season of the year. William H. Maxwell, superintendent of schools in Greater New York, contributes an illuminating article on "The Teacher and Her Opportunities."

The front cover page of the May American Boy with its fine illustrations of a power boat scudding through the water, bring a foretaste of summer pleasures. The contents of the magazine will suit the taste of every healthy minded reader. Increasing interest will be manifested in the continued chapters of the serials by Tomlinson, Sprague, Stratemeyer, Shute and Ellis. Boating and sailing occupies a prominent place, as there are articles on: "Hints for Yachtsmen," giving the rules of the "road at sea," with information as to nautical terms, light, buoys, etc.; "Canoeing," telling all about this favorite water sport; "How to Build a Twelve-foot Rowing Skiff," by following which a boy with some mechanical aptitude can build a boat at very little expense; and a fine story of a boat race entitled "The Vindication of the Vesper."

The principal feature of the May number of the Reviews of Reviews are a letter from President Roosevelt on the subject of race suicide; a paper on "The Fate of the Second Russian Duma," by Alexis Aladin; "The Peace Congress in New York," by W. Millard; an account of the examinations for the consular service recently held in Washington for the first time; "Wall Street's Crisis and the Country," by Charles F. Speare; "Public Industrial Education," by Assistant Secretary of Agriculture Hays; and a group of illustrated articles on the state park movement in Massachusetts and New York.

The May number of the Van Norden Magazine contains several articles of particular interest at this time. "Today in Russia" is a terse statement of conditions there by a man who was an imperial official and turned revolutionist. The article on "Financial Japan," by Baron Shibusawa, shows that little Japan is having on a small scale the experiences with "high finance" that we know about. "The South's Immigration Problem" is of timely interest, also the articles on the methods of the New York cotton exchange and on the legislative crusade against bucket shops.

"The Backsliding of Philadelphia" is the arresting title of the leading article in Harper's Weekly for May 4. In it T. Everett Harrys ets forth with caustic vividness the lamentable fate that has overtaken one of the greatest of American commonwealths. Following the most brilliant victory over a political machine ever achieved by a city in the United States, says Mr. Harry, "Philadelphia—of her own choice—has returned to the same corrupt gang which misruled and plundered her." Under the title "The Law—Or the Police?" Robert Jeremiah Cole tells of the hand which one New York city magistrate has taken unbidden in an old-established police game.

It is a good thing, both for the education of the public and for the writing of history in the future, that there exists in this country a first class weekly which keeps a pictorial record of the world's events. While other journals of the illustrated variety devote most of their space to fiction and pictures of no timely interest, Leslie's Weekly, the oldest illustrated paper in the United States, continues now, as from the first, to present to the eye the occurrences of the time. The latest evidence of this appears in the current issue of that paper in the shape of photographs of the fearful earthquake in Mexico and of the scenes of two disastrous fires in the Philippine Islands. Other illustrations of an up to date character include Secretary Taft's visit to Porto Rico, a leading baseball game, the new photo contest, and notable happenings abroad.

HAPPIEST WOMEN IN WORLD

Are the Wives and Slaves of the Turkish Harem Asserts Demetra Vaka Brown, Wife of the Noted Litterateur.

The happiest woman in the world! Where is she to be found? America proudly lays claim to possessing the most beautiful and intellectual of women, France points to the splendid vivacity and daintiness of her gentle sex, England boasts the British matron, and so it goes; each nation patriotically holds its head aloft in the insistment that in all the world "our women" lead all others in this particular characteristic, or that particular virtue. Every land that boasts a flag extols the virtue of its women folk. But the happiest of women! Where are they to be found?

Demetra Vaka Brown, traveler, student, authoress and wife of noted litterateur and editor, Kenneth Brown, says the happiest women in all the world abide in Turkey—the land of flowers and dreams, where love is all in all, the land where the life of peace, the thought of purity, and the appreciation of all that is beautiful in nature, has found, perhaps, its highest development—the land of the "unspeakable Turk."

A Woman's Answer.

"Hoy silly," said Mrs. Brown when she heard the axiomatic characterization. "How shallow—how little is known of Turkey and its customs—you suppose the women of the harem are unhappy—they are the happiest women in the world. I have talked and lived with the wives of Selim Pasha, four in all, and discussed the very problems that arise at once in the American mind as soon as this question of the Turkish harem is mooted—they have told me their stories, their hopes, their fears—and they are happy, very, very happy. I have lived in other Turkish households, and everywhere I have found that happiness is the rule, not the exception. In America I have lived ten years, and I have seen two happy American women. They were happy because their husbands were passionately in love with them. Women's happiness depends on love, you know, and on love alone."

"But, Mrs. Brown," I asked, "would you be happy with a quarter of a husband?"

"Show me," she replied, "the woman who has the whole of a husband."

She pursed her pretty mouth and brought into play a small array of tiny wrinkles that furrowed up her dainty forehead when I asked if she thought the Turkish mode of life would bring happiness in the United States. She seemed at a loss for an answer. She shrugged her little shoulders, and shook her head with half a "yes" and half a "no," and then she sighed rather than said: "Perhaps not—no—perhaps not—but what does that mean?—you don't understand—it is the point of view, the mental process from which their happiness springs. Perhaps you must understand the religion of the Turkish woman to conceive why she is happy—even then it may be difficult. It should be explained."

Has Lived in the Harem.

I was anxious to hear the explanation, and especially from such a source. For Mrs. Brown is a woman of superior intellect and with great power of observation and analysis. She has lived as a guest in the harem. She has mingled in the closest relationship with the highest types of Turkish wives. She has heard their secrets, listened to their heart stories, and spent years in closest communion with the most intellectual and lovable of these flowers of Allah. If she said these women were the happiest women in all the world, surely there must be some reason for it.

"Remember," she said, in warning, "I do not indorse the harem; neither do I condemn it. I do not give an opinion. I simply tell you of what I have seen—what I know—that the Turkish women are equally as intelligent as the American women, indeed many of them far more so, and that happiness, great happiness, is the invariable rule. In the articles I have written that are appearing in Appleton's Magazine, I express no personal opinion. I just relate exact conversations as they took place, and set down happenings of fact. From these pictures of harem life, those who run may read.

"You must judge for yourself whether it is best to have four wives or one," she added, with a charming touch of humor.

SACREDNESS OF MOTHERHOOD.

Sacredness of Motherhood.

A hundred questions arose in my mind. What of divorce—what of intrigue—what of the future generation—what of this horrifying system of selling women into slavery—what of the vile potential storm of immorality that must result from a system that permits a man having as many wives as he may choose to buy—what of the passions aroused in human nature, the love of man, the hatred, the revenge, the jealousy, the crime, and so on ad infinitum. But the first sentence of this charming traveler's story checked the flood of thought at once.

"You see," she said, "the child is the most sacred thing in Turkey. The birth of a child immediately sanctifies marriage—it is the law. The bearer of the first child is the first wife. There is no such thing in Turkey as the illegitimacy of children. Women's holy mission is to become a mother—this is the will and the law of Allah. Nothing is so sweet, so glorifying to the Turkish woman as the thought of motherhood. And only those women are ignored who fail to reproduce their kind. There is no race suicide in Turkey. The holy thought of motherhood is the perfect state there."

"Some one once said," I remarked, "I forget just whom, and it does not matter, that, after all, the Scioto were stoics, but that, after all, the Christendom do you find a Christian?"

Happiness of Slavery.

"True," said Mrs. Brown, "true. It might be said of Turkey. The Turkish religion has done much better for the Turks than the Christian religion has done for the Christians. Then you see most children are sold at once into slavery, so the question of expense plays little part in the bringing of large families into the world."

The remark seemed horrifying. But the explanation placed it in a differen light.

"You see," continued the speaker, "slavery is not slavery as you understand it. It carries with it no disgrace. The slaves are practically the equals of their mistresses. Frequently they marry the same husband. They perform their duties, which are very light, and then they sit at the feet of their mistresses and at once they are in perfect communion. They sew together, they talk together on terms of equality. And they have very little to do. No slave works more than four hours a day. And the work is so easy. The houses are not filled with a lot of unnecessary furniture. The floors are covered with rugs—possibly there is a table, and two or three divans—that is all."

The Duty of the Rich.

"And their education?" I asked.

"They are all educated. Ignorance is a disgrace to the rich. If a man have four sons, then he must take three of the sons of the poor and educate them with his own. Each man in his sphere must help his poorer neighbor. The hoarding of vast fortunes is impossible. You see a man must buy a wife for his son. This usually is done when the boy is 17 or 18. Usually, except among the very high personages, he buys a slave—you must remember there is no stigma in slavery. There is no caste. The purchase price becomes the dowry of the wife, and no one can take it from her. As a matter of fact, slaves in Turkey are far more free than women in America.

"Later in life a man may purchase as many wives as he chooses. Four is the usual number, though lately many Turks have no more than one on account of the great expense. You see, if one wife has two servants, so must the others. Then they don't live in the same house as the husband, so the expense of a large household is very heavy.

"I suppose all this seems quite strange, but you know the Turkish woman does not think it wrong in man that he loves another woman. It is that Allah has made him that way. One of the wives of Selim Pasha, Djimlah, a sweet and lovable creature, talked quite confidentially to me of this subject one day in her apartment. She loved her husband with a deep and abiding love that knew no doubt.

The Philosophy of Djimlah.

"'Djimlah,' I said to her, 'wouldn't that love be stronger if he loved only you?' She caressed my hand and smiled so sweetly at me, as she replied: 'My little one, don't make this mistake in life. If you were the most intelligent woman in the world, the most entertaining, the most brilliant, the most beautiful, you could never be everything to your husband. That is the way Allah has made them: that is the way all of them are—and those that are not are good for nothing.' I asked her if the women too did not need more than one in their lives. She smiled again, her wise smile. 'Women are not like men,' she said. 'Women, good women, natural women, are mothers above all. Their hearts are filled the moment they become mothers. All their efforts, their ambition, their love settles on the head of the child.'

Story of a Woman's Slippers.

"And what of the divorce conditions?" I suggested.

"If a man says, three times, 'Go, you are free,' a wife is divorced. She takes her dowry, of course.

"A woman secures divorce simply by leaving her husband. She has nothing to explain."

"I presume, however, that at times she notifies him of her intention, as a matter of politeness?" I suggested.

"There," said Mrs. Brown, "you laugh again—it is because you cannot see their viewpoint. In very high circles, at times, if a woman wants freedom and her husband wishes to retain her, and her family is opposed to the separation, she will appeal to the sultan. In eight cases out of ten she is freed. But there is very little divorce. You see there is no theater—there are no places where men gather for amusement and where women are present. There is no way for men to be amused by women outside of their own homes. A man does not know even how many wives his neighbor has. The women keep to the house. They are rarely ever seen on the streets, and their faces are covered. When one woman visits another, she leaves her slippers at the entrance to the passage connecting the houses of the husband and wife, and when he sees slippers there, even the husband may not enter his wife's apartment.

The Turkish Flirt.

"There is no rush, no bustle. Time to the Turk is a limitless quantity from which he can take as much as he pleases and leave as much as he pleases. He differs widely in every way and in every thought from the European. He has abolished entirely the spirit of restlessness. And so has the Turkish woman. So they love their lives. What you conceive to be confinement forms their great happiness."

"But the amusements?"

"The bath—then sometimes they go to the cemetery for a picnic—possibly an ox drive in the afternoon."

"And don't these rather exciting diversions lead to flirtation?" I suggested.

Mrs. Brown pursed up her little mouth again and nodded her head.

"But you see a Turkish flirt has all the best of it. She may flirt, but a man may not flirt back. This phase of the life is very amusing. A great number of pretty women taking an ox drive may get possessed of the spirit of teasing, and when they do they will laugh and throw flowers at the man in question. Then they gaze with their great soft eyes at him as he walks along. But he may not notice this. He may not even look at them. If he does some one of the street is sure to stop and reprimand him.

That Curse of Rivalry.

"There is a beautiful simplicity in the Turkish woman. They are completely honest. They will discuss with perfect candor the physical failings of the other. There is no spirit of jealousy. Fancy an American woman saying to her friend: 'Is it not too bad that your nose is turned up at the end?' and another American woman answering: 'Yes, it is; you see that is why I dress my hair so; don't you think that makes my nose look better?' This often happens in Turkey and 'yes' or 'no' might be the answer. I think it is this simplicity that makes greatly for the happiness of the Turkish women. American women and European women are comparative. They are always vieing with each other for the favor of a man. Women talking together are relaxed. Let a man enter the room and both are changed instantly. The affections may play no part. But each woman wants the attention of the man. She desires to outdistance her rival—the Turkish women have no rivals. It is this strain, this artificiality that makes the American women as a class so boresome. Always they are competing. Always they are trying to impress you with their knowledge, and no matter how much knowledge they have they are always craving for more.

The American Slave.

"The American woman is a slave in every sense of the word. She is the slave of fashion—if her neighbor has two maids then she must have three—she is the slave of convention—she chains herself by her spirit of unrest, her grasping for more. No matter what she is, or what she has, she is still unsatisfied; she always thinks there are other worlds to conquer and to gain. I know the French woman, I know the Greek woman, I know the English woman, I know the American woman, and I know the Turkish woman, and of all the Turkish woman is by far too happiest. Why, may be an unanswerable question. And she is intellectual. It is not the happiness of ignorance. Of course, I know American women who are perfectly charming and delightful and lovable, but as a class they are dreadfully tiresome and woefully unhappy. They are intellectual bugbears."

COUNTY COMMISSIONERS TAKE ANNUAL TRIP OVER MILLER TRUNK ROAD TO SEE THE CONDITIONS FOR THEMSELVES

They Drive From Eveleth to Duluth in One Day.

Trip is One of No Little Inconvenience and Hardship.

Some Incidents of Trip "Snapped" by Herald Man.

The annual trip over the Miller Trunk road between Duluth and Eveleth, a distance of sixty miles, is a duty, not a pleasure, of the board of county commissioners. Perhaps if the trip were taken during the summer season, after the roads have dried out, it might partake of both a duty and a pleasure, but so long as the commissioners continue to make it about the last of April or the first of May, it will continue to be a duty, nothing else.

The last annual trip was made Tuesday of this week, with a Herald representative as one of the party. The newspaper man wanted to gain an idea of the nature of the country through which the Miller Trunk road runs and the condition of the roads when the frost is coming out in the spring. He had ample opportunity for both and acquired, incidentally, numerous sore spots on his anatomy, caused by riding on a seat over a tamarack pole tied between the springs to keep them from breaking when the wheels went into the holes in the road. There were others in the same predicament, however.

The accompanying pictures were taken on the trip, the newspapers man being the official photographer.

The trip was too hard for the teams to make clear through so a change of horses was effected near the Whiteface river, about forty miles from Duluth, two teams from this city, which were sent up the day before, meeting the commissioners and their party, and the Eeveleth rigs returning.

George Perham of the Eveleth News and correspondent of the Duluth morning paper had an inclination to make the trip also, but turned back at the Whiteface river. Mr. Perham noted the condition of the Duluth rigs and heard the drivers tell their experiences, after which he decided that his business required his presence at home.

One of the pictures shows the commissioners partaking of the noonday lunch on the bank of the Whiteface river. The lunch was prepared at the home of A. J. Shea of Ely lake, who was foreman of the Miller Trunk road work last year. The lunch was all that could be desired even if Mayor Jensmore, who drove one of his own rigs from Eveleth, did take the cream back with him. Commissioner Edward M. Patterson made the coffee so that the cream was not really a necessary adjunct of the spread.

There was one larceny reported on the trip. The box containing Commissioner McInnis' lunch happened to be carried in the rig other than that in which the owner was riding, and he was shy several doughnuts at noon. It was currently rumored that Commissioner Ryan was the guilty man and the rumor was strengthened by the fact that Mr. Ryan was seen munching some doughnuts late in the afternoon.

It was Commissioner George Tischer's first official trip over the road, although he used to travel it years ago as a private citizen. Mr. Tischer thought the water in Whiteface river tasted about the the same as it did several years ago.

The picture of a man on a walking stunt over the corduroy bridge is that of U. S. Grant McMahon, the new commissioner from Ely, pacing off the length of the bridge. Mr. McMahon was fairly caught in the act.

The other group picture shows the board examining the condition of the bridge. The structure in question spans Nelson's creek three times in a distance of 400 feet, and the commissioners have decided to dig a short connecting waterway between two necks of the stream, which will cut off two of the crossings. The remaining portion of the stream will have a new bridge, and the old corduroy structure up to the bridge will be filled in. The bridge is in a very unsafe condition at the present time.

The picture with the rigs was taken after the party had left the bridge. Commissioner Kauppi was just a little late, and was caught in the act of going over the hind wheel.

The Miller Trunk road was named after Former Commissioner Charles Miller, who is claimed to have been responsible for its construction. The road was built about eighteen or twenty years ago, the idea being to establish communication by highway between Duluth and the ranges. The county was bonded in the amount of about $150,000 to build the road. There were a number of things connected with the past history of the road that the public has forgotten to some extent in the lapse of years, and the people are now most interested in its future improvement.

The Miller Trunk road, although it runs through the districts of Commissioner Kauppi and Commissioner Ryan, is really in a road district by itself, the supervision of which comes under the board as a whole. Every year a certain amount of money is appropriated from the road funds for the special purpose of repairing the Miller Trunk road, and the board designates where the money shall be spent.

In the case of the other road districts, the commissioners in charge are given appropriations, with the understanding that they spend the money where they deem improvement most needed, and account for the same to the board.

There has been a great deal of agitation, with a view of having the Miller Trunk road put in such condition that it will be a good automobile route between Duluth and the range. Last summer a number of automobiles were driven over the road, but they found some portions of the road in bad condition. The county board is doing as much repair work as it can every year with the money available, and will this year improve some portions of the highway that have not been touched since the road was first b uilt. The road is an important avenue of communication between the southern and northern ends of the county, and, from the fact that it crosses some vast swamps, would be expensive to duplicate. It would require a large amount of money to do all the work that should be done on the road, and the best that the commissioners can do is to make each annual appropriation go as far as it will with the ultimate hope of getting over the entire route. The $5,000 available this year will be spent on the worst places in the road, and it is certain that by next year even the automobile owners will find a noticeable improvement, taking into consideration the fact that a good wagon road is not always a good automobile road.

NEWS OF THE WEEK AT CENTRAL HIGH SCHOOL

Junior Class Wins a Spirited Debate From the Seniors.

Seniors Challenge Faculty to Ball Game—Zeniths Nearly Ready.

In a debate that was the best which the high school has witnessed for a long time, the juniors of the school won from the seniors Friday morning. The question was, "Resolved, That the Policy of Substantially Increasing the United States Navy Is Preferable to Maintaining it at Its Present Strength and Efficiency."

The wining team was composed of Oscar Helam, Andrew Meldahl, and Frank Rich, while the seniors were represented by David Fieldman, Frank Boerner and Richard Hodgeson. All of the speakers were well equipped with strong arguments and delivered them in a forceful manner. Oscar Helam for the juniors proved himself a master of sarcasm and ridicule, and kept the audience in a continual laugh with his witty remarks which were cogent and to the point.

Substantially increasing the navy was taken to mean the addition of at least two battleships a year and a corresponding number of subsidiary vessels at each congressional term.

The affirmative argued that the present strength can be taken to mean only those ships that are actually built and not any that are in the process of building. They argued that the navy should be increased for three reasons, namely, for economy, national security, and peace. On the point of economy they argued that war in the future is a possibility either with Japan or Russia and said that it is cheapest to prepare for war in time of peace, and also argued that a large navy enables a nation to carry on the war outside of the country and thus saves much money and loss of life.

They called attention to the great number of foreign possessions which the United States control, and said that these are very important as strategic points and that a large navy is necessary to defend them. They also argued that this country has great responsibilities to uphold both at home and abroad and that it, as the storehouse of a large part of the world, should be secured against attack.

As for the maintaining of peace they quoted an editorial which appeared in The Herald not long ago to the effect that the millennium has not yet come when the wolf shall lie down with the lamb, and argued that the best way to keep peace is to make ourselves secure against war. They urged that peace cannot be kept without a large navy, as we would have to trust to the good will of the nations.

They asserted that the pensions which are paid out for deaths or serious wounds received in war are greater than the taxation which would be required to build up a large navy and thus secure the country against warfare.

In answer to the argument that it is cheaper to prepare for war in time of peace the negative replied that the country is already prepared, as the present strength is large enough to provide for the national security. They introduced facts to show that the navy of the United States is second only to that of Great Britain, and said that there is no danger from that direction as England has removed all her garrisons and fleets from American waters.

They urged that the increase of the navy would be detrimental to the high moral standard of the United States, arguing that a nation which goes armed is likely to pull its weapons on the slightest provocation. They said that this country had been the prime exponent of peace and that it should not degrade itself now.

They urged that the increase of the navy would increase the fighting spirit of the country and make this nation the most feared country in the world and said that the United States does not want hatred and fear, but honest respect.

They spoke of the great amount of internal improvements which could be effected with the money which is paid out in taxes to support the navy and closed with an appeal that the United States should remain the beacon light of peace and prosperity.

Miss Noyes and Professors Ulrich and Crull acted as judges and returned a decision in favor of the negative, which was supported by the juniors.

The senior president, thinking the occasion opportune, announced the challenge of the seniors to the faculty to engage in the annual baseball contest. He remarked that, owing to the scarcity of men on the faculty, females would not be barred.

Principal Smith said that he was unprepared to accept the challenge, but would consider it and return the answer in a short time, thanking the president for his magnanimous offer to admit the women into the contest.

Zenith Nearly Ready.

All the material for the Zenith has been handed in to the printer, and the book is about ready to go to press. The board has established a record this year for geting the material in early, and this is conducive to a better book.

Last year the Zenith did not go to press until about a week before the close of school, and as a consequence the books were really not fit for sale when they were brought up to the school, as they had not seasoned. The result was that the books went to pieces after a little while, if they received much handling. This year the board has certainly taken time by the forelock, and has provided against a repetition of any such disaster.

Editor Ely and everyone on the board, while they do not wish to reveal any of the contents of the book, have intimated that when it comes out it will make everyone sit up and take notice.

More and better drawings have been received than in any previous year, and the stories, poems and jokes are of the highest order. The book will be larger this year than ever before, and will be filled with interesting reading matter and attractive illustrations. This year's board is the largest that has ever had charge of a Zenith, but they have all had their hands full, and are fully satisfied with the results.

Business Manager Cant has done some tall hustling in scaring up "ads," and has already eclipsed last year's record by having secured about $430 worth of advertisements. He has not stopped yet, and promises to get still more before the book goes to press. This practically assures the financial success of the book, as the students are sure to buy all the copies that are put on sale, and the two together will pay all the expenses, according to the expectations of the board.

The books will not be on sale until near the close of the school year. When they are ready, those who have slips will be entitled to the first pick.

Philomathian Society.

A large number of girls attended the meeting of the Philomathian society which was held Monday, as it was the last program that will be given this year. The rest of the time will be taken up with studying and preparation for the examinations and no more meetings will be held until next year.

The main feature of the program was an entertaining and inspiring address that was given by Mrs. Seymour on "The Appreciation of Art, and Striving for High Ideals." Mrs. Seymour said that the term art is taken too literally by most people, as referring only to painting, music, etc., while it really means the power of appreciating true worth in any line.

She said that girls and boys and some adults are always ready to laugh at the faults in anything instead of looking for the good points, and condemned this attitude as unfair to the one who is striving to do the best he can.

Mrs. Seymour then directed her remarks toward the life of Keats, giving a short sketch of his life, and speaking of some of his best known works, particularly his "Powers of Poesy."

She read several of Keats' selections and praised his poem entitled "The Nightengale," advising the girls to study it and try to appreciate its beauty.

A piano selection was rendered in a pleasing manner by Dorothy Olcott and a humorus recitation was given by Ethel Scribner. The program was closed by a violin solo which was delightfully played by Senta Erd.

Sophomores Meet.

A rather lifeless meeting of the sophomore class was held last Wednesday and only routine business was transacted.

David Duncan, captain of the sopohomore track team, said that very little had been done toward getting in shape for the interclass meet owing to the disagreeable weather which has prevailed for the last few weeks. However, now that it shows signs of clearing up, he urged the boys to get out and practice, as it would be a great humiliation to them if they should be defeated by the freshmen in the meet. He called attention to the short time that remains before the met and said that it will be necessary to begin practice at once if the class is to make a good showing.

The president closed the meeting by roasting the members for their lack of enthusiasm and class spirit.

Principal Smith Speaks.

On Wednesday morning Principal Smith spoke to the students upon marine matters and particularly of the part which the United States government plays in navigation. He quizzed the pupils about the duties of the government in regard to the improvement of harbors and rivers and told of the immense work which it has done toward dredging channels and increasing the safety of navigation in many other ways.

He spoke of the opening of navigation and the great amount of commerce which is carried on in the Duluth harbor, and explained to the students that all the commerce is controlled by the war department in a way, as this is the department of government which has charge of marine matters.

He explained that the former method of appropriations was by the rivers and harbors committee and said that this was not alway fair, as the congressman, who had the most pull was usually the one who secured the largest appropriations for his district irrspective of the actual needs of the locality.

For instance, he said, if Congressman Rede from our district would bring stronger influence to bear than some other member of the committee he would secure a larger appropriation for Duluth than the other congressmen could secure for their districts.

Mr. Smith then went on to say that this has been changed, as a commission of experts has been appointed to examine all such matters and make all appropriations according to need. He cited as an example the visit of the government experts to Duluth recently to consider the advisability of certain marine matters relating to the protection of the local harbor.

The new system, said Mr. Smith, is a great improvement as there is less graft in it; and it is an example of the modern tendency toward impartiality in the administration of public affairs.

High School Notes.

The senior essays were due last Friday and most of them have been handed in. The English teachers are busy correcting them and it will probably be some time before the best ones are selected.

* * *

At a special meeting of the junior class, which was held last Wednesday, it was decided to send flowers to the funeral of Inga Lofald, a former member of the class who died the first part of this week.

* * *

The regular meeting of the Musical society was not held last week, but will probably take place next Tuesday.

* * *

The books for the senior play have arrived and have been examined by Prof. Custance. Some of the characters have already been selected and the rehearsals will be commenced as soon as the remainder of the cast can be picked.

* * *

Owing to the absence of Prof. Crull on last Thursday, some of his classes did not recite. The others recited to Principal Smith.

* * *

The meeting of the Schillerbund, which was to have been held last Thursday, has been postponed.

* * *

Principal Smith has asked the students to look up the duties of the United States consuls and be ready to report on them in chapel in the near future.

PERFECT HEALTH.

Health is man's and woman's birthright.

The fault with many who do not enjoy perfect health lies in the fact that they place their reliance in drugs, while the trouble is in the diet.

"MOOSE BRAND BEER"
Is a highly nutritive food beverage and coupled with an otherwise well chosen diet, it is a powerful agent for health.

Its regular use creates energy, builds up wasted tissues and enriches the blood. It stimulates appetite, promotes digestion and induces sound, refreshing sleep.

Get a case of Moose Beer and use it at meal times. If you are debilitated, it will restore you. If you are well, it will give you added vigor.

LABOR

TO MEET IN NEW HALL

Next Meeting of Trades Assembly in Kalamazoo Block.

Old Labor World Hall Leased by Railway Company.

The next, meeting of the Duluth trades assembly will be held at the new quarters which have been engaged in the Kalamazoo hall by the hall committee appointed several weeks ago to look up a new location. The members have been holding their meetings in the old Labor World hall for several years and many warm debates and arguments have been fought there.

It was made necessary for the assembly and the various other trades organizations which have been meeting at Labor World hall to move, as the lease expired May 1 and the Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic railroad wished to take possession of the hall for office purposes. At the meeting of the assembly a week ago a partition had already been built across the hall and only one half of the space was available for the meeting.

At Kalamazoo hall the unions will be better accommodated than was possible at the old Labor World hall, as there will be more room for the meetings. In addition to the hall proper, several club rooms and committee rooms will be placed at the disposal of the unions. A number of the unions have been making Kalamazoo hall their headquarters for some time.

Nearly all of the unions which have been meeting at Labor World hall have now gone to the Kalamazoo hall and it will probably be the general labor headquarters for the city from this time on until a labor temple is erected by the unions.

It is the plan of the Duluth unions to eventually build a labor temple or headquarters of their own, but this idea was given up for this year, as the unionists think that the project of building the labor pavilion at Fairmont park is enough for one year.

THREE NEW UNIONS.

Labor Movement in Duluth Receives a Fresh Impetus.

The union labor movement in Duluth is flourishing in good shape this spring and during the last two weeks three new unions have been added to the list of organizations in the city.

W. E. McEwen, secretary of the State Federation of Labor, has organized the hoisting engineers, the Proctor shopmen and the garment workers of Duluth. Temporary officers have been elected by each of the new organizations.

The charter for the hoisting engineers has been sent for and is expected to be here this week and that for the Proctor Shopmen is now here. The union will be installed this evening.

The first meeting of the garment workers will be held next Wednesday evening at Kalamazoo hall.

MEET TOO OFTEN.

Monthly Meetings Advocated by Members of Pavilion Association.

Members of the Duluth Pavilion association are now making a move to hold meetings but once a month instead of every week as has been the custom for the past several months. They think that they can accomplish all the necessary business at one meeting a month or anyway at two meetings, and that four a month are too many.

The association consists of delegates from all of the unions which have an interest in the Fairmont pavilion. The number of delegates consists in the amount of stock which each of the unions hold.

It is the duty of the members of the board to attend to all the business concerning the labor pavilion, but the members think that one meeting a month will be sufficient.

Call Special Meeting.

Members of the Duluth Longshoremen's union No. 2 will hold a special meeting next Monday evening at Great Eastern hall, West Duluth, and important business will be transacted. The election of officers for the ensuing year will be held. The meeting will be called at 8 o'clock.

Typos Will Meet.

Members of the Duluth Typographical union will hold a regular meeting tomorrow afternoon in the Builders' Exchange hall, Lyceum building. This will be the first meeting since the move was made from Labor World hall. The nomination of officers for the ensuing year will take place.

There is no want ad. printed in The Herald to-day which does not strongly interest at least ten people—and there are some that will strongly interest thousands.

HUGHES RAPS KELSEY ACTION

New York's Governor Declares Insurance Reform is Blocked.

Elmira, N. Y., May 4.—Discussing the vote in the state senate Thursday night against the removal of Superintendent of Insurance Kelsey, Governor Hughes harked back to the insurance investigation in a speech here last night, declaring that "all the corruption found was under state control." He then told of the enactment of the insurance law, and said:

"Those who have been grossly derelict in their duty, and through whose neglect or connivance alone the abuses to which I have referred had been made possible, were retained in relations of trust and confidence, and were rewarded as suitable channels for the information, in accordance with which the state authority was to be exercised.

"The people of the state expected, and had a right to expect, that I would endeavor to have the insurance department put upon a basis which would command the confidence of the policyholders of the United States. And it is inimical to honest and proper administration that when such a condition exists there should be a lack of executive power to bring administration methods up to the standards demanded by the people."

Cure for Drunkenness.

Orrine Treatment is to be Used at Home Without Publicity, or Loss of Time From Business.

Thousands of persons who really want to quit the use of whisky or beer, realize that they cannot do so without medical help, yet they can not afford the time or perhaps the money to go to a sanitarium. Happily a new cure for drunkenness has been discovered, which is to be taken at home and costs less than the average drinker will spend in a day for drink.

In using Orrine there is absolutely no publicity, as the remedy is sold by the leading druggists in nearly every city and town, or it can be sent by mail. Sure relief is positive when Orrine is used. So uniformly successful is this treatment that in every box is a registered guarantee which entitles you to a refund of your money if Orrine fails to effect a cure.

Orrine is in two forms, No. 1, a secret remedy, absolutely tasteless and odorless, which can be given in food or drink without the patient's knowledge; No. 2, in pill form for those who wish to be cured. The price of either form is $1 a box. Send to the Orrine Co., Washington, D. C., for free booklet and consultation blank.

The desire for liquor is soon destroyed after Orrine treatment is commenced, and before long the patient is freed from the terrible drink craving, and the drink will not be missed.

Orrine is for sale by F. W. Kugler & Co., 108 West Superior street.

PLAYS and PLAYERS of the WEEK

BIJOU. REFINED VAUDEVILLE. | THE LYCEUM DRAMA. | METROPOLITAN. BURLESQUE.

AT THE LYCEUM

Isabel Irving in "Susan in Search of a Husband" on Monday---"The Tenderfoot" With an Exceptionally Strong Company on Tuesday and Wednesday Evenings.

"The Tenderfoot," an operatic comedy, will open at the Lyceum Tuesday and Wednesday.

Richard Carle is responsible for the book and when Carle wrote "The Tenderfoot" he struck the happiest vein imaginable, and secured for himself a prominent place among the operatic comedy authors of today.

"The Tenderfoot is by far the best thing that Carle has handed us to date. In short, it contains more tuneful numbers than all his other work put together. However, H. L. Heartz must not be forgotten as Carle's coworker. To Mr. Heartz is due the palm for several of the merry whistling airs to be found in "The Tenderfoot," which, by the way, may be classed as being one of the brightest, lightest, operatic works on the road. Richard Carle and H. L. Heartz wrote better than they knew when they evolved "The Tenderfoot." The authors seems to have caught the spirit of the open air—Carlo when he wrote the lyrics and Heartz when he composed the music.

While Manager W. P. Cullen does not claim extraordinary originality for "The Tenderfoot," he lays claims to the fact that for attraction and characteristic costuming and coloring, genuinely funny situations, smart repartee and quaint Western humor. "The Tenderfoot" stand pre-eminently alone.

The piece is in three acts, which allows the scenic artists unlimited opportunity for effect. The first act, the "courtyard" of the home of Marion Worthington's ranch, is said to be the handsomest ever turned out of a studio. The second act takes place in the interior of the ranch barn, while the last act drifts from the ranch to an Indian camping ground. So minutely has the management looked after the details for this production and so much scenery, properties, electrical apparatus, etc., is carried, that two seventy-foot baggage cars are necessary to properly transport the show, besides other special cars for the company.

The organization presenting "The Tenderfoot" this year is exceptionally large, numbering over half a hundred people. Oscar L. Figman will again be seen as Prof. Pettibone, LL. D. B. A. Figman, in his long career, has never had a part that fitted him so well, and, as the gentle old seminarian, whose experiences on a Texas ranch furnishes the greater portion of the comedy, he never fails to score. Miss Ruth White, a soprano of pleasing personality and a splendid voice, has the part of Marion Worthington, a heiress. No further commet on Miss White is needed, as her friends are legion in Duluth.

Harry D. Williams is still the Chinaman, Grace Sloan the Patsy. This teams' dancing number in the first act is especially clever. Lawrence Coever, a tenor of ability, will be remembered as Paul. Mr. Coever is a warm Duluth favorite. Fred Bailey will be welcomed again as Sergeant Barker, while A. W. Hutchins, J. F. Rooney, W. E. Avery, Lawrence Masters, H. B. Jones and H. E. Scott are all tried and old favorites. Miss Edythe Kheims will be remembered as Flora Jane Libby and charming Louise Brackett is still pleasing as "Sally," while Blanch Buehler, Lena Bailey, Eva Carey, Helen Wash, Rae Clarke, Maude Irving, Mary Campbell and a host of others are included in the cast.

A LUCKY CHANCE

That Brings Isabel Irving and Her Company to Duluth.

It is a curious set of circumstances that brings that charming American comedienne, Miss Isabel Irving, and her select company of players to the Lyceum Monday to appear in the new play, "Susan in Search of a Husband." It is an old saying that it is an ill wind that blows nobody good, and in this case local theatergoers will have to thank that ill wind, for had it not been for the said malicious zephyr, the present opportunity might never have come this way. At the beginning of the present dramatic season, George C. Tyler, the executive head of the well known firm of Liebler & Co., put in force the plan of presenting Miss Eleanor Robson in a series of new plays to run through the entire season at the Liberty theater in New York. Wishing to give her every opportunity for success, he engaged the best company for her that money could procure, and signed each player for the entire season. Four plays were given up to a few weeks ago, and then, when the fifth vehicle was being made ready, it was discovered that this new effort made no provision for seven members of Miss Robson's company. As these players were under contract for this season it became necessary to pay them their full salaries whether they played or not. In this dilemma Mr. Tyler bethought him of a way out. He had engaged Miss Irving for a series of special performances with Miss Robson's company, and he at once conceived the idea of placing her at the head of an organization composed wholly of Miss Robson's unavailable company and sending the new organization forth in the third play in which Miss Robson had made such a success. Miss Irving had played in this particular vehicle and so it was the simplest matter in the world to take the completed production, rehearse the players in it in their old parts, and secure a route of cities in which they should play. Hence the appearance of Miss Irving and a company, the like of which has seldom been seen in this territory. Curiously enough the members of the present company have been stars in their own right prior to this engagement and this may give some idea of the quality of the coming performance. These members are of course Miss Irving herself, Herbert standing, Miss Marie Wainwright, Hassard Short and Miss Jessie Izett. The remainder of the company, including Mr. Andrews and Mr. Mainwaring have won laurels for themselves in the best companies of the American stage. Mr. Andrews has been for fifteen continuous seasons in the company of Richard Mansfield, and Mr. Mainwaring, prior to his appearance in this country last season, was for some time a member of the famous Haymarket Theater company in London, and associated at an earlier period with John Hare, George Alexander, Sir Henry Irving, Beerbohm Tree, Cyril Maude and Sir Charles Wyndham.

AT THE METROPOLITAN

"The Merry Makers" Will Open a Week's Engagement in Burlesque---Only One More Company Will Appear Before Metropolitan is Torn Down.

Tomorrow afternoon the Merry Makers' company—Whallen & Martell's one best bet—will begin what will be the last week but one of burlesque at the Metropolitan. There will be the usual matinees during the week.

The Merry Makers will frolic at the Metropolitan next week, the Brigadiers will do the same the week after, and then the curtain will go down on burlesque at the "Met." In a month the management must give up the property, which is now owned by the Wisconsin Central railway.

They claim that the Merry Makers is one of the best companies traveling over the burlesque circuit. Certainly, from the personnel of the organization it would seem that these reports are true.

The "Merry Makers" offer two excellent and original burlesques, the first being a capital travesty on the ambitions of an Irishman with money to spend, to secure stellar honors in the field of politics, called "Running For Mayor." The second is a companion piece, entitled "A Politician's Vacation," and displays the wiles of a defeated candidate for office to regain his lost prestige. Both burlesques are written in a legitimately humorous vein.

The "Merry Makers" also offer a list of vaudeville acts. There are the Elton-Polo troupe, a trio of aerial artists, who do all sorts of breakneck stunts in mid air; Nelson & Milledge, in a refined vaudeville sketch, called "Simon the Butler;" Miss Jeanette Young, a soprano in sweet and appropriate operatic selections; Miss Grace Patton, a chic singing and dancing soubrette, and Les Sprays, from Australia, who do a sensational and original dancing act in what they term whirlwind style. All of these acts, and both the first and second parts, are punctuated with tuneful and catchy music. The chorus, which is talented and well coached, has more to do than to simply look pretty.

AT THE BIJOU

John and Bertha Gleason and Fred Houlihan Head Next Week's Vaudeville Bill---Burlesque Violinist and Original Sketches Also Included in Program.

The new bill of attractions at the Bijou next week, commencing with a Monday matinee, will be one of the best seen at the popular theater for some time. The cream of vaudeville talent will be featured. Such clever and noted artists as John and Bertha Gleason and Fred Houlihan, a trio of entertainers known from ocean to ocean will head the bill. They are good singers and clever comedians and present a novel comedy act different from the general run of sketches. Miss Bertha Gleason is featured in the act with her celebrated dancing. She claims to have the championship dancing title for several years, winning medals both in European and American dancing tournaments.

Another feature act of equal note will be Walter Hawley and Natalie Olcott, two dramatic artists of pleasing personality and ability, who present a playlet written by Mr. Hawley, entitled "Just Married a Week," which is a dainty comedy with plenty of amusing situations.

Miss Gertrude Gebest, comedienne and burlesque violinist, will be a pleasing feature of the week's attractions. Her stories and songs are original and of a catchy kind which never fail to please all who hear her. Her imitations upon the violin are exceptionally well presented.

As a comedy feature Larkins and Burns will be on hand in full regalia, offering one of the funniest acts ever seen on the Bijou stage. Their songs and parodies are original.

As a sensational attraction, "Dracula, the Frolicsome Demon," will offer his gymnastic act with a complete stage setting of special scenery, properties, electrical effects, etc. It is the only act of its kind on the road.

Isadore Silver will render "The Tale, the Church Bells Tolled," a beautiful story song with colored views.

The management offers as an added attraction one of the biggest successes in vaudeville in James F. Dolen and Ida Lenharr, who present the sketch entitled "A High Toned Burglar," which has been one of the best feature acts at the Keith-Proctor theaters in New York during the past season.

The moving pictures for the week show "Mrs. Smithson's Portrait," a very funny film and also the spectacular picture entitled "Fight of All Nations." Matinees are given daily at 2:45 and evening performances at 8 and 9:30. Seats may be reserved for all performances by either phone. A special school children's matinee will be given Saturday afternoon at 2:30, and regular performances Sunday afternoon and night.

GOSSIP OF THE RIALTO

Hammerstein's Success in the New York Opera World---Several New Plays---The End of the Season.

New York, May 5.—If there is a happier man on the island of Manhattan today than Oscar Hammerstein he would be hard to find. When it was first known that Mr. Hammerstein was to make a venture in grand opera in opposition to the Metropolitan Opera house, those who did not know him well regarded it as rather a joke, and almost up to the time his singers arrived in this country there were those who regarded the talk of the two grand opera programs in New York as a bluff. It was held that there was no room in this city for two grand opera companies, and when at last it became evident that Hammerstein meant business, came out behind, while Hammerstein came home a winner. Discussing his venture, the impresario said:

"When in February, 1906, I visited the European musical centers in search of artists for my contemplated first season of grand opera in the Manhattan Opera house, my reception on the part of directors, agents and singers was absolutely North Polean. In New York my purpose and intentions met with fine sympathy; some advised the services of a specialist; others, looking at the matter more seriously, recommended the immediate use of a strait-jacket. Worse than all of that, the musical world thought me too funny for anything. I frankly said I was all alone in the undertaking, and I had the satisfaction of feeling that I was the most avoided impresario in Europe. I had invested over $1,500,000 in the ground and building. To quench the thirst of opera in this supposed-to-be music-starving public I disentangled an additional $500,000 for costumes and scenery. And when, in addition to this, I now calmly mention that I shouldered a responsibility of nearly $1,000,000 in season contracts with a small army of great artists and others, I in duty to myself am bound to add that I am neither a drinking man nor addicted to the use of narcotics. And when, three days previous to the opening night, my ledger showed a total subscription for boxes and seats for the season, comprising twenty weeks, to the amount of $32,600, my aforesaid and described painful sojourn in plaster of paris was a transport to the Elysees in comparison to the situation I confronted."

There were, of course, many trying periods during the season, when failure seemed certain, but it all came out right in the end, and Mr. Hammerstein has won his reward.

* * *

When six of Hammerstein's song birds sailed last week for Europe, the North German Lloyd steamship Kronprinz Wilhelm, on which they sailed, had the appearance of a floating flower garden. Oscar Hammerstein sent many floral pieces to his departing singers, and a crowd of friends gathered on the pier to shower bouquets on their idols. The singers who sailed were Mario Ancona, Amedeo Bossi, Count F. G. de Cisneros, Countess Eleonora de Cisneros, Charles Dolmores and Mlle. Regina Pinkert. All of the singers arrived at the pier more than two hours ahead of sailing time. They looked worn out, but happy, having had little sleep the previous night because of a reception given in their behalf. Because of the crowded condition of the steamship the officers gave up their quarters to the opera singers.

Lee Fairchild, poet, wit and publicist, whose sallies flash like live wires from the Atlantic to the Pacific, addressed the fashionable and progressive women of the Eclectric club at Delmonico's recently. This organization has a genius for selecting the best and most individual of things, and that it at last awakened to a full realization of Mr. Fairchild was inevitable.

"Let Sorrow sadly smile at Folly's jest" is the favorite pronouncement of the author of "The Tippler's Vow" and "Don Juan's Bouquet." And it has been related that there have been occasions when Sorrow not only sadly smiled but broke great disaster was predicted. The only Oscar, however, had before this demonstrated more than once his ability to do more things well than any other man on Broadway, and with the close of the season at the Manhattan Opera house he has proved himself an impresario of the first rank, who knows what the music-loving public of this city wants and is able to give it to them. In dramatic affairs in New York there were few novelties last week. New York had its first opportunity to see Upton Sinclair's portrayal of life in Packingtown, "The Jungle," dramatized by Miss Margaret Mayo. It was presented Monday night at Keith & Proctor's Fifth Avenue theater. The complete scenic equipment, with the additional realistic accessories of live cattle, which made so much of a sensation in other cities.

"The Undertow," a drama of modern municipal life, written by Eugene Walters, was presented for the first time Monday by the stock company at Keith & Proctor's Harlem opera house. Mr. Walters's play deals with political chicanery and graft with realism, and the narrative of the wrongdoings of those higher up is drawn in a caustic and uncommonly dramatic fashion.

Olga Nethersolo will not appear in New York this season, owing to the length of her Pacific tour, which is now closing. Arrangements for her appearance in London at the Lyric theater next September have been canceled in order that she may return to the Pacific slope at the first possible moment. After engagement in Washington, Philadelphia and Boston, Miss Nethersole will close her season on May 25, and sail immediately for Paris. Miss Nethersole will return to New York in August, and will open her preliminary Western tour in Omaha on Labor day. She will then go directly to San Francisco. Her regular season will begin in Chicago about Thanksgiving. She will be seen in New York early in 1908 at the Astor theater, in Paul Hervieu's new play, "The Awakening."

The run of "The Three of Us" in Madison Square theater ended its run last Saturday night. With the final performance this interesting play was given 227 times, the longest run of any play in this theater since the days of the Hoyt farces. Although the New York season comes to an end "The Three of Us" will continue to entertain play-goers for some months to come, as bookings will take the production to Brooklyn, Boston and Chicago.

It was also the last week this season of "The Great Divide," in the Princess theater. Miss Anglin and Mr. Miller appeared in the famous Moody drama for the two-hundredth-and-twentieth time on Friday evening. The date selected for the reopening of "The Great Divide" in Daly's theater is Aug. 26.

COMEDIENNES CHOSEN BY WEIGHT

By Trixie Friganza, Now Appearing With Eddie Foy in "The Orchid."

When a comedien marches down to the footlights and sticks his feet over, they say he is a clown; but when a spreading comedienne can crack a joke without the aid of a burglar's jimmy, she is proclaimed a genius! It will be readily seen, then, that the actress has all the best of it in the matter of fun-making.

Superfluous flesh, which is supposed to put a quietus on an actress' chances on the stage, is really a very valuable asset. This is, of course, providing that the one having it doesn't take herself seriously, and is willing to point with pride, like a Democratic orator, to his possession. Yet, there is nothing quite so funny as a serious, stout person! That is, one who gets—but who does not produce—the laugh.

So, after all an ample figure is not such a serious matter. Its possession can be made to count; to be, as it were, a matter of weight on the stage. A large, ample, swelling, bulging comedienne, with a bubbling sense of humor, has a hundred chances where a thin, scrawny, shrunk, caved-in female has one in the theatrical handicap. A female ghost must work like a Trojan and be as clever as a George L. Fox to make people laugh; while a female with a figure like Mrs. Overflow, the brower's wife, waddles through theatrical life, the recipient of rapturous applause.

A sylph-like figure is useful, of course, in the higher form of drama. A leading lady grown fat is cursed as if by the Ten Furies. She has no chance of holding her place, for the reason that the leading man can't very well hold her. He must embrace her in sections. The leading lady must impersonate the young wife, the oppressed heroine, the enticing adventuress, and all of these personages are commonly supposed to be willowy and even famine-stricken in appearance.

On the stage, the fat wife, a bulging heroine, a corpulent adventuress wouldn't be taken seriously for a single little moment. They would be laughed at, hooted at, and pelted off the stage.

The actress who measures two ax-handles across the back can't play Camille.

The leading lady's only hope for the future is the broomstick figure. And the amazing thing is how some of them manage to ward off embonpoint! It must be by some secret mental exercise; for surely dumb or wedding bells won't accomplish this feat. It must be that emotionalism is a microbe that fights fat, just as laughter assimilates avoirdupois. It would be dreadful to think of Viola Allen, Margaret Anglin, Maude Adams, Virginia Harned, Julia Marlowe driven to the straight-front as a last resort.

It was a most kind provision of Providence that made it possible for the bulging comedienne to stay on the job, else fun-making for her would be a thrillingly serious matter—a "serious side" without a silver lining. As it is, the oleaginous and unctuous laughter-provokers have an easy and a soft time of it. My only fear is lest I should by accident or without design find myself amellasummervilled, and thus deprived of my chief asset.

After a while managers will select their comediennes, not by reputation, but by weight. They will be placed on the scales and paid for, like confectionery, by the pound. In short, the "sweller" the comedienne, the larger her salary. If May Irwin, Fay Templeton, Catherine Hayes, Eva Westcott, Marie Dressler, Stella Mayhew, Carrie Perkins of Eva Davenport should be Turkishbathed, Muldooned or Rochellesaltsed into sylphitude, the fun-making trust would receive as crushing a blow as was ever dealt to a gorged and protruding Octopus.

Many a good comedienne has been lost to the stage through the serious inability of the soubrette to enlarge her person to a proper ponderosity.

FRATERNITY MEN WRATHY

Bill Unfavorable to High School Frats Passed Over Opposition.

Provides Fine or Imprisonment for "Rushers" for New Members.

Local high school fraternity men are feeling rather sore over the passage of the "anti-frat" bill in the legislature the past session, in spite of the efforts of the fraternity men both from Duluth and among the other cities of the state to defeat it.

The bill empowers school boards to discriminate against fraternity men to prevent their playing upon class teams, their participation in graduation or other school exercises, or the granting of a diploma. A certificate, such as is required for entrance into the university or other higher institutions of learning in which the respective high schools may be accredited, must be issued upon demand however. The bill also provides that "rushing" for a fraternity, means working for new members, is a misdemeanor and is punishable, by a fine of not to exceed ten dollars or not less than two dollars, or by imprisonment not to exceed ten days.

This leaves the matter, as before, in the hands of the school board and has more the effect of an endorsement of any anti-frat action which may be taken than anything else. "Rushing" is not very highly developed in high school fraternity circles, at least in Duluth, and is not carried on anywhere to anything like the degree in which it is done at college, so this section of the law is not so injurious as might appear at first glance.

Local fraternity men circulated a petition among the prominent men of the city against the bill, and secured a goodly number of signatures including a majority of the city council and a number of other men of prominence. Nine such petitions were presented from different parts of the state and a good sized corps of fraternity men were actively lobbying against the measure during the session of the legislature.

The fraternalists are now pointing out that there is some doubt as to the constitutionality of the law and say that if it is ever brought to an issue, it will be contested on this point. Whether it interferes with the "life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness" on the part of high school students who wish to bind themselves together by the bonds of fraternalism is a question which may be left to the courts to decide.

The local school board has taken no official action as to fraternities as yet and has not intimated what its stand may be in the matter. The only hostile action which has been taken by the authorities is the recent ruling out of the fraternity section in the annual school publication, the "Zenith," which went into effect in 1905.

In Minneapolis, however, school boards took the matter into their own hands even before the passage of the bill and Minneapolis scholastic athletic teams have suffered heavily from the enforced absence of prominent athletes from among their members.

It is very improbable that the school board will take any action on the matter at this late date, within four weeks of the close of school, but developments next fall will be watched with interest.

BLAME SAILORS FOR TROUBLE

Santiago Newspapers Are Unanimous in Scoring Tacoma's Men.

Havana, May 4.—Santiago newspapers containing accounts of the encounter, last Tuesday, between police and sailors of the Tacoma, declare unanimously that intoxicated sailors began the disturbance by assaulting Capt. Lay, who fired from his revolver in the air to summon assistance. When the police arrived, there ensued a pitched battle, the sailors using pistols and lances.

The Illustracion Cubana says: "We wish to call the attention of the provisional governor to the frequency of these occurrences in all provinces. They are invariably started by forces of the intervening government."

The Cubano Libre, a Moderate organ, says: "The intolerable conduct of these seamen has reached a limit. These men, under the title of 'interveners,' believe they are authorized to commit abuses almost daily. For example, the occurrence in Santiago, which has alarmed the people of this city, and which places a stigma on the name of the great nation in whose services these men are enrolled."

NATURE TELLS YOU.

As Many a Duluth Reader Knows Too Well.

When the kidneys are sick,
Nature tells you all about it.
The urine is nature's calendar.
Infrequent or too frequent action;
Any urinary trouble tells of kidney ills.
Doan's Kidney Pills cure all kidney ills.
Duluth people testify to this.

H. G. Hibke, clerk in the Northern Pacific R. R. freight house and living at Hunter's Park, Duluth, Minn., says: "In a testimonial given by me in 1898, which has been published often in the Duluth papers, I told how Doan's Kidney Pills cured me of a severe attack of kidney complaint from which I had suffered for a long time. I believe that it was brought on in the first place by exposure to all kinds of weather and the jarring of driving. Backache set in and the pains and aches made stooping and lifting very painful. Whenever I took cold it settled in my back and aggravated the trouble. The kidney secrtions became discolored, irregular and contained a sediment. I also had frequent attacks of headaches. However, as I have emphatically declared and will always affirm, Doan's Kidney Pills cured me of all those conditions and today not a symptom of my former trouble remains."

MAY BREAK ORE RECORD

Iron Men Expect Shipments This Season to Pass Mark.

General Business Delayed by Most Unseasonable Weather.

New York, May 4.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade says: "Spring retail trade is backward because of the unusually cold season, and tardy distribution of merchandise is also causing complaint of delay in mercantile collections, but there is confidence that most of the postponed business will be made up when the normal conditions prevail. Dealers purchased freely from manufacturers in anticipation of a record breaking season and deliveries are still coming from the mills and factories, shipments being facilitated by improved traffic conditions.

"Manufacturers are active in all leading industries, most plants being operated full time and the outlook in the steel business could hardly be brighter. Projected building operations promise a good demand for all materials, but numerous small labor disputes retard activity in this department. All controversies over wages and hours are not extensive or alarming.

"Only favorable reports are received from the iron and steel industry, new business coming to the mills as rapidly as orders are filled and few producers are able to take advantage of premiums offered for prompt delivery. Ore has begun to move freely on the lakes. Arrangements have been made for a record year. Many new vessels are enlarging the carrying capacity. Pig iron furnaces are producing as rapidly as possible and new plants are in course of construction, but deliveries are tardy and most concerns have sold their entire output for this year. Large orders for cotton ties were placed at an advance of 10 cents per bundle and the season's needs will be provided for without delay. Pipe and structural shapes are among the most active departments, this week's orders covering a very large tonnage.

"In primary markets for cotton goods the only developments of importance was the sharp advance in the cost of raw material, which tended to strengthen the position of producers who were resisting with increasing difficulty the pressure to accept lower quotations on distant deliveries. As most jobbers have concluded regular store business they are not anxious to buy from the mills although they endeavor to purchase ahead for next season. There is little accumulation of stocks and less is feared of re-sales at second hands. Export demand continues insignificant. Improvement in woolens has received a check and the market is awaiting developments. Mills are fairly busy, but the late season is retarding progress. Extensive preparations were made for early business which has not materialized. Duplicate orders are chiefly for the better line of woolens.

"Shoe manufacturers at the East find buyers very conservative regarding fall contracts and some of the smaller producers have offered small concessions without securing business. On the other hand, leading factories have sold some staple lines at 2½ to 5 advance over last year's figures which makes the market irregular. Leather is steady."

SWETTENHAM RETIRES AS JAMAICA'S GOVERNOR.

FINES AND JAIL TERMS IN TWO LAND FRAUD CASES.

Portland, Or., May 4.—Former State Senators Franklin P. Mays and W. N. Jones were sentenced by Federal Judge W. H. Hunt, yesterday, in connection with land fraud cases in Eastern Oregon, Mays to $10,000 fine and four months in jail, and Jones to $2,000 fine and eight months in jail. Mays' sentence was stayed until November to permit an appeal.

The sentences of Hamilton H. Hendricks, Charles A. Watson and George B. Barnard, in the same case, went over until September, because of the objections by the government to the manner in which the defendants' bill of exceptions was prepared.

The Kind You Have Always Bought.

THIS is the caution applied to the public announcement of Castoria that has been manufactured under the supervision of Chas. H. Fletcher for over 30 years—the genuine Castoria. We respectfully call the attention of fathers and mothers when purchasing Castoria to see that the wrapper bears his signature in black. When the wrapper is removed the same signature appears on both sides of the bottle in red. Parents who have used Castoria for their little ones in the past years need no warning against counterfeits and imitations, but our present duty is to call the attention of the younger generation to the great danger of introducing into their families spurious medicines.

It is to be regretted that there are people who are now engaged in the nefarious business of putting up and selling all sorts of substitutes, or what should more properly be termed conterfeits, for medicinal preparations not only for adults, but worse yet, for children's medicines. It therefore devolves on the mother to scrutinize closely what she gives her child. Adults can do that for themselves but the child has to rely on the mother's watchfulness.

WHAT BECOMES OF THE CABINET MINISTERS?

There Are About Twoscore of Them Living Today, and They Are All Doing Well, Thank You---Some Are Judges, Some Are Senators, and One is a Consul General, But Most of Them Are Doing the Things They Did Before They Were Made Confidential Advisers to the Nation's Chief Executive.

By DEXTER MARSHALL.

(Copyright, 1907, by Dexter Marshall.)

There are nearly forty men now living, but not at present in the cabinet, who have been official advisers to the chief executive, and every one of them is doing well.

There are three "ex-sceretaries" of state, four of the treasury, five of war, seven of the interior, eight of the navy, one of agriculture, two of commerce and labor, eight former postmasters general, and eight former attorneys general. These figures added make forty-six, but some of the "exes" have served in more than one cabinet place, while four, Root, Cortelyou, Metcalf and Bonaparte are still cabinet members.

The oldest of them all, George H. Williams, attorney general under Grant, from 1871 to 1875, is 84, still htle and hearty, at Portland. Ore. The youngest, Paul Morton, second of Roosevelt's five naval heads to date, is 50. George B. Cortelyou, now secretary of the treasury, is five years younger than Morton.

The attorney generalship was by no means the first place of importance to be filled by Judge Williams. Born in New York state, he was educated in the district school and village academy, at Pompey Hill, where he also studied law. He was admitted at 21, and went West. When he had got as far West as Keokuk, Iowa, he stayed his journey for some years, married, was elected a judge at 24, and went into politics, working for the election of Franklin Pierce for president in 1852.

Pierce appointed Williams chief justice of Oregon Territory the next year, and he has made his home there ever since. For the six years, from 1865 to 1871, he was in the United States senate from Oregon, and was on the Alabama claims commission. Then Grant took him into the cabinet. He resigned in 1875, and Grant nominated him for chief justice of the supreme court, but withdrew his name. Ever since then he has been in the active practice of law; though he was mayor of Portland in 1902-05. It would not be easy to find a more useful, well-rounded life than that of this fine old man.

Next in age to Williams is Norman J. Colman, 80, first man to serve as secretary of agriculture. The department of agriculture was established just before the end of Cleveland's first term. Colman had been commissioner of agriculture, and was made secretary, but, of course, was displaced after Harrison's inauguration. A York State boy, he was educated in the "little red schoolhouse." At 20 he started West, reaching St. Louis five years later, having tarried in Kentucky, where he taught school and was admitted to the bar, and in Indiana, where he practiced law and served as district attorney at New Albany. At St. Louis he went into agricultural journalism, establishing a weekly paper for farmers, through which he became an agricultural leader in the West. When the Civil war came he was made a lieutenant colonel in the enrolled state militia. He has filled many high places, including the lieutenant governor's chair, and possesses a French decoration because of his services to agriculture. Mr. Colman is still in active life in St. Louis.

Paul Morton—as chairman of the Equitable's board of trustees, Thomas F. Ryan's right hand man in insurance—never was in public life before he became a secretary, and has not been since. He was born in Detroit, and his father was secretary of agriculture during Cleveland's second term. Paul's career from the bottom to the top in railroading—'tis said he began as clerk at $36 a month, and wound up at $36,000 a year—was one of the romances of success we read about. It was Morton who posted Roosevelt on the details of railroading, and so made it possible to get the rate bill through congress.

Picturesque Naval Secretaries.

The majority of the eight surviving naval secretaries have been picturesque entities. The latest to leave the department, Charles Joseph Bonaparte, attorney general at 55, descended from a king, but American born and intensely loyal to the land of his birth, yields to few in that respect.

William Eaton Chandler, Arthur's rivalS cmf vbg cmf shr cmf cmfw naval head, approaches the limit for audacity and courage. He is a Harvard law school graduate, and now is practicing law in Washington and Concord, his birthplace and present home. As chief counsel in the suit to have the property of Mary Baker G. Eddy, Christian Science head, placed in a receiver's hands, he is specially prominent just now. He was a big factor in the rows accompanying the rate bill's passage. Being a friend of both Senator Tillman and the president, he was right in it, and he uttered his full share of the language generated during that episode. Chandler is 70. He was in the United States senate from 1887 to 1901. Since then he has been president of the Spanish treaty claims commissions at Washington.

The life of Benjamin Franklin Tracy, who served under Harrison, has become full of contrast. At 77 he is an active New York lawyer. He followed Whitney in the department and was a tremendous force in the navy's rejuvenation.

He was schooled in the village academy at Owego, N. Y., where he was born. He helped organize the Republican party in the state; he raised two regiments when the war broke out, and was made colonel of the One Hundred and Ninth New York volunteers. He won the medal of honor for gallantry and was breveted a brigadier general. Then he settled in Brookly, where he became United States district attorney and later judge of the New York court of appeals, highest state tribunal, and for years was state Republican leader. His services in formulating the internal revenue laws so that a maximum amount is collected at a minimum expense were of great value.

At one time his farm near Owego was famous for its fine horses, cattle, poultry and pigs. He is still proud of a tribute to his agricultural standing reported by a New York friend. This friend told an Owego farmer farmer that Gen. Tracy was one of the country's greatest men.

"Ya-as," drawled the agriculturist, "I guess Tracy's the biggest hog man in the hull caboodle!"

One of the most convincing of modern advocates, Gen. Tracy has not often been really eloquent, but his opening address as chief counsel for the defense of the famous Beecher-Tilton trial was a gem of eloquence. It was issued in book form after delivery and 50,000 copies were sold. The greatest grief in Tracy's life came when his Washington home burned down and his wife and daughter perished in the fire.

Since leaving the cabinet he has stuck pretty close to his profession, though he served as president of the commission which drafted the charter of the "Greater" New York in 1898, and he ran for mayor of New York, but was badly defeated by Van Wyck, Tammany candidate, in a three cornered contest, Seth Low, the Citizens' union champion, being third contestant. When friend told an Owego farmer died at a New York board of trade dinner, in 1891, he fell into Tracy's arms.

William Henry Moody, 54, a native of Massachusetts, like Roosevelt a Harvard man, and now a member of the United States supreme court, is one of the comparatively few who has served in two cabinet positions. Roosevelt appointed him both to the attorneygeneralship and the navy department.

Moody's predecessor under McKinley, John Davis Long, also a Massachusetts man, had Roosevelt for his assistant just before the Spanish war, and there was more or less friction between them until Roosevelt's resignation to join the Rough Riders. Long is between 68 and 69. He held several state offices, including the governorship, before going to Washington as a representative in 1883. He was born in Maine, got his degree at Harvard and lives at Hingham, near Boston. The bulk of his very heavy law practice has always been in the Bay State capital.

Hilary Abner Herbert, who held the post during Cleveland's second term, South Carolinan by birth, but Alabama bred, and a Confederate officer in the Civil war, is practicing now in Washington at 73. At 64 Nathan Goff, naval secretary under Hayes is a United States circuit judge, living at Clarksburg, W. Va., the place of his birth.

Famous State Department Heads.

Richard Olney, at 71, one of the foremost legal light in Boston, where he lives on Commonwealth avenue, is one of the best knewn surviving secretaries of state. He served in Cleveland's second term, and made for part of his reputation by the audacity with which he upheld the Monroe doctrine in the mid-'90s, when England was preparing to force certain claims against Venezuela. At least, it always has been supposed by the public that he wrote the president's famous message to congres announcing that this republic would not allow the landing of an armed European force on any part of the Western continent without making every possible effort to prevent it.

William Rufus Day, who succeeded John Sherman, is now a justice of the supreme court. He is 58, slight, also retiring and silent unless he is witnessing a baseball game. Called to Washington by McKinley in the midst of the perplexities incident to the beginning of the Spanish war to be Sherman's assistant when the latter was on the down hill road, Day full justified the president's confidence in him, and was made head of the department when Sherman resigned. Day resigned at the close of the war, but served as chairman for the United States on the Paris commission which fixed the terms of the treaty of peace with Spain. McKinley made Day a circuit judge. In 1903 Roosevelt put him in his present place.

The third surviving secretary of state, John Watson Foster, is possibly the most famous American international lawyer. He was appointed to the state portfolio by Harrison, in 1892, soon after the Republican national convention, in which Harrison had defeated Blaine for the presidential nomination. A Pike county Hoosier by birth and a graduate of the State university, Foster had served in the Civil war as a colonel, had been an editor in Evansville, and United States minister to Mexico, Russia and Spain; he had also been counsel for various foreign governments, and had negotiated reciprocity treaties with Brazil, Spain, Germany, the British West Indies, etc.

His income from his internation law practice was big, and he used to wonder whether he could get back or not. Harrison was not re-elected, but Foster's fears proved groundless, since he was sent to Paris in 1898 to represent this country in the Behring Sea arbitration. He represented China in her peace negotiations with Japan and since then has been intrusted with several important special missions for this government, and has got his international practice back again. He is now 71; his famous side whiskers are as luxuriant as ever, though whiter, and his voice and manner have all their old time sauvity.

Former War Department Chiefs.

James Donald Camerons, secretary of war in Grant's last days, rich in coal and iron mines, manufacturing establishements and the like, is retired at 74 and has been for years. His home is at Harrisburg, capital of the state over which he and his father, Simon Cameron, were political bosses before the Quay days dawned, but he is much in New York. He was in the senate from Pennsylvania for twenty years after leaving the cabinet, but resigned ten years ago.

Two years older than Cameron, Redfield Proctor, appointed to the war office by Harrison, has been in the senate ever since 1891. He is so big a man—six feet three and broad "according" that his ordinary frock coat would be amply large to serve almost any one of his colleagues as an overcoat. He had been prominent in Vermont state politics and had served as governor, but never was in national politics before entering the cabinet. He is famous for his dry New England humor. Once a fellow senator, speaking along the lines that Proctor opposed announced that he desired to drop into verse.

"I wish to interpolate this little bit of poetry," said the senator "which has been set to music by an eminent composer."

"Has it?" queried Proctor. "Then sing it!"

His great wealth is in marble. His son is now governor of Vermont.

Stephen Benton Elkins, who followed Proctor as war secretary under Harrison, now United States senator from West Virginia, is about as big a man; perhaps not so tall, but much stouter. He is ten years younger and as rich or richer, his wealth being in coal and iron. Born in Ohio, he went to Missouri as a child, stayed there till he got his degree at the University of Missouri, studied law, went to New Mexico to grow up with the country, was sent to Washington at territorial delegate, got acquainted with the daughter of Henry Gasoway Davis, senator from West Virginia, married her and settled in West Virginia to be near his father-in-law. After leaving the cabinet in 1893 he went back to his West Virginia mines and railroads and was made senator in 1895.

At 63 Robert Todd Lincoln, appointed secretary of war by Garfield, sixteen years after Abraham Lincoln was assassinated, is living in Chicago. He never has been much in politics, but, as the son of his father, he has been mentioned several times for the presidency with more or less sincerity. Upon leaving the cabinet, in 1895, he returned to Chicago, where he had gathered a big law practice, after graduating from Harvard college and law school, and built up his practice anew, his specialty being real estate. He became counsel for the Pullman company early in its history and on the death of Pullman was made its president. He is a rich man in the modern sense of the term. He was minister to England under Harrison.

Elihu Root, who preceded Taft in the war department, can hardly be termed an "ex-secretary" till after he leaves the cabinet.

The Nation's Financial Men.

Leslie Mortimer Shaw, just out of the treasury department, at 58, and now at the head of a New York Trust company, is the youngest of the treasury ex-secretaries. Charles Stebbins Fairchild, who had the portfolio during a part of Cleveland's first term, is next youngest, being 65. He was an Albany lawyer and had been attorney general of his state before he entered the cabinet, but afterleaving it made New York his headquarters, where, for years, he was president of a big trust company, though now retired. He is a native of New York state and a Harvard man.

Lyman Judson Gage, who held the portfolio under McKinley, and was succeeded under Roosevelt by Shaw, also became president of a big New York trust company after leaving the cabinet, in 1902. He is a native of New York state, self-educated, and was a Chicago bank president before becoming a cabinet minister. He also was president of the Chicago world's fair. At 71 he is retired and lives in California much of the time.

Cleveland's treasury head during his second term, John Griffin Carlisle, now 71, has been practicing law successfully in New York ever since he retired from the cabinet, ten years ago. He has been little in the public eye since leaving Washington. He is not a college man. He entered congress in 1877 and served in both houses, being speaker of the lower one for six years. It was of him that McKinley once said: "That man never had a cloudy thought."

The Interior Portfolio.

Cornelius Newton Bliss and Ethan Allen Hitchcock, both chosen by McKinley to hold the portfolio of the Interior, Hitchcock's service, just concluded, reaching into Roosevelt's administration, are both rich men. Bliss is 74, Hitchcock 71. Neither is college bred. Both are merchants of the old school. Called into public life without expecting it by McKinley, Hitchcock served first as minister and then as ambassador to Russia, becoming secretary of the Interior when Bliss stepped out. No one can yet have forgotten the reforms of Hitchcock's regime.

Born in New England, Bliss went to New Orleans as a boy, got back North and went to work in Boston in 1866, but finally gravitated to New York, where he has been a noteworthy factor in the business world for more than thirty years. He was treasurer of the Republican national committee in the last four campaigns and president of the American Protective Tariff league from its formation, in 1888, until two or three years ago. Bliss was never so bored in his life as when in the cabinet.

John Wilcox Noble, who had the interior portfolio under Harrison, and David Rowland Francis, who had it during the latter part of Cleveland's second administration, are both residents of St. Louis. Noble is now 75; he was a lawyer in the metropolis of the mid-Mississippi valley when called to the cabinet, and he has been practicing there ever since he left it. He is an Ohioan by birth, was living at Keokuk, Iowa, when the Civil war broke out went to the front, and rose to the rank of brevet brigadier general.

Francis was born a Kentuckian. He studied at the Washington university, established himself as a commission merchant, and served as mayor of St. Luois and governor of Missouri before he was a lawyer in the metropolis of the Luisiana Purchase exposition in 1904. This enterprise, in fact, made him more or less famous in every civilized land. He is 56, rich, and has been talked of a good deal in the past as a Democratic presidential possibility.

Hoke Smith, who held the interior secretaryship three of the four years of Cleveland's second term, returned to Atlanta on leaving the cabinet and resumed his law practice. It and the newspaper which he took on a debt some years ago have brought him a substantial fortune, and he will not need his salary as governor of Georgia, to whic hoffice he was chosen at the last state election. He gets his Christian name from his mother's family. He is 51, and is not a college man.

William Freeman Vilas, secretary of the interior during the latter half of Cleveland's first term, who had previously served as postmaster general, is living at Madison, Wis., where he practiced law before his incursion into cabinetland. He is still practicing. He is 67, a native of Vermont, and a graduate of Wisconsin university. He served in the Civil war, rose to be lieutenant colonel, and was United States senator from 1891 to 1897. He is rich.

Henry M. Teller, Arthur's secretary of interior twenty-five years ago, is 77. He was a New York state boy, educated at Alfred university, taught school, practiced law, and, in 1861, reached Colorado via Illinois, where he made a three years' stop on the road. He got into the United States senate in 1876, remained there until put into the cabinet in 1882; in 1885, when he left the cabinet, went into the senate, and has been a senator ever since, part of the time as a Silver Republican. One of his most remarkable speeches was made in 1903. Its delivery took four days, and it took him a full week to revise it for the printer. The circumstances attending Teller's last re-election to the senate, in 1903, were unusual. There was just one too few present in joint session of the legislature to make a quorum. The sergeant at arms went out, found a member named Madden, who was sick abed, bundled him into an ambulance against his wife's protest, and took him to the chamber, where he completed the quorum and Teller was elected.

These Looked After the Mail.

There are eight living former postmaster generals, counting George Bruce Cortelyou, now secretary of the treasury, and therefore not an "ex," and Vilas, who has been at the head of the interior department as well.

Cortelyou's immediate predecessor as postmaster general was Robert John Wynne, who reached the cabinet chair via the first assistant place, in 1902. Apparently he was expected to be only a figurehead, but he insisted on knowing what was going on. The result was war between Machen and Beavers bureau heads, and Wynne; a general investigation of the department and trial on criminal charges for Machen, Beavers and some others. Postmaster General Payne was not in sympathy with Wynne at first, but fell in with him later. Wynne was made head of the department in 1904; in 1905 he was sent to London as United States consul general. He is 55, a native of New York city, and was Washington correspondent of the New York Press when taken into the postoffice department.

McKinley's postmaster general from 1898 to 1902, Charles Emory Smith, was also a newspaper man, editor of the Philadelphia Press both before and after his connection with the department. He is 65, a graduate of Union, a native of Connecticut and was minister to Russia under Harrison. James Albert Gary, who preceded him as head of the department under McKinley, Connecticut born, was a manufacturer in Baltimore when placed in the cabinet, and returned to the business on resigning in 1898. He is 73.

At 69, John Wannamaker of Philadelphia is pursuing his way as a retail merchant, the business which he was engaged in when intrusted with the portfolio by Harrison in 1889.

Don M. Dickinson, postmaster general under Cleveland, during his first term, returned to his law practice in Detroit after leaving the cabinet, and at 61 is still active. He is a graduate of the law department of the University of Michigan. In 1896 he was senior counsel of the United States in the prosecution of the Behring sea claims, and, in 1902, was a member of the board of arbitration appointed to settle the differences between the United States and Salvador.

Thomas Lemuel James, Garfield's postmaster general, now 76, who began life as a printer in Utica, N. Y., and was postmaster in New York when called to the cabinet, became president of the Lincoln National bank in New York on leaving the department, and has held that position a quarter of a century. He is not a college graduate, but has received several honorary degrees.

Former Chief Law Officers.

Including Williams, there are eight surviving attorneys general—seven besides Supreme Court Justice Moody, who has filled two cabinet places, both under Roosevelt. Philander Chase Knox, who was a big corporation lawyer in Pittsburg when called to the cabinet by McKinley in 1901, resigned the place under Roosevelt, in 1904, when elected to the senate, and has devoted himself to the senatorial job ever since. He is one of the most picturesque men, both in appearance and in personal history, who ever filled a cabinet chair. At 54, six feet tall, smooth shaven, alert, he is in the very prime of life. He is a Pennsylvanian by birth and a graduate of Mount Union college, an Ohio institution.

He never held but one office before entering the cabinet, that of assistant United States district attorney. He was Carnegie's attorney in many of his earlier operations. He thinks his work in examining the status of the Panama canal companies before the purchase of the canal, was the most important he ever did. It was he, who, as attorney general, caused the dissolution of J. J. Hill's Northern Securities company. The senator is as fond of a fast horse today as he was when practicing law.

John William Griggs, who succeeded Knox as attorney general and was a Paterson, N. J., lawyer before entering the cabinet, returned to Paterson and resumed his practice there on resigning in 1901. He is 58, a native of New Jersey and a graduate of Lafayette. His predecessor, Joseph McKenna, a native of Philadelphia, though appointed from California by McKinley, was made a United States supreme court justice in 1898. He is 63.

Judson Harmon of Cincinnati, attorney general during a part of Cleveland's second term, an Ohioan by birth and a Denison university man, is practicing law at 61 in Cincinnati, as he was in 1895 when called to the cabinet. Harrison't attorney general and for years his partner, William Henry Harrison Miller, is practicing law at Indianapolis. He is 66, a native of New York state and a graduate of Hamilton.

Wayne MacVeagh, the oldest of the living ex-attorney generals—he is 74—who served under Garfield and resigned when Arthur succeeded him is practicing law in Philadelphia, where he is a very big figure. He is a Pennsylvanian by birth and enlisted in the state's defense when it was threatened by the Confederate movement which culminated at Gettysburg. A Republican in the time of Hayes, who sent him to Louisiana to smooth things over there he became a Democrat in the days of Cleveland, who made him ambassador to Italy. He was chief counsel for the United States in the Venezuelan arbitration proceedings at The Hague in 1903, and has always been a champion of international peace. He is a Yale man.

Both the former secretaries of commerce and labor, George B. Cortelyou and Victor H. Metcalf, are still in the cabinet.

TOWN OF CHOCOLAY IS EXPERIENCING A BOOM.

Marquette, Mich., May 4.—A number of buildings are in process of construction in the village of Chocolay. Twenty years ago, before the iron furnace closed down, the village was a thriving one and property in the vicinity commanded a good price. When its main industry stopped, however, its population soon decreased and it presented a deserted appearance. With the reopening of the furnace, old residents are looking for it to regain all its pristine prosperity.

PARK RAPIDS THE WINNER

In the Declamatory Contest Held at Cass Lake.

Ruth Holcomb Wins First Place in Individual Honors.

Cass Lake, Minn., May 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—Before one of the most enthusiastic gatherings ever assembled in Cass Lake, the first declamatory contest on the history of this part of the state was held last night, and it was an event that will go down in the history of the competing high schools as a most memorable event.

Each of the five high schools, Park Rapids, Grand Rapids, Akeley, Bemidji and Cass Lake had two representatives, one delivering a pathetic recitation, the other a humorous one. Each speaker handled his or her subject in a most creditable manner and it was not until they had deliberated for three quarters of an hour that the judges were able to reach a decision.

Park Rapids was awarded the banner. It being agreed that their all around speaking ability was superior to the other contestants. Ruth Holcomb of Akeley was awarded first place, having the best rendered pathetic selection, while Gorwin Meyers of Park Rapids was awarded second place. Roxey Utley of Cass Lake was awarded first place as the best humorous speaker and Freda Rice of Park Rapids second place.

The following were the contestants: Cass Lake, May Christianson and Roxey Utley; Park Rapids, Gorwin Meyers, Freda Rice; Akely, Ruth Holcomb and Myrtle Ramsdell; Grand Rapids, Allen Doran and Katharine Gilbert; Bemidji, Clarence Shannonn and Ethel Knox.

The judges were P. F. Pray, Akely; W. D. Haradon, Park Rapids; H. F. Parshall, Cass Lake; L. C. Hefferson, Bemidji, and H. L. Hartley, Cass Lake.

DIES WHEN ALMOST SAVED.

Mrs. Schunst, An Octogenarian, Suffocated by Smoke at Springfield.

St. Peter, Minn., May 4.—Mrs. Anna Schmidt, aged 89, met a tragic death at her home in Springfield. Mrs. Schmidt was a partial invalid, and was cared for by one of her granddaughters. On the day of the tragedy, the younger woman started a fire, filled the stove with fuel and then placed her grandmother in a chair a few feet distant.

A few minutes afterward she was called to the home of a neighbor, and when she returned a half hour later, she found the dwelling filled with smoke, a quantity of clothing near the stove having ignited. Regardless of her own danger, the girl rushed into the house and came upon the body of her grandmother lying near one of the outer doors. She had managed to make her way across the room, but the door resisted her efforts to open it and she was suffocated within an inch of safety.

SCARCITY OF HAY.

Farmers in Vicinity of Greenbush Have Difficulty in Feeding Stock.

Greenbush, Minn., May 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—The late spring is making it unusually difficult for the farmers in this section to care for their cattle properly until the new grass will be at hand. Many of the farmers have exhausted their supply of hay and others have only enough to last them a week, while very little hay is available to buy, and if we do not get steady warm weather from now on, the cattle will suffer in consequence.

The repeated fall of snow has kept the grass from starting, but there is no frost in the ground, and a few showers and a week of warm wather would start things growing, nicely.

DULUTH TRAIN HAS A NARROW ESCAPE.

Crookston, Minn., May 4.—A peculiar incident occurred on the Duluth line Thursday evening which narrowly escaped causing a disastrous wreck and great loss of life. The heat of the sun caused some rails which were laid in the winter time and were placed too close together, to expand so far that they simply were forced to curve up at the two ends and lifted a part of the track, ties and all, off the roadbed. A heavy gravel train had passed only a short time before and the Duluth passenger, No. 133, was stopped just in time to avoid a disastrous wreck. The occurrence was just this side of Shevlin and railroad men state that it was one of the most peculiar incidents which they ever saw. The Duluth train was delayed for two hours while the track was being repaired. In laying rails this expansion and contraction, because of changes of heat and cold, are always supposed to be taken into consideration, but in this case it was evidently overlooked.

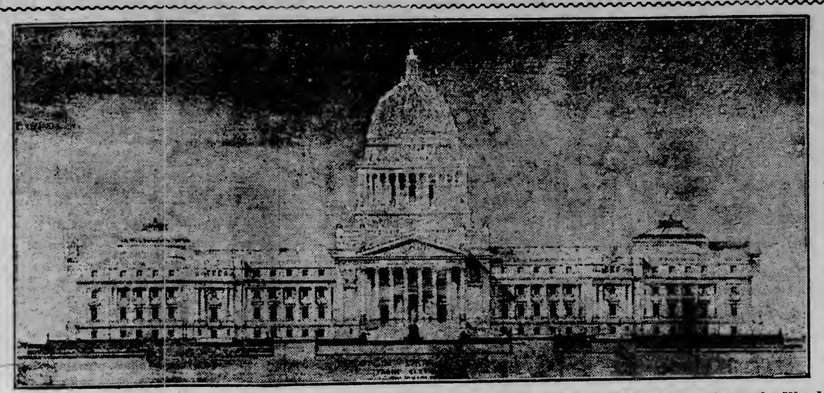
WOMAN OF 65 IS FARMER.

Mrs. Bixby Will Open a 317-Acre Farm, Near Sylvan.

Pillager, Minn., May 4.—Sylvan has been selected by Mrs. Bixby, a lady of 65 years, as the base of extensive farming operations. She has purchased 317 acres adjacent to the village, all of which will be put under cultivation. This land formerly belonged to Maj. Ruffee, who was an Indian agent in the early days.

As a result of the mad-dog scare, caused by the frightful death of Brinkman last winter, every dog in and around Sylvan has been killed.

WISCONSIN'S CAPITOL IS TO BE BUILT OF VERMONT GRANITE.



Wisconsin's new $6,000,000 capitol will be built of Bethel white granite and a contract has been let to the Woodbury Granite company of Bethel, Vt., to furnish the stone, at a price in excess of $2,000,000. The entire exterior superstructure will be built of this stone.

The Bethel granite is almost pure white and is generally regarded as the best building material in the Western hemisphere. Georgia marble is the only other stone that approaches it for building purposes, it is declared. Its cost is practically the same as the Georgia marble.

The building will be erected in sections, one wing at a time, and dome or central part also separately. It is hoped to have the west wing completed and ready for occupancy by the time the legislature meets two years from now.

MINNESOTA IN BRIEF

Minneapolis.—Dr. Jacob F. Force, now serving a three and one-half year sentence in the Stillwater penitentiary, is also liable to the Northwestern National Life Insurance company to the amount of $115,115.36 on a civil action.

Pine City.—The Cherrygatana company is the name of a newly incorporated organization which will prospect for copper east of town. The company has a nominal capital of $50,000 and was incorporated under the laws of Minnesota by H. C. McCollom, R. D. Cone and W. H. McCollom of Minneapolis. Diamond drills will be used, and work will commence as soon as they arrive.

Owatonna.—The announcement of the sudden death of Charles Carter, a pioneer resident of Owatonna, will be a great surprise to his friends in this city. Death occurred Wednesday morning, May 1, at about 11 o'clock, at his home, 126 Walnut street, and was caused by heart trouble.

Fergus Falls.—Deputy Sheriff Julius E. Olson took Christian Halvorson, who pleaded guilty to burglarizing Mr. Palfour's store, to the Red Wing training school Thursday night. This leaves no county prisoner in the jail here, and only four federal prisoners. The cases of these federal prisoners will be disposed of when the United States court convenes May 7, and it will not be at all surprising if the jail is again empty after that date as it has been most of the year.

La Crescent.—Willie, the 3-year-old son of Frank Smith, fell down the cold air draught of the furnace at his father's residence. It was necessary to tear down the chimney to rescue him. He was not injured, but badly frightened.

Mankato.—Mrs. Margaret Kelly, acting as guardian for her 13-year-old daughter, Lyla, has commenced an action for $5,000 damages against Ferdinand J. Hoerr, a produce shipper of this city, because of alleged injuries sustained recently when the little girl was bitten by a mad dog.

PECK COMMANDER

Of the Wisconsin Commandery Military Order of Loyal Legion.

Milwaukee, Wis., May 4.—Former Governor George W. Peck, soldier, editor, and author, was elected commander of the Wisconsin commandery, Military Order of the Loyal Legion, at the annual election of officers Wednesday evening. Amid the applause of men who fought with him in the War of the Rebellion and their descendants, the well known Milwaukeean who has spoken in nearly every meeting for more than a score of years, took the chair vacated by the retiring commander, Maj. William W. Rowley.

MARINETTE COUNTY IS DENIED ITS PETITION.

Marinette, Wis., May 4. — The decision of the state tax commission on the question of ordering the taking of depositions of thirty or more Marinette citizens concerning the value of their personal property, which was argued Wednesday in Madison, was received here yesterday.

The commission denies the petition of the county assessment district and refuses to issue the desired order.

KEENAN FUNERAL LARGELY ATTENDED.

Ashland, Wis., May 4.—The funeral of City Treasurer Patrick Keenan was attended by a large concourse of people, representing all classes of people, Friday morning. All departments of the city were represented, the several Catholic societies to which the deceased belonged, the Modern Woodmen, and a large attendance of friends. Father Fabian conducted a solemn requiem mass, St. Agnes church being filled to overflowing. The floral emblems contributed by the various orders, and by friends, were profuse and beautiful.

CHARGED WITH ASSAULT.

Lucius Ross, a Negro, Will be Tried at Armour May 14.

Armour, S. D., May 4.—Judge Smith will convene court on May 14. The session promises to be a short one.

The only important criminal case is that of the negro, Lucius Ross, who is charged with assaulting Mrs. Perry, the wife of a farmer living northwest of Corsica. Ross has been in jail for two months.

There is no want ad. printed in The Herald to-day which does not strongly interest at least ten people—and there are some that will strongly interest thousands.

WISCONSIN

SUSPECTS ARE HELD

Racine Police Believe They Placed Ties on the Track.

Only Departure of Special Freight Averted Awful Wreck.

Racine, Wis., May 4.—Two men suspected of having placed ties on the Northwestern track at Lakeside, a suburb of this city, Wednesday night, which nearly caused the wreck of the fast southbound passenger train which leaves Milwaukee for Chicago at 9:30 p. m., were arrested in a ravine south of the city. At the jail they gave their names as Joseph J. Riley, formerly of Milwaukee, and James Cavanaugh of Burlington, Ohio.

Only the fact that a special freight train was sent out ahead of the passenger prevented a serious disaster. The freight struck a tie tightly wedged between the rails.

The train which escaped was heavily loaded, all the coaches being filled with passengers, when it left Milwaukee at 9 o'clock last night. A the last moment a congestion of freight in the yards compelled the dispatching of an extra, which was sent out just ahead of the passenger's time.

The freight consisted of an engine and thirty-five cars. It hit the obstruction while running at slow speed. The engine was derailed and some of the cars damaged.

UNIVERSITY STUDENTS

To Tour the Iron and Copper Districts of the Northwest.

Madison, Wis., May 4.—A party of advanced students in geology from Wisconsin, Chicago and Northwestern universities will leave Madison tonight for a nine days' trip in the Lake Superior iron and copper districts under the direction of Prof. C. K. Leith. Members of the instructional force of each of the institutions will accompany the party. The itinerary includes Duluth, the Virmilion and Mesaba iron ranges of Northern Minnesota, the Penokee-Gogebic iron range of Wisconsin and Michigan, and the Douglas county copper range of Northern Wisconsin. Those from Wisconsin who will take the trip are: W. J. Mead, Madison; Edward Sleidtman, Prairie du Sac; Carl Zapffe and Frank J. Katz, Milwaukee; Orville W. Wheelwright, Belleville; Walter W. Petrie, Fond du Lac; Guy H. Cox, Fort Dodge, Iowa; E. Leith, and W. O. Hotchkiss and several instructors from Wisconsin will also take the trip.

BOYS WOULD WRECK STREET CARS AS A JOKE.

Oshkosh, Wis., May 4.—For placing obstructions upon the track of the Winnebago Traction company's interurban line, Arthur Schultz, Richard Schultz, Leonard Wolf and Anton Wickikowski, ranging in ages from 16 to 22, have been arrested. Bail has been fixed at $1,000 each. The young men claim it was done as a joke.

WISCONSIN IN BRIEF

Kenosha—The belief is growing that Mrs. Alfred H. Terrill, who on Tuesday kidnaped her two baby daughters from their father's home, did not try to escape with them, but drowned herself and the children in Lake Michigan.

Hudson—The firm of Stockman Brothers of Woodville, Wis., has been forced to make an assignment in favor of creditors, after doing a general mercantile business for a quarter of a century. For many years this was the leading business firm in the eastern part of the county.

Brodhead—Hattie Hartwig, 13 years old, stood highest in the teachers' examination held here, and was granted a certificate entitling her to teach in the public schools. She will take advantage of the certificate, beginning with the new school year next September.

Ellsworth—Edward Rodewald, who has been in the county jail here awaiting the recovery of Edward Briggs, whom he shot on Jan. 8, was bound over to the circuit court yesterday. Brigs, who was shot in the neck, the ball lodging in his spine, has been at Sacred Heart hospital at Eau Claire for three months.

DAKOTAS

TO BREAK PRACTICE

Dakota Employers Are Weary of Being Imposed On.

To Prosecute Hands Who Come and Refuse to Work.

Grand Forks, N. D., May 4.—Determined to break up the practice of accepting transportation from the Twin Cities to North Dakota points and then refusing to work for the man who hired them, Thomas Gorman, foreman of the big McCanna farm at McCanna, yesterday had three men arrested, who had been hired in Minneapolis, and had been furnished transportation to McCanna. They fled in the night from the McCanna farm to Larimore, where they were arrested on a charge of fraud.

"RUSTLERS" AT WORK.

Eight Horses Stolen From Farmers in Vicinity of Fessenden.

Fessenden, N. D., May 4.—The vicinity of Fessenden has been raided by horsethieves. George People, a farmer, lost four workhorses, and two nights later, Mr. Edinger also lost four, all taken from their barns. No trace of the thieves has been discovered.

Harvey and Fessenden have been rival towns for the location of the Wells county fair and for the grant from the county to aid it. Both have organizations and fair grounds. Today the applications of both towns came before the county commissioners, each claiming to be entitled to the grant. Both were rejected and the fair associations are left to struggle each for itself.

GRAIN COMMISSION BOARD IS APPOINTED.

Bismarck, N. D., May 4.—Governor Burke has appointed S. A. Nye of Valley City, Frank Maurer of Devils Lake and A. R. Thompson of Rolla, members of the state grain commission board. The law requires that the board be nonpartisan and empowers it to investigate the practicability of at once buying an elevator at the Minnesota terminal.

ESCANABA PLANT DAMAGED $75,000.

Escanaba, Mich., May 4.—Fire started by an overheated dry kiln destroyed the greater portion of the Escanaba Manufacturing company's woodenware plant, causing a loss of $75,000. The plant was one of the largest of its kind in the country. Two hundred hands are thrown out of employment. The loss is covered by insurance, and rebuilding will begin at once.

DAKOTAS IN BRIEF

Fargo, N. D.—Property owners on the N. P. right-of-way, both in this city and Moorhead, may be called upon to fight a suit in the courts in order to maintain possession of their property. Agents of the Northern Pacific are visiting property owners on the right-of-way and requesting them to either vacate or secure leases.

Huron, S. D.—The bottling works at the Blume brewery, on the east side of the river, was totally destroyed by fire early Friday morning. The loss will exceed $3,000, partly covered by insurance. The origin of the fire is not known. Albert Blume, manager of the Blume Brewing company, has already arranged for a new building.

Madison, S. D.—Mrs. L. T. Paulson did not find a man under the bed, but she did find a burglar in the house, and for a short time there was great excitement in the Paulson household, until the burglar took to his heels and got away.

UPPER MICHIGAN

BOY KILLS BROTHER

Arthur Smith, of Wallace, the Victim of Accidental Shooting.

Gun Goes Off While Boys Are Picking Mayflowers.

Menominee, Mich, May 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—Arthur G. Smith, aged 19, the son of George Smith, a well known merchant of Wallace, this county, was accidentally shot last night by his brother, Gaylord, aged 16. The boys were out picking Mayflowers when the gun was discharged, hitting the older boy in the eye, killing him instantly.

SUICIDE AT MENOMINEE

Nick Fabor, Aged 58, Shoots Himself From Despondency.

Menominee, Mich., May 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—In a fit of despondency, Nick Faber, aged 58, committed suicide this morning by shooting himself in a barn in the rear of his residence, in this city. The deceased left a note explaining his action and leaving his property to his wife, who is the mother of five children.

WEDDING MYSTERY.

Turned Over to the Menominee County Clerk for Solution.

Menominee, Mich., May 4.—A mystery apparently locked up in the breast of a dead, unfaithful husband, who deserted his wife on her wedding day, has been given to County Clerk Hansen by Rev. R. Sholter, pastor of St. Mary's church of Oshkosh.

On the first day of May, 1893, Louis Vaughan, a street car motorman of this city, and Anna Laist of Green Bay were married by Justice Oliver Magnussen. A few hours after the ceremony Vaughan disappeared and the young wife was compelled to earn a living for herself and child.

Several years ago Mrs. Vaughan received word that her unfaithful spouse was killed in a railroad wreck, but the report could not be verified. It is with the intention of clearing up the mystery that the Oshkosh priest has written to the local authorities.

ANNUAL TOURNAMENT

Of Upper Peninsula Firemen to be Held at Ontonagon Aug. 20-23.

Negaunee, Mich., May 4.—The annual tournament of the Upper Peninsula Firemen's association will be held at Ontonagon, Aug. 20 to 23. This has been decided by the executive committee of the organization. It is announced that the events this year will be limited to firemen's running races and contests of similar kind. The street fair features will be eliminated entirely. Fire departments from all over Upper Michigan will take part in the tournament, and altogether the visitors will number well in the thousands.

RARE PRIVILEGE

Accorded Students of Mining College to Go Into Calumet & Hecla.

Houghton, Mich., May 4.—The senior, or graduating class of the Michigan College of Mines was accorded a rare privilege, that of going punderground at the Calumet & Hecla. Only once during his career at the local institution, and then just before graduation, is the student at the mining college given the privilege of descending into the deepest mine in the world. During their several years in college the students make numerous underground visits, but not down the great Calumet & Hecla.

The occasion of this visit underground at the Calumet & Hecla is made the occasion of a very pleasant time The underground officials extend the students every courtesy and they return to the earth's surface with many valuable ideas of the underground life. The student party was in charge of Prof. Spurr of the college faculty. The trip is only open to students who are in line to receive the degree of Engineer of Mines.

PENINSULA BRIEFS

Houghton—Under sheriff Vivian of Houghton, went to Chassell Thursday and arrested two boys who are charged by Postmaster Sumner with creating a disturbance in the postoffice. One of them hit the postmaster last week while he was trying to eject him.

Calumet—Eight miles in forty-five minutes is the record made by the dog team of William Anderson, a fisherman of Munising, a few days ago in a trip over the ice on Lake Superior.

Hancock—Painesdale is going to have a magnificent high school building. The structure will cost in the neighborhood of $100,000, which sum will be raised by an issupe of bonds authorized this week at a special election. Plans for the school have been submitted by a number of architects.

Lake Linden—More than 200 liquor licenses have been taken out in Hoghton county this spring, at a cost to the saloonists of upwards of $150,000 cash. Some 120 of the saloons are located in Calumet township, which includes the villages of Red Jacket and Laurium. In Iron county, the city of Crystal Falls will have thirty dealers in liuor this year, a greater number than since the palmy days of 1901. The prosperous conditions in the iron ore trade are responsible for the increase.

WHATS WHAT IN THE SPORTING WORLD

By Naughton and Ye Sporting Scribe.

White Sox Are Coming.

If all goes well, the crowd of baseball players who are to represent Duluth in the Northern-Copper Country league this coming season will arrive here next Thursday. If the fans do the right thing, they will meet them with open arms and welcome them to the city, for which they will attempt to win honors on the diamond.

The team hasn't been wonderfully successful on the spring training trip. They have lost games, and there are those who would condemn them immediately. May as well condemn a man without giving him a trial. Let's see them work ourselves before we brand them as unworthy of the uniform. Baseball is a queer game at best. In every game unforeseen situations arise which may throw all plans and predictions over. The White Sox have had their share of hard luck; they have bucked snow and storms in their efforts to get in condition, and with a little good weather they will probably be in shape when they arrive. Here's hoping they are.

Even though they aren't, let's welcome them heartily. Let every good fan take "Smiley" Smith by the hand and tell him he is the best baseball manager this great country has ever produced. Tell the boys their victories are glorious and their defeats excusable. Let them know that every Duluth fan is with them, first, last and all the time, and it's a dead sure thing that they will play like demons to prove that the confidence is not ill reposed. The most perfectly constructed machine can't stand up under the incessant blows of a thousand hammers, and a little boosting goes a long way.

Give him the glad hand.

Cantillon's Coaching.

Joe Cantillon, whose coaching methods were considered quite the thing in the American association, has brought down himself the wrath of the sporting writers of the East. The Philadelphia and New York papers handed out roasts, which will make the shaven leaders of the Washington team arise and bear witness to the fact that the great national game is not still where it was when he left the active playing department to hold the indicator. He is stamped worse than a bush leaguer, his methods are pronounced crude, and his antics disgusting, and the gentlemanly Joseph is cautioned to change his methods, or his popularity will total nil.

Joe Cantillon is a mighty fine fellow, a good baseball general, and an all round desirable man for the managerial berth in Washington. The coaching methods he uses, however, will never get him anything in the East or West, North or South, nor will any man make himself popular by unseemly remarks and actions. Cantillon is charged with hurling cheap personalities at the players, using stereotyped expressions, which coachers have used in every bush league and corner lot game for a quarter of a century past and going through actions calculated to rattle the pitcher, but more effectual in making Cantillon the laughing stock of the crowd.

There have been coachers, who have been the delight of the fans in every big league town. They never indulged in personalities, their remarks were not shocking to the sensibilities, but they got there just the same and won the sympathy of the fans for their team. But personal remarks and horse play on the coaching line should not be tolerated in a bush league, not to say the greatest league in the country. Fans don't want such things and a man in baseball as long as Cantillon has been, should know it. Hughie Jennings, Detroit's new manager, is making a hit with his coaching but he is always a gentleman, trying to gain an advantage by fair means and gaining respect for his team, while Cantillon is being toasted to a deep brown on the iron of the Eastern baseball followers, wrath.

Handing Joe a few lemons.

The East and the West.

Again the West has triumphed. Michigan and Chicago, working together indirectly for the one great cause, journeyed to the peaceful city of William Penn last Saturday, lowered the colors of the crack Eastern universities, and again set their faces toward the setting sun with the honors in the four and one-mile relays. Michigan's victory was a foregone conclusion. For four years back the Wolverines have sent the crack pupils of Keene Fitzpatrick to Philadelphia to take the four-mile relay. This year the team was strong beyond all probability of defeat, but the victory is glorious, nevertheless.

Chicago's triumph outshines that of Michigan, even. Pennsylvania was conceded the palm in the one-mile event, but the Maroon runners proved the stronger, and Pennsylvania didn't land a medal. Of course, Pennsylvania was shy Taylor, the crack quarter-miler, but the fact remains that Chicago won from the best team the East could put forward this year. The victories in the relay carnival this year are all the sweeter to Westerners in that they, in a measure, remove the string of defeats administered to Michigan and Minnesota by Pennsylvania and Carlisle last year. If a Western team will summon courage and strength enough to humble one of the strong Eastern elevens next fall, our triumph will be complete.

Bill Nolan Manager.

Billy Nolan, who Battling Nelson made famous, is the big noise out around San Francisco way now. For Mr. Nolan has been chosen by the great and only Joseph Hagan, otherwise Philadelphia Jack O'Brien, to guide the pugilistic destinies of that shining light of the world of padded mitts. Nolan may not have secured unbounded popularity through his actions as manager of Battling Nelson, but the fact is evident that he knows a few things about landing the better end of the purse for the man under his wing. As soon as he was chosen by O'Brien for the great post, he hied himself to Los Angeles and arranged matters so that the Burns-O'Brien match will come off next Thursday night. That in itself was a master stroke of managerial ability. Keep your eye on William Nolan. He now has Jack O'Brien, Battling Nelson and Jem Bowker in his stable and if he doesn't pull off some good things in the pugilistic line shortly, there's something wrong.

Hibbing and Horse Racing.

The Hibbing sportsmen protest that they will not allow Duluth to hold a county fair, and, incidentally, a race meet this summer, as they have held it in former years and will do it again. If Duluth persists, they say, they will apply for injunctions and things.

Bless their hearts so full of childish innocence. Do they think that Duluth would deprive them of the pleasure of holding their county fair and, as a side matter, securing $500 from the coffers of the state? Far be it from the fair-minded sportsmen of Duluth to do such a thing. Hibbing is perfectly welcome to its county fair and race meet and every encouragement which Duluth can give will be cheerfully tendered.

But list! Duluth will not give up that race meet idea. The $500 from the state will be cheerfully passed up, but if present plans do not miscarry, the West end park will see some racing this coming season, which will make Hibbing horsemen open their eyes in wonder. Hibbing is welcome to the $500, but Duluth wants a race meet and more than one.

The Sullivan Twins.

The Sullivan twins, Mike and Jack, have taken one little corner of the stage and are pulling off a by-play, which is attracting a good many pairs of eyes toward them, while the bulk of the pugilistic audience is watching the Burns-O'Brien-Squires developments in San Francisco. The manner in which Jack put a crimp in the aspirations of Jack Palmer of England caused fight fans to use the name of Sullivan in their conversations and following close after it, the bald-headed brother gave Honey Mellody a severe setback in his race for the welterweight championship.

Mellody was the one and only logical rival of California Joe Thomas for the championship in the welter division. Jack Sullivan's victory over Palmer didn't get him very much in the way way of big purses, but it is practically certain that the next big fight in the 145-pound class will have for its principals one Michael Sullivan and Joe Thomas. It will certainly be a fight worth seeing, for Thomas is all there and a man who can put Honey Mellody away must have something to him besides a bluff.

Baseball on the Range.

From the Mesabe range comes the news that nearly every town in that thriving district will be represented this year by a baseball team. Hibbing, Virginia, Cloquet and Eveleth are raising funds to go into the game on a pretentious scale, while the other towns will be more modestly represented by strictly amateur teams. Tomorrow the first game will be played at Hibbing and then the annual championship squabble will be on.

It's too bad the range towns did not see their way clear to get into a league, as was suggested some time ago. There are five or six teams here in Northern Minnesota playing independent ball. They will play with one another on a sort of a catch-as-catch-can arrangement, with squabbles over terms, dates, and conditions, which will result in a veritable chaos before the end of the season. Then when the season does end, every single one of them and every individual member of every team will proclaim to the skies that his team won the championship of Northern Minnesota in semi-professional ball. Backward and forward the charges and counter charges, claims and denials will fly until they are buried under five feet of snow. That kind of thing doesn't do any good and it comes every fall as sure as shooting. The teams might better band together, arrange a schedule, and follow it out and when the end of the season comes, they would know where they stood and where the championship really belonged.

Jawing match every year. (Baseball on Range.)

Michigan and the East.

Michigan's link in the chain of Western colleges is still bound in place by a slender thread, while the Wolverines look toward the East hesitating to step forward, fearing that they may rue the step. The wavering has been going on for months. One day, Michigan is certainly going to the East; the next, Michigan is to remain in the West.

The extent of the big nine's dependence on Michigan is well shown by the schedule of athletic events for the Western colleges, which was recently issued. Of forty-three games and meets, thirteen dates are tentative on account of Michigan's position. If the Wolverine university decides to throw over the Big Nine, nearly one-third of the athletic events scheduled for the West this spring will fall through. It will be too bad if Michigan does go. The West will loose thirteen good events, and theEast will gain, for Michigan can furnish interest for followers of college athletics wherever its teams may go. Minesota's plan for a seven-game schedule looks like the real thing, and if the conference should accept it, Michigan would probably remain in the West, its rightful place.

Young Corbett Is Busy.

William H. Rothwell, who is pugilistically known as "Young Corbett," is back in the fight game again. It's queer that a boy of Corbett's mental ability and powers of discernment doesn't show when he is licked. When Corbett went down before the strong right arm of Jimmy Britt, the pride of Denver was dead, in the pugilistic sense of the word. He is one of the charter members of the Down and Out club. He has been pulling off a few fights around Philadelphia and is now blossoming out into a regular attraction in those six-round goes in the Quaker City. One of those fine days an enterprising promoter, who believes there is a piece of money in sight, will bring Corbett out and say he is a real champion, has come back in great style. There is nothing to this coming-back business and it's pitiful to see a man who was once a champion, taking beatings from pure and simple dubs.

Game Law Changes.

A change in the game laws, which may be advisable, but shouldn't be necessary, was made by the Minnesota legislature at its session just closed. It is that relative to rewards for information, which will result in the conviction of violators of the game laws. It is sad when conditions come to such a pass that men must be paid to do their simple duty to the state and the public.

A pretty poor specimen of a man is he, who will inform on a violator, so that he may secure the $10, $25 or $50 offered by the state, as the case may be. He is a poor sportsman, who will assist the state officials in the protection of the game and the forest purely from mercenary motives. Such a man isn't worthy of the name of a sportsman and whatever good he may do, might just as well be left undone.

It is clearly the duty of a true sportsman to inform on the sneak who violates the game laws. The state gives every man ample time to joy deer hunting, either for the sport or the gain. In every other branch of sport it is the same way. The man who will overstep those bounds should be punished for he is injuring the public at large. The man who will inform on him and secure his conviction is doing every true sportsman a favor, but he should not be prompted by a desire for gain. Let every rod and gun club instruct its members to co-operate with the state game warden's department in the protection of game. It is the only way their sport can be preserved, for if wholesale violations go on, game birds and beasts must be exterminated. Let the reward come as a side issue, with the desire to protect the game and preserve the sport which the denizens of the woods make possible as the first consideration.

"KERRY KID" HAS HIS SAY

The West Superior Fighter Issues a Sweeping Challenge.

Will Fight Caponi, Tom McCune or Jack Parres.

The "Kerry Kid," the West Superior fighter, is now out for a match and he issues a challenge, which includes in its scope Tom McCune, Tony Caponi and Jack Parres. The Kid says he is ready to put up a side bet of $250 for a fifteen round fight with any one of the men named. His letter to the sporting editor of The Herald folows:

"I notice that Tom McCune's manager says that Tony Caponi has a great chance to increase his standing if he can land a victory from Tom McCune and the two will fight May 15 or thereabouts. Now I don't want to intrude on that match, but I also saw a few days ago that Tom McCune's friends thought he could make a better showing with Mike Schreck than Ben Tremble did. I am not so heavy a man, nor do I claim to be such a fighter as Schreck, but I will do this: Let McCune and Caponi fight as scheduled this month. I will then fight Caponi fifteen rounds and will agree to stop McCune in fifteen rounds. I will also agree to stop Jack Parres in fifteen rounds. If any of those parties want any of my game, all they need to do is to get in touch with me and I will be ready to sign articles. They may also have a side bet of $250, if they want it. They can write me at West Superior or do business through Frank Hayes of Duluth.

GRAND FORKS HAS THE SAY

Five Teams Lined Up for Proposed Prairie League.

Fargo, N. D., May 4.—W. J. Price of Fargo stated last night that it was up to Grand Forks and East Grand Forks if there is to be a Prairie baseball league this season. Fargo, Devils Lake, Minot, Crookston and Bemidji have declared themselves in favor of a league, but it will be necessary for Grand Forks or East Grand Forks to come in to make a compact circuit.

Grand Forks has not warmed up very much for baseball this season but East Grand Fork fans have been making preparations. The enthusiasts there are still hopeful that a ball park can be fenced and equipped and a team that will represent one or both cities secured.

It seems to be up to those who want a league to get busy and act within a day or two as Mr. Price has declared emphatically that he will not call a meeting until he is assured that Grand Forks or East Grand Forks will be in the league.

MULLANE WAS NICELY STUNG

Manager of Calumet Team Drew Persimmon From Green Bay.

Frank Mullane, the well-known Minneapolis semi-professional catcher, who has assumed the management of the Calumet team in the Northern Copper Country league, is being handed a laugh by his associates in Minneapolis through a gold brick player whom he signed from Green Bay, Wis., says a Minneapolis paper.

Mullane needed a third baseman and a chap named Berg was sent to him with high recommendations from Green Bay. Berg had probably led the Squeedunk team at Green Bay in hitting and fielding, and some "bug" thought him good enough to burn up the Northern league.

Berg, the "boy wonder," arrived in Minneapolis Wednesday and reported to Manager Mullane. Frank told Berg to register at the Golden West hotel. Berg went down to the hostelry, and it did not meet his fancy. He had read somewhere of the West hotel, and thought that was the correct place for any real, live ball player with big league aspirations to stop.

Accordingly, Mr. Berg went to the West hotel and asked for one of the best rooms. He ate two meals at the West Wednesday, and two more Thursday evening. Berg may have been a failure as a ball player, but he could lead any league in table-finishing efforts.

Thursday afternoon Berg reported to Mullane at the St. Thomas college grounds, and was assigned to the third bag. The batters started shooting some hot ones down Berg's way, and the Green Bay recruit looked as though he were in for annihilation.

He couldn't have stopped a baseball with a fishnet, and as for batting, he couldn't fall down and hit the ground.

Mullane was wild, and what he told one Berg would not look very well in the Christian Advocate. Thursday night Berg was shipped back to Green Bay as third class matter.

"Mull" says he is going to trade Berg to Sam Coughlin for a broken bat.

PLANS FOR THE SUMMER

Long List of Outings Arranged by Y. M. C. A. Boys.

First Trip of Season Will Take Place May 17.

The outing committee of the boys' department of the Y. M. C. A. held a meeting last night to arrange for the outings to be held during the summer months. A complete schedule of outings was arranged, including some sort of a trip nearly every Saturday before the closing of school for the summer, and longer camps and excursions for vacation days. The outing committee will endeavor to make this the best year in the history of the department and, if the schedule is carried out, it will certainly be all of that.

The first trip of the season will be an outing to French river. The party will leave Friday afternoon, May 17, accompanied by George M. Brace and Secretary MacLeod. They will spend the night on French river, and return Saturday.

For Friday, May 24, the committee is planning an automobile ride for the boys. A number of Duluth automobile owners have agreed to loan the department their automobiles for the occasion and an enjoyable time is looked forward to by the boys.

During June and July, an outing has been arranged for each Saturday. The schedule includes excursions, cross-country runs, yachting parties, observation trips, picnics, athletic days and bicycle outings. Thursday afternoons have been set apart for swimming lessons. On these trips, special efforts will be made to teach the boys to swim. A large number of boys learned last year and the class was a popular feature of the summer's outings.

Monday, June 24, is the date set for the Knights of Sir Galahad picnic and July 1-3, the date for the Knights of Sir Galahad camp. Boys who have attended the meetings of the club during the year are entitled to enjoy the pleasures and experiences of the excursions and camps of the knights.

July 8, marks the beginning of the three-day hike and all the boys who can be accommodated are planning to go on this rather arduous excursion this summer. The trip this year will be to Pike Lake and the Hikers will carry their blankets and provisions in a pack sack, cooking their meals along the road. They will sleep in the open, around a big camp fire at night and, in short will spend three days of genuine "roughing it."

The Gypsy trip which proved such a success last year will also be a feature of the outings again this season. The boys will go down the South Shore to the Brule and will be away a week. The boys will live, during their seven days of gypsyhood, in the true Gypsy fashion, a wagon carrying their provisions, and baggage, but the "Gypsies" walking, cooking their meals along the way, camping wherever night finds them, and incidentally enjoying themselves as no band of Gypsies ever has or ever will. A committee was appointed last evening to make all the necessary arrangements.

At the annual boys' conference at Lake Geneva which will be held Aug. 1 to 6, the Duluth boys' department will be represented by six boys who are being sent by the various committees of the department. The outing committee have called a special meeting for Monday for the selection of their delegate.

Last, but not least, is Camp Miller. The Y. M. C. A. camp is looked forward to by the boys of Duluth as is no other of the summer's festivities, will be held Aug. 12 to 24 inclusive, at the old location on Serpent Lake, Deerwood. The camp program is too well known to every Duluth home which can boast a boy to need dilating upon. Preparations for a bigger contingent than ever attended this camp are being made by the committee and it is going to be the best ever from present indications.

Relief from Rheumatic Pains.

"I suffered with rheumatism for over two years," says Mr. Rolland Curry, a patrolman of Key West, Fla. "Sometimes it settled in my knees and lamed me so I could hardly walk, at other times it would be in my feet and hands so I was incapacitated for duty. One night when I was in severe pain, and lame from it, my wife went to the drug store here and came back with a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm. I was rubbed with it and found the pain had nearly gone during the night. I kept on using it for a little more than two weeks and found that it drove the rheumatism away. I have not had any trouble from that disease for over three months." For sale by all druggists.

TAKE AWFUL WALLOPING

Eau Claire State Leaguers Beat Sox 18 to 3.

Badgers Had Twelve Hits and Duluth Twelve Errors.

Eau Claire, Wis., May 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—A handful of the died-in-the-wool variety of fans sat in the stands yesterday afternoon, togged out in winter raiment, but at the same time shivering from the chill blasts, while they gleefully watched last year's tail-enders in the Wisconsin State league drag the bright white hosiery of Duluth through the mire. Eau Claire won 18 to 3. The Eau Claire team played like real champions, while the bunch of men whom "Smiley" Smith essays to make ball players played a game which would bring a blush to the cheeks of the worst bushers who ever attempted a travesty on the great national game.

Krick, who was attempting to fling them over, affected the role of chief bungler, and he carried it out in a very natural manner. He was wild and ineffective. The locals touched him for twelve bingles and he issued passes until the scorers were tired of marking them. But his team mates were not to be outdone. While Krick was allowing Eau Claire to pile up twelve hits, the White Sox in like measure piled up twelve errors. They booted the ball all over the lot, chucked it clear to the bleachers, although Tracey looks as though he could reach into the skies for them, pulled off the real bone-head variety of bush league ball whenever they got a chance, and, all in all, gave one of the most miserable exhibitions of baseball ever seen here.

Hooper and Smith, who were on the slab for Eau Claire, pitched good ball, giving the White Sox but seven hits. The Duluth men were unfortunate in th t Capt. Smith was hit over the heart by a ball in the third inning and had to be taken from the game, and Roy, who succeeded him, suffered a split finger.

Score:

	R	H	E
Eau Claire	2	6	0
Duluth	0	1	0

SPORTING BREVITIES

Let us charitably draw the curtain over that execrable exhibition of baseball with which the White Sox connected the fair city of Duluth at Eau Claire yesterday. It was certainly a miserable exhibition, even though we consider that it was before the regular season and played in chilly weather. It is to be hoped the Sox don't attempt to pull off anything like that when a Duluth league team is viewing their performances.

There is one redeeming quality to the ball, which the White Sox are playing in Wisconsin. They are working a good many bum heaves and all-thumb fumbles out of their system, which might better be delivered to the Wisconsin league teams than to teams of the N. C. C. league in regular season.

The White Sox certainly need their six pitchers, if they are going to get a staff out of them. Cummings is the only man who has shown any kind of form thus far and the others will have to brace up if they want to land a place on the team.

Big McCormick and his big stick and a few more who can clout the ball like him are needed by the White Sox.

Kid Paul was easy meat for Tommy Doyle on the mat at the Met last night. The West Duluth boy took two falls in exactly ten minutes and didn't have to try very hard at that.

Betting Favors O'Brien.

Los Angeles, May 4.—Betting on the twenty-round fight Wednesday between Jack O'Brien and Tommy Burns has shifted from even to 10 to 8 on O'Brien. It is expected that by the time the fight is on the odds will be 10 to 7. Interest in the fight is increasing. The auditorium has been enlarged and will now seat 6,500 persons. Seats range in price from $5 to $30.

GOOD GAME AT HIBBING

O'Dea to Take Strong Team to Range Town Tomorrow.

Notes of the Amateurs and Independents of the City.

Tomorrow the baseball season at Hibbing will open, when a picked team of professional stars, will meet the Hibbing nine, claimants of the independent championship of the Northwest. The picked team will be captained by Arthur O'Dea, last year's captain of the Duluth White sox, and this year a member of John Morrison's Lethbridge team in the Western Canada league. O'Dea has collected a strong nine for the game tomorrow and he expects to win from Hibbing and, incidentally, take the big end of the receipts.

Shurch, last year with Lake Linden and this year of the Lethbridge team, will share the pitching stunt with Wix Tredway of the Duluth White Sox. Charley Leonard, who was behind the bat for Hibbing last year, will catch for the Duluth team with Sam Menelce of the Winnipeg Maroons last year, on first base, O'Dea will play second, with Nagin of the White Sox on third and Livingston, another well-known professional at short. Olson, Weggman and one of the pitchers will play in the field. The team is about as strong an aggregation as could be picked up at this time of the year, and, if Hibbing can land the game, it will be well for the other independent teams of Northern Minnesota to look to their laurels this year.

The game tomorrow at Hibbing is about the only regularly arranged contest on the bill, but it is expected that there will be any number of games on the vacant lots throughout Duluth. All of the amateur teams of the city have been organized, but up to now they have had little opportunity to get together. If the weather man doesn't send another fall of snow tonight or tomorrow, nearly every ball player in the city will be out tomorrow for a workout and it is expected that by next Sunday, the season will be in full swing.

The Kelley Hardware team, which was billed to play at Hibbing tomorrow, but which had to pull out on account of not being fully organized, will be out tomorrow, and it is expected the regular team will be picked. Manager Ziegler has collected a bunch of local independent stars, and he expects to have the strongest team in this section this season. The Kelley boys may get in action by next Sunday, if a game can be arranged. They will play Hibbing May 19 or 26, and will probably play the Hooligans of Superior at the latter place on Decoration day.

The old West End Sluggers have reorganized this year and will play as the Larson Druggists. They and the Universal Millers will play tomorrow afternoon, and the Larsons are anxious to hear from any other amateur team in or out of the city. W. M. Peterson, 1525 West Superior street, is the manager, and he will be glad to hear from anyone wanting games.

The Big Duluths have no game on for tomorrow, but they will be out for practice and will probably begin their season next Sunday. Both the Big Duluths and the Bluffmakers have some star men in their line-up this year, and they expect to cut a wide swath in the local amateur field.

This afternoon the Central high school team and the Nelson Dewey high school of Superior are meeting on the Hunter's Park field in the first game of the high school series. The batteries are Cunningham and McDevitt for Duluth, and Mack and Malloy for the Nelson Dewey school.

SCHRECK WINS HIS FIGHT.

German Puts Tony Ross Out in Thirteen Rounds.

Dayton, Ohio, May 4.—Mike Schreck of Reading, Ohio, won from Tony Ross of New Castle, Pa., near this city, last night by a knockout in the thirteenth round. Schreck had things his own way throughout and could have shortened the fight several rounds had he desired. A right hook to the chin furnished the end.

LONGBOAT BEAT A NAG

Marathon Winner Learned by Accident He Could Run.

Is Reservation Bred and Typical Specimen of Race.

Here is the story of how Tom Longboat discovered that he could run. The yarn has been spun before, but there has always been a belief that it was a product of the vivid imagination of some newspaper man. Longboat himself, however, acknowledged the truth of the story, although he modestly disclaimed that it was at all a remarkable feat.

Longboat had been known as a good runner on the Indian reservation at Caledonia, which is about fifteen miles from Hamilton, but while he could beat any of the Indians at distances from a mile up to five, there was no idea that he had it in him to break world's records from ten miles up to twenty-five, which is what he has done since last fall.

One day last September Longboat drove with his father and mother from the reservation into Hamilton. Arriving in the city, Longboat was left to his own devices, but warned to turn up at the stable where the horse had been left in time to start for home by 5 o'clock.

Visits to Hamilton were few and far between for Longboat, and the young Indian put in his time seeing the sights, admiring the store window displays, and having as good a time as he could without any money in his pocket. In spite of that handicap, he had so good a time that it was after 5 o'clock before he remembered that he had to go back to Caledonia.

He hurried to the stable and found that his father, with the stoic sternness of the Indian, had started for home, leaving Tom to get there the best way he could.

There was nothing left but to hoof it the fifteen miles. Tom started right off, and when he got outside the city limits, started with a swinging lope, hoping to catch up with the old horse.

Mile after mile he jogged along, and no sign of his people appeared in the dusty road ahead. When he had covered half the distance, he was surprised to find that he was not in the least winded or fatigued.

Beat the Old Horse.

About three miles from the reservation, he came to a fork in the roads, either of which would take him home, with little choice in the distance. It so happened that Longboat chose one road, while his father had driven over the other, and Longboat arrived at the reservation ahead of the old horse. His father was naturally surprised when he arrived and found Tom home ahead of him.

The news of Longboat's run was soon the talk of the reservation. Billy Davis heard of it and got interested. Davis is a distance runner himself. In 1901, when Johnny Caffrey set the record in the B. A. A. Marathon, which stung for six years for Longboat to break, Davis finished second to Caffrey. Davis is an Indian himself, from the same Indian settlement which is Longboat's home. Since his great race in Boston in 1901 Davis has entered in many distance runs, but has always been beaten. His ambition was to have an Indian from the Caledonia settlement capture the Hamilton Herald annual road race of nineteen miles and a little over, which is the blue ribbon event for Canada's distance runners, just as the B. A. A. Marathon is the great race of America.

Trained for Hamilton Race.

Four weeks remained before the race, which is run late in October. Davis was in training for the event, but he dropped his personal ambition and secretly went to work to train Longboat.

Longboat needed little training. Davis tried him out at ten miles, and the young Indian beat Davis so badly that Davis found him at the end of the distance not even breathing hard, while he was "all in."

The day of the race came. Davis withdrew his own entry and substituted that of Longboat, so he appeared at the start in a wildly striped bathing suit and a pair of old bicycle shoes. Everybody gave Davis the laugh and wanted to know where he picked up his "ringer." The betting men, who made a book on the race, quoted Longboat 100 to 1. He was the joke of the race.

How He Won His First Race.

Davis gave Longboat his instructions. "Try to keep up with the leader, whoever he is. Don't pass him until the very end of the race. Just keep at his heels if you can." The Indian nodded and grinned.

Longboat was the original "Message to Garcia" Indian. He did just what Davis told him. A leader worked out of the bunch with Longboat at his heels. He looked around and saw that the freak in the bathing suit was dogging him. "I'll shake him," he thought, and hit up the pace for the next two miles. At the end Longboat was still at his heels, fresh and smiling, and the rest of the bunch was way behind, out of sight and hearing.

The leader was tiring and slowed up to let Longboat take the van and set the pace. But Longboat slowed up, too, and still kept at his heels. The leader was winded, and as the rest of the bunch was far behind, thought he'd sit down for a minute. Longboat sat down on the other side of the road and smiled at him. Longboat always smiles. Soon they heard the rest of the runners coming. The white man started at a terrific clip. He knew that he couldn't last the race, out, but he made up his mind to run the Indian off his feet. Longboat met the sprint and ran fast or slow, kept his place a few yards behind the white man, smiling still.

Leader Collapsed.

About five miles from the finish the leader fell in a heap, completely done up. Longboat stopped, looked at him, saw that he was done for and jogged home at a slow dog trot. He finished nearly two miles ahead of the second runner, and was within a minute of the record for the course set by Sammy Mellor, 1h. 49m. 25s. He finished perfectly fresh and could have broken the record had he kept his pace in the last two miles.

The feat stamped Longboat as a great distance runner. A month later, last Thanksgiving day, Longboat won the Ward Marathon race of fifteen miles in Toronto. The next month, last Christmas day, he ran in Hamilton again, and won the 10-mile road race with the greatest ease.

Longboat is a full-blooded Indian, of the Onondaga tribe of the Six Nations, and comes from the Caledonia reserve in the Niagara Peninsula. Only 20 years of age, Longboat is 5 feet 11 inches in height and weighs 145 pounds. He has all the characteristic physical peculiarities of his race. His frame is loosely knit and he appears to have all the qualities which go to make up a successful long-distance runner. The dogged determination needed to carry a runner through a long grueling race is well shown in the heavy jaw. His action is not pretty, according to lights of the modern track athlete, but it is effective. He takes long, loose, shambling strides, and while he does not appear to be making any great effort, he appears, as a spectator put it, to be able to go on forever.

O'ROURKE'S STRONG MAN IS AFTER HACKENSCHMIDT

"Joe" Rogers Challenges.

NEW YORK, May 4.—It is "Tom" O'Rourke's contention that "Joe" Rogers is a strong man, who can beat Hackenschmidt at any style of wrestling that the foreign athlete selects. Says O'Rourke:

"When Hackenschmidt came to this country two years ago there was nobody able to compete with him at his style, as men who were champions at 'Graeco-Roman,' such as Muldoon, Roeber and others, had retired from active service, and those who were Graeco-Roman wrestlers were too light in weight to compete.

"This compelled Hackenschmidt to take on Tom Jenkins at catch as catch can style, and the former disposed of Jenkins easily. Now we have a man born and brought up in New York city to represent this country and who wants a match with Hackenschmidt, at his own style of wrestling, and asks no favors.

"I am also coaching Rogers in boxing, in which department of sport he will be heard from in the next year. I understand from press reports that Hackenschmidt is also desirous of entering the ring and is preparing himself for that purpose, with a view of fighting Jeffries. If such is his intention, what could be better than to have Hackenschmidt and Rogers meet on the matw for the wrestling championship and also meet in the ring, and the winner of the boxing contest meet Jeffries?"

CHICAGO, 9-1; DETROIT, 4-2.

Detroit, May 4.—Chicago broke even with Detroit yesterday in a double header. Willetts' wildness and his ineffectiveness with men on bases made the visitors' victory in the opener easy. Both Killian and Smith did splendid work in the second. Chicago opened one inning with three hits and a base on balls, but scored only one run. The games opened with the warmest weather of the season and closed in the coldest, owing to a sudden climatic shift. Scores:

HUFF'S STAY WAS SHORT.

Manager of Boston Americans to Return to University.

Boston, May 4.—George A. Huff, manager of the Boston American Baseball club, handed his resignation to President John I. Taylor, giving as reasons for his action that he did not like professional baseball, and that his heart was not in his work. He will return to his old position as athletic director of the University of Illinois.

President Taylor accepted the resignation in good spirit, and immediately came to terms with Capt. Bob Unglaub to succeed the Illinois man as manager.

Huff made a statement, in which he said that everything is harmonious, and adding: "It may seem strange that for the past two days I have denied that I was going to leave, and then so suddenly completely change front. I have been in communication with President James of the University of Illinois for the past two days, but had decided to stay here, not making up my mind to leave until after a conference with President Taylor. I have completed arrangements with President Taylor to act as recruiting agent during my vacation."

MISS SUTTON WINS.

California Girl Victor at Tennis in New York.

New York, May 4.—May Sutton won the tennis singles yesterday, defeating Mrs. Barger-Wallach, who last year was runner up to Miss Helen Homans in the national championship tournament at Philadelphia. The California girl outclassed her opponent and won easily, 6-1; 6-1.

Following the singles, an informal mixed doubles was played, Miss Sutton and Pauling Fosdick defeating Miss Behr and Cyril Hatch, the score, 6-2; 6-1. Miss Sutton will sail for England Friday, to defend her title to the Welsh championship.

WILL HOLD MEET SATURDAY, JUNE 1.

Interscholastic Field Meet Committee Completing Plans.

At the meeting of the Interscholastic field meet committee held last evening at the boys' department it was decided to hold the big meet June 1. All the representatives of the eleven schools which will be entered are very enthusiastic over the prospects for the meet and the teams from the various schools will be stronger and better matched than last year. The contest for first place promises to be very close, no teams having anything like a cinch on the pennant, and in the race for individual honors and the all-round championship gold medal, it is expected that a number of last year's records will go to the wall.

In addition to the gold medal, it was announced last evening that the Kelley Hardware company had very kindly donated a silver medal for the boy winning second place for the all-round championship.

President Stanley Lamb urged the committee to let every fellow have a chance to make a place in the meet and win one of the little pennants which will be presented to every point winner this season.

The advertising committee reported that their plans for advertising were made and the committee will pass on them at the next meeting which will be held next week Friday.

YOUNG CORBETT TAKES BEATING

Erstwhile Champion Goes Down and Out Before Unknown.

Baltimore, May 4.—Kid Sullivan of Washington last night knocked out Young Corbett of Denver in the eleventh round. The match, which was fought before the Eureka Athletic club, was scheduled to go fifteen rounds.

In the rounds in which there were any particular advantage it was with Sullivan. Corbett showed that he was hurt as early as the second round, and in the fifth Sullivan knocked him through the ropes. Corbett was then in bad shape, but managed to last until the bell. Again in the seventh round, Corbett was driven through the ropes. In the tenth he was in bad shape, going to the floor for the count just before the end of the round.

In the eleventh the Denver lad was nearly exhausted. He was beaten about the ring when Sullivan landed a good right on the jaw and again the former champion went through the ropes, this time flat on his back with his head to the audience where he lay while Referee Jack McGuigan counted him out. Corbett was not revived for many minutes.

ANCIENT RELICS FOUND.

Greco-Buddhist Art Treasures, Seventeen Centuries Old, Discovered.

Allahabad, British India, May 4.—Dr. N. A. Stein, leader of the Indian government missions to Eastern Turkestan, has found in Chinese Turkestan, on the site of an ancient village in a desert, northward of Niya, antiquities illustrating every day life seventeen centuries ago, showing the predominant influence to have been Greco-Roman art, and including records written on wooden tables in the script of the Kharosth. At Miram he found nearly 1,000 Tibetan records. Many interesting art remains were discovered in a ruined Buddhish shrine, including colossal stucco reliefs closely related to the Greco-Buddhist sculpture of the first centuries of the Christian era.

MEXICAN WORKMEN DEAD UNDER WALL OF BIG DAM.

Chihuahua, Mex., May 4.—One of the great walls of the Chivscar dam suddenly gave way yesterday, engulfing nearly forty men. Between fifteen and twenty of the workmen are dead, thirteen injured, and several other unaccounted for. This is the last of a large number of mishaps that have claimed nearly 200 victims in this state.

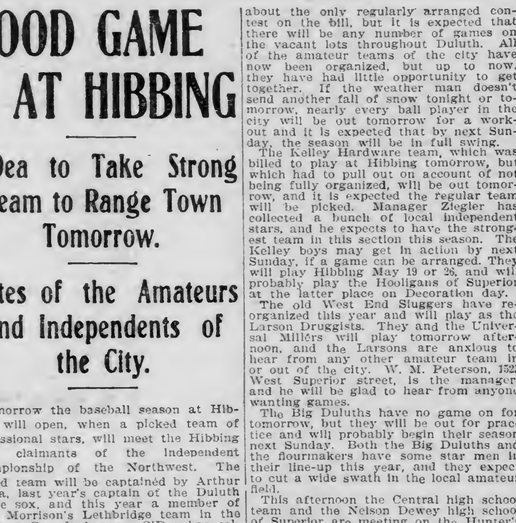
MILITIA MEN WILL SHOOT FOR HANDSOME TROPHY



TROPHY FOR RIFLEMEN.
Presented by Martin Smith for Competition Among Militia Companies.

The accompanying picture gives a very correct idea of the handsome trophy which Martin Smith of the Astoria hotel has recently put up for competition among the rifle companies of Northern Minnesota and Wisconsin. The trophy consists of a punch set, a big silver bowl, a beautifully designed ladle and twelve cups of corresponding pattern. The decorations on all the pieces consists of grapes with the vines and leaves and the set is a most beautiful example of the silversmith's art.

According to the inscription on the trophy it is to be contested for by seven-men teams from the various militia companies in Northern Minnesota and Wisconsin and is known as the Interstate trophy. The first contest for its possession will be the shoot late in July or early in August, which was planned by the Northwestern Interstate Military Rifle association organized in the armory Thursday night.

This means that the three Duluth teams from Companies A and C and the field staff and band team, Co. I of Superior, and teams from Ashland, Anoka, Princeton, Cass Lake and Eau Claire militia will be entered for the contest and about as pretty a shoot as has ever been held in the Northwest is probable on these conditions. The trophy is to become the property of the team which wins it three successive times, but until this time it is to be put up and shot for every year. The first shoot will probably be held here.

DELEGATES SELECTED TO REPRESENT DULUTH AT STATE LABOR CONVENTION

List of the Men Who Will Go to St. Cloud.

Labor Leaders From All Parts of State Will Attend.

Convention Will Assemble at St. Cloud Monday, June 10.

When the Minnesota State Federation of Labor assembles at St. Cloud about the middle of next June the union labor organizations will be well represented by some of the best trades unionists in the state. There will be five delegates from the Duluth Trades assembly and probably a like number from the Duluth Building Trades Structural assembly and probably a like number from the Duluth Building Trades Structural alliance.

The trades assembly will be represented by five delegates who were elected at the regular meeting last Friday evening. They are William J. Hunt, president of the assembly and delegate from the Electricians' union; Martin Olmen, delegate from the Typographical union; Earnest Peters, delegate from the Leatherworkers' union; Alexander Kennedy, delegate from the Dock and Ship Carpenters' union, and A. H. Barr, delegate from the Machinists' union.

Besides the five named above, who will represent only the trades assembly, several of the locals have elected delegates to the state convention. Each union is entitled to one delegate at least and more according to the membership in their organization.

The convention call was issued about a month ago by W. E. McEwen, secretary of the state federation. The convention will be attended by leading trades unionists from organizations all over the state and will be one of the most important meetings of its kind ever held in the state.

The State Federation of Labor is related to nearly all of the city central bodies and the various locals, and is the governing body for the state the same as the international organization is for the whole country.

The date for the convention at St. Cloud this year has been given out as June 10 and the delegates will probably assemble on or before that date. Last year the convention was held also in June, but at Stillwater.

AT THE LAKE COPPER MINES

Increased stamping facilities are being supplied, and their productions will be increased within a few months. The Trimountain is still the weak end of the Copper Range enterprise. It is putting out only about half as much rock as Baltic or Champion. This is reflected in the company's monthly statement of tons of mineral production, the March showing being 1,175 for Champion, 1,092 for Baltic and only 568 for Trimountain. It is understood, however, that the deepest workings of the Trimountain are showing improvement, and that within a comparatively short time there will be an increase in its production.

At the Gratiot property, controlled by the Calumet & Hecla company, and located north of the Mohawk, in Keweenaw county sinking is under way in two shafts, and the outlook is reassuring. The Superior mine, in section 15, control of which was acquired by the Calumet & Hecla a few months ago, is being developed steadily. An excellent grade of copper rock is being opened and the mine promises to become a valuable and profitable producer.

The impending resumption of operations at No. 1 shaft, which is called the richest shaft on the Kearsarge lode, leads to predictions that Osceola will be able to produce over 22,000,000 pounds of copper this year, and later 25,000,000 to 30,000,000 pounds is figured for this property.

Active work on the erection of the structural steel of the new Michigan stamp mill is now in progress at Keweenaw bay, the work being done by the Wisconsin Bridge & Iron company, which has the contract for furnishing and erecting the entire steel structure. Several carloads of the steel are on the ground, nearly the entire shipment, and the erection work will be pushed with vigor. J. F. Jackson, Copper country representative for the bridge company, expects to complete the contract in about six weeks. The new Michigan mill will be 177 by 92 feet, and its highest point about seventy feet above the foundations. It will be a two-head plant, sufficient for the needs of the Michigan for some years to come.

There is a possibility of considerable activity in the Porcupine Mountain copper range of Ontonagon county during the coming summer. The Calumet & Hecla mining is at present the only concern which is actively investigating the resources of the region, but unless present plans fail there will be others active in exploring lands in that vicinity. The Calumet & Hecla is now operating diamond drills on the White Pine property, and the explorations will not be completed for some time, it is expected.

for General Manager Guiterman of the American Smelting & Refining company reveals in eastern Routt county, Colo., a geological condition similar to that in the mountains in Middle Park, namel, granites, gneisses and chists. Hahn's Peak affords the most notable exception; porphyry exists there and indicates, as in the peaks adjoining, a high mineralization. Between Steamboat Springs and the Wyoming line are several mining districts—Greenville, Slavonia, Mount Farvell, Elkton and Hahn's Peak.

The Maud S. mine, Empire, Col., district, has been reopened after six years idleness. The property once produced ruby silver ore worth $5,000 per ton. It was discovered in 1887.

General Manager E. J. Wilcox of the Waldorf Mining company, in the Argentine district, Colo., cables from London that he has sold the holdings to an English syndicate for $3,500,000. The present management has been actively at work for ten years in development work, which, with machinery, cost approximately $1,000,000.

Ore shipped from the American Tungsten & Mining company's property on North Beaver creek, near Rollinsville, Colo., has been treated at the Nederland mill with the result of 60 per cent tungsten.

BUTTE OUTPUT IN APRIL

flow into it by reason of the law of gravitation. The company is making 200-foot lifts in all of its big mines, for it finds this class of development more economical in the long run.

According to report, the body of ore opened on the 2,400 of the High Ore is the equal in size and quality of any of the veins above, which means that the depth depth to which the great copper fissures of the Butte district go cannot even be surmised. The veins of the Anaconda have also been opened at a similar form and are said to be showing splendid form.

* * *

The Reins Copper development work is progressing with its old-time vigor. The company is extracting good copper from the 800 and 900 foot levels and making regular shipments to the Washoe. While this work is going on it is driving the drift from the 1,200 toward the east, with a view of eventually tapping the bottom of the old shaft of the Ella. When the face of the opening reaches a certain point, a diamond drill will be used in the tapping process. It will be pointed at an angle of about 50 or 60 degrees, for the face of the drift will be several hundred feet below and west of the bottom of the Ella.

The Colusa-Leonard Extension company is now working at a depth of 610 feet, having made eighty-five feet during the past, but has been delayed a bit by reason of having struck a vein. It is cutting a good sized station at the bottom with a view of installing a pump, but will resume sinking as soon as this job is finished. It intends to place a steam pump on the 800 and one driven by electricity on the 1,000. The flow of water is somewhat heavier than it has been, but this is accounted for by the fact that the vein is almost in the bottom of the shaft. After the vein leaves the shaft, the course downward will be more rapid than it has been during the last month, and, if nothing happens, the 1,000-foot mark will be reached by Sept. 1, an average of 100 feet a month, with two stations to cut. The vein in the shaft is still looking good and promises to hold its own, or even grow better, with depth, for it has been improving since it was struck at 560 feet.

William P. Jahn of Milwaukee, president of the Pilot-Butte Copper company and its manager, is preparing to begin work on the Pilot claim, which the company bought a short time ago. He has engaged John C. Hanley to take charge of the sinking of the shaft. Mr. Hanley sunk the Butte & London shaft to the 950-foot mark, giving up the work only when the Butte & London decided to do the remainder of its sinking by contract. The Pilot-Butte will start off in first-class shape, and will undoubtedly make good time, for Mr. Hanley is thoroughly familiar with the work, and will undoubtedly make each post a winner.

* * *

An effort to revive interest in the property of the North Butte Mountain company is underway, but whether it will be successful remains to be determined. The ground is located northwest of the Butte & Bacorn group, and is undeveloped, but is said to have surface indications of mineral.

The company was organized nearly a year ago, and men were sent East to interest capital in it. The capital was interested all right, and the men returned with hopes in a high key, but when the time came for putting up the coin something happened and the deal fell through. It is said the amount promised was $250,000. Within the last two weeks another movement to interest capital in the property has floated to the surface, and is now growing. The matter is in the hands of T. A. Marshall of Helena, who was here early in the week to consult with members of the company in regard to the proposed enterprise. According to report, Mr. Marlow intends to put some of his own money into it and raise the remainder in the East. The amount desired is not less than $200,000, for it is estimated that this sum will be required to equip the property with machinery and sink a working shaft to a depth sufficient to determine the value of the veins below.

The Butte & London company has just let a contract for sinking the shaft from its present level, about 1,000 feet, down to the 1,500-foot level. The contractors furnish all of the labor and the Butte & London company furnish the machinery, power and supplies. This is undoubtedly a wise move, as contractors seem to possess the knack of sinking more rapidly than men working on day's pay.

The shaft has already cut some large veins which show good values. The directors express great pleasure with the values that have been opened up, and they say that they have found more ore from the surface to the present depth than they had expected. It is the intention to continue the shaft to the 1,500-foot level before attempting any crosscutting. At the latter depth, however, it has been decided to run crosscuts north and south, each a distance of about 1,500 feet, in this way cutting all of the veins traversing the property, it being known that the veins of the Butte district invariably strike easterly and westerly.

The company started out on the theory that it is useless to look for large bodies of ore before reaching a depth of at least 1,500 feet, and this theory will be adhered to. That the veins are only found at great depth has been demonstrated by all of the companies operating around the Butte & London properties. The North Butte Mining company, for instance, operating just west of the Butte & London, encountered its most valuable and most extensive bodies of ore in the Jessie and Berlin veins on the 1,600-foot levels.

* * *

Supt. Lutey of the Calumet & Butte states that the shaft is now penetrating softer formation and developing more water. Chalcopyrite ore is continuing in the shaft which is now just reaching the 500-foot station. As soon as the sump and station are cut on the 500, the miners will start crosscutting both north and south, and it should not be long before they meet with the leads which showed up so well on the 300-foot level. Mr. Lutey reports that the shaft water is strong in copper. The Butte-Exemption company which adjoins the Calumet & Butte on the north, and which is composed of Philadelphia people, is just starting to open its group on the extensive scale. This company owns the Exemption, Collen Bawn, and Mountain Spur claims. All the work they do will be on veins that run across the Columbia Garden group of claims which the Calumet & Butte company secured a few weeks ago. This will greatly benefit the latter company, as it will in a measure determine the value of these leads for them. The Exemption company has already proven one of these veins to contain commercial copper ore, by means of a tunnel located near the entrance to the Columbia Gardens. As an evidence of the manner in which the value of East Side claims are appreciating in value, it is said that the sum of $100,000 cash has just been offered for the Copper Czar claim, containing about seventeen acres. The Calumet & Butte company will push the development work on its new group at once.

* * *

The tunnel which the Coalition company has been driving from the surface of the Tramway to connect with the Rarus shaft is about finished and will be in commission in a short time. The face of the opening tapped the shaft at a depth of about 210 feet last week. The tunnel is a double-compartment, and will be double-tracked, with a passageway for men on the side. It will be equipped with an electric haulage system. The company proposes to send its timbers into the Rarus by way of the tunnel, and use it as an inlet and outlet for the miners. The timbers will be framed in a new framing department, near the entrance to the tunnel. Timbers for the Tramway and Minnie Healey will also be framed there. This tunnel, which is about 700 feet long, will greatly facilitate operations in the Rarus, Tramway and Minnie Healey, especially the Rarus.

* * *

Development at the property of the Butte Copper Exploration company continues at a depth of 1,000 feet. So far as known, nothing in the way of commercial ore in paying quantities has been struck, but it is said that at the point where the work is now going on the ground possesses splendid indications of mineral. The stock has dropped to almost $1 a share, but there is little on the market.

* * *

The Bullwhacker company is making regular shipments of ore from its property on the east side, the quantity, it is said, aggregating close to 100 tons a day. The ore is the same character as that mined by lessees, silicate of copper. It carries from 4 to 5 per cent copper, which at the prevailing price of the red metal makes it of commercial value.

THE GREAT RUSH TO COBALT

mond drills sent down 400 feet below shaft bottom, or 600 feet below the surface, have brought up almost solid cores of native silver and have convinced the experts that silver will be coming out of the earth long after the present owners have ceased to need money.

The crying need of this vast silver camp is for a smelter—or several of them—as the plants in New Jersey and Copper Cliff will soon have ready to blow in two new hearths of 50,000 tons each per day capacity, but this goes but a short way toward relieving the congestion.

The new 100 ton per day smelter at Trout Creek, near North Bay, Ont., expects to blow in about May 30, and there will be a concentrating plant erected at Belle Marie, opposite Haileybury, Ont., or Lake Temiskaming, just as soon as the Canadian Pacific railway has completed its road now building into the district on the Quebec side.

Millions of foreign capital is pouring into the district, for development of acquired properties, and for the purchase of others, and this spring bids fair to see the greatest rush ever known in any mining camp on the globe.

Toronto, Ont., May 4—The Larder Gold Fields, limited, have received word that their charter will be granted shortly with a capitalization of a million and a half. This company owns a dozen claims near Lemieux Lake, and on nine of these gold discoveries have been made. The gold veins vary in width up to sixteen feet. Arrangements are being made by another Larder Lake company to take a special train of brokers, engineers and mining authorities to the gold fields. The visitors will be mostly New York and Philadelphia men. F. E. Schoonmaker, an engineer from Detroit, who has just returned from the north country, says that he saw veins which were over twenty feet in width with perfect walls of schist and conglomerate traced for over a mile. He is convinced of the value of the region. Eighteen miles west of Mc-Dougall's chute he saw a vein averaging over 200 feet in width composed of sugar quartz and carrying high gold and silver values.

A private letter from the gold fields states that hundreds of men are going further north to the Lake Abitibi region. A peculiar story of a find of platinum at Lake Abitibi reached Toronto the other day. A prospector brought a hatful of a strange ore to Larder Lake which he sold for $16. It turned out that this ore showed high platinum values. The finder was induced to part with his secret for a small sum, and the property will be developed by a close corporation of Toronto capitalists.

The ore shipments from Cobalt for the period from April 15 to 20 were: Trethoway, 165,340 pounds; O'Brien, 128,280 pounds; Coniagas, 64,900 pounds; a total of 358,540 pounds.

Native silver has been found in Truaz township, up the Montreal river. Three townships in this vicinity have been almost completely staked, though not a pound of ore has yet been shipped from the district.

The Drake & Stratton company now has four steam shovels engaged in stripping at the Morris mine, where only one was in commission a fortnight ago. At the Stevenson mine it has five of these big excavators at work, an increase of two within the past week. Many hundred thousand cubic yards of overburden will be removed by these machines this season. In the neighborhood of 3,000,000 tons of ore, it is estimated, will come from Pickands, Mather & Co.'s Mesaba mine this year. These properties are the Albany, Utica and Scranton at Hibbing; the Troy at Eveleth; the Minorca at Virginia; the Malta at Sparta; the Bangor and Syracuse near Biwabik; the Mohawk at Aurora, and the Elba and Corsica at McKinley. The combined output of these mines last year amounted to upwards of 2,700,000 tons.

On the Menominee range, Pickands, Mather & Co. have cut their working force at the Vivian mine, at Quinnesec, from 100 to about 80 men. Those of the miners who desired to make the change have been transferred to the Baltic and Caspian properties, at the western end of the range, in Iron county. The stockpiles at the Steel corporation's Aragon mine and the Cambria Steel company's Penn group in the Norway-Vulcan district are the largest in years. Two steam shovels are in commission, and together are loading 200 cars daily, or about five trainloads. The Chicago & Northwestern road is building a spur track to the Traders mine of the Antoine Ore company at Iron Mountain, now operated by Ogilvie-bay, Morton & Co. Heretofore the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul has had a monopoly of the traffic from the property. Capt. Henry Truscott, who has for many years been superintendent of the Loretto mine, east of Norway, has resigned that position because of failing health.

Contracts for the erection of twenty double houses for the use of employes at the Mary Charlotte mine, at Negaunee, Marquette range, are to be awarded shortly by the Breitung interests of Marquette. The Mary Charlotte is developing into one of the best properties in that portion of the range. A third shaft is sinking, and the working force is to be steadily increased. It has not yet been announced by the Steel corporation whether the building program mapped out for the Regent group, in the same field, will be carried out this season. It is expected, however, that contracts for the various structures proposed will be awarded within the near future. Much of the needed material has been delivered. It was at this group that operations were curtailed a few weeks ago. The new office building of the Cleveland-Cliffs Iron company, in course of erection at Princeton, in the Swanzey district, since last fall, has been completed. It is one of the finest structures of its kind in the Lake Superior region.

Rapid progress is being made with the improvements in the various departments at all the Cleveland Cliffs company's mines in the Swanzey district. A large force of men is engaged in installing the machinery at the new central power station at Princeton, and other crews are working at the auxiliary stations at the different properties. It will be several months before all the construction work now under way is completed. Shaft sinking at the Smith property, where a plant of machinery has been installed, is about to be started. The Smith will in time be developed into a good sized mine.

The company has been operating a dozen or more drills in this field for the last five years, and it has found what are believed from the development work now in hand to be extensive ore deposits. Both the Princeton and Austin mines will make large outputs this season, shipping their product to the docks at Marquette over the company's Marquette & Southern line, which was extended to the properties last fall.

American interests organized as the Canadian Bessemer Ore company have taken over the Loon Lake properties, near Port Arthur, Ont., and will develop a mine this season. With the property goes a railway charter for a road to Thunder Bay, between four and five miles distant. Ore docks are to be built there. Compared with the ranges south of Lake Superior this haul is very short, and should offset the extra cost of mining which is likely to occur. The ore is of good grade, but lies flat, and is bedded with lean portions, which will have to be picked out. It is claimed there are several million tons of ore in these deposits, which are of the hematite variety. Between 75,000 and 100,000 tons, it is expected, will be shipped this season.

The No. 2 furnace of the Algoma Steel company at the Canadian Soo is out of blast, the result of an accident which resulted in the brick lining of the stack dropping out. A few weeks, possibly, will be required to make repairs. The stack has a daily capacity of 250 tons. At Cadillac, Mich., the furnace of the Mitchell-Diggins Iron company is closed down for repairs. When the plant goes into blast again its capacity will have been increased by ten tons of charcoal of iron a day, giving it a daily output of 100 tons.

THE OLD DOMINION SMELTEE

500-level. About 350 feet of crosscutting has been done in both, and as the two nearest veins on the surface are about 250 feet apart, it seems reasonable that one of them, at least, will be encountered soon. Several days ago eight feet of vein matter was penetrated in the north crosscut, which is again in diorite. Sinking is still in progress in the Mallory shaft of the company.

* * *

The Arizona Commercial Copper company continues shipping about 120 tons of sulphide ore per day from the Copper Hill mine to the Old Dominion smelter. The first carload of ore from the Black Hawk mine has gone to the smelter. Another boiler and larger Cameron pumps are being installed in the Black Hawk shaft, which, at the depth of 560 feet, shows an increasing flow of water. As soon as the new pumps are working, sinking will be resumed.

* * *

At the Superior & Boston, good progress has been made the past week in development work on the Black Oxide, Limestone and Great Eastern claims. The west drift in the Black Oxide has shown improvement, there being an increase of copper in the hematite. A winze will soon be started in the vein and sunk several hundred feet. A small hoist has been installed at the Limestone shaft, and sinking will now proceed faster.

CANANEA-ARIZONA COMPANY

after inspection of the mines, that the property was all right as he knew it.

The Cananea-Arizona at Cananea has the new Hyden Stone property, called Cananea-Bisbee, a short distance away, on the opposite side of that part of the ore zone where the Cananea-Central shafts have developed such rich ore. Reports verify the richness of the ore at first struck only a few days ago and reported as 40 per cent ore. The Cananea-Arizona property is on the right of the ore zone, and with such large outcrops of copper stained rhyolite capping, which overflows the big ore bodies in all parts of the camp, and having the richest strikes of ore being made on both sides of it recently, it gives great promise that when development shafts reach the proper depth good ore will be found. The ore on the adjoining properties is found at the shallow depth of 150 feet and it is expected to be in the same horizon on the Cananea-Arizona.

The Cananea-Arizona company has such valuable and well situated properties and mines which gives such excellent indications on the development work now accomplished that it was expected future development would soon prove them to be mines of no small value and they are expected to become good copper producers.

SEYMOUR WILL TALK TO MEN

Will Address the Sunday Meeting at the Y. M. C. A.

At the Y. M. C. A. auditorium tomorrow afternoon the regular Sunday afternoon meeting for men will be addressed by Dr. C. W. Seymour of New York city, and his subject will be "Herod, King of the Jews." Prof. Hubert Crispini, the celebrated violinist, will render several selections at the concert prior to the meeting.

Dr. Seymour has been delivering a series of lectures to the teachers and general public at the high school during the last few weeks and has been greatly appreciated. His lectures are all on historiacal subjects and he now has a repertoire of more than thirty.

In his series of lectures Dr. Seymour treats of characters in ancient history, Pericles up to Charlemagne and mediaeval history from Jeanne d'Arc to the present time. Most of his lecture courses have been given under the auspices of high schools and normal schools.

Prof. Hubert Crispini, who will give several violin selections, is one of the greatest violinists in the country, and was until recently one of the leading players in Gilmore's famous band of New York city. The meeting proper will begin at 8:30, but the musical concert in which Prof. Crispini will play will begin at 3 o'clock.

The meeting is exclusively for men and will be held at the Y. M. C. A. auditorium. Admission will be free although a silver offering will be taken.

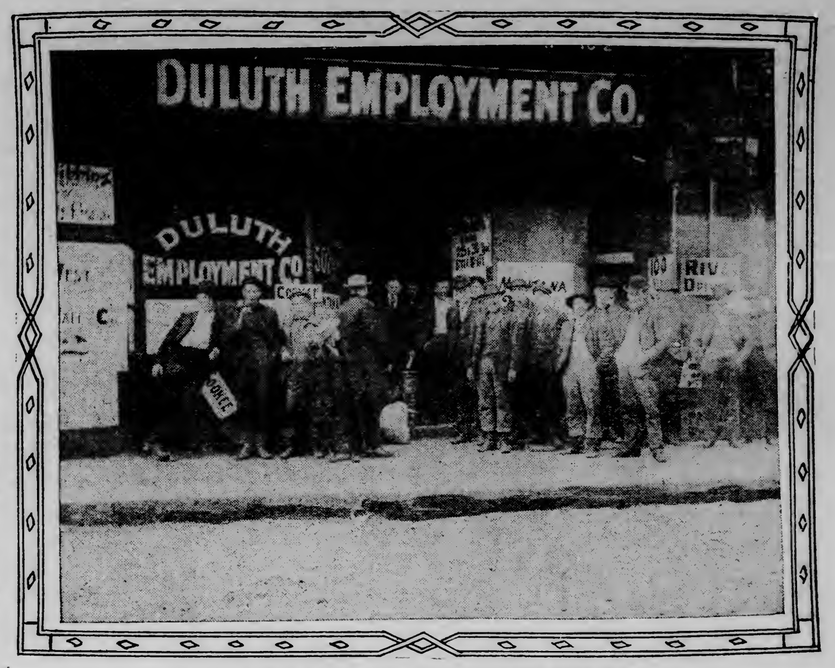
GROUPS OF WOODSMEN ON SUNNY SIDE OF STREET A SURE SIGN OF SPRING



WOODSMEN WAITING TO SHIP TO THEIR NEXT JOB.

This is the season when the lumberjack changes his trade.

By hundreds, the brawny woodsmen who have been employed by the big lumber companies in the Northern woods, are being shipped off by prosperous, smiling, employment agents to work on the railroads, in the mills, and on the docks. Shipments of fifty and seventy-five men to one place and on one order, are not by any means infrequent, and crews of from twenty-five to forty men are sent out almost hourly. The man who has wielded the axe in the woods all winter will keep his muscles in trim for next season's work by tie heaving and track work on the railroads and, a little later on, by putting those same big brawny muscles to work in the harvest fields of the Northwest.

"The Sunny Side of the Street" is the topic of a book which has gained some note within the last few years. It ought to have been introduced along the Bowery. Its success, judging from the habits and inclinations of the average lumberjack, while his pile lasts, would have been instantaneous. The warm weather, which put in its appearance for the first time this year brought out the lumberjacks in hordes, and, leaning against saloon doors and telephone poles, and lounging in front of employment offices, the vast majority of Duluth's transient axe wielders might have been seen on any pleasant day this week sunning themselves with the complacency of the man who realizes that he has a goodly portion of the season's wages in his pockets still.

MINNESOTA UNIVERSITY

Concentration of Work in One Department is New Ruling.

Change in Chosing Representative for Hamilton Oratorical Contest.

Minneapolis, May 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—Concentration of work in one department will be the result of the new ruling made by the faculty at their last meeting. A new arrangement was adopted whereby each student who expects to obtain an A. B. degree upon graduation shall choose, before the end of his sophomore year, one subject which he wishes to make his "major." A major subject is one in which at least eighteen credit hours have been gained.

Upon the choice of a major subject, the department in which the student has made his selection will assign him an advisor, under whose approval he shall choose the rest of his college work.

The degree of A. B. "with distinction" may be obtained by any student who registers for it, and who has, at graduation, marks higher than "pass" in four-fifths of his work.

The Hamilton oratorical preliminaries to choose Minnesota's representative are to be held hereafter in the spring instead of in the fall. June 3 is the date set for submission of the orations, and from those submitted five will be chosen; these five to be delivered Oct. 1, when the representative will be chosen.

The final contest is held at Chicago in January under the auspices of the Hamilton club. There are two prizes, $100 and $50. Nine universities submit orations for the finals, from which five are chosen, by the club, to deliver their orations. All five contestants are given honorary membership in the Hamilton club.

Four blocks of land, bounded by the River boulevard, Washington avenue southeast, Pleasant avenue and State street, have been chosen for the location of the new University of Minnesota hospital. Walter J. Trask of Los Angeles gave $113,000 for this purpose, and the board of regents have received options on part of the land selected. However, the rest will be secured by condemnation if necessary. Some of the buildings now situated on the property will be utilized for nurses' quarters or other necessary uses.

The annual botany excursion to the dells of the St. Croix will be held some time this month, although the cold, dry spring has made vegetation very late. After the warm rains set in the date can be more exactly determined. Last year about 400 took the trip to Osceola and this year a special train will be secured to take the party to Taylors Falls. The object of the excursion is for botanical students to secure specimens for their theses at the end of the year, but the annual outing has been made a general university picnic.

The Zoological club has decided to have semi-weekly excursions from now until the end of the year to points of interest about Minneapolis. Saturday, the trip planned was to the Soldiers' home at Minnehaha.

"Love was the means by which Prof. Frankforter performed that diamond-burning experiment in class, Tuesday," sighed an innocent freshman girl.

"He told us the story, too," she continued. "A young man was jilted by his fiancee and the diamond she returned was a symbol of lost hope to him. So he sent it to Dr. Frankforter the other day, saying that he wished to have it used for scientific purposes, and wanted never to see it again. So Dr. Frankforter put it between the poles of a dynamo and by electricity converted it to ordinary carbon."

For a moment there was silence, when a voice from the past spoke "Love has aided Prof. Frankforter in precisely the same way for innumerable and unaccountable years. Always a jilted lover, eternally the same diamond from the perpetual engagement ring. The pages of history ring with the old, sad story."

The May number of the Minnesota Magazine appeared promptly on the morning of May 1. The May number for several years has been edited entirely by the women and this year the success has been more marked than ever before. Dr. Burton has commended it highly. The cover for the first time in the history of "The Mag" was designed by a university student. It is a conventional design of yellow daffodils and their foliage.

The Dramatic club made a start of $125 toward the building fund of the Student theater by the two plays given Monday afternoon. The plays were of two entirely opposite types, the first called, "The Marble Arch" was a farce founded upon the old plot of mistaken identity, while the second was of a most serious nature. The subject of the second was "As We Forgive Those." It was a Catholic play laid in France when the country was torn by war. Cornelia Holinshead as Rose Morel and Fay Latham as Zelia, the old French woman, were exceptionally fine. They played the same parts several years ago at the Emerson school in Boston, when Maude Adams and Viola Allen were in the audience, and they received special compliments from the two noted actresses.

The novel project of presenting a play in the natural setting which the university campus will afford has been received with great enthusiasm. The Dramatic club hesitated before deciding to put on a Shakespeare play, but it was finally decided to play Shakespeare's most happy comedy "Twelfth Night" in its original, ideal, unmutilated form.

Four weeks were spent in try-outs for the caste and there was much competition for the leading parts, but a final selection was made and the cast includes some of the most experienced college actors.

It is planned to give an afternoon and an evening performance, the exact date to be decided later.

Trials have been held and parts assigned for "Brains Man," the senior class play, and rehearsals have already begun.

The university track meet which was to have come off last Saturday was postponed to Wednesday, May 1, on account of the heavy fall of snow Saturday. However, the meet with Iowa slated for Saturday, May 4, put the two meets too close together so it has been indefinitely postponed.

The meet with Iowa will probably be close. Iowa and Minnesota have not met in track athletics for several years, so the comparative strength of the teams is hard to estimate.

Good Words for Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

People everywhere take pleasure in testifying to the good qualities of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Mrs. Edward Phillips of Barclay, Md., writes: "I wish to tell you that I can recommend Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. My little girl, Catherine, who is two years old, has been taking this remedy whenever she has had a cold since she was two months old. About a month ago I contracted a dreadful cold myself, but I took Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and was soon as well as ever." This remedy is for sale by all druggists.

WATCH TRUST'S WAYS SHOWN UP

President Roosevelt Given Illustration of Selling Methods.

Washington, May 4.—Charles A. Keene of New York, president of the Independent Watch Dealers' association, during a conference yesterday with Assistant Attorney General Purdy, concerning the investigation into the so-called watch trust, asserted that American made watches could be purchased in various European countries for much less than in this country. He exhibited several such watches.

Keene also called at the White House and offered to President Roosevelt an American watch which he had purchased in England from a dealer, who had paid the alleged watch trust $7.98 for it. The watch, he said, would cost an American dealer $10.58. The watch was engraved as having been presented to President Roosevelt "as a demonstration of the methods of the American watch trust." The president declined to accept the gift.

In a letter which Mr. Keene left with the president, he said that he purchased American watches in Europe in substantial quantities and "brought them back to New York to undersell the market. Because of this the trust is trying to stop my supply in Europe, in a way that I think is a direct violation of the Sherman anti-trust act."

AGED EX-GOVERNOR HELD INSANE BY DENVER JURY.

Denver, Colo., John L. Routt, thrice governor of Colorado, was declared by a jury yesterday to be "so insane and distracted in mind as to render him incapable of managing his estate."

Judge Charles McCall announced that he would appoint Routt's oldest daughter, Mrs. Emma Butler, as conservatrix. The proceedings issued from litigation over the estate of the governor's wife, who died six weeks ago. It developed at the hearing that Mr. Routt is not yet aware of his wife's death. He is 81 years of age.

Brave Jack and Rosebud are Rescued by the Fairies.

BY HELENA DAVIS.

In a strange country far over the seas there lived in a pretty village a good man and wife who had two pretty children, a boy and a girl, named, respectively, Brave Jack and Rosebud. Brave Jack was nine years of age and his sister was two years his junior.

One day when the spring was far advanced and the flowers bloomed on river bank, valley and mountainside, Brave Jack said to Rosebud as they played in the garden of their home: "Come, sister dear, let's go for a walk in the great woods yonder. There is the home of the wood nymphs and sun fairies. We may get a glimpse of them if we go while the sunbeams shine through the trees."

"But we must not leave this garden till our mother returns from the fishmonger's shop," said Rosebud. "Should she come home and find us gone it would make her very uneasy. She would think we had been stolen by the gypsies and carried far away. Then she would have the watchman ring the bells and the town-folk would turn out to help in the search for us."

"But I have a way in mind that will prevent our mother's worrying about us," said Brave Jack. "We'll tell Granny Wrinkles, who is coming to make our Sunday cake this morning. She will explain to our mother that we have gone for a walk in the woods that cover Mount Porle. Then the bells will not be rung, nor will there be any alarm, for our mother, as well as our father, knows I am brave and very capable of taking care of you and myself."

"Then let me get my bonnet and a basket," said Rosebud, starting for the house. "We shall bring home the basket full of wood blossoms to strew about the rooms and make them look like fairy bowers."

"Bring my hat and wooden sword," cried Brave Jack, as his sister disappeared into the thatched cottage that stood in the center of the well kept garden. "It will be as well for me to be armed against bears and wolves that might come down the mountain in quest of us."

Just as Rosebud entered the cottage to get her bonnet, Brave Jack's hat and wooden sword, old Granny Wrinkles came in at the front door, having engaged to bake a Sunday cake for the mother of Brave Jack and Rosebud. Upon seeing her Rosebud cried out: "Oh, old Granny, my brother wishes to speak with you. He is in the garden beneath the fig tree."

Old Granny Wrinkles, smiling indulgently, went to the garden, where Brave Jack was waiting the return of his sister. "Granny," he exclaimed, upon seeing the old crone, "will you oblige me by telling my mother on her return from the fishmonger's that I have taken my sister for a walk in the woods that cover the feet of old Mount Porle? We'll be back for evening gruel, so save some of it for us. Also bake an extra large Sunday cake, for we'll likely want a slice of it before the day after tomorrow."

"Such a lad, such a lad," said old Granny Wrinkles, shaking her head. "You should not go away from home till your mother gives her consent. In the woods yonder are many strange reptiles and monsters. I've heard say that a dragon lives in a cave far up the mountainside, and that on every warm day it comes forth to get fresh air into its nostrils. It breaths fire and blows from its lungs brimstone. You should not run into such dangers, even though you are Brave Jack, only son of the good and great Ansen, lawmaker and judge of the beautiful village of Meades. Nay, nay, lad; wait till your mother returns. Tell her of your wild project."

"Ah, you are but old," laughed Brave Jack. "Only the young know not fear. Grow youthful again, Granny Wrinkles. Ha, ha!" And Brave Jack was loud in his merriment.

Just here Rosebud came again into the garden, her bonnet on and a basket in her hands. From the basket she took Brave Jack's hat and wooden sword, handing them to him. As Brave Jack put on his hat and buckled the wooden blade about his waist he smiled and said to Granny Wrinkles: "Tell our mother what I have bidden you tell, and don't forget to bake an extra-sized Sunday cake, that sister and I may have a slice tonight on our return home. We'll be hungry after a day spent in the woods with the fairies."

Then away the two children went, laughing at Granny Wrinkles, who stood looking after them, shaking her head warningly.

They reached the great woods about noon and sat down to rest a bit. It was cooler there than down in the sunny village of Meades. Both children felt the fatigue of the walk and were chilly and hungry. As they rested they heard a sound above them in the thick shrubbery and towering trees which shut out the light and warm sunshine. "What's that?" whispered Rosebud. Brave Jack drew forth his sword and listened attentively.

"A bear or a dragon," he informed his sister. But there was a quaver of fear in his voice, though his manner was bold and fearless.

As they waited, crouching behind a tree overgrown with vines, a long, dark object sprang down the path beside them. What it was the children could not tell, it moved so swiftly. Brave Jack held his wooden sword in front of him, preparatory for the attack, but they were unmolested. Just as their wildly beating hearts were becoming calmer another sound—the step of a human being—was heard on the path coming down from the mountaintop.

In another moment a hideous old man, humpbacked, beak nosed and claw fingered, stepped into the path beside them. A slight movement of Rosebud caught his ear. He paused, turning sharply round, and caught sight of Brave Jack, whose color had instantly fled on seeing him. A second glance showed him Rosebud, who was still crouching behind the vine-covered tree.

"Ha, ha, what have I caught in my net?" he cackled, showing toothless gums. "A lad and lass, upon me soul. Mine they shall be. The lad to work and the lass to learn to cook and stew for me. Ha, ha!"

"We live in the village down yonder," said Brave Jack, still holding his wooden sword as if to strike with it. "We belong to Ansen, our father, who is one of the lawmakers and judges of Meades. We shall go home directly, sir Hermit."

"Ah, so you say!" cackled the old man. "But I choose to say otherwise. Nay, lad and lass, you have come into my realm, and now you are mine! Ah, I shall soon teach you both new tricks. Didst see my lioness go past just now? I rode down to the dragon's spring to drink, and after I had left her back she ran away from me, coming down this path."

Brave Jack was almost too frightened to speak, and poor little Rosebud sat quivering and crying softly behind the tree. Brave Jack determined though to not give in easily. He would show fight at any cost. Raising his sword a trifle higher, nerving himself for the blow and aiming at the hideous old head of the monster in human form before him, he brought down his wooden blade with all his might across the hairy neck. The sword was splintered into a hundred fragments. The old man put his hand to his neck, saying: "A fly must have lit on me." Then he cackled loudly, leaning over and speaking in Brave Jack's face: "You thought to hurt me with that toy? Why, lad, I'm a wizard. Only one power can do me harm. The fairies alone have that power. As they fear me, I'm pretty safe. I have a lioness and a dragon for my comrades. Oh, your little weapons made by human hands could not hurt me! Come, return with me to the dragon's cave, where you shall remain while I go on after my lioness."

As the old wizard said this he took hold of Brave Jack with one hand and Rosebud with the other and half dragged them up the mountain path, steep and rugged. The poor little ones begged and wept, but the wizard only cackled the more. "Ha, ha! my pretty ones," he cried, "I'll turn one of you into a witch and the other into a dragon."

They reached a dark, damp place on the mountainside, and from the draft of cold air that struck them Brave Jack and Rosebud knew that they must be near to the cave. And so it proved to be. Yawning in front of them as they turned a corner in the path was a dark hole in the earth. Beside this hole the wizard sat the now almost fainting children down upon a stone, tying their hands and feet securely to a fallen tree that stretched behind them. "Now, be patient till I return on my lioness," said the wizard. "Don't be afraid, for my dragon has gone up the mountain in quest of birds to eat. He'll not return till after dark." Then the old creature went off at a run, cackling as he went.

An hour passed and Brave Jack and Rosebud were worn out with weeping and calling for help. They had at last given up in despair. They must die there with the wizard, the lioness and the dragon to kill them slowly. Oh, why had they entered this terrible woods?

Just as little Rosebud was ending a prayer that some good fairy would come to their rescue a flutter of wings was heard above their heads. Then through the branches came three beautiful fairies, their faces full of sunshine. "I heard your prayer, little maiden," said one of them. "Come quickly if you would be saved, for the wizard is now coming as fast as his lioness can carry him up the mountain. We can help you, but we cannot battle with that monster. So hasten."

"But we are tied," wailed Brave Jack, struggling with the thongs which held him."

One of the fairies waved a wand and the thongs dropped from the children's hands and feet. They sprang up and, behold, they found themselves on wings! "Come quickly," urged the fairies, and they led Brave Jack and Rosebud up, up into the sky over the mountain top. Then as they flew toward the foot of the mountain the children looked down into the woods and saw the old wizard at the cave. He was screaming and tearing his hair. Hereupon they told the fairies what he had said about their power to do him harm. "Ah," said the fairies, "if he admits so much he has not the power we feared he had. We shall now drive him from the mountain and we'll dry up the spring so that the dragon shall die."

At this moment the children dropped into their own garden, under the fig tree, the fairies and their wings fading away. As they sat there almost stupefied they heard their mother saying: "It's time the children were home."

"We are here," cried both little ones in a breath. "And, what's more, we mean to stay here, too. No more woods for us, mamma dear."

Ha, ha! What have I caught in my net?" he cackled.

Bad Boy's Fear

ALL BAD boys are much afraid
Of goblins in the air:
They think they fly about at night,
And peep in everywhere.

They think that goblins, great and small,
Do hide beneath the bed;
And while boys sleep do sally forth
To poke them in the head,

And pull their hair, and punch their eyes,
And twist their very toes;
And jerk their knees right out of joint.
Well, p'rhaps they do!—Who knows?

But fact it is, and proven, too,
That GOOD boys never fear:
They know that goblins don't exist,
And therefore can't come near.

How Snip Got Rid of His Rival

BY MAUD WALKER.

Snip was a plain little dog, of no particular breed—just a common mongrel, as everybody, save his owner, said on seeing him.

But his owner, Burten Thomas—commonly known as "Freckles"—loved and respected Snip beyond expression. To Freckles this plain little four-legger and bobtailer was the greatest dog in the world. And when it came to a question of heart Snip had no superior in the canine family. The way he loved his young master was most beautiful to see. No matter how dirty the hands and face—not to mention ears and neck—of Freckles, Snip loved and admired him just the same. No matter how much Freckles missed his lessons at school or shirked his chores at home, or played truant to go swimming, Snip never lost patience with him, but trotted beside him, wagging the stump of a tail vigorously and declaring with his eyes "I love you, dear Master Freckles, more than all else in the world." And after some of Freckles' thoughtless escapades Snip proved to be his only sympathetic friend, for the mother and father of Freckles often resorted to certain methods of chastisement that caused that little lad to pass many hours alone in his room, where supperless he meditated on the fleeting happiness of boyhood—particularly when that happiness meant going to the river instead of school or visiting with boys in the alley, instead of feeding the pigs and cutting the kindling-wood.

So it was that Snip was the only one in the world who did not question Freckles about his goings and comings and conduct in general. Snip fully understood Freckles, and knew that the little lad had some object in doing whatever he did. Of course, the object may not have been just what it should have been, but that was not Snip's business.

And thus it was that Freckles loved Snip tenderly and was beloved by Snip in return. Long hours they spent together, Freckles doing all the planning and talking, and Snip doing the following and listening. Snip was a good-mannered little puppy, too, never disagreeing to anything that Freckles said; but that was because he felt perfect confidence in his master's wisdom and good judgment. If Freckles said to Snip, "Let's go hunting for bears and snakes in the woods today," the little shaggy fellow wagged his tail, squinted an eye and said with all his body: "Yes, yes, Master Freckles, let's hunt bears and snakes in the woods today. It will be perfectly grand."

One day—It was not Saturday, either, so you will understand that it was no time for Freckles to do what he did—Snip heard a beloved whistle coming from the alley behind the barn. Snip was busy with a bone when the call fell upon his ear; but bone to the winds with him when he heard that whistle. Not even stopping to hide the juicy morsel, he leaped like wild towards the place of concealment of his master. Freckles had a long pole, to which was tied a longer twine holding a hook. "We're going a-fishing, Snip," was the information given by Freckles. Then he ran down the alley towards the street, with Snip bounding at his side. Snip had been taught to never go at Freckles' heels. "That's the way with dogs what's just DOGS," Freckles had explained, "and you aren't just a dog; your my best chum, and must go beside me—not behind me."

The day was a perfect one and Freckles and Snip were in no hurry to return home. When at last the sun set behind the row of tall trees that bordered the river in the distance Freckles rose from his seat on the river bank and said to Snip, who was stretched out on his paws, snatching at chance gnats to pass away the time: "Well, Snipsey, I guess we'd better meander homeward. School must have let out by now and the folks will be looking for me."

But night was settling down by the time Freckles and Snip reached home and Freckles' mother was growling very uneasy over her little son's absence. But when she saw him creeping stealthily in at the back gate, hiding his fishing rod in the hay beside the barn and drawing from the same place his slate and books that had lain there all day, she knew just what sort of trick the little lad had been up to.

When Freckles entered the kitchen and saw the expression on his mother's face he knew excuses would be of no avail. So did Snip, for like his young master, he had learned to judge of coming events by certain signals and signs. Freckles' mother gave both boy and dog cause for serious alarm. Snip was the first to catch the coming storm. He came in contact with the irritated mother's foot, which sent him speedily about his business in the back yard. He hid in the straw for quite a time, then, seeing a light shining from an upper window, he crawled cautiously forth and made his way to a spot beneath it. A low whine brought Freckles to the window from which the light was shining. "Ah, you there, Snipsey?" he asked, bending from the window. "Just a minute, old chum." Then Freckles withdrew from the window to return again in a minute. He dropped a basket, which was attached to a rope, into the yard. Snip, accustomed to being hauled up in this queerly-constructed elevator, got into the basket and in another minute was inside his master's apartment.

"No supper for me tonight," said Freckles sadly. "There's company coming to stay over night, too—an aunt and uncle and their kid, my cousin Tom, from the city. I'm to be allowed to go down after everything has been et up. You see, we're punished for having gone fishing. I should have gone to school and learned the table of nine. If I don't learn all the multiplication table I shall never be a business man, for to know business a man must know his multiplication table. Of course, it's different with dogs; they get on very nicely without 'rithmetic or grammar or anything like learning books. It's very nice to be a dog, Snip. And a dog's mamma never whips him nor puts him to bed without his supper, neither."

Snip nodded his head, blinked an eye and laughed with his bobtail.

But little did Snip know of the trouble in store for him. Had he sniffed it in the air he would not have been so lighthearted now. He crept under his master's bed after that little man had bathed, combed, dressed himself in his Sunday suit and gone down stairs in answer to his mother's call; "Burten, come down and see your uncle, aunt and cousin. They're here."

Well, Snip was sound asleep when Freckles returned to his room at 8:30 o'clock. But he awoke and came forth to share a piece of cake and a bite of cold meat that Freckles had managed to purloin from the pantry. Then he heard some news—news that made his heart quake with a feeling of jealousy.

"Well, Snipsey," said Freckles, munching as he talked, "my uncle, aunt and Cousin Tom are here, and Tom has brought the dandiest dog you ever saw in all your dogdays.

He's a thoroughbred, so uncle says. He cost fifty dollars, FIFTY DOLLARS. Think of that, Snip. And you, you dear old chum, didn't cost me a cent. A man found you on the road and picked you up and gave you to me as I was coming from school one evening."

Then Freckles got into bed while Snip crept under it—to think. Another dog—a fine-blooded animal—in the house! Not that the fact of another dog being in the house alarmed Snip; it was the fact that his master had expressed such admiration for the new arrival. So he—Snip—did not hold his master's entire heart! There was room for another dog—one of finer breed. Snip felt very sad and whined softly to himself. Why should Freckles liken him to his "old duds," just fit for every day? Did he—Snip—take exceptions to Freckles because he was a country boy? Did he long for a finely-dressed and soft-mannered city boy for a master on big occasions and of Sundays? No, no; his beloved Freckles was all the world to him, though he be in rags, with mud from top to toe. It was Freckles he loved—not manners and clothes.

The next day and the next, and still the next, Snip found himself put aside for the city dog that cost fifty dollars. Everyone in the house petted and fed the visiting dog. He was given a soft bed to lie on nights. He was fed rich cream and bits of choice meat from a plate. Snip slept in the barn, save when Freckles chose to secret him in his room, and ate his scraps from an old tin pan in the yard. This was unjust to Snip, and his heart rebelled against the partiality.

One day matters became worse. The aunt, uncle and cousin Tom left the farm, going to the city. But they left the dog, whose name was Zeu-Zeu. Snip was told by Freckles that the strange dog was to spend the summer on the farm, remaining there for his health. And from that day Snip was neglected by Freckles. There was the fifty-dollar Zeu-Zeu to pet and fondle after school. There was the fifty dollar Zeu-Zeu to take when Freckles went to the postoffice or store on an errand. Snip could still be his companion when playing hookey or feeding the pigs, but on any grand occasion the fifty-dollar Zeu-Zeu was the compañon of Freckles.

But one day there came an opportunity to Snip. He may have acted very naughtily, but how was he to know? Freckles had gone to the postoffice store for some sugar and had called the fifty-dollar Zeu-Zeu along. Snip followed far behind, his heart very heavy. Presently a man riding in a cart, came from the opposite direction. As he passed Freckles and Zeu-Zeu he turned and looked covetously at the latter. Then he rode slowly on. Snip leaped forward with all his might. He overtook Freckles and Zeu-Zeu. He began to frisk about, detaining Zeu Zeu from following the master. Pretty soon Freckles went into the store. Then Snip got between Zeu-Zeu and the store and snapped and barked at him, driving him down the road. Zeu-Zeu withdrew—he was an arrant coward—and went down the highway with his tail tucked between his legs. Snip—the bad fellow (jealousy always makes people and animals cruel)—chased him on and on, snapping and barking with all his might to attract the attention of the man in the cart. Pretty soon the man heard and turned about in his seat. Seeing the running Zeu-Zeu, with Snip at his heels, he drew rein, jumped to the ground and took Zeu-Zeu in his arms and got into his cart again. "Ah, ha, my pretty doggie!" Snip heard him say, "I've got a little bargain in you! You're worth at least $50. You don't belong in the country; you are a town dog." Then with Zeu-Zeu under the seat the man rode away.

When Freckles came from the store he could not find Zeu-Zeu. In vain he hunted, whistled and called. Then he hurried home, Snip beside him, a bit conscious that he had not behaved just right. Search was made for the missing Zeu-Zeu, who was not found for a week; then his owners in the city paid a reward of $50 and got him back. But they decided not to send him to the country again. So he nevermore caused the monster jealousy to rankle in the bosom of Snip, who was once more installed as owner of his young master's affections. Indeed, Freckles' conscience seemed to smite him when he recalled how much he had neglected his chum during the sojourn of the fifty-dollar Zeu-Zeu, and he made reparation for that wrong. He confessed his fickleness to Snip, saying:

"I was a most ungrateful friend, Snipsey. You've been tried and proved true. Why should I want other dogs? You—if you didn't cost $50—are worth a thousand Zeu-Zeus. You have always stuck by me, and I shall from this day stick by you. No other dog shall for a moment come between us. Ah, you're a great old Snipsey; We've had lots of secrets together and you never squealed on me. You're a brick, if not a hood."

And Snip, laughing with his tail—happy once again—said with his eyes: "Yours for fun and happiness, Master Freckles, and no more city dogs in ours, eh?"

Snip, accustomed to being hauled up in this queerly constructed elevator, got into the basket.

Mary Beatrice of Modena, Queen-Consort of James II.

Queens of England.

Mary Beatrice, Queen Consort of James II., King of Great Britain and Ireland, and last of the ill-fated Stuart kings, was born October 5, 1658, at Modena, Italy. When a little child her father, Prince of Modena, died, leaving her and her young brother in the care of their mother, Laura Martinozzi, a Roman lady of noble family.

As a child Mary Beatrice was most carefully reared—too carefully in some respects, for she was subjected to the strictest discipline, her mother refusing her such little table delicacies as cakes and sweetmeats, through fear that the child might become gluttonous. In after years Mary Beatrice, in speaking of her own childhood, said that she did not approve of keeping children on such formal footing with their parents. In regard to her own little ones, she "liked not to hold them at such awful distance from her as she had been held by her own mother, for-she wished her daughter to regard her as a friend and companion—one to whom she could confide every thought of her heart."

It was at the tender age of 15 that Mary Beatrice became the bride of the Duke of York, afterwards King of Great Britain as James II. She gave her consent most reluctantly, for she shuddered at the thought of giving herself to a widower of 40, who was the father of grown children. Also, the parting from her mother, brother and dear friends, the leaving her own sunny Italy for the cold and gloomy Isle of England, caused her great agony of heart, and for months she fought with all her strength against the marriage, which she thought could bring her only unhappiness. Never till after she had been married to James by proxy did Mary Beatrice behold him.

The path of the ill-fated James was a winding one, Fate smiling and frowning upon him by turns. At the death of his brother, Charles II. of Great Britain, he succeeded to the throne. This occurred in 1685. But his reign was a short and stormy one, for, owing to the religious conflict then raging in Britain, he was overthrown during the third year of his power. With his queen he fled to France, and Parliament settled the crown jointly on the Prince of Orange and his wife, Mary, the daughter of James II. by his first wife. Heartbroken and a victim of disease, James died in exile in 1701.

In the year 1718 Mary Beatrice, after a life of disappointments—attended in her last years by poverty—died, after a long illness. She passed away in France, her maladies being cancer and rheumatic gout.

Of her several children only one was living at the time of her death—the young Prince of Wales, whose career was as checkered as her own.

HAYWOOD LAWYERS TRY TO MAKE STATE DISCLOSE EVIDENCE BEFORE TRIAL

Motion by Defense for Bill of Particulars Argued.

Both Sides Ready for Opening of Hearing Thursday.

Roosevelt's Letter is Discussed and Answers Expected Later.

Boise, Idaho, May 6.—The application for a bill of particulars, filed by counsel for the defense, in the case of William D. Haywood, secretary and treasurer of the Western Federation of Miners, who will be placed on trial Thursday, charged with the murder of Former Governor Steunenberg, came up for argument today before Judge Fremont Wood. E. F. Richardson of Denver and Clarence S. Darrow of Chicago represent the defendants, and Senator W. E. Borah and O. M. Van Duyn, the public prosecutor, the state. Mr. Borah has been retained as special counsel in the case for the state, to assist James H. Hawley, leading counsel.

Counsel on both sides admit that the application for a bill of particulars is not likely to affect the case materially. A bill of particulars in a case of murder is somewhat unusual, but as this case presents certain peculiar features, counsel for the prisoners express themselves of the opinion that they should complete their record by the course they have taken.

Haywood is charged with the murder of Governor Steunenberg. It is admitted by the prosecution that he was not in the state of Idaho at the time the murder was committed, but

EXPRESS RATES CUT

Commerce Commission Renders First Decision Under New Law.

Doubling of Charges on Flowers Held to be Unreasonable.

Washington, May 6.—Acting under the authority of a law passed by the late congress, the interstate commerce commission has rendered its first opinion in a case involving the reasonableness of an express rate.

The case was brought by the Society of American Florists, who claimed that the rate charged by the United States Express company on cut flowers from New Jersey points to New York city was unreasonable, excessive and unjust. This rate till July, 1906, was 50 cents per 100 pounds, and at that time was raised to $1 per 100 pounds. Commissioner Franklin Lane, who delivers the opinion of the commission, holds that the rate should be reduced to 60 cents per 100 pounds.

The express company defended its increase of 100 per cent in its rate by claiming that the delivery service given cut flowers in New York was much more expensive than that given other articles, and that it

IBSEN WORKS BARELY SAVED

Christiania, May 6.—Admirers of the late Henrik Ibsen are delighted at the discovery of voluminous manuscripts written before 1864. These include a complete epic poem of 20,000 words in which is found the nucleus from which afterwards developed Ibsen's later dramatic works, especially one of the greatest of his works, the drama "Brand."

When Ibsen left Rome in 1864 he deposited two bags containing manuscripts in the rooms of the Scandinavian Association of Rome. These were shelved and forgotten, and the society leaving the premises later, they were sold later with a lot of rubbish. Ibsen returned to Rome and vainly inquired for them and came to the conclusion they had been destroyed. A Dane, named Pontopiddian, living in Rome, found the manuscripts at an antiquarian's many years ago and kept them as curiosities. He returned to Copenhagen several years after the discovery, where he died, bequeathing the manuscripts to the royal library on condition that they be published by a friend, Prof. Carl Larson.

Ibsen's illness prevented Larson consulting him about the publication and now he has obtained permission to do so from Ibsen's heirs.

DEADLY RAID ON CHAPEL

Russian Revolutionists Kill Prison Inspector at High Mass.

Bombs Exploded to Aid in Escapes of Prisoners.

St. Petersburg, May 6.—At Alexandrovik, near Yekaterinoslav, yesterday, while Easter high mass was being celebrated in the prison chapel, a band of revolutionists entered the building, killed the chief inspector and exploded two bombs. Under cover of the confusion which followed, thirteen prisoners escaped.

The Easter holidays otherwise passed quietly. No manifestation of anti-Jewish feeling was reported from any point in the empire. Dispatches from various cities announce the customary pardoning of minor offenders at Easter.

NAMES FOR BIG SHIPS

Delaware and Utah Likely to be Honored by Roosevelt.

New York Out of List at Present Because of Cruiser.

Washington, May 6. — President Roosevelt has under consideration the naming of the two battleships of the Dreadnaught type, for which contracts will soon be awarded. The ships will be given names of states according to custom.

Most of the states have been honored already, but there remain Delaware, Utah, North Dakota and New York that have no war vessels named for them. New York is eliminated at present, because there is an armored cruiser named for the city of New York. When Oklahoma shall qualify as a state, it will give the navy department one additional name to draw upon.

While no action was taken today, it is thought likely that Delaware, the second smallest state in the union, will be honored by having one of the greatest battleships named for it, and that Utah will be the other state to be so honored.

An effort has been made to induce the president to authorize the renaming of the cruiser New York and to call one of the new battleships after that state, but it is not probable that the movement will succeed, though eventually the war vessels of types smaller than battleships of the first class must be renamed if the present plan is carried out.

GREAT SHAFT FOR THE SOO

Granite Obelisk to Commemorate Canal Opening Completed.

Problem of Shipping Monument Puzzles Railroad Magnates.

Branford, Conn., May 6.—The obelisk which will be set up to commemorate the opening of the Sault Ste. Marie canal has been completed at one of the local quarries, and is now ready for shipment. It is of Stony Creek red granite, is 45 feet long, 5 feet 5 inches square at the foot, tapering to a dimension of 1 foot square, and then finished to a point, and weighs about 60 tons.

The longest car available for its transportation is thirty-six feet, and it will be necessary to mount a bed on swivels to carry the shaft and to allow for the swaying of the shaft as the train rounds curves.

When the question of routing the shaft was figured out, several traffic men had to give up the task, as they were not certain that all the bridges on their respective lines were capable of sustaining the enormous weight of the car and its load.

NO REST FOR SOCIALISM

Denmark and Sweden Refuse to Permit Russian Meeting.

Malmoe, Sweden, May 6.—The Russian Socialists, desirous of holding a congress, after being ordered out of Denmark, arrived here last night, and were joined by plotters, who came by way of Stockholm. The police, however, refused to permit them to remain here, and prohibited the holding of a conference here. The Russians thereupon requested permission from the Danish authorities to go to Esbjerg and there embark for England, where they hope to be able to hold a congress.

Charlestown, S. C., May 6.—The fifth triennial fest of the National Schuetzenbund of America was opened today by President Roosevelt who at the White House at Washington pressed the telegraph key that fired the rifle placed in electric communication here. Several thousand riflemen from all over the United States are here and prizes to the value of $35,000 will be contested for.

ALL WALK IN FRISCO

Street Cars Tied Up by Strike for Third Time in Year.

Company Preparing to Force Issue With Non-Union Men.

San Francisco, May 6.—As a result of the third strike in a year of the union carmen, no cars were run on the lines of the United Railroads today, and the people had to walk or use automobiles and express wagons to get to work, but it is said that tomorrow an attempt will be made to resume operations.

The company has scores of strike-breakers, said to be led by Farley, quartered at its barns in different sections of the city, all of which have been strongly barricaded, while provisions of all kinds have been stored in these strongholds, and appliances for cooking meals for the men have been provided.

In an effort to bring about a peaceful settlement of the strike, a committee of the Civic League, called on President Patrick Calhoun last night and urged him to submit the differences between the company and the union to arbitration. His reply was that the cars would soon be running again, and the committee was urged to see that no opposition was offered to their peaceful operation.

Notices have been posted in all the car barns of the company that

HOT DENIAL OF CHARGES

President Calhoun of Frisco Car Lines Scores Accusers.

Money Alleged to be Bribe Declared Only Relief Fund.

San Francisco, May 6.—In reference to published statements that the grand jury had traced the money alleged to have been paid city officials by the United Railroad officials, through the United States mint and sub-treasury in this city, President Patrick Calhoun of the United Railroads said last night: "I have seen the extraordinary statements in the morning papers, in which the moneys transmitted to San Francisco through the United States sub-treasury have been stated to be a bribe fund. This is sheer nonsense."

After saying that the money was used for the relief of the street railway employes, Calhoun continued: "The allegation that this money constituted a bribery fund is infamous, and I do not believe, despite statements originating from parties associated with the prosecution, that any intelligent body of American citizens can be used to distort this legitimate business interest into crime. To intelligent business men it must be apparent that the very openness of this transaction, every detail of which left necessarily an open, full and complete record, is not the method that would be pursued by anyone who had anything to conceal.

BLACKHAND MEN GUILTY

Eleven Italians Convicted at Wilkesbarre on One Charge.

Two Other Counts Against Prisoners Are to be Pushed.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., May 6.—Eleven of the thirteen Italians who had been on trial here charged with "blackhand" crimes were declared guilty in the Luzerne count court today when the sealed verdict of the jury was opened. The other two defendants were acquitted.

Those found guilty are: Charles Buffulina, Antonio Taglorina, Charles Gonzaza, Joseph Comella, Steven Lattore, Salvatore Luchinna, Pietro Luchinna, Charles Domenican, Guechina Cimmone, Vincent Loubona and Charles Cornelia. Those acquitted are Salvatore Volpand and Andrea Paternostra.

The principal charge against the men was the blowing up of the home of an Italian named Rizza because he refused to pay money to a band of men calling themselves the "Blackhand" society.

The penalty for the crime is two years' imprisonment. District Attorney Salsburg said that the prisoners would be tried on two other charges, dynamiting and attempting to kill. They received the verdict with the utmost indifference.

ELLEN TERRY AGAIN BRIDE

Famous English Actress Marries Her Leading Man Secretly.

New York, May 6.—Announcement was made today that Ellen Terry, the veteran English actress, was married to James Carew, her leading man, in Pittsburg, March 22 by a justice of the peace.

For reasons that have not been disclosed, anouncement of the marriage was deferred until the famous English actress was on the sea bound for her native land. She sailed on Saturday and Carew, who was obliged to remain in America to look up urgent business, decided, with her consent, to make the fact known forthwith.

Carew is an Indiana actor, 35 years old, while she is 59. She has already been married twice. Nevertheless, it is understood by all their friends that it was purely a love match, the beginning of which was soon after their first meeting.

ENFORCING MEAT LAWS

Great Increase in Force of Inspectors is Reported.

Cost of Service Estimated by Chief of Bureau.

Chicago, May 6.—Secretary of Agriculture James Wilson today met in this city 150 chief meat inspectors from every large city in the country, for the purpose of conferring on the application of the new meat laws to the practical industry. All went to the Union stock yards, where the conference, which is to continue for three days, will be held.

The yards and packing houses were first inspected and an executive meeting followed, at which phases of the law were discussed and Dr. A. D. Melvin, chief of the bureau of animal industry, delivered an address.

In the course of his remarks Dr. Melvin declared that July 1, 1906, there were engaged in the meat inspection at 163 establishments 764 employes. There are now 2,029 employes at 629 establishments. There have been granted to retail dealers or butchers as provided for by the law, 3,558 certificates of exemption. Inspection has been withdrawn from forty-six establishments, principally because of failure to maintain a proper standard of sanitation, and in some cases because of the use of prohibited preservatives.

"The approximate cost," said Dr. Melvin, "of the inspection, as conducted at this time, is: For cattle and calves, 5 cents per head; for sheep, swine and goats, 3 cents per head; and for the inspection of meats received at official establishments from other official establishments, ½ of 1 mill per pound."

In conclusion, Dr. Melvin declared that the bureau had received in a general way the co-operation of the packers. The greatest difficulty thus far, had been the attainment of cleanliness. Conditions are, however, in his opinion, working steadily for the better.

WEATHER FORECAST — Partly cloudy tonight and Tuesday; colder tonight with killing frost; lowest temperatures tonight, 20 to 25 degs. Fresh to brisk northerly winds.

CONFESSES MURDER OF COUSIN IN WOMAN ROW.

Chicago, May 6.—Angelo Serpico confessed today to the police that he shot and killed his cousin, Salvatore Serpico, who was found dead last night with two bullet wounds in his body. Serpico declared that the shooting was the result of a quarrel over a woman to whom both had been attentive.

MARINE NEWS

NOW WELL UNDER WAY

Navigation is Open All Along the Chain of Lakes.

Traffic Handled is Expected to be Greater Than Ever.

Buffalo, N. Y., May 6.—The opening of the navigation of the Great Lakes restores one of the greatest channels of internal traffice in the United States, if not in the entire world, extending from the Atlantic seaboard to the remotest points of the Northwest, by way of the Erie canal from Buffalo to Superior, Duluth and many intermediate points and thence westward over innumerable railway routes. Thus each year, from the breaking of the ice in the spring, to the freezing days of November, this link in a vast system of exchange—farthest east to the farthest west, and then back again with Western grain and other products—is re-established with Cleveland, Detroit, Chicago, Milwaukee and innumerable other points, contributing as "feeders."

Detroit, Mich., May 6.—President Livingstone, of the Lake Carriers' association, when asked yesterday as to the shipping prospects for the coming year said:

"I think the outlook was never better than it is on the opening of the season of 1907. The magnitude of the business on the lakes during the past five years, in the distribution of products between the East and the West, is difficult to realize. Four years ago, the first 10,000 ton freighter was brought out. It was then an experiment. But it was so successful that it has revolutionized lake carrying, and practically all of the contracts which are now crowding the ship yeards are for boats of this size or larger.

"I am confident of a great increase in east and west bound freight this year, in all the great staples—iron ore, coal, copper, grain and general merchandise. Last year the total traffic by way of the Sault was over 50,000,000 tons, an increase of over 7,000,000 tons from the previous year, and an increase of over 20,000,000 tons in two years. The opening this year indicates a similar ratio of increase in this traffice. In addition to that through the Soo there was approximately 18,000,000 tons of freight moved to and from Chicago and other Lake Michigan ports by way of the Straits of Mackinac and there will be a corresponding increase in this branch this year. This makes the total traffice from the upper lakes about 70,000,000 tons last year, with prospects of further increase this year.

"With new ships coming from the yards as fast as they can be turned out, and freight abundant for all of them, I foresee for the Great Lakes, as an artery of traffic between the East and West, the most successful year in their history."

POWER BOAT RESERVE.

First of Its Kind Reported From Marblehead Station.

What is probably the first rescue by the new power life and surf boats adopted by the life saving service is reported from the Marblehead station near Sandusky bay.

Recently a barge laden with stone was swamped by a heavy sea and three forlorn sailors clung for life on the boat. Marblehead station was notified and a crew went out in the power surf boat. They searched for three hours in the darkness for the boat in distress and as it had no lights it was not found until morning.

The three men were rescued and ultimately recovered. The Marblehead station is in charge of Capt. Griesser, a brother of the officer in charge of the Buffalo life saving crew.

AZIMUT TABLES

For Great Lakes Published by Captain Frank Henrich.

The first scientific work on navigation applicable peculiarly to the Great Lakes has been published, and it is published in Duluth and by a Duluth author. The book is entitled "True Bearings of Celestial Objects for the Great Lakes," and it is by Capt. Frank Henrich, a master mariner of thirty-years' continuous service on ocean and lake ships, and for eight years nautical expert in charge of the branch hydrographic office at Duluth. The book contains a complete set of azimut tables, computed and arranged especially for the lakes, to make which it was necessary to recompute, rearrange and extend the existing azimut tables for the latitudes 41 degs. to 49 degs. north. It is regarded by mariners as an uncommonly complete, accurate and valuable publication, and should be a great aid to navigation on the lakes.

Steamer Reed Released.

Chicago, May 6.—After about 500 tons of its cargo of iron ore had been removed, the steamer J. H. Reed, which stranded north of Grosse point Friday night, was released yesterday and proceeded to South Chicago.

Welland Canal Blocked.

Port Colborne, May 6.—All up and down bound boats in the Welland canal are being detained in a blockade caused by the bridge at Welland, which was shoved off its bearings by the tug Schenck Saturday. The canal authorities expect to be able to resume navigation Monday morning.

First Grain From Fort William.

Buffalo, May 6.—The steamer Philip Minch arrived today with the first grain cargo of the season from Fort William.

Strike Is Still On.

Fort William, May 6.—The elevator strike continues here, but vessels are loading at Port Arthur. It is not believed a blockade will result from the labor troubles. One boat has been loaded since the strike was inaugurated, and six are now awaiting their turn. Ice continues solid in the bay and Duluth passage is still blocked.

Must Be Repaired.

After having been released from the Lime Kilns, where she had run aground, the schooner Bacon was found to be leaking badly with its sternpost split. She will have to be unloaded at Detroit as she cannot proceed until repairs are made.

Will Soon Open Again.

After several weeks of comparative idleness due to the striking of riveters, fitters and others, the Wyandotte, plant of the Detroit Shipbuilding company, will be in operation again this week, according to a statement made last week by the vice president of the company. It is said that a small army of workers will be recruited at Lorain and the plant will soon be going at full blast.

Was Nearly Drowned.

A narrow escape from drowning occurred Saturday in the Duluth harbor when William Shields, the engineer in charge of the donkey engine on the barge Constitution, fell into the water near the tug office. He had come ashore from the Constitution and was about to make the landing when he fell and disappeared under the water. He was down for a long time, but finally came to the surface and grasped the oar which was placed in his reach and was hauled out.

BLOCKADE ENDED.

Only Five Boats Now Waiting in the Lower Harbor.

Only five boats now remain at anchor in the harbor and the blockade which has lasted for over a week is nearly at an end. The few remaining vessels will probably be given a chance to get to the docks some time tomorrow, after which time no more delays is expected.

A week ago when there were over thirty boats lying in the harbor awaiting their turn at the docks it was thought that the blockade would not be broken for over two weeks, but conditions have been such that quick work in unloading the boats has been done all around.

At the ore docks the boats are being taken care of as promptly as they come into the harbor and are unloaded. The vessels which come up light proceed direct to the ore docks.

Sixteen Bavarians Accused of Extortion From Gambling Army Officers.

Munich, Bavaria, May 6.—The trial of sixteen persons accused of professional usury, began here today. The reading of the indictment occupied the whole of the forenoon. Bavarian cavalry officers of high rank, several of whom committed forgery and other crimes, and who already have been punished, were the victims of theusurers. Some of the latter induced officers to pay as high as 100 per cent interest on money which was squandered in gambling for high stakes.

LABOR CLOUDS MAY BE CLEARED BEFORE NIGHT

Bishop McGolrick Succeeds in Getting Factions Together.

Arbitration Will be Resorted To If Conference Fails.

Representatives of the striking workingmen and of the builders and contractors are holding a joint meeting this afternoon in the office of Mayor Cullum for the purpose of bringing about an immediate settlement of the labor dispute, which has tied up the building operations during the past week.

In case this joint meeting of the representatives of both sides fails to settle the trouble, an arbitration committee will be appointed and the unions will go back to work either tomorrow or Wednesday. It is the belief of many, however, that if the two sides get together this afternoon a settlement will be reached, and, at any rate, the prospects at present are very rosy.

The meeting this afternoon was brought about by the suggestion of Bishop McGolrick, made Saturday afternoon, who interviewed a number of the leaders on both sides and urged them to bring about a settlement as soon as possible, and sugested the arbitration plan as the best one to pursue.

This morning Bishop McGolrick, accompanied by Mayor Cullum, visited the meeting place of the Builders' Exchange in the Lyceum building and talked to a number of the members. He found them willing to arbitrate the strike questions and willing to consider the matter in a fair and impartial manner.

Later the bishop visited the leaders of the labor unions at Kalamazoo hall where he found the same willingness to arbitrate the matter as had been found at the meeting of the contractors. The workingmen claim they have nothing to arbitrate, but in order to be fair and effect an early settlement of the trouble, they are willing to entrust their demands to a board of arbitrators.

It was announced this afternoon, however, by Bishop McGolrick that both sides had agreed to appoint representatives to meet at Mayor Cullums' office and bring about a settlement immediately if possible without resorting to arbitration. The bishop and Mayor Cullum will be present, besides the representatives of the unions and the builders.

Yesterday and today both sides were most emphatic, but the willingness to settle the strife if possible, shows that both sides are anxious for the men to get back to work. If there is an arbitration committee appointed, work will be resumed tomorrow in all probability and the men will await the findings of the committee before going any further in the dispute.

An impression has been spreading about the city that the unions have refused to arbitrate the matter, but leaders of the workingmen state that they have at all times been willing to arbitrate. They claim that they have been willing to send representatives to a joint meeting with the builders at any time, but no advances toward such a meeting have been made.

If the strike can be settled this afternoon without arbitration or tomorrow by arbitration, it will be a great benefit to the city, as the men can go back to work almost immediately in either case and the many building operations will go ahead again whereas if a settlement is not reached a general sympathetic strike is probable and building will be completely paralyzed, perhaps during a greater part of the summer.

Leaders of both sides were very optimistic this afternoon and were in hopes that an early settlement of the trouble would result from the good offices of Bishop McGolrick.

Broadway Roller Rink Rules Out Negro and Loses Suit.

Lunch Room in the Superior Depot is Burglarized.

It costs $25 to draw the color line in Superior. Albert Jones, a negro bought a ticket for the Broadway roller rink some time ago, but when he came to the gate the man who presided there said that no gentlemen of his complexion would be allowed inside.

The negro promptly brought suit for $1,000 for injured dignity and hurt feelings and the jury this morning returned a verdict in his favor of $25 and costs.

B. P. O. E. VS TENDERFEET.

Elks Cross Bats With Theatrical People at Hammond Park.

The Superior B. P. O. E. will break into the lime light in the baseball world for the first time this season this afternoon when the Best People on Earth from the town across the bay will cross bats with the masculine portion of the Tenderfoot company which is showing in Superior tonight.

Both teams are confident of victory and considerable interest is being taken in the contest. The Tenderfeet have been touring in warmer climes and are said to have had considerable practice, but the Elks think they know a thing or two about baseball themselves, and are confident of coming out on top. The line-up of both teams was a state secret until the umpire called play ball.

High Wind Has Bad Effect on Marksmanship.

The high wind which was blowing served to materially lower the character of the marksmanship exhibited at the shoot of the Superior Gun club, held at the club's grounds at Thirty-second street and Tower avenue, yesterday afternoon. The shoot was the third of the season. D. H. Kennedy won the high average by a good margin. The scores were as follows:

Fifteen bird event—Crowe, 4; H. W. Dietrich, 4; Galvin, 6; Kennedy, 12; Renouf, 3.

Twenty-five bird event—Hope, 15; Brown, 12; Brenner, 7; Renouf, 10; Crowe, 13.

Twenty-five bird event—Paddock, 13; Graham, 7; Christianson, 12; Thorn, 9; Galvin, 4.

Twenty-five bird event—Lynch, 11; Kennedy, 14; Galvin, 10; Renouf, 14; Brenner, 3.

Mrs. Burns Dies Suddenly.

Mrs. Michael Burns died suddenly of heart trouble while sitting in a rocking chair reading a newspaper, shortly after noon yesterday. Her daughter, Clara Burns, and her mother, Mrs. Juren, who were in the room, were startled at seeing the paper fall from her hands as Mrs. Burns sank back into her chair, and she was dead when they reached her. Mrs. Burns was 42 years of age at the time of her death, and resided at 1307 Eighteenth street. The funeral arrangements have not yet been announced.

Memorial Services Held.

The annual memorial services of the Superior Aerie of Eagles were held yesterday afternoon in the Eagles hall in the Ritchie block, and an elaborate program of addresses and music were carried out amid impressive decorations. V. T. Piereless of Ashland, grand worthy deputy president for Wisconsin, presided, and delivered the principal address of the afternoon. Vacant chairs, decorated with smilax and forget-me-nots, were set out for the departed members of the aerie, in whose honors the services were held.

Burglars at Depot.

The lunch room at the union depot was broken into last night and about $16 taken from the till. Entrance was effected by breaking the glass in the door.

Caught in Minneapolis.

Ed Pursley was arrested in Minneneapolis yesterday on complaint from the Superior police, charged with a statutory crime. A Superior girl is the complaining witness.

Twins Are Arrested.

David and Robert Logan, twin brothers, were arrested Saturday night in one of the Third street saloons, and spent the night in the lock-up, charged with being drunk. The two brothers look very much alike, both have seen service in the army, in the Philippines and elsewhere together, and both show bullet marks on their arms. Both are minus a couple of front teeth, and wear sandy mustaches.

Upon a promise to leave town at once the men were released.

Grocery Houses Combine.

Announcement has been made of the consolidation of the Twohy-Elmon Mercantile company, and the Elmon-Oynas-Fowler company, the two leading grocery houses in Superior. The business will hereafter be conducted from the former company's place of business.

AUSTIN W. LOUD DIES IN CAFE

Prominent Lumberman is a Victim of Heart Disease.

While eating supper in Lannigan's cafe, about 8 o'clock Saturday night, Austin W. Loud, a well-known lumberman, dropped dead from heart disease. He was just finishing dinner, and was listening to a story told by one of a party of friends, when he suddenly dropped back in his chair, and a moment later slipped to the floor dead.

Mr. Loud was about 40 years of age, and is survived by a wife and one daughter. The family resides at 1823 Piedmont avenue. Mr. Loud also leaves one brother, A. B. Loud, who formerly was stenographer for Judge Morris here, but now engaged in a mining venture in Colorado, and a sister, who lives in Michigan.

He is very well known in lumber circles here, having been for some years local representative for Richardson-Avery Co., who owned vast tracts of timber land in Northern Michigan. Since this firm withdrew, Mr. Loud has been working for the Tower Timber company and for himself.

The funeral will be held either tomorrow or Wednesday, under the auspices of the Elks, of which society he was a prominent member. He was also prominent in the Duluth Gun club and the Commercial club.

NOTICE!

All Builders' Laborers of No. 173 are hereby summoned to meet at Axa hall, at 9 a. m., May 7th.

O. S. INGBO, President.

DOCTORS IN CONGRESS WITH OSLER AS SPEAKER.

Washington, May 6.—Physicians and surgeons from all parts of the United States have arrived here to attend the annual meeting of the Association of American Medical colleges which began today. At the session of the Congress of American Physicians and Surgeons which is also holding its annual meeting here, Dr. William Osler of Oxford, Eng., will read a paper on "The Evolution of the Idea of Experiment in the Study of Medicine."

INVESTIGATE HARBOR MATTER

Board of Government Engineers Will be Here in June.

The matter of a breakwater or other improvement for the Duluth canal will be investigated June 18 by a board of government engineers, who will visit Duluth at that time in response to an agitation started by the public affairs committee, of which a good deal has been said in the past. The visit of the government engineers was provided for by a provision of the rivers and harbor bill in the last congress.

It is confidently expected that the board of engineers will report in favor of a breakwater for the Duluth canal. There has been some talk of locating a new canal further down the point, but this scheme was long ago abandoned as impracticable, and is hardly likely to receive any consideration at the hands of the visitors. The public affairs committee looking after this feature of the harbor work consists of George Spencer, L. C. Harris, O. H. Simonds, Capt. Alexander McDougall and W. A. McGonagle.

Congressman Theodore Burton, chairman of the rivers and harbors committee, may visit Duluth and the upper Mississippi with his associates on the committee next fall.

COMES HERE FOR GRANDE

C. C. Case Arrives With Extradition Papers for Commission Man.

Grande Makes Application for Writ of Habeas Corpus.

Carleton C. Case, deputy sheriff from Stockton county, Cal., arrived in Duluth Saturday night, with extradition papers for J. H. Grande, the commission man, and the papers were served on the alleged forger shortly before noon yesterday. He had twenty-four hours in which to bring habeas corpus proceedings, and just before noon today Alexander Marshall, attorney for Grande, filed application of writ of habeas corpus, based on a flaw in the papers. The hearing on the case was set for next Saturday, which will mean that Deputy Sheriff Case will have to wait until that time for his man, unless a change in the date of the hearing can be secured.

Grande is still complaining of an alleged conspiracy between the fruit dealers, Chief Troyer and Judge Windom, Deputy Sheriff Butchart and a local real estate man, to drive him out of business and out of town. He handed a seventeen-page letter to a Herald reporter this morning, denouncing in no uncertain terms the men who had "railroaded him to jail," had "disregarded the laws of the state and made laws of their own to set above them."

The article, which was written yesterday, gives the complete history of the case, from start to finish. Grande came, says the article, as an agent for the Fitzimmons-Palmer Co. When he left their employ his troubles began. He claims he was blacklisted by the produce firms; that they notified the California authorities that Chief Troyer arrested him without a warrant; that Judge Windom refused him bail, and he was finally released on a telegram from California.

The article also includes a promise to make every one of the conspirators pay for what they have done, and render a full accounting for it.

"I am powerless in the hands of rascals," concludes Mr. Grande, "and I shall soon be out of their hands, and then I will make the world see how unjustly the law can be administered by incompetent and unjust officials."

Deputy Sheriff Case emphatically denies that they got information of Grande's whereabouts from any one here, but says that he cannot afford to divulge any of the details of how they came by the knowledge.

DISPOSED OF IN RECORD TIME

Twenty Seconds Suffice to Finish Case of Fake Beggar.

Record-breaking time was made in the disposal of a case in the police station this morning. It did not even come before a magistrate and there was very little of the dignity of the law about it. It was barely twenty seconds by actual count after the accused entered the door of the station before the case was disposed of.

George Lawrence had been arrested for begging on the street. He had a very cleverly faked "blood poisoned" arm, made by a little nervy work with a needle and a liberal application of collodion. He also carried a cane.

"Say, aren't you the man I told to get out of town yesterday afternoon," said Capt. Resche as he caught sight of the beggar who was about to be arraigned on a vagrancy charge. "You didn't have any cane then. Here, give me that stick. You don't need it. Now you git! You see that door. Well, skidoo! And get clear out of this town right away, because the next time a cop sees you it will go hard with you. Hurry up now!" And brandishing the cane, the captain drove the beggar so rapidly toward the door that he forgot all about the limp, and, according to the officer who went out to see that he did leave town, took the next car for Superior.

Wonderful Eczema Cure.

"Our little boy had eczema for five years' writes N. A. Adams, Henrietta, Pa. "Two of our home doctors said the case was hopeless, his lungs being affected. We then employed other doctors, but no benefit resulted. By chance we read about Eclectric Bitters; bought a bottle and soon noticed improvement. We continued this medicine until several bottles were used, when our boy was completely cured." Best of all blood medicines and body building health tonics. Guaranteed at all drug stores. 50c.

FATHER CALLS IT MURDER.

Dr. Marvin Believes Body of Child Was Placed in Marsh Recently.

Dover, Del., May 6.—Although there were no marks of violence and the clothing worn at the time of the disappearance March, was intact, Dr. Marvin, the body of whose little son, Horace, was found Saturday in a marsh about a mile from his home, believes that the child was murdered and the corpse placed there recently. The marsh had been searched repeatedly and the grass had been burned off a week ago and no trace of the body seen at any time.

Detectives, however, believe that the child wandered into the marsh and was overcome by the cold, and the body was frozen and protected from the fire by water.

LAD'S LIFE IS SAVED BY SKIN GRAFTING.

Cheyenne, Wyo., May 6.—Two months ago pronounced by surgeons burned beyond the possibility of recovery, 6-year-old Julian McDonald today is playing about the hospital at Fort Russell, and will be discharged from the institution in a few days cured. Skin grafting is responsible for the fact that he is alive.

On Feb. 20, in company with two barrack at Fort Russell with gunpowder. The explosion set fire to his clothing and he was horribly burned from the ankles to above his knee, three-fourths of the skin of his legs being destroyed. While it was not hoped that nature could repair the injury, even with assistance, skin grafting was undertaken as a final resort, his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. John McDonald, supplying the cuticle.

Mr. and Mrs. McDonald each had taken from their limbs more than forty patches of skin, which were placed on the boy's burns. Granulation at once began, and when the last graft was made, fourteen days ago, the entire burns had been covered up. The healing is now almost completed and the boy will suffer no permanent effects from the burns.

BUY SOME LARGE TRACTS

The L. S. and S. Loeb Company Increase Realty Holdings.

The L. S. & S. Loeb company have just closed some large deals for Duluth realty by the terms of which they have come into possession of 115 lots in the Eastern end of the city, above and below London road, and considerable acreage in the Western end of the city.

The same purchasers have created no small sensation among the Twin City real estate men by buying about sixty acres of St. Paul property at Como avenue and Dale street, near the entrance to Como park. It is claimed to be the only acreage left in that locality and the purchasers, last Friday, sold four of the 500 lots comprising the tract, for $5,000. The land is only twenty minutes walk from the capitol and is reached by an eight-minute car ride. Messrs. Loeb expect to put the property on the market in a sale that will be conducted along lines somewhat similar to that held here some time ago, when they disposed of a large acreage in the West end.

ASK A SETTLEMENT.

Ministerial Association Passes Resolution on Strike Situation.

The Duluth Ministerial association, at its meeting this morning, passed a resolution expressing the hope that the strike now affecting the building trade might be settled immediately, either by arbitration or otherwise, and calling upon the employers and workmen to bring about some settlement as soon as possible.

It was pointed out that the strike is particularly injurious to the city, coming just at this time, when rents are very high, and when there are a lot of building operations in progress. It was further explained that the situation not only gives the city a bad name, but it brings about a hardship upon Duluth as a whole.

CHICAGO BOARD WAKES UP.

Continued Cold Weather and Green Bugs Make Trading Lively.

Chicago, May 6.—The last week on the Chicago board of trade has seen the return of the activity that prevailed several years ago, and it is predicted by the more optimistic traders that business will continue at a higher level for some time. The continued cold weather conditions throughout the West and Southwest have been the chief cause of the increased volume of trade. The result has been a growing conviction by many traders and commission men that the crop of winter wheat has been seriously damaged, and one excellent authority has made the prediction that the crop will be about 100,000,000 bushels below that of last year. Conflicting reports have been received from all sections regarding the damage inflicted by the "green bug" from Oklahoma.

RETURNS FROM EAST.

Probate Judge J. B. Middlecoff Visits Jamestown Exposition.

Probate Judge Middlecoff has returned from a ten days' trip in the East, during which time he visited the opening of the Jamestown exposition.

Judge Middlecoff was much impressed with the exposition and says that the best way to see it to advantage is to go to Newport News, then take a steamer to Norfolk and reach the exposition grounds by street car.

Commenting on the display, Judge Middlecoff said he was greatly interested in the naval display, scores of warships of every description lying majestically in Hampton Roads. He says the buildings are pretty and exemplify striking characteristics of the states they represent.

LADY BUGS VS. GREEN BUGS.

Kansas Entomologists Working Hard to Kill Wheat Destroyers.

Kansas City, May 6.—The campaign in Kansas and Oklahoma to exterminate the green bug, which has been doing much damage to wheat, is being directed to the collection and distribution through the affected districts of the lady bug, so called, which Prof. S. J. Hunter, entomologist at the Kansas state university, recently discovered to be the parasite enemy of the destroying green bug. In the past two weeks thousands of these destroying parasites have been sent out over the state. They have showed quite wonderful results and the demand for them increased beyond the supply. Concerns, vitally interested, impressed with the great good accomplished, have sent money to Prof. Hunter to aid him in his work.

The work of extermination was temporarily delayed by the extreme cold weather of the past few days, which brought out the fact that while a low temperature and cold rains killed off the lady bug, the green bug thrived on these conditions.

WILL RAISE THE WAGES

Street Railway Company New Wage Schedule Effective June 1.

Increase in Pay Was Voluntary Action by the Corporation.

An increase in the wages of all its conductors and motormen, from one to three cents, depending on the years of service, was announced by General Manager Warren, of the Duluth Street Railway company, yesterday, on his return from the Twin Cities, where he went to confer with President C. G. Goodrich in regard to the matter.

The increase in wages, which is a voluntary one, to become effective June 1, 1907, was a surprise to the employes, and the announcement, yesterday, was received with much satisfaction and pleasure, not only by the men, but by those dependent on them.

The following notice of the increased wage schedule was posted at the general offices of the company yesterday.

"Special Notice No. 48.

"The following scale of wages will be effective on and after June 1, 1907: For the first year of service, 21 cents per hour; for the second year of service, 22 cents per hour; for the third year of service, 23 cents per hour; for the fourth and fifth years of service, 24 cents per hour; after five years service, 25 cents per hour.

D. C. MOORE, Superintendent.

A similar notice was posted in Superior by Supt. Williams.

Under the new wage schedule the older employes of the company, of whom there are a large number, will be paid about $86 per month on and after June 1.

Increased wages to the several hundred men employed by the street railway company represents, in the aggregate many thousands of dollars that will find circulation in Duluth.

This new scale of wages is claimed to place the local street railway company among the top-notchers in the matter of wages paid. A comparison of the wages under the new schedule here with those paid in the Eastern, Central and Western cities shows that the street car men are better paid here than in a majority of the cities with a greater population, in fact there are few where the wages are as high. There are one or two cities on the Pacific coast where the scale is a little higher, but where the conditions are much different from those here. In many cities the minimum wages here are not paid until after several years of service.

The Duluth Street Railway company has an interesting and somewhat remarkable record in the matter of voluntary increases in the wages of its employes during the past eight years. No instance is known of another company that can show in the time mentioned a 53 per cent increase in the wages of its trainmen.

In March, 1899, the men were being paid $50, $55 and $60 per month, according to their years of service. On the basis of a 12-hour working day, every day in the month, the wages paid were 13.69 cents, 15.07 cents and 16.44 cents per hour.

The following comparative statement showing the voluntary increase in wages and the percentage of increase, during the eight years, gives a comprehensive view of the liberal policy of the traction company:

First-year men, from 13.69c to 21c.
Second year men, from 15.07c to 22c.
Third year men, from 16.44c to 23c.
Fourth-year men, from 16.44c to 24c.
Fifth-year men, from 16.44c to 24c.
After five years, from 16.44c to 25c.

Only once has there been a reduction of wages, and that was following the boom in 1892. A compromise was soon after effected by the company and its men, and the old schedule of wages was restored May 1, 1894. Voluntary increases in wages were made by the company April 1, 1899, June 1, 1902, and Jan. 1, 1906.

As a matter of fact, the three last increases, the largest to be made, followed the adoption of the "open-shop" policy by the traction company.

A similar increase in wages was announced by the Twin City Rapid Transit company last Saturday.

The aim has been toward a higher standard of efficiency in the men who handle the cars, and it is believed that the plan adopted by the corporation will attain the results desired.

SVEA SINGERS WIN.

Take Fourth Contest in Series With Normanna Society.

The Svea Glee club received the highest marks last evening in the fourth of a series of five contests with the Normanna Singing society. Last night's contest was held at the Lyceum theater and was largely attended. Each club has now won two contests.

That the contest was very close was shown by the decisions of the three judges, who after deliberation gave the Svea 89 points out of a possible 100 and the Normanna society 87 5-6 points. The judges were Robert Griggs Gale and William H. Pontius of Minneapolis and G. L. Taylor of Duluth.

The program of the evening was most enjoyable. Andrew Nelson delivered the speech of welcome and Clarence B. Miller also spoke. Louis Dworshak sang a solo and Prof. Kretchmar gave a clarinet solo.

Each society sang two contests numbers, on which their work was judged. The Normanna society marched onto the stage and gave its first number, "Hjemovar fra Langreis." O. Halten directed the chorus and seldom has the grand old Norwegian song been heard to better advantage. Even the Svea adherents applauded their opponents at the conclusion of the selection.

The Svea club then rendered "Sang Till Schwenke," under the leadership of Charles Hillner. It was must enthusiastically received and it was difficult to see how the judges were going to be able to make a choice between the choruses.

The Svea's club's second number was "Sjomannen," and the Normanna society sang "Ossian."

Flaaten's orchestra gave one selection and the two societies united and sang "Hor Oss Svea" in a manner that stirred the patriotic blood of the members of the audience.

The program was brought to a close by the singing of "The Star Spangled Banner" by the members of the two societies combined, to the accompaniment of the orchestra, and amid the cheers of the audience.

THE MERRYMAKERS A HIT.

Entertainment Embraces Good Burlesque and Some Splendid Specialties.

Two large audiences plainly showed their enthusiasm over the entertainment given by the Merry Makers company at the two performances given yesterday at the Metropolitan, when a week's engagement was inaugurated.

"Running for Mayor" is the title of the opening burlesque, and the afterpiece is designated by the title, "The Mayor's Vacation." The efforts of the Democratic and Republican candidates to secure office, form the basis for the comedy in the opening skit and the efforts of the successful candidate to enjoy his vacation, although harassed by two admirers, is the foundation of fun in the afterpiece.

Charles B. Nelson, Sam J. Adams, Al Casey and Frank H. White create most of the laughs. Mamie Milledge, as the tough girl, hands out som elive wire slang of the most pretentious voice, which is heard to advantage during the burlesques and in three fine selections she gives in the olio.

Les Sray Sisters do some remarkable whirlwind dancing and, as a finale to the opening burlesque, there is a ballet. The chorus appears to advantage in several pretty numbers. In the afterpiece, the girls appear as dairy maids and play tunes on some neat churns. This specialty is burlesqued by the comedians.

Nelson and Milledge contribute a skit called "Officer Grogan," wherein a tailor is mistaken for a policeman and is called in to arrest a desperate burglar.

The Elton-Polo troupe of aerialists has the best act in the olio. Frank White and Al Casey have a black face comedy turn that is funny and Sam Adams hands out some laughs in his monologue.

The Merry Makers company is the last burlesque attraction of the season, except one.

ISABEL IRVING.

The company which Miss Isabel Irving brings to the Lyceum tonight to help her present Jerome K. Jerome's comedy, "Susan in Search of a Husband," may be spoken of as an international organization. Miss Irving herself and the three other ladies in the cast, Miss Jessie Izett, Miss Marie Wainwright, and Miss Edith Lemmert, are all Americans, while the four men, Hassard Short, Ernest Mainwaring, Herbert Standing and A. G. Andrews, are Englishmen of high standing in their profession on both sides of the Atlantic. Miss Irving and her company have just finished a very successful tour of the cities on the Pacific Coast and everywhere they have met, according to the local newspapers, with an enthusiastic reception from crowded houses.

THE TENDERFOOT.

The Lyceum will offer one of its big attractions Tuesday in special engagement of the merry, jingling, musical concoction, "The Tenderfoot." Of all the musical shows that annually visit Duluth, there is none that finds more genuine favor than "The Tenderfoot." Oscar L. Figman and Ruth White who will be remembered by local theatergoers for their good work in "The Tenderfoot" last year, Louise Brackett, Harry B. Williams and over half a hundred of the same principals and people who have been identified for the past few seasons with the success of "The Tenderfoot," will be welcomed back.

THE DUNBAR QUARTET.

The Dunbar quartet will be the attraction this evening at the First Methodist church in the Star Lecture course.

The quartet is not as well known in Duluth as it is most of the other cities in the country, but it is claimed to be finest male quartet now on the concert platform. The St. Joseph News had the following to say of it:

"The program, which was more of remarkable versatility and high merit, was made more than twice its original length by the insistent audience. Harry Dunbar's impersonation of Riley characters was received with such favor that he was recalled again and again."

NEW BILL AT BIJOU.

The new bill which opens this evening at the Bijou includes the following: Gleason and Fred Houlihan, Walter Hawley and Natalie Olcott, Gertrude Gebest, Larkin and Burns, Dracula, Leador Silver, attraction, James F. Dolan and Ida Lenharr, in "A High Toned Burglar."

MILLIONS OF MONEY IN LEAD AND ZINC

CHARLES M. SCHWAB	CECIL RHODES	THE GOULDS AND WHITNEYS	JOHN D. ROCKEFELLER
Says: "The big fortunes of the next twenty-five years will come from Mother Earth."	Said: "Mining offers greater inducements than any other business in the world to make quick and great wealth."	Say nothing but send their sons to learn mining in the Lead and Zinc camps of the Southwest.	Is now investing many millions in mining stocks. Among all mining investments none stands ahead of Lead and Zinc for safety, permanency and profit.

Lead and Zinc Now Proven to Be the Most Profitable of All Mining. Millions of Dollars in Dividends Paid to Stockholders Annually.

You Can Share in the Profits of 300 Lead and Zinc Mines.

SPLENDID RECORD

Lead and Zinc Mines of the Southwest Lead the World.

Have you ever considered the advantages of investing in a commercial product for which there is a constantly increasing demand—one whose price is steadily advancing year by year?

The great Lead and Zinc industry of the Southwest offers you just such an investment. The Southwest Field is the richest Lead and Zinc mining region in the United States, its annual output of Zinc being 80 per cent of the product of the entire country.

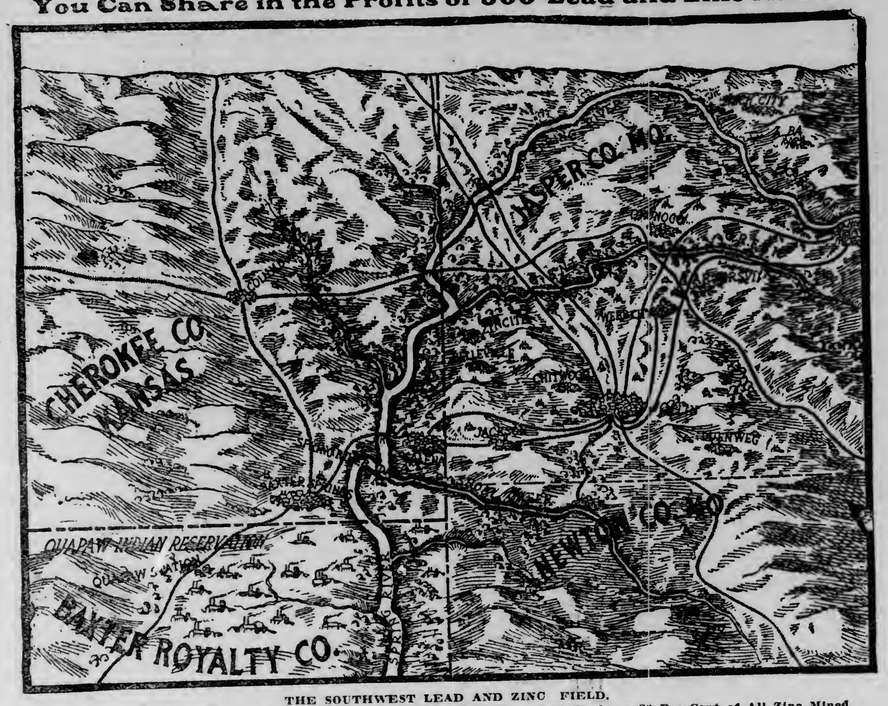
Carthage, Carterville, Webb City, Joplin, Galena and Baxter Springs—these are some of the mining camps that are making fortunes for thousands of investors by their splendid output of Lead and Zinc.

A Lead and Zinc production valued at $74,768,024 from the Southwest Field within the short space of seven years! An average output of nearly ten millions of dollars annually, and that amount added to the world's wealth by this one industry!

Over fifteen million dollars' worth of Lead and Zinc ore mined and sold in the Southwest Field during the year 1906 alone!

Read these figures once more and ask yourself why you are not receiving your share in the magnificent profits of the Lead and Zinc mining industries.

The Baxter Royalty Company offers you the opportunity, by its small payment plan, to secure an interest in 300 Lead and Zinc mines located in the very richest section of the Southwest Field, and dividends are guaranteed each stockholder within the present year.



THE SOUTHWEST LEAD AND ZINC FIELD.
The Territory Shown Above Has Over 700 Paying Lead and Zinc Mines and Produces 80 Per Cent of All Zinc Mined in the United States.

ENORMOUS PROFITS

Tremendous Earning Power of Lead and Zinc Mines.

The demand for Lead and Zinc is increasing rapidly in almost every branch of industrial activity. These two metals have become indispensable in many manufacturing and commercial processes. They enter largely into the making of paint, oil cloths, rubber goods, plumbers' materials and printers' type.

Zinc is required for electrical installations wherever copper is used, and is indispensable in telegraphy, telephoning and electrical transportation. These uses alone call for enormous quantities of the metal.

The United States Navy has recently investigated the advantages of Zinc as a coating for war vessels to prevent the formation of barnacles. Consider for a moment the immense quantities that will be required in the near future by the combined navies of the world when this new process is generally adopted by all the great powers.

The world's great tin mines are being rapidly exhausted, and Zinc alone of all metals will be able to partially take the place of tin. For building and decorative purposes Zinc finds new uses ever year. These and other uses are causing unprecedented demand for Lead and Zinc; and the price is climbing steadily upward.

Since 1902 the average price of Lead has increased from $46.10 to $78.50 per ton; and of Zinc from $30.33 to $44.88 per ton. The present prices are much higher than any of these averages.

Yet Lead and Zinc mining is one of the least expensive kinds of mining. Whereas it requires vast sums to open up a gold or copper mine, a few thousand dollars are sufficient capital to start a Lead and Zinc mine.

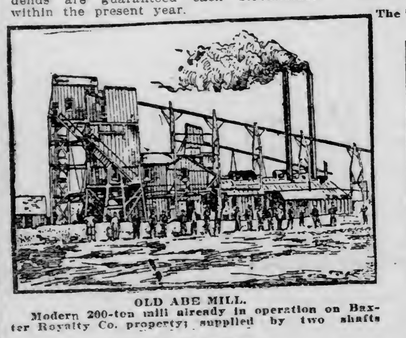
You probably have acquaintances who have invested in gold or copper mines and lost money. But can you think of a single instance in Lead and Zinc mining in the Southwest? A case of failure among properly managed mines in the Southwest Lead and Zinc field is practically unheard of. The mine operators there are making money and making it easily.

I want to send you a long list of Lead and Zinc companies operating in the Southwest Field that are paying their stockholders dividends of from 24 per cent up as high as 120 per cent annually.

How are such profits possible? That question is easily answered:—

1. The ore is near the surface.
2. The ore buyers are at the bins paying cash for every ton of ore produced.
3. The climate is favorable for work the year round, the latitude being the same as that of Southern Kentucky.
4. Lead and Zinc are not controlled by a trust, and the mine owners get the full benefit of every advance in the price of ore.

Read these facts once more; and I challenge anyone to show me any other investment which combines all these elements of safety and enormous profit.



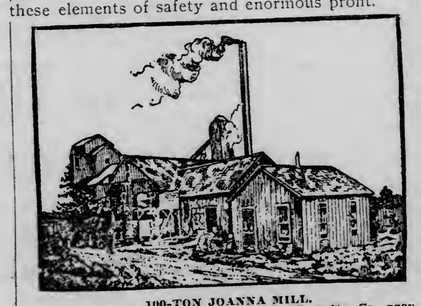
OLD ABE MILL.
Modern 200-ton mill already in operation on Baxter Royalty Co. property; supplied by two shafts working in ore bodies 27 feet thick.

Vast Ore Bodies Underlying Our 3720 Acres.

We have 3,720 acres of valuable Lead and Zinc lands located just south of Baxter Springs, Kansas, in the richest part of the Southwest Field. This section is known as the Joplin district, and has recently startled the commercial world by the amazing productiveness of its Lead and Zinc mines. Drillings have been made in various parts of our property and have absolutely demonstrated an immense blanket formation of rich Lead-Zinc ore underlying our lands. This ore is found at a depth of from 20 to 100 feet, thus effecting a large saving in the operating expenses of the mines. These vast ore bodies vary from 14 to 74 feet in thickness, and are a comparatively recent discovery. The first mill in the district began operation in 1904. We now have five concentrating mills in successful operation on our property and yielding large profits to our treasury. The five mills now in operation, together with the new mills which will be installed at an early date, make practically certain a millage of at least 5,000 tons daily for each shift, or a daily profit of $1,205. Counting but 300 working days in the year, we should have $361,500 per year from these mills working single shift. These mills will operate on but a small portion of our acreage, and yet be fed with a supply of ore sufficient to keep them running at their full capacity for many years.

We have room on our unleased lands for over 300 operating companies, as an acreage of 10 acres is the usual requirement of one operating company, and we have 3,000 acres of rich lands still unleased. The daily capacity of an operating mill is rarely less than 100 tons, and is usually much greater. Each 100-tons' millage means a daily profit to us of $24.10, and 300 such mills would bring us a net profit of $4,338,000 annually, counting but 300 working days in the year. This estimate is conservative at every point. As the prices of Lead and Zinc are rapidly advancing, these enormous revenues will continue to roll into our treasury in constantly increasing volume year after year.

The ore is there, and the demands of the commercial world will compel it to be mined. We hold the lands, and not a ton of ore can be sold on our property without yielding us our share in the profits. Do you want to share these profits with us?



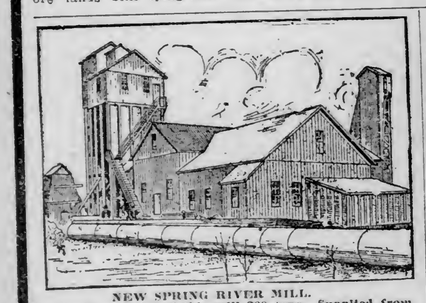
100-TON JOANNA MILL.
Already in operation on Baxter Royalty Co. property. Supplied from great sheets of solid lead.

WHY STOCK IS ONLY 10 CENTS A SHARE—PAR VALUE $1.00.

PRICE WILL ADVANCE AT AN EARLY DATE.

The plans of the Baxter Royalty Company have been laid out on a large scale. Unlike the ordinary stock company our profits will not be dependent upon the success or failure of any individual mine. The Baxter Royalty Company's earnings may be guaged to a mathematical certainty by the application of the law of averages—the principle adopted by every successful insurance company. As every mining company cannot be a success, it naturally follows that every one cannot be a failure. In the Southwest Field the vast majority of the Lead and Zinc mines are wonderfully successful, so that by the law of averages it follows that our interest in several hundred of these mines, all located on our property, is bound to yield us exceedingly large returns. We have 3,000 acres of rich ore lands still lying idle. In fact we find ourselves in precisely the same position as the farmer who has a larger acreage than he can cultivate with the capital in hand. He knows that with additional capital and assistance he could make the land yield abundant crops and enormous profits. He knows that every season that the land lies idle means a loss of those crops and those profits—for time is money. In the same way we intend by the investment of additional capital to bring our enormous acreage of mineral lands to a highly profitable stage of development at the earliest possible moment. For this reason a limited amount of treasury stock is now offered to the public at 10 cents per share. In this way the funds will be available for immediate use, and our lands will not lie idle. But for this consideration our stock would not be offered for sale at any price, but we know that by immediate development our profits will be vastly larger in the end than if we should limit our revenues to the income from the few companies now in operation.

When this stock goes to par it means a profit of twelve dollars on every dollar invested now.



NEW SPRING RIVER MILL.
Daily capacity of this mill 200 tons. Supplied from ore bodies 26 feet thick proven by seven drill holes.

$110,000 FOR ZINC LEASE.

Most Ever Paid For Forty Acres in Joplin District.

CARTHAGE, MO., Aug. 14.—(Special.)—J. C. Stewart, president of the Centercreek Mining Company, has received a check for $110,000 for a Morgan forty-acre lease owned by that company and located north of Carterville. This is the largest cash deal ever made in this district for a forty-acre lease of zinc lands on which there is but one mill. The real value of the land consists in the fact that some forty drill holes covering the tract show a sheet ore face of ten to fourteen feet, all above the 175-foot level.

The Centercreek company has also given a sixty-day option on the fee of the property at a price about the same as the lease. The Pennsylvania company is planning to erect several large mills.—From Kansas City Daily Journal.

This 40-acre lease, where the ore face is not over 14 feet, brought $110,000. The Baxter Royalty Co.'s property comprises 3720 acres underlaid with ore bodies 14 to 74 feet in thickness.

200-TON CRAMER-MORSE MILL.
Already in operation on Baxter Royalty Co., property. Supplied from ore bodies 48 feet thick.

40-FOOT ORE FACE.
In Cramer-Morse Mine already operating on Baxter Royalty Co. property.

Wonderfully Rapid Development of Southwest Lead and Zinc District.

The Daily Mining Record of Denver, Colorado, one of America's leading mining journals, under date of Feb. 11, 1907, published the following special dispatch from Baxter, Springs, Kan., and the investor is invited to draw his own conclusions as to the future of the rich district described: "South of this city four miles is the Baxter Springs mining camp, located in the Quapaw Indian Reservation, I. T. Three years ago there was nothing but fields and forests and today there are more than 100 shafts sunk and 25 concentrating mills with a capacity of from 100 to 300 tons daily, either in operation or in the course of construction, and contracts let for four 500-ton daily capacity mills. The ore is found in this camp in blanket formation all the way from five to forty feet in thickness, extending over many acres. The ore concentrates are all the way from 55 to 65 per cent metallic zinc."

Special Plan of Small Payments.

In order that no one may be debarred by lack of ready money from joining with us in this enterprise, subscriptions will be accepted for allotments of 100 shares, and upwards, payable 10 per cent with order and 10 per cent monthly for nine months.

Your whole reservation will receive the benefit of every advance in price, even while you are paying for it.

Upon completion of your payments, a certificate will be issued for stock purchased. If unable to finish payments, you will receive upon request a certificate for the amount paid for. Stock now 10 cents per share, par value $1.00.

A few dollars will start you. Read the following table, then act promptly:

$1 a month buys 100 shares, par value $100.	$15 a month buys 1,500 shares, par value $1,500.
$2 a month buys 200 shares, par value $200.	$25 a month buys 2,500 shares, par value $2,500.
$5 a month buys 500 shares, par value $500.	$50 a month buys 5,000 shares, par value $5,000.
$10 a month buys $1,000 shares, par value $1,000.	$100 a month buys 10,000 shares, par value $10,000.

Stock fully paid and non-assessable. All stock shares alike. No preferred stock, no bonds.

MAKE YOUR MONEY WORK FOR YOU

You often hear it said that in these days of trusts and high prices the poor man has no chance to get ahead. This is true as long as the poor man is content to receive 3 or 4 per cent from the wealthy bankers, who take his money and put it to work earning 20, 50 or 100 per cent or more. You can put your money to work the same as the bankers and capitalists do, and Sage and Rockefeller never had a better opportunity than I am offering you today.

27-FOOT ORE FACE.
In Old Abe Mine, one of the rich producing mines already operating on Baxter Royalty Co. property.

MY GUARANTEE TO INVESTORS

Knowing as I do the magnificent money-making opportunity now within the grasp of the Baxter Royalty Company's stockholders, I make you this guarantee:

Send in your order and first remittance at once, subject to withdrawal within 30 days if further investigation fails to convince you as to each and every claim that I have made.

Moreover, if you or a pool of your friends contemplate buying as much as $1,000 worth of stock, send your representative to our property to make a thorough investigation, and the company will pay the entire expense of the trip.

This is a strictly high-class investment appealing to bankers, merchants, professional men, farmers, mechanics, and the investing public in general. In all my experience with investment securities I have never seen an investment that I regarded as so absolutely good.

The steady upward movement that is now being witnessed in the price of this security, combined with the fact that the stock is being rapidly taken up by substantial investors in all parts of the United States, makes altogether probable the realization of very unusual profits to every holder of Baxter Royalty.

I reserve the right to return any subscription not sent in at once, as from present appearance it seems likely that the stock will be very largely over-subscribed in the near future.

CONCERNING WOMEN

Four people went to Thomson yesday, or was it Carlton? The party did not consist of four men nor yet of four girls. There was an even division of girls and men which always makes a party much more interesting. One of the men, who is quite young, is going off to Patagonia or some place like that or at least it seems every bit as far as Patagonia to the girl he is going to leave behind, so yesterday's affair was planned as a kind of grand celebration before his departure. Why the other young man and the extra girl were invited along is not quite clear. However, the party arrived at Thomson, or was it Carlton, and engaged a livery carriage that held four very comfortably, and the road for Carlton, or maybe it was Thomson, was started upon. Those who know say that the two places are practically the same, and that one lonely short mile intervenes. There are four people in Duluth today who greatly doubt that statement. They started out from wherever it was, the carriage was engaged, and traveled. Every little way when they met people, they inquired the way and were directed and they went blithely along until after an hour, or maybe two or perhaps three, of driving, they came to a sign board which said "West Duluth, 9 miles." The driver turned around and started the team back. And because there were fewer promises to write at least twice a week, after the horses were turned homeward, better time was made on the return trip. It wasn't anybody's fault, of course, and nobody said anything, naturally, but it is rather annoying to have one's plans so entirely come out wrong. The party returned the carriage with the horses and things to the owner and decided to come home. There wasn't much of anything to eat in the town, and they decided to wait until they got home, and then have something really good. They went to the railway station and one of the heroes wrestled manfully with that thing that no man can really master, a time table, and decided after much painful labor that the train would be along in two hours and thirty-eight minutes. There were strained relations by this time, for one of the girls at the most critical moment of consultation of the time table innocently asked: "Why don't you ask the man at the window?" and he who was devoting all his energies to a little card of many figures snapped: "Don't talk so much." Anybody can understand that conversation didn't run along so very blithely after that.

It was snowing. That is the saddest and truest part of the story. While Duluth was enjoying a blue and a balmy and pleasant spring day, Carlton, or was it Thomson, was in the throes of a large moist, slushy, expansive snowstorm. The roads were impassible and the girl who is going to be left behind had on her newest hat and she wouldn't go out a step from the station. The return tickets were bought and conversation rather flagged. It was cold, and dreary, and gloomy, and hungry in the station house.

Presently a train came in. The four adventurers had lost all sense of direction entirely and the conductors of the party sat quietly and gloomily in their chairs while the train went out again.

In a still small voice one of the girls spoke: "I have a notion that I have tried to swallow but can't, and wouldn't have said it for worlds until after the train had gone, because the last time I spoke I didn't get a very polite answer and I don't intend to speak very often if I am likely to be answered in that snappish way in which my last statement was met, and I don't think—"

"If your're going to say anything, Sarah, would you mind mentioning it before we get home this evening?" inquired the other young woman whose temper was just in perfect control.

"I was just gettting to it," said Sarah.

"Nearly time," breathed one of the heroes.

"I'll bet," said Sarah with malignant clearness, "that that train that just left went to Duluth."

It was a horrible thing to say. Doubts immediately assailed the heroes. They inquired and found that it was only too true. They thought Duluth was in the other direction. However, the train was only fifty-five minutes off.

"If there had not been another train tonight," said the hero who is going to leave the city in a few days, "I should have been justified in indulging in a brain storm."

"Brainstorm," sniffed Sarah, "no sane and well balanced jury would call your conduct of the afternoon the actions of any but those of a person who was suffering that form of insanity." She said it quite tartly and then silence reigned in the station house at Carlton, or was it Thomson.

The hero gazed out at the beautiful, large, moist, slushy, and expansive May snowstorm and thought to himself that maybe it would be just as well to leave Sarah behind when he went to Patagonia. Such a temper!

And by and by the train came.

Y. W. C. A. EVENTS.

Annual Meeting and May Morning Breakfast to Be Held.

Preparations will be completed this week at the local Young Women's Christian association for the annual meeting, which will be held next Monday evening at the association rooms and for the May morning breakfast which will be served the following morning. The state secretary will be the guest of the association at both events arriving in the city Saturday of this week. She will be the speaker at next Sunday's devotional service.

At the annual meeting a week from tonight the election of directors and trustees will be held and the annual reports of officers presented.

Many plans are being made for the May morning breakfast, which, it is hoped will be the most successful of like functions yet held. The decorations will be of the spring flowers of this locality and members of the board of directors and members of the association will preside as hostesses. Breakfast will be served from 7 to 9 o'clock.

Lecture on Rembrandt.

The Young Ladies' club of the First Methodist church will entertain tomorrow evening at the church parlors, and the friends of the members of the club are invited to be present. The speaker for the evening will be Mrs. Robert Morris Seymour, who will have as her subject "Rembrandt." Preceding the lecture there will be a piano solo by Miss Grace Spurbeck. The committee in charge of the evening consists of Misses Baxter, Parmenter, Edith Knowles and Catherine Neff.

Meet Tonight.

The regular rehearsal of the Duluth Oratorio club will be held this evening at Steinway hall, instead of the parlors of the First Methodist church. The change in the place of meeting is because of the concert at the church this evening.

Personal Mention.

Miss Margaret McDonnell of 119 East Third street left yesterday for a visit with friends at St. Paul.

Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Silberstein and son and daughter returned yesterday from a two weeks' visit at West Baden, Ind.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Ryan and daughter, who have been the guests of Mrs. Ryan's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Simon Clark of Hunter's Park, returned yesterday to their home at Minneapolis.

What Retail Markets Offer.

New potatoes, 3 lbs. for 25 cents.
Bermuda onions, 12 cents a lb.
Silver skin onions, 10 cents a lb.
Onion sets, 10 cents a qt.
Lake Superior trout, 15 cents a lb.
Ox tails, 2 for 25 cents.

In spite of the fact that people who never weeded a foot of garden in their lives lugubriously lament that the weather is so bad for putting in garden, the fact remains that somebody must be putting in gardens for the bushel baskets of little baby onions that are in the language of the trade called "sets" are disappearing at quite a rapid rate. Just a few weeks ago the baskets were full almost to overflowing, and now there are but a few in the bottom of the baskets. Somebody must like onions, evidently.

The Lake Superior trout is about the nicest fish in the market and one could hardly do better than to have a delicately fried, golden brown piece of this delicate thing for breakfast or dinner if one cannot arrange to have brook trout. Those delicate morsels of deliciousness are hard to catch, so people say, but one mouthful of the crisp and tender and delicate thing, after it is caught and fried, is worth a ten mile wade through swiftly running streams, and a body weariness and languor that is luxurious in its completeness—that is, of course, if somebody else does the wading and acquires the weariness. There are no brook trout in the market.

PULPIT AND PLATFORM

TWO STRONG SERMONS

Rev. Campbell Coyle Makes Deep Impression on Congregation.

New Pastor Takes Charge of First Presbyterian Church.

Rev. Campbell Coyle, D.D., began his pastorae of the First Presbyterian church yesterday, when he preached at both the morning and evening services.

His topic in the morning wes "The Old Paths," and the sermon was listened to by a large congregation. In the evening, the subject of his sermon was "The Nameless Disciples."

Dr. Coyle was pastor of the Collingswood Avenue Presbyterian church, Toledo, for more than ten years, and was in charge of that congregation when called to the pulpit of the First Presbyterian church here.

His sermon yesterday morning on "The Old Paths" was the same as that which he delivered when saying farewell to his congregation in Toledo. He took his thought from Proverbs "Remove not the old paths," and in it he practically announced his methods of conducting the work of the church. Dr. Coyle is a preacher of the Gospel at all times, and is evidently a firm believer in the old Gospel teachings.

Both sermons yesterday were listened to with much interest by large congregations, and Dr. Coyle made a very deep impression on his hearers. He will undoubtedly be as thoroughly respected and liked by his new congregation as he was by his former parishioners in Toledo.

REV. W. A. DUNNETT LEAVES.

"Choosing of a Life Partner" Subject of His Last Sermon.

Rev. W. A. Dunnett concluded his two weeks' series of sermons at the First Baptist church last evening. The church was crowded and Dr. Dunnett delivered one of the most effective sermons of the series, his subject being "Choosing a Partner for Life." He made a religious application of the subject outlining in a forceful manner the necessity of making Christ and the church one's life companion. At the close of the service four persons were baptised.

TALKS OF JEWISH KING.

Charles W. Seymour Lectures Before Men's Meeting at Y. M. C. A.

Charles W. Seymour of New York gave a lecture on "Herod, King of the Jews" at the men's meeting at the Y. M. C. A., rooms yesterday afternoon, before quite a large gathering.

He went deeply into his subject, paying particular attention to that portion of Herod's career which related to the inception of Christianity and the birth of Christ. He was listened to with much interest.

Prof. Hubert Crispini of New York gave several violin selections.

"THE NEW THEOLOGY."

Rev. K. S. Miller Reviews Book in Morning Sermon.

"The New Theology" was the subject of Rev. Kirby S. Miller's sermon yesterday morning at the Unitarian church. Mr. Miller spoke at length of the work and thought of Reginald J. Campbell, minister of the City Temple, London. Mr. Campbell, who is the successor of Joseph Parker in the book "The New Theology" and Mr. Miller reviewed it in detail. The book has been widely read and has passed into the fifth edition. It is purely theological and explains in a fearless and lucid style the free thought which has marked Mr. Campbell's teaching from the time of his pastorate in the London church. He has from the first been an exponent of what he calls the new thology and although he followed a most severely orthodox pastor he has carried his congregation with him in thought and teaching. The sermon was listened to with much interest.

SANTA FE TRAIN IN UGLY WRECK

Ten Persons Injured and Twelve Bruised, and Cars Burn.

Kansas City, May 6.—Santa Fe passenger train No. 1, which left Chicago at 10 o'clock last night for California, was derailed this morning at Norborne, Mo., fifty-five miles northeast of here, the engine and five coaches, including the chair car, going into the ditch. Ten persons were injured and twelve bruised, but no one was killed.

The coach next to the engine was the first to leave the rails. This pulled the other cars from the track and the second coach turned over. The car stove in the first coach set fire to the car and two coaches burned.

ELECTRIC LINE GETS INTO COURT

Proposed Chicago-New York Fast System Attacked by Stockholder.

Chicago, May 6.—A bill seeking to test the validity of the contract entered into between the Chicago-New York Electric Air Line Railroad company and the Co-Operative Construction company, and to compel certain persons to return stock which the bill alleges that they have recently received from the railroad, was filed in the circuit court today by Theodore Nemoyer, one of the stockholders of the railroad company.

In the bill, acts of the officials of the railroad company are questioned and accounting is asked from them. In the event that an accurate accounting cannot be had, the court is asked to appoint a receiver for the company, which, according to the allegations of the bill, has an illegally authorized capital stock amounting to $200,000,000.

The advertised plan of the railroad is to build and operate between Chicago and New York an overhead electric system which will allow trains to travel between the two points at the continuous rate of seventy-five miles an hour.

WEST DULUTH

IS SEEKING A LOCATION

Manufacturing Company Will Soon Come to West Duluth.

Composed of Duluth Men Who Have New Patented Device.

Another manufacturing company is seeking a location for its factory in West Duluth. This time it is a company of Duluthians and is known as the Evener Manufacturing company. When established the factory will probably give employment to from a dozen to twenty-five or thirty men.

The company has a patent on a new device known as the McGregor draft regulating and equalizing evener for draft horses. It is said to be the most humane device ever invented for draft horses and deduces the draft from 25 to 30 per cent.

Several locations at West Duluth have already been offered for the company's consideration, but nothing definite has yet been decided upon. The company has been manufacturing the new evener for several months on a small scale at an East end shop, but the West Duluth shop will be on a much broader scale.

The company is composed of Allen L. McGregor, president; Duncan McGregor, vice president, and J. H. Whitely, secretary-treasury, and articles of incorporation have already been filed. The Duluth office of the company is in the Palladio building.

Orders have already come in to the company for the new evener from many firms in Duluth and also outside cities.

"ENEMIES TO THE HOME."

Rev. Roderick Mooney Preaches to Large Congregation.

A large congregation attended the services at the Holy Apostles' Episcopal church last evening and listened to an excellent sermon by the rector, Rev. Roderick J. Mooney, who spoke on the subject, "Three Enemies of the Usefulness of the Home as I See Them." Rev. Mooney spoke in part as follows:

"I see the lack of a plan in life—simply to live on today as if tomorrow were never coming. Forgetting that the child life of your home is the most sensitized plate awaiting exposure. A life without a well thought plan is a meaningless life. Every parent should know the whys and wherefores of what is done, why they live in Duluth, why they send their children to church, to school, etc. Such a plan puts them in the most sensitive relation with everything that makes for the usefulness of their home.

"Secondly, I see a weakened sense of personal responsibility. With too many the fine sense of responsibility seems to be a lost art. 'I have always wanted to be a tradition to my family,' said a mother. I wonder what kind of a tradition will the parent be who is so utterly lacking in the sense of personal responsibility as is the average parent of today. A keen and well instructed sense of responsibility is the sill upon which the usefulness of the home must be built. Anything that interferes with that sense of responsibility in the home is tampering with the very sills of our nation's greatness. It is through that responsibility that we arrive at a due appreciation of the value of time. Alas, how many homes become the victims of the ever fleeing future?

"The third enemy of the useful home is unreality. What a breadth of meaning in Emerson's suggestion 'I cannot hear what you say for listening to what you are.'

"The homes whose morality is well planned, in which the atmosphere is surcharged with a keen sense of personal responsibility and where life is real, are the bright and shiny spots in our civilization."

NOTICE!

All Woodmen are requested to attend the funeral of Clarence Govette at the Westminster Presbyterian church, Tuesday afternoon, May 7, at 2:30.

Announce Engagement.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Fieldman, 617 Fifty-eighth avenue west, have announced the engagement of their neice, Miss Bertha Fieldman, to Louis Crystal of Duluth. The date for the wedding has not yet been decided upon. Miss Fieldman resides at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. Fieldman and is one of the most popular young ladies of West Duluth.

Case Postponed.

The case against L. P. Hall which was set for hearing in Judge Flack's court for last Saturday evening, was postponed until this afternoon. Another case has been set for this evening being of a minor criminal nature against G. P. Miller. The cases will be tried by Judge Flack in the rooms at the police station.

Evangelistic Services.

Beginning with this evening, evangelistic services will be conducted every night this week at the Merritt Memorial M. E. church, Forty-sixth avenue west and Halifax street. Rev. J. J. Parish of Pine City is in West Duluth and will be in charge of the services assisted by the pastor, Rev. Samuel G. Briggs. Rev. Parish is one of the best evangelists in the state, and his meetings will undoubtedly draw large crowds.

Brother Saves Small Sister.

The little 5-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Blair narrowly escaped being burned to death Saturday while playing around a bonfire with a number of other children. The little girl went too near the flames and her garments caught fire. Her little brother rushed to her assistance and soon had the flames smothered. She was badly burned about the arms, back and neck but it is not believed they will prove fatal.

SET FIRE TO THE CHURCH

Sensational Attempt to Destroy Edifice at Marinette.

Pastor Received Threatening Letters From Law Violaters.

Marinette, Wis., May 6.—Incensed at attacks for alleged lawlessnesss and violation of the law made by Rev. Francis A. Pease, pastor of the Grand Methodist Episcopal church of this city, it is believed that a deliberate attempt was made Friday evening by unknown persons to destroy the church.

Late in the afternoon a load of cord wood was dumped into the basement of the church, and two hours later, when the janitor started a fire in the furnace, he found that the wood had been drenched with kerosene, evidently by some one who had gained entrance to the cellar by the rear door, with the intention of later setting a fire.

Mr. Pease last week received an anonymous letter threatening his life and destruction to the church unless he stopped his exposure and attacks on the wineroom and saloon violations. He paid no attention to the letter. About two months ago his church caught fire from some unknown cause, and it is now believed that it was of incendiary origin.

ASHLAND OFFICIALS

For the Ensuing Year Have Been Appointed by the Mayor.

Ashland, Wis., May 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—The following appointments have been made by the mayor and confirmed by the city council:

City attorney, F. J. Colignon; city clerk, J. C. Williams; assessor, A. D. McDonald; comptroller, J. F. Van Douser; street commissioner, John Sandstrom; sanitary officer, J. W. Sharp; poundmaster, F. Peveiski. No appointments were made for city treasurer to succeed Pat Keenan, or for city engineer, to succeed James Phillips, or city physician, to succeed Dr. Rinehart.

APRIL FOOL TRADE VOID.

Court Orders Return of Money Paid for Team on April 1.

Chippewa Falls, Wis., May 6.—A horse deal between Bartholomew Rauscher and Peter Hilger made on April 1, All Fools' day, was declared off by Judge Jenkins and Hilger was ordered to return to Rauscher $400, the purchase price of the team of horses. Rauscher brought the action against Hilger because he had discovered that the horses were not "kind, true and not balky," as guaranteed by Hilger, and wanted his money back. Rauscher remembered that the deal had been made on All Fools' day, and after he found that the horses were useless he thought Hilger would voluntarily return the money and say he was "only foolin'." But when Hilger refused the suit was brought. Hilger denies knowledge of the horses being defective while he owned them. The case attracted much attention, and a large number of farmers were in attendance.

COLORED EDITOR SUES EAU CLAIRE.

La Crosse, Wis., May 6.—R. B. Montgomery, colored, editor of the Wisconsin Weekly Advocate, a colored paper published at Milwaukee, started suit for damages against the city of Eau Claire, alleging false imprisonment. Mr. Montgomery was in Eau Claire recently soliciting funds for the Georgia Colored Industrial and Orphans' Home, a worthy institution at Macon, Ga. The authorities there arrested him, charging there was no such institution and that he was perpetrating a fraud. He remained in jail several days before his case was heard. He was then acquitted.

WISCONSIN IN BRIEF

Eau Claire.—William Gray's residence, town of Washington, was burned Friday night, with nearly all its contents. There was no insurance. Only a stove, a few dishes and a little bedding were saved. The fire is supposed to have caught from a chicken brooder.

A telegram was received from Rainy River, Canada, by relatives in this city that Fred Caton had met a sudden death in a sawmill at that place. Details regarding the death are lacking.

Waukesha.—Court Commissioner D. J. Hemlock refused to release Edward Smith from the industrial school on habeas corpus proceedings, after having had the matter under advisement for several days. The lad was committed to the school from Pepin county by a justice of the peace.

FOUND POCKETBOOK

That Was Lost Last Fall and Contained $350 in Currency.

Milton, N. D., May 6.—William Fuller, a Milton farmer, has been fortunate enough to recover a pocketbook that he lost five months ago while driving from his place to town. It contained $350 in currency and had worked out of his pocket. His son, who was driving by, noticed the missing wallet along the side of the road. The money was all there, although exposed to the rigors of five months of winter weather.

Former State Senator, Who Faces Disbarment Proceedings for Assaulting Deputy Sheriff Julius Reprecht of Menominee, Who Was About to Arrest Him for Another Assault. Mills has Given Himself Up and Will Stand Trial.

NO PROTECTION FOR DEER.

Ontonagon Board of Supervisors Abolishes Office of Game Warden.

Ontonagon, Mich., May 6. — Following the example set by similar bodies elsewhere in the upper peninsula, the Ontonagon board of supervisors has abolished the office of county game warden. The deer in one of the best hunting districts of Northern Michigan are thus left without protection from pot hunters. The action of the board was dictated by the fact of that under the present state law, while $1.50 is realized from the sale of each hunting license, the county gets only 25 cents as its share, and this amount is entirely inadequate to maintain a game warden.

ICE PREVENTS LIGHTING.

Lighthouse Keepers Are Kept From Reaching Their Summer Quarters.

Marquette, Mich., May 6.—Unable to effect a landing, the keeper of Standard Rock light and his assistants are tied up here. Ice stacked up many feet high on the island has formed a barrier impossible to penetrate. Members of the crew say the barrier is larger than they have ever seen it and it is doubtful whether it will be possible to put the light in commission within ten days. The ice cannot be cleared away by dynamite through fear of damaging the lighthouse.

MARQUETTE FISHERMAN PLANT 45,000 TROUT FRY.

Marquette, Mich., May 6.—Twenty-eight cans, containing 45,000 trout fry, arrived in the city Friday morning consigned to Frank G. Jenks, secretary of the Gun club. They were given out and planted in Kellan's Harlow, Cherry, Little Garlic, Ormsbee's, Morgan and Schweitzer creeks and Little Dead river. The trout, though hatched but a few days, were in excellent condition. Those who had made application for the fry were at the depot when the cans were given out and the little fish were immediately taken to the streams.

Hancock—The sausage factory of the South Range Mercantile company at Painesdale was completely destroyed by fire Friday evening despite the valiant efforts of the volunteer fire department to check the flames. The fire means a loss of several hundred dollars to the company.

Escanaba—One marriage in every four occuring in Delta county is a complete failure resulting in a legal separation if the statistics of weddings and divorces for the past four months can be taken as a criterion from which to judge. Since Jan. 1 last, there have been thirty-nine marriage licenses issued, while ten decrees of divorce were granted at the April term of circuit court. The number of divorce cases pending is also said to be large.

Calumet—Calumet merchants report that once more counterfeit money has been found in circulation in the metropolis. The imitation of the genuine dollar is so clever, however, that it might easily deceive some of the residents of Calumet.

Wells—With practically every artisan of that craft in the city a member of their recently organized union, the carpenters of Escanaba have decreed that henceforth nine hours shall constitute a day's work. The men will work nine hours for the same wages they now receive for ten hours' work until Aug. 1, after which the scale will be 35 cents an hour.

Negaunee—The Flumish Socialist society of Ironwood has decided to build a fraternity hall. The building will be 30 by 100 feet and will have a stage and a dining hall. The members of the society will do most of the work.

Hancock—Ice harvesting is still in progress in the Copper country. Cakes sixteen inches thick and weighing 100 pounds were cut Wednesday at the Hurontown dam—the first time this has been possible on May day in the memory of the "oldest inhabitant."

TO FIGHT LIQUOR LAWS.

Courts Must Determine Whether Confiscation Law is Constitutional.

Grand Forks, N. D., May 6.—The first round in the battle of the liquor interests to overthrow the law providing for the seizure and confiscation of liquor found in quantities sufficient to warrant the belief that it is to be sold illegally will be fought in Judge Kleven's court at Northwood, Friday, May 10. On that date Agent Tinner of Northwood has been cited to appear and show cause why liquor seized in a raid at Northwood of the Great Northern depot should not be destroyed.

It was announced that the liquor interests had retained George A. Bangs of Grand Forks to look after their interests. Attorney Bangs had expressed the opinion that the law is unconstitutional and the Northwood suit will go to the supreme court.

DAKOTAS

OIL STRIKE AT DENBIGH

Great Excitement Prevails and Prospectors Are Numerous.

Well Diggers Find Indisputable Indications of Oil.

Denbigh, N. D., May 6.—Citizens and landowners residing here and in the immediate neighborhood are greatly excited over the alleged find of oil, and the report that representatives of the Standard Oil company and numerous prospectors are on the scene and quietly at work.

Recently, while well diggers were at work in this vicinity, indisputable indications of oil were found. Shortly after a number of leases of land for purposes of prospecting were made and drills are now at work in several places. The geological formation is said to be perfect for oil as this is on the lower end of the "dip" which marks the jumping off place of the coal stratus underlying the western part of the state.

A small sized boom is already in progress and many people are being attracted from neighboring towns and cities.

FARMERS FORM POOL.

Mayville Men Agree to Hold Wheat for a Dollar a Bushel.

Mayville, N. D. May 6.—At a meeting of the American Society of Equity branch union at Mayville, the farmers present pledged 6,400 acres of wheat to form a pool and make the price $1 per bushel this fall.

Dollar wheat is the slogan of the state, and during the summer a strong campaign will be made.

NEW INSANE LAW

Believed to be Unconstitutional by Many North Dakota Attorneys.

Fargo, N. D., May 6.—The new state law regarding the care of the insane in this state is causing the counties more or less trouble. It has been the custom in the past for the state to care for the insane without expense to the counties from which the unfortunate comes. Under the new law the counties are to be compelled to pay $10 per month for the maintenance of the people sent to the state asylum. This raises the question of double taxation. The counties are taxed to raise money for the state to maintain the different state institutions and the new law is regarded by many prominent attorneys as unconstitutional, as it compels counties to raise funds for the same purpose for which they are already being taxed by the state. The matter may be taken into the courts.

DAKOTAS IN BRIEF

Fargo, N. D.—The dogs of this city are strictly up against it—the mayor has issued an order that for sixty days all dogs must be muzzled and City Auditor Morgan is about to notify all owners of dogs that animals must be licensed and wear a tag indicating that the current license has been paid.

Brakeman Swain of the Great Northern railway is in the hospital at Arvilla as a result of a serious accident which resulted in both his hands being severely scalded. He was in the cab of an engine, when one of the steam cocks blew out. The brakeman's hands were badly cooked and he will probably be laid off for a while.

Some forty farmers from Davenport and Normanna townships were before the county drainage board Saturday to state their views regarding the proposed Kindred drain. After hearing the statement of the farmers interested, the board decided to discontinue further proceedings in connection with the drain, owing to the heavy expense, more than $7,000 per mile for five miles, and the report of the county surveyor, which showed that the drain would be impracticable.

Grand Forks, N. D.—Announcement is made of the appointment of Fred Brastrup of Jamestown to be trainmaster on the Dakota division of the Northern Pacific. He will take the place of W. E. Berner and will have charge of the western end of the division while Berner will assume the duties of Trainmaster T. J. Blewett, who is taking a six months' vacation.

The executive committee of the North Dakota State Teachers' association held a meeting in this city Friday at which time it was decided to hold the next annual meeting of the association in this city on Jan 1 to 3, 1908.

Bathgate, N. D.—According to State Oil Inspector Wilson, wild ducks and geese have never been so plentiful since early times as they have been in the sloughs and ponds in the vicinity of Bathgate during the past week. They are wild and do not succumb to the wiles of the hunter very easily, but they are to be taken if the hunter has the skill.

Grand Forks, N. D.—It is feared that Martin Stigen of Aniet is a victim of the recent wreck of the Oriental limited at Barthett. The young man boarded the train on that night, and since then has not been heard from. He was en route to Minot, where he had intended spending the summer on the farm of his uncle, Knute Renden. Since then, he has not been heard from, and it is firmly believed by his parents and relatives that he was one of the victims in the terrible smash up.

KILLED BY A BARTENDER

Samuel Nelson, a Contractor, Shot at Holman Mine Location.

Murderer Makes His Escape After Robbing Employer's Till.

Grand Rapids, Minn., May 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Samuel Nelson, a contractor, was shot and instantly killed by an Austrian bartender late Saturday night at the Holman mine, two miles from Bovey. The murderer made his escape after taking a small sum of money from the cash register of the saloon in which he was employed.

Sheriff Callihan of Grand Rapids has sent out descriptions of the murderer in every direction. Deputy sheriffs and detectives have been sent into all of the nearby country and a thorough search is being made for the murderer.

ASKS $20,000

From Northern Pacific for Being Struck by Mail Sack.

Moorhead, Minn., May 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Attorney Charles S. Marden of Barnesville is about to bring suit against the Northern Pacific Railway company in behalf of Mrs. George Cummins, wife of a Methodist minister, who formerly resided at Perham. Some three years ago, according to the complaint, she was standing on the depot platform at Perham waiting for the arrival of her daughter from Wadena. When the train was pulling in, the mail clerk threw out a mail sack and it struck Mrs. Cummins, bruising her leg near the ankle. The bruise refused to heal, tuberculosis of the bone finally set in and it was necessary to amputate the limb. Mrs. Cummins has been crippled for life and she has brought suit against the company for $20,000 damages. Mr. Marden has employed Attorney George F. Shea of Perham to assist him in the case. The case will be tried at the coming term of district court in this city.

BRIDGE WON OUT.

Attempt of Train to Throw It Down Proves Unsuccessful.

East Grand Forks, Minn., May 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—A gravel train, backing from the town to the junction had a curious accident near the university, when the rear car, which was equipped with side arms, extending out on each side, smashed into the steel bridge, breaking several ties and otherwise mutilating the railway property. The arms were out for the purpose of smoothing down the gravel piles which had been dumped from the flat cars and presumably the engineer on the freight forgot about the arms when he started for the junction. At any rate, the steel uprights on the bridge made strenuous objection to the proximity of the projecting arms and there was a mixup, during which the rear car was lifted off the track and ties for a distance of fifteen feet were smashed and splintered before the train could be stopped and backed out.

A trip was made to town and the crew rested for the day while repairs were being made.

PRACTICAL FORESTRY.

Trees Planted Years Ago by Farmer Yield Much Lumber.

Mankato, Minn., May 6.—Philip Young of Prescott, Faribault county, settled on his present homestead in 1852 and his first work was the planting of cottonwood trees from which in the last two years he has sawed 8,000 feet of lumber and claims he has trees left that will saw nearly double that amount remaining. Several years ago he planted 400 black walnut and these have grown to be fine trees, and as he says, will bring some one a good sum of money in years to come. Mr. Young is 76 years of age.

NO UNEASINESS

Felt by Farmers Over Delay in Seeding Caused by Cold Weather.

St. Paul, May 6.—Seeding throughout the Northwest has been greatly delayed by cold weather. Despite the delay, however, there is little uneasiness felt on the part of farmers or grain dealers. The experience of previous years has been that a late seeding makes for a bumper crop, especially if the delay is caused by spring snowstorms. The ground is full of moisture, but a few days of warm sunshine will put it in splendid condition for the reception of the seed and with plenty of sunshine following, the probabilities of a bumper crop are regarded as encouraging. The earth has absorbed sufficient moisture to carry the crop well through the unusually droughty months of July and August, and the grain growers are confident that if the bulk of the seeding can be done by the last of the week or the middle of next, that they will have no reason to fear a short crop.

BEMIDJI HORSEMAN SELLS FINE ANIMAL.

Bemidji, May 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—J. P. Duncalf of this city, who is one of the most enthusiastic horsemen in the north half of the state, has sold his high bred driving horse, "Harry H." to C. H. Parker, proprietor of the Leland hotel at Minot, N. D. "Harry H." was one of the swellest driving horses in this part of the country, and although Mr. Duncalf never tracked the horse it, was known that the animal possessed much speed.

HIT WHILE SLEEPING

Young Woman Struck by Rock on Great Northern Train.

Piece of Stone Thrown Through Window of Sleeping Car.

Crookston, Minn., May 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Probably the most remarkable ride that will ever be taken by Miss Whipple, daughter of Banker Whipple of Devils Lake, N. D., was that from St. Paul to her home over the Great Northern via Crookston. She left St. Paul on No. 5 Saturday evening and took a sleeper. As the train was running at full speed between Monticello and St. Cloud, a rock about the size of a man's fist was hurled through the sleeper windows, crashing through both glasses, and glancing, struck Miss Whipple with considerable force. The blow coupled with the crash woke her, and some of the other passengers. She screamed and assistance arrived at once and after making her self presentable she was transferred to another berth and things again assumed their normal aspect in the car.

The stone must have been thrown with terrific force as a comparatively clean hole was cut through both panes of glass and had it struck Miss Whipple without having its force stopped by the upper berth her injury might have been very serious if not fatal. It was thought at first that a bullet had been fired at the train but the stone was later found. When the train arrived in Crookston about 7 o'clock the passengers were just getting up, and scores of them viewed the cause of the disturbance in the evening. It is supposed that the stone was hurled by some drunken men who are employed by the Great Northern where the accident occurred.

It is understood that Miss Whipple also received a few scratches from the broken glass in the bed before she was dressed, but nothing serious.

THREE NEW TRUSTEES FOR BUILDING CHURCH.

Walker, Minn., May 6.—It is expected that by June 1, building operations will be under way on the recently acquired grounds of the M. E. congregation, located directly opposite the school ground cated directly opposite the school grounds.

At the quarterly meeting three more trustees were elected as follows: Dr. F. L. Wilcox, Gus Kulander and F. A. Dare. The membership of this board was increased owing to the extra work to be involved in supervising the erection of a church.

TO IMPROVE RAPIDS.

Navigation Along the Rainy River Will be Greatly Benefitted.

Bemidji, May 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—The people of International Falls are pleased at the action of the board of public works of the Canadian government, which has appropriated $50,000 to be used in improving the rapids at the Sault. These rapids are about forty miles down the river from International Falls, and on account of their length and swiftness, of current, navigation has been almost impossible. For many years the entire population living along Rainy river and Lake of the Woods have been using every effort to get something done in the way of locks for the benefit of navigation. This appropriation by the Canadian board of public works is the first substantial encouragement they have received, and while it is only about one-quarter of the amount needed to make a permanent lock, yet it is the beginning of what will be a most necessary improvement to navigation.

RECLUSE FOUND DEAD.

Winona, Minn., May 6.—Mrs. Mary Hurley, aged 86, once prominent in Winona society, but for several years a recluse, was found dead in her home here last night, where according to the coroner, she had lain since Friday. Heart failure apparently caused death.

NEW FREIGHT RATES

Fixed on Fifth Class by the State Railroad Commission.

St. Paul, Minn., May 6.—An order has issued from the state railroad commission granting a reduction on fifth-class freight of 3 cents per hundred weight on the average on shipments from Duluth and also from the Twin Cities and Minneota Transfer to the inland distributing points to go into effect June 3. The order affects the Northern Pacific, Great Northern and Soo lines.

On the Northern Pacific the new rates per 100 pounds from Duluth to the principal distributing centers are as follows: East Grand Forks, 21.79; Crookston, 20.62; Detroit, 17.48; Fergus Falls, 17.48; Breckenridge, 18.66; Moorhead, 19.05; Brainerd, 10.03; Sauk Center, 15.52; St. Cloud, 15.13.

On the Great Northern, the new rates per 100 pounds ordered in effect from Duluth to the principal inland distributing points, are as follows:

East Grand River Forks, 21.79; Crookston, 20.62; Thief River Falls, 22.58; Fergus Falls, 15.52; Breckenridge, 17.48; Moorhead, 18.66; Sauk Center, 10.82; St. Cloud, 6.50.

TO BUILD OPEN AIR CAMPS FOR PATIENTS.

St. Paul, May 6.—The state board of contral has called for bids for three open-air camp houses to be erected for the Minnesota Sanitarium for Consumptives at Walker, Minn., and also for proposals for installation and completion of pump houses, waterworks and a sewerage system for the same institution. The bids are to be opened May 18, and it is the intention of the board of control to have the work hurried that the institution made be made tenantable as soon as possible.

TWO MEN DROWNED IN THE MISSISSIPPI.

St. Paul, May 6.—Fred Hill and Darwin Truax of St. Paul Park, in attempting to drive across the Rock Island bridge near Inver Grove when it was open, were drowned in the Mississippi river early yesterday. The bridge had started to swing to allow a steamboat to pass down stream. When the bridge tender heard the vehicle approaching he rushed to the open gate, but the two men did not heed him and in the darkness they rushed to their death.

NO CLUE HAS BEEN SECURED AS TO REBER.

Crookston, Minn., May 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—The sudden disappearance of Frank Reber from his home in this city a week ago is still a matter upon which no light has so far been cast. There has been great deal of doubtful speculation on the part of the authorities, but nothing that would lead to a solution of the case. There is a growing impression, however, that Reber did not commit suicide by throwing himself into the river, but that he is still alive in some place remote from the city.

WELL-KNOWN TRAVELING MAN DIES AT DEVILS LAKE.

Fargo, N. D., May 6.—Members of the traveling fraternity in Minnesota and North Dakota will be shocked to learn of the death of Fred W. Ramsey, which took place Friday in the Mercy hospital at Devils Lake, where he had been confined for the past four weeks, lingering between life and death. Death was due to heart failure with which the deceased had been afflicted for some time past.

TWO-YEAR-OLD CHILD KILLED BY YOUNG UNCLE.

Fargo, N. D., May 6.—The 2-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Burr of Ayr, this county, was shot and killed by her 9-year-old uncle, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry McGowan. The Burrs were guests at the McGowan home where the son was practicing with a small rifle. In some manner a bullet from the gun hit the little girl and she died an hour later.

DULUTH ONE OF BEST LOCATIONS

For Steel Works, Says Former Head of Ironton Plant.

To the Editor of The Herald:

I received from a friend in Duluth this morning a copy of the Duluth Evening Herald of April 25, and you certainly deserve the highest commendation for its production, both from a literary and a commercial standpoint.

The old adage says "Everything comes to the man who waits," but generally our capacity for waiting is limited to our financial condition. Otherwise things might be different. Twenty years ago I began educating people in Duluth that the head of Lake Superior was one of the best (if not the best) locations in the United States for a steel works. I am pleased to notice that the United States Steel company have decided to build at Duluth. This absolutely confirms my judgment in what I stated years ago. With the utilization of the St. Louis river for water power, every possible objection to Duluth as a locality for steel manufacturing has been removed. Wishing Duluth and her inhabitants all the benefits that can possibly come from these new developments, I am sincerely yours,

SOCIALIST MEETING

M. Kaplan Denounces Arrest of Moyer, Haywood and Pettibone.

Says Roosevelt Never Did Day's Work in His Life.

"The arrest of Moyer, Haywood and Pettibone was the outcome of the fear of capital, which found in these men incorruptible labor leaders, who could not be swayed by bribes nor compromise, and a powerful force against which to strive. They had to use the means they did to get them out of the way, in order to proceed with their oppression of the laborers."

These are the words of Morris Kaplan, Socialist leader, who delivered a fiery oration last evening in the Odd Fellows hall, at 18 Lake avenue north. The meeting had been advertised by means of yellow handbills, scattered throughout the business and manufacturing sections of the city, and was fairly well attended.

The bills announced that the session would be a mass meeting to protest against "the kidnaping of our Colorado brothers, Moyer, Haywood and Pettibone." The call was issued in the name of the Socialist and Socialist Labor parties and the Industrial Workers of the World.

"President Roosevelt was educated to be a lawyer, one of the parasitic profession, but even then he never practiced," said the speaker with emphasis. "He inherited wealth, and so we Socialists are undesirable from his standpoint. This is not reprehensible. As long as there are classes there will be class strife and bloodshed, and we cannot blame those who, like the president, are benefited by existing conditions.

"Moyer, Haywood and Pettibone were arrested in Colorado, in the dead of night, on warrants issued by Governor Frank Gooding of Idaho for alleged participation in the assassination of Governor Steunenberg of that state. They were taken by special train to Idaho.

"Their constitutional rights were violated. Our constitution provides that an accused man shall have a speedy public hearing. This they did not have. It has been a year since their apprehension, yet neither have they had a trial, nor has bail been fixed for them."

In his arraignment of the president, Kaplan defiantly announced that he had never done a day's work in his life. "He is not lacking in industry from the standpoint of a man who shoots bears," said he; "nor from that of a man who takes a gun in his hand to shoot his fellowman, but he is lacking in industry, nevertheless."

John Korby, a local Socialist, spoke to the audience in Finnish, a goodly portion of those present being of that nationality, and Theodore Zollner of the Industrial Workers spoke in English.

The demonstration in favor of the men accused with the assassination of the Idaho governor was not over enthusiastic, however, and from the enthusiasm displayed by the audience yesterday there seems to be but little danger of Duluth's developing into a radical Socialistic town, or making any such display as that which took place in New York last week, when the Moyer-Haywood sympathizers marched the streets carrying red flags and flaring banners.

The Bonanza Belt Copper company announces that subscriptions will be received at its office, No. 20 Broad street, New York, for 100,000 shares of the par value of $10 each, at $5 per share, from May 18 to June 1. The total capital of the company consists of 350,000 shares. The company owns about 235 acres located in the center of the Arizona copper district, which is now said to be producing 33 per cent of the copper of North America. This region is noted for rich mines that have been developed by ex-Senator W. A. Clark, Col. William C. Greene, Charles H. Shannon, Phelps, Dodge & Co., and the Arizona Copper company. The well known mines in this district reported last year net earnings considerably in excess of their capital stocks and the Bonanza Belt officers claim that not one of these mines, with the same amount of developed work, made the same showing as the Bonanza Belt makes today.

The prospectus of the Bonanza Belt company states that the three miles of underground workings, shafts, tunnels and cross-cuts of the Bonanza Belt have produced over $1,000,000 in carbonate ore. The company recently struck the sulphides in a vein six to twelve feet wide, carrying 9 per cent copper. The present issue of capital stock is for the purpose of obtaining funds to aid in the development of the company's mines to a production of 200 tons per day. At the present price of copper, such an output, it is claimed, assures net earnings of $1,200,000 per year. The officers and directors of the company are: President, R. Allyn Lewis, dealer in investment securities; vice president, ex-Judge Leo C. Dessar; secretary, M. E. Harby of counsel for the Greene Consolidated Copper company; Charles M. Shannon, founder of the Shannon Copper company, and vice president of the Oceanic Trust company of Los Angeles, Cal.; Bird S. Coler, Lewis J. Morrison, William A. Hamilton, vice president of the S. Louis Southwestern Railroad company; Robert Huntley, real estate; Edward C. Rice, treasurer of the New York produce exchange; Edward V. Loew, president of the American Savings bank; Charles B. Merrill, real estate; G. M. Gouyard, consulting engineer of the Douglass Copper company. The superintendent of the mines is Walter L. Ehrich. The Trust Co. of America, of New York, is the registrar.

JURY TRIALS COMMENCED

Conkovich and Hill Enter Pleas of Not Guilty.

Two jury trials were started in the district court this morning.

The personal injury case of Frank Sundvall against the Interstate Iron company is being tried in room No. 2, with Judge Dibell presiding. Sundvall was employed as a brakeman on an ore car in the Lincoln mine, and lost a leg by being run over. He claimed that a defect in the track caused the car to jolt him off, and that he was thrown under the wheels. Sundvall is represented by Clarence B. Miller of the firm of Miller & Clapp, and the iron company is defended by Davis & Hollister.

The civil action of Erick Harjunin against Oscar Bay is being tried in room No. 3, Judge Ensign presiding. Mr. Clapp of Miller & Clap represents the plaintiff and Martin Hughes represents the defendant.

Judge Cant this morning was hearing the arguments on motions in special term matters.

Joseph Conkovich, who was indicted for resisting arrest, entered a plea of not guilty, before Judge Cant, this morning, and Henry Hill entered a similar plea to an indictment, charging grand larceny in the second degree.

DISARMAMENT QUESTION DODGED BY THE PREMIER.

London, May 6.—Questioned in the house of commons as to whether, in view of the speech concerning limitation of armaments made by Germany's imperial chancellor, Prince von Buelow in the reichstag recently, the British government intended immediately to lay down another Dreadnaught, which was promised in the event that a plan for the limitation of armaments was not adopted at The Hague, Premier Campbell-Bannerman said it was apparent from the tone of the imperial chancellor's statement that the German government desired, while maintaining its own view, to avoid embarrassment to other powers. He added that he was not prepared to make any statement at present in regard to the shipbuilding program.

Elof Strand, the tailor, has moved from 426 West First street, to Room 23, over Gidding's.

WORK NOT COMPLETED

Grand Jury Returns Three Indictments and Reconvenes.

The grand jury did not complete its work and make its report today, as was anticipated last Saturday. Three returns were made to the court this morning and the jury again went into session to consider some other matters that have been brought to their attention. It is possible that the work will not be completed before tomorrow.

Carrie Buchanan is indicted for assault in the first degree. It is alleged that she used a razor on one Eva Pattinson, May 2, cutting the latter severely.

Two other indictments were returned, but were not made public as the parties charged were not in custody.

It was expected that the grand jury would finish its work and make a report today.

A BAD YEAR FOR FRUIT

Parke Ross Says Cuba is Not Getting Enough Rain.

"The spring in Cuba has been quite as distasteful to the people there as it has been here to the Northwesterners," says Parke Ross, secretary and treasurer of the McCalla-Ross company, importers and manufacturers of fruit products, who is in the city.

"The first of April came this year without a single drop of rain and it is the first time in the history of the island for the past hundred years and there are only two instances of no rainfall by the first of March.

"The United Fruit company and others interested in the products of the island are greatly worried and I guess that pineapples and other things grown and exported by Cuba will be high next season.

"Our company is worried over the pine apple situation, too. We would like to see a good crop in Cuba. We have just established a pineapple cannery at Algiers, La., near New Orleans. I believe that it is one of the first to be built in this country. Heretofore, the greater part of the canned pineapples sold in this country were put up outside.

"Cuba is becoming a great exporter of pineapples. A few years ago, she exported hardly any, but most of the pineapples now consumed in the United States are grown there.

"The United States consumes a great deal of fruit. You would be surprised at the amounts. In a year, 750,000 crates of pineapples, averaging thirty-five to a crate, are brought into New Orleans and Mobile, the principal ports on the gulf. Ten years ago, the total importation of pineapples a year was about 10,000 crates.

"It is estimated that last year the United Fruit company brought into the country 42,000,000 bunches of bananas, which is about half a bunch for every man, woman and child in the land. All the bananas consumed are imported and so are most of the pineapples."

While in the city, Mr. Ross is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Fisher of 707 East First street. Mr. Fisher is president of the McCalla-Ross company and he and Mr. Ross were boyhood chums.

TO SUBSCRIBERS:

It is important when desiring the address of your paper changed to give both old and new addresses.

LET THERE BE PEACE.

Bishop McGolrick will have the fullest possible support in his efforts to put an end to the building strike, and this should be true not only of the general public, but of the contractors and the workers who are now engaged in a dispute that threatens, unless it is quickly settled, to develop into a long and stubborn test of endurance.

There are always three sides to a strike—never two. On the one side is the worker, on another the employer, and on the third side is the public. The interests of all three are inseparably intertwined, but the interests of the public are often overlooked. Bishop McGolrick is representing this public interest in his praiseworthy attempt to bring about peace.

The public does not know a great deal about the merits of the controversy. It knows that the workers want more money, and it wants them to have all they should have. It knows that the contractors do not want to grant the increase, and it wants the contractors to fare as they should.

But it also knows that the strike comes at a very awkward time; it knows that its effect, aside from delaying building operations and injuriously affecting both employer, employe and public, will be to give the city a very poor form of advertising; it knows that so long as the parties to the contest keep apart and talk about how determined they are not to give in, the strike will persist; it knows that there must be a fair meeting place somewhere between the two opposing stands, and it knows that it is to the interest of everybody that that point should be found as speedily as possible.

Apparently both sides are showing a disposition to meet the settlement proposal half way. This is laudable, and if such willingness to reason has developed so early, there is no reason why the strike should last more than twenty-four hours.

The situation was needing just such a suggestion as that which came from Bishop McGolrick late Saturday afternoon. It was a timely thought and a happy one, and its originator deserves great credit for it.

The suggestion that each side shall appoint two members of an arbitration committee, the four to appoint a fifth from outside the ranks of either employers or employes, is along the proper line, and the further suggestion that has been made, that Bishop McGolrick be the fifth arbitrator, is particularly fitting.

However, that is up to the arbitrators, and the public is now principally interested in seeing the opposing sides agree upon submitting their differences to fair arbitration, which is a fair and orderly method of bringing peace out of industrial war.

TIME TO CLEAN UP.

The weather of late has not been encouraging to outdoor cleaning enterprises, but it isn't going to remain that way all the time, and it is likely to be in order almost any day to get your yard cleaned up, your ashpiles removed, your tin can landscape eradicated, and your local surroundings generally put into fittingly decent condition.

In other words, Duluth is ripe for a good, thorough, spring house-cleaning, and while the mayor has intimated that the official cleaning period is likely to occur about May 15, any of these bright and sunny days could be used to excellent advantage in getting this disagreeable but important duty performed.

Duluth is entering upon a season that means a great deal to her. She is going to be tremendously busy all up and down the line, unless all signs fail, and when things get well started there is going to be little time for cleaning up.

While everybody is pretty busy even now, there are few that cannot spare enough time to see that their surroundings are put in seemly shape, thus making it pleasanter for themselves and for everybody about them.

It looks like very unpleasant work, but really when you get at it and begin to observe the fruits of your industry in cleaner and sweeter conditions you will find an interest in it that you have never suspected.

Anyway, whether you can work up any interest in it or not, it is a duty that you owe yourself and your neighbors and your city to tackle it at your earliest opportunity, in order that Duluth may present a clean and smiling face to the opportunities that are swarming upon her and her people.

Opportunity may not retreat at the sight of an unclean countenance, but it is usually personified in the feminine gender, and it will surely, if that be true, cling more persistently to Duluth and to Duluthians if the city is cleaned up nicely.

Now is the time
To get busy
Cleaning Duluth!

A MISTAKE.

Redwood Reveille: There are those who claim that that the legislature which has just adjourned, legislated itself out of office, and that none of its members will be eligible to hold office when the time rolls around for them to be re-elected and that even the senators are out. How about it?

They are mistaken, dear brother.

The report grew out of the fact that the legislature raised the legislative salaries, to take effect upon the next legislature. Some have fancied that this makes all the members ineligible for re-election, because of this clause in Article IV of the state constitution:

> No senator or representative shall hold an office under the state which has been created or the emoluments of which have been increased during the session of the legislature of which he was a member, until one year after the expiration of his term of office in the legislature.

The emoluments of the offices of senator and representative having been increased by this legislature, those that take the view expressed by the Reveille assume that no member of the present legislature would be eligible for another term until a year has elapsed after the end of the present term. This is not the case, however. It has been held, and sensibly, too, that the above clause does not apply to legislative pay, since just preceding it is a clause which specifically applies, and which is as follows:

> The compensation of senators and representatives shall be three dollars per diem during the first session, but may afterwards be prescribed by law. But no increase of compensation shall be prescribed which shall take effect during the period for which the members of the existing house of representatives may have been elected.

The present house, therefore, could not increase its own salaries, but it could and did increase the salaries of the next house, and there is no legal reason why its members cannot be re-elected to enjoy the increase, whatever other reasons there may be.

What the legislature did do, however, was to make it impossible for any of its members to become candidates for governor next year. When the salary of the governor was raised from $5,000 to $7,000 the first-quoted section was applicable, and it prevents any member of either house from becoming a candidate for governor at the next election.

It is hard enough to get the legislature to adopt any salary increases at all, but if it gets around among the statesmen that they are reducing the number of soft places on which to land after their legislative terms expire by making increases, it is likely to become well nigh impossible.

AN OPPORTUNITY.

Word has been received in Duluth, as The Herald stated last week, that W. D. Hoard of Fort Atkinson, Wis., will visit this city toward the end of June, and that he will be glad to contribute some of his wealth of knowledge and experience in dairying and hog-raising for the benefit of those who are working along those lines in this section.

This will be an opportunity that should be prized, and it is to be hoped that a very large attendance will greet Governor Hoard at such meetings as he can arrange to address.

This gentleman is the editor of the famous Hoard's Dairyman, and he is one of the best known and most reliable authorities on dairying in the country. What he doesn't know about the subjects on which he will talk is hardly worth knowing, and it is said that he has a happy faculty of communicating his knowledge to others. His visit can be made of immense benefit to Northern Minnesota, if all the practical and theoretical farmers and dairymen of this section will come in to listen to him.

In its way, this subject is every whit as important as the location of new manufacturing industries in and near Duluth. Experts say that the country tributary to Duluth is exceptionally well adapted for dairying purposes, and certainly Duluth needs to have every possible acre of land put into use. She needs it not only that the prosperous farmers and stock-raisers who shall occupy these acres may become customers of her merchants and help build up the city with their patronage, but that the people of Duluth may buy their products and thus have cheaper and better living.

As the manufacturing industries of Duluth expand and her population increases, it is necessary that the farming, dairying and stockraising interests of her surrounding territory shall also expand and increase. There is already a wide market for products of the soil and of the dairy and stock farm in Duluth, a market greater than the nearby production. But with the addition of the large payrolls of the new manufacturing plants, this market will grow with bewildering rapidity, and this condition offers a golden opportunity for those who are willing and able to turn their strength and knowledge to realizing the possibilities of the soil.

There will always be a certain and profitable market for everything that can be raised near Duluth, and there are few lines of endeavor that promise greater benefits to the workers and to the community than that of encouraging the use of the large opportunities for farming, dairying and stock-raising that nature has lavished upon the country roundabout Duluth.

There will be other speakers bringing messages of authority on these subjects in Duluth at the same time, and the movement to make the meeting or meetings a success can be made to wield a vast influence in promoting the development of Northern Minnesota.

TALKING ABOUT THE HERALD.

A Record Breaker.

C. B. Lockwood, well known correspondent, Washington, D. C.: Thursday's Herald a record-breaker. Congratulations.

Magnificent Effort.

A. T. MacDonald, managing editor of Louisville, Ky., Herald: Congratulations to The Herald on magnificent effort of April 25. Proctor Knott's ironical dream has come true.

Many Lines of Business.

Buffalo, N. Y., Express: The Duluth Herald's industrial edition will surprise newspaper readers who think of the Minnesota port as concerned exclusively in lake marine. The city has many lines of business, with large capital involved, and The Herald does well by them all.

The Best Ever.

North Branch Review: The 92-page industrial edition of The Duluth Herald was up to the standard set by that high class paper—and was, therefore, bound to be the best ever.

A Veritable Cyclopedia.

Albert Lea Tribune: The Duluth Evening Herald's great 92-page edition surpasses anything in the newspaper line recently issued from the press and few publishers have ever attempted its equal. It was crowded full of news regarding the Zenith city and its resources, the great iron and copper mines about Lake Superior and in fact was a veritable cyclopedia of information on subjects pertinent to the field of that ambitious paper. The publishers are to be congratulated upon being able to issue such an immense paper and the community is doubly fortunate in having men who are so enterprising residing in their midst.

Filled With Good Stuff.

St. Cloud Journal-Press: The Duluth Herald's industrial number of 92 pages would have been creditable to the biggest paper in the largest city in the world. It was filled with good stuff from first to last page, all telling of the present prosperity and future greatness of the Zenith city. As an advertisement it was worth as much to the burg by the unsalted wetness as is the big steel plant—and to residents of Duluth that means the limit of all things possible.

Best in the Northwest.

Hibbing Mesaba Ore: A 92-page industrial number is the latest achievement of the Duluth Evening Herald. The Herald is the best evening paper in the Northwest, and it is a paper that has the confidence of the whole people.

Leading the Procession.

St. Cloud Times: The World: "Mr. Duluth, I take off my hat to you!" Thus says the universe to the Zenith City, as pictured in a cartoon in the Duluth Herald's "Industrial Edition" of 92 pages issued on the 25th. The Press of Minnesota responds: "Mr. Herald, we take off our hat to you!" as leading the procession in the journalistic march of progress. It is a grand number, one that reflects credit upon Manager Weiss, and portrays to the world the gigantic strides that Duluth is making towards the head of the line in the column of Northwestern cities.

A Comprehensive Issue.

Hancock, Mich., Journal: The Duluth Evening Herald's mammoth 92-page industrial edition published on Thursday last was a magnificent issue, setting forth with pictures and description many matters of moment connected with the new era of development upon which the Zenith City is now entering. It was most comprehensive in its scope, covering the manufacturing, commercial, social, agricultural, historical and other phases of Duluth's past and future progress, and was an edition of which The Herald may well feel proud.

HOTEL GOSSIP.

"Nine women in ten who play the races, and there are a good many of them who do it, do their betting entirely by 'hunches'" said I. L. Rhode of New York, at the Spalding. "We hear a lot about woman's intuition, and the fact that she frequently acts on this intuition, instead of using her judgment, is frequently shown at the race track. At that she wins just as often, perhaps more often, than the man who goes entirely upon his judgment.

"I remember occupying a seat in a New York grand stand two summers ago, when some good races were being pulled off. It was at Brighton Beach. Directly behind me were two women and two men. They were nice-appearing people, and evidently were not frequenters of the track. They appeared to be enjoying the events immensely, however, and pretty soon one of the men suggested that each make a bet. This was agreed to without any protest from the feminine portion of the party.

"Then came the question of which horse should be played as the favorite. After some little good-natured argument, it was decided to leave the matter to one of the women who was addressed familiarly as Mary. I forget the name of the animal she selected, but Rainbow will do as well as any other. The men looked rather doubtful when she announced her choice, and said they didn't believe he amounted to much. Apparently he did not, for the bookies were betting twelve to one against him. Mary said they could bet on anything they chose, but insisted that her money be put on Rainbow.

"One of the men came back pretty soon, saying he had placed $5 for each of the four on Rainbow. From what he had heard in the betting ring he was convinced that they had no show of winning, but said it was worth while to pay $20 for the privilege of convincing a woman that her intuition was not always right. Well, Rainbow won by half a length, and the four who had their money on the animal were $220 richer than they were before the race began.

"A woman is as apt to bet on the appearance of the jockey as anything else. If she likes his curly hair and hewa eyes she probably will place her money on the horse he is riding, no matter what his record. Or perhaps the beauty of a horse appeals to her, and she will bet on the strength of it. If an animal is so homely as to be deserving of pity, she is very likely to put her money on him."

"When I left Baltimore last week one of the greatest runs of herring Maryland waters have seen for many years was in progress," said J. C. Temple of Baltimore, Md., at the St. Louis. "For a week large schools of the fish had been moving toward the headwaters of the fresh water streams in the upper part of the bay, until all the waterways were fairly alive with them. Fishermen were catching herring by the thousands, and the markets were becoming glutted. In many sections farmers had gone into the herring-catching business, and were using the results of their heavy catches for fertilizing purposes, hauling the fish from the shore directly to the fields, where they were thrown about and plowed under.

"All kinds of stories were coming into the city regarding the remarkable run. One fisherman told of his boat being carried a mile out of its course because of the great press of fish from underneath, and his occupant told how he couldn't use his oars because they were so many herring in the water. I know it to be a fact that in one haul of a big 600-foot seine operated by a gun club on the Gunpowder river, so many herring were surrounded that it was impossible to land the seine, and it became necessary to lift its outer edge and let thousands of fish out of the net. The meshes were so filled with herring that a living wall was formed, preventing the escape of other herring inside the net. The run generally lasts a week or ten days. The fish go up the streams and deposit their spawn, and then hurry back to salt water again."

THE WEATHER.

Lost, Strayed or Stolen—One large, glorious, life-giving, warmth-bringing, flower-growing sun, for which there are many anxious inquiries. Was last seen, except for brief glimpses, yesterday morning. A bountiful reward in gratitude and appreciation will be paid for its return.

This morning was cold, cloudy and needed only snow or rain to complete its unpleasantness. Last night's lowest temperature was 28 degs, and yesterday's highest was 46 degs. The weather man says it will be partly cloudy tonight and tomorrow, and that there will be killing frosts tonight.

A year ago yesterday it was showery and unsettled, and a year ago today it was dull and chilly.

The sun rose at 4:43 this morning, and sets at 7:25 tonight, making 14 hours and 42 minutes of sunlight.

Says Mr. Richardson of conditions: "A trough of low barometric pressure extends from the plateau region southeastward to Texas. The barometer is also low over the Hudson Bay region. These disturbances caused rain or snow during Sunday or last night in the Lake region and Northwest, and rains in New England, the Ohio valley and most districts south of the 40th parallel. Heavy rains occurred at Cairo, Memphis, Little Rock and Modena. High pressures overlying Saskatchewan are attended by colder weather in the Northwest with temperatures varying from 10 degs. to 20 degs. in Northern North Dakota, Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta. Partly cloudy and chilly weather may be expected in this section tonight and Tuesday."

Abilene	64	Memphis	66
Asheville	54	Miles City	36

Department of Agriculture, Weather Bureau, Duluth, May 6.—Local forecast for twenty-four hours ending at 7 p. m. Tuesday: Duluth, Superior and vicinity, including the Mesaba and Vermilion Iron ranges—Partly cloudy tonight and Tuesday; colder tonight with killing frost; lowest temperatures tonight, 20 to 25 degs. Fresh to brisk northerly winds.

H. W. RICHARDSON,
Local Forecaster.

Chicago, May 6.—Forecasts until 7 p. m. Tuesday: Wisconsin—Generally fair tonight and Tuesday; cooler tonight, with frost.

Minnesota—Fair tonight and Tuesday; colder tonight, with killing frost.

The Dakotas—Generally fair tonight and Tuesday; cooler tonight, with frost.

Upper Lakes—Light variable winds, probably shifting to northerly; general fair weather, except threatening on southern portions of Michigan and Huron tonight nad Tuesday.

Towns With Troubles.

Philadelphia Bulletin: London's trouble is her fog.

Tokio's trouble is earthquakes. In her worst 200,000 residents were killed.

Calcutta's trouble is cholera, and the bubonic plague is the trouble of Bombay. Each city pays to her trouble an annual tribute of 9,000 souls.

Madrid's trouble is the solano, a summer wind from the southeast. It is exceedingly hot, and is accompanied by blinding, choking clouds of dust, so that, notwithstanding a temperature of 105 or 110 degs., all windows must be closed.

The mistral is the trouble of Marseilles—an east wind that increases the city's death rate 50 per cent.

All at Sea.

Illustrated Bits: "Gentlemen," recently said a German professor, who was showing to his students the patients in the asylum, "this man suffers from delirium tremens. He is a musician. It is well known that blowing a brass instrument affects the lungs and throat in such a way as to create a great thirst, which has to be allayed by persistent indulgence in strong drink. Hence, in course of time, the disease you have before you."

Turning to the patient, the professor asked:

"What instrument do you blow?" and the answer was:

"The violoncello."

TWENTY YEARS AGO.

J. H. Nordby has begun work on a double house at Second street and Tenth avenue east for M. H. Bywater.

The captain of the Persian Monarch is in the city and would be glad to meet the young lady who crossed with him in 1884. Address Herald.

R. S. Munger says the forge works at Grassy Point will be completed about June 15.

H. H. Myers has started on a flying trip over the Northern Pacific to Portland and other cities on the Pacific coast.

The firm of Killen & Murnane has dissolved by mutual consent and a new partnership formed between James C. Murnane and J. R. Spencer.

The ice has at last gone and this time for good, and it is now but a few days when the vessels from the lower lakes will make their appearance.

At the chamber of commerce meeting last evening President Simonds spoke of the request made by President Fisher of the St. Paul & Duluth road in regard to a union passenger depot that the citizens donate the site on which the St. Paul and Duluth stands. It was considered that the railroads had received sufficient favors from the city and it was not very gracious to ask more. It was ordered that a petition be prepared asking the lighthouse board to place range lights in the harbor. The question of bridging the canal at Minnesota Point was discussed but no action was taken.

At the meeting of the common council last evening a petition was received from the W. C. T. U. urging upon the council the importance of drinking fountains in the city and asking that four be established, two for men and two for beasts. The appointments by Mayor Sutphin of William Hocking and William Foster as policemen were confirmed. The board of fire commissioners was authorized to purchase a fire alarm system.

It is learned that the organization of the Northwestern & Duluth Copper Smelting company portends the beginning of another fierce war between the Lake Superior mines, headed by the Calumet & Hecla on one side, and the Western mines, headed by the famed Anaconda, on the other side. The incorporators of the company, which has a capital stock of $2,500,000, are C. S. Batchelder of San Francisco, Charles R. Fletcher, H. G. Parker and J. W. Fletcher of Boston, and G. W. Fletcher of Detroit, who are interested in the Anaconda and kindred properties. The smelting works which they are going to build at Duluth will be devoted to reducing copper ores from the Montana mines.

MINNESOTA OPINIONS.

International Falls Press: When people tell you of the prosperity of some other locality don't let it worry you. There isn't a country on earth where the average prosperity is higher than in Northern Minnesota.

Virginia Enterprise: In Northern Michigan the April snows have delayed the street cars. Presume that's the same thing that is delaying the cars on the Mesaba Traction company's line.

Biwabik Times: Dwelling houses are in hot demand in this section, and if this should meet the eye of some one not satisfied with 3 per cent from a savings bank we can show them where it will earn 15 to 25 per cent net and be where the cashier cannot be tempted.

Walker Pilot: A quarter of a million acres of land will be opened for settlement in Northern Minnesota next July, making homes for over a thousand families. The next move is to get these thousand families.

Deer River News: A newspaper heading says "The future looks bright to J. D. Rockefeller." He probably is figuring on how he can control the fuel when he gets there.

St. Cloud Journal-Press: News is sent out under a New York date line that the Roosevelt sentiment in the West is growing. Don't believe it. The Roosevelt sentiment has been full grown for some time in the West—it's a giant, and is hard as nails and in the best fighting trim.

Malung Press: An Oklahoma paper advises young men to use their heads as well as their hands. In other words, when you can't open the door of opportunity, just butt it in.

Anoka Union: Ramsey county is as mad as a hare, because it fared so badly at the hands of the legislature. Even at that it got more than it should have.

North Branch Review: "Hell is filled with peek-a-boo waists," says a La Crosse preacher. That can't be such an unInviting place after all.

Pine City Pioneer: Since the air has been cleared of the stench of the Thaw trial, wouldn't it be a good idea to clear up your back yard a little?

Waseca Herald: Queer, isn't it, that the postoffice editors and all organs of plutocracy are constantly telling the people how impossible it will be to elect Mr. Bryan should he be nominated? The Republican politicians ought to help nominate him if they believe what they say.

Perham Enterprise: The Standard Oil company was successful in killing the oil inspection bill which would have given the people of the state a better grade of kerosene and gasoline. The farmers of the state and the poorer people in the cities who use kerosene for illuminating purposes will not forget the members of the house whose votes were responsible for killing the bill.

Old-Fashioned Couple.

Such a quaint old-fashioned couple as they are!
He is courtliness itself when by her side—
And he's never known to wander very far
From her presence; and she looks on him with pride.
For she thinks that he in looks and honest worth
Is more than peer of any man on earth.

And he bows to her with gentle deference,
Smiles with pleasure when he gratifies a whim;
She shows she thinks that all of common sense
And intellect is surely held by him.
When he makes mistakes—as all men do, you know—
She does not tell him that she told him so.

And she will not say that he has any faults
Nor will he acknowledge that she has a flaw.
And the march of gladness for them never halts—
'Tis a picture that an artist great might draw
When they sit among their pictures and their books.
With satisfied contentment in their looks.

Such a quaint, old-fashioned couple—
Bless you, no!
They are not a pair of relics of the past;
She is twenty, he is twenty-five, or so,
Which is why our admiration is so vast.
Don't you see, they think that life is at its best
When they live for each other—not the rest.

Reflections of a Bachelor.

New York Press: The average man thinks that for him to read a joke in some paper is proof how funny he is.

A girl wouldn't want to be married so much if she could avoid being an old maid any other way.

One comfort a girl with toothpick ankles has is she needn't be afraid to wear pumps for fear they'll get thicker.

When a man wears clothes that are out of style, either he is so poor he has to worry about something else or so rich he doesn't worry about anything.

What the Ailment Was.

Lippincott's: When Senator Hoar learned that a friend who they thought had appendicitis was in reality suffering from acute indigestion, he smiled genially. "Really," said he, "that's good news. I rejoice for my friend that the trouble lies in the table of contents rather than in the appendix."

WHERE THE LAUGH COMES IN.

Baltimore American: "Pop, what are convulsive laughs?"

"I suppose they are the kind produced by what the press agents call spasms of mirth.'

Philadelphia Press: "I don't believe you ever went to work,' said Mrs. Hausekeep.

'O! honest, lady, many's the time," replied Weary Willie; "but I'm such a strenuous feller dat every time I start ter go ter work I go clean past it."

Philadelphia Press: "I want a pair of the most expensive gloves you've got," said Mrs. Nuritch at the glove counter.

"Yes, ma'am," replied the polite salesperson. "How long do you want them?"

"Don't git insultin', young man! I want to buy 'em, not hire 'em."

Washington Star: "Do you think your colleague is concerning himself with the abstract problems of economics?"

"I'm afraid not," answered Senator Sorghum. "Any problem he figures out will have a dollar mark in front of the answer.'

Houston Post: "You don't think advertising pays?"

"I should say not."

"Old Richey says it does."

"He looks at it from a merchant's standpoint, while I look at it from the standpoint of the husband of a bargain counter fiend."

The Bohemian: Mistress—Why, Mary, this figure of Venus is covered with dust.

Maid—Yes'm.

Mistress—Didn't I tell you to brush it?

Mistress—Yes'm.

Mistress—And why didn't you?

Maid (blushing)—Because, mem, I thought it needed something on it.

Rayner and the Teachers.

Washington Herald: Senator Rayner of Maryland is a stout advocate of larger salaries for teachers in all sorts of schools. He was at a reception he told a story about a teachers' meeting in a district where the salaries were unusually low.

"A rich, portly banker opened the meeting with an address," said the senator. "The banker concluded his remarks with an enthusiastic gesture, and the words 'Long live our teachers!'

"What long live shouted a thin, pale, seedy man in a black coat smeared with chalk marks."

A Queen's Bedchamber.

London M. A. P.: Queen Alexandra's bedroom is paneled in pale rose silk with hangings of white satin, those of the bed being surmounted by the imperial crown. The curtains of her boudoir are of ivory silk, bordered with heliotrope. Here the panelings are of ivory silk in gilt mountings; and other accessories are Beauvois tapestry, French carpet and Louis XVI. furniture. Her majesty's bathroom is quite new, and was especially built out. It is fitted with a bath of Grecian marble from quarries which had been disused a thousand years.

No Wonder.

A life o' such surprises—
No wonder we complain;
You tell the sun "Good mornin,'"
An' down comes the rain!

You toil to get the silver,
An' then good fortune thank,
An' whilst you're jubilatin',
Smash goes the bank!

An' when from life to glory
The weary sinner springs,
There's Satan, like a bailiff,
To levy on his wings!

More Strenuous Remedy.

Baltimore American: The young American heiress, married to a peer of the realm, wept bitterly, notwithstanding "he has broken my heart!" she wailed.

"But," urged her noble mother-in-law, "you are to be presented to the king. Is that no comfort?"

"None," replied the fair victim. "This is a cut beyond the aid of any court plaster."

terian church of North America, established in 1856. In 1901 there were three missionaries, with their wives, twenty out-stations, a Sunday school, a college, an orphanage and a hospital there. The place is also a station of the Women's Missionary society, having one missionary, two native workers, six out-stations, six places of worship and one Sunday school.

Simla, British India, May 6.—The schools and colleges of Bengal, which are affiliated with the University of Calcutta, have become such hotbeds of political agitation that the government has resolved to take drastic action. A circular has been sent to the university, college and school authorities, prohibiting the participation of professors, teachers or pupils of the higher educational establishments in political movements, and notifying the university that, unless it carries out its duty in controlling the affiliated colleges, all the government scholarship endowments will be withdrawn.

London, May 6.—A dispatch to the Daily Mail from Simla says that the government of India is alive to the seriousness of the present unrest among the people, and that an official statement is expected today to strengthen the hands of local officials in maintaining order.

The tone of the disaffected section of the Calcutta native press is becoming more violent. Order, however, is being maintained. A second riot was prevented at Lahore by the prompt action of the police.

EXPRESS RATES CUT

could not increase its rate a sufficient amount to meet the expense of this special service without largely increasing the total rate, because of its contracts with the railroads under which it is required to pay 45 per cent of its gross receipts to the railroad companies for their services, and also because of the commission it pays its agents.

The order of the commission requires the United States Express company to cease and desist from charging the $1 rate after the 15th day of June, and directs the express company, on or before that date, to put in a 60-cent rate from Chatham and Somerville, N. J., to New York.

THREE NOTED ARTISTS STRICKEN IN ONE DAY.

New York, May 6.—The death of three noted artists is recorded today. Max Francis Klepper, artist and illustrator, died yesterday at his home at Flatbush. He was an animal painter of note. He was 46 year old. George B. Butles, N. A., the portrait painter, died at his home near Croton Falls, N. Y. He was in his 70th year. Felix Regamy, the famous French painter, died at Nice yesterday, aged 63.

EVELETH WANTS FREE DELIVERY

Receipts of Postoffice Sufficient to Put City in Class.

Eveleth, Minn., May 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Agitation in favor of free mail delivery in this city has been given renewed zest recently on account of activity in the same direction by the citizens of Virginia. The receipts for the year ending March 31 were $400 above the amount necessary to put Eveleth in the free delivery class and there seems no good reason why the city cannot have this convenience if the people want it.

Whenever the question has been brought up in the past, however, there has been sufficient opposition among the business men to prevent anything being done. Those business men who oppose free delivery think that they would lose trade if people did not have to come down town every night after their mail.

The question will probably be brought up at the meeting of the Business Men's association this evening, and those who want free delivery say they will not allow the question to be shelved as easily as it has been in the past.

CLASS PLAY

Entitled "A Busy Liar" to be Given by High School Pupils.

Eveleth, Minn., May 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—The members of the senior class of the Eveleth high school, assisted by pupils from other classes are busily rehearsing for a play, entitled, "A Busy Liar," to be given about two weeks' hence. The play to be given is an uproariously funny 3-act comedy, the scene of which is laid in America at the beginning of the Spanish-American war.

The members of the cast are rehearsing every day, and it is expected that the play will be a creditable production. The cast is as follows:

Simeon Meeker, the busy liar.....Abe Foldman
Judge Quakely, a portly party.....John Saari
Senator Carrollton, a thin old party..Will Ellsworth
Dick Carrollton, the senator's son.....John Kellow
William Trott, servant to Meeker's son.....Anthony Pryor
McAllister Macbeth, a young Scotchman.....Hilding Slodund
Job Lotts, a recruit.....Dale Cerveny
Mrs. Macfarlane, who has everybody's welfare at heart.....Eser Rabinowitz
Tennie Quakely, the judge's daughter.....Mollie Donovan
Janet Macbeth, a Scotch lassie.....Cora Williams
Mrs. Eva Brighton Early, a young widow.....Teckla Jackson

HAS SMALLPOX.

Mining Superintendent Chinn at Elba, Placed Under Quarantine.

Biwabik, Minn., May 6.—W. P. Chinn, mining superintendent at Elba, is quarantined with smallpox after having exposed a large number of people to the infection.

Following the decision Saturday that Mr. Chinn had smallpox, all the employes at the Elba mine and all the school children of McKinley and Elba were vaccinated.

Mr. Chinn was ill for some days before, his symptoms being similar to those present in various illnesses he has undergone recently.

GREAT ACTIVITY.

Ore and Lumber Business at Two Harbors in Full Swing.

Two Harbors, Minn., May 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—Lumber shipments are on the increase and the busy season in that line will soon be on. The barge Redfern has been loaded and clears today with lumber from the Tower mills, and the steamer C. H. Green and barges Our Son and Genoa are due for loads, the lumber for same being on the way in from the Ely mills.

Owing to the large number of boats in port requiring ore the full force on the ore docks and road were worked yesterday to load the boats and bring in the ore from the mines.

At a meeting of the baseball management Friday evening it was decided to form a regular organization and issue stock. The stock will be in the form of ecupon books of $5 each and each book will entitle the holder to admission to the ball games to the amount mentioned. It is expected to secure enough from the advance sale of stock to build a grand stand, fence the grounds, purchase equipment, etc., and when expenses are paid, if any money is left over dividends will be declared. The same location as formerly used just northwest of town will probably be secured as a ground. No nearer place being available.

There are an unusually large number of ducks around here and along the lake shore this season.

TEACHERS FOR EVELETH.

Will be Engaged by the School Board on Next Saturday.

Eveleth, Minn., May 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—School teachers for Eveleth will be engaged at a meeting of the school board of District 39, met Saturday. A large number of applications have been received by Superintendent Greening which includes those of the following who are now holding positions here:

Miss Ada McKenzie, Bertha Lyons, Marie Bowers, Olive Pfiffner, Lou Wilson, Anna Klnzford, Florence Davey, Marie Peterson, Alice L. Combs, Ethel Sweet, Hellen Miller, Elsie Lawson, Sara M. Bowers, Alice Kingsford, Cora Uren, Mae J. Wilson, Winnie Whiteside, Miss Carson, Hilma Berg, Julia Skjel, Corrie Barrett, Mamie Murray, Miss Bolsoum, Miss McFadden, Edith Bagan and Mabelle Hull.

A number of contracts have already been signed though these will not be announced until the list is complete. Some dissatisfaction has been expressed by some of the grade teachers because salaries were not raised as was the case at Biwabik where grade teachers were raised from $62.50 to $67.50 though it is understood that those making the complaint have already signed contracts. Biwabik pays high school instructors $65 and $70 per month, grade teachers, $67.50, and first year teachers $60.

SCRANTON MINE MAY BE STRIPPED SOON.

Hibbing, Minn., May 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—It is possible that the Scranton mine, known as the old Elizabeth property may be stripped this summer. The mine is one of the largest on the Mesaba range and is owned by the Pickands-Mather people. There are 120 acres in the state lease which the company acquired in 1900, and which has therefore some forty-four years yet to run. It is understood that all drillings have shown that there is no mine on the range, unless it be the Albany, which has a greater depth of ore. The average thickness of the ore body is said to be 100 feet and in some places the pockets run to a thickness of 400.

NARROW ESCAPE.

Switchman Run Over by Engine and Sustained But Slight Injuries.

Eveleth, Min., May 6.—Ben Sempson, a switchman, was run over by an engine at the Mahoning mine, and suffered only the fracture of the pelvis bone. Those who witnessed the accident and the hospital surgeons are at a loss to understand why the man was not killed, and it is one of the most peculiar and mystifying accidents in the history of the range mining. That a locomotive could pass over a man without injuring him may be understood, but when it is considered that Sempson was doubled up and turned over twice as the engine passed over him is the puzzling section of the accident.

RANGES IN BRIEF

Biwabik—Mrs. James McGilvery met with a severe accident by jumping from her buggy in front of Hill's hotel, Saturday evening. Her horse reared and was in danger of falling backward when she jumped and sprained her ankle so badly that she was taken to the hospital for treatment.

The unusual coldness of the weather is illustrated by the fact that Colvin & Robb have been compelled to cut the ice at Bassett to get at the logs.

HOT DENIAL OF CHARGES

the United railroad officials contemporaneously with the call of the Carmen's union for a meeting of its members to declare a strike, and the announcement that new franchises are to be applied for by San Francisco and New York capitalists on the lines laid out before the fire by the man furnishing the money to conduct a dragnet investigation of the affairs of the United railroad, is full of significance."

"I will hide my time for the justification of my acts, and I will rely upon the fairmindedness of the grand jury as reasonable men not to be led astray by wild theories and speculations put forth and encouraged by the persons who slander us to advance interests we shall expect hereafter to conclusively show are not for the public good, but for private gain and political advantage."

the claim is that he conspired with the actual perpetrator of the crime, and that, therefore, he is a participator.

The purpose of the application for a bill of particulars on the part of the defense is to force the state to show, in advance of the commencement of the trial, in what manner it expects to link Haywood with the murder. This would necessarily mean an expose of the evidence in the hands of the state and the motion is vigorously opposed by the state's attorney.

President Roosevelt's letter to the committee on the New York labor unions, replying to their request for evidence as to his reasons for calling Haywood, Moyer and Pettibone "undesirable citizens" was published here in the Idaho Statesman, and Attorney Darrow read the letter to Haywood, Moyer and Pettibone. It is probable that an interview or reply will be forthcoming later in the day. District Attorney Rulick, who returned from Washington on Saturday night, may also have a statement to make in this connection.

Immediately before the opening of the court for the hearing for the motion for a bill of particulars, Clarence Darrow of counsel for the defense said: "Under the laws and constitution, Moyer, Haywood and Pettibone are to be tried in court by a jury of their peers. The forum is the state court of Idaho. Under these facts I do not see what there is for the president to do. All we have a right or desire to ask either of him or any other citizen is to leave the courts and juries to administer the law fairly without prejudice and without influence from the outside."

FOREST RESERVE WAR TE MAY BE CHARGED FOR.

Denver, May 6.—The News today quotes Senator E. E. Taylor of Glenwood Springs, as saying that Friday at a secret conference held at Colorado Springs, attended by Elwood Mead, chief hydrographer of the federal reclamation service, the latter stated that the federal government would soon begin to charge royalties on water secured from or near federal forest reserves, when such water is used for power or manufacturing purposes, that regulations to this effect had already been made and that President Roosevelt and Gifford Pinchot were back of the matter. Stated also that it was possible that the government would begin to charge for water used for irrigation purposes.

GROWING RAPIDLY.

Citizens' Staff Auxiliary to G. A. R. Gets 100 New Names.

The Duluth Citizens' Staff auxiliary to the G. A. R. is growing at a rapid rate. Over 100 members were added Saturday to the organization. There was no difficulty in getting members, for every man approached signified his willingness to join as soon as the nature of the auxiliary was explained to him. It is possible that the organization will grow to such proportions that it will have a home of its own.

TWO HOURS TO ST. PAUL

Big Claims Made for the Proposed Electric Railway.

Claim Route Will be Shortened to 130 Miles.

The Twin City & Lake Superior Electric Railway company filed articles of incorporation in the office of Secretary of State Schmahl in St. Paul Saturday, and it is stated that the company will begin the construction of an electric railway system between Duluth and the Twin Cities immediately. The company's prospectus states that it will have a line of but 130 miles in length between St. Paul and Duluth, whereas the shortest steam road at present is 152 miles. It is claimed that the electric trains will make the distance between St. Paul and Duluth in two hours, an average of 65 miles an hour, not considering the stops, and that the fare will be $2.60 one way or $5 for the round trip.

It is proposed to operate the line by steam until the entire road has been completed, when the running of electric trains will begin. Standard guage tracks with 70-pound rails will be used, and the Farnham inverted protected third-rail system will be installed between the double tracks. It is proposed to construct and equip the road so as to make it possible to handle the heaviest trains with ease, and build the line with very few curves to make the enormous speed proposed possible. The officials of the company claim the road will be in operation July 1, 1909.

The officers of the company are: President, E. W. Farnham, Chicago; vice president, W. H. Crossland, Minneapolis; secretary, S. A. Carlisle, Wyoming, Minn.; treasurer, F. A. Kidder, Minneapolis. Mr. Farnham is the inventor of the third-rail system, bearing his name, which has been adopted by several roads in different parts of the country.

ALL WALK IN FRISCO

all employes will be expected to report for duty Tuesday morning, or consider themselves discharged.

The motorman of the United Railroads voted to declare the strike after they had failed to obtain an eight-hour day and a flat wage of $3. They were reinforced by the stationary firemen, who demand recognition of their union and an increase of wages, from $2.75 to $3.25 per day. It is probable that other allied unions will go to the support of the strikers.

President Patrick Calhoun says that the United Railroads will operate its lines independently of the Carmen's union, and, if resisted, will demand from the city and state authorities the full protection guaranteed by the law. In the event of the city and state being unable to provide protection, federal assistance may be invoked, on the ground that the United Railroads' investment company of New Jersey, which is the holding corporation of the United Railroads, is a corporation foreign to this state.

The carmen have organized an extensive picket detail at each car barn. The pickets are changed every four hours, and, according to President Cornellus, have been instructed to permit no violence. Large crowds surrounded the car barns at Turk and Fillmore streets all day, where 100 strikebreakers are lodged. Beyond hooting and jeering them, no overt act was attempted.

After an exciting meeting, lasting four hours, Electrical Workers union No. 151, yesterday failed to reach an agreement on a proposition to strike in sympathy with the telephone girls. A compromise was effected, whereby definite action was postponed until the executive committee shall have conferred with the officials of the telephone company, when the company will be informed that unless the union of the girls is recognized, linemen and electricians will walk out. The company is succeeding in giving a little better service than it was able to do during the first days of the strike, and the claim is made that it will be able to hold its position until the striking operators return to their posts. So far the latter show no signs of giving in and their demands are firmly maintained.

Los Angeles, May 6.—Representatives of twenty-nine labor unions met last night to consider the request of the striking teamsters for a sympathetic strike that will cripple practically every line of industry in the city. According to a report received from the conference it was decided to refer the question of a sympathetic strike to the separate unions involved and request a vote of each organization. The action taken indicates that the men may defer radical action until the end of the week, in which case there will be no interference with the celebration of La Fiesta and the imperial council of the Mystic Shrine.

TAKES DEFEAT GRACEFULLY.

Champion Whom Gould Conquered, Says Victor Deserved to Win.

London, May 4.—Eustace H. Miles, who Saturday lost the court tennis championship to Jay Gould, practically attributes his defeat to having to wait while Mr. Gould was suffering from a cramp in the wrist. In a signed article in the Daily Graphic yesterday morning, Mr. Miles says:

"It was the closest match, but one, I have ever played. Gould deserved to win and I never felt less regret at being beaten."

With reference to getting out of his swing and cold while his opponent's arm was being massaged, he said:

"It is one of my weaknesses that when I have stopped and grown cold I can hardly ever recover my form. I made every effort, but I had lost my swing."

THIRD ARBITRATION FOR GRAND TRUNK CONFLICT.

Ottawa, Ont., May 6.—The minister of labor has appointed Prof. Short of Kingston to be the third member of the investigation board to inquire into the labor troubles in the shops of the Grand Trunk Railway company. Mr. Nesbitt, K. C., represents the company and Mr. Champion the men.

The department has not received any word from Mackenzie King, representing the department at Fernie, B. C., recently, but it is understood the referendum has been carried by a small majority and the miners will resume work.

STREET SWEEPERS AND TRAIN MEET---ONE DEAD.

Kalamazoo, Mich., Ma 6.—Fireman Abner Wenger of Elkhart, Ind., was instantly killed and John N. Brownell, driver of a city street sweeper, was fatally injured when a double header Lake Shore freight train collided with the sweeper at the Portage street crossing early today, derailing the train and piling nineteen freight cars in a heap.

CLOUDBURST IN MEMPHIS

One of Heaviest Rains in Years Does General Damage.

Memphis, Tenn., May 6.—One of the heaviest downpours of rain recorded here in years occurred today, the precipitation in ten hours being 2.56 inches. Streets were overflowed, many cellars flooded and small streams quickly ran over their banks. Street car traffic was temporarily suspended on several lines. Incoming trains were reported late and a washout occurred on the Southern railway thirty miles east. Reports from the country state that considerable crop damage was sustained by the heavy rain. In North Mississippi the wind reached almost the proportions of a tornado. Telegraph poles were blown down and many outhouses were unroofed.

CHILD LABOR LAW FOR NEW YORK IS APPROVED.

Albany, N. Y., May 6.—Governor Hughes has approved the Page child labor bill, desired by the child labor committees and the Consumers' league. It provides that no minor under 16 years of age shall be employed or permitted to work in any factory in this state before 8 a. m. or after 5 p. m., or more than eight hours in any one day.

SPORTING NEWS OF THE DAY

EAU CLAIRE WON SERIES

Sox Took Saturday Game But Lost Again Yesterday.

McCormick Reports and Three Men Are Released.

After winning from Eau Claire Saturday by a score of 5 to 2, the White Sox took another beating yesterday at the hands of the Wisconsin State leaguers. The score was 10 to 0 and the exhibition was anything but a satisfactory one. Eberly, the Eau Claire performer in the box, let the Sox down with six badly scattered hits, while Haney and Backus were pounded to all corners of the lot for fourteen singles. To assist Eau Claire in turning the hits into runs, the Sox obligingly made five errors in the field.

Big McCormick, the heavy-hitting outfielder of the Sox, reported and he made valiant efforts to ward off a shut-out. He clouted the sphere for a two-bagger and a triple at different times, but there was nobody on the sacks when it happened and nobody came after with sufficient skill to land on Eberly and send the big fellow across the plate. After the game, Pitcher Backus, Third Baseman Odwell, and Outfielder Pindar were released. Odwell is the man, who was first regarded as a "find." He is a clean, fast fielder, but he couldn't hit and the Sox need hitters right now, more than anything else. Goldsmith, a new outfielder, has been signed. Score:

Battery—Eberly and Watson; Haney, Backus and Smith.

Al Cummings, the only pitcher on the staff, who has shown good form on the training trip, gave the Sox their first victory Saturday, when he held Eau Claire down to five scattered hits and two runs in six innings. The game was played in a snowstorm and when the game was called, the field was covered with "the beautiful," something with which the Sox have become intimately acquainted during the trip. Speiser, the Two Harbors boy, who was with Hancock and Calumet in the Northern Copper Country league last year, pitched for Eau Claire, and he also allowed only five hits. His team-mates contributed four errors, however, and the Sox hits came when they meant runs. Score:

	R.	H.	E.
Eau Claire	1	0	0 0 1—2	5	4

Batteries—Cummings and Smith; Speiser and Watson.

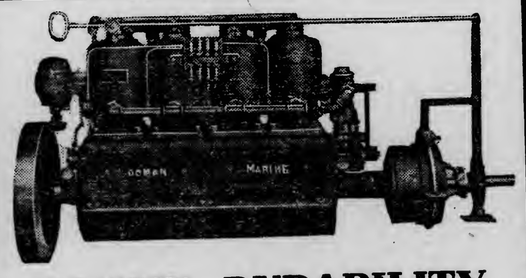
GAME IS POSTPONED.

Kansas City, May 6.—Kansas City—Louisville game postponed, rain.

A Peculiar Game.

Speaking of Thompson, racells the game that Philadelphia won from Cincinnati, when at the same time the latter club made nine hits to the latter's none. It came about after the following manner: Ed Crane was pitching for the Reds, and Buffington was doing the same for the Philadelphias. Every inning the Reds would make a hit, while the Phillies were powerless to get a safe bingle. And yet they won the game after all, for in the last half of the ninth inning Sam Thompson got his base on an error by Crane, stole second, and brought in the only run of the game on long flies to the outfield by Clements and Larkin. This is spoken of as being one of the most peculiar games recorded in baseball history.



POWER, DURABILITY AND RELIABILITY

Are three points in which Doman's excel all others.

Doman's are not a new thing in engines, nor an experiment. They have stood the test and a user of a Doman would not think of trying any other kind. If you want an engine you will be money ahead by buying a Doman. Let the "other fellow" try the "experiments." Ask F. H. Lounsberry, Herman Olson, A. C. Hubbell, A. Fitger, Dick Schell or Bob Jennings what they think of Doman's. These gentlemen can talk from actual experience in the past. Then watch the boats owned by Alfred Merritt, C. S. Carpenter, Roy Smith, H. H. Hawkins and Guy Eton, as they are some of the Duluth buyers of 1907 Doman's.

Dingle Hulls have proven to be the best that can be built. Let us quote you prices on them. We have the exclusive agency for Duluth and Superior.

F. H. WADE

329-331 CENTRAL AVENUE, DULUTH.

A CORNER IN SPORTS

The Prairie league, the pet scheme of W. J. Price, last year's president of the Northern Copper Country league, has fallen through. Since Fargo was let out of the N. C. C. circuit, Mr. Price, who has the baseball "bug" in pronounced form, conceived the scheme of banding together the towns of North Dakota and Northwestern Minnesota into a bush league circuit. Minot, Devils Lake, Crookston, Fargo, Bemidji, Jamestown, Valley City, Bismarck and Grand Forks were considered and Mr. Price thought he could form a circuit among at least six of these towns.

The first named five came in willingly and then it was placed up to Grand Forks. The dead weight of the N. C. C. league last year couldn't see baseball at all this year, and the bottom fell out of the scheme. Now the towns will play independent ball and North Dakota is altogether outside the pale of organized ball, for the first time in a good many years.

* * *

Duluth horsemen who are watching the fortunes of the International Racing circuit were glad to hear that H. E. Woods of Norbourne, Mo., had been engaged as starter. The North Dakota officials have been trying to secure Woods for a number of years, but were unable to pay his price. Now they are going in on a more pretentious scale and are after the best. Mr. Woods is grand circuit material and he will undoubtedly be far and away ahead of anybody who started in North Dakota previously. He is a great man with the runners and has for several years started the horses at the big coast fairs at Spokane, Seattle and Portland.

NELSON DEWEY WAS TOO EASY

New High School Pitching Record Established Saturday.

Because the Nelson Dewey high school sent over a team of deplorably weak hitters and Earl Cummings was in fine form, a new high school pitching record for the Head of the Lakes was established at Hunter's Park Saturday, when the Duluth Centrals defeated the Nelson Dewey in the first game of the trophy series by a score of 13 to 0. It was too easy. The Superior boys just walked up to the plate, turned around, and walked to the bench again. Cummings fanned sixteen and not a man got anything that had the least semblance to a hit.

In the meantime, Mack was being unmercifully pounded by Duluth. Cummings was also the whole thing with the stick, taking five hits in five times up, three of them being two-baggers. Cummings' support was perfect, while the Superior men fell down on several easy chances. Conley, the shortstop, being the worst offender.

HIBBING WINS OPENING GAME

Picked Nine From Duluth Defeated by Range Team.

Hibbing, Minn., May 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—The baseball season of 1907 was opened in Hibbing yesterday, when the home team defeated an All-Star nine of Duluth by a score of 7 to 5. Artie O'Dea, who was to have led the team from the Zenith City, fell down on the arrangements and didn't put in an appearance, nor did Catcher Leonard, First Baseman Menelee, and Outfielders Girard and Olson. Livingston led the team and filled up his line-up as best he could.

The weather was decidedly chilly for baseball, but a good crowd turned out to the game and the exhibition was a wholly credible one, all things considered. Schurch did the pitching for Duluth and the locals bunched on him in the fifth for a victory. Freeman and Booth, who pitched for Hibbing, held the visitors close in hand, with the exception of the third and seventh innings.

The line-up of the teams follows:

Hibbing—	Position.	Duluth—
Carroll	Catcher	Wegman
Freeman	P and RF	Shurch
Kleffman	First Base	Treadway
Head	Second Base	Livingston
Callingham	Short Stop	McGraw
Parr	Third Base	Fagin
Boover	Left Field	Stewart
Gieselman	Center Field	Cummings
Booth	RF. and P	Herst

The score:

BUSY WEEK IN SPORTING WORLD

Many Big Events Are Scheduled to Take Place.

New York, May 6.—Much sporting history promises to be made during the coming week, nearly every day having a scheduled event of uncommon interest. On Wednesday, Jack O'Brien and Tommy Burns will clash at Los Angeles for twenty rounds or less, for the light-heavy-weight pugilistic championship of the world; on Thursday, Metropolitan racing will move to the course of the Westchester Racing association at Belmont park, where the opening feature struggle will be for the Metropolitan handicap, worth $10,000 to the winner and on Friday night at Los Angeles Jack (Twin) Sullivan and Hugo Kelly will settle the dispute as to who is entitled to wear the pugilistic middle weight championship emblem. The week will close Saturday with the struggle between the Harvard and Columbia crews for aquatic honors on the Charles river.

Reports from Los Angeles say that both O'Brien and Burns have trained hard and are physically fit for any sort of contest. O'Brien is always in fine fettle when he strips for action, and Burns, who hopes to conquer the Philadelphian, and thus make stronger his claim to consideration as a possibility for the championship honors laid aside by Jeffries, has carefully conditioned himself at Long Beach for a rushing, punishing fight.

Milton May Attempt to Throw Three in Half Hour.

Followers of the wrestling game in Duluth have something in store for them in the coming month. Chief of the attractions is the coming match between George Milton, the midget wonder, and Frank Myers, the lightweight champion of the Northwest. The date for the match has not yet been set, but it will come off some time this month for a certainty, probably in the Metropolitan opera house. Milton, who has done no wrestling for about two or three months, is in training for the bout, and is rounding out into excellent shape. He now weighs about 119 pounds, and will come down to about 117 by the time he meets the Minneapolis man.

Myers gained the championship title by throwing some of the best lightweight headspinners around the Twin Cities, and he has a reputation all through the Northwest which marks him as a fast man on the mat. In Milton he will undoubtedly have a tough proposition, for the local man in shape is lightning fast, and he thoroughly understands every trick of the game, both as to theory and application. He has never been beaten since he has been wrestling in Duluth, and if the Minneapolis man throws him he will be forced to show some mighty clever wrestling to turn the trick.

Before he goes on with Myers it is probable Milton will have a match which will give him good practice, and also show his real ability. The men with whom he has grappled here have all either been new at the wrestling game, or not been up to Milton's standard. In Myers he will have a man who is known as a real wrestler, and he will be compelled to show all he knows about the game in the match. The wrestling promoters, however, are talking a match which, if it comes off, will show Milton's ability, and give Duluth people a chance to see just what Myers will have to contend.

During the past winter Milton has at different times thrown Pete Zutts, Kid Paul and Max Reubens. All are light men and have shown considerable ability. It is proposed to put Milton against the three men, consecutively, on the same night, he being compelled to throw the three of them in a stated time to take the money. Milton agrees to turn the trick, and wants to make the time a half hour, although the promoters would make it an hour. Milton, however, says he thinks ten minutes each is sufficient time to get a fall out of any one of the men proposed, and he is willing to take on the three on the same night, agreeing to throw them all within thirty minutes or forfeit the purse.

Should the match come off it will be an interesting one, as a test of Milton's ability and a wrestling exhibition in itself. Regardless of how great a dub a man may be, it takes some pretty clever wrestling at times to throw him in ten minutes or less, and the three men mentioned cannot be called dubs in the ordinary acceptance of the term. If Milton can pull off the feat, which he is willing to attempt, local people will be satisfied that he can give Myers a run for the money and the title.

The management of the Metropolitan is planning on matching W. H. Beaulieu and Charlie Jones for the regular after-the-performance wrestling match, next Friday night. Jones is the ex-fireman, who recently challenged Dick Johnson, or any other middleweight wrestler in Duluth. Beaulieu is a strong, husky man, who recently threw Dick Johnson two falls in about three minutes at the Met. He accepted Jones' challenge quickly, and it is very likely the men will come together next Friday night. Both are fast and strong, and know something of the wrestling game, so they should be able to furnish a good match.

Johnson also has accepted Jones' challenge, and if Beaulieu doesn't go on with the ex-fireman next Friday night, Johnson stands ready to step into the breach. It is all up to Jones. If he says Beaulieu, the teamster will be his opponent; if Johnson, the West end man stands ready to go on the mat.

AMONG CITY'S AMATEUR TEAMS

Games Played on Vacant Lots of Duluth Yesterday.

The corner-lotters broke into virulent activity yesterday for the first time this season. Sunday heretofore this year, didn't bring out any kind of weather suitable for baseball and the amateurs were unable to play. Yesterday was no balmy day by any means, for there was a cold wind, but the amateurs braved the chills and played ball. On every vacant lot in the city, there was some sort of a game in progress. In several cases, the players chose lots, which weren't vacant and placed surrounding windows in imminent danger; so the police stepped in and stopped the games, but the large umber of vacant spots with improvised diamonds, gave the embryo big-leaguers plenty of opportunity to get into the game.

The Kelley Hardware team was out for a good practice yesterday and they will be ready for good play when they meet the White Sox at Athletic park next Friday. The Kelley team was scheduled to go to Hibbing yesterday, but on account of the team not being able and the men having had no chance to play together, the game was called off. Yesterday, the full number of candidates were out and the lineup of the team will be out some day this week.

The Franklins defeated the Superior Rangers yesterday at Superior by a score of 11 to 3. Wall was pounded hard all through the game and Danielson held the Superiorites well in critical places. Score:

Franklins	.....0 4 0 0 4 1 0 2 x—11

Batterier—Danielson and Hestrum; Wall and Sharto.

Five games yere played in the Interscholastic league Saturday, resulting as follows: Longfellows 17, Jackson 5; Emersons 14, Lester, 12; Lincolns 25, St. Thomas 3; Lesters, 7, Jefferson 4; Madisons 14, Endion 7.

Walsh's Success With the Spit Ball.

Ed Walsh, the Chicago American club's great spit-ball pitcher, and the lad who is given the main credit for the showing the White Sox made last season, was educated in Scranton, Pa., the home of the illustrious Bill Coughlin, now in the Detroit team, but of revered memory in Washington city.

The school which the Chicago twirler attended is still presided over by the same old gentleman who once taught Ed his A B C's, and when Walsh, by his masterly pitching last summer, was made the subject of much comment on the part of the papers, his fame at last was brought to the notice of his former teacher, who is spoken of as a veritable bookworm, and not at all familiar with the fine points of the great American game of baseball.

When this learned person was told of how his former pupil was engaged in making baseball history by reason of his cleverness in throwing the spit ball, the ancient pedagogue seemed to awaken to the point of taking notice, for he said in his slow, even tones:

"A great spit ball thrower is Ed, eh? Well it must be the result of his early practice, as he threw many a one at me."

Dark Man Prophecy True.

Baseball players are as superstitious as actors, and the many peculiar traits possessed by the individual members of the game profession, would, if published, go to the making of a mighty big book and a readable one at that. Fortune tellers used to cop a regular portion of the player's salary in the days of Anson, Glasscock, Bill Joyce and others of the old regime.

Dad Clarke, with all his eccentricities, was one of the few ball palyers who would never fall for the fortune teller business. He couldn't see them at all when it came to giving them money, but one day he became converted, and ever afterward had the highest respect for these delvers into the future. Dad's conversion came about in the following manner: He and Parke Wilson, the catcher, were down at Coney Island on a Sunday, and in some way Parke prevailed upon Clarke to take a chance at the fortune teller down there, who posed as the seventh daughter of a seventh daughter, and who had a gypsy pedigree into the bargain.

Clarke went to the female seer, and was handed the regular fortune teller line of talk, which included the warning about the dark man who was going to cause Dad trouble, and for whom he must be on the alert for the doublecross. Dad hooted at the conversation the gypsy had regaled him with, and the warning regarding the dark man particularly tickled him. Parke Wilson tried to impress him with the danger that threatened him on account of the mysterious stranger of the brunette aspect, but Clarke just laughed the matter away.

The next day St. Louis opened at New York, and Clarke was sent in to pitch. He twirled a masterly game, and up to the last half of the ninth inning the score stood, New York 3; St. Louis 0. Then, with two men out and three of the Browns roosting on bases, up stepped the swarthy visioned Jack Crooks and drove one far over the center fielder's head for a home run.

As Crooks jogged home after the three runners who had preceded him, Parke Wilson, who was catching, sidled up to Dad and said: "The dark man tip certainly was a winner this time, Clarke, wasn't it?"

Sam Thompson's First Play.

Big Sam Thompson, who got back into the game for a short time last summer, but who in former years, when a member of the famous "big four," was a crackerjack player and a slugger of high degree, was a green country boy, working at his trade of carpenter, in a little Indiana town, when he was signed by the manager of the Indianapolis team, which was then in the National league.

Sam's wages as a carpenter were $1.50 a day, and at the end of his first two weeks' play with the Indianapolis club, his terrific batting and clever fielding had won for him so great a reputation that his manager decided to give him as much salary as any man on the team. Ball players' salaries in those days were modest compared with what they are now, yet to Thompson the amount of money passed to him by the manager seemed so immense that he could not believe it was anything but some kind of a joke that was being played on him. Finally, when he was convinced that the money was really his, it is claimed that he turned to the manager and said, at the same time holding the wealth in his horny hand: "See, here, cap., I'd rather be paid by the week or month; for I'm afraid if you make me take the whole season's salary this way, I'm liable to lose some of it."

One Told by Altrock.

A number of the Chicago players were talking the other night about the dangerous state of affairs in the Windy City, the bold "hold-ups" appearing to be so numerous now as to excite but little comment. Jimmy Callahan, who was one of the group, was telling about the time that 'Gene Demontreville was the victim of a "hold-up" affair, in which assault the clever second baseman was not only badly bruised, but lost a valuable diamond pin.

"That ain't anything," chimed in the irrepressible Nick Altrock, the White Sox's star pitcher. "Why, me'n Billy Sullivan were held up the other night, right in front of the Dearborn street station. Talking about nerve, why that guy that held us up had that brand of goods to burn."

"Tell us about it," said Fielder Jones.

"Billy and myself were coming along the street," began Altrock, "when a fellow comes up to us, wearing a card stuck on his breast, and he says, 'Please help the blind, young gentlemen.' Billy says to him, 'You're playing too far off your base, my friend. How, if you are blind, did you known we were young gentlemen?'

"The fellow," went on Altrock, blushed, stammered, and finally apologized by shooting this at the pair of us, 'Excuse me, I meant help the deaf and dumb.'"

Tacks Parrott's Home Team.

"Tacks" Parrott is credited with having made one of the funniest home runs on record at Atlanta, Ga. The score was a tie in the ninth inning when Parrott came to the bat. He clouted a fast one on the nose and the ball went whizzing into deep center.

A rainstorm the previous night had left a good-sized puddle, and of course the ball had to roll right into it. Parrott tore down to first, made the turn and then hesitated as he saw the fielder stoop, as Tacks thought, to pick up the ball.

It soon dawned on him, however, that the ball had disappeared in the mud puddle and he scooted for second. He paused there long enough to see the fielder's frantic scramble had been unsuccessful and then raced for third.

By this time the crowd was whooping and howling with delight and Parrott, with but a backward glance, bolted on to the plate. The fielder had finally found the ball and hurled it to the plate, but Parrott took to the ground and this run won the game.

Tacks paid no attention to the laughter of the crowd, but without waiting to brush the dirst from his clothes he hustled over to the scorer's box and demanded: "Say, did you give me a home run on that hit?"

COUNT NOT KILLED BUT ALIVE AND NOW AT WORK.

Portland, Or., May 6.—A dispatch to the Oregonian from Klamath Falls, Or., says that Count Otton Von Walderstein, who was reported to have been killed at Willows, Cal., a few days ago, is alive and well at Klamath Falls, Or., where he is employed on government reclamation work.

Nursing Mothers and Over-burdened Women

In all stations of life, whose vigor and vitality may have been undermined and broken-down by overwork, exacting social duties, the too frequent bearing of children, or other causes, will find in the most potent, invigorating, restorative, strength-giver ever devised for their special benefit. Nursing mothers will find it especially valuable in sustaining their strength and promoting an abundant nourishment for the child. Expectant mothers too will find it a priceless boon to prepare the system for baby's coming and to render the ordeal comparatively easy and painless.

It can do no harm in any state, or condition of the female system.

Delicate, nervous, weak women, who suffer from frequent headaches, backache, dragging-down distress low down in the abdomen, or from painful or irregular monthly periods, gnawing or distressed sensation in stomach, dizzy or faint spells, see imaginary specks or spots floating before eyes, have disagreeable, pelvic catarrhal drain, ulceration, prolapsus, anteversion, retroversion, or other displacements of womanly organs from weakness of parts, will, whether they experience many or only a few of the above symptoms, find relief and, generally, a permanent cure, by using faithfully and fairly persistently Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

This world-famed specific for woman's weaknesses and peculiar ailments is a pure glyceric extract of the choicest native, medicinal roots without a drop of alcohol in its make-up. All its ingredients are printed in plain English on its bottle-wrapper and attested under oath. Dr. Pierce thus invites the fullest investigation of his formula knowing that it will be found to contain only the best agents known to the most advanced medical science of all the different schools of practice for the cure of all woman's peculiar weaknesses and ailments.

Dr. Pierce's Lotion Tablets and Antiseptic Suppositories may also be used with great advantage conjointly with the use of the "Favorite Prescription" in all cases of ulceration, and in pelvic catarrh. They cost only 25 cents a box each, at drug stores or, sent by mail, post-paid on receipt of price in stamps by Dr. Pierce whose address is given below.

If you want to know more about the composition and professional endorsement of the "Favorite Prescription," send postal card request to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., for his free booklet treating of same.

You can't afford to accept as a substitute for this remedy of known composition a secret nostrum of unknown composition. Don't do it.

S.S.S. A CERTAIN SAFE TREATMENT

Even if mercury and potash could cure Contagious Blood Poison the condition in which these strong minerals leave the system would make the "cure worse than the disease." But they cannot cure the vile disorder; they can only cover up the symptoms for awhile or mask the disease in the system, but as soon as the treatment is left off the hideous symptoms return. Mercury and potash eat out the delicate lining of the stomach and bowels, produce chronic dyspepsia by drying up the gastric juices, cause the teeth to decay, and often completely break down the constitution, and where they are used in large quantities, the bones become affected, while the disease for which one has so long taken this destructive treatment has not been cured. Contagious Blood Poison is a disease it will not do to trifle with. It is a vile, dangerous and destructive disorder. When the blood becomes infected with its virus the mouth and throat ulcerate, hair and eyebrows come out, glands in the neck and groin swell, copper-colored spots appear on the flesh, and in severe cases sores break out on the body, the finger nails drop off and the sufferer is diseased from head to foot. S. S. S. is the only known antidote for Contagious Blood Poison—the one remedy that is able to get to the root of the disease and force out every particle of the poison so that there are never any signs of its return. It is purely vegetable, made entirely from roots, herbs and barks of known curative value. Instead of leaving bad after-effects as some medicines do, S. S. S. tones up every part of the system and puts every part of the body in perfect health. It will also remove any lingering effects of former mineral treatment while eradicating the poison from the circulation. Special book on the home treatment of this disease and any medical advice desired furnished free to all who write.

DULUTH MEN CAN GO TO STEEL CLUB

Corporation's Workers Here Can Make Headquarters in Chicago.

The United States Steel corporation is moving into handsome offices in the new Commercial Bank building in Chicago, but a feature of the corporation's organization there that most appeals to those who are working for the auxiliary organizations in this Head of the Lakes country is the club of Steel corporation employes.

This club, composed exclusively of men working for the Steel corporation is to have comfortably furnished and pleasant club rooms and will be a headquarters for the men associated in Duluth and on the ranges with the Oliver Iron Mining company, the Missabe and Duluth & Iron Range roads and the Pittsburg Steamship company, when they are in Chicago.

Many of them are in the Windy city every few days and not all of them have access to Chicago clubs, so that the Steel corporation organization offers them a "home" while they are in the Middle West metropolis.

Moreover, it is a place where they may confer with other Steel officials and combine business and pleasure. Probably twenty-five or thirty Steel corporation men from the outside are in Chicago every day.

The corporation's business office in the Commercial Bank building will be handsomely equipped. There are two or three entire floors devoted to the corporation's needs.

AFTER NEW MEMBERS.

Company C Would Take Seventy-Six Members to Camp.

Members of Company C, Minnesota National Guard, have organized a "Seventy-six club" all of which means that they are working for a membership of that number by the time they leave for the annual encampment at Lake City on June 17.

The company has a good membership now, but Capt. Knowlton and the other officers and men are anxious to see seventy-six men enrolled and on the march when camping time comes.

Those who have attended the annual encampments always look forward to them with much pleasure and the new members are always anxious for a try at the military camp life. The Third regiment will stay in camp about ten days.

Last summer, the experience of marching from St. Paul to Lake City was tried. The men camped along the route and in other ways acted as if it were war time. They sent scouts out ahead and foraged farms for food—always taking the precaution, however, to pay the farmers for whatever they secured.

However, they will ride on the cars all the way from the Head of the Lakes to Camp Lakeview, this year.

My Best Friend.

Alexander Henton, who lives on Rural Route 1, Fort Edward, N. Y., says: "Dr. King's New Discovery is my best earthly friend. It cured me of asthma six years ago. It has also performed a wonderful cure of incipient consumption for my son's wife. The first bottle ended the terrible cough, and this accomplished, the other symptoms left one by one, until she was perfectly well. Dr. King's New Discovery's power over coughs and colds is simply marvelous." No other remedy has ever equaled it. Fully guaranteed by all druggists. 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

POET-THIEF FELT HE MUST FREE A CANARY.

New York, May 6.—Probably the Audubon society will be interested in the poetic and bird-loving burglar who robbed Joseph Beini of a canary, a pair of shoes and a razor. Beini loudly complained at the East Forty-third street police station that the door of his room on the fourth floor of No. 926 Second avenue, had been forced.

"And read what the rascal had the impudence to write to me," said Beini. He tossed before Lieut. Ellis a big sheet of manila paper on which was rudely scrawled:

"World weary as I passed along,
From yonder casement came a sound,
A soft, persuasive, mellow thrill,
All listening hearts with joy to fill.

"With sweet appeal the captured bird
Told of his woes, and as I heard
I felt that I the one must be
To set the tiny prisoner free."

"P. S.—The man who keeps a bird in a cage deserves to lose more than his boots and his razor."

"I don't care a rap about my shoes and my razor, but I want my canary," said Beini, who is a cigar maker. "It is not only a sweet singer, but an animated alarm clock. It wakes me up early every morning by singing to me."

Roosevelt Replies to New York Unions on Miners' Case.

Quotes From Letter to Attorney General Over Year Ago.

New York, May 6.—President Roosevelt's letter to the Central Federated union, in regard to the cases of Moyer and Haywood, awaiting trial at Boise, Idaho, charged with the murder of Former Governor Steunenberg, was read yesterday as follows:

"The White House, Washington, May 2, 1907.

"My Dear Mr. Henry: When you in company with Messrs. Coakley and Brown called upon me this morning I read you the letter I had written to the attorney general on March 25, 1906. At your request I gladly send you the following extract from that letter: 'Our duty is (if it should ever happen that we had any power in the matter) to see that exact justice is done these men. There must be no condonation of lawlessness on our part, even if the lawlessness takes the form of an effort to avenge the wrongs committed by the lawlessness of others. The sole question as regards Haywood and Moyer must be the question whether or not they can be shown to be guilty of this particular act, and their legal rights must be as carefully safeguarded as those of any other men. It is alleged that they were extradited from Colorado in a manner that amounted to a betrayal of their legal rights. I should like to have the district attorney of Colorado, and if necessary, the district attorney of Idaho, give me such information as they can on this point. I should like to get from the district attorney of Idaho any information that he can obtain as to whether or not there has been the slightest disposition shown by the authorities in Idaho to act toward these men in any unfair or improper manner, or to deny them their legal rights. On the other hand I should like to know whether there is any symptom of a miscarriage of justice in their favor.

"The intemperate violence with which the Socialistic or labor papers like that of Debs, and I am sorry to say some labor organizations, have insisted without any knowledge of the facts, upon treating these men as martyrs to the cause of labor, has unquestionably resulted in tremendous pressure being brought to bear upon the authorities of Idaho to discharge or acquit them whether guilty or innocent. So far, as the unions are anxious only that exact justice is done these men; that they are given their full legal rights and not condemned unless proved guilty of this specific act, they are entitled to the cordial co-operation of all just and fair minded citizens. So far as by any action, or by murderous and treasonable language such as that quoted above from Debs and others they tend to bring pressure to bear upon the state authorities and the courts, to obstruct the course of justice, and to render it difficult to convict the men if guilty, they are equally without right to be condemned; and anything that the federal authorities can do, in either event, to further the cause of justice is to be done.'

"In response to your question, it is, I trust, needless for me to say that if at any time, you or anyone else can submit to me any evidence showing that there has been a miscarriage of justice for or against Messrs. Moyer and Haywood, which you believe it is in my power to remedy, I will at once bring such evidence to the attention of the attorney general to have him give it the fullest consideration of the federal authorities to take.

"Sincerely yours,

"THEODORE ROOSEVELT.

"Mr. John S. Henry, 1220 Third avenue, New York."

In the discussion which followed a motion to accept the committee's report, a delegate charged that the president had evaded the issue. This called forth a response from Delegate Coakley, who said that the committee considered the interview satisfactory and that it was not up to the president to prove that there had been a miscarriage of justice, as to those defending Moyer and Haywood. He added: "If we ask a man to give us a square deal, let us give him a square deal, too. This letter is not an evasion. It is right to the point and shows that the president more than twelve months ago intended to see that Moyer and Haywood got a square deal, no matter what he thought about them personally. Some of the delegates to this body thought it was the duty of the committee to attack the president. Consequently they still believe we did not do our full duty. There are men here who are not sincere in their sympathy for Moyer and Haywood. They are simply trying to use this case to advertise their propaganda. It is high time that organized labor began to find out where it belongs. It has been pulled along by the nose by Socialists long enough. The president is entitled to our respect. He has done his full duty. He wants to give us and Moyer and Haywood a square deal, and we ought to at least do as much for him. If proof can be furnished that Moyer and Haywood are victims of a miscarriage of justice then we must insist that the president carry out the promise made in that letter, and I am certain he will."

Only one other delegate attacked the president and he was answered quickly by Samuel Debs of the newspaper deliverers' union; Harry Deveaux of the Actors' Protective association and several delegates who are known as firm opponents of Mr. Roosevelt's political policies.

Rudolph Modest, a delegate from a Socialist union of cigarmakers, declared the president's attitude was so clear that the question whether there had been a miscarriage of justice in the extradition of Moyer and Haywood was no longer one for discussion by the labor bodies. It was for the lawyers of the accused men to prove to the president that there had been an illegal extradition, and, if they could do that, it would then be incumbent upon the president to fulfill his promise to see that they received justice.

It was decided to send a copy of the letter to counsel for the indicted Idaho labor leaders, and let them submit to President Roosevelt any evidence they might have that there had been a miscarriage of justice in the extradition of Moyer and Haywood and Pettibone from Colorado to Idaho.

Boston, May 6.—About 10,000 people participated in the parade and mass meeting held by the labor organizations of this city, yesterday, as a protest against the proceeding against Moyer, Haywood and Pettibone, for alleged conspiracy in the murder of Governor Steunenberg of Idaho. A Scandinavian Social club which brought up the rear displayed three plain, red flags. A thousand or more women were in line. At a mass meeting on the Common, resolutions were adopted protesting against the arrest and trial of the three Western miners.

New York, May 6.—About 20,000 labor union men and Socialists paraded Saturday evening, as a demonstration in behalf of Moyer, Haywood and Pettibone. About 3,000 crowded later into Swand Central palace, where speeches in favor of socialism were made. President Roosevelt's name was hissed bitterly.

Boise, Idaho, May 6.—Practically every available room in Boise has been reserved for lawyers, witnesses or newspaper men in attendance on the court which will try William D. Haywood, Clarence Darrow of Chicago, and E. E. Richardson of Denver, jointly leading counsel for the defense of Haywood, have both stated that they are ready for trial. Counsel for the prosecution, James H. Hawley and Senator W. E. Borah, who have been engaged especially, are of the opinion that there will be no further delay.

POLICE GRAFT INDICTMENTS

Chicago Grand Jury Entraps Four Officers and Two Politicians.

Chicago, May 6.—The grand jury has returned four joint indictments against Former Chief of Police John M. Collins, Former Commissioner of Public Works W. L. O'Connell, who is also chairman of the Democratic city committee, City Purchasing Agent E. H. Roche, Former Police Attorney Frank H. Comerford and Detectives John McGrath and Patrick McNulty. The indictments are the result of the investigation by the civil service commissioners of charges that the police had been forced to give $50,000 toward the campaign of Former Mayor E. F. Dunne.

The grand jury censures the police inspectors, captains and lieutenants for soliciting and accepting contributions from the patrolmen, contrary to the civil service law.

Ex-Chief Collins is indicted for mutilating the police department records; Collins and Comerford for using a police officer for special work for the Democratic party; Roche and O'Connell for conspiracy, and the detectives for collecting bribes for political work.

Collins is liable to from one to five years' imprisonment, and the others to fines of not over $2,000 each and imprisonment.

NO WIDOW FOR JOHN L. SULLIVAN

Former Champion Denies That He Contemplates Matrimony.

New York, May 6.—"No," said John L. Sullivan decidedly, "I'm not sore on marriage. It's a good thing if you take it the right way. But I'm not going to get married again just now. And no widows for mine."

"The champion of champions" paused a moment, furrowed his grizzled brow and then added ambiguously:

"Money ain't everything. It can't buy everything. It can't buy brains, now, can it?"

Thus spoke the former champion in his dressing room at the theater, when asked about the report that he was engaged to marry a widow who had promised to give him her hand if he abstained from drink for two years.

John L. is gray of hair and mustache, and good-looking in a ponderous way. His face shows that his boasted 116 weeks on the water wagon have been worth the trouble, even though he denies that the reward for so much virtue is to be the hand of a wealthy widow, as soon as he has obtained the divorce he is suing for from the wife he married in 1888.

"No," he repeated earnestly, "I haven't anyone in mind just now. When a man hasn't lived with a woman for twenty-three years, he doesn't want to call her his wife. That's all there is to it. I've never said a word against her and never will.

"The trouble with marriage is this: Lots of people get married that ain't mated. Then, of course, it's a scrap for life. London rules, no rounds without a knock-down, and fight to a finish if it takes all your life. Divorce makes it a limited go, with the judge for a referee. I don't know that that's any better.

"I never got a divorce while my parents were alive, because tehy were Catholics and didn't believe in it. I'm a Catholic myself. I don't know whether the churches are right or not. Ministers sometimes pass out a lot of 'bull con,' to use a slang expression.

"A minister is the only man that's got free speech. The man that owns a newspaper isn't in it with him. Now, take what they say on the temperance question. If it wasn't for the drinking man they wouldn't have anything to argue about. I'm on the water wagon myself, and I never expect to take another drink. But I can't say liquor ever did me any harm except maybe this—"

John L. paused and looked regretfully down at his expanse of stomach and patted it pensively with his brawny hand.

"What is your idea of love?" he was asked.

"Love," said John L., solemnly, means sacrifice. That's what it means. If a man loves a woman he's willing to die for her. Lots of people talk about love that don't know what it is."

"And have you ever loved that way?"

"No," disclaimed the big man promptly. "I've never been in love. I've liked several women pretty well, but I've never felt what I call love for anyone but my mother and sister. My time may come yet. Cupid has knocked out better men than I am. And he's only a bantam-weight at that. Age and high livin' don't seem to affect him. He's got a decision on me once when I got married, but I claim it was a foul and I'm willin' to enter the matrimonial ring again with the right woman.

"You see, I've learned a few things that I didn't know when I was a younger man and I might get along better with a woman now. Marriage is like prize fighting in this way: If you lose your temper you're likely to lose your fight. It takes science, too, and a quick getaway from a quarrel. A quarrel with a woman is the only thing John L. believes in running away from."

"Then you think a man makes a better husband at your age than he does at 30?"

"Oh, no," protested John L. "Thirty is too old. If a man's getting $15 to $18 a week and has $1,000 laid by he should marry before he's 25. Marry and have lots of children, though, of course, that's with the Lord. Some women have three, some have none. My sister has eight living," he added proudly.

After this endorsement of Mr. Roosevelt's dictum, John L., took up the subject of woman's suffrage, on which, it appears, he has most decided views.

"This rot about woman's suffrage has ruined lots of marriages," he declared. "It's all bunkum and it's spoiled the happiness of many young girls.

"I'm not opposed to women's clubs" concluded the champion, as though realizing that he had struck the advancement of woman too hard a blow. "But a woman shouldn't neglect her home for her clubs, and I believe in women working for a living if they want to work, even after they are married, provided they want to and have no children.

"Women don't want to see too much of the world, though," he cautioned. "There's too much that's bad going on in it. Look at that Thaw trial. Things like that are going on all the time in a big town. I tell you I feel sorry for that little woman. She didn't get a fair chance"—John L. had grown very solemn again.

"Virtue is everything to a woman," he said. "The moment she loses it it's to the tall timbers for her."

The moralist waved a plump hand in a vague direction and proceeded:

"Did you like that toast to woman I gave just after my monologue?"

"Yes, indeed."

"Well," said John L. "I feel every word of it—"

"Read this in the dregs of your cup woe,
That woman is with you wherever you go."

There were other verses all dealing with women's love for thoughtless man.

REDUCTION OF FIRE LOSSES

Active Campaign Begun by Committee of Fire Underwriters.

New York, May 6.—Losses by fire in the United States and Canada during the month of March reached a total of $24,315,875. In that time there were 3,270 fires, 405 aggregating losses of $19,886,000, spread over 677 cities and towns. There were forty-seven fires each involving a loss over $100,000. South Boston, Va., heads the list with $1,000,000. New York is second with $851,525. Other big losses were Philadelphia $715,000; Pittsburg, $670,000; Cincinnati, $482,000; Boston, $286,000. Since Jan. 1 there have been 10,642 fires with a total loss of $74,670,200—an average daily waste of $830,000.

An active campaign to reduce the enormous fire losses in this country has been begun by the committee on construction of the National Board of Fire Underwriters. A new building code, embodying the ideas of leading experts on fireproof construction is being distributed to the mayors of all cities having a population of 5,000 or over as well as to all chiefs of fire departments, local boards of underwriters, civic bodies, trade organizations, commercial bodies.

Accompanying the report is a joint letter signed by President George W. Burchell and Secretary Charles G. Smith, which says: "Laws governing construction of hotels, theaters, schools, hospitals and other buildings designed for public purposes are manifestly as important in small towns and villages as in cities, and should consequently be as rigidly enforced. In view of its importance we ask you to take official cognizance of this subject and recommend action thereon to proper authorities."

IRISH BILL MAY SPLIT MINISTRY

Two British Statesmen Opposed to Any Home Rule Measure.

London, May 6.—With the negotiations that have been prolonged, extending up to the last moment, and all those participating in them bound to secrecy, little is known as to the provisions of the Irish council bill, the main propositions of which Augustine Birrill, chief secretary for Ireland, has promised to explain in the house of commons tomorrow.

There has been a keen contest in the cabinet between the home rulers, represented by Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman and Mr. Birrell, and the anti-home rulers, led by Herbert H. Asquith, chancellor of the exchequer, and Richard Burdon Haldane, secretary for war, with the home rulers desirous of giving Ireland what John Redmond has described as at least a foundation for self government, and Messrs. Asquith and Haldane demanding that the bill shall not bear any resemblance to home rule. The result may be disruption of the cabinet.

The most sanguine now only hope for a measure giving administrative power through control of expenditure to an Irish council, which will be predominantly elective, all the Irish members of commons being members, thus obviating the necessity for separate elections.

STOP WOMAN AND CONSIDER

First, that almost every operation in our hospitals, performed upon women, becomes necessary because of neglect of such symptoms as Backache, Irregularities, Displacements, Pain in the Side, Dragging Sensations, Dizziness and Sleeplessness.

Second, that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs, has cured more cases of female ills than any other one medicine known. It regulates, strengthens and restores women's health and is invaluable in preparing women for child-birth and during the period of Change of Life.

Third, the great volume of unsolicited and grateful testimonials on file at the Pinkham Laboratory at Lynn, Mass., many of which are from time to time being published by special permission, give absolute evidence of the value of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Mrs. Pinkham's advice.

THE WHEAT IS SOARING

On Predictions of Killing Frost in the Northwest.

Flax is Steady at the Close in Duluth Market.

Duluth Board of Trade, May 6.—Wheat had a good advance in all of the American markets, having a particular big bulge in the Northwestern markets on predictions of a killing frost for Minnesota, the Dakotas and other northern states. Despite rains in the Southwest, there were more damage reports from the winter wheat districts. Minneapolis showed the biggest gain at the close. At the opening the market was easier and the foreign markets had a lower tone at the close. Liverpool closed ¾d lower, Berlin 1½c lower and Budapest ⅞c higher.

The May option closed 1⅞c higher in Duluth, 1⅝c in Chicago, 2⅛c in Minneapolis, 1⅜c in New York, 2c in St. Louis and Winnipeg and 1⅞-2c in Kansas City. The July option closed 1⅝-⅜c higher in Duluth, 1⅝-½c in Chicago, 1¾-⅞c in Minneapolis, 1⅝c in New York, 1¾-⅜c in St. Louis, 1⅜c in Kansas City and 2⅛c in Winnipeg.

May corn closed ¾c lower in Chicago and was ⅛d to ¼d lower in Liverpool. May oats closed ⅛c lower in Chicago.

World's shipments of wheat and corn last week, the week previous and the corresponding week a year ago are shown as follows:

The visible supply of corn decreased 972,000 bus., and is now 3,102,000 bus., against 3,881,000 bus., last year.

Wheat opened weaker in the Duluth market, but began to strengthen immediately on predictions of unfavorable weather for the Northwest. Trading was active in the Duluth market. May wheat opened ⅝c lower at 86¾c, advanced to 89½c, declined to 89¼c and closed at that price, a gain of 1⅞c over Saturday. July wheat opened ⅜-½c lower at 87¾c, advanced to 88¾c by 9:35, went off to 88¼c by 10:15, rallied to 90⅛c by 12:26 and declined by the close to 89⅝c, a gain of 1⅝-¾c over Saturday. September wheat opened ½c lower at 87⅝c, advanced to 88½c, went off to 88c, rallied to 90⅛c, declined to 89⅞c and closed at 90c, a gain of 1c over Saturday.

Durum wheat was unchanged and cash spring wheat was selling on a basis of ½c over May for No. 1 northern.

Flax trading was rather quiet and prices were about unchanged. May flax opened unchanged at $1.22, went up to $1.22¼, declined to $1.21½, rallied to $1.22¾, declined to $1.21¾ and rallied by the close to $1.22, unchanged from Saturday. July flax opened ½c higher at $1.24½, declined to $1.23½, rallied to $1.24¼ and closed at $1.24, unchanged from Saturday. October flax opened ½c lower at $1.24½, went off to $1.23⅝ and rallied by the close to $1.24⅜, a loss of ¼c from Saturday.

Rye was marked up 1c and the other coarse grains were unchanged.

Following were the closing prices:

THE CHICAGO MARKET.

Wheat Opens Weak on General Selling Based on Western Rains.

Chicago, May 6.—The wheat market today opened weak on general selling which was based upon the rains which fell Sunday throughout Kansas and Nebraska. Liverpool cables were reported of ½d. The market steadied somewhat at the end of the first half hour on buying by shorts and commission houses. July wheat opened ⅝@¾c to ⅝@¾c lower at 83¼c to 83½c and sold at 83⅝@83⅞c. Minneapolis, Duluth and Chicago reported receipts of 620 cars against 679 cars last week and 244 cars a year ago.

The market became very strong about the end of the first hour on numerous reports of damage. It was claimed from various parts of the Southwest that the rain of yesterday and last night had come too late to aid a portion of the crop. The green bug was also reported as active. Some of the advance was lost on realizing sales, but the close was strong, with July 1⅝@1¾c higher at 85¾c.

The corn market opened easier in sympathy with wheat. Trading was fairly active. July corn opened ¼c to ⅜@⅝c lower at 49¼@⅝c to 49⅝@½c and sold at 49½c. Local receipts were 242 cars with 41 of contract grade.

Prices rallied along with the wheat market, July advancing to 50¼c. The close was firm with July ¼c higher at 49⅝c.

The oats market opened weak because of the wet weather, but later became firm on covering by shorts. Trading was in small volume. July oats opened ⅜c to ½c lower at 42¾c to 42⅝c and sold at 42½@42⅝c. Local receipts were 230 cars.

Provisions opened easier in sympathy with grain, and because of a weak market for live hogs. Prices later became steady on a fair amount of buying. July pork opened 5c lower at $15.90 and sold at $16.00. Lard was 2½@5c lower at $8.82½ to $8.85 and sold at $8.80. Ribs were a shade lower at $8.75.

Broomhall, Liverpool, says: Wheat was quiet at the start, with values showing a decline of ½d, followed later by a further decline of ¼d to ¾d. Offerings were large, prompted by the reports of warmer weather in America and the continued fine weather in Germany. Selling was further prompted by the fact that shipments from both Russia and the Danube were heavy, and these influenced free liquidation. The undertone was easy at midday.

Corn was quiet, with values showing a decline of ⅛d. There was no special feature, the market being neglected. There was a small demand for spot, being the factor more than anything else, and also free offerings.

Logan & Bryan, Chicago.—Wheat: Certainly those who have followed the suggestions in the grain list given out by us for two or three days past have no chance to complain, instead they have good profits to their credit. At the close Saturday it was suggested that milder weather would create bears' sentiment. This is just what happened. On such a break we urged buying quickly and those who did so certainly had the best of the situation today. The Northwest crop news and the Southwest reports and advices from Europe are as bullish as they have been at any time since May 1st.

The best people say the Manitoba acreage will be seriously reduced. In the Southwest reports of extensive spread of bugs is revived. Naturally the early seller had to turn in and cover as soon as he could to avoid punishment. Brokers say the volume of outside business is greatly increased. It looks like a big, broad market, which will recover very quickly from any setback due to profit-taking. The situation the world over is forcing higher prices.

Corn—There was about as much corn pressing for sale from some of the bull leaders as the market would take. It remains to be seen how long this kind of selling will hold the market in check. Think the market is due to stick close to the 50c market until the selling pressure lets up when the prices will go higher.

Oats—A couple of experienced gentlemen from this trade made a visit to Kansas over Sunday. They report the oats crop looking very bad. In view of this crop looking very bad and the strength in other bullish news and the net advance for the day was a little disappointing.

REMARKS.

Rain or snow has fallen during the past twenty-four hours in the Northwest, Ohio valley and Southwest. Freezing temperatures prevailed throughout the Northwest last night.

H. W. RICHARDSON,
Local Forecaster.

T indicates inappreciable rainfall. * For yesterday.  For twenty-four ending at 8 a. m., 75th meridian time.

NOTE—The average maximum and minimum temperatures and the average rainfall are made up at each center from the actual number of reports received. The state of weather is that prevailing at time of observation.

KANSAS WHEAT ALL RIGHT.

Kansas City Elevator Man Contradicts Reports of Damage to Crop.

Kansas City, Mo., May 6.—G. V. Flack, of the Midland Elevator company, who returned today from a trip through the Kansas fields, says: "I do not believe there has been any great damage to the wheat crop in Kansas. Reports from our agents in Northern Kansas show that, while wheat has not made progress in the past week, it has not depreciated any, and I think that, with a few days of warm weather now, the crop will show great improvement. We have received no reports of damage by bugs in the northern half of the state. In Southern Kansas rains in the last week have very materially improved the condition of the crop and the prediction is general that Kansas will produce as large a crop as last year. Only one report, that in the northern part of the state, indicates any damage by frosts."

St. Paul Live Stock.

St. Paul, May 6.—Cattle, receipts, 650; steady with last week's quotations. Hogs—Receipts, 200; 5c lower; range, $6.15@6.27½; bulk, $6.22½. Sheep—Receipts, 250; dull; no change in quotations.

Treasury Balances.

Washington, May 6.—Today's statement of the treasury balances in the general fund exclusive of the $150,000,000 gold reserve in the division of redemption shows: Available cash balance, $225,288,079; gold coin and bullion, $99,555,988; gold certificates, $43,325,900.

WEAKNESS IN STOCKS

Close Was Heavy and Very Dull Near Lowest Figures.

Liquidation Became General on the Crop Damage Reports.

New York, May 6.—Prices of stocks started the week generally higher except in the Harriman group, where there were small fractional declines. Operations were on a very small scale. Northern Pacific, Canadian Pacific and Atlantic Coast Line rose a point each and Atchison ¾.

A moderate rise occurred after the opening, in which Reading was prominent. Prices then made another turn downwards, but later rose again to the best of the hour. Union Pacific was bought more freely on the later rise. Reading gained 1⅜, American Smelting 1½ and Federal Sugar 3½.

The bulk of the small trading was in the transcontinental railroad stocks and Reading, in which the advances reached from 1¼ to 2. Federal Sugar sold at an advance of 6. Interborough-Metropolitan preferred declined 1¼ and Locomotive preferred 1. Prices fell back before noon. Bonds were steady.

Trading was light during the noon hour, with the trend downward. Union Pacific and Reading also lost their rise, and the same was true of most of the other stocks in which there had been any improvement.

The market weakened decidedly after 1 o'clock. The metal specialities which had been neglected in the rise earlier were sold liberally and there was considerable pressure against the Western stocks and Reading. Delaware & Hudson made a rapid drop of 6¼ points. In other leaders the decline was from 1 to 3 points.

The market closed heavy and very dull and near the lowest. In the final hour it steadied somewhat, but made no important recovery. The decline in Delaware & Hudson ran to seven points.

Stock Gossip.

Logan & Bryan, New York, to Paine, Webber & Co.: There was an excellent demand for high-class stocks early but when the crop damage reports commenced to flow in liquidation became general. The closing is a weak one and sentiment is bearish. We do not look for any improvement in stocks in the face of all the damage reports. We look for nothing better than a traders' market for the present and are inclined to believe the list will be governer by damage reports to a very great extent.

The Cotton Market.

New York, May 6.—The cotton market opened firm at an advance of 10 to 17 points in response to firmer cables, bullish developments expected as a result of the Brenner fire, and the reassuring effect of the withdrawal of the injunction proceedings against the exchange on condition that the matter at issue be promptly tried before a referee, which seemed to be followed by greater harmony in bull circles. Heavy rains were reported in the central belt and the new crop months made a new high record for the movement. Trading was active all the first hour and prices during the middle of the morning were within a point or two of the best at a net advance of 16 to 18 points.

Futures closed very steady. Closing bids: May 10.46; June, 10.46; July, 10.49; August, 10.38; September, 10.37; October, 10.56; November, 10.59; December, 10.63; January, 10.78; February, 10.79; March, 10.88. Spot closed steady; middling uplands, 11.70; middling gulf, 11.95. Sales, 3,613 bales.

Chicago Live Stock.

Chicago, May 6.—Cattle: Receipts, about 23,000; market strong to a shade higher; beeves, $4.30@6.40; cows, $1.80@4.85; heifers, $2.50@5.30; calves, $4.00@5.30; stockers and feeders, $2.80@5.10. Hogs: Receipts, about 42,000; market steady to a shade lower; light, $6.25@6.52½; mixed, $6.25@6.50; heavy, $6.10@6.47½; rough, $6.10@6.25; pigs, $5.70@6.40; good to choice heavy, $6.40@6.52½; bulk of sales, $6.40@6.50. Sheep: Receipts, about 20,000; market steady; native, $4.40@6.80; Western, $4.40@6.80; yearlings, $6.75@7.65; lambs, $6.50@8.00; Western, $6.50@8.70.

New York Money.

New York, May 6.—Money on call steady, 2½@3 per cent; ruling rate, 2¾c; closing bid, 2½; offered at 3. Time loans easy; sixty days, 3¼ per cent; 90 days, 3¼ per cent; 6 months 4½ per cent. Prime mercantile paper, 5½@6 per cent. Sterling exchange firm with actual business in bankers' bills at $4.86.50@4.86.55 for demand and at $4.83.60@4.83.65 for 60 day bills; posted rates, $4.84 and $4.87; commercial bills, $4.83¼@4.83¾. Bar silver 65½. Mexican dollars 50¼c. Government bonds easy; railroad bonds, irregular.

Copper Gossip.

Boston to Gay & Sturgis: The New York market was adversely affected by crop news from the West and some substantial recessions were scored. The Boston market, although moving in sympathy with New York, held fairly well. There was a strong upward movement started in Copper Range, which was checked by the decline in the rest of the market.

* * *

Boston to Paine, Webber & Co.: Coppers looked well this morning and North Butte, Copper Range and Quincy had good advances. Toward noon reports of crop damage caused a sharp break in New York and the traders sold stocks down here. No real stock is coming out and with present easy money any good news from the crop belt result in higher prices.

* * *

Boston to Gay & Sturgis: Old Dominion started the month of May well with several furnaces running on ore, 90 per cent of which was from the company's own mines. The plant is in good condition and a large tonnage coming from the fourteenth level and the Kirky sulphide veins. Carbonate and oxide ores are also being mined from the west ore body, ninth level.

A station has been cut and gallows frame erected at the fourteenth level and sinking to the sixteenth level will begin this week.

Good progress is being made in development and construction work, and the coke supply is increasing.

Sale of School and Other State Lands

STATE OF MINNESOTA State Auditor's Office.
St. Paul, April 6, 1907.

Notice is hereby given that on the days and dates and at the times and places herein stated below in this notice, in the offices of the county auditors of the respective counties named in the state of Minnesota, I will offer for sale the following described unsold state lands, and the following described state lands, which have reverted to the state by reason of the non-payment of interest, will also be then and there offered for resale. Fifteen per cent of the purchase price and interest on the unpaid balance from the date of sale to June 1st, 1908, must be paid at the time of the sale. The balance of the purchase money can be paid at any time, in whole or in part, within forty years of the time of the sale; the rate of interest on the unpaid balance of the purchase money will be five per cent per annum, payable in advance on June 1st of each year, provided the principal remains unpaid for ten years; but if the principal is paid before the expiration of ten years from the date of the sale, the rate of interest on the unpaid balance of the purchase money will be five per cent per annum; interest is payable in advance on June 1st of each year.

Holders of certificates on which the interest payments are in default can have their certificates reinstated on payment before the sale of the interest in full to date and the penalties thereon, when the lands covered thereby will be withdrawn from sale. All mineral rights are reserved by the state. All sales made will be subject to the provisions of Chapter No. 289 of the General Laws of 1906.

SAMUEL G. IVERSON,
State Auditor.

JEROME PLANS TO PUSH CASES

Insurance Investigations Will be Pressed Before Grand Jury.

New York, May 6.—The May grand jury, which began its sittings today, will hear the evidence that District Attorney Jerome has secured in his investigation of the affairs of the Metropolitan Life Insurance company. Subpoenas have been issued calling on a number of the officers of the company to appear before the grand jury. It is said to be Mr. Jerome's intention to clear up as speedily as possible all cases growing out of the legislative insurance investigation and the election of trustees of the big insurance companies.

CALL TO MINNEAPOLIS STUDIED BY DR. DEWEY.

New York, May 6.—It was expected that Rev. Dr. Henry P. Dewey, pastor of the Church of the Pilgrims, Brooklyn, would have announced yesterday either of his acceptance or declination of the call he received Friday to the pastorate of the Plymouth Congregational church in Minneapolis, Minn. He, however, simply informed the congregation that he had received the call and still had it under consideration.

WHITE SOX ARE HOME

"Smiley" Smith and His Squad Arrive in Duluth.

Hard Luck Pursued Team on the Training Trip.

Frank H. "Smiley" Smith and the bunch of ball players who expect to represent Duluth in the "Grasshopper" league during the coming season, arrived in Duluth this morning over the Omaha road. They were accompanied by A. W. Kuehnow, who went to Eau Claire to see the two final games of the series there. Various considerations prompted Mr. Kuehnow and Manager Smith to call off the two games at La Crosse and come direct to Duluth, where they will begin to work out on thier own little lot in the West end, tomorrow morning.

The men who arrived are in fairly good shape, and Smith says he expects to have them in fine condition by the time the season opens. Cold weather encountered on the trip delayed the conditioning of the men, but with a week of good weather here, they expect to go into the opening game in shape as a completed team.

"We certainly had poor luck on the trip, as far as conditions for training were concerned," said "Smiley," this morning. "Snow, rain and cold weather ruled in almost every town we were in, and under such conditions the conditioning of the men was difficult. We expect, now that we are at home, to get in some good work, beginning tomorrow morning, and we will have our complete team in the field in good condition when we play Houghton the first game.

"As far as our record on the training trip is concerned, we don't pay much attention to that. We weren't out to win games wholly, but to get in shape, and I was busy weeding out the squad. I didn't have as strong a team in the field at times as I might have had, but I wanted to give all the men a trial and keep only those I thought worthy of being brought to Duluth. I might even have strengthened the team by playing my pitchers in the field, but what's the use of allowing a pitcher to stiffen his arm playing in the field, for the sake of winning a practice game.

"That game yesterday, now was pretty bad. But I didn't know what this Backus could do and I wanted to find out. They began dumping them at him and he couldn't handle the little ones at all. I let him go last night, together with Odwell. Pindar took my eye at first. He was lightning fast and showed fine form in the field, in every department. But in all the games we played, he didn't get a hit, and we don't want a man like that on the team.

"No, you can't tell by the games on the training trip what a team can do, and we expect to prove the fact."

The men who arrived this morning are George W. Krick, James Haney, Alvin Cummings, pitchers; Harry Tracey, first base; ames Leighty, second base; Frank Summers, shortstop; William McCormick and William Olson, outfielders; "Smiley" Smith and Louey Roy, catchers. They were joined here by W. S. Treadway, pitcher, and James Fagin, third base.

This afternoon, Fred Goldsmoth, the new outfielder signed by Smith last night, is expected to arrive. Eau Claire bucked some on making the deal, by which Goldsmith became a member of the White Sox, but the management of the Wisconsin league team finally relented and let him go. Smith describes Goldsmith as a steady fielder and a slugger, who promises to make a good running mate for McCormick.

It is expected that the team, as it is composed at present, will stand for the opening games, although two or three more men will be along for a tryout. Tracey has been playing whirlwind ball on the trip and hitting the spheroid regularly. Leighty has also been showing improved form over that he exhibited last year. The team will play its first exhibition game here Friday afternoon, when the Kelley Hardware team will be met at Athletic park.

THOUSANDS OF ALIENS ADDED TO NEW YORK LIST.

New York, May 6.—Three trans-Atlantic liners, which have docked within the last twenty-four hours, added 3,100 immigrants to the great influx of aliens who have arrived here during the last few days. Ellis Island, the clearing house for immigrants, is still thronged with immigrants, despite the efforts of the authorities to relieve the congestion.

HIGH OFFICIALS TRY TO BRING STRIKE PEACE.

Denver, May 6.—Martin A. Knapp, chairman of the interstate commerce commission, and Charles P. Neil, United States labor commissioner, held conferences today with representatives of the Denver & Rio Grande railroad and of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen and the order of Railroad Conductors with a view to adjusting the differences between the company and the two organizations of employes on the question of wages.

Certificate of Incorporation —OF THE— CITY REALTY COMPANY.

We, the undersigned, do hereby associate ourselves together, for the purpose of forming a corporation, under and by virtue of the provisions of chapter fifty-eight (58), of the Revised Laws of Minnesota, for the year 1905, and the acts amendatory thereof, and to that end, have adopted, signed, sealed and acknowledged, the following articles of incorporation.

Article 1.

The name of this corporation shall be "City Realty Company," and the principal place of its business shall be Duluth, Minnesota.

Article 2.

The general nature of its business shall be, the buying, selling and dealing in Real Estate; constructing buildings; improving lands, tenements, and hereditaments; leasing or letting of buildings, structures, docks, warehouses and elevators; borrowing or loaning money, on security or otherwise; buying, selling, exchanging and dealing in Real and Personal property, and engaging in such other lawful enterprises, as are incidental to the above specified purposes of this corporation.

Article 3.

The time of commencement of this corporation, shall be the fifteenth (15) day of May, 1907, and the period of its duration shall be thirty (30) years.

Article 4.

The names and places of residence of the incorporators, are as follows: George W. Buck, Frank B. Mitchell, Henry Maximer, Arthur H. Brown, and Marion Douglas, all residing at Duluth, Minnesota.

Article 5.

The government of this corporation, and management of its affairs, shall be vested in a board of five directors, each of whom shall be stockholders. The names and addresses of those composing the first board of directors, are as follows: George W. Buck, Duluth, Minnesota; Frank B. Mitchell, Duluth, Minnesota; Henry Maximer, Duluth, Minnesota; Arthur H. Brown, Duluth, Minnesota; and Marion Douglas, Duluth, Minnesota.

The officers of this corporation, shall be, a President, Vice President, Secretary and Treasurer, any two of said offices, may be held by one and the same person, and said officers, shall be elected by the board of directors from their number, at the first meeting of said board of directors after the annual meeting of the stockholders of said corporation, and until such annual meeting, and such election, George W. Buck, shall act as President, Henry Maximer as Vice President and Frank B Mitchell as Secretary and Treasurer of said corporation.

The directors shall be elected by and from the stockholders by ballot at the annual meeting of the stockholders, or at any special meeting held for that purpose, when no annual meeting has been held, the notice for such special meeting stating the object thereof. Each stockholder shall be entitled to cast as many votes as he has shares of stock. The officers and directors shall each hold their office for one year after election, or until their successors are elected and qualified.

In case of vacancy in the board of directors, or any of the offices of said corporation, on account of death, resignation, or removal of same, the remaining directors will appoint a person to fill such vacancy until the next annual stockholders' meeting.

The annual meeting of both stockholders and directors shall be held on the third (3) Saturday in May, of each year, for the election of directors, and the transacting of other business, and besides such annual meeting, any other special meetings may be held, at such time and place as may be prescribed by the by-laws, or resolution of the board of directors.

The first annual meeting of the stockholders shall be held on the third (3) Saturday in May, 1907, at 10 o'clock a. m., in room 312 Exchange Bank Building, Duluth, Minnesota, without notice.

Article 6.

The amount of capital stock of this corporation shall be three hundred thousand dollars ($300,000.00), divided into three thousand (3,000) shares, of the par value of one hundred dollars ($100.00) each, and may be paid for, in either property, money, or services, as the board of directors shall elect, and the value placed upon such property or services, by said board of directors shall be deemed final and binding upon all parties in interest, and said stock shall be subscribed for, at such time, and in such amounts, as may be prescribed by the board of directors.

This corporation may commence business when twenty-five per cent (25 per cent) of its stock shall be subscribed for.

Article 7.

The highest amount of indebtedness or liability, to which this corporation shall at any time be subject, is one hundred thousand dollars ($100,000.00).

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, We have hereunto set our hands and seals, this 1st day of May, A. D. 1907.

TWENTY-FOUR years ago. How time flies. In May, 1883, we made our first bow and bid to the people of Duluth for their favor and patronage in what we thought then a "bang-up" store. (One floor 50x90 feet, five departments and four clerks.) Then, only a small concern striving hard for a foothold, but possessed of principles of which any American institution might feel proud; now, enjoying the fruits of a long and honorable career, Freimuth's has earned the proud distinction among all the people of being Duluth's Grand Old Store—where style, quality and value harmonize, and progressive merchandising predominates. Seven years ago we moved into our present quarters. These quarters have also been outgrown. A new lease has been made running for a term of years. This calls for an addition of three floors to our present store. Plans are being prepared and the work will be started without delay. HERE AGAIN WE'LL FLY OUR FLAG TO GREATER DULUTH FROM A GREATER FREIMUTH STORE.

THE STOCKS ARE WEAKER

Both Listed and Unlisted Shares Go Off During Day.

Greene-Cananea Freely Traded in at Sixteen Dollars.

Copper stocks opened about unchanged today, but went off about the middle of the session, closing slightly weaker.

North Butte opened at $93, went as high as $93.75, went off to $92.50 and closed at $92 bid and $92.50 asked. Amalgamated opened at $96.25, went up to $96.75, declined to $95 and closed at $95 bid.

Anaconda opened at $63.75, advanced to $64.25, declined to $63.12½ and closed at $63.12½ bid. Butte Coalition opened at $28, went off to $27 and closed at $27.37½ bid and $27.75 asked. Calumet & Arizona opened at $179, declined to $178 and closed at $178 bid and $179 asked.

During the early part of the day Greene-Cananea was traded in at $16.50, but it went off to $16 and sold freely at that price. The close was about $15.87½ bid and $16.12½ asked.

Superior & Pittsburg was rather quiet, selling at $19.50 and $19.25 and closing at $19 bid and $19.25 asked. Globe Consolidated sold at $13, went off to $12 and closed at $11.75 bid and $12.25 asked.

There was quite a litte trading in Carman today at $3.12½, $2.50 and $3. The closing price was $3 bid and $3.50 asked. Denn-Arizona sold at $10.50 and closed at $10.50 bid and $10.75 asked. Butte & Superior sold at $3 and closed $3.25 asked.

Keweenaw was inactive and closed at $10 bid and $10.12½ asked. Hancock at $9 bid and $9.25 asked. Calumet & Sonora at $20 asked. Copper Queen of Idaho at $1.37½ bid and $1.50 asked, after selling at $1.37½. Calumet & Montana at 90 cents bid and $1 asked and Cliff at $3.87½ bid and $4.12½ asked. Black Mountain sold at $6 and closed at $5.75 bid and $6 asked.

* * *

GREENE-CANANEA.

"Commencing July 1 the Greene-Cananea is expected to enter upon a rate of production equal to 65,000,000 pounds of copper per annum. The bettered results will be brought about by the intermingling of an increased ore tonnage from the Cananea Central workings, the concentrates from which average about 30 per cent copper, which compares with that of the older workings of about 9 per cent. A gentleman high in the councils of this company gives it as his opinion that a rate of production equal to 100,000,000 pounds per annum will be entered upon a year hence. He further states that 50 per cent of the shares of the Greene Consolidated and Cananea Central have been exchanged for shares of the new company. It is not believed that anything is to be gained by retaining the old stock. Loyalty to their following is a strong trait of Messrs. Cole and Ryan, and we violate no confidence in stating that they intend protecting to the fullest the interests of those who have exchanged this stock for shares in the new company.

People who are interested in both properties make an interesting comparison between the valuation of the Anaconda and Greene-Cananea properties. The Anaconda has produced for the past year a trifle less than 100,000,000 pounds, and the property is today selling at a total valuation of about $75,000,000. The Greene-Cananea property, at $16 per share, is selling for $40,000,000. In view of the probability of a large increase in output at the latter property, the discrepancy in prices of these two properties is rather marked. There has, of course, been hitherto a very marked discrepancy in the cost per pound of producing copper at the two properties, and the difference in this respect has been entirely in favor of the Anaconda. With the larger use of the richer ores in the Cananea-Central, a lower cost of production should be effected at the Greene properties.

BUTTE COALITION.

"We understand that the net earnings for March of the Butte Coalition company were fully twice those for any like period since the company began production, and that even this record is likely to be exceeded as a result of the operations for the month of April. The suspension of development work is possibly a part cause of the large net earnings. It is estimated that the company will have a cash surplus, after paying the next dividend, of about $6,000,000. The "Rarus" and "Minnie Healy" are now supplying daily some 1,500 tons of ore, while the present total tonnage is about 1,650 tons. This company is now producing at a rate somewhat in excess of 50,000,000 pounds per annum. The interesting statement is made that if copper remains at 20 cents per pound for three years, beginning Jan. 1 of the current year, this company will show aggregate net earnings in that period equal to the total capital investment.

NORTH BUTTE.

A leading official of the North Butte is authority for the statement that a further increase in this company's dividend is not unlikely during the current fiscal year. This gentleman calls attention to the fact that its surplus has reached sufficient proportions for the advantageous conduct of its affairs, and the further fact that production and earnings will henceforth show a constant increase. He also confirms the report of the favorable developments at the 1,800-foot level of the Edith May workings.

FAMILY TROUBLES AIRED IN COURT

Frank LaFortune, a stage hand at the Metropolitan theater, was arrested by Court Officer Jensen shortly before noon today on a warrant sworn out by his wife, Mrs. Gertie LaFortune, charging him with beating and abusing her.

He was arraigned before Judge Windom and pleaded not guilty, his trial being set for this afternoon.

LaFortune says the trouble arose over a protest which he made to the way in which his wife was caring for their boy who is threatened with diphtheria. He says she took a knife and cut him and then he slapped her face. He asserted that he would do it again if she called him a "dirty dog" as he said she did this morning.

County Board Meeting Tuesday.

The county board will hold its monthly meeting at the courthouse tomorrow. It is expected that the county commissioners will discuss the condition of the Miller road and decide where the $5,000 appropriated from the road funds this year will be spent. It is also expected that some bids will be submitted for the repair of the bridge over Nelson's creek, the filling in of a large section of the old bridge and for the cutting of a channel that will shorten the course of the stream and obviate the necessity of bridging the creek three times in the same locality.

New Room Nearly Finished.

The construction work on the additional office room for the probate court has been going on at a good rate since the last meeting of the county board and the room will, it is believed, be ready for occupancy before many days. While the room is not a large one it will in some measure relieve the situation in the probate court by providing a private office where business of the court can be transacted while hearings or examinations are going on. The business of the court has far outgrown the old quarters in the courthouse.

Realty Company Incorporates.

Articles of incorporation of the City Reality company have been filed with the register of deeds by George W. Buck, F. B. Mitchel, Henry Maximer, A. H. Brown and Marion Douglas. The company is capitalized at $300,000.

Band to Give Dance.

The Third Regiment band will give a dance at the Armory Thursday evening and it is expected that it will be one of the most largely attended functions of the year. The full strength of the band, fifty pieces, will be heard and will furnish the music for the long program of dances. Some splendid pieces will be played and many persons who do not dance will probably attend, to gaze at the festive scene and listen to the music.

Summary Judgment Entered.

A summary judgment was entered in the United States circuit court Saturday in the case of Anton Lion vs. Str. V. W. Watson, Gilchrist Transportation company. The judgment was entered against the Bankers Surety company of Cleveland, the stipulators for the Gilchrist company. The final decree in the case was entered March 6, but has never been satisfied.

Must Pay Salvage.

Judge Page Morris in the United States circuit court Saturday filed a decree in the case of A. Booth & Co., vs. Schooner Barge Constitution, ordering that $600 be paid to the twelve members of the crew, apportioned according to the amount of pay each member was receiving Nov. 30, 1906. The whole amount of the salvage money was $3,200.

Boys Are Champions.

Thus far this season James and Eurll Wharton, the sons of James A. Wharton of Lester Park, have held the championship belt for trout-fishing. The first day the fishing season opened they made the largest and the only catch of trout out of Lester River. Saturday the boys made a trip up the river and returned at night with fifty-three speckled trout. Of these, eighteen were over nine inches in length and weighed seven and one-half pounds. The remaining forty-one fish were over seven inches long.

D. M. White in New Firm.

D. M. White, who for the past fourteen years has been connected with the Duluth Employment company, is now a partner with James Foley in the Duluth Labor exchange, located at 413 West Michigan street.

Gopher Takes Trip.

The training ship Gopher of the Duluth naval reserve took a trip out into the lake this afternoon to take on a supply of water and get washed off. This is the first trip which the vessel has had outside the harbor this year.

EXAGGERATED.

Boys Say Solon Springs Constable Was Over Zealous.

According to the friends of the boys here who have been to Solon Springs to investigate the matter, the statement which Constable David Leroy telephoned to the Duluth police yesterday relative to four West end boys who had been arrested for "burglarizing" the station there, was a little overdrawn.

The father of one of the boys says that the four lads were simply engaged in "rushing the growler" with the station agent and that in the midst of the carousal the agent noticed the boys with crumpled tickets from Solon Springs in their hands. He at once caused their arrest on a larceny charge and the affair is much less serious than the constable made it out.

The friends of the boys also assert that none of them have been convicted before, though Sullivan was arrested once for disorderly conduct. It was another McAminden who was fined for disorderly conduct last spring.

SPOONER KEEPS AWAY SO AS TO PREVENT TALK.

Chicago, May 6.—United States Senator John C. Spooner arrived in Chicago today coming from French Lick Springs. He said he would start later in the day for New York.

"I will not go to Milwaukee," he said, "nor to any other part of Wisconsin, for fear of my doing so may be construed that I am trying to influence the election of my successor in the senate."

San Francisco, May 6.—Theodore V. Halsey, former business agent of the Pacific States Telephone & Telegraph company, who is under indictment on charges of having bribed members of the board of supervisors in order to secure a franchise for that corporation, arrived here today from Manilla on the steamer China in the custody of Capt. Trowbridge of the Philippine secret service.

Articles of Incorporation ---OF--- THE EVENER MANUFACTURING COMPANY.

KNOW ALL MEN BY THESE PRESENTS, That we, the undersigned, do hereby associate ourselves together and agree upon the following Articles of Incorporation, under the provisions of Chapter 68, "Revised laws of 1905" of the State of Minnesota, and Acts amendatory thereof and supplementary thereto, and do hereby adopt the following Articles:

ARTICLE I.

The name of this Corporation shall be "THE EVENER MANUFACTURING COMPANY."

ARTICLE II.

The general nature of the business of this corporation shall be the manufacturing of articles and implements composed principally of steel, iron, brass or other metals and wood, and the purchase of materials therefor, and of patents covering such articles or implements, and the sale of the same, and all business necessarily or properly incident to the conduct of a manufacturing corporation.

ARTICLE III.

The principal place of business and the main office of this corporation shall be Duluth, Minnesota.

ARTICLE IV.

The time of the commencement of this corporation shall be the 15th day of May, A. D. 1907, and the period of its continuance shall be thirty (30) years.

ARTICLE V.

The amount of the capital stock of this corporation shall be Twenty-five Thousand ($25,000.00) dollars, divided into two thousand five hundred (2,500) shares of the par value of ten dollars ($10.00) each, and shall be paid in in cash or other property, as determined and called for by the Board of Directors.

ARTICLE VI.

The highest amount of indebtedness or liability to which this corporation shall at any time be subject is Ten Thousand ($10,000.00) Dollars.

ARTICLE VII.

The names and places of residence of the incorporators of this corporation are as follows:

Allan L. McGregor, Duluth, Minnesota.
Duncan McGregor, Duluth, Minnesota.
J. H. Whitely, Duluth, Minnesota.

ARTICLE VIII.

The government and the management of this corporation shall be vested in a Board of three Directors, who shall all be stockholders of said corporation and shall be elected at their annual meeting. Within ten days after their election said Board of Directors shall elect from their own number the following officers: President, Vice President, Secretary and Treasurer, who shall hold their respective offices for the period of one year, or until their successors have been duly elected and qualified, and any two of said offices, except President and Vice President, may be held by the same person.

The Board of Directors shall adopt such By-laws for the government and management of the corporation, not inconsistent with these articles, as they may deem necessary or proper. The above named incorporators shall constitute the first Board of Directors, and until their successors shall be duly elected and qualified the following shall be the officers of this corporation:

President, Allan L. McGregor.
Vice President, Duncan McGregor.
Secretary and Treasurer, J. H. Whitely.

The annual meeting of the stockholders shall be held at the office of the corporation at Duluth, Minnesota, on the first Monday in May of each year at two o'clock P. M.

In witness whereof we, the above named incorporators, have hereunto set our hands and seals this 24th day of April, A. D. 1907.

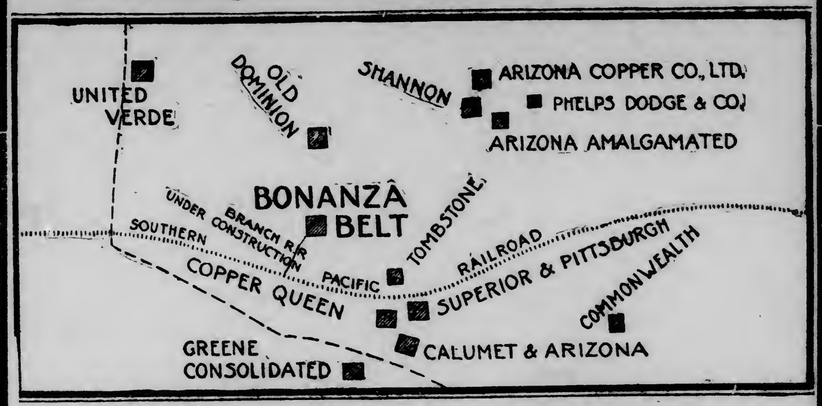
THE GREAT SOUTHWESTERN COPPER DISTRICT

Is Producing 33% of the Copper of North America



(Not Drawn to Scale.)

MILLIONS IN DIVIDENDS HAVE BEEN PAID BY THESE MINES

Among those who made this Copper District famous are: Ex-Senator W. A. Clark, Col. William C. Greene, Charles M. Shannon, Phelps, Dodge & Co., and The Arizona Copper Co.

MR. SHANNON is a Director of PHELPS, DODGE & CO. Smelt the Ores of Bonanza Belt Copper Company

BONANZA BELT COPPER COMPANY OWNS ABOUT 235 ACRES, LOCATED IN THE CENTRE OF THIS DISTRICT, Producing and Shipping Sulphide Ore.

Its three miles of underground workings, shafts, tunnels, cross cuts, have produced over $1,000,000 in carbonate ore. It has recently struck the sulphides in a Vein 6 to 12 feet wide, 9% Copper.

ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND SHARES of the stock of this company are offered at $5 per share, half of par, to obtain funds to aid in development of its mines to a production of TWO HUNDRED TONS per day, which, at the present price of copper, Assures Net Earnings of $1,200,000 per year.

The mines in this district, shown on the map,—"Copper Queen," Phelps, Dodge & Co.'s Mine, capital $2,000,000, reported net earnings for last year of $8,000,000; "Calumet & Arizona," capital $2,500,000, earned net last year $4,827,972; "Superior and Pittsburg," capitalized at $20,000,000, is selling to-day at 200% of par. Not one of these mines, with the same amount of development work, made the same showing as Bonanza Belt makes to-day.

Copper Stock Investments have made and are making American Millionaires. Their opportunity is yours.

Dividends are being paid by the famous mines of the country from Ore averaging from 2% to 6% Copper; Bonanza Belt Sulphides are running 9% Copper. The American Smelting & Refining Co. and Phelps, Dodge & Co. competed with each other for the smelting of Bonanza Belt ores. Their checks regularly remitted tell the story. Copies of Smelter Returns, Prospectus, Engineer's Report and further detailed information furnished on request.

HER OWN CHILD IN A PACKAGE

St. Paul, May 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mrs. Minnie Galles is under arrest in the county jail, charged with having killed her baby, and is said to have confessed. About two weeks ago, on going to the home of her dressmaker, Mrs. Hokenson, she picked up a bundle wrapped in a newspaper on the front porch, so she said, and handed it to Mrs. Hokenson, saying she supposed it was groceries or other provisions. When the bundle was opened and the body of a baby was found the women were overcome.

Suspicion first pointed to Mrs. Galles, when it was learned that she had been seen going toward Mrs. Hokenson's house with a net handbag containing a good-sized package—one about the size of the one in which the baby was found. When she came inside the house the bag contained only a few small articles. Following up the clue pointing to Mrs. Galles, it was found that some time before the finding of the body she had been approaching motherhood, but no one seemed to know of a child.

BIDS OPENED.

Government Engineer Considers Dredging Contracts on Lakes.

Bids were opened at noon today by Maj. Fitch of the United States government engineers' office, for dredging work at Ontonagon, Ashland and Port Wing.

There were two bidders for the work, the Northern Dredge company and the Zenith Dredge company of Duluth. The bid of the former totaled $20,230 and that of the latter, $19,250. The engineer will recommend to Washington that the latter bid be accepted.

STRIKERS DISCHARGED AND FRISCO STREET CAR CONFLICT REACHES CRISIS

Company Makes Ready to Run Lines With Non-Union Men.

Authorities Prepared to Cope With Any Probable Troubles.

Thousands Affected by Other Tie-Ups in Pacific City.

San Francisco, May 7.—This morning at 8 o'clock all of the employes of the United railroads of this city who failed to report at the car barns of the company for duty, according to instructions, were declared formally discharged. The next move will be to start the cars out of the barns in charge of the strikebreakers, a large number of whom are already here for work.

A supply car was run over the lines today which finally reached its destination after it had been derailed by someone in sympathy with the strikers, who put a stone upon the track.

While it is hoped that peaceful conditions will prevail, the authorities are fully prepared to cope with any trouble that may arise. The mayor and chief of police have announced that the police will not be permitted to ride on the cars for the purpose of protection, their duties being confined to the preservation of peace in the streets.

The governor has, it is claimed, a sufficient force of militia to fall back upon, if necessary, and, failing that, Gen. Funston, in command of the department of the Pacific, is now here ready for any emergency that may necessitate interference by the federal troops, a large force of which is now stationed at the Presidio.

A telegram to President Calhoun from Ernest Thalmann of New York, president of the United Railway Investment company, the holding company of the United Railroad company, concurs entirely with the stand taken by Cal-

DIVIDE UP MILLIONS

James Henry Smith's Will to be Opened in New York.

Nephew, George G. Mason of South Dakota, Principal Heir.

New York, May 7.—Just how the many millions of dollars of which James Henry Smith, who died in Japan, March 27, last, while on a honeymoon tour of the world, will be distributed, will probably be made known this afternoon. It is planned to read the will at the Fifth avenue mansion immediately after the funeral, and later in the day the document is expected to be filed at Goshen, Orange county.

There have been conflicting reports as to the distribution of the estate, which is estimated to be valued at more than $50,000,000, but the most generally accepted report is that the bulk of the estate will go to George G. Mason of Aberdeen, S. D., a nephew. The widow, to whom Mr. Smith was married Sept. 15, last, and who was formerly Mrs. William Rhinelander-Stewart, according to report, is bequeathed $4,000,000, while Lady Smith Cooper, a sister, is expected to receive $2,000,000. Other relatives have been generously remembered.

There have been statements that there was more than one will in existence, but the duke of Manchester, who, with his wife, was in the touring party that accompanied Mr. Smith and his bride, disposed of these rumors when he arrived from Japan with Mr. Smith's body. He announced that he knew of no other than the one made by Mr. Smith in Scotland two days after his marriage. The duke was also emphatic in stating that there would be no dispute among Mr. Smith's relatives over the distribution of the property.

OREGON'S SCHOOL CHILDREN TO GIVE TO ASSIST PEARY.

Portland, Or., May 7.—Commander Robert E. Peary, in a telegram, has authorized the beginning of a collection by the school children of Oregon to make up the $6,000 necessary for the starting of another expedition to the North pole. May 22 will be designated as "Peary day," and each pupil will be asked to contribute from 1 to 5 cents. It is expected that $5,000 will be realized in this state.

MANIAC KILLS SIX PEOPLE IN SAN FRANCISCO HOME

Carpenter Imagines Plot Was Formed to Kill Him for His Money.

San Francisco, May 7.—Walter Charley Davis, a carpenter, in a fit of insanity today, shot and killed with a double-barreled shot gun a family of six persons, with whom he lived at 414 Pierres street, in this city. The dead:

ORSON R. BUSH, aged 57, his wife and their young son.

W. A. BARD, a carpenter with relatives in St. Louis and Denver.

M. E. ZINTON, a serveyor, recently from New York.

MRS. LILLIAN CAROTHERS, an elderly woman who boarded in the house.

One lodger in the house escaped. She was a girl of 17. Davis pointed the gun at her and was preparing to shoot, when he said she resembled his daughter, so he spared her life.

Davis and his victims all lived with the Bush family, who conducted a boarding house. Davis' home was in Farmersville, near Visalia, this state, where he has a wife and six children. He had been working here as a carpenter since the fire.

Davis, who slept in the same room with young Bush and Bard, arose shortly after 5 o'clock and, arming himself with a gun, shot his two roommates. Then he visited each room in turn, killing the occupants.

The shots attracted a large crowd and a rush was made upon Davis as he was attempting to reload his weapon and he was overpowered and turned over to the police and taken to the detention ward of the hospital. The bodies of his victims were taken to the morgue.

Davis fancied that the people in the house had formed a plot to kill him and take his money.

GRAND JURY IN REPORT SAYS PENNY ARCADES HAVE EVIL INFLUENCE

Bears Out the Statements Made by the Herald Recently.

Pictures Shown Are Detrimental to Morals of Community.

Other Matters Are Discussed and the Jury Discharged.

That some steps should be taken to prevent the children of the city from viewing the pictures in the penny arcades that are detrimental to the morals of young people was the opinion of the grand jury, which included in its report to the court, last evening, some suggestions as to the proper steps that should be taken to bring such places under police regulations.

A few days ago The Herald called attention to the matter and the report of the grand jury seems to show that the members of that body made an investigation, the result of which was to bear out in every detail the statements made by The Herald.

The grand jury report states that the

BANDITS HOLD UP EXPRESS TRAIN ON NORTHERN PACIFIC IN MONTANA AND KILL ENGINEER, BUT MISS MONEY

BUCKET SHOPS NEAR END AS RESULT OF LIVELY WAR

Concerted Action All Over Country Causes Big Houses to Quit.

Chicago, May 7.—"Bucket shops throughout the West and in many states in the South appear to be nearly at the end of their existence," says the Tribune today. "Concerted legislative action against them in several different states, and the passage of stringent laws prohibiting them from operating further, together with the activity of the Chicago board of trade in prosecuting cases against them, has caused many of the leading bucket shop concerns, which have had a network of private wires, covering practically every state in the West, South and Northwest, to decide to withdraw from the business.

"It is understood the leading bucket shop concern in Indiana is preparing to wind up its affairs by the middle of June, which is the time set for their closing up by the state authorities, under the law rcently passed, prohibiting bucket shops in that state. Iowa and Missouri have passed similar laws, and bills are pending in Michigan, Pennsylvania and Massachusetts, as well as in the Canadian Northwest provinces. Several of the most extensive systems will be out of operation in six weeks.

"The volume of business transacted by the different bucket shop concerns has been enormous, especially as they usually have charged only half the commission exacted by regular houses. The wire rentals of some of the big concerns has been larger than that of the largest legitimate houses in the business. One Indiana concern paid upward of $100,000 annually for wires. The diversion of the immense business handled by these concerns to regular channels will prove of great advantage to the board of trade.

"The anti-bucket shop bill now before the Illinois legislature is still among the uncertainties. In the house today an effort will be made to call it up. A strong bucket shop lobby is present in Springfield, however, trying to block its passage."

North Coast Limited Stopped in Mountains Near Butte.

Brave Man Tries to Save Charge and is Shot Dead.

Sheriff's Posse and Bloodhounds Soon Get on the Trail.

Butte, Mont., May 7.—Train robbers held up the North Coast limited, the finest express train of the Northern Pacific railroad, about 2:15 o'clock this morning at Welch's Spur, sixteen miles east of here in the mountains, killed Engineer Frank Clow, an old employe, and wounded the fireman.

The bandits were frightened away before they could get to the express car in which was the through safe containing heavy consignments of currency from Seattle, Portland and Spokane to Eastern points.

Sheriff Webb of Billings was on the train and telegraphed here and a posse was soon gathered. Bloodhounds were also sent for from the Deer Lodge penitentiary and were put on the trail in a few hours.

The attempted robbery occurred about 2:15 this morning, in a particularly rough part of the mountains. Engineer Clow was hauling his train at pretty fair speed when he was signalled to stop. He brought his train to a standstill and immediately a fusillade of shots were heard.

Clow knew then what was going on and opened the throttle wide for full speed ahead but was dropped by a

RECORD FOR TORNADOES

No Less Than Ten Whirlers in North Texas in One Day.

Six People Killed, Score Hurt and Great Damage Done.

Fort Worth, Tex., May 7.—No less than ten tornadoes, the greatest number ever known in one day in the North Texas tornado belt, swept through that region yesterday, causing at least six deaths, injuring a score seriously and inflicting enormous property losses.

The village of Birdwright was destroyed and the child of Calvin Framel killed, while John Stevenson and wife, Crawford Martin and J. P. Connor were fatally hurt. Birdwright is a village of between 300 and 400 persons.

Near Celina a farm house was blown down and the son of a farmer named Mize, and a tenant named Pack were killed.

At Deport, one of the largest villages in Lamar county, the storm passed northeast; cutting a path about 100 yards wide. The business part of the town was not touched, the damage being in the resident portion of the east side. The Baptist parsonage was blown to pieces and its timbers and furniture

DEADLY FEUD IN OKLAHOMA

Democratic Candidate for State Senator Shoots Rival Cattleman.

Duncan, I. T., May 7.—James Leftwich, a wealthy cattleman of Loco, I. T., candidate for state senator on the Democratic ticket, shot and killed T. J. Clark, also a wealthy cattleman, at the entrance to the courthouse in this city yesterday as the result of an old feud. Both men were armed, but Leftwich was the quicker in drawing his revolver. Clark was 55 years old and owned much property here. Leftwich is 27 years old.

BUILDING TIE-UP ON IN CHICAGO

Four Thousand Bricklayers and Laborers Out on Strike.

Chicago, May 7.—Building operations all over Chicago and suburbs were badly crippled by a strike of 4,000 bricklayers, allied trades and laborers, who walked out to enforce a Saturday payday. Thes trike is the first of consequence in Chicago since May 1. Among the public buildings on which work was practically brought to a standstill is the new $5,000,000 county building, now nearing completion. Half a dozen school buildings in course of construction were also caught.

TRADES ESTATE FOR READY CASH

Californian Accepts $80,000 for $1,500,000 to Come Later.

Santa Monica, Cal., May 7.—Henry C. Keating, heir to $1,500,000 of the $5,000,000 Keating estate, has signed over for $80,000 to a syndicate composed of J. C. Steele, former postmaster of Santa Monica; Benjamin Hunter, until recently city attorney; Robert W. Miller, secretary of the board of education, and A. W. McPherson, manager of the Edison Gas & Electric company, his rights. He could not get the estate money until a division should be made possible by the coming of age of the younger heir, in two and a half years. The syndicate runs the risk that he may die, in which case all his interest in the Keating fortune will pass over to the other heirs. Should he live, he will come into his part of the estate and the syndicate will then be entitled to enforce its claims.

TRAINS IN COLLISIONS

Baltimore & Ohio and Mobile & Ohio Passengers Wrecked.

Four Men Killed in One and Six Injured in Other.

Wheeling W. Va., May 7.—Through New York-Chicago train No. 7, on the Baltimore & Ohio, westbound, collided with a fast freight eastbound, seventeen miles east of here, this morning. Fireman Charles Christy and W. F. Thomas, J. L. Painter of Burton, W. Va., express messenger, and C. G. Warner, baggagemaster, of Bellaire, Ohio, were killed outright, and the engineer of the passenger train, C. A. Riley of Wheeling, was fatally injured.

The accident is alleged to have been caused by a misunderstanding of orders. The two trains were going at about thirty miles an hour when they crashed. The baggage and express cars were demolished. The freight engine also demolished the passenger engine.

The passengers in the coaches and Pullmans escaped with a severe shaking up.

St. Louis, May 7.—The fast night passenger and mail train on the Mobile & Ohio railroad from St. Louis to the Florida coast, collided headon with a freight train near Percy, Ill., at 11:27 o'clock last night. Meagre reports from Percy said six persons were injured. Both trains are reported to have been

PATRICK MAY SEEK RELEASE

Life Convict Claims to Have Been Tricked to Drop Appeal.

New York, May 7.—The American today states that Albert T. Patrick, now serving a life sentence for the murder of Millionaire William Marsh Rice in 1900, is contemplating asking for a writ of habeas corpus on the ground that he was tricked into withdrawing his application for an appeal to the United States supreme court, while he was under death sentence and accepting commutation to life imprisonment from the late Governor Higgins.

The announcement is made on the authority of Mrs. Albert Patrick, wife of the prisoner, in a long signed statement. In this there are charges that the court, jury and prosecutor were prejudiced against her husband and that a great sum of money was spent to railroad the defendant to the electric chair.

ABE RUEF SICK IN BED AND TRIAL POSTPONED.

San Francisco, May 7.—The illness of Abraham Ruef caused a postponement of his trial for one week. Dr. J. Shiels, appointed by the court to make an investigation, testified that Ruef was suffering from a severe cold and threatened with pneumonia.

IRISH COUNCIL BILL PRESENTED

Chief Secretary Birrell Introduces Measure to Crowded House.

London, May 7.—The Irish council bill, the object of which is to "provide for the establishment and functions of an administrative council" at Dublin, was introduced in the house of commons, this afternoon, by the chief secretary of Ireland, Mr. Birrell, before an audience which crowded every corner of the house.

CHECKS ON AGITATORS

Street Preaching or Speaking Forbidden During Miners' Trials.

Judge Wood's Decision May or May Not Cause More Delay.

Boise, Idaho, May 7.—Street preaching or speaking will be stopped in Boise during the trials of William D. Haywood and the other leaders of the Western Federation of Miners for the alleged murder of Former Governor Frank Steunenberg. It is feared that freedom of speech in the street may lead to local agitation for or against the prisoners, and possibly disorders, and Mayor Haines has decided that it will be better to issue and enforce a strict order covering the matter.

The city continues entirely quiet.

HAIL STORMS MAY BE FATAL TO YOUNG GIRL IN MISSOURI.

Cassville, Mo., May 7.—Allie Booson, 16-year-old daughter of a farmer living near Cassville, was rendered unconscious by falling hail yesterday, and at a late hour last night she was still unconscious. The hail storm was the most destructive ever known in Barry county, ice balls as large as hen's eggs falling to a depth of two inches. In Cassville all windows with west exposure were broken, trees stripped of foliage and crops greatly damaged.

KNIGHTS OF THE RAZOR

Want More Money and No White Trousers on Duty.

Strike May Result Unless Employers Accept New Scale.

Unless the situation changes considerably before tomorrow morning, it may be that the staid man of business, who each day comfortably seats himself in the barber's cushioned chair and allows the knight of the razor to remove the hirsute growth from his manly countenance, will be compelled to hunt through the attic to find the razor which has seen infrequent service since the time he watched for the first appearance of a fuzzy growth, and then proceed with his own hands to remove said growth and incidentally numerous and sundry particles of epidermis.

For the barbers may strike and it will be entirely in style for every man to shave himself. This morning a committee of the barbers' union began to interview the different employing barbers of the city in an effort to have them sign a new scale adopted by the union. It provides that the journeymen shall receive 60 per cent of their receipts, with a guarantee of $15 a week. Some of the proprietors of shops interviewed agreed to sign the scale, but at least one absolutely refused to sign up, and it is expected his union card will be taken away. If the barbers refuse to sign, the journeymen say they will walk out and remain out until such time as the employers come to terms.

The money consideration is not the only one in some of the shops, however. The barbers object to the wearing of white trousers while at work. White trousers have not been the insignia of the barber's rank in Duluth for long, but the journeymen are determined to overthrow the custom. They object to paying laundry bills for white trousers and taking their own time to don the raiment. They claim that the laundry bills for white trousers amounts to 50 cents a week for each man, while fully five minutes is required each time they put them on and take them off, which is about four times a day. This time they must make for themselves, as the employers require them to report for duty in uniform. The white pants have been laid aside and the men say they will never don them again.

The outcome of the trouble will not be known until all of the employing barbers are interviewed, which will probably be before the close of business tonight.

TWO DEAD, THREE WOUNDED IN FEUD IN KENTUCKY.

Middlesboro, Ky., May 7.—In a pitched battle on Sugar Island creek, this county, early today, John Howard and Martin Green were killed, and Eleanor Howard is said to have been fatally shot. Jim and George Green were also badly wounded. The fight was the result of an old feud. John Howard lived in Clay county and is a relative of Jim Howard, who is under conviction for the murder of Governor Goebel.

FRENCH PRESS PLEASED WITH JAPANESE DEAL.

Paris, May 7.—The French press has received with general satisfaction the announcement that negotiations are in progress between France and Japan looking to an understanding guaranteeing the political and commercial interests of the two powers in the Far East, as relieving France of the danger of the loss of Indo-China, and as serving all the nations with interests in the Far East. The papers also recognize in the approaching understanding a triumph for British diplomacy. The Petit Parisian says it considers that the entente involves "Japan's renunciation of the new Monroe doctrine of Asia for the Asiatics," and the Gil Blas, while maintaining that the agreement is not directed against any particular country, says that it constitutes a "warning for the power which is excluded."

SAYS HE BROKE THE CROCKERY

Mrs. Davidson Has Neighbor Arrested for Destroying Property.

A bull in a china shop is not to be compared with the destructive ability of William Larson of Rice Lake township, according to the claims of Clara Davidson, also one of Rice Lake's citizens. She had Mr. Larson arrested on a warrant, charging him with having broken one sugar bowl, one butter dish, one lamp, one looking glass, eight windows, and, last but not least, a dozen eggs, in her house on April 28.

Mr. Larson defended himself, stoutly asserting that he never broke into the house or destroyed anything therein. One of the neighbors testified to seeing Larson go to the house, but could not swear he went in. Larson said he simply went there to get a key for his own home, and departed. The same neighbor testified to hearing the crash of breaking glass and crockery from his own premises.

The jury went out about 11 o'clock this morning and have not yet returned.

CAPTAIN REFUSES TO SAY CORPORAL WAS SHOOTER.

Fort Sill, Okla., May 7.—In the court-martial of Corporal Knowles, colored, Twenty-fifth United States infantry, charged with an attempt to kill Capt. Grande Will Have Last Chance to Fight Extradition Then.

The hearing on the habeas corpus proceedings, which have been brought by Alexander Marshall on behalf of Joseph H. Grande, the commission man accused of forgery and embezzlement in California, has been set for tomorrow afternoon at 5 o'clock, instead of Saturday, as at first planned. Deputy Sheriff C. C. Case of California, who is here waiting for his man, secured the placing of the hearing at an earlier date, in order to get away sooner.

Grande's attorney is simply contesting the writ on general grounds, claiming the papers were not secured correctly, etc.

ODD FELLOWS OF MICHIGAN

Are Holding Their Grand Encampment Meeting at Calumet.

Calumet, Mich., May 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—The grand encampment of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows is being held here this week. The city is extensively decorated for the occasion, and the Odd Fellows' colors are used in every instance, the various stores seeming to vie with each other in carrying out the most unique designs. Monday morning every train was crowded bringing the guests from different cities in the state. Tuesday a grand parade took place. The city officials have made every effort to clear the streets for this part of the week's program. The stores throughout the city were closed during the parade.

TWO BANDITS IN THE HOLDUP

Engineer Clow Killed for Resisting—Bloodhounds on Trail.

Butte, Mont., May 7.—The bandits, who tried to hold up the Northern Pacific North Coast Limited early this morning and killed Engineer Clow, boarded the train presumably at the Butte transfer, where a locomotive for the Montana division was attached. One mile west of Welch the men crawled over the tender and, with drawn guns, commanded the engineer to stop the train, which he did.

Engineer Clow, however, made a show of resistance and one of the robbers fired, shooting him through the body, killing him instantly. The other man shot at Sullivan, breaking his arm.

The bandits then jumped from the engine and fled down the gulch.

When the train stopped, Conductor Bert Culver and the train crew ran to the engine, where they found a colored man, who related the circumstances of the hold-up. The man said that he had been stealing a ride and that the men offered him a third of the "booty" if he would assist them. He said he had refused and had taken no part in the hold-up. He said he would identify the robbers and he is being held for that purpose.

The body of Clow was taken to White Hall, where an inquest will be held. Clow lived at Livingston, where he leaves a widow and son. He was 55 years old and had been in the service of the Northern Pacific eighteen years.

The Northern Pacific sent special trains from Deer Lodge to the scene carrying officers as well as seven bloodhounds from the penitentiary, which quickly struck the trail. Sheriff Fenner of Deer Lodge county, was joined at Welch by men from the Butte police department. At last accounts the dogs were following the trail.

SUICIDE ENDS HOLD-UP BY BOY

Son of Philadelphia Merchant Has Short Career of Crime.

Philadelpha, May 7.—Foiled in his attempt to hold up, with the aid of his companion, two trolley conductors in the West side early today and inferring that he had killed a policeman in his effort to escape, Harold S. Jones, aged 16 years, shot and killed himself on the street. His companion, G. Geddys, aged 18 years, was arrested while in bed at his home.

The two conductors were on their way home from the night's work when Jones drew a revolver and ordered them to throw up their hands. Instead of complying they showed fight and Jones and his companion fled.

A policeman saw the occurrence and gave chase. After running a block Jones turned and shot at the pursuing policeman. The bullet went wild, but the policeman, in order to deceive the fleeing youths, dropped to the sidewalk as if he had been shot. Jones saw him fall and stopped. He did not approach the policeman, but backed up against the side of a house and sent a bullet into his own heart.

SECOND LAND CONTEST IS ON

All Testimony in Lingren vs. O'Dea in at Noon.

After dragging through five and one-half days, the homestead entry contest of Joan A. Lingren against Arthur M. O'Dea for possession of a homestead in township 57 north of range 9 ended at noon today, as far as the taking of testimony is concerned. After the transcription of the testimony, the register and receiver will file their decision.

This afternoon, a similar case was begun in the United States land office. It is Nels Anderson against Roy E. Walker for possession of a homestead in the same district. Anderson is represented by H. R. Shepard and B. N. Johnson of Fergus Falls and Walker has retained W. H. Smallwood and W. E. Culkin of Duluth. The same attorneys acted in the O'Dea contest.

RAZORS

MADE TO ORDER.

We want to take your order for a razor that would be made especially for you. It will be made by George W. Korn Razor Mfg. Co., Little Valley, N. Y., who have just made an evolution in the grinding of razor blades. Their idea, which has been patented, is the talk of all the other razor manufacturers, who acknowledge it to be far superior to the kind of blades that are now in use in all makes of razors. Your razor would come in any width and with either a square or round point—YOUR NAME WILL BE ETCHED in gold on the blade at no extra cost.

We have already taken orders for forty razors, with the owners' names etched in gold on the blades and these are now on exhibition in our West Window. Come in and let us show you why these razors are far superior to all other makes. Fully guaranteed.

What Quality Means

Among the best beers, the differences are not largely due to materials. 'Twould be folly to skimp there.

Most differences in taste are due to the skill, or the lack of skill, in the brewing. And to the yeast.

But quality refers, above all, to the purity. Pure beer has no germs in it, and it does not cause biliousness. It is not only good, but good for you.

Purity is rare because it is costly. And because its lack is not easily noticed. But in Schlitz beer it is the first requirement. We spend more to attain it than on any other cost of our brewing.

Ask for the Brewery Bottling.
Common beer is sometimes substituted for Schlitz.

CLOSE CALL FOR GUESTS

Brannon Hotel at Northome Burns at an Early Hour.

Many of the Boarders Escape on an Improvised Ladder.

Northome, May 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Fire in the Brannon hotel, in this village, at an early hour yesterday morning, damaged the hotel building to the extent of $1,500, many of the occupants of the rooms having hairbreadth escapes from being suffocated or incinerated in the flames.

The fire was discovered in the office of the hotel at about 1:30 o'clock, and had gained considerable headway when first noticed. The employes of the hotel quickly spread the alarm of fire, and soon there was a scurrying of the guests from the upper story rooms of the hotel into the corridors, in an effort to get out of the building.

A rope, composed of sheets and quilts hastily snatched from the beds, was made and thrown from a second story room in the rear of the hotel. The roomers went down to the ground from the window, hand-over-hand on this improvised ladder, reaching terra firma only after inhaling considerable smoke and some getting out of their rooms with much difficulty. Not much care was given to the making of early morning toilets, and the raiment worn by some of the guests of the Brannon was rather scanty.

Elmer Bigham, cedar inspector for the Naugle Pole & Tie company of Chicago, was one of the last to leave the upstairs, and he was nearly suffocated. He roomed directly over the office, and the smoke and flames began to eat through the floor before he was able to make his exit. He found the smoke so thick that he leaped from the window and was somewhat bruised in falling to the ground.

Although the guests were considerably frightened by the fire, no one was really seriously injured, although several only escaped by the merest margin.

The work of the Northome fire department deserves the highest praise. The fire laddies responded very quickly to the alarm, although all were asleep at the time the bell was rung. They worked intelligently and rapidly and by determined efforts kept the fire confined to the office of the hotel.

The damage to the hotel is estimated at $1,500, and it is announced that the necessary repairs will be made at once and the hotel resume business within a few days.

MADE A TOUR OF INSPECTION

Railroad Officials Go Over the M. & I. to Big Falls.

Bemidji, Minn., May 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—A distinguished party of railroad officials who had been making a trip from Brainerd to the present terminus of the Minnesota & International railway, Big Falls, were in the city yesterday for an hour in the forenoon while on their return trip to Brainerd.

The party was composed of Howard Elliot, president of the Northern Pacific railway; W. H. Gemmell, private secretary to President Elliott and general manager of the Minnesota & International railway; W. H. Strachan, general superintendent of the Minnesota & International; M. W. Downey, auditor of the Minnesota & International, and E. W. Backus, the big lumberman of Minneapolis, who is also heavily interested in the Northern Pacific and Minnesota & International railways, and who is the real head of the project of building the Minnesota & International extension from Big Falls to International Falls.

While there was an air of reticence about the movements of the "big guns," one of the party stated that everything in connection with the building of the Big Falls-International Falls extension was progressing as rapidly and satisfactorily as any of them had expected, and they were well satisfied with what they saw. The completion of the line through to International Falls would mean much to Bemidji, as there would be additional train service, which would undoubtedly be extended so as to make a direct air-line, in connection with the main line of the Northern Pacific from the international boundary to the Twin Cities.

DRUG TRUST TO BE ENJOINED

Government Will Win Principal Point in Its Big Suit.

Indianapolis, May 7.—The hearing of testimony in the suit brought by the government in the circuit court of the United States for the district of Indiana against the members of the so-called "drug trust" was today postponed until tomorrow at 10 o'clock by Noble C. Butler, who was selected as master to hear the evidence.

Following a consultation today between Joseph B. Keating, United States district attorney, and counsel for the defense, it was agreed that a decree will be filed tomorrow morning against all the ninety-two defendants granting the perpetual injunction asked for by the government. This will, if entered, end the litigation and the government, according to the terms of the decree agreed upon, will have accomplished all that is sought in the bill of complaint.

OFFICERS ELECTED FOR THE PINE RIVER FAIR.

Pine River, Minn., May 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—At the annual meeting of the Pine River Agricultural society the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, J. G. Dawes; vice president, W. C. Cromett; treasurer, James E. Gearey; secretary, [illegible] A. Wideman. These are the same officers who served last year. Eight directors were also elected, a number of these being elected to succeed themselves. The next meeting of the directors was set for the first Saturday in July when the date for the fair will be set and a premium list will be compiled. Plans are on foot to make the fair bigger and better than ever this year. More buildings will be erected and the race track improved.

RAILROADS

SUMMER RATES.

Omaha Will Have Them as Usual---None on N. P.

Despite the fact that Wisconsin has a new 2½ cent rate law in effect, the Omaha road has announced that commutation tickets to Solon Springs and Gordon, Wis., from Duluth and Superior, will be in force as usual this year.

To Solon Springs 15-ride tickets good for bearer, will be sold for $5; twenty-five ride tickets, good only for the purchaser, will be sold for $11.50.

The fifteen and twenty-five ride tickets to Gordon will be on the same basis. The rates are exactly the same as they were during the summer of 1906. There will be a week-end rate of $1.35 to Solon Springs.

According to local officials of the Northern Pacific, that road intends standing by its original announcement to the effect that there will be no special rates to Deerwood this season, as there has been in the past. Because of the Minnesota 2-cent fare law, all special rates of this kind are to be cut out, and those going to Deerwood and other resorts of a similar character will pay on a basis of 2 cents a mile.

WEST DULUTH

WANT THE "OWL" CAR

West Duluth People Are Backing Up Alderman Filiatrault.

Many Would be Benefitted by All-Night Service.

West Duluth people who work in Duluth, or have occasion to be there late at night, were well pleased today over Alderman Filiatrault's action at the council meeting last night in introducing a resolution, instructing the city attorney to ascertain if the council has authority to order the street railway company to run "owl" cars between Duluth and West Duluth, from midnight until the cars begin to run regularly in the morning. If the council has the authority, Alderman Filiatrault intends to push the matter, and in his efforts he will have the hearty encouragement of West Duluth people, who do not know when the late cars would be of service to them.

"If the council has the authority to order the street railway people to run a car every hour between Duluth and West Duluth each night, between 12 o'clock and the beginning of the regular runs in the morning, I certainly intend to push the matter and attempt to have the council take such action. Duluth has come to a stage now where village street car service is no longer adequate, and every well regulated city of the size of Duluth has its 'owl' car service.

"Nearly every night there are West Duluth people detained in Duluth by important business and, if they are unable to catch the last car, they must walk, hire a carriage or sleep in a hotel for the night. In a case like that a man may not have the necessary amount of money with him to either hire a carriage or sleep in a hotel, and the consequence is he must walk anywhere from fifty to sixty blocks to reach his home. Then business and professional men, who may be called out at night, must be considered. Every physician and professional man hasn't a carriage of his own and, if he is called out after 12 o'clock at night, he must engage a carriage or walk.

"During the summer, especially, the 'owl' cars are needed. Take the workers along the docks. Sometimes they are compelled to work very late at night in loading or unloading a boat, which must be cleared quickly, and they may complete the job at 1 or 2 o'clock in the morning. In that case, providing they live in the western part of the city, they must remain in Duluth all night, or walk home. The 'owl' car would benefit all those people, and there are hundreds of them, so their needs should be considered. It would be no hardship on the street railway company to keep the car going, and I am sure the expense would be met by the fares."

NEARLY ENOUGH SIGNERS.

Ramsey Street Paving Committee Meeting With Better Success.

The Commercial club committee appointed to look up the paving of Ramsey street, has been actively at work during the last few days getting signers for the petition, and have been meeting with better success than at any time during the last three months.

At the present time there are over twenty signers and the committee has been almost assured by at least ten more that they will sign. This will make over thirty, while the number required is not more than 27.

It is confidently expected by the committee that at the next meeting of the Commercial club Friday evening, a report that all of the required number have been secured will be read.

CURLERS TALK PICNIC.

Members of Club Plan to Gather at Fond du Lac.

Despite the fact that the curling season came to a close some time ago, the members of the curling club will not remain passive until next season. They intend to keep banded together during the summer and seek enjoyment in social events, while they cannot draw pleasure from the sport, for which the club was primarily organized.

Plans are now under way for a picnic, to be given shortly by the curling club, and it promises to be one of the most enjoyable affairs of the outing season. It is intended to hold the affair on some legal holiday at Fond du Lac, but the details have not yet been arranged. It is expected a meeting of the club will be held in a few days, when the date will be set and committees put at work to complete the detailed arrangements.

DRAWS BIG CROWDS.

New Elcho Theater Is Now Open---Ben Hur Pleases.

The Elcho theater, which opened up for the first time last Saturday, is drawing big audiences at every performance. At both shows last Saturday the new house was packed and good crowds also turned out Sunday and again last evening.

On Saturday and Sunday "Ben Hur" was put on by the means of motion pictures, and was much appreciated by the large audiences. A musical program was also given.

The management of the new show house intends to make a change in the program several times during the week and something new will be put on to night. On account of many requests, however, "Ben Hur" will be shown again tomorrow, Thursday and Friday.

BARBERS BOOST PRICES.

West Duluthians Follow Action of Duluth Barbers and Make Raise.

After May 15, West Duluth barbers will charge the same prices as those which have been adopted by the Duluth barbers. The journeymen barbers will receive the same pay as their brother members of the Duluth union.

A meeting of the West Duluth barbers was held last evening at Joe Brotherton's shop and the question of raising to 15 cents for shaves and 35 cents for haircuts was the main question considered. President Burdick presided at the meeting and every member of the union was present.

There was some opposition to the raise in prices, but the majority was in favor of the move. When the matter came to a vote three were recorded as being opposed to it and nine favored it. The journeymen barbers will now receive the scale of $16 a week guaranteed and 60 per cent.

Dividends Declared.

Another meeting of the creditors of the old Merchants' bank was held yesterday in the office of W. W. Sanford in the Lonsdale building and a dividend of 10 per cent was declared. This amounts to about $2,400 and will be paid in about a week. This makes the fourth dividend of 10 per cent which has been declared, three under the trusteeship of L. A. Barnes while the first was made when H. H. Phelps was trustee. Some of the payments for the property sold at the recent sale have not yet been made, and it was decided to sell the properties again, after which another dividend is expected.

ICE BREAKS ON RIVERS IN ALASKA WITH FLOODS.

Seattle, Wash., May 7.—Dispatches to the Post Intelligencer from Fairbanks, Alaska, say that the ice has broken in the Yukon and Tanana rivers, and the water is higher than it has been for years at this season. The Valdez flats are flooded and the Tanana river has risen to within six inches of the railroad station at Chena. Wires are down all along the Tanana, but there will be only temporary interruption of service. Ice is rotting along the shores of the Yukon and the river is open from Rampart to Klatag.

NO HOPE FOR REFLOATING GREAT STEAMER DAKOTA.

Liverpool, May 7.—An agent of the Liverpool Salvage association sent to Japan to make a report on the prospects of refloating the Great Northern Steamship company's trans-Pacific liner Dakota, which ran ashore in the Bay of Tokio, March 3, cables that it is hopeless to attempt to salvage the vessel, though part of her cargo may be saved. The Dakota is said to represent a loss to the London Underwriters of $3,750,000.

CHATTANOOGA WOMAN

Has Reason to Take Coffee Out of Her Family.

"After drinking coffee some years, I became badly run down in health, had serious indigestion, flatulency, and nervousness, with severe spells of sick headache.

"My physician advised me long ago to stop drinking coffee, but I said it would be an impossibility, that I would rather do without my breakfast and have my cup of coffee.

"About six months ago I tried Postum Food Coffee and made it strictly according to directions. I was so delighted with it that I immediately discontinued coffee and began using Postum. I have not had a pound of coffee in my house since and never expect to again. All symptoms of indigestion have disappeared entirely and my nerves are growing stronger every day. My weight has increased about twenty pounds and I now weigh more than I ever weighed in my life.

"I have known people to try Postum and throw it aside, for the reason that they made it carelessly. It has a delicious flavour and is dark and rich as Mocha or Java, if properly boiled, but if not boiled long enough, it is tasteless. Put a piece of butter in a pot, the size of a navy bean to prevent boiling over.

"My husband's weight has increased thirty pounds since he began drinking it, and my little boy, who has been very delicate and did not eat as children usually do, used to drink coffee at breakfast. After I gave him Postum for a few days, his appetite improved and he is gaining in flesh daily. You can imagine we are strong friends of Postum Food Coffee." "There's a Reason." With every needed thing—Furnishings for every room in the house—Furniture, Floor Coverings, Draperies, Lace Curtains, Stoves and Ranges, Bedding, Crockery, Cooking Utensils, Refrigerators, etc.—Come in and see how completely and artistically—and at what small cost we can furnish your home.

The Advantages of Our Liberal Credit Plan

Are yours for the asking. There's a vast difference between mere credit and Bayha's "Credit Service." "Credit" as dispensed by the average store is little more than a set schedule of terms upon which homefurnishings may be purchased. "Credit Service," as devised by Bayha, means helpful service from the day the goods are purchased until the last payment is made. It means that the terms of payment are determined wholly by the customer's wishes. The arrangements will be made to suit the individual's convenience. Mere credit isn't enough. Now, we'll be glad to give you the same helpful service that we're giving thousands of families in this city today. Won't you let us?

MISS THURSTON IN PETTY CASE

Talented Actress Involved in Litigation in Municipal Court.

Adelaide Thurston, Duluth's theatrical star and favorite daughter, is to figure in a case in municipal court next week. According to the complaint filed by S. F. White, attorney for Miss Thurston, she is suing Dr. S. C. Confer, the West end veterinary, for $225.60, the cost of two Oregon, fir, squared timbers, 10 by 10 by 25 feet, which, the complaint alleges, were appropriated by said S. C. Confer during the moving of his frame barn from Fifty-fourth avenue west to Thirty-second avenue west in this city.

Just what connection the talented actress has with the barn is not clear—[illegible] stated. [illegible] could not have been used on a barn storming tour. According to the statutes of Minnesota, her attorney claims, she is entitled to three times the value of the timbers in question, so the above prices are not to be regarded as a new indictment against the lumber trust.

A slight clue to the mystery is, however, given by the fact that another case for a similar cause is being instituted against the veternary by Harry S. Sawyer, the West Duluth house mover, Miss Thurston's father. Whatever may have been the legal reasons for introducing his talented daughter into the case, Mr. Sawyer is evidently the chief complainant.

Dr. Confer in his answer alleges that Mr. Sawyer contracted to move his barn and place it properly upon the place designated by Dr. Confer and that instead of doing this he left it in the middle of the street several blocks from its final resting place and that he was damaged to the extent of $300 by the delay. Wherefore he demands judgment against the plaintiff for that amount together with the costs and disbursements of the action.

SUPERIOR NEWS

GETS ONE YEAR.

Frank Jones is Sentenced to Penitentiary for Larceny.

Frank Jones, who was arrested by the police in Duluth yesterday was given a sentence of one year in the penitentiary for larceny by Judge Smith. Jones was arrested through the quick work of Philip Nelson, a boy employed in Lee & Larson's store, where the theft was committed. The boy observed two men in the store hanging around, and when he met one of them on the street a few moments later with his overcoat bulging, he followed him. Jones dropped one pair of trousers from under his coat and then, seeing that the boy was after him, he turned over the rest of his plunder, consisting of five pairs of trousers, to the lad and ran. The boy gave a good description of him and his arrest in Duluth followed.

FORM UNION.

Superior Draymen Will Establish a Uniform Wage Scale.

The licensed draymen of Superior have formed a union and are preparing to raise the prices for their services. They have prepared a scale of wages which all of the twenty-one members will live up to. It will cost 50 cents to get a trunk delivered in Superior hereafter. Drays will cost $1 per hour, and coal deliveries 75 cents, with helpers extra.

WILL APPEAL CASE.

Roller Rink People Object to Paying $25 Damages.

The Broadway roller rink people intend to appeal from the recent ruling of the court here, which declares that they shall pay $25 damages to Albert Jones for having drawn the color line, when he desired admission to the rink and refused him entrance.

W. P. Crawford, attorney for the defendant, has signified his intention of taking the matter to a higher court. Jones sued for $1,000 for injuries to his dignity and was awarded $25 by the jury yesterday.

CANNOT PLAY BALL.

Members of "Tenderfoot" Company Walloped by Superior Elks.

Male members of "The Tenderfoot" company, which holds forth at the Lyceum this evening, were glad to get out of Superior last night. Immediately after the curtain was rung down on the last act at the Grand they boarded a street car for Duluth. The reason for all this was a ball game played in the afternoon with the Superior Elks. The theatrical people were so badly beaten that they felt like getting out of town as soon as possible. The final score stood 30 to 10 in favor of the Superiorites. Oscar Figman acted as umpire for the Tenderfeet, and John Morrissey looked after the welfare of the Elks.

NEGRO RIDDLED; FAMILY WARNED

Georgia Mob Lynches Colored Farm-Hand and Whips Relatives.

Dearing, Ga., May 7.—Charlie Harris, a negro farm hand, who yesterday shot and seriously wounded Hayden Pearson, a prominent farmer, was lynched last night by a mob of about forty unmasked men, his body being riddled with bullets. The mob then visited the negro's home, severely whipped members of his family, and gave them a brief time in which to get out of McDuffe county.

Pearson was remonstrating with the negro about poor work done on his farm, when Harris drew a revolver and fired several shots into his body. Pearson will probably die.

WOOD SETTLES MANITOBA SUITS

Pays All Claims in Return for Immunity From Prosecution.

Winnipeg, Man., May 7.—George W. Wood, president of the Canadian Stock & Grain company, who was under bonds awaiting trial on two charges of running a bucketshop in Winnipeg and one for the theft of a $1,000 margin put up by J. Carrick of Fort William, Ont., in a stock deal, will not have to go before the higher court for trial.

His experience, extending over nearly three months, with British law, has apparently convinced him that Western Canada is no place in which to repeat operations which proved so profitable to himself and his asociates in the Twin Cities and other Northwestern points. Incidentally the action against a Winnipeg daily paper, which criticised his methods, will also be terminated. After a long conference with the crown authority Wood agreed to settle all outstanding claims against the company.

Wood will deposite with the attorney general for Manitoba as trustee $20,000, also paying all costs of the prosecution. This means that the career of George W. Wood in the bucketshop business in Western Canada ends right now. His brother, L. A. Wood, of Minneapolis, who arrived in Winnipeg a few days ago helped to forward plans for a settlement.

The fight by the crown against Wood was a bitter one and showed a determination to put a stop to the bucketshop business. Wood came to Winnipeg last October and opened branches in a score of towns from the Great Lakes to the Rockies and advertised liberally. The sum of $50,000 was paid for leased wires. In eight months he was put out of business by the authorities and the biggest bucketshop system so far organized to operate in Canada is down and out.

CONEY ISLAND AVENUE CLEARED

Public Works Men, With Axes, Remove Street Encroachments.

New York, May 7.—Armed with axes and guarded by a squad of twenty-five policemen, a gang of men, directed by Durbin Van Vleck, assistant commissioner of public works of Brooklyn, descended on Surf avenue, the main thoroughfare of Coney Island yesterday and lopped off every part of any kind of a building, stand or sign that extended beyond the line. Soda fountains were chopped in two, frankfurter stands torn apart, overhanging signs pulled down, and cane ringing racks and other catch penny devices piled into trucks and carried away.

The raid was under orders from Borough President Coler that all the incumbrances extending over the court yard line must disappear.

When the work was done, the commissioner notified the proprietors that ten feet more of the incumbrances would be chopped off if not removed by Thursday. This will place all the stands inside the building line.

NEWS FROM THE WEST END.

CLUBHOUSE IN PROSPECT

Svea Glee Club Likely to Build in West End.

Members There Are Urging It Strongly to Others.

While it is not the plan of the organization to build at once, it is almost certain that when the proposed clubhouse for the Svea Glee club is erected, it will be located in the West end.

Members of the organization who live in that section of the city have been talking the proposition up among their brethern and they have been able to convince most of them that the West end of town is the most logical place to put the new building.

The club has members living in all parts of the city, in the West end, in West Duluth, in the East end at Lakeside. But the West enders argue that their part of town would be most handy for a majority of the members. The society is composed exclusively of Swedish people and most of the Swedish people live in the West end.

Then, too, they argue that the West end is really the center of the city. The members who live in West Duluth could come up from that end of town and the others could come from the other side.

"There are plenty of clubs up-town," said one glee club man yesterday, "and there is need of one in the West end. It gives of us who have our work out here a place to drop into and it is handiest for most of the members. Those who live in this part of town could drop into the club in the evening without having to go so very far."

The plans for the clubhouse are still in their infancy but it is going to be built all right. With the establishment of club rooms, the scope of the glee club will be enlarged. It will be modeled somewhat after the Odin club of Minneapolis, which a year or two ago moved into handsome quarters in a new building at Second avenue south and Sixth street, Minneapolis.

In the new club rooms here, there will be lounging rooms, smoking and card rooms, reception and music rooms, a billiard room and possibly a cafe.

West End Shortrails.

The Ladies' Aid society of the First Norwegian-Danish Methodist church will be entertained Thursday afternoon by Mrs. Roy Prytz, 120 Twenty-first avenue west.

George A. Lindsay has gone to Nashwauk, where he will be superintendent of the light and water plant. He will be joined there by his family at once.

A vestry meeting of St. Luke's Episcopal parish was held last evening at the home of F. Wildie, 329 North Twenty-seventh avenue west. Mr. Wildie was elected secretary of the parish.

St. Agnes guild of St. Luke's Episcopal church held a sewing circle last evening at the home of Mrs. J. Crowe on Twenty-seventh avenue west. Several new members were admitted.

John Burke, driver for Bayha & Co., was severely bruised by the overturning of one of the firm's delivery wagons on Piedmont avenue yesterday.

The Scandinavian Temperance society is planning a big meeting for next Sunday evening, at the First Norwegian-Danish Methodist church. Rev. John A. Anderson, pastor of the First Swedish Methodist church, will preside and among the speakers will be Rev. H. K. Madsen, pastor of the First Norwegian-Danish Methodist church, A. Thoren of the First Swedish Baptist church and Peter Bergstrom of the West Duluth Swedish Baptist church.

WILL HONOR LINNAEUS

Swedes Planning Entertainments for Anniversary of His Birth.

Celebration Will be Held This Week in West End.

The young people's society of Bethany Lutheran church is making great preparations for the Dr. Linnaeus festival which will be held at the church Thursday evening.

The principal speaker of the evening will be Rev. Dr. Okerstrom of Port Wing, Wis. Dr. Okerstrom is said to be a very interesting talker and will give a review of the career of the famous Swedish botanist to celebrate whose aniversary, the festival will be given.

In addition to the talk by Dr. Okerstrom, there will be some other short talks and several musical numbers by the choir and members of the Young People's society.

The Svea Glee club is planning to give a big entertainment May 23 in honor of the anniversary of the birth of Dr. Linnaeus. Members of the club in the West end argue that the entertainment should be held in some West end church, while others think it should be held up-town. The chances are that it will be held in the Armory, the Lyceum theater, or the First M. E. church.

The principal speaker of the evening will be Prof. J. S. Carlson, who occupies the chair of Scandinavian languages at the University of Minnesota. Prof. Carlson has been heard in Duluth before and he is a very able talker. He will speak on Dr. Linnaeus.

Several songs will be given by the glee club.

The committee in charge of the arrangements for the entertainment are preparing an elaborate program and the place of holding the affair will be decided within the next day or two.

Dr. Carolus Linnaeus, the Swedish botanist, was born in 1707, and died in 1778.

JOHNSON DIES FROM INJURIES

One of Trio Injured on Hand Car Passes Away.

John Johnson, one of the three section men who were injured Sunday evening by being struck by an engine, while riding home on a handcar near Iron Junction, on the Duluth, Missabe & Northern, died as the result of his injuries, yesterday at St. Mary's hospital. He was badly bruised and internally injured, and he only survived a few hours after being brought to the hospital here. Gust Gustafson and Christ Johnson, the other two men on the car, were badly shaken up and Christ Johnson had one leg seriously crushed, but neither is considered to be in a dangerous condition and Gustafson will probably leave the hospital in a few days.

Engineer A. J. Young, who was in charge of the engine which struck the handcar says that he did not see the car until he was powerless to do anything to avert the accident, and that they were running at high speed as it was not expected they would encounter anything. The handcar was on the wrong track at the time of the accident.

GOVERNOR AND STAFF

Going to Vicksburg to Help Dedicate the Minnesota Monuments.

St. Paul, May 7.—Governor Johnson and his staff will leave on May 22 for Vicksburg, Miss., where they will take part in the dedication of Minnesota monuments May 24.

The monuments mark the location of the Third, Fourth and Fifth Minnesota volunteer infantry and the First Minnesota infantry and the First Minnesota artillery in the siege, and have been erected under the direction of a commission consisting of Gen. L. F. Hubbard, Gen. C. C. Andrews and Thomas P. Wilson. One large shaft commemorates the Minnesota dead on that field, and markers show the ground attained by the different regiments in charges.

It is expected that a large party of the survivors of these regiments will make the trip. A special round-trip rate of $25.50 has been secured.

HOTEL PRICES RAISED FOR PEACE CONFERENCE.

The Hague, May 7.—Although the second international peace conference will not open until June 15, practically all the desirable hotel accommodations here have been taken for the period of the conference, at prices treble and quadruple the usual rates. The American delegation will reside at the Hotel Des Indes, near the palace of the queen mother, where their rooms alone will cost $260 daily. The French, German, Austrian-Hungarian and Brazilian representatives will be housed at the Palace Hotel, Schenevegin.

Japan's Naval Progress.

An event, which cannot be overestimated, occurred in Japan a short time ago, and that was the launching of a new warship which is claimed is superior to the British warship Dreadnaught. Hitherto Japan has bought her best vessels abroad and the building of this monster proves conclusively the wonderful progress and advancement in the Japanese navy. The wonderful record of cures made by the celebrated Hostetter's Stomach Bitters during the past 53 years proves conclusively that it is a medicine of superior value, and the best of its class for curing ailments of the stomach, liver, kidneys or bowels. Every sick man or woman should therefore resolve to try it at once. It always cures dyspepsia, indigestion, costiveness, billousness, headache, sleeplessness, female ills or malarial fever. Don't experiment any longer when you know the Bitters will cure you.

RECORD FOR ASCENSION

Dr. and Mrs. Workman Tell of Their Himalaya Exploits.

People of Mongolian Type Found at Great Height.

Paris, May 7.—Dr. and Mrs. Bullock Workman, the explorers, who have arrived here from India, said last night: "We camped at the highest altitude attained by man, 21,300 feet. This was in the unexplored Minkum range. From our camps on a snow plain surrounded by seven towering peaks we ascended to a height where I stopped to take photographs, as the mist was increasing, while Mrs. Workman climbed to a peak 23,300 feet above the level of the sea.

"Only once was this record broken, when I climbed the Chogo Lunga glacier, 23,394 feet. During the last five days of our climb the atmosphere was so rare we were unable to sleep. Avalanches in the Alps are miniatures compared with those we saw in the Himalayas. Some were half a mile wide and plunged down the precipitous slopes with a terrific roar. It was appalling in grandeur. I managed to make important scientific records."

The Workmans found a people of Mongolian type at a height of 10,000 feet, growing rye, wheat, oats and barley, and even at 12,800 feet they saw a village where human beings were living in huts with white goats, fowls, marmots and strange animals. About 14,000 feet they saw only a species of partridge and a pair of chough birds. The doctor said above 16,000 feet there was practically no life.

Relief from Rheumatic Pains.

"I suffered with rheumatism for over two years," says Mr. Rolland Curry, a patrolman, of Key West, Fla. "Sometimes it settled in my knees and lamed me so I could hardly walk, at other times it would be in my feet and hands so I was incapacitated for duty. One night when I was in severe pain, and lame from it, my wife went to the drug store here and came back with a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm. I was rubbed with it and found the pain had nearly gone during the night. I kept on using it for a little more than two weeks and found that it drove the rheumatism away. I have not had any trouble from that disease for over three months." For sale by all druggists.

BOARD TO INVESTIGATE THE WASHINGTON SLUMS.

Washington, May 7.—President Roosevelt has appointed a commission of fifteen members, among whom are J. B. Reynolds, who investigated the packing houses; Gen. Sternberg, formerly the surgeon general of the army, and Miss Mabel Boardman, to investigate the conditions in the slums of Washington, with a view to improving the moral and living surroundings of the poor, says a dispatch from here to the New York World.

About two months ago Reynolds was directed by the president to inquire into the condition of the people here. After looking into about 400 houses and finding the conditions bad, Reynolds recommended the appointment of a commission.

It will be known as "president's home mission." It will draft new regulations governing tenements and buildings in the alleys. Its report will be made to the district commissioners, who will make recommendations to congress for the enactment of laws putting into effect the recommendations.

MAY TIE UP BIG LINES

New York Longshoremen's Strike Spreads to Large Vessels.

All Piers Along Water Front Likely to be Involved.

New York, May 7.—The longshoremen's strike which was unexpectedly extended yesterday from Manhattan and Brooklyn to Hoboken, N. J., and is directed already against the largest trans-Atlantic lines, may soon become grave. The strikers say that they are organized as the Longshoremen's Protective association, and that if their demands are not complied with by the steamship companies involved, the strike will spread and it will take in all the piers on the New York and New Jersey water fronts.

The strikers say that they are constantly gaining recruits. Their present number is placed at from 4,000 to 7,000. They want an increase in wages from 30 cents an hour for day work and 40 cents an hour for night work, to 40 cents for day work, 60 cents for night work and 80 cents an hour on Sundays and holidays.

On the Manhattan side, a strike is in progress against the American, Red Star, White Star and French lines and the Cunard line is threatened. In Hoboken, the strike takes in the North German Lloyd, Holland-American, Scandinavian-American and Phoenix lines.

The dock superintendents and general managers of the various companies, particularly in Hoboken, declare that they will get their big passenger steamers away on schedule time, but it appears as if some of the large freight vessels will be delayed. The companies' representatives declare that the men's demands are absurd and that they can get men to take their places.

INHUMAN GOVERNOR ONLY LOSES HIS GERMAN JOB.

Berlin, May 7.—The imperial disciplinary court has sentenced ex-Governor Horn of the Togoland colony, to dismissal from the service, because in 1903, he punished a native so severely that the man died from the effects. The native stole a cash box, containing $200, for which he was sentenced to receive fifty strokes from a whip. Horn confirmed the sentence and left the man, fastened to the whipping stake, without food or water for twenty-four hours. Finally, seeing that the native was on the point of collapse, Horn ordered him released. Death followed.

GREATEST BLOCKADE IN HISTORY OF DULUTH HARBOR IS NOW AT AN END

The greatest blockade in the history of navigation at the Head of the Lakes is now practically at an end and there are not now more than two or three boats at anchor in the harbor awaiting their turn to unload.

A week ago there were over thirty big freighters lying in the lower harbor unable to get a chance at the docks to unload and at the same time there was a total of over 100 boats in the harbor at the docks and elevators. It was expected that at least two weeks would be consumed before the blockade would be at an end and the big fleet cleared from the harbor but good conditions have aided in the swift unloading of cargoes and practically all vessels have now had their turn at the docks.

After the first three boats came into the harbor on Friday, April 26, two with coal and one light for grain, there were no more until early the next Sunday morning when the long delayed fleet from the lower lakes began trailing through the ship canal at the rate of fifty until Monday noon, when a total of eighty-five vessels had arrived and more were continually coming into port.

Since the first of the inter-lake boats began to arrive there have been over 200 vessels come into port from the lower lakes with a total cargo of considerably over a million tons. Of these boats eighty-eight were loaded with coal and about half a million tors of fuel have now been deposited on the docks at Duluth and Superior. The majority of the coal carriers had been waiting at the Sault for several weeks and the fuel was badly needed at the Head of the Lakes.

During the blockade there were of course many more arrivals than there were departures especially during the first few days as nearly all of the boats which had wintered here had cleared before the fleet from the lower lakes arrived. As fast as the boats could be unloaded and take on grain or ore cargoes they have again departed for the lower lakes and during the past week 110 departures have been recorded. There were seventy-four loaded with ore and twenty-six with grain, besides a good sized fleet of package freighters and lumber boats.

The congestion in the local harbor is nearly at an end and within a few days normal conditions will prevail.

A trunk full of new fangled, novel neckwear arrived this morning and samples were placed in the window without delay.

The weather is of the sad sort so far this spring, but the keynote of style is cheerfulness.

If you want to raise your spirits and cast off the dejected looks, come in for one of these scarfs. They simply riot in color.

Scotch plaids, Roman stripes, large polka dots and contrasting colors, sage, myrtle, scarlet, bishop, champagne, plum and gold.

THE POLICE COURT GRIST

Was All Feminine This Morning, Not a Man Appearing.

First Time in History of Court This Has Happened.

For the first time in the history of the city, Duluth had a feminine police court grist this morning. Not a single member of the sterner sex got into trouble serious enough to warrant the attention of the police, but two women imbibed a little too freely of the cup that cheers, and were picked up by Officers Westerlund and Mason in the last stage of intoxication, last evening.

One of these, Blanche Davis, is a squaw, and is an old offender along these lines. She is a youthful redskin, and bears evidences of having been quite a striking beauty before dissipation dragged her down. She was picked up on the street in the West end by Officer M. Mason.

Nellie Wells, the other half of the grist, is one of the most striking figures ever seen in court. She is over six feet high, and is built like an athlete. Without having a surplus of fat on her, she had trouble in getting through the woman's department door on account of her size, and she could doubtless have given the officers quite a tussle had she felt so inclined. She was in quite a peaceful and happy condition when picked up by Officer Westerlund on St. Croix avenue, last evening, and forfeited $10 bail by failing to appear this morning.

"Fitwell" $15 suits are guaranteed to hold their shape.

LARGEST IN ITS HISTORY

University of Wisconsin Exceeds Past Year in Enrollment.

Madison, Wis., May 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—The new catalogue of the University of Wisconsin now in press shows a total enrollment of 3,660 students, the largest number in the history of the university. The enrollment last year was 3,571. With 350 members of the faculty, and 3,660 students, the total university population is over 4,000. This is a larger population than the 1905 state census gave to Ripon, Sparta, Lake Geneva, Fort Atkinson, Hudson, Prairie du Chien, Whitewater, Oconomowoc, and many other cities of the state.

The college of engineering has 799 students, a gain of 31 over last year. Of these 167 are studying electrical engineering, and 166 civil engineering, 90 mechanical engineering, 71 general engineering, and 27 chemical engineering. The graduating class in engineering this year numbers 132. The junior class has 154 students, the sophomore 225, and the freshman 238. There are 12 graduate students in engineering.

The college of agriculture has an enrollment of 622. Of this number 5 are graduate students, 142 are in the four-year course, 327 in the short course, and 145 in the dairy course.

There are 181 students in the graduate school, an increase of 23. Of these 161 are in the college of letters and science, 12 in the college of engineering, and 8 in the college of agriculture.

The college of letters and science has 1,579 students. The course in commerce has an enrollment of 200, the course in pharmacy 36, and the school of music 191.

The college of law has a total registration of 165, of which 87 are new students, 58 seniors, and 40 second year students.

The executive committee of the regents of the university at the monthly meeting made the following appointments to fill vacancies in the university faculty: Frank O. Reed, assistant professor of romance languages; J. L. Sammis, assistant professor of dairying; instructors, Oscar L. Keith, romance languages; A. L. Underhill and George D. Birkhoff, mathematics; Walter H. Shephard, political science; Elizabeth Buehler, school of music; M. C. Otto, philosophy in correspondence branch of university extension department; assistants, John D. Deihl, German; Wendell G. Wilcox, chemistry; Edward Wolesensky, chemistry.

GAINING IN POPULARITY

Submarine Signals Will Probably be Generally Adopted.

Lake Carriers' Association Has Made a Complete Investigation.

It will probably be not more than a few years before nearly all of the vessels engaged in the lake traffic will be equipped with the submarine signalling apparatus as the system has already been placed on a number of the boats of the Pittsburg Steamship company, and thus a foothold has been gained.

The subinarine signals are strongly recommended by the Lake Carriers' association, and during the winter an executive committee composed of some of the best known vessel masters on the lakes was sent to test the submarine signal system as operated on the Atlantic coast. Their report was highly favorable and it was since their return that the Pittsburg boats were equipped with the receiving apparatus. Twelve of the vessels of this company now have the apparatus.

In March, President Livingstone officially requested the lighthouse board to install submarine signals on the Great Lakes and the board promptly acceded to the request. Since then all of the lake light vessels have been equipped.

Besides the Pittsburg company several other large shipowning companies have ordered vessels equipped with the receiving apparatus and the Submarine company is assured of a busy summer on the lakes. The signals as now installed on the lightships will be available for all vessels on the lakes equipped with the receiving apparatus.

No Light Yet.

Mariners have been cautioned to avoid the Standard Rock in Lake Superior as the light there is not yet in commission. The rock lies directly in the course to the Sault. The ice is packed so around the pier that an attempt made with a tug to land a keeper was unsuccessful.

New Coast Chart.

A new coast chart, in colors, of Lake Superior, showing the coast from Big Bay Point to Ontonagon, Michigan, including the Keweenaw Peninsula, has just been issued by the United States lake survey office, 33 Campau building, Detroit, Mich.

Make Maiden Trips.

The brand new steamers General Garretson and McIntosh of the Gilchrist line are in the Duluth harbor after having made their first trips up the lakes. They are of the large type of lake freighters and were built at Bay City. The Garretson is commanded by Capt. Charles Gunderson and the McIntosh by Capt. Walter G. Stewart. Both vessels brought up coal cargoes.

Makes Round Trip.

The steamer big Wolvin arrived at Duluth yesterday from the lower lakes with a cargo of coal. She is the first vessel which wintered at Duluth to make the round trip to the lower lakes and come back with a cargo. Capt. Alec Craigie is her master, and she went to the Zenith Furnace dock to unload.

Strike Is Ended.

Fort William, May 6.—The strike of elevator men, which has delayed the loading of boats here for some days, has been settled.

Cut Off Their Bows.

The whalebacks Bay City, Bombay and Baroness left Buffalo the last of last week for the Atlantic coast, where they will be used in the coal trade. It was necessary to shorten the boats about thirty feet in order to allow them to get through the Welland canal. The work of shortening them was done at the Empire Shipbuilding company's yards in just fourteen days, under the direction of John Bateman, the company's constructor. The work was done in record time. At Quebec the bows will be replaced. The three vessels are owned by the Sprague Transportation company of Biston.

Big Grain Cargo in Canal.

Port Colborne, May 7.—The blockade caused by the breaking of the bridge at Welland has been raised and boats yesterday were moving through the canal as usual.

The Canadian steamer Iroquois, which passed down yesterday, had on board 81,600 bushels of wheat, the largest grain cargo ever carried through the Welland canal.

Tonnage in Good Demand.

Cleveland, May 7.—Tonnage is in good demand at both ends of the route and the freight rates in grand shape. Lake Superior grain shippers are bidding for boats, but they are not doing any business here. Offers of 1⅞ cents on oats from Fort William to Buffalo did not bring out any tonnage and owners are asked for boats to work on at 2½ cents on wheat. Coal cargoes are freely offered.

Blocked by Ice Again.

Fort William, May 7.—The high winds have shifted the ice field in the bay and the channel into the harbor is now blocked. The ice breaker Whalen has been unable to make any progress against the floes. Two vessels that tried to force their way into the harbor yesterday were compelled to turn and go back into the lake. Several steamers are tied up here, unable to get out. The steamer Pellatt, which left the Soo Thursday last, is overdue and she is thought to be fast in the ice.

Grain Rates Advance.

Chicago, May 7.—Grain rates advanced to 1¼ cents on corn, about 250,000 bushels being placed at the advance. Among the charters were the Eberward for Detroit and the Lewiston for Buffalo.

Towing Machine Broken.

Marquette, May 7.—After leaving port with the barge Granada in tow, the steamer Shenandoah broke her towing machine, which fell into the hold and was compelled to return. The Shenandoah later left for Lake Erie alone, but the Granada will have to wait for another steamer to tow her down.

JUDGE ENSIGN ASKS FOR A HOUSE OF DETENTION

Tells County Board of Urgent Need of Juvenile Court.

Committee Is Appointed to Confer With Court in Matter.

The county board may take some action looking toward the establishment of a detention house in connection with the juvenile court.

Judge J. D. Ensign of the juvenile court appeared before the board shortly before its adjournment this noon and made an earnest plea for the co-operation of the commissioners in the movement to establish a house of detention for juveniles.

At the close of the remarks by the court the board, by resolution, directed Chairman Patterson to appoint a committee of three to confer with Judge Ensign and the assistant county attorney as to the steps that could properly be taken in the matter.

Judge Ensign's talk to the board was directly to the point and was listened to with close attention. It made a deep impression as the subsequent action showed.

The court stated that he had been disappointed that the last legislature did not pass a measure that would have provided for a house of detention for juveniles. Judge Ensign cited many instance in which he showed that such a place was urgently needed and declared that he could not and would not send juvenile offenders to the county jail, where they would consort with older criminals and the result would certainly be to make the children worse. He said the object of the juvenile court is not to publish children, but to make them better, and that he believes that some good has already been accomplished along that line by the juvenile court of this county.

It was further stated by the court that the proposed house of detention is not to be a prison for children, but a place that will be needed occasionally to detain children for their own good and for punishment, the house to be in charge of a thoroughly competent person who would teach the children morals. He suggested that it should be located in or very near the city where it would be easily accessible.

Judge Ensign said that the citizens of Duluth are very much interested in the juvenile court and that he has assurance that many of them will gladly contribute to assist the county in establishing a house of detention.

After the committee was appointed the board adjourned until 1:30 o'clock this afternoon.

Wants Another Clerk.

County Treasurer W. A. Holgate requested an appropriation of $1,200 per year for the salary of an additional clerk whom he said would be necessary because of the work entailed by the new mortgage registeration law. Register of Deeds M. C Palmer requested 1,000 printed postal cards which he said were necessary for the use of his office in connection with working of the same law.

A communication from L. E. Lum called attention to the present bad condition of the first sixty rods of the Calvary road and asked that some action be taken by the board. The matter was referred to commissioner Tischer to investigate.

The residents and taxpayers in township 57-15 protested the including of the township in the town of White which they understand is being organized by the citizens of Aurora. They asked that the township be organized under the name of Palo. The petition was referred to the county attorney. Several of the petitioners appeared before the board and claimed that there are eighty feeholders in 57-15 and that these desire a separate town organization.

The board passed a resolution prohibiting ball playing on the courthouse lawn. Complaint was filed with the commissioners by the trustees of the Swedish Lutheran church, to the effect that a number of windows have already been broken in the church by boys playing ball. The church is located across the avenue from the courthouse yard.

The following reports were filed by county officers for the month of April: Clerk of court, receipts, $941.35, work for the county, $1,553.35; register of deeds, receipts, $1,192.65, work for the county, $257.70; registrar of titles, receipts, $331.25; sheriff, receipts, $1,157.54, work for the county, $1,259.50.

Petitions for road improvement were filed by taxpayers in 62-12 and 61-12, on the cBar River road, on the McArthur road, on the Hermantown extension road, on the Vermilion road to the village of Arnold, on the Culver road, on the Morrison road in the Mud Hen district; the old Vermilion road, in 56-16, and on the Itasca road. A petition was filed by ell Hendrickson and others for an alteration of the Edholm road.

John Dugal was granted a renewal of liquor license in the township of Great Scott.

TAFT RETURNS TO DESK AFTER VOYAGE FOR REST.

Washington, May 7.—Secretary Taft returned to Washington today by boat from Hampton Roads much improved in health as the result of his short trip. He spent most of the time while away on the James river, and not until yesterday afternoon was he able to make a hasty private and unofficial visit to the Jamestown Exposition buildings and grounds.

ARITHMETIC AND FOOD.

School Children Must be Well Fed.

A young girl in Newport, says no one has a better right to speak of Grape-Nuts food than she.

"I was in school, but in poor health, until Mamma began to give me Grape-Nuts food. I began to improve at once, both mentally and physically, and I improved so in my work at school that I got 100 in arithmetic, and during that time I gained 3 or 4 pounds in weight and am still gaining.

"There is no one who has a right to recommend the food more highly than I. Mamma neglected to supply it for about three weeks, and I began to fail in health so I commenced the use of the food again, and now I don't intend to do without Grape-Nuts."

It is well for parents to know that Grape-Nuts food contains selected elements from the grains, prepared and cooked in such a way as to present these food elements so that they can be quickly digested and assimilated; the phosphate of potash obtained from the field grains, and contained in Grape-Nuts unites with the albumen of food to quickly rebuild the gray matter in the nerve centres and brain.

It is of the greatest importance that growing children and students be given food that sustains both brain and nerves. "There's a reason." Read the little book, "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs.

LAND SALES INCREASING

The Northern Minnesota Farming Districts Are Booming.

C. L. Goodell of Barnum Gives Interesting Talk on Agriculture.

"Outside inquiry concerning farming land in Northern Minnesota is more extensive now than it has ever been before. The land sales in the district around Barnum, one of the most promising agricultural districts in the state, have been greater in number during the last two months than they have been in any twelve months previous."

So said C. L. Goodell of Barnum, Minn., yesterday. Mr. Goodell, who is registered at the McKay, is a recognized authority on farm lands, and having for several years been a resident of the section of the state of which he spoke, he is thoroughly acquainted with conditions as they exist there.

"The land boom has been a little slow in coming," he continued, "but there is no doubting the fact that it is here now. It is a good, substantial boom, too, with a foundation in real values. The outside world is awaking to a realization of the fact that Northern Minnesota offers as good agricultural land to the farmer as any other section of the country, and the tide of immigration into Northwestern Canada is gradually being turned into this part of Minnesota. I agree with Prof. Thomas Shaw of the state agricultural experimental station, who says that if the true agricultural value of this country had been known to the outside world, there would not now be in the state a single farm for sale or settlement outside a few sandy tracts of limited area, except at prices such as are being obtained for the best farm lands of Illinois, Iowa and other states.

"Prof. Shaw is a disinterested person, and no one can doubt his ability to speak intelligently of what he sees in the way of agricultural possibilities. He has written a letter setting forth his views of Northern Minnesota land in general, and of the region between Duluth and St. Paul, along the old St. Paul & Duluth road, in particular.

He speaks of it in the highest possible terms, and says that it is unsurpassed for general agricultural purposes, dairying and stock raising.

"The region is peculiar. To ride along the railroad one will not notice anything specially attractive about it. This arises from the fact that, first, that much of it is still uncleared or only partly cleared; second, that the railroad runs through much of the least productive portion, and third that the marvelous productive powers of the soil when cropped are not markedly indicated by the growth of the timber in the forest. One must leave the railroad and visit the farms that are under cultivation before he can properly understand the true character of the country.

"Near Barnum there is half a quarter section of land over which the fire ran in the dry summer of 1894. This was sown with medium red clover the following spring. The seed was simply scattered among the unconsumed logs and rubbish that cumbered the land. Over all this area, at the proper season of the year, is a magnificent stand of clover, growing up with the second growth of young trees that have come up since the fire.

"In the same region are meadows that have been sown to red clover for seven and eight years. They will, a little later in the season, be covered with a rank growth of clover, notwithstanding that they have been mowed and pastured every year from the date of sowing. As is well known, red clover generally dies two years from the date it is sown. This condition applies not only to the region around Barnum, but covers a very wide territory. Corn, vegetables, small fruits and grains, with all varieties of grasses, may be grown with remarkable success through the whole region. Nothing in the world can keep Northern Minnesota from becoming one of the leading farming districts of the country."

NO UNION PACIFIC COAL TO BE SOLD IN WINTER.

Cheyenne, Wyo., May 7.—"I look for a greater coal famine next year than ever before, and the Union Pacific, which has always taken care of the people along its lines, will no longer be able to do so on account of the Hepburn bill," said W. L. Park, general superintendent of the Union Pacific railroad, yesterday. "The small dealers have, in a way, depended upon the railroad supply of coal to help them out, but, unless they store their own coal during the coming summer, they will face a famine in the winter. Coal consumers along other lines where a similar arrangement has been maintained by coal carrying roads, will meet the same emergency. The Union Pacific will store coal as usual, this summer, but will have none to sell."

NEW COURTHOUSE PLANS ARE AT A STANDSTILL

Although the new courthouse site has been nearly cleared of the old buildings that formerly occupied the ground, everything concerning the building plans of the new building is at a standstill. Frequent inquiries are heard by citizens and taxpayers as to what will be done this coming year, but up to the present time nobody is known that is qualified to answer the question; in fact, it looks very much as though there would be little or nothing done toward the building.

St. Louis county, as a matter of fact, is without a courthouse commission, a body that, under the new law, must be appointed by the chairman of the county board, and whose duty it will be to have full charge of the construction of the projected building.

Chairman E. M. Patterson of the county board has done his part by reappointing four of the former commissioners chosen by the district court judges, and appointing P. J. Ryan to fill the vacancy by reason of the expiration of the term of office of E. Morcom as a county commissioner.

Up to the present time there has not been an acceptance filed with the county auditor from any of the five men appointed by Chairman Patterson, and there have been numerous rumors afloat to the effect that certain of the appointees do not intend to accept a position on the board. The appointments were made several weeks ago, and the fact that there have been no acceptances filed seems to bear out the report that there is a serious hitch somewhere.

Under the old commission which the supreme court ruling held to be illegal, John J. Wangenstein was employed as architect at a 3 per cent commission on the cost of the building, and the plans were practically completed with the exception of some few details, one being the question of a dome on the building.

At the last meeting of the old board, the commissioners, it is said, were unable to get together regarding the dome question and some other matters, and the impression got out that there would be some vacancies on the commission, even had the supreme court ruling not been made public just about that time.

There is nothing in the law to compel any of the persons appointed to accept the office. No compensation is attached, and, under the circumstances, some of those selected do not seem to be very anxious to assume the duties that will fall to them. The law states that the commission must be comprised of three members from the county board and two citizens and taxpayers outside the board. It also provides that two of the county board members on the commission shall be commissioners from the range.

It is a matter of common knowledge that the range members of the board have never warmed up very much to the proposition of a new courthouse, and the attention that will be necessary to the duties of the office would require their presence more or less frequently in Duluth. This means a long trip by rail and a great deal of bother, without any compensation. This would be true if the most complete harmony ruled, and, in case such harmony were not found, it is certain that a position on the commission would be doubly distasteful to a commission from the range.

No provision was made to fill vacancies on the board if any of the range commissioners declined to serve, and such action on their part would hold up the new courthouse business for at least two years, until the next legislature meets.

The members of the county poor board have filed their acceptances and have taken the oath of office.

MEETING A QUIET ONE

Council Transacted No Important Business Last Evening.

Sidewalk Propositions Up —Water and Light Extensions Ordered.

It was a very dull and ordinary meeting which the city council held last night, and only routine business of a very commonplace nature was transacted.

Sidewalk plans for the coming summer were taken up and a number of them were ordered. About seventy-five avenues and streets are in need of sidewalks at different places, according to recommendations of the board of public works, and the resolutions introduced by the aldermen. It is expected that the entire list will be ordered at the next meeting, as the only reason that any of the propositions were laid over was that the aldermen might have a chance to add new ones before the motion was passed.

The water and light board recommended the following extensions in West Duluth: 600 feet south from Raleigh street, on Fifty-sixth avenue; 500 feet south of Raleigh street, on Fifty-eighth avenue west, and 900 feet north of Raleigh street, on Sixty-first avenue west, at an aggregated estimated cost of $2,761.

* * *

The list of licenses recommended for passage by the police and license committee nearly precipitated a second employment office scrap, as they included an application for a license by the Duluth Employment company, at 526½ West Superior street. Alderman Burgess said that he thought they would be showing partiality if they gave Mr. Sundby permission to do business on Superior street until June 30, and refused the others the same privilege.

Alderman Wilson pointed out, however, that the council could not expect other people to keep the laws it made if it did not keep them itself, and just because the body had made itself ridiculous by compromising with Mr. Sundby was no reason why it should do so again. The police and license committee withdrew the license without a fight.

* * *

Two persons seeking damages from the city filed notice of suits pending with the council, which were referred to the city attorney.

Abraham Hannes fell and injured himself, last April 3, so seriously that he has been confined to a hospital ever since, as a result of two broken planks in the sidewalk at 115 St. Croix avenue. He wants $2,000.

C. A. Sjostedt is the second complainant, and he stepped on a defective man hole cover, on Second street, near First avenue east, fell into the hole, and severely sprained one leg. He wants $3,000.

* * *

The board of public works was directed to proceed with the paving of East Third street from Eighteenth to Twenty-second avenues east, laying a twenty foot roadway, curbed with sandstone, with the grass plots sodded and trimmed, as per a petition which was submitted last evening.

* * *

Alderman Filiatrault introduced a motion directing the city attorney to report to the council as to its powers to force the Duluth-Superior traction company to install the so-called "owl" cars on its lines between midnight and the resumption of the regular service in the morning. Alderman Wilson offered an amendment asking for the council's powers to force the street car company to commence service Sunday as early as during the week.

* * *

The ordinance extending the fire limits from Third avenue east to Eighth avenue east on Superior street, was given its second reading, and passed last evening.

* * *

The council appropriated $300 for the branch laboratory, to be paid $25 each month. This will insure the maintenance of the much desired laboratory during the coming year.

* * *

John F. Mason, Charles L. Bakowsky, Barney Forestal, N. J. Miller, and B. N. Wheeler were appointed referees in connection with the proposed building line easements, whic hare pending in the council, to award damages for the establishment of the building lines. They are to receive a stipend of $20 each for their services.

INSPECTORS REPORT.

Good Roads Amendment Still Gaining on Ballot Recount.

The inspectors appointed by the district court to recount the votes cast for the tax amendment at the last general election have filed a supplemental report which contains additional proof that a miscount was made of the ballots for and against the tax amendment and the good roads amendment. The report covers the recount in Le Sueur and Scott counties.

Out of the total of 3,041 votes cast in twelve towns the recount showed 1,628 in favor of the good roads amendment and 627 against it, and 786 blank ballots. This it is claimed almost completely reverses the original returns made to the state canvassing board.

The recount was made in the villages of Belle Plaine, Shakopee in Scott county and Kasota, Elysian, Waterville, Kilkenny, New Prague, Derrynane, Sharon, Lexington, Le Sueur and Montgomery, in Le Sueur county.

LOVE AND $150,000 IS CURE FOR COREY BREACH.

Pittsburg, Pa., May 7.—William Ellis Corey, president of the United States Steel corporation, is reconciled to his family in North Braddock, and all trouble growing out of the divorce of his wife, Mrs. Laura Cook Corey, has been bridged.

A. A. Corey, father of the Steel corporation president, and others of the family, will attend his marriage to Mabelle Gilman, Mrs. Corey, the mother, always sided with her son, and she was the first of the family to renew intimacy with him. Reconciliation with the father followed.

Several months before the marital troubles of Corey and his wife were made public, Corey made a gift to his mother of $150,000 in United States Steel bonds. She since has been drawing interest, and, it is said, may realize on the bonds whenever she pleases.

Skin of Whole Body Covered for a Year—Awful Itching Kept Sufferer Awake Half the Night—Tried All Kinds of Remedies but They Had No Effect.

CUTICURA REMEDIES A PERFECT SUCCESS

"I wish to let you know that I have used one set of Cuticura Remedies—one cake of Cuticura Soap, one box of Cuticura, but two vials of Cuticura Resolvent Pills—which cost me a dollar and twenty-five cents in all. For a year I have had what they call eczema. I had an itching all over my body, and when I would retire for the night it would keep me awake half the night, and the more I would scratch, the more it would itch. I tried all kinds of remedies, but could get no relief. A friend of mine told me to try the Cuticura Remedies which I did, and am very glad I tried them, for I was completely cured. If any of my friends should be troubled with the same disease, I will cheerfully recommend the Cuticura Remedies, and if I know any one who wants to know how I cured myself, I shall be glad to tell them. BAD CROPS NOT FEARED

Time Enough Yet in Northwest for Full Yields of Grain.

Chicago, May 7.—Secretary of Agriculture Wilson declared yesterday that the recent reports of damage to the crops from the unseasonable weather and the ravages of bugs have been greatly exaggerated. He added:

"Spring seeding is a little backward on account of the cold weather. There is plenty of time between now and the last of September to grow a crop of all kinds of grain. In the states of Minnesota and the Dakotas, where we get much of our spring wheat, seeding has been delayed about two weeks but, with a few days of warm sunshine, planting will be in full progress. While the weather has been unseasonably cold, in some districts, still it has not been a severe enough to retard plowing and my advices are that fit ground in those states has been nearly all ready to receive the seed. We will have warm weather in a few days now and I don't see what is to prevent a normal crop of spring wheat in these states.

"As regards the Canadian Northwest, the claims being made that this year's harvest will be diminished, may have some foundation. According to what I consider authentic advices from that section of the country, the weather has been so cold that plowing has been almost impossible. In past years, the Canadian farmer has generally left his plowing for the spring and this year he finds himself in a bad position. In a normal year, seeding would be about half finished in Manitoba and adjoining provinces, but I am told that today the farmers in that country haven't got the ground ready for receiving the seed even if the weather was favorable for this week.

"In the Southwest, there has been numerous claims for the past three weeks of serious damage being wrought by 'green bugs.' The reports of damage to the winter wheat have been grossly exaggerated. I am in a position where I get as good information as anybody regarding the growing crop. While I have had many reports about the green bug, still the damage wrought by these insects has been local in every instance and there has not been any general attack by this pest as some people are endeavoring to make it appear. From my knowledge of the Southwest, where so much of our winter wheat is grown, the advices I had at hand lead me to believe that the Southwest will have its usual crop this year. This applies to oats and corn as well as wheat. The crop, as a whole, may be delayed somewhat in ripening, but not enough to cause any apprehension. Corn will suffer the most, as plowing for this crop has been delayed considerably, but I see no cause for apprehension.

"There is considerable grain grown between Washington and Chicago, and from my personal observation of this part of the United States, I can state without any reservation, that I never in my life saw brighter prospects than are prevailing at the present time. Taken as a whole, there is no cause for complaint and I think it will be found, when threshing time comes around, that all this cry of crop damage has been made for a purpose."

ROYAL WELCOME TO JAP PRINCE

English Royalty Receives Cousin of Mikado in Style.

London, May 7.—A royal welcome was given to Prince Fushimi, cousin of the emperor of Japan, when he arrived at Victoria station last evening, as special envoy of the emperor, in return for Prince Edward of Connaught's visit to Japan, the object of which was to convey the Order of the Garter to the emperor.

The prince of Wales and other members of the royal family, Premier Campbell-Bannerman, the cabinet ministers and a number of army and navy officers of high rank greeted the Japanese prince at the station. Then followed a brilliant state procession, with what is known as a "sovereign escort" of troops, through cheering crowds to Buckingham palace, where Prince Fushimi had an audience of half an hour with King Edward.

The prince afterward proceeded in state to York house, where he will reside during his stay in London. The prince was accompanied by Admiral Yamakoto, ex-minister of the navy, and a distinguished suite. Soon afterward, King Edward formally returned the visit.

FOR FRAUD IN BOILER TUBES

Three Men Put on Trial for Conspiring Against Government.

Pittsburg, May 7.—The case of J. J. Dunne, Charles L. Close and Frank Emmett, former employes of the Shelby Tube Steel company of Greenville, charged with conspiracy to defraud the United States government in connection with installing alleged defective tubes on the war vessels Pennsylvania, Louisiana, Maryland, Charleston, Nebraska, Minnesota, Vermont, Washington and Tennessee, was called yesterday in the United States district court, before Judge Nathaniel Ewing. Emmett pleaded guilty and waived hearing, and United States District Attorney John W. Dunkle explained that he had turned state's evidence.

Mr. Dunkle stated that the Shelby Steel Tube company had been manufacturing tubes for the navy department since 1898, but that the conspiracy charged was entered into in 1902, the defendants being superintendent and assistant superintendent of the Greenville mill of the company. The alleged plot continued until 1905.

AMERICAN NEWS NOTES.

Tuberculosis infection from bovine and other germs versus infection through human germs was discussed at length yesterday at the meeting at Washington of the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis.

William Parks, aged 47 years, an inmate of the National Soldiers' home at Washington, shot and seriously wounded James Leslie, aged 35, also an inmate, and afterward committed suicide.

Three hundred and eighty men in the car repairing and refining departments of Armour & Co.'s packing plant at Omaha struck yesterday because they claimed they did not receive the raise in pay granted to other employes last week.

Three hundred and fifty laborers in the Brooklyn plant of the American Sugar Refining company struck yesterday for an increase of 3 cents an hour in wages.

Henry R. H. E. McIver, a soldier of fortune whose exploits have been carried on in many lands, was found dead in bed in New York city yesterday.

The house of Robert Woodson, a negro, of Henry county, Ind., was wrecked by an explosion of dynamite Saturday night, but no one was injured badly. There is no clue.

Two thousand operatives of the Rio Blanco textile mills at Orizaba, Mex., and 1,000 from the mills at Nogales are on strike, and the streets are thronged with excited and restless men who are ready for an outbreak.

The Missouri house of representatives passed yesterday a bill prohibiting agents of distillers and brewers from obtaining dramshop licenses, while the senate passed a bill which had already passed the house making it a crime to procure fraudulent signatures to petitions for or remonstrances against dramshops.

Three children named Dominique were burned to death in their home at Blind River, Ont., yesterday.

Secretary of War William H. Taft will deliver a non-partisan address before the Milwaukee Merchants' and Manufacturers' association June 10, according to a letter received yesterday by President W. N. Fitzgerald.

Benjamin Carter, a negro strike-breaker, was stabbed in the back, two negroes were arrested for carrying firearms, and patrolmen and members of the state constabulary were fired on, last night during a riot between white men and negro strike-breakers at the plant of the Sligo Iron & Steel company at Connellsville, Pa.

The strike of over 1,200 machinists in the Pittsburg district inaugurated when their demands for a 10 per cent wage increase and shorter hours was refused, is gradually assuming a serious aspect. State constabulary has been called into service.

Diplomatic relations between Mexico and Guatemala have not yet been severed. Last night the Mexican sub-secretary of foreign affairs, Jose Algara, denied the report from Washington that Minister Gamboa had been recalled.

A PRAISEWORTHY ATTEMPT.

In the commercial prosperity that is coming to Duluth there is danger of forgetting the cultural side of life and the necessity of such development.

The American attitude is one that is liable to tend toward hurry and bustle and the development of the material prosperity, leaving the cultivation of the arts to a later period or the next generation. The necessity and value of the arts is not denied but the individual support which is so necessary is often allowed to lapse because of a too earnest attention to other and more material matters.

Duluth will have opportunity this month to give support and interested attention to a May festival of music which will be presented by the Duluth Oratorio society, an organization which has been working many months to be enabled to present a worthy rendering of two of the beautiful oratorios.

A symphony orchestra has been engaged with outside soloists prominent in the oratorio and concert field and this May festival will be given with sincere and artistic aspiration.

The society has as directors some of the prominent business men of the city who realize the educational value of such effort in a community, but to make the season a successful one it is necessary that the people of the city evince the interest of which the festival will be worthy.

The value of success in this undertaking will not only be to those who attend the performances but as advertising for the city, for the proposed festival is already the subject of much talk in the eastern musical centers. Duluth has not been famed for its support of high class musical attractions, but this effort of its own society should be encouraged and liberally supported.

FATE KIND TO THE CHILD.

"Goody! My hat's not hurt a bit," cried Mary Kelly, the 14-year-old daughter of a poor Indiana farmer, as she was picked up bruised and scratched after a leap in fright from a fast-flying electric train. And yet not one of those who heard her even smiled at her remark.

The child's utterance was not prompted by the vanity that masculine wit attributes to all femininity possessed of new and gaudy attire, but was a simple, sincere expression of childish gratitude at the salvation of what was to her the most precious of her meager properties. Still it was such a hat as would have provoked either a sneer or a cold smile of utter disdain from the "spoiled darlings of fashion" in any one of the larger cities of America.

The child who had saved, penny by penny, the small amount needed to purchase one of the very few "best hats" of which her modest life could boast, had gone to the nearest large town to buy what the "modiste" called "a confection" suited to a young girl. All day she had devoted to this momentous duty. Proud of her simple purchase, she could not resist the temptation to wear it home.

Wrapped up in the contemplation of her millinery triumph, Mary forgot the passing of time and was carried beyond the station near her home. In her affright, she jumped from her seat, ran down the aisle and leaped from the electric train. Fate was kind to her, as it often is to youthful innocence, and when the train was stopped and run back to her, she was found badly bruised but with no bones broken.

And her precious hat was safe, for kind fortune had dealt gently with her most prized treasure. To her this meant infinitely more than the safety of her head or limbs; hence her exclamation of joy.

To Miss Morosini who wears a $100 hat a week and tosses it aside as a worn-out plaything, the child's ejaculation of rejoicing over the salvation of her $2 piece of millinery would be incomprehensible. But to the great mass of womankind of America to whom new hats are almost epochal, the "Goody! My hat's not hurt a bit" touches a sympathetic chord that makes one and all want to felicitate little Mary on her rare good fortune.

ABOUNDING PROSPERITY.

Though the clearness of the May day sky in the industrial world was marred a little in some places because of more or less trifling disputes between employers and employes over incidental details of their mutual relations, generally the situation was remarkably and happily smooth, and it remains so. Duluth has been having a bit of a disagreement in its building work, but no great harm has been done so far, and the prospects are good that even this dispute will be soon cleared away.

Not in years has the general situation been so peaceable at this season of the year. Apparently labor is fully employed and well paid, and that means good business for those whom the workers patronize, and prosperity through a wide circle of enterprises and industries.

Last winter's little Wall street ruffle to the contrary notwithstanding, the country is still overflowingly prosperous. The panic in Wall street had a slightly dampening tendency for a time, because at first people did not know that it had no relation whatever to general business conditions, and that it was a purely local ailment, not in any sense constitutional.

Factories are still working at full force, and have orders enough on hand to keep them busy for a long time to come. Labor is well employed everywhere. Trade is good in all lines, excepting only such slight halting influence as the late spring has naturally had.

The Manufacturers' Record recently polled the great industries all over the country, and the result exceeded even the most hopeful expectation. Here are a few of the replies that were received:

"There is an abundance of work for every one who wants to work, whether in city or country. The purchasing power of the people is unprecedented, and furnishes ample activity in every line of commerce and activity."

"From the standpoint of proposed hydro-electric development the outlook may be described as phenomenal."

"Every mine, quarry, furnace and mill is being pushed to the limit of its capacity, their output being absorbed with the unfilled orders awaiting their turn for shipment. The savings banks show enormous increase in their deposits."

"Our prospects never appeared brighter. No apparent let-up in sight; unfilled orders largest in history."

"The outlook for state, country and municipality improvement considerably better this year than we have ever had in our business career of twenty years. Greater number of land reclamation schemes contemplated for the coming year. Have never had such a great and imperative demand for machinery used in building, water and sewerage systems, irrigation, canal dredging and ditches and concrete work."

THE BUILDING STRIKE.

A widespread sense of profound disappointment follows the announcement that the employers and employes in the building trades failed to get together and settle their differences last night.

The hope of the public now rests in arbitration, and it is to be hoped that the warring interests will avail themselves of this just and convenient means of extricating themselves from their present difficulty. The position that "we have nothing to arbitrate" is usually untenable. If it means anything, it means a claim that right is all on that side. If that uncommon circumstance be the case, a side so fortunately situated should have nothing to fear from fair arbitration.

The developments last night showed that the difference is not so great as the public had generally supposed. The contractors are willing to concede increases to a part of the men, and the difference between the strikers and their employers is by no means too wide for prompt adjustment.

Consideration for the future of Duluth, which is being more or less jeopardized by the condition, and for the comfort and convenience of the public upon which, after all, both employers and employes depend for support, should dictate a prompt acquiescence in the proposal to submit the dispute to arbitration.

The public is not likely to look kindly upon the failure of an effort so praiseworthy and so just.

AS TO A THIRD TERM.

The announcement in The Herald the other evening, given in a Washington dispatch, that at the proper time President Roosevelt will set at rest all reports that he is a candidate for a third term, is probably correct, and if it is true it is proof that the confidence bestowed by the public upon this popular president has not been misplaced.

While a very large proportion of the people, regardless of politics, would be glad to see President Roosevelt given a third term, it would be a dangerous experiment for him, and one of very doubtful expediency for the nation. Not that there is any danger for the nation in his occupancy of the highest position in the land, but that there is some danger, however slight, in making the incumbency of this important office too long.

Of course it wouldn't really be a third term, because it would only be a second election, but practically it would be a third term after all, for the death of President McKinley occurred very early in his second term, and when Roosevelt rose from vice president to president he had all but six months of the four years ahead of him.

As to Roosevelt personally, the danger to him would be that in a third term events might occur to rob him of the high place he has taken among the nation's presidents. The public is fickle, and while it idolizes him now, it wouldn't take very much of a slip to make it execrate him just as heartily. It would only be by the greatest of good fortune that he could work through another term without some error of judgment that would destroy his popularity. As it stands today, history is likely to rank him among the greatest constructive statesmen of the nation, and his faults of impulsiveness will be forgotten.

The Chicago Tribune, one of the leading Republican newspapers of the country, has lately come out against a third term, repeating its attitude of 1880 when it opposed a third nomination for General Grant. It says:

> No man is good enough to be president forever, and the Tribune, for one, will not admit that among the 80,000,000 people in the United States there is not one so good as Theodore Roosevelt who may be chosen to succeed him in the White House.

The impression that a third term nomination would be a grave mistake and a great injury to Roosevelt himself is growing, and it will be advisable for the president to relieve himself of the awkward situation in which the third-term boom places him by a public reiteration of this remark, made on election night in 1904:

> The wise custom which limits the president to two terms regards the substance and not the form. Under no circumstances will I be a candidate for or accept another nomination.

It isn't as though he were to be lost to the public use by the expiration of his incumbency. Anybody that can imagine him sitting idly back and letting things go contrary to his views has a vivid but wholly misleading imagination.

HOTEL GOSSIP.

A certain local railroad man, a member of the passenger department forces, who frequently is seen around the lobby of the Spalding, is an enthusiastic bowler. He always is ready to try his skill in the game, and it keeps his friends busy accommodating him in this line. There is one man in town, however, who is just as great an enthusiast as the passenger individual in question, and these two may frequently be seen at a local alley, engaged in a hot contest.

Bowling is rather warm work, and induces a strong thirst. It has been the custom of this particular pair to drink an ocasional beer while in the game, and afterwards to repair to some nearby thirst parlor and take in an additional, though very moderate supply, just enough to assure themselves that they would not have to get out of bed during the night to hunt for a drink of water in the dark.

One night last week they ran on to a group of friends in the place where they were wont to spend their money for drinkables, and, following out the rule for such occasions, everybody bought. Shortly after this the pair ran across some more friends, and later on a few more. The upshot of these various encounters was that both grew rather hilarious.

The railroad man could navigate very nicely, but his friend couldn't. The load was greater than he could carry, so the railroader and another well-wisher carried it for him, which, of course, necessitated carrying the man himself.

Next day the railroad man got out of bed at noon, washed, shaved and ate a hearty breakfast. He felt fine. An hour afterwards he met the other fellow, whom it will be safe to call John, because that wasn't his name. John was looking very seedy. He looked as if he ought to be in bed in fact, and said he felt the same way.

"Come on, have a drink; it will put you on your feet," said John's friend.

"Not on your life," John responded, making a wry face. "I have sworn off. I'll never take another drink of intoxicating liquor as long as I live."

John's friend didn't believe this at first and tried all day and all that evening to get John to leave the water wagon to its fate, but John was obdurate. The railroad man began to believe that his friend really was in earnest. Imagine his surprise, therefore, the next night at the conclusion of a bowling game with another friend, he encountered John in anything but a sober condition.

"Come on, old man, have a drink," said John.

"But, you told me only yesterday that you would never take another drink as long as you lived, and here I find you drunk."

"So I did, so I did," acknowledged the happy John, "but when I told you that, hic, I didn't expect to live this long."

A. J. Perrin, general agent in Duluth for the Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic road, with offices in the Spalding block, started for the Union depot at 5:15 p. m. yesterday to catch the South Shore train to Superior. It so happens that the train in question is due to leave the Union depot at 5:15, so by the time Mr. Perrin arrived in the train shed the last coach was just leaving it at the far end.

"She stops in the yard to pick up another coach," volunteered a friend. "You can catch her easily."

The South Shore man took the friend at his word, and started to hit up an astonishing pace through the train shed. Meantime the train was gathering speed. Not in the least discouraged, Mr. Perrin put his own speed at a higher notch, and was clipping a few seconds from the world's sprinting record down through the yard when he was hailed from the Sixth avenue viaduct, after he had passed under it. The shouting from above was so insistent that the runner paused and looked over his shoulder.

"Hey there," came the voice, "don't be in such a hurry; that train will be back tomorrow."

And Mr. Perrin didn't see it again until it did get back, for it didn't pick up a car in the yards.

THE WEATHER.

And still it is only, at best, nearspring weather. This morning it was partly cloudy, distinctly cool, and there was a chill in the northerly winds. While the weather man expects the temperature to rise tonight and tomorrow, he also expects fresh northeastcrly winds with light rain or snow. Last night's lowest temperature was 24 degs. and yesterday's highest was 48 degs.

A year ago today it was clear and comfortable.

The sun rose at 4:42 this morning, and sets at 7:26 this evening, making 14 hours and 42 minutes of sunshine—behind the clouds.

Says Mr. Richardson of conditions: "Barometric disturbances central over the Ohio valley and Mexico caused light to heavy rains during Monday or last night in Atlantic states, eastern lake region, the Ohio and Lower Mississippi valleys. A low pressure area has appeared over Alberta and is causing scattered snow flurries throughout the Northwest and rising temperature north of Montana. The barometer is high over the Red river valley and Pacific coast states. Freezing weather prevailed again last night in Western Canada, the Dakotas, Montana, Northern Wisconsin and near Lake Superior. Conditions favor light rain or snow in this section tonight and Wednesday."

Abilene	56	Memphis	58
Asheville	54	Miles City	30
Atlanta	60	Milwaukee	38

Department of Agriculture, Weather Bureau, Duluth, May 7.—Local forecast for twenty-four hours ending at 7 p. m. Wednesday: Duluth, Superior and vicinity, including the Mesaba and Vermilion iron ranges: Generally cloudy tonight and Wednesday with rising temperature and probably light rain or snow; lowest temperature tonight about 30 degs.; fresh northeasterly winds.

H. W. RICHARDSON,
Local Forecaster.

Chicago, May 7.—Forecasts until 7 p. m., Wednesday: Wisconsin: Fair tonight and Wednesday; probably frost tonight.

Minnesota: Partly cloudy with possibly rain Wednesday and in west portion tonight; rising temperature.

North and South Dakota: Partly cloudy with possibly showers tonight or Wednesday; warmer.

Upper Lakes: Fresh northeasterly winds tonight and Wednesday; generally fair weather.

Varieties of Brains.

Chicago Tribune: Famous brains are four sorts. The lowest group contains the minds that are stimulated greatly by alcohol, tea and other drugs, and by impressions derived from the senses; the second group contains the infant prodigies, whose intellectual powers wane in middle age; the third group contains the pathological cases usually terminating in insanity; the fourth and highest group is that of true geniuses, whose powers remain unimpaired until old age. This is Hausemann's classification.

Spitzka has come to the conclusion that men eminent in exact sciences like astronomy and mathematics have the greatest average brain weight. Next come the men of action, including statesmen and artists, and after these come the biologists, geologists, and other representatives of the descriptive sciences.

Then and Now.

THEN.

If I should ask one favor, dear,
Tell me what you would say?
Oh, would you bid me go from here,
Or would you bid me stay?
If you should ask one favor, dear,
You wonder what I'd do;
I would not bid you go from here,
My favors are for you.

NOW.

I like your nerve in asking me
To press your Sunday suit;
Oh, what an easy mark I'd be.
And wouldn't I look cute?
Who used to press your baggy clothes
Before our wedding day?
I just won't do it. Goodness knows
I wasn't reared that way.
—Detroit Free Press.

Couldn't Support It.

Yonkers Statesman: "I see you advertise everything for the baby?" said the man entering the child's bazar.

"Yes, sir, it is the place," said the floorwalker. "What do you want to get?"

"Well, what I want to get is something that will get up out of a warm bed on a cold night and walk the floor."

Calamity As a Political Asset.

New York World: Marse Henry Watterson thinks the Democrats might win "if cholera should break out in the Philippines, yellow fever in Cuba, and corn should go to 10 cents a bushel and wheat to 40 cents." Few Democrats would pray for victory at that rate.

The Other Flag.

There is a flag which all men love
With heartfelt warm devotion;
In fact, its worshipers extend
From ocean unto ocean.

Upon its well-beloved field
There are no stars adorning;
No crimson stripes bedeck its length
With streakings of the morning.

There is no song to chant its praise
In patriotic measure,
And yet to scream its glories forth
All men esteem a pleasure.

Although no men have died for it
We think some need it badly,
And for the baseball pennon bright
Would lynch the umpire gladly.
—McLANDEBURGH WILSON in the New York Sun.

Sultan's Ragged Soldiers.

Chicago News: The sultan's army suggests a regular country circus. Every Friday one may see a sample of these monkeylike soldiers at the parade of the Selamlik, which takes place on the Kasba square at 11 a. m. A battalion marches past in double column and salutes the governor, who goes from his palace to the mosque.

All these warriors are poorly equipped. Their uniforms have lost their color and their trousers are too short, showing their legs, which shine as if they had been covered with shoe polish. However, it would be a mistake to think that this gang of ragged ruffians could not stand a fight. Fanaticism will make heroes of them, for their contempt of death is absolute.

Bryan in Chicago.

Chicago Tribune: Chicago has the honor of entertaining Prof. Bryan Mathyuze, the eminent simplifier of spelling, who is about to shy a few bricks at the establisht ortragrafy.

A Great Chance Gone.

Springfield Union: Washington correspondents reported that Harriman was lost in the capital city the other evening. If he had only stayed missing, what a chance there would have been for a counter-conspiracy story.

A syndicate of Chicago and New York capitalists, headed by H. H. Porter of Chicago, have concluded the negotiations for the purchase of the Duluth & Iron Range Railroad company, and the Minnesota Iron company. The terms are private, but the consideration is said to have been large. Mr. Porter is understood to have in view extensive rolling mills at this point and such facilities for the manufacture of iron as will be second to none in this country.

George Holland has returned from a week's business trip to Canada.

James Faulkner went up to Tower with his pack yesterday. He will be joined there by a couple of explorers and some Indian guides and will spend the next month in exploring the iron district.

MINNESOTA OPINIONS.

Fairmont Sentinel: It was peanut politics that influenced the legislature to kill the bill designed to permit the people to nominate United States senators.

Barnum Star-Gazette: The way that Northern Minnesota residents are awakening to the beauties of this country they live in, is refreshing, and if every one would act in a way that would bring settlers, this part of the state would come into its own and be the van guard of "them that are."

Sauk Center Herald: Independence in thinking along political lines is one of the distinguishing features of these opening years of the twentieth century. Just watch the next presidential election and see how many voters kick over the party traces.

Cannon Falls Beacon: The studied effort of corporation papers to present Mr. Fairbanks as a conservative candidate for the presidency is too apparent. Mr. Fairbanks is a reactionary, an anti-Roosevelt, anti-reform, anti-control corporation mainstay, and the people know it.

Sauk Rapids Sentinel-Free Press: Governor Johnson in appointing Prof. McVey, former Senator Lord and ex-Congressman Hall as the members of the tax commission, seems to have hit it just right again. John A. is one of the luckiest chaps that ever came from St. Peter.

Fergus Falls Wheelock's Weekly: The ease and promptness with which the railroads accept the new 2-cent passenger fare law, suggest that other changes may come to pass in due time without absolutely bankrupting the great "national highways of commerce."

Bemidji Sentinel: A headline in the Minneapolis Tribune says: "Taft is assured of Minnesota's support." Now, who went and done that?

Little Falls Tribune: The president had a few pleasant hours the past week. He received a call from Tim Byrnes, vice president of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad. Tim used to be ours out here in Minnesota. His smile was broad as the prairies, and it certainly cheered up the White House some this week. Tim's smile will help fix up a good understanding between the government and the railroads.

Big Falls Compass: Minnesota may be a young state, but it is too old to be an Attorney Young state.

St. Cloud Times: T. D. O'Brien has resigned the office of state insurance commissioner, and will again devote himself to the practice of law. His service to the state has been very valuable. He was the means of abolishing the fee system by which former insurance commissioners received upwards of $20,000 annually in fees, and he has been instrumental in securing certain remedial legislation affecting insurance. Mr. O'Brien's administration of the duties of the office have been able, honest and beneficial.

Watterson on Bryan.

Louisville Courier-Journal: The newspapers and politicians of a certain brand are so busy manufacturing a Republican president in succession to Mr. Roosevelt that they lose sight altogether of a possible Democratic president. Man proposes, God disposes. In American politics, hardly less than in French ethics, the unexpected often comes to pass. Stranger things have happened than Mr. Bryan in 1909.

Let us therefore be just to Mr. Bryan. We may no longer whistle him down the wind as merely a boy orator. Standing betwixt Mr. Hearst on the one hand and Mr. Roosevelt on the other, Mr. Bryan seems a conservative. No one can truthfully aver that he is not clean and attractive. He has laid down no ultimatum as to a platform.

We live in a day of formative politics, and Mr. Bryan is fond of political speculation. He is a popular lecturer—maybe something also of a philosophic acrobat. Why should he not keep three, or even four, balls flying above him without serious menace to the audience below?

Pointed Paragraphs.

Chicago News: A miserly father makes an extravagant son.

You can't fool some of the people any of the time.

Men who make good use of their time have none to spare.

Chronic kickers soon develop a whine that won't wear off.

Speaking of shade trees—most family trees are more or less shady.

A quiet wedding is but a curtain-raiser for a strenuous afterpart.

Reflections of a Bachelor.

New York Press: A woman has an awful good time hoping other women envy her.

Only the devil seems to be willing to work merely for the fun there is in it.

Either a girl has to have a new hat or a flirtation, or she can't help having the blues.

If you send a girl flowers often enough, her mother might as well give up trying to make her think you aren't a man of high ideals.

FRAGMENTS OF FUN.

Baltimore American: "She let fall a few remarks—"

"Is that why she spoke in such broken tones?"

Cleveland Leader: "I know a stenographer who can write 400 words a minute."

"Gee! That's almost as fast as they write letters on the stage."

Detroit Free Press: Mrs. Atkinson—How are you going to like your new neighbors?

Mrs. Johnson—Not at all. Their furniture is old and they draw the window down at night.

Cleveland Plain Dealer: "Dodkin says he has discovered a new asthma cure."

"He ought to experiment with it on some of those wheezy old jokes of his."

Baltimore American: First Scion of British Nobility—Barcaeres was desperate, wasn't he?

Second Ditto—Yes, poor old chap! Married an American heiress.

Philadelphia Press: "Brightly and his associate have a good motto for their paper," remarked Joakley.

"What is it?" asked Poakley.

"What we have we hold."

"O! I see; referring to their circulation. By the way, I didn't know they were in the publishing business."

"They're not. They manufacture flypaper."

Washington Star: "Of course you know something about that candidate's political opinions," said the trusty advisor.

"I don't care a rap about his opinions," answered Senator Sorghum. "How are his epigrams?"

The Failure.

Out-at-elbows, devil-may-care,
Vagabond, loafer, free as air,
Friendless, penniless, void of pride
(Glad that the "dear dead past" had died),
Brother, he, to the wastrel wind
And the open sky—and he found them kind.

Unloving, unloved, a nameless rover,
Wandering aye the wild world over,
Now north, now south, now east and west,
Where living is easiest and best;
Heedless of sun and wind and rain,
Scornful of toil, of worth and gain.

Wayfarer on the endless road,
His home the world-free man's abode—
His wealth the wealth of earth and sky,
His deed a beauty-loving eye;
Ever the guerdon of change he trailed,
And who shall say that he has failed?

MILLIONS GO TO WOMAN'S NIECE

Mrs. Emma J. Richardson's Estate Nearly All for Mrs. Washburn.

New York, May 7.—By the will of Mrs. Emma J. Richardson of this city, who died in Charleston, S. C., Saturday, her fortune estimated at $6,000,000, is left to Mrs. William Tucker Washburn, a niece, after $500,000 is divided among various churches and charities. Mrs. Washburn's daughter, Miss Emma Lucy, will get the millions ultimately, as she is her mother's heir. She is given several hundred thousand dollars as a wedding portion. She is to be married next month to Sydney Bardsley Wood of Bridgeport, Conn.

Mrs. Richardson was the widow of Joseph Richardson, who died in 1897. Mr. Richardson came into public notice some years before his death when, because of an illegal dispute with a neighbor, he built what became known as a "spite house" at Eighty-second street and Lexington avenue, on a strip of land which had a frontage of only seven feet and was about 100 feet deep. This unique house was his home until his death.

ROOSEVELT HONORED BY THE SEAMEN'S FRIEND.

New York, May 7.—President Roosevelt was elected an honorary vice president at the seventy-ninth annual meeting of the American Seamen's Friend society yesterday. The president, it was said, made his first public speech, when a young man, in the society's room.

MILLIONAIRE DIES SUDDENLY

Vice President of American Tobacco Company Stricken at Dinner.

New York, May 7.—Charles E. Hallwell, vice president of the American Tobacco company and one of the heaviest stockholders in the corporation, died suddenly of apoplexy in the Holland house last night, having been stricken while at dinner with his bride and a niece. Prior to the formation of the American Tobacco company, he was at the head of the Leggett & Myers Tobacco company of St. Louis. He was reputed to be worth $20,000,000. He was 50 years of age, and was married in October last to Miss Ruth Alice Cole, a trained nurse, who had nursed him through two dangerous illnesses.

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., May 7.—John H. Platt, editor of the Poughkeepsie Eagle and one of the best known newspaper writers in the state, died at his home here, yesterday, of pneumonia.

Jacksonville, Ill., May 7.—George W. Shephard, probably the largest man in the central states, weighing 535 pounds, died yesterday of paralysis. He was 51 years old.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

MINNESOTA

TREASURER RUNS AWAY

Town Official in Morrison County Said to be a Defaulter.

An Alleged Discrepancy Discovered in Accounts of E. W. Sullivan.

Little Falls, Minn., May 7.—An alleged discrepancy of $500 has been discovered in the accounts of E. W. Sullivan, treasurer of the town of Porker, in Morison county. Sullivan said he was going to the county seat on business and did not return.

He had a large family, which was increased by the birth of a child last week. He was bonded for $500.

The board of county commissioners recently decided to float a county bond issue of $45,000 to pay off the floating debt of the county. They advertised for bids at 3½ per cent, and while there were representatives of several bonding companies present, no bids were made, the interest being considered too low. The commissioners then applied for a state loan of $45,000, and failing to get it, will readvertise for bids at 4½ per cent a year.

HAD ENCOUNTER WITH WOLVES

Peter Pyette of Baptism River Hits One With an Ax.

Beaver Bay, Minn., May 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—While hauling logs one day last week, Peter Pyette of Baptism River, Minn., had a peculiar encounter with wolves. Mr. Pyette was fully a half a mile from home when he heard the howling of wolves. Before he had time to go any distance he saw two of them. Mr. Pyette was in a dangerous position, as he only had an ax for defense. He, however, lost no time but quickly threw the ax, it striking one of the wolves, which set him howling and screaming upon the ground. The other one, frightened at his companion's screams, quickly took to the woods. Mr. Peyette, though frightened at first, soon gained control and killed the animal.

Peter Pyette, proprietor of the summer resort at Baptism River, is making a number of improvements on his resort, as he expects to have it opened about June 1.

BARON KUROKI AT ST. PAUL

Makes Short Stop and is Cheered Lustily by Japanese Residents.

St. Paul, May 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Baron Kuroki and party, en route to Washington, arrived in St. Paul on the Northern Pacific from Seattle, at 7:00 this morning, and departed forty minutes later on the Burlington road for Chicago. The party did not leave the station. There was a large crowd present to greet the distinguished guests of the nation, among them being a great number of Japanese residents of the Twin Cities, who cheered the baron and his party lustily.

STANDARD RETALIATES.

Boosts Price of Oil in Minnesota on Account of Adverse Legislation.

St. Paul, May 7.—As a retaliation for enactment of the anti-discrimination law by the recent legislature, aimed particularly at the practices of the Standard Oil Company of Minnesota, the oil trust has boosted prices of illuminating oil and gasoline in the state so that the people will have to contribute $145,000 more than they have paid heretofore for the same amount consumed.

This is what the independent oil dealers say. In addition, they claim the Standard is now actually discriminating in Minnesota, selling a certain brand of oil in the large cities for one price, and the same brand of oil in the country districts for a much higher price, under a different brand name. The independent companies assert they will be able to prove the two oils are actually one and the same thing.

MINNESOTA IN BRIEF

Mankato—W. R. Williams of Minneopa has been appointed superintendent of the new state park here by State Auditor Iverson. He succeeds J. B. Hodge, who has been superintendent since the park was started. Mr. Williams has lived in the county for fifty years and his farm adjoins the park.

Winona—The new appointive officers under Winona's Democratic administration took their places Monday. All the Republican patrolmen were turned out and the force organized on a strictly partisan basis for the first time in years.

Deputy Game Warden H. P. Felgate has arrested Frank Cisewski and Frank Modrzejewski for using a hoop net in a fishway. He also found another net containing seventy pounds of bass and is on the trail of the owner.

WISCONSIN

TWO TRIALS FOR MURDER

Scheduled for Present Term of Bayfield County Circuit Court.

Calendar Contains Several Other Cases of Much Importance.

Washburn, Wis., May 7.—Two murder cases, one burglary, one gambling and one for unlawful selling of liquor are to be tried on the criminal calendar at the extraordinary term of circuit court for Bayfield county, which convened in this city yesterday. There are also thirty-seven cases on the civil calendar.

The first case for murder is that of John R. Toutloff of Bayfield, charged with the killing of Dell Relle, a Milwaukee man, in a saloon at Bayfield last fall.

According to witnesses Relle was shot by Toutloff during a quarrel over a game of dice, the shot entering the jaw of Relle and lodging in his head. He died in a hospital at Ashland a few days after the shooting.

District Attorney E. C. Alvord will prosecute the case for the people and Toutloff will be defended by Attorney John Walsh of this city, assisted by an attorney from Ontonagon, Michigan.

The case promises to be an interesting one and will perhaps occupy the attention of the court for several days.

The second case for murder is that of Amanda Gunderson of Spooner, who is charged with the murder of an infant child at Bayfield during the winter. The remains of the child were found in a ravine at Bayfield a couple of weeks ago, and upon investigation it was found that it had been strangled to death by having a cork rammed down its throat. Miss Gunderson was arrested, charged with the crime, and is now awaiting trial.

The other criminal cases are against Maggie Coslin for burglary, William Barhardt for gambling, and E. W. Gidloff for unlawful selling of liquor.

BLACK WALNUT LUMBER

Secured From Trees Planted in Wisconsin Over Fifty Years Ago.

Kaukauna, Wis., May 7.—The Kaukauna Lumber & Manufacturing company has just purchased and sawed into lumber some black walnut logs which had been grown from the seed in this vicinity. Over fifty years ago Mrs. E. Tuttle brought over from Michigan with her some black walnuts which she planted and this winter William Tuttle, her son, had to remove the trees which had grown from the seed as they were too close to the house. He much regretted to lose them on account of their value. The trees had grown eight to ten inches in diameter, and were converted into valuable lumber at the mills above stated. Such lumber is considered almost priceless and easily stands second to rosewood and mahogany in price, and is even harder to obtain, being much more scarce than mahogany.

BADLY BURNED.

Eau Claire Child Injured While Assisting on "Clean City" Day.

Eau Claire, Wis., May 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Helen Smith, 6-year-old daughter of Henry Smith, was probably fatally burned while working with other children on "Clean-City Day." Several children close by ran for the mother, who rolled the child in a blanket and carried it into her home. The frantic parents did all in their power to save the life of the child, which is despaired of.

VOUGHT GRANTED A REPRIEVE BY COURT.

Asaland, May 7.—M. H. Vought, who was convicted of taking money illegally from the town of Morse, and sentenced to spend a year in the states prison at Waupun, has been granted a reprieve by the supreme court of Wisconsin and admitted to bail pending the hearing of the case in that court.

WISCONSIN IN BRIEF

La Crosse—The old adage of "three times and out" is not exemplified in the case of Almera and David Blisch of Wonewoc, Juneau county. Twice Mrs. Blisch started divorce proceedings against her husband and withdrew before the case came to trial. The third time the proceeding went through to a bitter finish, the property was apportioned between them and the two went their separate ways. This was three months ago. Now they are remarried.

Shell Lake—While walking in the yard a sheep attacked Mrs. Caroline Lindstrom, throwing her to the ground. She was bodly injured. Mrs. Lindstrom is 93 years old and the shock of the accident may prove fatal.

Washburn—Amanda Gunderson, the 19-year-old Spooner girl who is in the county jail here awaiting trial for the murder of an infant at Bayfield, may decide to plead guilty. It is said she has made a confession of the entire affair to her former mistress, Mrs. Newton Wiley of Bayfield. She is charged with having killed her babe by running a cork down its throat. The girl is in a state of mental collapse.

Chippewa Falls—Bishop Schwebach of La Crosse was here Sunday to confirm three hundred and fifty boys and girls at Notre Dame and Holy Ghost churches. This was the largest number in the history of the two churches to be confirmed at one time. On Tuesday he will confirm fifty at the Tilden church and next Sunday will be here again to confirm eighty at St. Charles church. The total confirmed in this city will thus be about 500.

UPPER MICHIGAN

DELAY IN MESSAGES

Expensive to Ontonagon Who Sues Western Union for Damages.

Cases Filed in County Court and Will Come Up Soon.

Ontonagon, Mich., May 7.—Declarations for two damage suits against the Western Union Telegraph company have been filed in the county clerk's office. James Mercer is plaintiff in one and C. Meilleur is plaintiff in the other and Arthur H. Brown is their attorney. Each is asking for $2,700 and the cases are identical.

It is alleged that on May 1, 1901, Horace J. Stevens of Houghton wired them that there would be a ten to twenty quick rise in Mohawk, advising a quick purchase. There was a delay of several hours in the delivery of the messages and as a result Messrs. Mercur and Meilleur each purchased 100 shares of Mohawk at $52.

This was followed by a rapid decline in price of the stock and the plaintiffs claim that they lost $13.50 per share, which they are asking the Western Union to reimburse them, together with interest for six years and costs.

Hundreds of investors found themselves in the same plight as Messrs. Mercer and Meilleur and relief is sought in the courts. Suit was brought some time ago by one who had suffered a loss by the delay in the delivery of the message. He secured a verdict and the case is now in the United States supreme court. Similar actions will undoubtedly be filed against the company.

It is more than likely that the defendant will take these cases to the United States circuit court for trial.

COPPERDOM COMPANIES

Will Not be Affected by Governor's Order Abolishing Canteens.

Calumet, Mich., May 7.—Governor Warner has decided to take a hand in the anti-canteen battle. He has directed that a general order he issued prohibiting canteens in any National Guard armory in the state. The order does not affect Calumet any, for the simple reason that canteens are not in use here. Houghton is also immune from the order. It is probably aimed at the largest cities in the state where canteens are known to be in use.

A statement from Lansing is to the effect that the governor is not in this case taking sides with Capt. Shipman of Detroit in his row with the light infantry officers there, but is acting on his own judgment that canteens should not be allowed.

TO INVESTIGATE TRACT

That the Steel Corporation May Buy on Isle Royale.

Marquette, Mich., May 7.—A large force of land lookers is leaving Menominee range and other points this week for Isle Royale, Lake Superior, to estimate the timber on a big tract of land preliminary to its purchase by the United States Steel corporation.

There are 87,000 acres involved, all of which is under option to the company. The land is owned by an English syndicate and, aside from being heavily wooded, is said to be copper bearing.

MET INSTANT DEATH.

Norman Johnson Falls Down the Shaft at the Tamarack Mine.

Calumet, Mich., May 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Norman Johnson, the 17-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Chris Johnson, met instant death in falling down Tamarack shaft, No. 5 on Saturday. He was coming up with other miners in a cage and from some cause unknown, fell over into the shaft when the cage was about half way to the top. It is believed that he had a fainting spell or became sick which caused him to fall. He is survived by his father, mother, brother and two sisters. The inquest resulted in a verdict of accidental death in accordance with the facts given.

BIG EQUIPMENT

Employed by Railroads in Ballasting Tracks Across Chapin Mine Pit.

Marquette, Mich., May 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Nearly 200 men, four train crews, nearly 200 flat cars and two large steam shovels are now employed by the Chicago & Northwestern and Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railroads in the work of filling and ballasting the tracks across the Chapin mine pit at Iron Mountain. The daily expense probably exceeds $1,500. It is certain that the work will continue throughout the season. The ground at this point has been sinking for years, the result of underground mining operations, and the pit has attained large proportions. It is fully 200 feet deep at its greatest depth.

WORKMAN BADLY HURT IN STEPHENSON'S MILL.

Menominee, Mich., May 7.—(Special to The Herald.).—While oiling the machinery at the I. Stephenson mill Saturday afternoon, Xaxier Buchanan had his left arm badly injured. Several of the muscles in his right arm were lacerated and one of them was pulled out, while a large amount of skin was torn from the injured member.

DAKOTAS

JAPANESE USES AN AX

Bellboy at Grand Forks Hotel Attacks Fellow Worker.

Overpowered Before He Succeeds in Inflicting Serious Injury.

Grand Forks, N. D., May 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Japanese employed in the city, have, as a whole, made satisfactory servants. They have usually been very quiet and of a peaceful nature, but one of them went wrong and gave evidence of a fighting temper Saturday night. Crazed by Liquor Tom Tamon, a Japanese bell boy, made a murderous assault on Morris Held, elevator boy, in the lobby of the Hotel Dacotah, about midnight. Tamon used a vicious looking brush axe, used by hunters, as his weapon. He inflicted a severe cut on one of Held's fingers, but was overpowered by J. D. Bacon, proprietor of the hotel, before he could use the axe again.

Following the attack Tamon threw himself on the floor of the hotel lobby and feigned that he was overcome by liquor. Police Chief Lowe arrested him and took him to the city jail, where he was searched and placed in a cell.

Tamon has had more or less trouble with the American bell boys who are employed at the hotel as well as with Held. Tamon had been drinking and he quarreled with Held. Blows were exchanged and Held landed on the Jap. The Jap hurriedly drew the hunting axe from his jocket and struck viciously at Held. Held sought to ward off the blow and received a gash on one of his fingers.

The Jap is believed to have planned to use the axe. It is said that earlier in the day he had asked for a revolver, but was refused. The axe was Tamon's property and a part of an extensive hunting outfit.

The Jap was arraigned Monday, charged with assault with a dangerous weapon and bound over to the district court. He was unable to furnish a bond of $300 and went to jail.

MISTAKE OF SIGNAL MAN

Ditched Great Northern Engine and Nearly Caused Wreck.

Grand Forks, N. D., May 7.—The Great Northern Winnipeg flyer left the track at Warren early Saturday morning, and what narrowly missed being a terrible disaster with an appalling loss of life was averted by the prompt action of the engineer, John Nelson, of Crookston. Nelson was the engineer on the Winnipeg flyer, which left Crookston Saturday morning at 2 o'clock, bound for the north. At the Soo crossing at Warren a block system is in operation controlling the tracks of both the Soo and the Great Northern. By means of this block system the tracks are held for a train on either the one road or the other, according as to whether they have right-of-way by reaching the crossing first. The tracks are controlled by a man in a block tower by the use of levers. It is claimed that the man on duty was asleep and awoke with a start to find the Great Northern flyer and a Soo freight train making for the crossing at the same time. The track was set for the flyer, but the man, it is alleged, suddenly saw the Soo freight coming down and lost his head, throwing the stop signal on the flyer, which had almost reached the crossing, and throwing the track open for the Soo train, which was slowing up in response to the signal which had been set for it. The flyer was coming along at a good rate of speed when the engineer suddenly saw the stop signal sprung and the tracks ahead thrown open. The tracks are arranged so that the man in the tower can ditch one train rather than have it ram the other. When Nelson saw this he immediately threw on his air brakes and reversed his train, and by his prompt action stopped his train in time to keep it from going into the ditch although not in time to keep his engine and the first trucks of the mail car from leaving the rails. A crew was sent out from Crookston and hauled the train back to Angus and late Saturday forenoon the engine was pulled back onto the tracks and the train proceeded on its way. No one was hurt.

CAUGHT BY OLD GAME.

William Morris of Ward County Separated From Hard Earned Money.

Grand Forks, N. D., May 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—It has just come to light that William Morris, a well-to-do farmer of Ward county, was severely bitten by a smooth individual in Minneapolis last week and is short the sum of $72, but the gainer in a knowledge of the old worn out "baggage" trick which has cost many an unsuspecting Rube some lose change in times past.

Morris met a stranger in Minneapolis. His newly made friend said he was headed for the same town and he and Morris would ride together. Lacking change to get his baggage, he borrowed $72 from Morris, giving him as security a bogus check for $750. The stranger came back and the two started on the trip. The friend, however, apparently had no baggage, and left the train at Hopkins. The police of Hopkins reported the matter to the Minneapolis police and Morris left for home, passing through here back to Ward county to think it over.

FOUND NEIGHBOR DYING.

Stricken With Paralysis Pioneer's Body Was Almost Covered With Snow.

Parker, S. D., May 7.—Suffering a stroke of paralysis while on a lonely road and lying for hours before he was found, caused the death of Samuel Stockland, a pioneer resident.

While J. D. Gross, a neighbor of Stockland's, was driving home through a heavy snowstorm he came upon the body of a man in the road. The unconscious form was covered with snow, except a portion of one foot. Gross discovered that it was his neighbor, Stockland.

How long the old man had been in the road before being found is not known, but it must have been some hours.

SIX HORSES BURNED.

The Barn of John Currier, Near Arnold, Destroyed by Fire.

Bismarck, N. D., May 7.—Saturday afternoon the large barn of John Currier situated on his farm two miles from Arnold was burned and with it six horses belonging to R. A. Yeater, who was putting in the crop. The horses were being used on plows by the two sons of Alderman P. A. Peterson of this city. They were just about to take them out of the barn to renew their work when flames were discovered, and before more than one horse of the seven in the stable could be removed the place was all ablaze and it was impossible to get the other six animals out, and they were destroyed with the harnesses, a wagon, and a number of other farm implements and some hay and grain.

TRAVELING MEN

To Consider the Division of the Grand Council at Next Meeting.

Grand Forks, N. D., May 7.—Among the questions which will come up for consideration and possible action at the coming session of Grand Council, U. C. T., to be held in Grand Forks in June, will be that of dividing the jurisdiction of the grand lodge. The membership of the councils comprising the grand council has grown amazingly since the grand council was organized and there is more or less sentiment in favor of a division and the organization of another grand council.

EIGHT-YEAR-OLD HANGS HIMSELF WITH STRAP.

Hankinson, N. D., May 7.—Rollin Forman, aged 8 years, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Forman, hanged himself with a shawl strap Sunday afternoon. The child was playing near the exhaust pipe of the gasoline engine that runs the printing press, and had tied one end of the strap around his neck and the other end around the exhaust pipe, and the supposition is that he was trying to see how long he could hold his breath, and had drawn the strap too tight and lost consciousness. His father called to him, and as he did not answer, went to see what was the matter, and found the child choked to death.

DAKOTAS IN BRIEF

Fargo, N. D.—The sessions of the grand lodges, A. O. U. W. and Degree of Honor, will be held in Fargo on May 21 and 22, and representatives and visitors will be in attendance from all parts of the state. The Degree of Honor is the ladies' auxiliary of the A. O. U. W.

Hundreds of pension vouchers were destroyed in the wreck at Bartlett on April 15. Scores of vouchers intended for veterans of the Civil war, which had been mailed to them by Pension Agent Coe of Milwaukee, were destroyed. Agent Coe says he has been notified by nearly 200 North Dakota veterans of the non-receipt of their vouchers.

Minot, N. D.—Under the impression that he was about to step upon firm ground, Jess Skinner of Bird Island, Minn., stepped off the extension bridge near Gassman Sunday evening about 9 o'clock, fell over 100 feet and was instantly killed. He was 34 years of age and leaves a wife and four children.

Eureka, S. D.—Louis Feinstein unexpectedly ran upon a lynx, which had wandered many miles from its abiding place in the timber along the Missouri river. He was driving from Eureka to Zeeland, and noticed that his bird dog had cornered something in the grass by the roadside. Alighting from his buggy, Feinstein was startled to see the lynx jump from the grass and run up a telephone pole. Fortunately Feinstein was armed with a revolver, and succeeded in killing the big cat.

WINS $4,750 DAMAGES.

Daughter of Mayor of Oshkosh Gets Verdict From Wisconsin Central.

Oshkosh, Wis., May 7.—A verdict of $4,750 for damages was given by a jury in circuit court to Miss Metha Banderob, daughter of Mayor John Banderob, against the Wisconsin Central Railway company. Miss Banderob sued for $5,000 damages, compensation for personal injuries which she sustained by falling over a low wire fence which formerly surrounded the depot property. Miss Banderob declared that her arm was broken in such a manner that she cannot use it properly.

THREE MEN KILLED IN IRON RIVER MINE.

Marquette, Mich., May 7.—A dispatch from Iron River Sunday evening reports three men killed by a blast in the Dober mine, owned by the United States Steel company. The dead are Will Erickson, William Lind and Frank Rosebund.

A fourth man narrowly escaped.

TO BUILD BRIDGE ACROSS THE MENOMINEE RIVER.

Menominee, Mich., May 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—The management of the Wisconsin & Michigan railroad contemplates building a bridge across the Menominee river between Marinette, Wis., and Menominee, Mich. The road will also extend its main line to Iron Mountain and push the work on the two branches. Work on the Noque Bay branch has already been started and that on the western branch will be taken up within the next two or three weeks. The road is taxed to its utmost capacity at present in the ore and log traffic. The company will also operate their beautiful summer resort, Misouno Inn.

RESPONSIBLE FOR BOUNCER

Saloonkeeper Must Pay When Man Put Out is Hurt.

Brainerd, Minn., May 7.—That a saloonkeeper is liable for damages to a patron of the place inflicted by a barkeeper is held by the supreme court in the case of Ellen L. Merrill, administratrix of the estate of Truman D. Merrill vs. John Coates, doing business in Brainerd as the John Coates Liquor company.

In November, 1905, Merrill came into Coates' saloon and ordered a drink, but refused to pay for it. Leon J. Rafidal, the bartender, had a discussion with Merrill lasting half an hour or more. Then a stranger interposed and asked Merrill to buy the drinks for the crowd. Merrill said he would, but Rafidal refused to sell the drinks. Merrill abused Rafidal and Rafidal in turn reached over the bar and knocked Merrill down. Then he went around the bar and dragged or carried Merrill out and left him on the sidewalk. A couple of hours later Merrill was found there and taken to the lockup, where he died an hour or so later. His wife sued for damages and recovered $2,061.60. The case was appealed to the supreme court.

SWINDLERS VANISH.

St. Cloud Police Can Find No Trace of Dr. Peffer and Wife.

St. Cloud, Minn., May 7.—Dr. Alfred E. Puffer and his wife, who conducted the St. Cloud Viava company, disappeared ten days ago, and it has been discovered that they left numerous creditors, and that there are many victims of their sharp dealings.

Warrants have been issued charging them with obtaining money under false pretenses and selling mortgaged property. It is thought they are on their way to Australia. Among their victims is Mrs. Elizabeth Rigby, who paid the couple $800.

SECOND TRIAL

Of Walter Kramer Against Sister-in-Law to Come Up Soon.

Lake City, Minn., May 7.—A new trial in the $5,000 libel suit of Walter Kramer of this city against his sister-in-law, Mrs. Viola Perkins, has been granted and will come on at the next session of district court in Wabasha. Kramer alleges that Mrs. Perkins wrote libelous statements against him to his wife. The case was tried before Judge Snow last fall, and a decision returned for the defendant. Since that time Mrs. Kramer has left her husband as the result of certain testimony given at the trial.

NICOLLET COUNTY COURT CONVENES.

St. Peter, Minn., May 7.—Judge I. M. Olsen convened the May term of the Nicollet county district court today. Among the cases to be investigated by the grand jury are four against St. Peter saloonkeepers charged with selling liquor to minors, and another against Fred R. Phillips and C. F. Brooks, Le Sueur county farmers, accused of highway robbery. There are twenty-six cases on the civil calendar.

BABES LEFT ALONE, PERISH IN A FIRE.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., May 7.—A special from Blind River says: Three children were burned to death in a house here at 11 o'clock yesterday while their mother was away. The oldest was 5 years old and the youngest 6 months. The mother, a widow named Dominique, went to a neighbor's after building a big fire in a stove, leaving the children alone. In a short time after the place was discovered to be on fire, but the neighbors were unable to rescue the children. The mother is almost frantic with grief.

ACTRESS DIES AS THE RESULT OF STAGE FALL.

Kenosha, Wis., May 7.—Julia Rowland Kilroy, "Julia Rowland," an actress until two months ago, starring in "The Cowboy Girl," wife of William Kilroy, and a sister of Edward Rowland, one of the directors of the Central States Amusement company, died in this city Sunday night after a two months' illness. Her death resulted from a fall from a pony on the stage of a Boston theater. Mrs. Kilroy was a member of the vaudeville team of Kilroy and Brittion and was well known as an entertainer. She had taken her first starring role a short time before the accident occurred. She was 38 years of age.

STEEL HEAD SALMON.

Fifty Thousand Fine Fry Received at the Hatchery at Munising.

Marquette, Mich., May 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Fifty thousand steelhead salmon fry have been received at the fish hatchery of the Cleveland Cliffs Iron company at Munising. They came from the state of Washington through the United States fish commission and were in splendid condition. In due time they will be planted in Alger county waters. The steelhead salmon planted three years ago in the Autrain river have already attained a remarkable size and last season furnished fine sport for anglers, who took many of them.

GARDEN TO HAVE ROAD.

Soo Line Surveyors Are Mapping Out Extension From Cooks Station.

Marquette, Mich., May 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Garden and other communities in the Bay de Noquette country, on the Lake Michigan shore of the upper peninsula, are to have railroad communication with the outside world. Soo Line surveyors are in the field, mapping out the route of an extension from Cooks station to Garden, and it is understood that the new stretch of road will be built before next fall. Much traffic is in sight from the lumbering and agricultural interests of the region to be tapped.

PENINSULA BRIEFS

Menominee—After having obtained a large quantity of liquor and partaken of the drink, Harry O'Connor, Clarence Labouf and Joseph Kling, whose ages are between 9 and 11 years, were found in a drunken stupor by the police Sunday afternoon. Physicians who were summoned pronounced the condition of the boys as serious, having little hope for their recovery.

Calumet—Rudolph Simmonson, a tinsmith at Tamarack mine, watched a woman take a bundle to the woods at Tamarack park this morning and leave it there. He investigated and found the body of a dead child, newly born, which evidently had been strangled. The authorities will arrest the woman.

WHY SO WEAK?

Kidney Troubles May Be Sapping Your Life Away. Duluth People Have Learned This Fact.

When a healthy man or woman begins to run down without apparent cause, becomes weak, languid, depressed, suffers backache, headache, dizzy spells and urinary disorders, look to the kidneys for the cause of it all. Keep the kidneys well and they will keep you well. Doan's Kidney Pills cure sick kidneys and keep them well. Here is Duluth testimony to prove it.

J. H. Tomlin, lather and contractor, of 112 West Palmetto street, Duluth Heights, says: "What I said in recommending Doan's Kidney Pills, six years ago, was not only true, but the cure I described at that time has been permanent, and I am pleased to inform other sufferers of this fact. My case was a severe one, and it clung to me persistently for two years. The backache finally got so bad that I was obliged to lay off from work for days at a time, and I suffered such pain that it hurt to bring the slightest strain on the muscles of the back and loins. The kidney secretions were irregular, and I was unable to rest well at night. All these irregularities yielded promptly to the treatment, and the result was a permanent cure."

RECORD IS EXCELLENT

Police Report Shows Remarkably Small Percentage of Crime.

Policy of Police to Keep Out Suspicious Persons.

Duluth is keeping up her record as an orderly city in fine style, and the police record for last month is a credit to the department. The late spring, the large number of woodsmen who have been tied up here for much longer periods than usual, and the late opening of navigation, have combined to make conditions during the past month decidedly auspicious for the breeding of crime, and yet the total arrests during the thirty days of April were only 373, seven more than last year, when the total was 366. This increase is not even large enough to be in proportion to the growth of the city, and is in fact so slight as to be inconsiderable.

One little item in the report tells as plainly as anything the policy maintained by the police, which is keeping up such a fine conduct record. "Fifty-two persons ordered out of town," reads the item. Suspicious characters, men who have no known record criminally here, but simply suspicious characters, are carefully attended to by Chief Troyer and his corps of subordinates.

This is directly opposed to the policy maintained by the majority of police departments which tolerate the presence of criminals of notorious records within their borders upon the simple stipulation that they commit no crime there. The advantage of the Duluth system is ably demonstrated by the records.

Of the 373 arrests during April 212 were drunks, one a woman. Twenty persons were arrested for disorderly conduct. One forgery suspect was bound over to the grand jury, three insane persons were apprehended, and one person was convicted of trying to pass confederate money.

The detective department of the force has a good record to its credit, as seven fugitives from justice were apprehended and turned over to the respective claimants.

The vigorous campaign which has been instituted this spring against gambling, bore fruit during the month and eighteen arrests were made from among the members of the knights of the green cloth.

RAILROAD NEWS

THE FINAL EXCURSION

Spring Buyers' Rates Will Become Effective Next Sunday.

New Rate Law Will Knock Them Out After That.

Special low rates to Duluth on account of the spring buyers' excursion will become effective next Sunday, May 12, and will be good returning May 14 to May 30. These rates were secured through the Jobbers and Manufacturers' association of Duluth, and are for the accommodation of merchants in the territory tributary to this city who wish to pay a visit to some of the local houses.

While in the past these rates have been effective twice yearly, in the spring and fall of the year, the probabilities are that this is the last time they will be in force, because of the new rate law. When the new law passed the legislature it was feared by local interests that the rates would not be put in effect this spring, even, but as the roads had virtually promised last fall that they would be in force this spring, the Jobbers & Manufacturers' association managed to complete arrangements all right.

It appears to be the policy of all the roads to cut out all special rates, now that the 2-cent fare is effective, and if this is done Duluth will be left out in the cold so far as the buyers' excursions are concerned. Other cities in the state will be treated the same way, however. The excursion this month will give a better rate than ever before, because of the regular 2-cent rate. Under the old order of things the special rates were one and one-third fare for the round trip. They will be the same this month, but will be based on a 2-cent instead of a 3-cent fare. On the Omaha, Duluth, Missabe & Northern, and the Duluth & Iron Range roads, the fare will be one and one-fifth, while on the other lines entering the city, namely, the Great Northern, Northern Pacific and Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic, the fare will be one and one-third for the round trip.

All the tickets will be sold on the certificate plan. The certificate obtained from the ticket agent at point of staring, together with he membership card, must be presented in Duluth at the office of the secretary of the association. If correct, the secrtary will sign the certificate. When so signed, it will be exchanged at Duluth for the return ticket upon payment of one-fifth or one-third the one-way fare, as explained. The tickets are good only over the route via which the original ticket was purchased. Without a membership card, or application for such issued by a Duluth wholesale firm, manufacturer or banker, the return railway certificate cannot be validated.

The rates apply to Minnesota, Wisconsin, Michigan, Nebraska, North and South Dakota and Iowa, except from St. Paul, Minneapolis and Stillwater.

HARD PART COMPLETED

All Now Plain Sailing With the Rainy Lake Road.

Heavy Work Finished—The Laying of Steel Begins.

From now on everything will be plain sailing with the construction work on the Duluth, Rainy Lake & Winnipeg railroad extension to the border. For the past ninety days there has been no steel laid, because of a large amount of heavy rock work that had to be done, but now these cuts are completed, and the laying of steel will be taken up again this week.

Nothing but labor troubles can further delay work on the extension, and there is small possibility of anything along this line occuring to interfere with the completion of the contract. The several hundred men employed are all receiving good wages, and seem well content with conditions. The scale of wages being paid, in fact, is much higher than the average being expended for the same class of work by other railroads just now, and the men are well satisfied to stick to their jobs.

The railroad will certainly be finished to the border within the next ninety days, and early in July the whistle of this road's locomotives will be heard on the banks of the Rainy river. It is expected that the border people will have some kind of a special demonstration when the last spike is driven, or when the first train puts in an appearance. Land values are advancing in the fertile territory tributary to the new line, and residents of that section of the state are eagerly awaiting the inauguration of train service over the extension. The same may be said of Duluth business houses, which are vitally interested in the opening of this rich territory. Duluth will be the distributing center for the whole region.

Getting New Cars.

The Duluth & Iron Range railroad is is in the market for ten refrigerator cars, which will be ordered within the next few days. The United States Steel corporation, which controls the Iron Range and the Duluth, Missabe & Northern roads, has asked bids on from 6,000 to 8,000 freight cars, most of which will be gondola cars of 100,000 pounds capacity. It is understood that 3,000 of them are for use on the Lake Shore & Eastern and 3,000 on the Union railroad, the remainder to be divided among the different roads controlled by the corporation. Some of them are said to be for the Missabe and Iron Range lines.

SHE KNEW.

"Miss Janet is a long time coming down," he said to the pretty parlor maid. "Perhaps she is—ha, ha—perhaps she is making up her mind whether to see me or not."

The maid smiled coldly.

"No," she said, "it is not her mind that she is making up."

SURFEIT OF THEATERS IS PROMISED DULUTH

Four New Houses Are Said to be in Prospect.

Rumors and Gossip of the Projected Play Houses.

If all of the dreams of new theaters come true, Duluth will play in the big league theatrically speaking.

During the past year, it has been announced officially and otherwise that no less than four new theaters would be erected in this city in the comparatively near future. Work on none of them has started yet but it is claimed that all of them will be built.

Three theaters are in commission here at the present time and if all of the four proposed places of amusement are really built, there will be six. According to simple addition, in connection with the figures mentioned here, there should be seven but the total of six is explained by the announcement that the Metropolitan opera house, on West Superior street, is about to be torn down by the Wisconsin Central Railway company.

Of the four projected theaters, all of them will be devoted, directly or indirectly, to vaudeville. Of these at least three are planned for use next season. The fourth will be devoted to Klaw & Erlanger's "advanced vaudeville" and will probably be built the season after next.

While the sponsors of the other two are quoted as saying that their places will be opened next season some time, W. H. Longstreet, manager of the Metropolitan and the man who is about to build one of the four scheduled for next year, is positive that unless unforseen obstacles prevent, his new theater will be opened next fall.

The acquisition by the Wisconsin Central road of the Metropolitan opera house property makes it imperative that Mr. Longstreet have a new home for the Empire circuit shows next season, if he would remain in that organization. He states that he will be in the circuit next season and that he will have one of the most up-to-date burlesque houses in the country under his management.

Mr. Longstreet declines to go into details about his new theater but says it will be located on a downtown site and will be built as soon as possible. A few minor details must be straightened out before definite announcements concerning the new burlesque and vaudeville house can be made.

The men behind the Bijou theater, which is doing a nice business on Superior street, just east of Lake avenue, are said to be harboring a plan for another vaudeville theater. They propose to erect a larger house than the Bijou, to house higher class acts than their present place. They do not, however, contemplate a discontinuance of the Bijou, feeling that there is a clientele here for both houses and they are loath to dismantle or give up such a profitable proposition as the Bijou has proven to be.

G. A. Kobald, manager of the Dominion theater of Winnipeg, is the latest aspirant for local theatrical honors. He has built, on paper, a first-class vaudeville house, costing $100,000 or $150,000 and seating 1800 people or more. Several sites are in contemplation but none has been selected yet. Mr. Kobald is credited with the statement that his house will play the Orpheum circuit attractions, which statement, if true, means that the other projected Kohl & Castle house will not be built. Mr. Kobald's Dominion theater plays many Orpheum-Kohl & Castle circuit acts. His new theater will likely be called the Majestic. The Kohl & Castle booking office is announcing such a theater for Duluth.

SHRINERS IN HOSTS AT LOS ANGELES COUNCIL.

Los Angeles, May 7.—Under auspicious circumstances, the thirty-third annual session of the imperial council, Nobles of the Mystic Shrine, began this morning with thousands of Shriners from all parts of the country in attendance. The last of the special trains carrying delegations from Eastern cities arrived last night. According to the registration bureau at general headquarters Los Angeles now shelters over 30,000 strangers.

WHITE MEN ARRESTED FOR MURDER OF FAMILY.

Pensacola, Fla., May 7.—Joseph Stanley and M. C. Smith, white, were arrested yesterday charged with the murder of the Ackerman family of white persons in the Santa Rosa county, near here about a year ago. The charred bodies were found in their burned home. An investigation showed that several of the older members of the family, particularly the father and mother, and oldest son had been struck over the head and their skulls crushed.

SHORT CROP FIGURED ON

Chicago Grain Dealers Believe Wheat Yield Will be Light.

Cold Weather Largely Responsible But Stories Conflict.

Chicago, May 7.—The unseasonable weather throughout the grain sections of the West has radically changed the situation in the grain markets, but reports from various sections are so contradictory that commission houses have been at sea as to the actual damage.

There is, however, a general belief that the crop will be short as compared with that of last year, both in wheat and oats, the estimates of the deficiency running as high in winter wheat as 100,000,000 bushels. In addition to this the extreme cold which has prevailed almost continuously in the northwest part of this country and in Canada, has greatly delayed seeding. The loss of acreage that will result is a matter of conjecture, but the general belief on the board of trade here is that it will be considerable.

General rains were reported today from Missouri, Illinois, Nebraska, the valley of the Ohio river and a slight rainfall in Kansas, and with warm weather, it is possible for the wheat crop to materially improve, but there is today no indication of the immediate approach of higher temperatures.

It is said that the corn acreage in Kansas and Oklahoma this year will be the largest ever known, because of the plowing up of oats and wheat.

SPANISH STORK RATHER DELAYED

Coming of Heir to Throne Not Expected for Weeks More.

Madrid, May 7.—It was semi-officially announced yesterday that the accouchement of Queen Victoria might be expected by the end of May. This announcement was subsequently contradicted by Dr. Guttierez, the specialist, who is in permanent attendance at the palace, who declared that the royal baby should have arrived before this.

There was much surprise in the comment at the discrepancy in these statements, and careful inquiry was made with the result that the official statement issued the beginning of the year placing the event the latter part of May turns out to be correct.

The incident has caused both indignation and amusement, and it was revealed that the court physicians who issued a report on April 2 saying the accouchement probably would occur the latter part of April were in error. The newspapers demand that some one be made to answer for this mistake, which has kept the nation on the tiptoe of needless excitement and entailed many premature preparations. They instance that the fact that that twenty bishops have arrived at Madrid within the last ten days in order to be in readiness for the birth of the heir.

LONG SHOT WINS DERBY

Classic Kentucky Event Run on Very Muddy Course.

Favorite is Scratched and Dark Horse is Winner.

Louisville, May 7.—Moving past a reeling field with an ease which his clumsy, lumbering stride did not indicate, Pink Star, the longest-price horse in the race, yesterday won the Kentucky derby by two lengths from Zal, with Ovelande in third position, a length and a half away. The race was run over a track almost fetlock deep in mud, and the time, 2:12 3-5, was the slowest in the history of the race. Over 30,000 people saw the race run, Congressman and Mrs. Nicholas Longworth being among the most prominent of the visitors.

The thirty-third running of the Kentucky derby furnished an unusually open betting proposition, due largely to the heavy track, which caused the withdrawal, shortly before the race, of Arcite, a colt which had been overwhelmingly the favorite in the future books. Boxara and Holdfast were also scratched, leaving a field of six, with Red Gauntlet installed as favorite at 3 to 2, with a heavy play on Ovelande and Wool Sandals, each quoted at 3 to 1. Zal at 8 to 1 had some little support, but Orlandwick, at 10 to 1 and Pink Star, at 15 to 1, were virtually overlooked. In some books as good as 20 to 1 was laid against the winner, who closed at 12 to 1 on the strength of a little play by sharpshooters.

The field was sent away to a good start. Wool Sandels jumped into the lead, but relinquished the honor to Zal. Bolando and Zal, with Wool Sandals and Ovelande alternating in second place, set a stiff pace for the first six furlongs, considering the condition of the track. Red Gauntlet and Orlandwick see-sawed along behind, and trailing six lengths in the rear ran Pink Star. By the time the mile was reached Zal had all but Pink Star, who had moved up from fourth place, in distress. Thousands acclaimed Zal the winner as they turned into the stretch, not seeing Jockey Minder uncouple Ping Star. The big bay colt speedily closed up the four lengths between him and Zal, successively mowing down Wool Sandals and Ovelande with the greatest of ease. Half way down the stretch Pink Star's pink muzzle showed in front, and the race was won. From there on to the wire Pink Star held the race safe. Zal and Ovelande, hard ridden, were unable to improve their positions by so much as a nose, and Pink Star went under the wire a winner by two lengths, a distance which he could apparently have increased if driven. The favorite, Red Gauntlet, remained in the fifth place almost the entire race, and when called upon in the stretch the best he could do was to move into fourth place ahead of the wobbly Wool Sandals and the very tired Orlandwick.

The winner is a bay colt by Pink Coal and Dam Mary Malloy, and owned by J. H. Woodford.

"Smiley" Smith, as a manager, is an unknown quantity to Duluth baseball fans. They know that he played good ball for Houghton last year; they know that he is a gentleman on and off the field; they know he has a good head and knows baseball, and now they are waiting for results.

The team hasn't been successful on the training trip, if one may take the aggregate result of the games played as a criterion. They have lost consistently and by large scores and if one were to judge the team by the scores, the fans would be clamoring for the whole outfit to be fired. But such is not the case. The fans of Duluth are fair. They are willing to trust to their own judgment rather than form opinions on results of games played on a training trip and under favorable circumstances. They believe that Smith's men can deliver the goods and they are willing to wait and see for themselves.

Before the opening of the regular season, there are five games to be played here. If the fans see those games and make due allowance, they will be able to tell by next Wednesday whether or not the squad as it is made up at present is worthy to represent Duluth. It is well not to pass judgment until they have seen the boys work. Give Smith every encouragement and if appearances are not deceitful, he will work night and morning to give Duluth a team which will land something better than the last place in the percentage column.

* * *

The opening of the baseball season is approaching and still the warm weather, which is necessary to baseball enthusiasm, hasn't come. But the fans are beginning to talk and by next week, the whole circuit will be alive with baseball talk. Pennant predictions are impossible. Winnipeg looks best so far. Duluth is yet to be proved. Houghton and Calumet are unknown quantities. The Copper country towns may be depended upon to do something, though, for, after taking the first two places in the race last year, they aren't going to see all honors go away this year without a struggle.

* * *

Tomorrow night at Los Angeles, the much vaunted question of supremacy between Jack O'Brien and Tommy Burns will be decided, and one idol will fall. Incidentally, the opponent for Bosher Bill Squires will be chosen and May 30 will see the trying out of the antipodean.

KID WANTS JOHN WILLE

West Superior Man is Willing to Fight Chicagoan.

Austin, Champion of Canada, After Tom McCune.

The refusal of Tom McCune to take on the "Kerry Kid," said "kid" tipping the beam at over 20 pounds above McCune, causes Frank Hayes, the manager of the "Kid" to come back with an offer to put him on with John Wille or Jim Barry. Hayes' letter to the sporting editor of The Herald is as follows:

"I saw in the morning paper that McCune's manager said the Kerry Kid was too big for his man. Well, I thought he would take the Kid on as he was willing to let McCune go against Schreck. Now, I have not heard from Caponi and do not know whether he thinks the Kid can stop him or not. If he doesn't want any of the Kid's game, then McCune's manager may send to Chicago and get John Wille of Jim Barry and I will make a match with them. If they will show me where some one will give a purse or the gate receipts will amount to enough for us to fight. We are not looking for any easy money, but want to see something in sight to fight for. The Kid weighs in at 174 pounds."

McCune's reasons for not accepting the Kerry Kid's challenge are obvious. At the present time, when he has two or three good fights in sight with men of his weight, it would palpably be rashness for him to take on the Kerry Kid, with the big difference in weight, which exists between them. He says that if he thought there was anything in it for him, he might challenge the Kid, but there is nothing to gain and he doesn't care to give away so much weight at just this time.

The match in which McCune is to participate this month has not yet been definitely arranged, but will be within a few days. Caponi has accepted the conditions for the match and he will come to the Head of the Lakes as soon as notified. In addition, Vernor Austin, the undefeated middleweight champion of Canada, has wired asking for a match. Austin is at Port Arthur now and he could get here in a short time and at small expense, whereas it is quite an undertaking to bring Caponi from Chicago. It is all up to the club before which the bout is to come off. If the management of the club says Caponi, it will be the Italian; if Austin, the Canadian will go on.

If Austin is brought here for the match, the fight fans of Duluth will see some boxing such as is their portion but seldom. Austin is the undisputed champion of the Dominion in the middleweight division and has never lost a fight. He and McCune came together for six rounds in Port Arthur about a year ago and Tom just about held his own, although Austin gained the decision. McCune thinks that in a lengthier bout, he will be able to put over a haymaker, which will put a crimp in the record of the Canuck and, personally, he would like to see the match with Austin arranged.

WORK NOW THE SLOGAN

White Sox Will Have Strenuous Week of Practice.

Squad Will Probably Not be Changed for Time.

"Smiley" Smith's squad of ball players have a strenuous week before them. The weather is still cold for ball players to canter around, but despite that fact they must get busy and that with a vengeance. The opening of the season is drawing near and their training conditions thus far have not been conducive to the developing of good form.

Work, with a capital "W" stands out on every line of Smith's program for this week. This morning at 9:30, the men were trotted out to Athletic park and this afternoon, they are out again. Tomorrow the same program will hold and every day this week. The pitchers will be given good workouts. They will risk injuring their arms, but they will be urged to work all soreness out so that by the opening of the season, they will be able to go in and pitch a game, without being tied up for a week after with a sore salary earner.

Batting practice occupies a prominent place in the team's work. Hitting is the whole thing in winning games, for no matter how good fielders a team may be, and how good the pitchers may be, no games can be won unless at least some of the men are stinging the ball and can hit when bingles mean runs. Constant practice makes batters and, if they can do it by practice, the White Sox will all be hitting over the .300 mark by the middle of the season.

It is expected that the squad, as it is composed at present, will stand, as Smith hasn't a man on the squad whom he doesn't know can deliver the goods. All the weeding out has been done in Wisconsin, and now Smith will lay away the ax and prepare to get the team as it stands in shape. Cummings has been showing great form on the training trip and Krick also has been throwing good ball. Old Jim Haney didn't get much of a chance, but his south wing is just as good as it ever was, so he says, and those who know him and his record say he will be able to hold his own with the other pitchers. Treadway has just joined the team, but he has been doing a little work privately and he will round into form in a short time.

"Smiley" himself can be depended upon behind the bat. Smith's work last year with Houghton was great. He is steady, has a long head, can handle the pitchers well, and gets them down to second in a way, which augurs poorly for the venturesome baserunners who try any highway robbery. This year he will have the responsibilities of management, so he will not be expected to do as much work as last year, when he caught nearly every game for Houghton. Roy, who has been signed to do the catching when Smith is out, is a steady youngster, who is expected to make good.

Big Tracey on first, is there this year even better than last season. He can pull them down out of the skies, or dig them out of the earth with the same ease. He is hitting at a good clip. Leighty on second has been playing great ball and hitting them out too. Summers is steady and if he doesn't take to chucking them to the bleachers, he is all right. Fagin was not with the squad on the training trip, but in the game at Hibbing last Sunday he showed good form in the field and at bat.

In the outfield, big McCormack and Goldsmith are fielders and stickers such as are needed in an outfield. Both can clout the ball when hits are needed and they will be the mainstays of the club in the slugging department. It is probable that one of the pitchers will be used in the other field after the season opens.

Friday the team will play the Kelley Hardware team at Athletic park. Saturday and Sunday Lethbridge, and Medicine Hat Monday and Tuesday of next week. The season opens Thursday, May 16, with Houghton here.

O'BRIEN AND BURNS READY

Los Angeles, Cal., May 7.—Yesterday wound up the hard preliminary work for "Philadelphia Jack" O'Brien and Tommy Burns, who will meet Wednesday night at the Pacific Athletic club for the heavyweight championship of the world. Both men appear to be in perfect condition and each is confident of victory. The betting remains about 10 to 7 on O'Brien. Burns bet on himself $200 against $500. The sale of seats at the pavilion is already equal to the guaranteeed purse of $30,000.

From present indications the men will enter the ring with less than five pounds difference in weight. For nearly a week Burns has remained stationary at 171 pounds and yesterday afternoon it was announced that O'Brien tipped the beam at the same notch.

Battling Nelson, William Nolan, Bob Ward, Battling Swanson and Abdul, the Turk, are named as O'Brien's seconds. In the opposite corner Billy Woods, Jimmy Burns, Young Brusso and Prof. Lewis will officiate.

Good Words for Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

People everywhere take pleasure in testifying to the good qualities of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Mrs. Edward Phillips of Barclay, Md., writes: "I wish to tell you that I can recommend Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. My little girl, Catherine, who is two years old, has been taking this remedy whenever she has had a cold since she was two months old. About a month ago I contracted a dreadful cold myself, but I took Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and was soon as well as ever." This remedy is for sale by all druggists.

Mme. Yale's Hair Tonic

FOR CHILDREN AND ADULTS

Antiseptic and Hygienic

A Hair Invigorator—Just what its name implies. It supplies nourishment, the elements of growth, which, when absorbed by the hair, strengthens and beautifies it in the same way that sap glorifies the foliage of a tree. Even where the follicles are seemingly dead, if the scalp is massaged daily with Mme. Yale's Hair Tonic a vigorous growth will be produced. It has honestly earned its title of "the great hair grower." It stimulates the most stunted growth and makes the hair magnificently healthy and beautiful. By its use women can provide themselves with a trailing mantle of hair—woman's natural raiment, her birthright.

Mme. Yale's Hair Tonic is prized equally by men and women, particularly when the hair begins to weaken or fade. Cures baldness, grayness, splitting of the hair, dandruff and all diseases of the hair, scalp and beard. One application usually stops hair falling. A nursery requisite; no mother should neglect to use it for her boys and girls, when the hair is made strong in childhood it remains proof against disease and retains its vigor and youthfulness throughout life.

Mme. Yale's Hair Tonic is a colorless, fragrant, delightful hair dressing; neither sticky, gritty, nor greasy; makes the hair soft, fluffy and glossy. Contains no artificial coloring; would not soil the whitest hair; restores original color by invigorating the scalp and re-establishing normal circulation and proper distribution of the live coloring matter. Beautiful hair redeems the plainest countenance, and any one can secure it by using Mme. Yale's Hair Tonic. Now in three sizes. Our special price

If anybody is interested in knowing how many people are going away they should immediately go to a cleaning establishment. One can sit there for a half hour and hear of more departures than the society column can chronicle in a week. Everybody is going away, according to the story that they tell the placid girl at the cleaning establishment. Yesterday an irate young woman flounced into the place where one may have French dry cleaning and dyeing done if one has enough money, and announced in firm and decided tones as she chose a stool upon which to sit, "I am going to sit here until you find that suit that I brought here five weeks ago, and I won't move a step until I get it," she said.

"All right," said the busy young woman, who is partly blonde and quite buxom and whom nothing can ruffle out of her aplomb and self assurance, while she glanced at the door to see her next trouble. She did not bother to wildly scramble over the piles of clothes that would prove just as good as new if they should happen to get lost, in search of the lost suit. Non-resistance is the theory of life that the young woman at the cleaning establishment follows. She lets everybody else sputter and everybody seems to enjoy it, for everybody does.

The person who was going to wait until her suit put in an appearance, even if she should become as old as Sybil before it arrived, sat there in quite a huff, but presently she got so interested in the stream of people that poured in and out that she presently giggled and then she knew there was no use in waiting longer.

The first person that came was one of those polite people who became more studiedly polite the more angry they become, until one can fairly feel the politeness in the air. Her tones were measured and calm and clear cut and very ladylike. "It seems to me that I am asking nothing unreasonable in demanding my gown by this time. I brought it here three weeks ago and it was to have been done three different distinct times. This constantly calling on you is a pleasure, of course, but really you know I have one or two other things with which I might occupy my time. Won't you see, please, if the thing is done now? I am leaving town for Chicago this evening and must have it."

The young person who is employed because she is not easily dazed even by the threat of an impending railway journey, journeyed to the back of the partition and presently came back with the little slip of paper still in her hand. "It ain't done yet," she announced cheerfully.

"Could you by chance find out when it will be done?" asked the polite young woman, and one could feel ice water in the very tones of her voice. "I don't want to bother too much, you understand."

"Oh, it ain't any bother," said the young person, and returning presently to say, "A week from Monday."

"Well, you send it then, please."

"To Chicago?" asked the young person.

"No; I'll wait over," said the polite young woman, who had of course been lying, for she hasn't planned a trip any place but one to Solon Springs the last week in August, and the cleaning establishment girl knew that, of course, and the polite girl knew that the cleaning establishment girl knew, and knew that she knew she knew, so of course it did not make much difference whether they told the truth or not.

By this time a regular little congregation of people were waiting. "May I have my gloves," asked one. "Is my waist dyed yet?" "Did you get those stockings the right shade?" and for every request the girl in charge journeyed to the back of the partition and came back and said "No, it ain't done yet." One wonders when anything ever gets done because something must get done sometime, but nobody ever by chance goes in and gets it when they say they can have it. The person who wanted stockings dyed the exact shade of a sample she had brought, said, "Well, I am tired coming here. Give me my stockings the way they were and I'll not bother."

"They are in the dye and all wet," said the person who has encountered that demand before.

"Oh," said the baffled owner of the stockings. "Catsfoot! I don't believe a word of it," but she had to go away content with the promise that she might have them a week from Wednesday.

"If this isn't fierce," said the person who had promised to stay there until her suit was found as she rose to go. "Don't hurry about my suit," she advised as she started away. "Of course it's the only one I've got and I haven't the remotest idea where I'll get another, and it was a perfectly good suit, too, and all it needed was just to be cleaned to make it so I could wear it all this year or at least until the sales come on, but I wouldn't hurry you for worlds. Just take your time, but if you should get it telephone to the house before you send it. Break the news easily. I think we should all drop dead if we really got anything from this place. But don't hurry," and she went on her suitless way.

Fund Is Growing.

There will be a meeting of the chairmen of the business men's committees for the raising of the funds for the new building for the local Young Women's Christian association this evening at the office of the chairman, W. A. McGonagle. Plans for the further prosecution of the campaign will be discussed and the soliciting will continue rapidly. The amount pledged is now about $117,000 and it is expected that the full amount will be realized within a few weeks. It is hoped that the entire amount will be subscribed within a few weeks and that plans for the building may go forward rapidly.

What Retail Markets Offer.

Bananas, 8 cents a lb.
New turnips, 8 cents a bunch.
Pineapples, 40 cents each.
Green peppers, $1 a basket, or 5 cents each.
Norwegian ansjovis, 30 cents a barrel.
Pork chops, 18 cents a lb.
Bananas by the pound! And the skins are weighed!

Such is the unheard of condition which from now on will meet the housewife whose longings for her family takes the direction of bananas. The hope of leading the simple life disappears more rapidly with each minute that one consults the market. A bowl of real milk and crackers is about the most extravagant thing that one can plan to have for lunch, but heretofore one did not consider bananas a real luxury of life, but from now on when there will be about two and a half good sized bananas in a pound, they will go into the class of luxuries. The reason is not quite clear. The market man is not very lucid. In response to agitated questionings, he kind of says he doesn't exactly know whether the crop is short or whether the trust is anxious to make money. At any rate, he has to buy them by the pound from the people on Michigan street, who have to buy them by the pound from somebody who has to buy them from the pound, etc. The Duluth market men feel it incumbent upon themselves to charge for the skins, but with a magnanimous kindliness at least one of them promises not to charge for the stem. That he says with a grandiloquent air shall be charged up to profit and loss.

Bananas by the pound!

THE END OF THE FEUD

By Sophie Sweet.

(Copyright, 1907, by Joseph B. Bowles.)

Mrs. O'Shane and Mrs. McGrath lived much forninst each other as they were wont to express it, in a lane which led to the river from the main street of Brewertown, and were usually on the friendliest and most neighborly terms. They possessed the same tastes and aspirations, and husbands who had been to school together in the "ould country," and were still warm friends, never falling out and taking the greatest enjoyment in each other's society. They were thrifty people, and each owned a cozy little house and barn, a garden-patch and a "bit" pasture where a tidy cow fed in the summer.

Moreover, the McGraths' Henry, a freckle-faced youth who filled the important position of grocer's clerk in the village, was sparking the O'Shanes' Rosy, a slip of a girl with the bluest of eyes in the country. So take it altogether, the relations between the two families were uncommonly delightful until Mrs. O'Shane, possessed by the "spirit of the new," lost all interest in her hens and ducks, and sought turkeys as a solace of the mind and a filler of the purse.

"Any hin could bring off a clutch of turkeys, shurre, 'n' alsy enough, too, 'n' niver know they didn't be iv her own kolnd," she remarked to Mrs. McGrath, in whose own breast she had aroused the same desires. At the end of the next year both dames were the proud possessors of two especially fine gobblers; each gobbler had two prim, mottled wives, and each wife trailed with her about the fields a melancholy half-grown flock, whose plaintive peeping filled the dreary autumn dusk with sadness and awoke the fresh, rosy mornings to the same tune.

The two cocks were as much alike as two peas. It was difficult to tell them apart until Mrs. O'Shane discovered one day that "her own lad," as she called him, "hat a bit ev holler in his back, and the feathers on the crachure's back were less tick than those of me lad over yonther."

Every morning, while the mists were still hanging over the river, both flocks of turkeys filed out of the lane in stately procession en route to the sweet mint-smelling fields, the gobblers at the head solemn and grand, and every twilight they marched back again in the same manner.

But, alas; one unhappy night, only one gobbler returned, and Mrs. O'Shane and Mrs. McGrath each claimed that one as her own.

It happened most unfortunately that a dog belonging to a party of boys was rushing through the lane at that moment and mischievously dashed at the flock, and as Mrs. McGrath expressed it, "the gobble was that disthraeled and pit out iv his moind wid the fright, that he turned in at the nearest path, the crachure, and the nearest path was forninst the O'Shanes' back door, bad cess to it."

A gloom settled upon the little neighborhood and a fierce war raged between the two dames. The husbands, peaceloving, non-partisan cronies as they were, were forbidden to speak to each other. Mrs. O'Shanes's imminent son-in-law was shooed from her door, when at twilight his heart and feet led him as usual toward the object of his affections, the blue-eyed Rosy. The youngest O'Shane and the youngest McGrath made faces at each other from their respective doorways.

O'Shanes' tame crow, that had hitherto been a most welcome visitor at the McGraths', was stoned unmercifully because he ventured to sit upon the McGrath gatepost. A strange young man was seen sitting beside Rosy in the O'Shane porch of a moonlit evening.

Henry raged, and there was a noticeable limpness about his crisp, polka-dot necktie. Rosy cried, but still tossed her head in the direction of the McGraths', and made as proud a display of the new beau as if he had been a St. Patrick's day banner.

"'Ooman alive, why don't yez be afther settlin' this unforchinite affair wid the gobble someway," spoke Mr. McGrath, "and not be thryin' to saze the gobble that do be at the O'Shanes' all the time. Mike says he haven't his supper last night till 'most bedtoime, because his wife have to sthand guard over the crachure. I'll not sthand this 'quar'lin' an' fightin' any longer. The t'ing's got to be sittled in some way. The jedge is your old masther and Mike 'n' mesilf both wurruked fur him in toimes past, 'n' a good man he do be, wise as a abbey owl, and just as the saints thimsilves."

"I niver will," exclaimed Biddy, but she knew very well that she would do so in the end, for though Teddy was an awful quiet man, when he did "sphake, he maned it, and somehow or anither, a body had to do just as he said, whativer."

That night when Mr. McGrath returned from work he announced that the judge would be "greeable of the two ladies would bring theirselves and their witnesses along wid 'em to his barn at 9 o'clock in the morning. 'N' be sure till be ready in toime, Biddy. The jedge have no minutes to lose on the lolkes of a gobble," he added sternly.

Biddy stormed awhile, but was ready at the time appointed. Witnesses who would swear that the remaining gobbler belonged to her were hard to find, but she seized upon the "felly that peddled horse-radish," who was pretty sure, by the expression of the villain's countenance, that he was the one that had such marked objections to his red sweater that he flew onto his back one morning, clawing and swearing at the top of his voice. Then there was a boy who lived by the river, whose goat had been overfed with rag-dolls by Billy O'Shane until he just escaped death from acute indigestion. He was willing to take his oath to anything against the O'Shane family.

Mrs. O'Shane was to take the poultryman who came around in a cart to buy and sell fowls, and had observation. Her crony, Mrs. Slatterly, who had been much acquainted with the gobbler ever since he "chipped the shell, shurre," and was as intimate with him as her own brother; and Mr. Donahoe, who was out of work and once had difficulty with Mrs. McGrath concerning a boundary-line, was willing to testify that he "belaved the crachure was in the custhody of his roightful owner."

After hearing all the evidence the judge expressed himself as being unable to decide the case at the present time. The testimony of the witnesses was most satisfactory. "There is only one thing that can be done," he said. "Let the gobbler decide it for himself. Go immediately home and let him go to the fields with the young flock. When he comes back at night he will surely seek his own fold."

"An' hum bein' shut oop by Ellen O'Shane for a wake or more, the crachure. Av coorse he'd go back till her. A pritty coort this do be. I'll niver 'bide by it, judge, niver. Me lad don't be ch'ated away from me so aisy," shouted Mrs. McGrath.

"He hasn't been out in the meantime, Biddy, and I have no doubt but that he would go back to your coop, if he really belonged to you. I have had experience with turkeys myself."

"They do be on their habits dridful," remarked Mrs. Slatterly. "You couldn't bate thim wid a shtick till they'd dhrop um. Mebbe he would go home to you, Biddy."

Mrs. McGrath began to sob, and regarded the gobbler plaintively as she started on her way home behind the cart which conveyed him.

The gobbler was released from the coop immediately on his return home, according to the judge's directions, and recovering his spirits with surprising suddenness, headed the turkey family in dignified procession toward the fields. Mrs. McGrath, still sobbing, refused to be a spectator of the scene, but retired at once to the kitchen, where she soluced herself with unlimited and very black cups of tea in the sympathetic company of Mrs. Slatterly, who expressed an opinion that there was "nothing like tay for a aggravation."

When the early twilight was beginning to fall, the flock might be expected home at any moment, the lane was well filled with the friends of both families, and the fence quite black with delighted small boys of the neighborhood, who anticipated much fun when the gobbler should finally dispose of himself.

The piping of the crickets grew louder and louder. The songs of the raftsmen on the rapid river began to sound like night, and thin veil of mist was creeping up the valley. The hens in the lane made their last sleeping remarks and went to roost. Then thrilling all ears, came the mournful piping of the young turkeys, and a subdued and satisfied gobble or two from the far end of the lane.

"They're coming, they're coming," shouted the boys on the fence, tumbling to the ground with gleeful yells.

"Keep quiet and stay where you are," commanded the judge in awful accents.

Nearer and nearer came the sleepy, speckled, straggling procession, himself at the head, bearing himself with not quite his usual dignity, and, wonderful to say, quite in the rear, with a lame leg, to which a long string was attached, hobbled the lost gobbler, sleek and shining and important, in spite of his misfortune.

Mrs. McGrath nearly fell from her chair.

The leading gobbler, without a moment's hesitation, turned in at the O'Shanes' gateway, but the lame one in the rear, after a queer but joyous gobble or two, and a peculiar ducking of his scarlet head, made straight for the coop in the McGraths' back yard.

"Oh, me b'y, me b'y, what hurted ye that crool?" exclaimed Mrs. McGrath, taking him in her arms as she might have taken a baby. "What spalpeen shtoled ye, shurre?"

The crowd shouted and hurrahed lustily, but the boys were evidently disappointed at the tame ending of the affair, and went away grumbling that there was "no fightin' and no nothin'."

"I told you that they had their habits on 'em awful," said Mrs. Slatterly, who had repaired to the coop with her friend to help in the entertainment of the returned wanderer. "You see he knew where to come, jist, 'n' hum been gone a wake 'n' more."

Just then Ellen O'Shane slipped in at the door bearing a plate of something hot and savory.

"I thought the lad might relish a bit of hot Johnnycake; I made it with sour crame, an' there's nothin' me own lad is so fond of, shurre, especially when he don't feel jist roight. I'm terrible glad you got hum back, Biddy, dear."

Biddy choked down a sob. "Thank you, kindly, Ellen," she said "'n' mebbe you'll come in fur a sup o' tea bime-by, and I have a nice little can of barberry preserve pit by for ye, seein' ye didn't make any yerslif. I wonder where Henery do be. I want him till help me pit an exthry fasthenin' on the dooer, shurre. If he was sholed onct, he might be sholed ag'in, the poor chachure."

"Henery's gone a-walkin' with Rosy by the river, glory be, 'n' I'll help ye meself. Meself is as good as any man wid a fasthenin'," said Mrs. O'Shane.

So the night settled down peacefully and happily in the lane by the river.

The Style Stamp

IT'S the finish of the clothes that makes them enjoyable and attractive, aside from the quality and style!

Put the finest materials and the best style in a suit, and unless the whole is rounded off by careful, painstaking tailoring, such as characterize the "Gidding" garments—and you are cheating yourself of part of your due.

In all of our clothes, no matter what the price, you'll get a corresponding superiority of not only trimming, but quality, style and tailoring.

The prices start in at $15.00 and go by easy jumps to $75.00 and $100.00. The difference in prices representing finer fabrics and better trimmings—the style, and finish are ever the same—all surpassing.

THE CAST.

Lord Rathbone.....Hassard Short
Horace Greenleaf.....Ernest Wainwright
"The Doctor".....Herbert Standing
Dolovo, the village constable.....
.....A. G. Andrews
Robina Penniculque.....Jessie Izett
Elizabeth Rafleton.....Marie Wainwright
Mrs. Mulberry.....Edith Lemmert
Susan Gambett.....Miss Irving

Jerome K. Jerome's comedy, "Susan In Search of a Husband," might be called the cream puff of the theatrical bakeshop. There is about as much plot to it as there is to "Three Men in a Boat" or "The Reveries of a Bachelor." The poor tortured thing is stretched out to cover three acts. At times it almost snaps, and nothing but the deft cleverness of the author carries it along until the end.

But the lack of a plot is certainly not a fault in "The Reveries of a Bachelor," and the extravagances and inconsistencies of the thing that must be called a plot in the present comedy seem to but add to the charm. The lines of the play are sparkling and clever with the quaint Jerome humor, and the Liebler company presenting the little comedy would make a dramatization of a Webster dictionary interesting and entertaining.

It is certainly an all-star cast.

Dainty, flaxen-haired, soft-voiced Isabel Irving is a different but not less charming comedienne than the heroine of "The Crisis," in which she was last seen here. She and Miss Jessie Izett as Robina Penniculque each profit by the other's charms. The contrast between them but brings out the charm and witchery of each.

Marie Wainwright found many old friends in the audience last evening, and made many new ones. Her character work as the snobbish and world-weary Elizabeth Rafleton was very clever, and she furnished some of the brightest comedy of the piece.

Miss Edith Lemmert made the rather colorless role of Mrs. Mulberry interesting.

Hassard Short has the part of Lord Rathbone, Susan's husband, who falls in love with her the second time and then has to win her again by renouncing her for the woman he thinks is his wife, and thus proving his sense of honor. He makes the young English nobleman a very decent, likeable sort of chap.

Ernest Mainwaring reeks of the traditional British characteristics from his sleekness and drooping mustache to the bottoms of his tweed trousers. If there is any criticism to be made of him, it is that he shows a tendency toward caricature. He is unquestionably funny, however, and no apologies are necessary for him.

Herbert Standing as "the doctor" and A. G. Andrews as Dolove, the village constable, are the only other members of this small and select company. In their interpretation of the odd old characters of the little Welsh village they are fully up to the high standard set by the other members of the company.

HIGH CLASS BILL AT BIJOU.

Program for Week Highly Pleases First Night Audience.

The bill offered at the Bijou theater this week fairly bristles with first-class vaudeville talent. It was given for the first time last evening, and before an audience of no mean dimensions.

Prominent on the program are John and Bertha Gleason and Fred Houlihan and James F. Dolan and Ida Lenharr.

Miss Gleason, who is with John, is heralded as the champion female dancer of the land, and she certainly shows that she has a good claim to the title.

James F. Dolan and Ida Lenharr have played their skit, "The High Toned Burglar," on the big circuits and it has made a hit. It also made a hit with last evening's audience. Miss Lenharr wears some marvelous gowns.

Walter Hawley and Natalie Olcott have an amusing skit called "Just Married One Week." The troubles of married couples have been one of vaudeville props for a long time, but Walter Hawley and Natalie Olcott have something just a little bit different.

Gertrude Gebest works alone, and her songs and jokes take well. Larkin and Burns are acceptable comedians and dancers and Dracula contributes the feats of contortion.

Isadore Silver, sings, as usual, and there are the moving pictures.

A LOVER OF NATURE.

A girl who lives in the open air, a lover of nature,, an admirer of physical grace and culture, a lover of the beautiful, the artistic, and the friend of dumb animals, is Ruth White, the well known prima doana who is this season starring with Oscar L. Figman in Richard Carle's big musical success, "The Tenderfoot," which will be seen at the Lyceum tonight.

Any fine morning about 5 o'clock the surburbanites of the different cities where "The Tenderfoot" happens to be playing, are treated to the picturesque sight of a lithe, graceful, girlish figure seated on a beautiful white charger jaunting leisurely along the well kept roads and lanes, thoroughly enjoying this most healthful recreation of horseback riding.

BLACK FACE SKIT.

Frank H. White and Al Casey have an amusing black-face skit during the olio given at the Metropolitan this week by the Merry Makers company. One fellow is the yellow nigger, the dandy of the duo, while the other fellow is the dusky, shiftless, droll creature of the Bert Williams type. The pair have an act called "Get on de Band Wagon" which is not without plent yof comedy. There will be a ladies' matinee at the "Met" Thursday afternoon.

THE H-O CO., BUFFALO, N. Y.

SAYS THIS IS BEST.

A leading health journal in answering the question, "What is the best prescription to clean and purify the blood?" prints in a recent issue the following: Fluid Extract of Dandelion one-half ounce, Compound Kargon one ounce, Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla three ounces. Shake well and use in teaspoonful doses after each meal and at bedtime.

A well known local druggist states that these are harmless vegetable ingredients, which can be obtained from any good prescription pharmacy.

This mixture will clean the blood of all impurities. In just a few days the skin begins to clear of sores, boils and pimples. It puts vigor and energy into run-down, debilitated men and women. For many years Sarsaparilla alone has been considered a good blood medicine. But while it built up and made new blood, the impurities remained within and the good accomplished was only temporary. Sarsaparilla, however, when used in combination with Compound Kargon and Extract Dandelion, works wonders. This combination puts the kidneys to work to filter and sift out the waste matter, uric acid and other impurities that cause disease. It makes new blood and relieves rheumatism and lame back and bladder troubles.

BANDITS HOLD UP EXPRESS TRAIN

bullet from the gun of one of the robbers.

The latter ran to their horses nearby, and, after firing wildly in an attempt to terrorize the trainmen, rode away.

When the train was again brought to a stop by the fireman who had seen Clow fall to the floor of the cab, a search of the train was made. On the water tank a suit case fitted with dynamite was found, clearly indicating that the robbers intended to get at the contents of the express car.

This is the fourth time the North Coast eastbound has been held up in three years. The other three times this train was robbed, near Bear Mouth, about eighty miles west of here.

This morning's hold-up is near the scene of the robbery of the Burlington flyer, two years ago, in a section of country very rough and mountainous.

St. Paul, May 7.—General Manager Horn of the Northern Pacific railroad, gave out the following statement on the attempt to rob the North Coast limited, near Butte, Mont., early today:

"No. 22 eastbound North Coast limited, Engineer Frank Clow and Conductor Culver, was held up on the east side of Butte mountain, about sixteen miles east of Butte, Mont., by two or more men, who shot and killed the engineer and shot the fireman through the arm. They did some more shooting, but evidently became alarmed and left.

"Sheriff Webb of Billings was on the train, and started on the trail of the hold-up men at once. Bloodhounds from the Deer Lodge penitentiary have been put on their trail also, and we expect to get the men.

"Engineer Clow had been running that train for eight years, ever since the limited was put into service.

"The robbers did not get any money. While this road has had several hold-ups in that vicinity in the past ten years, we have captured the robbers in every instance, and they are all doing time in the penitentiary, and in all that time our money loss has not been to exceed $3,000."

RECORD FOR TORNADOES

scattered over the ground. R. P. Bryson's residence was demolished and several other residences damaged. No one was hurt at this place. Crops were badly damaged and many fences and barns were blown away.

At Helensboro, in Red River county, the wife and child of Andrew Bell were hurt.

A terrific wind passed over Sulphur Springs about 2 o'clock, traveling from the southwest to the northeast. West of Sulphur Springs the wind assumed the proportions of a tornado, carrying death and great property damage in its wake. A passenger train on the Cotton Belt was held up by the train crew until the storm passed.

The village of Antioch was practically destroyed. Antioch is seven miles north of Sulphur Springs. The home of Lemmons was laid waste, entailing a loss of $10,000. Three barns on the place were razed and many head of livestock killed. A tenant on the place named Barzil was caught by the wind and crushed by flying debris. Five of the children reached the cellar in safety, but Mrs. Barzil and two of the children were injured and fears are entertained for their recovery. The home of James Ferguson was destroyed and Mrs. Ferguson was badly hurt. Ben Pogus and wife were badly hurt and their home was blown down. Mrs. Sid Lackey was hurt and will probably die.

ON THE IRON RANGES

BURIED ON DAY SET FOR WEDDING

Sad Fate of Young Austrian Who Was Killed in Mine.

Virginia, Minn., May 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—To be buried on the day set for his wedding was the fate of Joe Bacolich, a young Austrian, who resided here. His funeral took place on Sunday afternoon from Our Lady of Lourdes church. On May 1 he took out a license to wed Marta Levocovich, and the wedding day was set for Sunday. On Friday, while pushing train cars underground at the Brunt mine, near Mountain Iron, he was crushed between two cars and killed. The car he was pushing became derailed and another gang of trammers coming up behind, not knowing this, pushed their car until it collided with the one ahead, catching the unfortunate man between the two cars, crushing his life out. Deceased was 24 years of age and had resided in this country but a short time.

POSTMASTER RESIGNS.

R. J. McGhee, Now Residing in Virginia, Gives Up Aurora Office.

Aurora, Minn., May 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Owing to the fact that he now resides in Virginia, R. J. McGhee has resigned his office of postmaster of Aurora. A. L. Vanderpoel, at present in charge of the dry goods department of the R. J. McGhee company, has made application for the place, and his application has been endorsed by Congressman Bede. His commission is expected to arrive shortly.

The Longyear Mesaba Land & Iron company, which recently platted an addition to the village, has put a crew of men at work clearing off the streets of the addition, as per agreement with the village council. Engineer C. M. Dorway announces that in the near future he will lay out a dumping ground and a cemetery site, which the company will give to the village. As soon as these things are done the plat will be accepted by the village council, and the lots in the new addition will be placed on sale.

John West & Son will soon begin construction of a business building on Jackson street, just south of the Iron Range tracks. They will occupy it with their grocery store.

TO HAVE CLUB.

Baseball Enthusiasts of Eveleth Form a Strong Organization.

Eveleth, Minn., May 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—The baseball enthusiasts of this city met last evening and formed an organization to promote baseball and enter the range league.

It was decided to call the organization "The Boys in Blue from Eveleth," and blue uniforms were decided upon. P. E. Dowling was elected manager, and the following are the board of directors: Dr. Fred Barrett, G. A. Whitman, J. C. Poole, W. J. Smith, J. A. Robb, M. E. Nichols and J. J. Gleason.

A catcher and a pitcher have already been hired, and Manager Dowling is negotiating with several other fast professionals. A game has been arranged to take place next Sunday at the ball park between two fast local teams.

MUSICAL CANTATA

Entitled "The National Flower," to be Given by Eveleth Pupils.

Eveleth, Minn., May 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—The musical talent of the Eveleth public schools under the direction of the superintendent of music, Miss Harriet Petry are preparing to give a musical cantata, entitled, "The National Flower," about June 1. Rehearsals have been in progress for some time as the production is one which requires much practice. There will be about 150 pupils in the cast.

The proceeds from the entertainment will be equally divided among the Eveleth, Payal and High school buildings, and will be used to buy interior decorations.

TOWNSHIP OFFICIALS INSPECT THE ROADS.

Eveleth, Minn., May 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—The trustees of Mesaba Mountain township, D. A. Springer, D. M. Mouser and Thomas Trengive, made an inspection trip over the roads of the township Sunday. They inspected nearly all the roads in the township and found them to be in unusually good condition for this season of the year.

RANGES IN BRIEF

Ely—D. M. Philbin, A. M. Chisholm and Edward Lynch are in town in connection with the Shagawa mine, formerly "Section 30," and they are well pleased with the present conditions.

The executive committee of arrangements for the Northern Minnesota Firemen's tournament that will take place in this city on Aug. 6, has written to Congressman J. Adam Bede and asked him to attend the tournament and deliver a speech.

Hibbing—The sale of lots in the town of Nelson, which was opened just one month ago, has far exceeded the expectations of the promoters of the new townsite, which lies half a mile east of the platted portion of the village of Hibbing.

TO BE BURIED WEDNESDAY

Funeral of Austin W. Loud Will be Conducted by B. P. O. E.

The funeral of Austin W. Loud, the prominent lumberman who dropped dead from heart trouble in Lannigan's cafe Saturday evening, will be held tomorrow afternoon. The services will be in charge of the Elks, of whom Mr. Loud was a prominent member. There will be a short prayer at the house at 2 o'clock, and from there the body will be taken to the Elk's hall, where the last rites will be solemnized. Rev. Roderick J. Mooney of the Holy Apostles church, chaplain of the Elks, will officiate at both services.

The entire membership of the Elks is expected to turn out to attend the funeral of their departed member, and the lodge will accompany the body en masse to its last resting place at Forest Hill cemetery. Rev. J. W. Robinson will assist during the services at the hall.

THEY FAIL TO AGREE

No Settlement of Strike Results From First Conference.

Two Sides Are as Far From Agreement as Ever.

After the first attempt was made last night to settle the strike of the building trades, it was fully determined by representatives of the striking unions and the building contractors at a conference held in the hall of the Builders' exchange, that it is impossible yet to arrive at a satisfactory agreement, and the strike will continue for an indefinite period until one side or the other gives in.

It was found that the union men and the contractors were as far from reaching an agreement as they were when the strike began a week ago.

At the meeting there were five union men present, representatives of the carpenters, electricians, roofers, cornice workers and building laborers, and five of the contractors.

It is said that the contractors are willing to accede to the demands of the carpenters and roofers, but refuse the increase which is demanded by the builders' laborers. They claim that the union men have been unfair to the contractors and say that they have worked for outside concerns for less than for the Duluth builders.

Hoping to settle the strike in some way, the arbitration plan was offered as a last resort, but this also failed. It was proposed that the unions appoint two disinterested men, the contractors a like number, and that the four select a fifth man. This plan was rejected by the unions and the strike will now go on indefinitely.

Before the meeting both sides were quite confident that a settlement would be reached, but when the representatives of the two sides came together the settlement was as far away as ever.

PENNY ARCADES

matter of the penny arcades in the city of Duluth was brought to its attention and that in the opinion of the grand jurors the pictures shown are detrimental to the morals of the community. It is suggested that the proper city officials pass an ordinance prohibiting the attendance of minors at these places, either alone or when accompanied by their guardians.

The grand jury also had called to its attention the reported practice of wholesale liquor dealers who have been selling the liquor in less than five gallon lots, contrary to the law, and recommended that the proper officials take steps to secure the evidence necessary to prosecute all offenders of that class and put a stop to the alleged practice.

The jury commends the management of the poor farm and the sheriff and the county jail officials. It suggested several changes at the poor farm, including changes in several of the rooms and the establishment of a tool house and wagon shed on the premises.

The grand jury also took up the alleged printers' combine and reported that there was every evidence that there was a secret understanding between the job printers of Duluth for the purpose of ruining competition and raising prices, and that it was the belief of the jury that such an organization was vicious and seriously detrimental to the public welfare. The jury recommended that the city officials procure sufficient evidence to bring before the grand jury in the future to secure an indictment.

The grand jury completed its work last evening, submitted its report and was discharged by Judge Cant.

EMBEZZLER IS FOUND GUILTY

Birmingham, Ala., Bank Teller Convicted of $100,000 Theft.

Birmingham, Ala., May 7.—After having been out since 6 o'clock last night, the jury in the case of Alexander R. Chisholm, former paying teller, charged with having embezzled $100,000 for the First National bank of Birmingham, which, it is alleged, he lost in cotton speculation, brought in a verdict of guilty, shortly after 10 o'clock today and fixed the punishment at six years in the federal penitentiary at Atlanta.

houn, and says he is surprised that the employes of the company, who, he says, are getting more money than street car employes of any large city in the country, should have gone out on strike. He says he is opposed to further concessions.

Asked whether the company would receive and confer with a committee of the strikers, if it came as representatives of the men as individuals, Thornwall Mullally, assistant to President Calhoun, said: "Yes, but no committee representing the local union will be recognized. The company has no quarrel with unionism as a principle, nor is it opposed to organized labor as a body, but it has done with the local Carmen's union. That union has twice broken faith with the company, and has seized many opportunities to annoy and harass the company prior to presenting the unreasonable and impossible demand formulated within two months after the United railroads had granted an increase of 20 per cent in wages."

Mayor Schmitz said that he had issued orders to Chief of Police Dinan that peace and order must be maintained at any cost and that persons carrying arms are to be arrested, without respect to which side in the controversy they represent. He said he would not permit policemen to act as motormen or conductors or to ride on the cars as guards.

The Civic league continues its efforts to promote a peaceful settlement of the differences of the company and its men, but it is admitted that none of them has been attended by very signal success.

The car strike by its more intimate connection with the public has for the time completely eclipsed the other labor difficulties, now hampering the business interests of the city. The strikes of the four crafts now affected, the iron workers, car men, laundry workers and telephone operators, deprive 13,050 wage earners of work and fully as many more who are indirectly affected. Some hope is excited by the call for a meeting this evening of the labor council executive board, when representatives of 105 unions will be present to see if some way cannot be found to settle the present strikes.

Charles M. Schwab, former president of the United States Steel corporation, and president of the Carnegie company prior to the organization of the Steel corporation, heavily interested in large shipbuilding works in the East, chief owner of the Bethlehem Steel works and principal holder of Harlan & Hollingsworth of Wilmington, Del., who made a flying trip to San Francisco yesterday, said: "Our concern will never take a battleship or any other kind of ship to be built in San Francisco as long as the labor conditions are maintained as at present. We lost $2,500,000 on the last three battleships contracted for, and have lost more money in our work in San Francisco than we have made at our other works throughout the different parts of the country. We shall not take any work of any magnitude under the labor conditions existing in San Francisco. I have never seen anything like it anywhere."

CHECKS ON AGITATORS

and there is not the slightest indication of possible disorder. The occasional crank is the man feared, rather than any concerted or suddenly aroused general movement.

Police and detectives watch the railroad and highways entering the city, and it is the general belief that they will be able at all times to fully control the situation. Behind them is an experienced militia and two troops of United States cavalry, quartered at a permanent post within the city limits, but there is not the slightest apprehension that their services will be required.

Judge Fremont Wood has given no indication to either side as to what his decision may be in the matter of the bill of particulars asked for by the defense, and argued yesterday. Should this motion be granted, there will undoubtedly be considerable delay in opening the case, for, in the course of his argument yesterday, Clarence Darrow, counsel for the defense, intimated that delay would be asked for should the motion be granted. Lawyers not connected with the case are of the opinion that the motion for the bill will not be granted, however.

The city is rapidly filling up. Witnesses are arriving, many of them from a long distance. The newspaper men and magazine writers, many of them, have engaged houses or flats for several months, in the opinion that it will take three months to try the case.

FOUND DEAD IN A SWAMP

Hans Lund, Well-Known McGregor Farmer, Dies From Exposure.

Aitkin, Minn., May 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Dr. Graves returned from McGregor yesterday where as deputy coroner he was called by the finding of the body of Hans Lund in a swamp near there. Lund was a Norwegian, aged 64, and unmarried. He was last seen in McGregor Thursday night, and the supposition is that he was lost in the swamp while going home and died from exposure. He had no relatives in this county as far as known. He owned 160 acres of land, two miles from the station, where he lived alone, and when found had $65 in his pockets.

BIG BUILDING STRIKE MAY YET BE AVERTED

Another Conference Will be Held by Warring Factions.

Laborers Issue Statement Giving Their Side of Story.

The great building strike may yet be settled peaceably, although the result of the conference held between the representatives of the unions and the contractors last evening was a complete failure. An attempt is being made this afternoon to get the two factions together again and it seems as though a settlement will be brought about.

At the meeting of the Duluth Real Estate exchange held this afternoon at the Commercial club rooms, there were several representatives from the contractors, while the unions were represented by Edward Lowe, a member of the carpenters' union and president of the Duluth Building Trades Structural alliance. A general discussion of the demands made by the unions was indulged in by the members of the exchange and the representatives of both sides gave their statements of the facts as they see them.

Mr. Lowe, who although not a member of the board of governors of the unions, was appointed to represent them, stated that at no time had the unions refused to put the matter to arbitration. He stated that they wanted, if possible, to settle the matter without arbitration. He stated that the unions were willing to hold another conference with the contractors in order to try to settle a number of the minor difficulties in dispute, and if these are first settled they will be willing to arbitrate the rest.

If the difficulties and demands set forth by the carpenters, roofers and building laborers can be settled the rest of the men will go back to work and the matter can be placed before a board of arbitration and this is the stand which the unions have made, said Mr. Lowe.

The Contractors' Side.

A representatives of the contractors explained that the Duluth unions were asking considerably too much for their labor in comparison to the wages paid in other cities. He says that there has been a continual demand for several years for higher wages for the workingmen and the contractors cannot stand it any longer. He maintained that the contractors were still anxious to settle the trouble peaceably and were willing to hold another conference with the union representatives.

The building laborers' demands seem to be the great stumbling block in the way of reaching a settlement and if these can be brought to a position where they will go back to work, the rest of the matter can be settled by arbitration.

Before the meeting of the Real Estate exchange was over, Mr. Lowe, for the unions, asked the contractors present for another meeting, and it was agreed that a conference will be held this afternoon or this evening, and an attempt will be made to bring about a settlement.

At Kalamazoo hall the board of governors have been in session coninually since the strike began. This afternoon a statement was prepared by them and has been sent to The Herald. It expresses the views of the unions from the standpoint of the builders' laborers and refutes some of the statements made by the contractors concerning the wages in comparison to other cities. The statement is as follows:

In all justice to the workingman, also the business men and the public at large, we deem it necessary at this time to contradict most emphatically the malicious misrepresentation of the Builders' Exchange, or at least the company which made the statement, that the unions had refused to arbitrate, which we cannot and do not refuse as a final settlement, but until such time as we have something to arbitrate, we must refuse arbitration. With reference to the meeting held last evening, which was on the basis of representation of five members from each party, the action of the meeting, as stated in the News Tribune of May 7, is not correct, with reference to the builders' laborers. The contractors took the stand that on large contracts, such as elevator work and railroad work, they could not bid in competition with outside parties on account of the fact that they had to use union labor, while the outside party would come in and use non-union labor and pay 25 cents per hour, against 35 cents for union labor. The building laborers do not control that kind of work, never have, and never will, realizing the justice of the contractors' claims on that particular class of work. We leave it to the public which is the most desirable citizen, the man who receives compensation enough to at least pay for his eatables that are necessary for a hard day's work and who is trying to stay square with the world, or the man who will work for starvation wages and send every cent back to some foreign country that he can rake and scrape? Again, if these contractors are so deeply interested for the benefit of Duluth, why not oppose the exorbitant prices charged here for building material, why not refuse to pay these prices, and demand an arbitration board on that? No, these honorable gentlemen are so deeply interested (for the public's benefit) that they can overlook such a small item as $500 or $1,000 on the ordinary building for one item used in the construction of that building, but when a laborer asks for an increase of 5 cents per hour, these same gentlemen get together and refuse to pay it.

Any one can figure out for themselves where we are bound to end up. At 30 cents per hour for an 8½-hour day is $2.55 per day which amounts to the munificent sum of $10.20 per week, as the average working week in this country never has exceeded four days per week the year round. Fifty-two weeks in the year would amount to $530.40. Take an average rent of $15 per month, for it amounts to that, when to get a house below that price for a family of four or five, it is necessary to go far enough out that it is compulsory that they take the car to and from work, which will bring it up to $15 per month, amounts to $180.

"Again, under the same conditions for a family of four or five, the grocery bill at the lowest figure will amount to $20 per month, or $240 for the year; the meat bill will be at least $8 or $10, when we have to pay 18 cents per pound, against 12½ cents in the Twin Cities, for pork chops, which amount to say, at $90, equals $108. How much per month shall we allow for clothing? Say only $5 per month, which equals $60, for a family of four or five.

"Again what shall we allow for sundry expenses, such as fuel, doctor bills, light, etc., say $4 per month, equals $60. Take the sum totals and what have we without that man having had one atom of pleasure in the whole year? The grand total will be:

House rent for one year	$180.00
Groceries for one year	240.00
Meats for one year	108.00
Clothing for one year	60.00
Fuel, light, doctor bills, etc.	60.00
Total	$648.00
Wages	$530.40
	$117.60

"The man, according to the above figures, has gone $117.60 in debt. How is he going to better this? He is asking for 5c per hour increase. What is the result? We all know these gentlemen who are fighting for Duluth, as they claim, refuse that. Where is the possibility for that man to buy and build a home for himself? Can he do it? No, emphatically no, because he cannot earn enough wages to play even, let alone buy and build."

Oriental Rugs for artistic homes.

Every Oriental in our rug stocks is a picked piece—selected for individual worth and beauty.

Mr. Gray and Mr. Hon made a very careful search of the various New York importers' stocks—and we've been told repeatedly that our collection is remarkable for the number of choice pieces.

And furthermore—our prices are remarkably low—quality considered—connoisseurs declare them the cheapest rugs they've found this year.

You are invited to enjoy the beauties of the display, whether you are expecting to buy or not—we want you to see that our new rug and drapery department is one that deserves your consideration.

RECALL RESOLUTION KILLED.

Madison, Wis., May 7.—The state assembly today killed the Roethe resolution, providing for the recall of elective state officers.

THEY WERE PROPERLY WORN.

Mrs. Hwfa Williams, the English society leader, talked at a dance in New York about the fashion of riding astride that has taken hold of English equestriennes.

"Some of our young women," said Mrs. Hwfa Williams, "dress out and out like men. They wear a long coat cut like a hunting coat, a cap, riding breeches, and top boots. It is a handsome costume, and it is not immodest, but undoubtedly it attracts a good deal of attention.

"They have been telling in London lately a story about an English girl who has adopted this riding rig. Pulling up her horse one afternoon, she said to an artisan who was passing:

"'Can you tell me if this is the way to Wareham?"

"The man looked her over carefully. Then he touched his cap in a respected manner and replied:

"'Yes, miss, yes—you seem to 'ave 'em on all right.'"

HOW TO JUDGE A GARDENER.

Success Magazine: A New Englander recently had occasion to engage a gardener. One morning two applicants appeared—one a decidedly decent-looking man, and the other of much less prepossessing appearance and manner.

After very little hesitation, the man of the house chose the latter applicant.

A friend who was present evinced surprise at the selection, asking:

"Has that man ever worked for you before?"

"No," replied the other; "in fact, I never saw either of them until today."

"Then why did you choose the shorter man? The other had a much better face."

"Face!" exclaimed the proprietor of the place, in disgust. "Let me tell you that, when you pick out a gardener, you want to go by his overalls. If they're patched on the knees you want him. If the patch is on the seat of his trousers, you don't.

DULUTH MEN HONORED

Dr. David Graham Appointed on State Board of Visitors.

Charles d'Autremont is Made Civic Federation Delegate.

St. Paul, May 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Governor Johnson today announced the following appointments:

Board of visitors of state institutions—D. W. Lawler and Rev. T. G. Smith, six years; Dr. David Graham, West Duluth, and J. T. Chain, Browns Valley, two years; Swan Turnblud, Minneapolis, and Rev. A. G. Wohlund, Chisago county, four years.

The governor also appointed William D. Washburn, Jr. of Minneapolis on the commission of capitol grounds extension in the place of R. T. O'Connor, resigned, and to the state school of dependent children at Owatonna, Prof. Charles R. Boostrom of Austin.

Charles d'Autrement of Duluth was also appointed delegate to the National Civic federation meeting at Chicago May 28 to 31.

Dr. David Graham, who was appointed on the board of visitors to state institutions, is a well known and popular physician of West Duluth. He was born in Canada, graduated from the Detroit College of Medicine in 1893, and has lived most of the time since in West Duluth. He was a member of the house of representatives in the 1903 session of the Minnesota legislature, and much pressure was brought to bear upon him last year to induce him to run for the state senate in the Forty-ninth district.

HYPOTHETICAL.

Philadelphia Ledger: "Miss De Smythe," began the young man, "I want to ask you a hypothetical question."

The girl nodded assent.

"If a young man of good family and sound health and an assured income of $5,000 were to meet the most charming of girls and feed her ice cream for a year; if she had a complexion like a rose, hair a crown of golden glory, the hand of a fairy, the bearing of a queen; if she knew how to play the piano, how to induce her small brother to absent himself; was versed in cooking, competent to superintend a home; and if the young man auspiciously catching the girl alone were to murmur into the ear of pearl, 'Will you marry me?' what, in your estimation, would be her condition of mind, and what her answer?"

"While not an expert alienist," responded the girl coyly, "I think she'd believe him a chump for being so slow, but she'd say 'yes.'"

With the preliminaries thus settled, the taming of the day was a simple matter.

A SMALL BOY'S INTERPRETATION.

Chicago Tribune: Little Paul was 4 years old when the Western city in which he lived was swept one night by a terrific storm. Wind, thunder and lightning played havoc, and, while other members of the family were huddled in dark corners, Paul watched the illumination of the sky with great delight. The next morning at breakfast he asked his father what caused the streaks of fire across the sky, and his father, with great pains, essayed to explain. Paul listened attentively and apparently accepted what was told him, but when he found attention diverted from himself, he leaned over to his aunt, who sat beside him, and whispered:

"It wasn't that, auntie, it was God scratching matches on the sky."

WEAKER IN THEIR TONE

Copper Stocks Dull and Close at Lower Prices.

Some Unlisted Shares on the Local Curb Are Neglected.

The copper stock had a weaker tone during most of today. The opening prices were off and all through the session the Boston list was easier. There was something of a rally at the close, however, so that the market closed about unchanged on the listed shares. The unlisted stocks were weak. The East was a little bullish on the unlisted ones during the early part of the day, but in the face of a Western indifference, that section of the country neglected them as well. Bids for the favorite unlisted shares were not plentiful.

In Boston, North Butte opened at $91, went off to $90.75, rallied to $91.50 bid and $92 asked. Amalgamated opened at $95, advanced to $95.12½, went off to $93.87½ and closed at $94.87½.

Anaconda opened at $63, went off to $62.75, rallied to $63.50 and closed at $63.50 bid. Butte Coalition opened at $27.37½, went off to $27.25, rallied to $28 and closed at $27.75 bid and $28 asked. Calumet & Arizona opened at $176, went off to $175, rallied to $177 and closed a little weaker, at $176 bid and $177 asked. There was heavy trading in Calumet & Arizona.

Greene-Cananea sold at $16.12½ and $16 and closed at $15.87½ bid and $16 asked.

Globe Consolidated was weak. There was a sale at $12.50 in the East at the opening, but during the rest of the day there was nothing doing, with bids scarce. The closing price was $11.50 bid and $11.75 asked.

Superior & Pittsburg sold at $19.50 in the East during the early part of the day. Here, it went off from $19.12½ to $18.75 and closed at $18.87½ bid and $19 asked. Warren sold at $8.50 and $8.75 and closed at $8.75 bid and $9 asked. Dom-Arizona had a good tone, selling at $10.50, advancing to $10.75 and closing at $10.50 bid and $10.75 asked. Calumet & Sonora was traded in at $20 and closed at $20 asked. Copper Queen of Idaho sold at $1.50 and closed at $1.37½ bid and $1.50 asked.

Keweenaw was inactive and closed at $10 bid and $10.12½ asked. Hancock at $9 bid and $9.12½ asked. Carman sold at $3 and closed at $3 bid and $3.50 asked. Butte & Superior closed at $3 bid and Calumet & Montana at 90 cents bid and $1 asked. Cliff sold at $4 and closed at $3.87½ bid and $4 asked. Black Mountain sold at $5.75 and closed at $5.75 bid and $5.87½ asked.

Chicago Record-Herald: "I have written a story," said the ambitious young novelist, "that I think you will wish to publish. May I bring the manuscript around for your examination?"

"No. It isn't a sex problem story. I have tried to make it—"

"I suppose it deals with high finance. Is Rockefeller, thinly disguised, the central figure?"

"No. I'm not a financial expert. I have kept away from that sort of thing. It seems to me that the financial problem has been pretty well worked out, anyhow. I have tried—"

"Oh, I see. It's a political novel. You show up the methods of the men who keep themselves in office against the wishes of the people. Is the leading character a senator or a governor?"

"No, it isn't a religious story. I would not feel competent to write such a—"

"Then it must be a historical novel. Really, I am afraid that sort of thing has been overdone. The last three historical novels that I have published have fallen rather flat."

"No, my story is just a romance. A love story, intended to entertain and to amuse. There is no attempt to deal with any great problem, but I have endeavored to give it a literary flavor, to—"

"My dear sir, it is evident that you don't understand why we have such a thing as fiction. I could not possibly undertake to publish such a story as yours. You might as well expect people to buy poetry as to think they would have a novel that possessed a literary flavor."

Adverse Possession Suit.

The civil action of Marie Louisa Lapanta against Adolph Sjosellus is being tried before a jury in Judge Cant's room. The action is one of alleged adverse possession, and the land involved is a strip 129 feet long and ten feet wide located near Eleventh avenue west and First street. When a re-survey of the land was made in 1905 it was found that the Sjosellus store had been built, partly on Mrs. LaPanta's land, and she now demands possession. Sjosellus claims the land he occupies by right of adverse possession for ten years.

THE WHEAT IS EASIER

Prices Go Off on Predictions of Better Weather.

Firm in Duluth—Flax Has a Good Bulge Here.

Duluth Board of Trade, May 7.—Wheat maintained a firm tone during most of the session of the American markets today, but eased off at the close on predictions of better weather. The news during the early part of the day was decidedly bullish, messages from experts in the fields throughout the Northwest being to the effect that seeding was coming very slowly and that cold weather and frosts were creating havoc. However, there was quite heavy selling and that with the predictions of better weather, sent prices off. Duluth was firm, both in May and July options, but the other markets closed lower. The foreign markets responded to yesterday's advances here. Liverpool closed ⅝d to 1⅛d higher, Berlin 1¾c higher and Budapest 4⅞c up.

The May option closed ½c higher in Duluth, ⅜c lower in Chicago and Winnipeg, ½c lower in Minneapolis, ⅛c in New York, ¼c off in St. Louis and unchanged in Kansas City. The July option closed unchanged in Duluth, ¼c lower in Chicago, ⅛c in Minneapolis, ⅛c in New York, ⅜-½c in St. Louis and Kansas City and ⅜c in Winnipeg.

July corn closed ⅝-¾c lower in Chicago and was ½d higher in Liverpool. July oats closed a shade higher in Chicago.

Primary receipts of wheat were 651,000 bus., last year 266,000 bus. Shipments 564,000 bus., last year 298,000 bus.

THE CHICAGO MARKET.

Wheat is Sold Heavily on Better Weather Throughout West.

Chicago, May 7.—Weather conditions again dominated the wheat market at today's opening. Trading was active and prices easier. Much better weather for the crop was reported in the Southwest, and warmer temperatures prevailed in the Northwest. These conditions were regarded as favorable for the wheat crop and for the planting of seed for the new crop. Both the July and September options were sold heavily. The Liverpool market was up more than 1d, but this was offset by the weather in this country. July wheat opened ⅛c higher to ¼c lower at 85⅛@85½c and sold at 84⅞c. Minneapolis, Duluth and Chicago reported receipts of 592 cars against 575 cars last week and 181 cars one year ago.

The market was nervous all day on active covering by shorts, and buying by commission houses. The high point for July was 86c. After touching this point the market sold off. The close was rather weak with July ¼c lower at 85¾c.

The corn market was somewhat easier in sympathy with wheat. A firm market at Liverpool, however, offset the weakening influence of the wheat market. July corn opened unchanged to ⅛c lower at 49⅜@49⅝c and sold at 49⅝c. Local receipts were 480 cars with 76 of contract grade.

Prices were affected by the advance in wheat, and July sold up to 50c. In the last half hour the emarket became weak, and closed in that condition at the low point of the day. The final quotations found the July delivery ⅜@½c lower at 49⅝@49¾c.

Trading in oats was quiet and prices were steady. July oats opened unchanged to ⅛c higher at 43@43⅛c and for a time held within this range. Local receipts were 488 cars.

The provisions market was easier, principally because of the weakness in wheat. The hog market was steady. July pork opened unchanged at $16.25 and sold down to $16.22½. Lard was 2½c higher at $9.50 and sold down to $9.00. Ribs were unchanged at $8.90.

Close: Wheat—May, 82⅝c; July, 85¼c. Corn—May, 48⅞c; July, 49⅝@49c. Oats—May, 44½c; July, 43@43c. Pork—May, $15.90; July, $16.12½. Lard—May, $8.90; July, $8.95. Ribs—May, $8.67½; July, $8.82½. Rye, cash, 72c. Barley, cash, 68@75c. Flax, clover and timothy, nothing doing. Cash wheat, No. 2 red, 86c; No. 3 red, 83@85½c; No. 2 hard, 83½@84c; No. 3 hard, 77@81c; No. 1 northern, 87@90c; No. 2 northern, 84@86c; No. 3 spring, 80@85½c. Corn, No. 2, nothing doing; No. 3, 49@49½c. Oats, No. 2, 42c; No. 3, nothing doing.

Oats, 29; barley, 34.

Total of all cars, 553. Cars on track today, 220.

Minneapolis Flour.

Minneapolis, May 7.—The flour market is steady. Millers report buyers as very much at sea over the crop situation and reluctant to believe the sensational reports. At the same time they are taking a little more freely, but not enough to note any great improvement in the trade. Shipments, 35,593 barrels. First patents, $4.40@4.50; second patents, $4.25@4.35; first clears, $3.25@3.35; second clears, $2.55@2.65.

Grain Gossip.

Broomhall, Liverpool, May 7, on wheat—There was a strong opening in wheat with values at the start showing an advance of 1¼ pence. Shorts were very active and sellers prompted by the firmness of American cables yesterday and unfavorable American crop advices. Some speculative selling occurred in July and September prices showing slight decline, but again at midday the market developed a very firm undertone and the decline was recovered with shorts covering more freely. Exports of delayed seeding in Manitoba was becoming a factor during the late trading.

Grain Gossip.

Logan & Bryan, Chicago, to Paine, Webber & Co.: There was no such buying in wheat as yesterday, although the top price of the day was a fraction better than at any time on the advance. The upturn to this advance followed the usual attempt of the local trade to start the market off with a break simply because it had an advance the day before. The selling on the swells is becoming less popular. It was on the whole a good big market with good action and the market in the end was ¼c lower than previous close. It is well to bear in mind that whether longs to bear in mind that whether longs liquidate or shorts cover they cannot change the legitimate situation of the wheat which is very bullish.

Experts are playing the damage in the great wheat raising counties in Kansas—Harper, Zedgwick, McPherson and Barton—at all the way from 50 to 90 per cent, the latter figure applying to Barton which is the biggest wheat raising county in the Southwest. Winnipeg and Minneapolis dispatches are filled with accounts of frozen ground, snow and blizzards, everything except favorable growing conditions. Snow makes an estimate of 75 per cent on the winter wheat condition of the whole country as against 91 a year ago.

Corn—There was considerable liquidation of May corn early, although not of a character to break the price more than ½c. The market acted with wheat. Cash houses took most of the offerings on May contracts. The shipping situation is healthy and the market likely to recover with the leader.

Oats—The fact that oats showed but slight gain for the day was due to more favorable weather over many of the oats states West, and to the reaction in the leading markets. Buying by commission people generally was of a good character all day and the market is in shape for a rebound with wheat.

LONG AND LOUD.

Philadelphia Public Ledger: A noted evangelist was preaching the other day in an up-town church. The family who entertained him had a son who was usually fond of attending service. When his parents were ready little Charles flatly refused to go with them.

"I don't want to go to church," he declared.

"What's the matter?" asked the mother, much surprised. "Are you ill?"

"No, but I heard Dr. — before, and I don't like him," confessed the child.

"Oh, Charles, that's a wicked thing to say," gasped the mother. "Tell mother why."

"Well," said Charles, "he preaches so long that I can't keep awake, and he preaches so loud that I can't go to sleep."

GOOD SNAIL YEAR, GOOD SHEEP YEAR.

"Most people would be horrified to learn that the finest mutton in the world comes from sheep fattened on snails," says a large breeder of Southdown sheep; "nevertheless it is a fact. In seasons when snails are plentiful the mutton from our sheep has a delicious flavor which it never acquires from the most scientific form of feeding. On the Continent a diet of snails is a regular cure for consumptives and is said to fatten and nourish the body in a wonderful way.

"There is a popular superstition," he adds, "that the unique and delicate flavor of Southdown mutton is due largely to the quantity of wild thyme which they crop with the grass in their pastures. But personally I give the snails the greater part of the credit for the soft, plump flesh and the sweetness of flavor in our celegrated sheep. So much is this the case that the saying 'Good snail year, good sheep year,' has become almost a proverb among shepherds and breeders."

FIRST DEMOCRAT KNOWN.

New York Tribune: "Who was the first Democrat?" According to Augustus Thomas, the playwright, he must have been either Cain or Abel. At any rate he came upon the scene a little while after Adam. Mr. Thomas essayed the solution of this problem for the edification of the guests of the Brooklyn Democratic club at the Jefferson dinner the other evening.

"I always trust to my fortune when I am on my hind legs—just as the emblem of our party does at times," he began. Then he made a careful search of ancient history for the first Jeffersonian. After a time he got down to Moses. "Moses was a Democrat," he explained. "He wrote: 'Thou shalt not steal!' Pharoah, if he was alive today, would be a Dingley Republican, advocating a national appropriation for submarines. Pontius Pilate was a colonial governor, appointed by a Republican president. The Twelve Apostles were dent. The Twelve Apostles were Democrats."

"How about St. Matthew?" some one in the audience asked.

"St. Matthew," continued the speaker, "was a tax collector, but he reformed and became a Democrat. It has always been the fortune of the Democrats to support views that are execrated today and beloved tomorrow. The Democratic party goes to sleep, leaving its shirt on the clothesline, and wakes up in the morning to find in its place an empty robe and the Republican party marching by, spotlessly pure, garbed in the stolen issue."

DECLINES IN STOCKS

Sharp Rally in Final Hour, Followed by Decline.

New York, May 7.—Feeble fluctuations and small opening dealings in stocks marked the languid speculative interest in the market. Changes were evenly divided between gains and losses and none of them exceeded ½.

Simultaneous selling orders were placed in several of the important stocks, including Reading, Union Pacific and New York Central, and the general list fel sharply below yeterday's closing. The more acute losses were in United Railway and Investment, New York, Chicago & St. Louis, Cleveland, C. C. & St. Louis, Delaware & Hudson, Smelting, St. Paul preferred 2 each, and Northwestern and New York Central 1¾ each. Supporting orders for Reading which rallied it from 112½ to 113½ pulled up the list a fraction, but the market was back to the lowest again at 11 o'clock. American Express gained 2 points.

Evidence of profit taking in stocks which had risen lately and of liquidation in Delaware & Hudson and New York Central prompted selling of the whole list and there was a sharp decline in prices. Delaware & Hudson, Central Railroad of New Jersey, American Smelting, Interborough-Metropolitan preferred and North American suffered the most. Federal Sugar rose 1⅜ and the preferred 3. Bonds were irregular.

The mildafternoon decline was checked but not much progress upward was made in the subsequent dealings, the market becoming nearly stagnant at a trifling recovery. Illinois Central, Chicago, Great Western preferred "A" and the United States Rubber stocks yielded 2 points. Wells-Fargo sold at a decline of ten.

The market closed irregular and dull. After another recession in the last hour, prices rallied sharply on covering by shorts. Atchison became strong, rising a point over last night, and Pullman and Westinghouse Electric gained 1⅜. Central Railroad of New Jersey fell 5 in all. Operations fell to small proportions at the recovery, which was not complete except in a few cases. Prices fell away again in the late dealings.

Stock Gossip.

New York: Logan & Bryan to Paine, Webber & Co.: The heavy selling of New York Central and Delaware & Hudson was the feature. Large blocks of these stocks were thrown on the market with such force that their effect was felt throughout the general list. Additional crop damage reports helped to cause weakness, part of which was shaded later on. Weather reports of a regular an dvould indicate that we shall have nothing beter than a scalping market for the present.

* * *

New York: Walker Brothers to Paine, Webber & Co.: There was a good deal of pressure on the market today and from the opening prices sold off. Traders took the bear side and found some weak spots. Before the close prices braced up a little but the close was ragged and rather depressed. We do not look for much activity this week.

Treasury Balances.

Washington, May 7.—Today's statement of the treasury balances in the general fund exclusive of the $150,000,000 gold reserve in the division of redemption shows: Available cash balance, $251,713,454; gold coin and bullion, $99,680,765; gold certificates, $43,768,000.

New York Money.

New York, May 7.—Money on call, steady, 2½@3½ per cent; ruling rate, 2¾ per cent; closing bid, 2¾ per cent; offered at 3 per cent. Time loans, strong; sixty days, 3½@4 per cent; ninety days, 4 per cent; six months, 4½ per cent. Prime mercantile paper, 5@6 per cent. Sterling exchange, easier, with actual business in bankers' bills at $4.86.40@4.86.45 for demand, and at $4.83.60@4.83.65 for sixty-day bills; posted rates, $4.84 and $4.87; commercial bills, $4.83⅜@4½. Bar silver, 65¾c. Mexican dollars, 50¾c. Government bonds, steady; railroad bonds, irregular.

Chicago Live Stock.

Chicago, May 7.—Cattle: Receipts, about 5,500; market steady; beeves, $4.30@6.40; cows, $1.80@4.75; heifers, $2.60@5.30; calves, $5.00@5.75; good to prime steers, $5.40@6.40; poor to medium, $4.30@5.30; stockers and feeders, $2.80@5.00. Sheep: Receipts, about 13,000; steady; natives, $4.40@6.75; western, $4.40@6.75; yearlings, $6.75@7.65; lambs, $6.75@7.65; western, $6.50@7.75.

The Cotton Market.

New York, May 7.—The cotton market opened steady at an advance of four to nine points in response to higher cables and reports of rain in the belt. The initial prices made a new high record for the bull movement and attracted heavy realizing as well as some selling for a turn, which was encouraged by smaller English spot sales and private cables reporting that English spinners were not feeling the advance but were working back to within a point or two of last night's finals. The market steadied again on private reports of crop damage. Trading was active at the early session and prices in the middle of the morning were about 2 to 3 points net higher.

Futures closed steady. Closing bids: May, 10.51; June, 10.50; July, 10.50; August, 10.38; September, 10.36; October, 10.54; November, 10.56; December, 10.59; January, 10.75; February, 10.77; March, 10.88. Spot closed steady; middling uplands, 11.75; middling gulf, 12.00; no sales.

Copper Gossip.

Boston to Paine, Webber & Co.: "The Boston Consolidated Copper company plans to retire all of its outstanding debenture bonds, and gives notice to holders thereof that it will redeem these bonds, of which were issued $250,000 Nov. 1, 1907, at the rate of $105 per 100 debenture. About one-half of these debentures have been converted into stock and the balance will undoubtedly be converted before Nov. 1."

THE PRODUCE MARKET.

The following prices, with the exception of those on hay, feed and meats, are the official quotations of the Duluth Produce exchange and shippers can rely upon them as being correct. The list is corrected daily by the secretary, and it shows accurately the market conditions up to 12 o'clock on the date of issue. The weekly market letter, published on Fridays, is not an official statement of the exchange, but the information is gathered personally from the different dealers:

STREET CARS.

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC.

This company operates a street railway line in the city of Duluth between Third avenue east and the end of Rice's Point, and another street railway line in the city of Superior between Twenty-first street and the end of Connor's Point. These lines are separated by the waters of St. Louis Bay, and are operated as two distinct and separate lines.

The fare for a continuous ride in one direction between any two points on either one of these lines is 5c.

The public is hereby notified that this company does not, by undertaking to carry any passenger, or by accepting fare for such carriage, assume any responsibility beyond that of carrying such passenger safely between points on the above mentioned lines.

This company is not responsible for close connections, nor safe transportation, between the above mentioned lines by any ferryboat or other means of transportation. While the employes of this company have been instructed to keep themselves posted and give upon request all the information they can as to the probability of connections being made with other transportation lines, the company has no better means of foreseeing unexpected interruptions in the service of such lines nor of telling how long such interruptions will continue, than the public has, and therefore cannot be responsible for notice of such interruptions.

ANENT THE LONGFELLOW REVIVAL.

Anent the Longfellow revival, Jacob H. Schiff, in the course of the recent dinner that he gave in New York in honor of James McCrea, the president of the Pennsylvania railroad, told an interesting story about the poet.

"During one of Longfellow's visits to New York," he said, "Booth, who was playing 'Hamlet,' was taken suddenly ill, and it was seen that his understudy would have to take his place that night.

"The understudy was highly elated, and in order to have a sufficiently distinguished and appreciative audience, he sat down forthwith and wrote some dozen notes to the effect that he would take Booth's place that night, and dispatched them to everybody of distinction in New York that he had ever met or heard of.

"One of these notes went to Longfellow. Longfellow's laconic answer was:

"'Thanks for timely warning.'"

Certificate of Incorporation —OF THE—
CITY REALTY COMPANY.

We, the undersigned, do hereby associate ourselves together, for the purpose of forming a corporation, under and by virtue of the provisions of chapter fifty-eight (58), of the Revised Laws of Minnesota, for the year 1905, and the acts amendatory thereof, and to that end, have adopted, signed, sealed and acknowledged, the following articles of incorporation.

Article 1.

The name of this corporation shall be "City Realty Company," and the principal place of its business, shall be Duluth, Minnesota.

Article 2.

The general nature of its business, shall be, the buying, selling and dealing in Real Estate; constructing buildings; improving lands, tenements, and hereditaments; leasing or letting of buildings, structures, docks, warehouses and elevators; borrowing or loaning money, on security or otherwise; buying, selling, exchanging and dealing in Real and Personal property, and engaging in such other lawful enterprises, as are incidental to the above specified purposes of this corporation.

Article 3.

The time of commencement of this corporation, shall be the fifteenth (15) day of May, 1907, and the period of its duration shall be thirty (30) years.

Article 4.

The names and places of residence of the incorporators, are as follows: George W. Buck, Frank B. Mitchell, Henry Maximer, Arthur H. Brown, and Marion Douglas, all residing at Duluth, Minnesota.

Article 5.

The government of this corporation, and management of its affairs, shall be vested in a board of five directors, each of whom shall be stockholders. The names and addresses of those composing the first board of directors, are as follows: George W. Buck, Duluth, Minnesota; Frank B. Mitchell, Duluth, Minnesota; Henry Maximer, Duluth, Minnesota; Arthur H. Brown, Duluth, Minnesota; and Marion Douglas, Duluth, Minnesota.

The officers of this corporation, shall be, a President, Vice President, Secretary and Treasurer, any two of said offices, may be held by one and the same person, and said officers, shall be elected by the board of directors from their number, at the first meeting of said board of directors after the annual meeting of the stockholders of said corporation, and until such annual meeting, and such election, George W. Buck, shall act as President, Henry Maximer as Vice President and Frank B. Mitchell as Secretary and Treasurer of said corporation.

The directors shall be elected by and from the stockholders by ballot at the annual meeting of the stockholders, or at any special meeting held for that purpose, when no annual meeting has been held, the notice for such special meeting stating the object thereof. Each stockholder shall be entitled to cast as many votes as he has shares of stock. The officers and directors shall each hold their office for one year after election, or until their successors are elected and qualified.

In case of vacancy in the board of directors, or any of the offices of said corporation, on account of death, resignation, or removal of same, the remaining directors will appoint a person to fill such vacancy until the next annual stockholders' meeting.

The annual meeting of both stockholders and directors shall be held on the third (3) Saturday in May, of each year, for the election of directors, and the transacting of other business, and besides such annual meeting, any other special meetings may be held, at such time and place as may be prescribed by the by-laws, or resolution of the board of directors.

The first annual meeting of the stockholders shall be held on the third (3) Saturday in May, 1907, at 10 o'clock a. m., in room 312 Exchange Bank Building, Duluth, Minnesota, without notice.

Article 6.

The amount of capital stock of this corporation shall be three hundred thousand dollars ($300,000.00), divided into three thousand (3,000) shares, of the par value of one hundred dollars ($100.00) each, and may be paid for, in either property, money, or services, as the board of directors shall elect, and the value placed upon such property or services, by said board of directors shall be deemed final and binding upon all parties in interest, and said stock shall be subscribed for, at such time, and in such amounts, as may be prescribed by the board of directors.

This corporation may commence business when twenty-five per cent (25 per cent) of its stock shall be subscribed for.

Article 7.

The highest amount of indebtedness or liability, to which this corporation shall at any time be subject, is one hundred thousand dollars ($100,000.00).

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, We have hereunto set our hands and seals, this 1st day of May, A. D. 1907.

HOME What a wonderful institution is the home. What a wonderful power is the home newspaper. The Herald has long been the home newspaper of Duluth. The Herald reaches the home at the evening leisure hour. The Herald is not carried down town on the car. It stays home, is passed from one member of the family to the others. It is read from page to page, every night in nearly every home in Duluth and Northern Minnesota. The Herald is a vital force in the homes of its patrons. It is the one newspaper in nearly all homes, the only newspaper in thousands of homes.
